Wage Settlements Covering 500 or More Employees

December 2009

Major collective bargaining settlements in December 2009 provided base-rate wage adjustments averaging 1.8% annually over the contract term (compared to 2.0% the previous month). The results are based on a review of 12 settlements and cover 20,590 employees. This represents only 3.9% of the total number of major settlements in 2009 and 2.6% of the total employee coverage for the year.

When the parties to these settlements previously negotiated, contract duration averaged 46.9 months and the resulting wage adjustments averaged 2.6%, compared to the 1.8% in their current round of settlements and average contract duration of 56.9 months.

In December 2009, wage increases were larger in the public sector than in the private sector. Wage adjustments in the public sector averaged 2.3%. The results are based on a review of 5 settlements and cover 7,280 employees. Key settlements included the Société des alcools du Québec (Quebec Liquor Corporation) providing 4,900 retail employees with a wage adjustment of 2.0% over 96 months; the Canadian Food Inspection Agency provided 510 public sector employees with a wage adjustment averaging 1.7%.

In the private sector, wage adjustments averaged 1.6%. The private-sector results are based on a review of 7 settlements and cover 13,310 employees; Bell Canada provided 7,620 employees with a wage adjustment averaging 2.0% over a 4-year period. Jazz Air Limited Partnership provided 950 customer service employees with a wage adjustment of 1.7%.

Wage adjustments ranged from a wage freeze at Finning Canada to a high of 7.1% with the City of Québec (includes a salary restructuring to meet provincial labour standards); 64.7% of employees received wage increases in the 2.0 to 2.9% range. Only the City of Québec adjustment was above that range (2.5% of employees) while 29.6% of employees received increases below 2.0% (excluding the wage freeze at Finning Canada which accounted for 3.2% of employees).

In the following tables, COLA is the abbreviation for Cost-of-Living Allowance.

Fourth Quarter 2009

Major collective bargaining settlements reached in the 2009 fourth quarter provided base-rate wage adjustments averaging 2.1% annually over the contract term, up from the 1.9% average recorded in the previous quarter. The results for the 2009 fourth quarter are based on a review of 52 major settlements reached and cover 117,810 employees. This represents only 17% of the total number of major settlements in 2009 and 15% of the total employee coverage for the year.

When the parties to these fourth quarter settlements previously negotiated, the resulting wage adjustments averaged 2.6% higher than in their current settlements. Contract duration in the 2009 fourth quarter averaged 42.3 months, compared to 40.8 months in the previous round of settlements.

The majority of employees covered in the fourth quarter settlements (68.9%) were in the public sector. Wage adjustments in the public sector averaged 2.3% for 81,130 employees in 30 agreements. In the private sector wage adjustments averaged 1.5% for 36,680 employees in 22 agreements. There were 2 key agreements this quarter: in the public sector, the Ontario Hospital Association provided 20,130 health professionals with a wage adjustment averaging 2.0%; and in the private sector, Metro Inc. provided 10,000 grocery retail employees in Ontario with a wage adjustment averaging 1.4%.

On a jurisdiction basis, Alberta posted the largest average wage gain in the fourth quarter at 4.2%, and the lowest was a wage freeze for a single multiprovince agreement (Finning Canada). The largest concentration of employees (43.1% of all employees) was in Ontario where wage increases averaged 1.9% (largely influenced by the Ontario Hospital Association agreement providing an adjustment of 2.0%).

On an industry basis, average wage adjustments in the 2009 fourth quarter ranged from a high of 2.8% in the finance and professional services sector (a single agreement, Services d'entretien Empro), to a low of 1.1% in the manufacturing sector. The largest concentration of employees was in the education, health and social services sector where 12 agreements provided 41,800 employees (35.5% of total employee coverage) with wage adjustments averaging 2.4%. The second largest concentration of employees was in the retail sector with 6 agreements providing 19,010 employees (16.1% of the total employee coverage) with wage adjustments averaging 1.6% (includes the Metro Inc. agreement mentioned above).

Wage adjustments in the fourth quarter settlements ranged from a wage freeze for 650 service and maintenance employees at Finning Canada to 7.1% for 520 parks and recreation employees with the City of Québec (includes a salary restructuring to meet provincial labour standards). The largest concentration of employees (50.9%) received increases in the 2.0% to 2.9% range. Approximately 40.4% of employees received adjustments below 2.0% (including one wage freeze), and 8.7% received an increase of 3.0% or above.

Major Settlements in 2009

In 2009, major collective bargaining settlements (over 500 employees) provided base-rate wage adjustments averaging 2.4% annually over the contract term. After a few years of gradually increasing wage adjustments (from 1.8% in 2004, peaking at 3.3% in 2007 and then dropping back fractionally to 3.2% in 2008), average annual wage adjustments fell back to 2.4% this year. However, the increase in wage adjustments in 2009 was still higher than the rate of (CPI) inflation in 2009, at 0.3%.

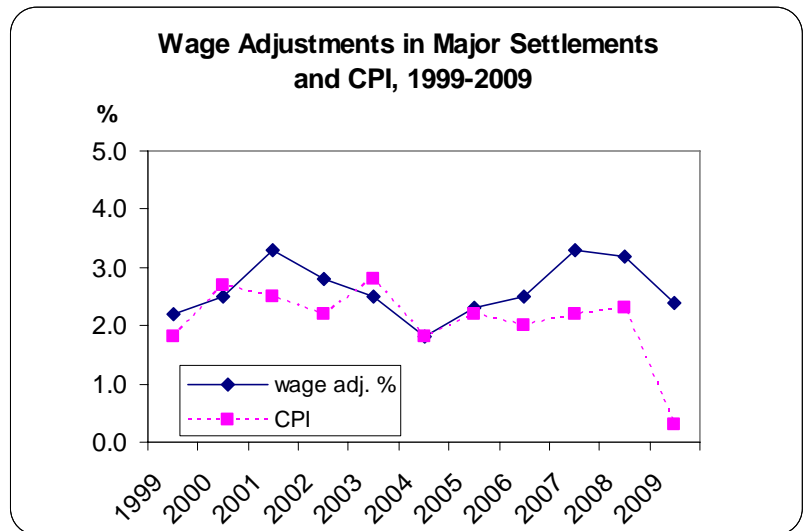

Wage adjustments from the 2009 settlements were lower than those in the contracts they replaced (predecessor contracts). The results for 2009 are based on 304 agreements covering 783,500 employees.

When the parties to these settlements previously negotiated, the resulting wage adjustments averaged 2.7%, compared to the 2.4% in the 2009 settlements. Predecessor contract durations averaged 42.7 months compared to the 41.4 months in the current 2009 settlements.

The relatively moderate figure for 2009 was largely influenced by lower wage adjustments in federal public sector agreements (214,940 employees at 1.7%) and 3 Air Canada agreements (22,530 employees), subject to a wage freeze. The City of Toronto reached 5 agreements with 28,800 employees with wage increases averaging 2.0%. The Government of Ontario settled with 33,790 public servants for an average annual wage adjustment of 1.9%.

On the other hand, the Government of Newfoundland and Labrador provided 28,500 employees with a wage adjustment averaging 5.0% in 11 major agreements. Wage settlements in the province of Alberta also recorded relatively large average increases of 4.5% for 32,000 employees.

There were no wage rollbacks in major settlements in 2009. The proportion of employees subject to a wage freeze was 3.4% (26,780 employees in 8 agreements). There were 6 settlements in the 0.1 to 0.9% range covering 0.9% of employees in 2009. Approximately 38.7% of employees (303,320) received increases in the 1.0 to 1.9% range; 31.6% (247,450 employees) received increases in the 2.0 to 2.9% range; 16.8% (131,690 employees) received increases in the 3.0 to 3.9% range and 8.6% (67,440 employees) received increases averaging 4.0% and over.

Percentage Distribution of Employees by Size of Wage Adjustment, by Public and Private Sectors, 2009

Wage adjustments in the private sector averaged 1.8% in 2009, compared to 2.5% in the public sector. The majority of agreements settled (71.4%) and employees covered (83.2%) were in the public sector. The public sector figure resulted from 217 major agreements covering 651,910 employees. In the private sector, there were 87 major settlements involving 131,590 employees.

Public-sector wage adjustments were lowest in the federal jurisdiction (1.7% for 214,940 employees). The strongest gains were in Newfoundland and Labrador (5.0% for 28,500 employees), Saskatchewan (5.0% for 1,860 employees) and Alberta (4.6% for 26,770 employees). Wage adjustments in the Quebec public sector averaged 2.5% (21,270 employees) and in the Ontario public sector, 2.4% (280,020 employees). Within the public sector, local administration agreements recorded an average increase of 2.8%, provincial administration agreements averaged 2.3% and the lowest average adjustment was recorded in the federal administration at 1.7%. The Crown corporations and utilities agreements recorded average wage adjustments of 2.2%.

Private-sector adjustments were highest in New Brunswick at 6.0% (for 2,700 employees), followed by Alberta at 4.1% (for 5,230 employees). The lowest average adjustment was in the federal jurisdiction at 1.1% (46,240 employees, many of which were Air Canada employees with a wage freeze). Wage adjustments in the Quebec private sector averaged 1.7% (12,100 employees), the Ontario private sector averaged 1.8% (39,440 employees), Manitoba, 2.3% (4,850 employees), British Columbia, 2.7% (5,440 employees) and Nova Scotia, 2.9% (4,700 employees).

On a jurisdiction basis (public and private sectors combined), the smallest average adjustment was recorded in the federal jurisdiction at 1.6% (261,180 employees) and the largest average was in New Brunswick (2,700 employees) at 6.0% followed by Newfoundland and Labrador (28,500 employees) and Saskatchewan (1,860 employees), both at 5.0%.

On an industry basis, the largest concentration of employees was in the public administration sector (with 41.8% of all employees in the 2009 major settlements). In this sector, 327,530 employees in 64 agreements received increases of 2.1%. The second largest concentration of employees (34.8% of all workers) was in the education, health and social services sector, with 272,310 employees in 128 agreements receiving increases of 3.0%. These two sectors combined accounted for over three-quarters (76.6%) of the total employee coverage of major settlements in 2009. The relatively high average in the education, health and social services was due in part to a large number of Ontario education sector settlements at 3.0% or more, various university agreements in Quebec, Ontario and Saskatchewan, and several Newfoundland and Labrador collective agreements with wage adjustments averaging 5.0%.

The largest average wage increase was reported in the construction sector at 3.7% (9 agreements covering 8,760 employees). The smallest adjustment was in the transportation sector at 1.1% (20 agreements covering 45,380 employees); this sector included Air Canada (wage freeze for 22,530 employees) and Greyhound Canada Transport Corp. (wage freeze for 950 employees).

Average wage adjustments were down in all industry sectors except three: the utilities sector averaged 3.0% in 2009, up from 2.3% in 2008, manufacturing averaged 1.6%, up from 1.1%, and the entertainment and hospitality sector averaged 2.0% in 2009, up from 1.9%. (Note that there is a different mix of collective agreements in 2009 and 2008.)
