II. SCOPE

Symbols and Interlibrary Loan Policies in Canada includes information on interlibrary loan policies and services for all Canadian libraries currently listed in NAVIS, the National Library's new automated interlibrary loan system. The printed edition includes all updates received before March 1998.

III. FREQUENCY

The printed publication is updated annually. The Web version is updated regularly, and contains the most up-to-date information.

IV. MAIN RECORDS SECTION

The main records section lists the symbols, names and addresses of Canadian libraries and information on their interlibrary loan policies. There are also three indexes: an electronic address index, a library name index and a WHO code index.

The entries in the printed directory are listed alphabetically by library symbol. There are separate sections for each province.

a) Library Symbols

Canadian library symbols are important resource-sharing tools. They are assigned by the National Library of Canada and present a standardized key to the identification of Canadian libraries, information centres, archives, collections and information services, many of which participate in a wide range of information activities (e.g., networks) or are listed in databases, bibliographies, union lists, etc.

Symbols may be used in any context to identify institutions. Their assignment is provided upon request and free of charge by the National Library of Canada. Use of library symbols in no way incurs financial obligation and does not imply that the library assigned a symbol will participate in interlibrary lending activities, although this is one of the primary uses of Canadian library symbols. Generally, an institution will receive interlibrary loan requests only if that institution has contributed its bibliographic records and library holdings to bibliographic databases such as AMICUS and Impact/ TRACE it. Canadian libraries or similar institutions that wish to receive a Canadian library symbol should contact:

b) Explanation of Symbols

Library symbols identify libraries by geographic location. They are composed of two to eight letters. An attempt is made to keep the symbols mnemonic or representative, as well as short.

Symbols, once assigned, are rarely altered even though an institution may move, or change its name, or acquire an abbreviation or acronym that is the same as the library symbol of another institution. An exception is made when a library moves from one province to another.

The first part of the symbol (one or two letters) identifies the province:

A	=	Alberta
B	=	British Columbia
M	=	Manitoba
NB	=	New Brunswick
NF	=	Newfoundland
NS	=	Nova Scotia
NW	=	Northwest Territories
O	=	Ontario
P	=	Prince Edward Island
Q	=	Quebec
S	=	Saskatchewan
Y	=	Yukon

The second part of the symbol (one to four letters) identifies the city, and this may be followed by a third part of one or more letters that identifies the institution:

OONL = Ontario, Ottawa, National Library of Canada

QSHERU = Québec, Sherbrooke, Université de Sherbrooke, Bibliothèque des sciences humaines

MW = Manitoba, Winnipeg, Winnipeg Public Library

The term "obsolete" is used to indicate that a library symbol is now defunct, perhaps because the library to which the symbol was assigned no longer exists.

The term "superseded" is used to indicate that the library symbol has been replaced by another library symbol, perhaps because the library has amalgamated with another library, or the library has moved to another province, or a duplicate symbol has been corrected.

c) Name(s) and Address(es)

Each entry includes the library's name and mailing address and lists the messaging and delivery services used by the library. When a library has an official name in both English and French, both names are recorded.

d) Messaging and Delivery Services*ARIEL

Means of document delivery which transmits printed documents electronically over the Internet.

Email

Electronic mail address used on the Internet.

Email Protocol

Electronic mail address used on the Internet by libraries that use protocol-based interlibrary loan software such as AVISO or InterLEND.

ENVOY

ENVOY 100, Bell Global Solution's electronic messaging service address for interlibrary loans.

ENVOY Protocol

ENVOY 100, Bell Global Solution's electronic messaging service address for interlibrary loans for protocol-based messaging.

Fax

Telefacsimile transmission.

IUTS

Inter University Transit System, a document delivery truck service operated by the universities of the province of Ontario.

NCR EXPRESS

A document delivery truck service administered by the National Capital Region Libraries Consortium whose participants include all types of libraries in the National Capital Region. This service has replaced the Library Delivery Service (LDS).

PEBUQUILL

Prêts entre bibliothèques universitaires québécoises/Quebec Universities Interlibrary Loans, a document delivery truck service offered to universities in the province of Quebec.

SOLS

Southern Ontario Library Service's document delivery truck service.

Telephone

Area code and seven-digit number, as well as extension if applicable.

WHO Code

The A-G Canada (formerly ISM Library Information Services) system of library identifiers.

e) Interlibrary Loan Policy Information

The interlibrary loan policy information for each entry can include:

- information on the loan of monographs and serials
- charges for borrowing and/or reproduction of library materials
- payment methods to be used
- library materials or collections not available for loan
- renewals information

If a library does not lend monographs or does not lend serials, the statement "No loan" appears in the "Monographs" or "Serials" field. If applicable, the loan period expressed in number of weeks appears in the entry. The statement "Will loan" appears if the library will lend but does not specify a loan period. If the loan is renewable, the number of possible renewals is listed. The statement "No renewals" appears where applicable. Other information as well may appear in the "Renewal note".

Charging information is provided for loans, renewals and replacements and for one or more of the types of reproduction specified by the library (photocopy, facsimile, or other reproduction method).

If specified by the library, a statement concerning the method of invoicing and payment appears (e.g., "invoice to follow").

Statements indicating the types of materials and special collections not available on interlibrary loan are listed in the policies of some libraries. The statements have been standardized as much as possible. Some common examples of materials not available are: reference, rare, sound recordings, frequently used materials and classified documents.

A "Comments" section is provided for information that does not fit elsewhere.

V. INDEXES*1. ELECTRONIC ADDRESS INDEX*a) Kinds of Addresses

This section consists of an alphabetical listing of electronic addresses and the corresponding names of institutions as well as the corresponding library symbol.

The electronic addresses listed are ENVOY, ENVOY Protocol, Email and Email Protocol.

Before sending ILL requests on the Internet, it is advisable to check whether the library receiving the request requires that protocol-based software be used for ILL communications on the Internet. Protocol-based interlibrary loan software such as AVISO or InterLEND facilitates ILL communications sent on the Internet by organizing information in a consistent manner that allows instant communication between protocol sites.

Electronic mail addresses are distinguished by the @ sign near the beginning of the address and the "ca" or "com" at the end of the address.

Interlibrary loan protocol addresses can be identified in the Index by the asterisk (*) that appears beside the address.

Libraries may have more than one electronic address. In some cases, there is one electronic address used only for interlibrary loan requests and another for administrative purposes.

b) Central Electronic Addresses

In some cases, interlibrary loan services for several libraries are centralized: for example, several member libraries may have the same electronic address, with a central library requesting interlibrary loans on behalf of the members.

NAVIS, the National Library's new automated interlibrary loan system, has in some instances attached the common electronic address to each member library's record for technical reasons. Because Symbols and Interlibrary Loan Policies in Canada is produced from NAVIS, each member library's record will contain the electronic address of the central library unless the National Library receives other instructions. The electronic mail address of the central library should be used only when ILL requests for member libraries are to be sent to the central library.

c) ENVOY 100 Distribution Lists

Several distribution lists were created on ENVOY 100 to include the libraries listed in this index. To send a message to all libraries in a particular province, at the TO: prompt, type the name of the appropriate list (e.g., TO: ILL.ONTARIO). Several lists may be used at one time (e.g., TO: ILL.ONTARIO,ILL.NB,ILL.PEI). New ENVOY 100 addresses reported to the National Library are automatically added to the distribution lists.

The WHO Codes list is followed by an alphabetical list of library symbols with their corresponding WHO codes adjacent.

The distribution lists are:

ILL.ALBERTA

ILL.BC

ILL.MANITOBA

ILL.NB

ILL.NFLD

ILL.NS

ILL.NWT

ILL.ONTARIO

ILL.PEI

ILL.QUEBEC

ILL.SASKATCHEWAN

ILL.YUKON

2. LIBRARY NAME INDEX

This index is arranged in alphabetical order by library name with the corresponding library symbol and electronic address(es) appearing in adjacent columns.

The name is written in descending hierarchical order (e.g., "Concordia University, Sir George Williams Campus, Library"). Users of the index are advised to try several possible forms of entry if they are unsuccessful in their initial attempt to find an entry.

Acronyms are filed alphabetically within the sequence. Initial articles have been dropped unless the article is an integral part of the name (e.g., The Pas).

3. WHO CODES

A-G Canada (formerly ISM Library Information Services) now owns one of the well-known Canadian on-line bibliographic systems (formerly called UTLAS), and has its own system of library identifiers known as WHO codes, which are used in the Impact/TRACEit system.

The WHO Codes section lists the WHO codes alphabetically. The corresponding Canadian library symbol for each code is adjacent.
