This policy research is sponsored by the Atlantic Canada Opportunity Agency (ACOA) under the Atlantic Policy Research Initiative, which provides a vehicle for the analysis of key socio-economic policy issues in Atlantic Canada. The views expressed in this study do not necessarily reflect the views of ACOA or of the Government of Canada.

The 34th Annual Conference of the Atlantic Canada Economics Association was held at Dalhousie University, Halifax, NS, October 21-23, 2005. It was supported by the Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency, Government of Canada, along with the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council, four book-publishing companies, Dalhousie University, and registration fees charged to conference participants. This report has been specifically prepared for ACOA, as per the reporting requirement set out in the Contribution Agreement between ACOA and Dalhousie University. Simultaneously, it will serve as a final report on the conference overall.

A. Conference Program and Proceedings

The conference was held as planned October 21-23, 2005. Attendance exceeded expectations, reaching a total of 93 registered participants, including 34 students. Of this total registration, paid registration numbered 87. Student registration cost was considerably less than regular participants and five non-paying registrations included guest speakers and ACEA life-members. Thus, registration revenue, while exceeding original projections, did not rise in proportion to the registration itself. A registration list for the Conference is attached as Appendix 1.

Submissions to present papers were also greater than expected. In terms of the final program, there were 38 research papers presented at the conference plus two expert panels involving an additional six speakers. In addition, there were two invited guest speakers, including the presenter of the 2005 John Graham Lecture, Dr. Brian MacLean of Laurentian University. There were five student paper presentations, including two undergraduate students and four master's students.¹ In terms of policy papers directly relevant to Atlantic Canada, one of the two principal invited speakers, Dr. Robin Boadway of Queen's University, spoke on equalization payments and one of the two panels looked at the link between development and equalization. In addition, there were five papers dealing with some aspect of health care in Atlantic Canada, three papers on immigration, a panel on municipal government and finance in the region, three immigration/migration papers, one foreign investment in Atlantic Canada paper, one Atlantic trade paper, one offshore oil and gas paper, an Atlantic rural/urban profile paper and one on the Port of Halifax. Several other papers dealt with Canada-wide topics that typically included the Atlantic Provinces and/or related to federal policies of interest to citizens of Atlantic Canada.

A copy of the full program of the conference is attached as Appendix 2.

Finally, as in past years, a Conference Proceedings has been produced. Papers presented at the Conference that were deemed "ready" for publication are now available electronically on the web at <www.unb.ca/econ/acea/papers_proceedings.html>. Eleven papers are currently included in the Proceedings volume, with more possibly to be added. The Proceedings became publicly accessible on February 9, 2006 and were edited by Dr. R. McGaw of the Department of Economics at UNB. Appendix 3 shows the Table of Contents for the ACEA 2005 Papers and Proceedings.

¹ One student paper was co-authored by two master's students.

B. Financial Report

The 2005 Conference raised more revenue than anticipated, not counting the ACOA contribution and spent less than anticipated. The latter primarily reflects the fact that the number of invited guest speakers was less than expected, the reasons for which are commented on in the next section. Because expenditures were below original budget estimates, the ACOA contribution to the conference, in accordance with the Contribution Agreement, must be pro-rated in proportion to the ratio of actual expenses to budgeted expenses. This reduces the ACOA contributions from the maximum of $5250 provided for in the Contribution Agreement to $3452.68. A full financial report for the Conference is attached as Appendix 4.

C. Commentary

The 2005 Conference was a great success by all possible measures except one:

- 1. Participation exceeded expectations.
- 2. Largely due to 1., revenues, exclusive of the ACOA contribution, exceeded expectations.
- 3. Student participation and presentations were excellent and also exceeded expectations.
- 4. The number of papers presented and the number of speakers exceeded expectations.
- 5. The number of papers directly relevant to public policy in Atlantic Canada exceeded expectations.
- 6. The goals of the Conference
 - to promote economic research in Atlantic Canada
 - to promote networking amongst economic researchers in Atlantic Canada
 - to promote networking amongst the academic public, NGO and private sectors
 - to promote policy dialogue in Atlantic Canada
 - to promote discussion of the Atlantic Economy

were all achieved.

The one area in which the Conference fell short of expectations was the failure to meet the target for invited guest speakers for the Conference. Partly this was due to an unusually high incidence of schedule conflicts for several persons who were contacted as potential speakers. Partly it was due to the lateness of the approach to several individuals, and partly it was due to the interaction of these two factors, i.e., there was a direct correlation between how close to the Conference people were contacted and the likelihood that they would already have other commitments for the same time. The difficulty with timing arose primarily because it was almost the end of July before the Contribution Agreement was signed with ACOA and the Conference organizers felt constrained not to enter into binding agreements regarding travel costs until the funding was assured. The lesson in this for the future, made in the belief that ACOA will continue to support the Conference, recognizing its value to policy research and dialogue in an Atlantic setting, is that the application to ACOA should be made as early as possible so that a similar result does not materialize again.

It should be noted, having said this, that the overall quality of the Conference was not significantly affected by the relative lack of guest speakers. Insofar as ACOA's contribution was reduced because of less spending on travel for guest speakers, while its objectives relative to Atlantic policy research and debate and promotion of networking within the research community and across the academic, NGO, public and private sectors in Atlantic Canada were all realized, one could even argue that the end result was possibly a superior one for ACOA in the short term. In the longer term, of course, it remains desirable to expose researchers in Atlantic Canada to new insights and new ideas from outside, something that can only be achieved if resources are available to support invited speakers attending the Conference. ACOA's support for the Conference overall, and for guest speakers in particular, remains important and is greatly appreciated.

Respectfully submitted,

Barry Lesser Professor and Chair Department of Economics Dalhousie University

On behalf of the 2005 Conference Organizing Committee of Lars Osberg (Chair), Michael Bradfield, Melvin Cross, and Barry Lesser.
