Wage Settlements Covering 500 or More Employees

February 2008

Major collective bargaining settlements reached in February 2008 provided base-rate wage adjustments averaging 3.4% annually over the contract-term, up a fraction from the 3.3% average in January and the same as the 3.4% adjustment recorded in December 2007. The results for February 2008 are based on a review of 20 settlements reached, and cover 47,660 employees.

Percentage Wage Adjustments in Major Settlements by Month, 2007-2008

When the parties to these February settlements previously negotiated, the resulting wage adjustments averaged 2.4%, lower than the 3.4% figure recorded in their current settlements. Contract duration in February 2008 averaged 41.1 months, compared to 45.7 months in the previous round of settlements.

Wage adjustments in the public sector averaged 3.1% for 25,020 employees in 11 agreements; private-sector wage adjustments averaged 3.9% for 22,640 employees in 9 agreements. The lower public sector figure was due in large part to the City of Winnipeg agreement providing 5,250 employees with a wage increase averaging 2.4% and the Société de transport de Montréal agreement providing 3,760 employees with a wage increase averaging 2.1%. The higher private-sector figure was due in part to 3 Canada Safeway agreements in Alberta providing 9,100 employees with a wage increase averaging 4.8%.

Percentage Distribution of Employees by Size of Wage Adjustment, by Public and Private Sectors, February 2008

On a jurisdiction basis, wage adjustments ranged from a high of 4.8% in Alberta to a low of 2.0% in British Columbia (based on 1 agreement with the Okanagan Tree Fruit Company). The second largest increase was recorded in Nova Scotia at 3.5%. Excluding Alberta, the remaining agreements in February averaged wage increases of 3.1%.

On an industry basis, wage adjustments ranged from a high of 4.5% in the wholesale and retail trade sector (due to the 3 Canada Safeway agreements mentioned above) to a low of 2.2% in the manufacturing sector (based on 2 agreements, Okanagan Tree Fruit Company averaging 2.0% and CEZinc., a Noranda zinc processing facility, in Quebec at 2.4%). The largest concentration of employees (30.8%) was in the transportation sector where wage adjustments averaged 3.0% (4 agreements including the Société de transport de Montréal at 2.1%, British Columbia Maritime Employers Association at 3.7%, and 2 Canadian Pacific Railway agreements averaging 3.1%).

The majority of employees (56.9%) covered by February settlements received adjustments in the 3.0 to 3.9% range. Approximately 21.0% of employees received adjustments in the 2.0 to 2.9% range and 22.1% received wage adjustments in the 4.0 to 4.9% range.

Innovative Workplace Practices in 2007—Annual Overview

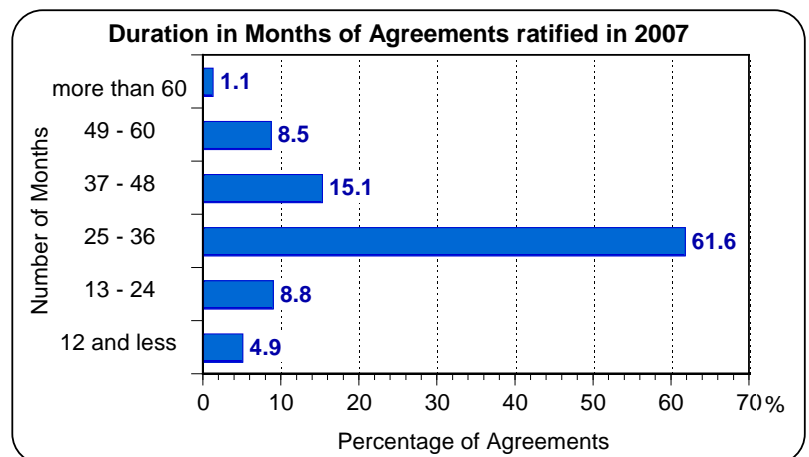

Bruce Aldridge and Karen Gilmore
Strategic Policy, Analysis, and Workplace Information Directorate

The Labour Program publishes a quarterly analysis on the duration of the collective agreements and workplace innovation provisions. This article summarizes the innovative workplace practices from summary reports of collective agreements ratified in 2007.

Duration

Overview

The durations of 285 collective agreements analyzed in 2007 ranged from 12 months to 87 months. In spite of this variance, about three-quarters have durations of between 36 and 48 months, including 61% with durations of 36 months. The overall average duration is 37 months, down from 43 months in 2006; this decline that can largely be attributed to a decrease in the proportion of collective agreements with 48-month durations, from 30.2% in 2006 to 14.4% in 2007.

Public and Private Sectors

The average duration for public sector agreements in 2007 is 36 months; in fact, over half of agreements (57.2%) have durations of 36 months, up from 34.5% in 2006. Only 14.4% of agreements have durations of 48 months, down from 38.2% in 2006, when this was the most prevalent duration.

In the private sector, the average duration of collective agreements is 38 months, down from 45.4 months in 2006. Nearly two-thirds (64.4%) of agreements in 2007 have durations of 36 months and 14.4% have durations of 48 months. There is a notable decline in the proportion of agreements with durations longer than 48 months, from 30.6% in 2006 to 11% in 2007.

The 2007 collective agreement with the longest duration (87 months) was reached in the private sector, between Olymel, Société en commandite in Vallée-Jonction, Quebec, and the Fédération du commerce inc.

Innovative Workplace Practices

The overview of workplace innovations is based on a review of collective agreements settled in 2007. Of these, 25.7% contained provisions considered to be innovative or of a particular interest. The relevant innovative practices apply to compensation, health and welfare, working conditions, education and training, leave, and labour-management committees.

A compilation of the quarterly analyses of provisions considered innovative in 2007 is available at Innovative Workplace Practices in 2007—Annual Overview.
