Transportation Data Guide

Making our data work for you

Are you maximizing your use of our data? Do you know what's available and can you access it easily?

Whether you are in the public or private sector, a business person, a research consultant or a student, having the right data is often critical to the success or failure of your project. First, you have to determine your information requirements and then find out what data are actually available, who to contact and how to obtain it. This process can be very time consuming.

Statistics Canada collects and publishes a large amount of data on all modes of transportation. For example, do you know the level of shipments of commodities last quarter? Where are the key access points to the United States and which commodities are moving through them? How can you determine market share? This guide will familiarize you with the sources for answers to these questions and more and show you how to access them. It will allow you to take advantage of what Statistics Canada has to offer you.

The guide contains a description of each survey at Statistics Canada that has transportation-related information. Each survey is listed with the survey name, a person to contact, a brief description of the transportation related information in the survey, the periodicity of the survey and the publication catalogue number and name where the information can be found. To order any of these publications call our statistical reference center at 1-800-263-1136. The guide contains a table of contents and an index to make it easier to use.

You can find the telephone numbers for contacts at the government electronic directory services web site at <http://direct.srv.gc.ca/cgi-bin/direct500/te?fn=index.htm>

Simplify your search for data by using the guide or calling 1-800-263-1136.

1.3.9 Canadian Vehicle Survey

Description:

The Canadian Vehicle Survey is a sample survey of all motor vehicles registered in Canada with the exception of vehicles such as: buses, motorcycles, off-road vehicles, construction equipment and road maintenance equipment. The objective of the survey is to provide quarterly and annual estimates of road use and fuel consumption.

What kind of information is produced?

- Road use: vehicle-kilometres and passenger-kilometres
- Vehicle characteristics: age, body type and fuel type
- Trip characteristics: day of week, time of day, type of road, trip purpose and work-related versus personal
- Driver characteristics: age and sex
- Fuel consumption
- Some information is available by province and territory

How can this information be used?

Road vehicles dominate passenger travel and freight traffic. The survey results of are the prime source of road vehicle use information for researchers and interested members of the public. Governments may combine the survey results with other information to monitor fuel consumption, road safety, fuel consumption and to measure the impact of vehicle use on the environment.

4.2.1 Survey of school board financial statistics

General Information

Tel.: 1 800 263-1136

E-mail: infostats@statcan.ca

Description of Survey:

The annual financial statistics, which includes transportation, are collected from each province and territory. They are then converted into a standard classification.

Definition of Transportation In Survey:

All costs (salaries and wages, equipment expenses, maintenance and insurance) related to conveying pupils to and from school, either between home and school, between schools or on field trips (e.g. transportation to extra curricular activities) sanctioned by the board as part of its educational program are included. Transportation or conveyance costs are the costs of board-owned school transportation facilities, contracted services for transportation, the provision of fares to students, for the use of local public transportation and any other payments or expenses incurred in providing services instead of transportation.

Transportation data are available by economic classification:

- Salaries and wages
- Fringe benefits
- Supplies and services
- Fees and contractual services
- Other operating expenses

Manufacturing, Construction and Energy Division conducts a number of surveys of manufacturing which collect a variety of transportation-related industry and commodity data. All economic activity are classified with a north american industry classification system (NAICS) code. Of particular interest to users of transportation data are major group 336 - transportation equipment manufacturing - which has the following sub-groups:

- 3361 - Motor vehicle manufacturing
- 3362 - Motor vehicle body and trailer manufacturing
- 3363 - Motor vehicle parts manufacturing
- 3364 - Aerospace product and parts manufacturing
- 3365 - Railroad rolling stock manufacturing
- 3366 - Ship and boat building
- 3369 - Other transportation equipment manufacturing

Data from these surveys are disseminated in a variety of forms and at various levels of detail in several publications.

5.2.1 Monthly Survey of Manufacturing

Description:

This survey collects data on values and shipments, inventories, new orders, backlog of unfilled orders and progress payments for transportation equipment industries. Raw and seasonally adjusted data are published at the canada level and at the 3 to 6 digit NAICS level of detail.
