New Motor Vehicle Sales

Unadjusted Sales
Sales of all new motor vehicles totalled 160,505 units in June 1985, up 20.6% over June 1984, the highest monthly total ever registered, surpassing the previous most active sales month of April 1985 when 157,681 units were sold. Compared to June 1984, sales of North American manufactured passenger cars increased by 8.6% to 84,655 units while those of commercial vehicles rose by 37.6% to 37,629 units over the same period. Sales of passenger cars built overseas rose by 40.3% to 34,125 units, while sales of overseas-built commercial vehicles increased by 18.6% to 4,086 units. For overseas-built passenger cars, this comprised increases of 6.7% for Japanese automobiles (18,069 units) and 17.6% for passenger cars imported from other countries (16,056 units).

The share of the Canadian passenger car market held by North American manufacturers in June 1985 (based on unit sales) was 71.3%, down from the 76.2% recorded in June 1984. Japanese manufacturers held a market share of 15.2% compared to 16.6% a year earlier. Manufacturers from other countries held 13.5% of the passenger car market, a substantial increase from the 7.2% held in June 1984.

The total dollar value of all new motor vehicles sold in June 1985 increased by 27.0% from a year earlier to $2,058.6 million. Sales of North American passenger cars reached $1,010.3 million, up 15.7% over the corresponding month in 1984. The total sales of commercial vehicles built in North America increased by 37.6% to 37,629 units, while sales of passenger cars imported from other countries held a market share of 15.2% of the passenger car market, a substantial increase from the 7.2% held in June 1984.

Composite Leading Indicator
The Canadian composite leading indicator was little changed in May after nine straight declines. Only one of the 10 components, the proxy of profit margins, was down. It has been responsible for most of the recent slump in the composite indicator. The growth in the consumer demand components slowed somewhat in May as a result of declines in the non-filtered versions. The non-filtered index rebounded from its April downturn, rising by 1.7% in response to increases in manufacturing orders and the stock index. The stability of the overall index signals little change in the outlook for continued modest growth in the near term.

Civil Courts in Canada

Civil Courts in Canada, a new report prepared by the Canadian Centre for Justice Statistics, contains useful and timely information on civil courts operating across Canada. This publication presents a general model of civil process and discusses the major themes and issues in civil justice today. One of the publication's primary purposes is to provide a contextual framework within which future national civil court statistics can be analyzed. There is a special section on the Small Claims Court, as well as an examination of the Charter of Rights and Freedoms and recent developments at the federal and provincial levels.

Security Transactions

Foreign investment in outstanding Canadian securities resulted in a net capital inflow of $529 million in June, some $200 million higher than in May. Net sales to non-residents of outstanding Canadian bonds doubled to $401 million, largely reflecting an increase in investments from the United States. Gross bond trading activity involving non-residents reached a record $3.8 billion in June. Net sales of Canadian equities remained virtually unchanged at $128 million. Foreign investments in Canadian equities, largely from the United States, totaled nearly $500 million in the first half of 1985, in contrast to a net disinvestment recorded in each of the last four years.

In trade in outstanding foreign securities, Canadian residents reduced their holdings of foreign equities by $70 million in June, bringing the overall reduction in the second quarter to some $300 million. However, residents increased their investments in foreign bonds by $136 million in June.

Gross Domestic Product and Index of Industrial Production

Gross Domestic Product in constant 1971 prices advanced 0.4% in May 1985, following no growth in April. Industrial production slipped 0.1% in May following modest increases in March and April.

Wholesale and retail trade accounted for about 65% of the overall growth in GDP in May. Wholesalers of motor vehicles and parts, and electrical machinery and equipment reported strong gains. In retail trade, increases were recorded by department stores, clothing, drug, and auto parts and accessories stores.

Other service-producing industries which showed growth this month included telephone systems, security dealers and brokers, hotels, motels and restaurants.

The major increase in the goods-producing sector in May occurred in the construction industry which advanced 2.5%, the strongest monthly gain in 24 months. The gain in construction was due to increased residential and non-residential building activity.

Output of manufacturers was up 0.3% in May compared to a 0.9% increase the previous month. Significant output increases were reported by manufacturers of metal fabricated products, machinery and equipment, petroleum, and non-metallic mineral products. Production decreases were recorded in manufacturing of food and beverages, paper products, chemicals, primary metals, and transportation equipment.

Goods-producing industries recording declines during May included agriculture, forestry and utilities.
