Products

In 2012, resource-based goods accounted for 53.4% of the value of Canada's exports to Indonesia, with manufactured goods representing the remaining 46.6%. This composition was relatively consistent with that of 2007, when resource-based goods and manufactured goods accounted for 52.6% and 47.4% respectively of the value of Canada's exports to the country.

Canada's highest-valued exports to Indonesia in 2012 were potash, wheat and aircraft, which together accounted for 66.1% of the value of Canada's exports to the country. The value of Canadian potash and aircraft exports to Indonesia increased from $111.1 million and $10.7 million respectively in 2007 to $569.9 million and $237.0 million respectively in 2012. The value of Canadian wheat exports to the country declined from $383.7 million in 2007 to $303.0 million in 2012.

In 2012, manufactured goods represented 91.4% of the value of Canada's imports from Indonesia, with resource-based goods accounting for the remaining 8.6%. This composition was relatively consistent with that of 2007, when manufactured goods and resource-based goods accounted for 92.9% and 7.1% respectively of the value of Canada's imports from the country.

Canada's highest-valued imports from Indonesia in 2012 were rubber, furniture and knitted sweaters, which together accounted for 29.2% of the value of Canada's imports from the country. The value of Canadian imports from Indonesia of rubber, furniture and knitted sweaters increased from $167.7 million, $41.3 million and $29.0 million respectively in 2007 to $304.1 million, $41.9 million and $36.8 million respectively in 2012.

In 2012, Canada had a trade surplus with Indonesia in the product categories of transportation equipment, agriculture and food, other manufactured goods and "other" products. It had a trade deficit with Indonesia in the clothing and textiles, machinery and equipment, and metals, mines and energy product categories in that year.
