PART III – Departmental Expenditure Plans: Reports on Plans and Priorities

Purpose

Reports on Plans and Priorities (RPPs) are individual expenditure plans for each department and agency. These reports provide increased levels of detail over a three-year period on an organization's main priorities by strategic outcome, program and planned/expected results, including links to related resource requirements presented in the Main Estimates.

In conjunction with the Main Estimates, RPPs serve to inform members of Parliament on planned expenditures of departments and agencies, and support Parliament's consideration of supply bills. The RPPs are typically tabled soon after the Main Estimates by the President of the Treasury Board.

Estimates Documents

The Estimates are comprised of three parts:

- Part I – Government Expenditure Plan – provides an overview of the Government's requirements and changes in estimated expenditures from previous fiscal years.
- Part II – Main Estimates – supports the Appropriation Acts with detailed information on the estimated spending and authorities being sought by each federal organization requesting appropriations.

In accordance with Standing Orders of the House of Commons, Parts I and II must be tabled on or before March 1.

- Part III – Departmental Expenditure Plans – consists of two components:
 - Report on Plans and Priorities (RPP)
 - Departmental Performance Report (DPR)

DPRs are individual department and agency accounts of results achieved against planned performance expectations as set out in respective RPPs.

The DPRs for the most recently completed fiscal year are tabled in the fall by the President of the Treasury Board.

Supplementary Estimates support Appropriation Acts presented later in the fiscal year. Supplementary Estimates present information on spending requirements that were either not sufficiently developed in time for inclusion in the Main Estimates or have subsequently been refined to account for developments in particular programs and services. Supplementary Estimates also provide information on changes to expenditure forecasts of major statutory items as well as on such items as: transfers of funds between votes; debt deletion; loan guarantees; and new or increased grants.

For more information on the Estimates, please consult the Treasury Board Secretariat website.¹

Links to the Estimates

As shown above, RPPs make up part of Part III of the Estimates documents. Whereas Part II emphasizes the financial aspect of the Estimates, Part III focuses on financial and non-financial performance information, both from a planning and priorities standpoint (RPP) and an achievements and results perspective (DPR).

The Management Resources and Results Structure establishes a structure for display of financial information in the Estimates and reporting to Parliament via RPPs and DPRs. When displaying planned spending, RPPs rely on the Estimates as a basic source of financial information.

Main Estimates expenditure figures are based on the Annual Reference Level Update which is prepared in the fall. In comparison, planned spending found in RPPs includes the Estimates as well as any other amounts that have been approved through a Treasury Board submission up to February 1 (see Definitions section). This readjusting of the financial figures allows for a more up-to-date portrait of planned spending by program.

Changes to the presentation of the Report on Plans and Priorities

Several changes have been made to the presentation of the RPP partially to respond to a number of requests—from the House of Commons Standing Committees on Public Accounts (PAC – Report 15²) in 2010; and on Government and Operations Estimates (OGGO – Report 7³) in 2012—to provide more detailed financial and non-financial performance information about programs within RPPs and DPRs, thus improving the ease of their study to support appropriations approval.

- In Section II, financial, human resources and performance information is now presented at the program and sub-program levels for more granularity.
- The report's general format and terminology have been reviewed for clarity and consistency purposes.
- Other efforts aimed at making the report more intuitive and focused on Estimates information were made to strengthen alignment with the Main Estimates.

How to read this document

RPPs are divided into four sections:

- Section I: Organizational Expenditure Overview

This Organizational Expenditure Overview allows the reader to get a general glance at the organization. It provides a description of the organization's purpose, as well as basic financial and human resources information. This section opens with the new Organizational Profile, which displays general information about the department, including the names of the minister and the deputy head, the ministerial portfolio, the year the department was established and the main legislative authorities. This subsection is followed by a new subsection entitled Organizational Context, which includes the Raison d'être, the Responsibilities, the Strategic Outcomes and Program Alignment Architecture, the Organizational Priorities and the Risk Analysis. This section ends with the Planned Expenditures, the Alignment to Government of Canada Outcomes, the Estimates by Votes and the Contribution to the Federal Sustainable Development Strategy. It should be noted that this section does not display any non-financial performance information related to programs (please see Section II).

- Section II: Analysis of Programs by Strategic Outcome

This section provides detailed financial and non-financial performance information for strategic outcomes, programs and sub-programs. This section allows the reader to learn more about programs by reading their respective description and narrative entitled “Planning Highlights.” This narrative speaks to key services or initiatives which support the plans and priorities presented in Section I; it also describes how performance information supports the department’s strategic outcome or parent program.

- Section III: Supplementary Information

This section provides supporting information related to departmental plans and priorities. In this section, the reader will find a future-oriented statement of operations and a link to supplementary information tables regarding transfer payments, as well as information related to the greening of government operations, internal audits and evaluations, horizontal initiatives, user fees, major Crown and transformational projects, and up-front multi-year funding, where applicable, to individual organizations. The reader will also find a link to the Tax Expenditures and Evaluations Report, produced annually by the Minister of Finance, which provides estimates and projections of the revenue impacts of federal tax measures designed to support the economic and social priorities of the Government of Canada.

- Section IV: Organizational Contact Information

In this last section, the reader will have access to organizational contact information.

Definitions

Appropriation Any authority of Parliament to pay money out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

Budgetary Versus Non-budgetary Expenditures

Budgetary expenditures – operating and capital expenditures; transfer payments to other levels of government, organizations or individuals; and payments to Crown corporations.

Non-budgetary expenditures – net outlays and receipts related to loans, investments and advances, which change the composition of the financial assets of the Government of Canada.

Expected Result An outcome that a program is designed to achieve.

Full-Time Equivalent (FTE) A measure of the extent to which an employee represents a full person-year charge against a departmental budget. FTEs are calculated as a ratio of assigned hours of work to scheduled hours of work. Scheduled hours of work are set out in collective agreements.

Government of Canada Outcomes A set of high-level objectives defined for the Government as a whole.

Management, Resources and Results Structure (MRRS) A common approach and structure to the collection, management and reporting of financial and non-financial performance information.

An MRRS provides detailed information on all departmental programs (e.g. program costs, program expected results and their associated targets, how they align to the Government's priorities and intended outcomes, etc.) and establishes the same structure for both internal decision making and external accountability.

Planned Spending For the purpose of the RPP, planned spending refers to those amounts for which a Treasury Board submission approval has been received by no later than February 1, 2014. This cut-off date differs from the Main Estimates process. Therefore, planned spending may include amounts incremental to planned expenditure levels presented in the 2014–15 Main Estimates. In addition, for Employment and Social Development Canada, planned spending includes Employment Insurance and Canada Pension Plan benefits that are excluded from the Main Estimates.

Program A group of related resource inputs and activities that are managed to meet specific needs and to achieve intended results, and that are treated as a budgetary unit.

Program Alignment Architecture A structured inventory of a department's programs, where programs are arranged in a hierarchical manner to depict the logical relationship between each program and the strategic outcome(s) to which they contribute.

Spending Areas Government of Canada categories of expenditures. There are four spending areas⁴ (social affairs, economic affairs, international affairs and government affairs) each comprising three to five Government of Canada outcomes.

Strategic Outcome A long-term and enduring benefit to Canadians that is linked to the department's mandate, vision and core functions.

Sunset Program A time-limited program that does not have ongoing funding or policy authority. When the program is set to expire, a decision must be made as to whether to continue the program. (In the case of a renewal, the decision specifies the scope, funding level and duration.)

Whole-of-Government Framework A map of the financial and non-financial contributions of federal organizations receiving appropriations that aligns their programs to a set of high-level outcome areas defined for the Government as a whole.

Message from the Minister of Employment and Social Development

I am pleased to present Employment and Social Development Canada's 2014–15 Report on Plans and Priorities, which outlines our priorities for the next fiscal year.

Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC) is responsible for a range of programs and services that support Canadians throughout their lives—from school to work, from one job to another, from unemployment to employment and from the workforce to retirement.

ESDC will continue to focus on fixing the skills mismatch in Canada, where we have too many Canadians without jobs in an economy with too many jobs without Canadians. As such, we will continue to press forward with the implementation of the Canada Job Grant, the promotion of the skilled trades as a good career for Canadians, creating more opportunities for apprentices, speeding up the recognition of foreign credentials and leading a national debate on ensuring our secondary and post-secondary school systems are graduating students with the skills employers are looking for.

ESDC will also continue to review and reform the Temporary Foreign Worker Program to ensure that Canadians get the first crack at available jobs.

In addition to our commitment to ensuring Canadians are well-prepared to participate in the labour market today and in the future, we will expand our partnerships with the not-for-profit and private sectors to find innovative ways to address issues like homelessness and accessibility for Canadians with disabilities.

ESDC will focus on achieving service excellence for Canadians by further modernizing service delivery, focusing on its core business priorities and increasing the use of technology. Through Service Canada, we will ensure that Canadians quickly receive the benefits to which they are entitled and access to a wide range of programs and services. Last year, Service Canada took on the new responsibility of delivering passport services.

ESDC will support the Government's commitment to create jobs, opportunities and economic growth for Canadians. While delivering on these priorities, the Department will ensure the best possible value for taxpayers.

The Honourable Jason Kenney, P.C., M.P.

Minister of Employment and Social Development and Minister for Multiculturalism

Message from the Minister of Labour

Canada's Labour Program is first and foremost about people.

Our work ensures Canadians are able to earn a living in safe, fair and productive workplaces—essential components of a strong and vibrant workforce. It plays an important role in supporting the growth and long-term prosperity of Canada's economy, which remains a top priority for our Government.

In Canada, we have a strong history of cooperation between employers and unions, built on a foundation of fairness and mutual respect. Fostering harmonious labour relations continues to be the core of our business. Building on last year's success, we will once again expand our preventive mediation and conciliation services to help employers and unions build cooperative relationships and reach collective agreements.

Keeping everyone safe on the job contributes to a robust economy. By enhancing our injury prevention strategies, we will prevent and reduce injuries in federally regulated businesses, in particular among young workers. Our goal remains to return all Canadian workers home safely at the end of each day.

We will continue to modernize our services by cutting red tape and reducing the administrative burden on businesses. Online tools will replace time-consuming paper reports, making it easier for employers to meet their obligations under the Canada Labour Code.

As the workforce evolves in ways we may not have expected, we will explore ways to make the Code more relevant to today's workers and employers.

We will continue to work with domestic and international partners to foster cooperation on labour issues, including promoting respect for fundamental labour principles and rights through labour provisions negotiated alongside free trade agreements.

Canada holds an enviable position in the world with regard to our Labour Program. We have something to be proud of—a program that respects the rights of workers and is dedicated to protecting their safety. Every Canadian benefits when given the chance to support themselves and their families in a healthy workplace.

It is an exciting time for the Labour Program as the Canadian workforce continues to grow and change. We will continue to improve our practices in federally-regulated businesses to better support employees and employers and to continue to play an active role in building Canada's long term prosperity.

Organizational Context

Raison d'être

The mission of Employment and Social Development Canada is to build a stronger and more competitive Canada, to support Canadians in making choices that help them live productive and rewarding lives and to improve Canadians' quality of life. The Department delivers a range of programs and services that affect Canadians throughout their lives through three business lines:

- Employment and Social Development;
- Labour Program; and
- Service Canada.

Responsibilities

To fulfill its mission, the Department is responsible for:

- developing policies that make Canada a society in which all can use their talents, skills and resources to participate in learning, work and their community;
- creating programs and supporting initiatives that help Canadians move through life's transitions, from school to work, from one job to another, from unemployment to employment, from the workforce to retirement;
- providing income support to seniors, families with children and Employment Insurance beneficiaries;
- helping Canadians with distinct needs such as Aboriginal people, people with disabilities, homeless people and recent immigrants;
- overseeing federal labour responsibilities; and
- delivering Government of Canada programs and services on behalf of other departments and agencies.

Included in these core roles are responsibilities for the design and delivery of some of the Government of Canada's most well-known programs and services, including:

- Old Age Security;
- Canada Pension Plan;
- Employment Insurance;
- Canada Student Loans and Grants;
- Canada Education Savings Program;
- National Child Benefit;
- Universal Child Care Benefit;
- Wage Earner Protection Program; and
- Passport Services.

These direct benefits to Canadians are part of Canada's social safety net and represent approximately 96 percent of the Department's expenditures.

The Labour Program is responsible for overseeing federal labour regulatory responsibilities, including facilitating compliance with occupational health and safety, labour standards and employment equity legislation, as well as assisting trade unions and employers in the negotiation of collective agreements and their renewal in federally regulated workplaces. The Labour Program also represents Canada in international labour organizations and negotiates and implements labour provisions in the context of trade liberalization initiatives.

Through Service Canada, the Department helps Canadians access departmental programs as well as other Government of Canada programs and services at close to 600 points of service across the country. In addition to in-person services, the organization serves the needs of Canadians online at servicecanada.gc.ca and by telephone through 1 800 O-Canada and its network of call centres.

Finally, through grants and contributions, the Department provides funding to other orders of government and organizations within the voluntary and private sectors, educators and community organizations to support projects that meet the labour market and social development needs of Canadians.

As Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC) delivers a range of programs and services to a variety of groups and individuals across the country, sound risk management becomes an essential part of the Department's planning activities and helps ensure achievement of desired objectives. ESDC integrates risk management principles into business planning, decision-making and organizational processes to minimize unintended impacts and maximize the opportunities across programs and services.

The risks identified are the result of self-assessment activities and independent reviews carried on throughout the Department. The Department reported on risks which are of a significant nature. The risks presented in the table will be monitored by senior management throughout the year to ensure adequate measures are implemented to monitor risk and mitigate their impacts.

ESDC has identified the following four key corporate risk themes that could have consequences on the Department's ability to deliver results against its 2014–15 plans and priorities:

1. Project Management

In 2014–15, one of the main risks the Department will closely monitor is project management-related risks and the possible impacts on the implementation of new initiatives, core programs and service standards. Due to the complexity and size of certain projects and initiatives, ESDC may be challenged to manage, a number of large projects simultaneously and effectively.

ESDC is aware that the execution of large transformation projects, such as information technology migrations or updates, carries high risk and that effective project management is crucial in its capacity to meet departmental priorities and objectives. Interdependencies between service and client branches can pose a risk to the Department, as some areas may not have capacity to meet all requirements within established timeframes.

To mitigate the impacts caused by such risk, ESDC will continuously monitor all areas where project management has been identified as a potential source of risk and may need to recruit new human resources or hire service contractors that can be appointed for a specific period to meet unanticipated changes in workload, as well as to obtain the specialized knowledge and skills required to manage large scale projects involving multiple stakeholders. To effectively manage such risks, increased monitoring will be performed by internal committees during the planning, funding, approval and implementation processes. The Department will also finalize and communicate a comprehensive Project Management Framework taking into consideration policy obligations, stakeholder input and sound project management practices.

2. Privacy/Security

ESDC collects and accesses sensitive information and is responsible for protecting its confidentiality. The Department relies heavily on a variety of technologies to deliver services to Canadians in a timely, accurate and secure manner.

The Department is at risk of involuntarily exposing sensitive information to loss or inappropriate disclosure or having one of its online tools breached by unauthorized users. If private or sensitive information is inadvertently disclosed, it could result in potential harm to clients and employees.

To ensure the continued protection of personal and other sensitive information, ESDC has employed a number of safeguards including: a new information technology security directive to all employees, prohibited use of portable hard drives and the encryption of all portable USB storage devices. In addition, a new departmental Policy on Privacy Management sets out clear departmental privacy objectives and identifies key roles and responsibilities of all employees for the protection of personal information.

ESDC has reviewed its security practices to ensure that sensitive information is appropriately protected. The Department will implement a data loss prevention framework that will identify where data is stored, how it is used and protect against data loss.

3. Information Technology Infrastructure Renewal and Business Continuity

As the Department is seeking to operate in a more streamlined, responsive, and cost effective manner, ESDC's service delivery methods are evolving to greater use of the internet and paper based forms used for processing requests. New systems, infrastructure and business applications are required to meet client's demand for fast, efficient, timely and secure service.

Given the Department's current aging information technology (IT) applications and related infrastructure, there is a risk that we will not be able to deliver services to Canadians in a timely, accurate and secure fashion.

Investments to improve current IT infrastructures will be undertaken to minimize risks related to service delivery.

4. Human Resource Management

As a result of the Department's change agenda and the inherent complexity of communicating within a large, diverse and geographically dispersed organization, the Department will be challenged in two key areas.

Firstly, due to its large size, ESDC may encounter challenges to engage, motivate and equip staff during a period of multiple changes, and this may impact the Department's ability to meet organizational objectives. Secondly, due to a large number of organizational changes (retirements and departures), there is a risk that the Department may not have employees with the appropriate skills or knowledge for specific tasks. The transfer of knowledge is a key element of the Department's ability to meet objectives.

To ensure continuity in its operations and service delivery, the Department must ensure that employees are given adequate support, are informed of changes and are provided with the appropriate training and tools to fulfill their duties and help the Department achieve its objectives. ESDC's ability to be flexible and ensure that skilled resources are aligned to the right priorities is vital to the organization. The Department will also maintain an integrated approach to workforce planning and management to assist managers and employees who are faced with challenges in the workplace.

* Non-budgetary loans disbursed under the Canada Student Financial Assistance Act , Employment Insurance and Canada Pension Plan benefits are excluded from the 2014–15 Main Estimates, while they are included in the 2011–12 and 2012–13 expenditures, the 2013–14 forecast spending, the 2014–15, 2015–16 and 2016–17 planned spending. Non-budgetary loans are presented under the Learning program (Canada Student Loans and Grants sub-program), while Employment Insurance benefits are shown under the Skills and Employment program (Employment Insurance sub-program) and the Canada Pension Plan benefits are under the Income Security program (Canada Pension Plan sub-program).

The overall increase in spending of almost $22.1 billion from 2011–12 to 2016–17 can mainly be explained by increases to Canada Pension Plan benefits, Old Age Security payments and Employment Insurance benefits (for more details, see Departmental Spending Trend).

Under Skills and Employment, the increase of $0.7 billion from 2011–12 to 2016–17 is mainly due to an increase of $1.4 billion in Employment Insurance benefits, offset by a decrease of almost $0.7 billion in voted grants and contributions, mainly due to the expiry of the Labour Market Agreements program: negotiations are currently under way with provinces and territories to renew and transform the program. $500 million annually is available for skills training, once these renewed agreements are signed.

Spending under Learning is expected to decrease by $0.2 billion between 2011–12 and 2016–17 mainly due to decreases to non-budgetary loans disbursed under the Canada Student Financial Assistance Act of $0.3 billion and to Canada Student Loan write-offs (Vote 7) of $0.3 billion, offset by increases of $0.4 billion to the Canada Student Loans Program, the Canada Education Savings Grant and the Canada Learning Bond.

The increase of $22.1 billion from 2011–12 to 2016–17 in planned spending related to Income Security is mainly related to expected increases to Canada Pension Plan benefits ($10.8 billion) and Old Age Security program payments ($11.1 billion), in addition to an increase of $0.2 billion to the Canada Disability Savings Grants and Bonds.

Social Development planned spending for 2016–17 is expected to reach $3.1 billion, representing an increase of $0.2 billion from the 2011–12 actual expenditures, mostly due to an increase in Universal Child Care Benefit payments.

Citizen-Centred Service spending is expected to decrease by $0.2 billion by 2016–17 as a result of the transfer of call centre resources to the Integrity and Processing program in 2012–13 and a decrease in payroll expenditures financed by Treasury Board such as the immediate settlement payments for severance pay following revisions to specified collective agreements that occurred mainly in 2011–12. In addition, the significant reduction in planned spending from 2015–16 to 2016–17 is mainly explained by the sunsetting in 2015–16 of the passport services funding. The Department will have to request funding for 2016–17 and future years, including FTEs.

For Integrity and Processing, a decrease of $0.1 billion from the 2011–12 expenditures can be explained by internal efficiencies and savings identified as part of Budget 2012 and a decrease in payroll expenditures financed by Treasury Board such as the immediate settlement payments for severance pay following revisions to specified collective agreements that occurred mainly in 2011–12, offset by an increase resulting from the transfer of call centres from Citizen-Centred Service. Decreases are also attributable to the winding down of implementation of Bill C-51 and improvements in automation of statutory programs.

The decrease of $0.2 billion in Internal Services spending between 2011–12 and 2016–17 is mainly due to internal efficiencies and savings identified as part of Budget 2012 and a decrease from Treasury Board Central Votes to cover off expenditures financed by Treasury Board such as the immediate settlement payments for severance pay following revisions to specified collective agreements.

The decrease of $0.2 billion to other costs is mainly related to expenditures charged to the Canada Pension Plan in 2011–12 for the retroactive compensation of medical adjudicators in the settlement of complaints filed with the Canadian Human Rights Commission.

Departmental Spending Trend

For 2014–15, the Department has planned expenditures on programs and services of $112.5 billion. Of that amount, $107.8 billion directly benefit Canadians through statutory transfer payment programs such as Employment Insurance, the Canada Pension Plan, the Universal Child Care Benefit, Old Age Security as well as loans disbursed under the Canada Student Financial Assistance Act.

The figure below illustrates the departmental spending trend from 2011–12 to 2016–17. From 2011–12 to 2013–14, total spending includes all Parliamentary appropriations and revenue sources, Main Estimates and Supplementary Estimates. From 2014–15 to 2016–17, total spending represents planned spending.

The overall increase in spending of $22.1 billion from 2011–12 to 2016–17 can mainly be explained by increases to Canada Pension Plan benefits, Old Age Security payments and Employment Insurance benefits.

Planned Canada Pension Plan benefits are at $44.1 billion in 2016–17, an increase of $10.8 billion from the 2011–12 actual spending of $33.3 billion. Old Age Security benefits are expected to reach $49.2 billion in 2016–17, which represents an increase of $11.1 billion from the 2011–12 actual spending of $38.1 billion. Annual increases are associated with a higher number of beneficiaries and increases in the average monthly benefits.

Employment Insurance benefits fluctuate every year mainly due to changes in the average unemployment rate. Employment Insurance benefits are expected to reach $19.0 billion in 2016–17, representing an increase of $1.4 billion from the 2011–12 expenditures of $17.6 billion. More specifically, Employment Insurance benefits are expected to increase by $0.7 billion (4.3 percent) in 2014–15 due to expected increases of 1.7 percent in the number of beneficiaries and of 2.4 percent in the average benefit rate. The expected increase in the number of beneficiaries is due to the growth in the labour force, partially offset by a fall in the unemployment rate. The expected increase in the average benefit rate is due to the increase in the Maximum Insurable Earnings.

These increases are offset by decreases of $1.2 billion, mainly in operating funds and in voted grants and contributions. The decrease of $0.6 billion in gross operating funds is mainly attributable to internal efficiencies and savings identified as part of Budget 2012 and a reduction from Treasury Board Central Votes to cover off expenditures such as the immediate settlement payments for severance pay following revisions to specified collective agreements. The decrease of $0.5 billion in voted grants and contributions is mainly attributable to the expiry of the Labour Market Agreements program. Economic Action Plan 2013 and 2014 announced that the Government would transform skills training in Canada through the introduction of the Canada Job Grant as part of the renewal of the Labour Market Agreements in 2014–15. Negotiations are currently under way to renew and transform the program consistent with this commitment. $500 million annually is available for skills training, once these renewed agreements are signed.

Contribution to the Federal Sustainable Development Strategy

The 2013–16 Federal Sustainable Development Strategy (FSDS),¹¹ tabled on November 4, 2013, guides the Government of Canada's 2013–16 sustainable development activities. The FSDS articulates Canada's federal sustainable development priorities for a period of three years, as required by the Federal Sustainable Development Act.

ESDC contributes to Theme IV – Shrinking the Environmental Footprint – Beginning with Government as denoted by the visual identifier below:

Theme IV:
Shrinking the Environmental Footprint –
Beginning with Government

This contribution is a component of the Internal Services Program and is further explained in Section II.

The Department also ensures that its decision-making process includes a consideration of the FSDS goals and targets through the strategic environmental assessment (SEA). An SEA for policy, plan or program proposals includes an analysis of the impacts of the proposal on the environment, including on the FSDS goals and targets. The results of SEAs are made public when an initiative is announced or approved, demonstrating that environmental factors were integrated into the decision-making process.

For additional details on ESDC's activities to support sustainable development, please see Section II of this RPP and the departmental website.¹² For complete details on the Strategy, please see the Federal Sustainable Development Strategy¹³ website.

Section II: Analysis of Programs by Strategic Outcome

Strategic Outcome 1

A skilled, adaptable and inclusive labour force and an efficient labour market

Program 1.1: Skills and Employment

Description

Skills and Employment is intended to ensure that Canadian labour market participants are able to access the supports that they need to enter or reposition themselves in the labour market. Initiatives within this program contribute to the common overall objectives of promoting skills development, labour market participation and ensuring labour market efficiency.

Planning Highlights

In 2014–15, Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC) will continue to transform labour market programming to be more demand-driven to better respond to labour market needs. The Department will work with provinces and territories to implement the Canada Job Grant. ESDC will also engage Aboriginal labour market program agreement holders and other stakeholders to develop proposals to renew Aboriginal programming, and work with provinces and territories through the Canadian Council of Directors of Apprenticeship to modernize the Canadian apprenticeship system. The Department will also continue efforts to connect Canadians with available jobs by upgrading Job Bank's Job Matching Service, enhancing labour market information by integrating student areas of study with labour market outcomes and reforming the Temporary Foreign Worker Program to ensure Canadians are considered first. Moreover, the Department will use social finance projects to test innovative approaches in the areas of literacy and essential skills, youth employment programming and others.

Sub-Program 1.1.1: Employment Insurance

Description

Employment Insurance provides temporary income support to unemployed Canadians while they look for work or upgrade their skills, and is also provided to those who must take time off work due to illness, pregnancy, to care for a newborn or adopted child, or for a critically ill child, or to provide or arrange care for a family member who is seriously ill with a significant risk of death. Under the authority of Part II of the Employment Insurance Act, programs are in place to help unemployed participants prepare for, find and keep employment. Funds are from Employment Insurance premiums collected from employers, employees and self-employed people who have opted for special benefits coverage.

In 2014–15, the Department will engage provinces and territories on potential areas of Labour Market Development Agreement transformation.

Sub-Program 1.1.2: Inclusive Labour ForceDescription

Inclusive Labour Force programs enable Canadians, including unemployed adults and targeted groups such as youth, persons with disabilities, older workers, Aboriginal people and official language minority communities, to develop their skills, increase their labour market participation and become self-reliant and more adaptable to labour market changes.

Planning Highlights

Implement Canada Job Grant

Budget 2014 announced the Government's intention to align training with labour market needs through the Canada Job Grant, including directly connecting skills training with employers and jobs for Canadians. Specifically, the Canada Job Grant will help ensure that skills training leads to a guaranteed job.

Renew Aboriginal Programming

The Department will engage Aboriginal labour market program agreement holders and other stakeholders to develop and seek approval on options for post-2015 Aboriginal labour market programming and service delivery. This work will continue to align Aboriginal labour market programming with modern self-government treaty obligations.

Sub-Program 1.1.3: Skilled Labour Force

Description

Skilled Labour Force programs support investments in skills to enhance the productivity and competitiveness of Canadian workplaces, as well as supporting initiatives that recognize and utilize the skills of all Canadians. They cooperate with key stakeholders (business, labour, educational institutions, provinces) to support workplace skills development that responds to challenges in workplaces. The programs also promote mobility and inter-provincial standards in Canada.

Modernize the Apprenticeship System

The Department will:

- create the Canada Apprentice Loan to help apprentices registered in Red Seal trades with the cost of training;
- introduce a pilot project to expand the use of innovative approaches for apprentice technical training;
- build employer awareness of the need to hire apprentices through federal construction and maintenance contracts (Public Works and Government Services Canada and Defence Construction Canada);
- collect baseline evidence on current hiring and training practices of employers;
- improve [in collaboration with the Canadian Council of Directors of Apprenticeship (CCDA)] access to certification through enhanced occupational standards that support the development of multiple assessment methods (e.g. practical tests);
- also work in collaboration with the CCDA to identify options to optimize the existing exam approaches and explore the feasibility of developing and implementing additional forms of assessment which would drive an assessment framework for the Red Seal Program;
- work with provinces and territories (P/Ts) through the CCDA to harmonize requirements for apprentices in targeted skilled trades, specifically:
 - support implementation of action plan in first three Red Seal trades by P/Ts to harmonize requirements within their respective apprenticeship systems;
 - finalize action plan with the CCDA to harmonize requirements in additional seven Red Seal trades;
 - support implementation of action plan in seven additional trades by P/Ts to harmonize requirements within their respective apprenticeship systems; and
- work with the CCDA to implement a Foreign Credential Recognition Program project to improve and make more consistent foreign qualification recognition processes in Red Seal trades.

Sub-Program 1.1.4: Labour Market Efficiency

Description

Labour Market Efficiency programs foster a better balance between national labour supply and demand by promoting the labour force integration of recent immigrants, the entry of temporary foreign workers, the mobility of workers across Canada and the dissemination of labour market information to ensure that Canadians and newcomers can access meaningful employment.

Planning Highlights

Modernize Job Bank

The Department will modernize the Job Bank including upgrading the Job Match Service. An upgraded Job Match Service will allow Canadians to match their skills and knowledge to available jobs and will ensure that Canadians are given the first chance at available jobs. Its release in fall 2014 will provide a test period prior to the implementation of Citizenship and Immigration Canada's Expression of Interest initiative in January 2015, which will allow some international users to use the system.

Work will be undertaken for an April 2015 launch of a new requirement for all employers seeking a Labour Market Opinion to register with the Job Bank, where they will have access to the Job Match System.

Job Bank is currently modernizing its suite of applications:

- Job Bank for Employers Rebuild (April 2014)
- Merge of Job Bank and Working in Canada to ensure there is a single window for job searches and to avoid duplication (spring 2014)
- Job Match System (domestic, October 2014; international, January 2015)
- Student Career Choice Tool (spring 2014)

A strengthened validation and authentication process will also be introduced for employers and job seekers (April 2014).

Enhance Labour Market Information by Integrating Student Areas of Study with Labour Market Outcomes

Through the Sectoral Initiatives Program, the Department intends to fund the Council of Ministers of Education Canada to refine the Post-secondary Student Information System to make labour market outcome information by area of study more available in the medium term.

The Department will also introduce the Career Choice Tool. This online tool will help students and their influencers make more informed post-secondary education choices by providing job market information associated by field of study (such as wage trends and employment rates). This tool will be available publically in summer 2014.

Program 1.2: Learning

Description

This Program helps Canadians participate in post-secondary education to acquire the skills and credentials that enable them to improve their labour market outcomes and adapt to changing labour market conditions. It reduces barriers to education by providing financial assistance to individuals as well as incentives to save for a child's post-secondary education. It also provides information and awareness about opportunities to acquire education and skills. The program contributes to the inclusiveness of the workforce by giving Canadians with the required academic abilities a more equal opportunity to participate in post-secondary education. The Program works with the provinces and territories, the voluntary sector, financial institutions, service providers and other key stakeholders to help Canadians pursue post-secondary education.

Planning Highlights

Working with Partners to Support Education Programs and Information to Youth

In 2014–15, the Department will negotiate a new multi-year funding agreement to support Pathways to Education Canada, which provides a comprehensive set of academic, financial and social supports to at-risk youth to improve academic outcomes. The Department will also be reviewing student grant eligibility parameters of the Canada Student Loans and Grants Program to ensure that grants continue to meet the needs of their target population.

Enhancing the Delivery of Post-Secondary Programs

The Department will work with the Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia governments to administer their respective post-secondary education savings incentives. The Department will also collaborate with the Ontario government to further align the delivery of provincial student grants with existing federal and provincial loans and grants.

The Department will continue to work with jurisdictions and educational institutions to promote the use of the Electronic Confirmation of Enrolment Portal to improve student loan application and approvals processes. The Department will collaborate with partners to further explore opportunities to modernize service delivery.

Finally, the Department will complete industry consultations and issue a Request for Proposal for the selection of a third-party service provider to help deliver the Canada Student Loans and Grants Program.

Improving Stewardship and Accountability

The Department continually seeks to improve the stewardship and accountability of its programs. It will continue to review policies and legislation to reduce student loan default and increase recoveries of loans in collections with the Canada Revenue Agency and implement a solution to discharge bankruptcy loans.

Sub-Program 1.2.1: Canada Student Loans and Grants Program

Description

This Sub-Program provides repayable loans and non-repayable grants to help Canadians finance their participation in post-secondary education. Programs are managed in partnership with participating provinces and one territory, educational institutions and agencies, financial aid administrators, financial institutions and a service provider. The clients and beneficiaries include youth, full- and part-time students, people with permanent disabilities, students with dependants, high-need students, students from low- to middle-income families and borrowers repaying their loans.

The Canada Student Loans Program provides loans to Canadians who have a demonstrated financial need to help them participate in post-secondary education. The Program also offers debt management measures to those borrowers who are experiencing financial difficulty so that they can repay their student loans in periods of unemployment or low income. It is managed in partnership with the participating provinces and territories, educational institutions and agencies, financial aid administrators, financial institutions and a service provider. The clients and beneficiaries include full- and part-time students and borrowers in repayment.

The Canada Student Grants Program provides predictable, up-front grants to assist and encourage students from low- and middle-income families, student parents and students with disabilities to participate in post-secondary education. It is managed in partnership with participating provinces and territories.

Planning Highlights

Electronic Confirmation of Enrolment Portal

The Department will collaborate with delivery partners to monitor implementation and identify further potential enhancements of the Electronic Confirmation of Enrolment Portal, a secure web-based channel used to communicate confirmation of enrolment information between educational institutions, the National Student Loans Service Centre and provinces/territories, in the 10 jurisdictions that participate in the Canada Student Loans and Grants Program and identify further potential enhancements. The Department will continue to work with provinces, territories and educational institutions to increase the use of the National Student Loans Service Centre Electronic Confirmation of Enrolment Portal.

Efficiency Enhancement

The Department will continue its efforts to further improve the administration and delivery of federal student financial assistance programs by exploring potential opportunities for efficiency gains through streamlining and simplifying business processes, including (but not limited to) the Repayment Assistance Program, grants and bankruptcy-related events. The Department will also identify additional opportunities to go paperless within its current operations to further modernize federal service delivery.

Electronic Delivery Vision

The Department will build upon recent improvements in the delivery of student financial assistance by establishing an electronic delivery vision which will enable borrowers to interact with the National Student Loans Service Centre using their “channel of choice.” This electronic delivery vision will be developed in collaboration with students, financial aid officers and provinces and territories.

Re-procurement

The Department uses a third-party service provider to help deliver the Canada Student Loans and Grants Program. The current contract will expire on March 31, 2015, with options to extend to 2018. The Department is engaging industry to ensure that the Request for Proposals leading to a new service provider contract is in line with industry best practices.

Stewardship and Accountability

The Department will explore options to improve recoveries on defaulted student loans.

Sub-Program 1.2.2: Canada Education Savings Program

Description

The Canada Education Savings Program was created through an Act of Parliament in 1998 (and re-enacted as the Canada Education Savings Act in 2004). It is intended to make post-secondary education more affordable by encouraging early planning and saving for education so funds can later be withdrawn to help finance children’s post-secondary education. This Program provides matching savings grants on Registered Education Savings Plan (RESP) savings for Canadian children aged 0–17. Eligible low-income families can also benefit from the Canada Learning Bond, which provides funds that are added to the RESPs of children born after December 31, 2003. The Program is delivered through a public/private partnership with financial institutions, banks, mutual fund companies and scholarship foundations. The Program complements the Canada Student Loans Program and other labour market and skills development programs offered by Employment and Social Development Canada.

Planning Highlights

Business Transformation and Modernization of the Labour Program's Core Business

To ensure that its activities aimed at promoting safe, fair and productive workplaces and cooperative workplace relations are both aligned with government priorities and responsive to the evolving needs of Canadians, the Labour Program will continue to modernize and transform the way it delivers its core business. It will facilitate compliance through its legislative and regulatory frameworks and continue to leverage technology to progressively replace existing paper-based reports with electronic tools to improve service and reduce red tape and administrative burden on federally regulated businesses.

Improving the Labour Program's Policies and Programs

In the face of an increasingly complex sphere of responsibility, the Labour Program will continue to renew its policies and programs. Solid business intelligence and results-focused tools will support the identification of modernization options.

Proactive inspections in high-risk industries will continue to be conducted. By enhancing prevention-based strategies to facilitate compliance, the Labour Program will help to reduce and prevent workplace injuries in federally regulated businesses, including among young workers. This approach enables the Labour Program to assist employers and workers to proactively comply with their obligations under the Canada Labour Code and other legislation.

The Labour Program's preventive mediation and conciliation services assist unions and management in building better relationships at the negotiation table. The Labour Program will further expand preventive mediation activities to promote labour-management stability within the federal jurisdiction, while continuing to provide conciliation and mediation services for collective bargaining.

The Labour Program will also focus on strengthening engagement with domestic and international partners and stakeholders to foster cooperation and collaboration on labour issues, including issues pertaining to international labour standards.

The Sub-Program provides mediation and conciliation services to assist employers and unions in achieving a collective agreement without resorting to a work stoppage. This Sub-Program seeks to support constructive labour management relations through preventive mediation services that identify opportunities for employers and unions to meet and discuss issues of mutual interest and to support new and innovative approaches to collective bargaining. This Sub-Program also appoints arbitrators, adjudicators and referees for unjust dismissal and wage recovery appeals, and appeals under the Wage Earner Protection Program.

Planning Highlights

The Labour Program will continue to foster harmonious relations between unions and management that translate into better relations at the negotiation table, thereby helping to reduce the occurrence of costly work stoppages. Where assistance is required in the federally regulated jurisdiction, experienced conciliation and mediation officers will assist organizations in their collective bargaining negotiations. The Labour Program will also continue to expand its preventive mediation services to build cooperative workplace relations.

The Labour Program will streamline the administrative processes for wage recovery and unjust dismissal cases.

Sub-Program 2.1.2: Workplace Health and Safety

Description

This Sub-Program seeks to promote and sustain safe workplaces within the federal jurisdiction (interprovincial transportation, postal services and courier companies, telecommunications, banking, grain handling, nuclear facilities, federal Crown corporations, Aboriginal governments and their employees, and the federal public service). It seeks to ensure federal employers' compliance with occupational health and safety standards through employer and employee cooperation to ensure healthy and safe workplaces. In addition, it provides income support and rehabilitation support to injured federal workers and merchant seamen.

Planning Highlights

The Labour Program will continue to modernize the Occupational Health and Safety compliance strategy that involves a range of efficient, effective and result-focused tools to help reduce and prevent workplace injuries in federally regulated businesses, including among young workers.

Strategies to facilitate employer compliance with their obligations under the Canada Labour Code and other legislation will continue. The Labour Program will pursue enforcement action when necessary to ensure compliance with law, protect workers and maintain a level playing field for law-abiding employers.

The Labour Program will continue to modernize programs such as the Federal Workers Compensation Service, and complete the review of the Government Employees Compensation Act.

Sub-Program 2.1.3: Labour Standards and Equity

Description

This Sub-Program seeks to promote and sustain fair and equitable workplaces within the federal jurisdiction (interprovincial transportation, postal services and courier companies, telecommunications, banking, grain handling, nuclear facilities, federal Crown corporations, companies that have contracts with the federal government, some First Nations employers and employees). The Sub-Program administers and enforces labour standards through education and compliance activities. It also seeks to identify and eliminate barriers to employment for the four designated groups (women, Aboriginal peoples, people with disabilities and visible minorities) within the federal jurisdiction. The Sub-Program reduces the economic insecurity of workers through the protection of wages and vacation, severance and termination pay when their employer declares bankruptcy or becomes subject to receivership.

Planning Highlights

The Labour Program will continue to improve program delivery for Part III (Labour Standards) of the Canada Labour Code and streamline compliance efforts, which include building awareness among employers and workers in the federal jurisdiction. This also includes increasing its proactive efforts on labour standards and workplace equity.

The Labour Program will continue to recover unpaid wages arising from the investigation of complaints through a combination of employers' voluntary compliance and the application of enforcement tools such as payment orders to employers, directors' liability and orders to debtors. The use of alternate dispute resolution techniques will continue to be offered to parties to assist them in reaching an agreement.

The Labour Program will further support employers in the federal jurisdiction in instituting practices that improve representation of employment equity designated groups.

The five-year review of the Wage Earner Protection Program Act, its administration and operations will continue.

Sub-Program 2.1.4: International Labour Affairs

Description

This Sub-Program seeks to support Canadian workers and employers from unfair competition from other countries based on poor labour standards or weak labour law enforcement. The Sub-Program negotiates international labour standards that reflect Canadian values and oversees Canada's participation in international labour forums. The Sub-Program also promotes fundamental labour rights internationally to support equitable growth and social stability in developing countries, protect human rights and contribute to reducing the growing global divide between rich and poor. The Sub-Program negotiates and implements international labour cooperation agreements and other frameworks and provides technical assistance to partner countries.

Since May 2013, about one-third of new pensioners receive their OAS pension automatically without having to submit an application. Work is continuing in order to automatically enrol more individuals to the pension, as well as to automatically enrol individuals to the Guaranteed Income Supplement.

Sub-Program 3.1.3: Canada Disability Savings Program

Description

This Sub-Program helps Canadians with severe and prolonged disabilities and their families save for the future through Registered Disability Savings Plans (RDSPs). Canadian residents under the age of 60 (if they are 59, they must apply before the end of the calendar year in which they turned 59) who have a Social Insurance Number and are eligible for the Disability Tax Credit can open an RDSP. The Program provides contributions to the RDSPs of eligible individuals in the form of grants and bonds. Grants and bonds are paid until the year the beneficiary turns 49. The program has no impact on other federal benefits, such as the Canada Child Tax Benefit, the Goods and Services Tax Credit, Old Age Security and Employment Insurance.

Planning Highlights

The Department will promote and raise awareness of the Registered Disability Savings Plan (RDSP) through an outreach strategy. This involves partnerships with other government departments, provinces as well as internal and external organizations to promote the RDSP through activities such as booths at conferences, information sessions, community outreach, various direct mail-outs, website publications and social media. These outreach activities provide information to people with disabilities and their families on how an RDSP works, how to open an RDSP and how to apply for the grant and bond, and they provide personalized support to individuals who require assistance to access the Program.

The Department will also implement the final measures to the Canada Disability Savings Program as announced in Budget 2012.

Sub-Program 3.1.4: National Child Benefit

Description

The National Child Benefit (NCB) initiative—a partnership among federal, provincial and territorial governments, with a First Nations component—is designed to help prevent and reduce the depth of child poverty, promote attachment to the labour market by ensuring families are always better off as a result of working and reduce program overlap and duplication. The NCB initiative provides income support and other benefits and services to low-income families with children. The Government of Canada's contribution to the NCB initiative is the NCB Supplement. The NCB Supplement is an additional benefit paid to low-income families with children through the Canada Child Tax Benefit and complements other federal supports for families with children. While the NCB Supplement is delivered by the Canada Revenue Agency, Employment and Social Development Canada is responsible for policy development with respect to the federal-provincial/territorial (F-P/T) NCB initiative and coordinates annual F-P/T reports to Canadians on progress.

Planning Highlights

In 2014–15, Employment and Social Development Canada will continue to work with its federal partners and the provinces and territories to secure final approvals for the release of the 2009–13 National Child Benefit (NCB) Progress Report. This Report is the result of a new, modern and efficient annual federal-provincial/territorial NCB reporting process. The new annual progress report will be entirely Web-based. This makes it more efficient to produce, reduces costs and will facilitate a more timely release.

Program 3.2: Social Development

Description

Planning Highlights

In 2014–15, the Department will implement the new five-year mandate of the renewed Homelessness Partnering Strategy and take the necessary steps to transition towards the “Housing First” approach. This approach aims to move people rapidly from shelters or the streets into stable housing while providing them with support.

The Department will also advance the social innovation agenda by working with community partners on finding practical solutions to complex social challenges, making federal programs more efficient and continuing to implement the social enterprise plan of action by building on existing work related to volunteerism, philanthropy and socially minded businesses (e.g. Prime Minister’s Volunteer Awards) and continuing to test innovative funding models through pilot projects.

Sub-Program 3.2.1: Homelessness Partnering Strategy

Description

This Sub-Program supports the implementation of effective, sustainable and community-based solutions to prevent and reduce homelessness across Canada. The Homelessness Partnering Strategy (HPS) is a community-based program that provides grant and contribution funding to communities and service providers. These services target individuals, families and Aboriginal people in major urban centres, rural communities and the North. The renewed HPS emphasizes the use of the Housing First approach aimed at moving people who are chronically or episodically homeless rapidly from shelters and the streets into stable housing and providing services to help them sustain housing and work towards recovery and reintegration into the community.

Planning Highlights

The outcomes of the Mental Health Commission of Canada's At Home/Chez Soi project have shown that the Housing First approach is an effective way to reduce homelessness. This approach aims to move people rapidly from shelters and the streets into stable housing, while providing them with support to maintain housing and integrate into society. In addition to the positive results demonstrated through the At Home/Chez Soi project, a number of communities across the country have implemented Housing First to great success. As a result, the Department will implement the Homelessness Partnering Strategy using a Housing First approach as announced in Budget 2013.

Sub-Program 3.2.2: Social Development Partnerships Program

Description

This Sub-Program is a broad-based program that makes strategic investments to support Government priorities related to children and families, people with disabilities, the voluntary sector, official languages minority communities and other vulnerable populations by playing a unique role in furthering broad social goals. It provides an opportunity to work in partnership with social not-for-profit organizations to help improve life outcomes of these target groups. Social Development Partnerships Program (SDPP)-funded activities are expected to lead to: the development and sharing of knowledge of existing and emerging social issues; the creation of collaboration, partnerships, alliances and networks; and the development of approaches to respond to existing and emerging social issues. Over the long term, SDPP support for these activities will help the not-for-profit sector and partners be more effective in addressing existing and emerging social issues, and will help target populations have access to information, programs and services tailored to their unique needs.

Sub-Program 3.2.3: New Horizons for Seniors Program

Description

This Sub-Program supports projects led or inspired by seniors who make a difference in the lives of others and in their communities. The Program has five objectives: promoting volunteerism among seniors and other generations; engaging seniors in the community through mentoring of others; expanding awareness of elder abuse, including financial abuse; supporting social participation and inclusion of seniors; and providing capital assistance for new and existing community projects and/or programs for seniors. Two types of projects are eligible for funding. Community-based projects are eligible to receive up to $25,000 in grant funding per project for up to one year. These projects address social challenges “on the ground” and recognize communities as the focal point for program and service delivery. They meet local needs determined through regional priorities and benefit the community as a whole. Pan-Canadian projects are eligible to receive up to $250,000 per year for up to three years in contribution or grant funding. They develop and/or transfer tools, resources and promising practices that can be adapted and shared across communities, regions or throughout Canada, specifically to address elder abuse.

Sub-Program 3.2.4: Universal Child Care Benefit

Description

The Universal Child Care Benefit (UCCB) is a statutory income benefit introduced in 2006, designed to assist Canadian families with young children by supporting their child care choices through direct financial support. The UCCB was designed with the objective of supporting families in the choice of child care that best meets the needs of their family. Families receive up to $1,200 per year for each child under six. The benefit is taxable and must be reported by the lower-income spouse, or for single parents, declared as their own income, or as income of an eligible dependent child for whom the UCCB is paid. The UCCB provides assistance to Canadian families, in addition to other supports such as the Canada Child Tax Benefit and the National Child Benefit Supplement, and does not affect the benefits families receive under these programs or the Child Care Expense Deduction.

Planning Highlights

Roll-out of the Automated Benefits Application Initiative continues with the service launched in New Brunswick in January 2014 and planned for Saskatchewan in June 2014. The Initiative, which has been implemented by the Canada Revenue Agency, which delivers the Universal Child Care Benefit on behalf of Employment and Social Development Canada, simplifies the application process and increases take-up of child benefits. The partnership with provincial and territorial Vital Statistics Agencies offers the parents of newborns the option of checking a single box on the birth registration form, which triggers automated applications for federal child benefits, related provincial and territorial programs and the GST/HST credit. The service is currently available in British Columbia, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba, Alberta and Newfoundland and Labrador. Eighty eight percent of all newborns in participating provinces are currently being registered through this process.

Sub-Program 3.2.5: Enabling Accessibility Fund

Description

This Sub-Program contributes to the improvement of accessibility for people with disabilities in their communities and workplaces. Canadians with disabilities often experience barriers to their full participation and inclusion in activities of everyday living. As a result, Canadians and their communities are not fully benefiting from the participation and experiences of people with disabilities. Through the various components of the program, the Enabling Accessibility Fund provides eligible recipients with grants or contributions to support community-based projects that improve accessibility, remove barriers and enable Canadians with disabilities to participate in and contribute to their community.

Planning Highlights

Budget 2013 announced the renewal of the Enabling Accessibility Fund on an ongoing basis to improve physical accessibility for persons with disabilities, including to workplaces. In addition to enhancing accessibility in communities through capital costs of construction and renovation projects, the Enabling Accessibility Fund seeks to facilitate and support employment opportunities for people with disabilities through projects that will improve accessibility in the workplace.

New performance measurement indicators are being implemented for the renewed Fund. The Department will establish targets for these indicators after competitive processes have taken place and new projects have been funded. The information derived from these processes and projects will enable the programs to identify trends and determine appropriate targets.

The purpose is to deliver automated, simple, integrated, client-centred internal service in a less costly and more sustainable manner. With Shared Services Canada renewing the Government of Canada's information technology (IT) infrastructure to help modernize operations, the Department will work with Shared Services Canada to enable IT infrastructure improvements which will underpin modern programs and services that are more secure, cost-effective and more accessible for Canadians.
