Message from the Director

As the second half of the academic year commences, we look forward to welcoming two groups of students to NDHQ in the coming weeks.

Students from the Centre d'études sur la paix et la sécurité internationale (CEPSI) and the Centre for Defence and Security Studies (CDSS) will have the opportunity to discuss current issues with representatives from DND and will learn about government policymaking.

Aaron Hywarren
Director Public Policy

Policy Officer Recruitment Programme

What is it?

The Department of National Defence (DND) is looking for qualified individuals to join the Policy Group at National Defence Headquarters in Ottawa. Across DND, and elsewhere in the Government, more than 180 officers have been recruited through the PORP since its inception in 1987; many of our former recruits are now senior policy officers or executives across Government.

What We Offer

Policy officers are hired as full-time indeterminate employees. As part of our development programme, we place a strong emphasis on training and challenging policy officers with demanding and unique 12-month working assignments. Our aim? To prepare developmental policy officers for senior positions in the Department of National Defence or elsewhere in the Federal Public Service.

Who Are We Looking For?

Ideal candidates will:

- Have an interest in national and international defence and security issues.
- Demonstrate strong analytical and writing abilities.
- Be capable of articulating sound policy advice both orally and in writing.
- Be team players who handle tight deadlines and, at times, significant pressure.

Candidates must have a master's degree and be proficient in English or French.

DND is committed to having a skilled, diversified workforce reflective of Canadian society, to the equitable representation of women, Aboriginal peoples, persons with disabilities and visible minorities, and to the reasonable accommodation of special needs.
