YOUR LINK TO THE HOUSING MARKET

Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation

Housing markets in Greater Vancouver remained strong in the first half of 2005. Although new home construction has slowed from last year, activity remains robust by historical standards. The resale market has heated up again following a brief 'breather' in the latter part of 2004.

Low mortgage rates continued to fuel demand for housing during the first six months of the year. The posted 5-year mortgage rate dipped to 5.7 per cent in June. Demand for housing was also sustained by positive net migration flows, and improving labour market conditions.

The first quarter of 2005 saw a net gain of 1,073 people moving to BC from other provinces, and 9,763 coming from other countries. Vancouver was the destination of more than 70 per cent of migrants coming to the province.

Employment growth of 2.4 per cent in Greater Vancouver during the first half of 2005 will continue to drive demand for housing going forward. Year-to-date, an additional 27,217 jobs were created compared to the same period last year.

Improving labour market conditions helped maintain high levels of consumer confidence this quarter. Consumers are optimistic about future job prospects and feel that now is a good time to make a big-ticket purchase.

New Home Construction

Year-to-date, housing starts in the Vancouver CMA were down 12 per cent to 8,574 units compared to the first six months of 2004.

It is not surprising that we have seen fewer housing starts given that homebuilders are extremely busy working on the record number of projects already under construction. There was a surge in multiple starts during the second quarter of last year. During the first half of 2005, an average of 18,416 housing units were under construction in the Vancouver CMA, the highest number ever recorded for the first six months of the year. However, pre-sales remain high, especially for apartment condominium projects, indicating that demand is still strong.

Year-to-date, single-detached starts declined 21 per cent to 2,278 units, while multiple starts dipped 9 per cent to 6,296 units compared to the same period last year. The only dwelling type to record a year-over-year increase in starts during the first six months of the year was row condominiums, which saw starts jump 23 per cent to 1,699 units. Semi-detached starts dipped 20 per cent, to 166 units, while apartment condo starts were down 18 per cent to 3,882 units.

Rental apartment starts increased 11 per cent in the first half of 2005. A total of 351 rental apartment units have been started year-to-date.

New home inventories remain near historic low levels. At the end of June, the inventory of complete and unoccupied units was just 894 units. This is well below the 15-year monthly average of 3,055 units.

Year-to-date, the average price of a new single family home increased 11 per cent to $602,863, compared to the same period last year. New townhouse prices increased 9 per cent to $311,283, while new apartment prices were up 5 per cent, to $315,463.

Resale Market

Year-to-date, MLS sales (detached, attached & apartment) in Greater Vancouver increased 3 per cent to 21,651 units, compared to the same period last year. Sales of single detached units increased 6 per cent, while townhouse sales were up 5 per cent. Apartment condo sales increased a marginal 0.5 per cent to 9,151 units. Overall, sales remained strong by historic standards, exceeding the level seen in the first half of 2003, which was a record year overall.

Seasonally adjusted sales hit the highest level ever recorded in the second quarter of this year, with 11,503 units changing hands. Seasonally adjusted new listings rose to their peak of 15,897 in the second quarter of 2004, and are once again approaching this level, with 14,073 recorded in the second quarter of 2005. Employment gains, continuing low mortgage rates and strong consumer confidence have kept resale activity brisk during the past three months.

Sellers' market conditions continue to prevail across the Greater Vancouver region. Average resale prices increased for all product types in the
