Canada's social fabric

A fabric is made up of many threads. The citizens of this country, who speak English or French and have very diverse ethnocultural roots, make up the social fabric that we call Canada.

FACT SHEETS ON OFFICIAL LANGUAGE GROUPS FOR EACH PROVINCE AND TERRITORY

INTRODUCTION

The fact sheets on official language groups consolidate and present demographic, linguistic and economic data on Canadians for each province and territory. They all follow the same format to facilitate comparisons among the various localities.

The statistics used for the fact sheets come from sample data from the 1996 Statistics Canada census. The information on exogamy and the index of linguistic continuity of French-speaking Canadians come from the Canadian Heritage publication entitled Francophone Minorities: Assimilation and Community Vitality.

The data pertain only to persons who have identified English or French as their mother tongue or first official language spoken. They do not take multiple answers into account (for example, Canadians who identified English or French and a nonofficial language as their mother tongue or first language spoken). This way of breaking down the information enables us to make interesting comparisons between the two categories (mother tongue as compared with first official language spoken).

ONTARIO

HIGHLIGHTS OF TABLES 1, 2 AND 3

- 479,285 persons $(4.5 \%)$ have identified French as their mother tongue, while 480,650 (4.5\%) have identified French as their first official language spoken.
- $2,434,940$ individuals ( $22.9 \%$ ) have a mother tongue other than English or French.
- Of the 480,650 citizens that have identified French as their first official language spoken, $433,430(90.4 \%)$ of them can have a conversation in both official languages. On the other hand, 739,205 of the $9,860,780$ citizens that have identified English as their first official language spoken (9.6\%) can have a conversation in both official languages.
- The proportion of youth (19 years and less) among those whose first official language spoken is French $(20.0 \%)$ is lower than that among English speakers (27.9\%). In turn, the percentage of French-speaking citizens that are between 35 and 64 years old $(45.6 \%)$ is higher than that for English-speaking citizens (37.9\%).
- The percentage of individuals with only an elementary level of education (grade 8 or less) is approximately twice as high among those whose first official language spoken is French as among those whose first official language spoken is English ( $15.3 \%$ versus 8.4\%).
- Among those who changed residence between censuses, the interprovincial migration rate is much higher for persons whose first official language spoken is French ( $27.2 \%$ versus $8.9 \%$ for English speakers).
- The proportion of immigrants among those whose first official language spoken is English ( $25.0 \%$ ) is much higher than the rate among those whose first official language is French (5.9\%).
- Concerning non-immigrants, the percentage of French-speaking individuals born outside the province (31.2\%) is approximately three times higher than that for English speakers (11.6\%).
- In comparison with the other provinces and territories, the exogamy rate for Francophone families of Ontario (45\%) and the index of linguistic continuity ( 0.61 ) are close to their respective averages ( $42 \%$ and 0.64 ). (A language continuity index less than 1 means that French registers more losses than gains in its exchanges with other languages.)

NOTE: $\quad{ }^{1}$ This figure does not take into account citizens who have identified more than one mother tongue (for example, French and English, French and a non-official language).
${ }^{2}$ Represents the highest level of schooling achieved by the citizens of that province.
${ }^{3}$ This population includes persons who, in the week prior to Census Day, were neither employed nor unemployed.
${ }^{4}$ Migrants are movers who had resided in a different census subdivision five years earlier (internal migrants) or who had lived outside Canada five years earlier (external migrants).
${ }^{5}$ Refers to people who are, or have been, landed immigrants in Canada.
${ }^{6}$ Cases where the spouses in a couple have different mother tongues.
${ }^{7}$ This index represents the relation between the number of persons speaking French most often at home and the number of persons for whom French is the mother tongue. A continuity index of less than 1 means that French registers more losses than gains in its exchanges with other languages.
