Wage Settlements Covering 500 or More Employees

November 2007

Major collective bargaining settlements in November 2007 provided base-rate wage adjustments averaging 4.3% annually over the contract term. The results are based on a review of 8 settlements and cover 4,620 employees.

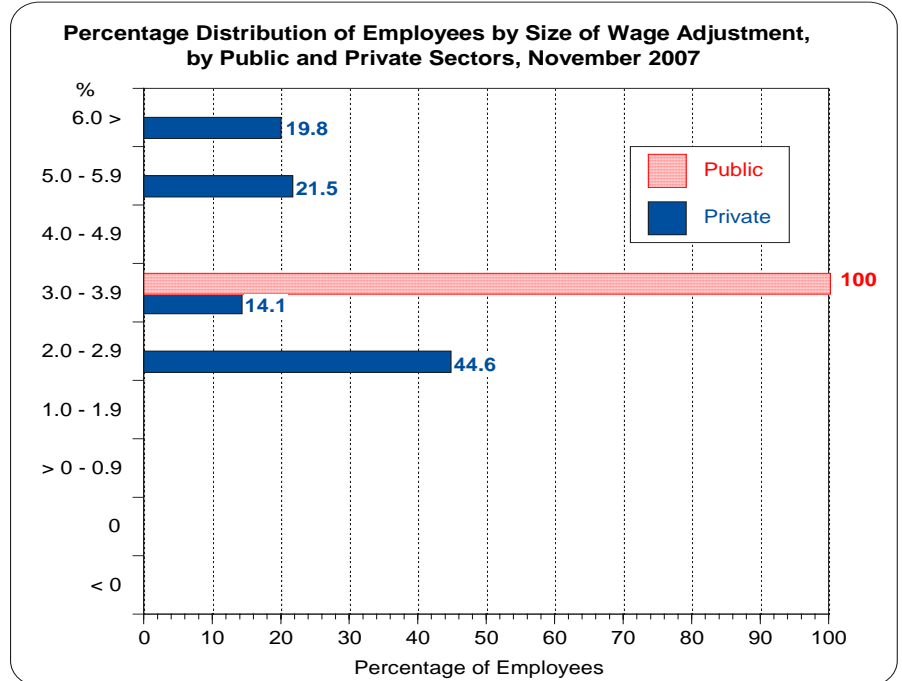

When the parties to these settlements previously negotiated, the resulting wage adjustments averaged 1.4%, a much lower rate than in their current settlements. Contract duration in November 2007 averaged 44.4 months, compared to 39.8 months in the previous round of settlements.

The public-sector figure in November is based on 2 agreements providing 1,080 employees with wage adjustments averaging 3.3%. The private sector figure is based on 6 agreements providing 3,540 employees with wage adjustments averaging 4.5%. There were 2 private-sector agreements with a relatively high average wage adjustment this month: Shannahan's Investigation & Security Limited in the federal jurisdiction providing 700 employees with wage gains averaging 8.8%, and ATCO Electric in Alberta providing 760 employees with wage increases averaging 5.5%. These 2 agreements accounted for 31.6% of the total employee coverage in November settlements. Excluding these 2 agreements, the remaining major settlements in both sectors averaged 3.0%.

Just over 34% of employees covered in November settlements received adjustments in the 2.0 to 2.9% range; an additional 34% received wage adjustments in the 3.0 to 3.9% range and 31.7% of employees received adjustments of 5.0% and over.

Wage adjustments in base rates for the first 11 months of 2007 (January through November) averaged 3.3%: wage adjustments in the public sector for the same period averaged 3.4% and in the private sector, 3.1%.
