Innovative Workplace Practices – Second Quarter 2010

The Labour Program publishes a quarterly overview of workplace innovative practices.¹ This overview is based on a review of 55 collective agreements mostly ratified between April and June 2010 inclusively.

This last quarter presented fewer innovations in bargaining agreements than in the past, particularly in Western Canada where most settlements took place in the public sector. Unions aimed at maintaining the status quo for the employees in order to keep their benefits and employment. However, the following provisions are considered to be innovative or of particular interest.

Compensation

General Dynamics Land Systems in London, Ontario, and 500 plant and maintenance employees represented by the National Automobile, Aerospace, Transportation and General Workers Union of Canada (CAW Canada), Local 27, have introduced a new retirement savings plan. Effective immediately, employees have the option of enhancing their personal retirement savings through a new contribution process whereby weekly, quarterly or special payments can be made through payroll deduction into a tax-free savings account (TFSA).

¹ The Workplace Information Division, Labour Program, defines innovative workplace practices as being a creative and new idea collectively bargained between a union and an employer. Included in this overview are innovations found in settlements covering 500 employees or more within provincial jurisdictions and 100 employees or more under federal jurisdiction.

Health and Welfare

General Dynamics Land Systems in London, Ontario, and the National Automobile, Aerospace, Transportation and General Workers Union of Canada (CAW Canada), Local 27, have negotiated the cost coverage by the employer of a cancer screening test for women employees. The cost of the Cancer Antigen 125 (CA-125) test will be covered for women age 40 and older, once per year to a maximum of $35.

Canada Post Corporation (all of Canada) and the Canadian Postmasters and Assistants Association, representing 11,000 postmasters and postmaster assistants, have agreed on a short-term disability program, which will replace the existing sick leave provisions providing income protection for illness and accident/hospitalization. Under this new program, employees will be able to retain and use banked sick leave, and employees with 150 days or more in their sick leave bank will receive a one-time recognition payment. Eligible employees are provided with up to 7 personal days each year, to be used at their discretion, to cover single-day illnesses, personal or family appointments, family-related or other personal issues, or the waiting period for short-term disability program benefits.

Working Conditions

Job Security

Metro Ontario Inc. (previously A & P Canada Co.) in Ontario and 900 grocery distribution centre employees represented by the National Automobile, Aerospace, Transportation and General Workers Union of Canada (CAW Canada), Local 414 (CLC), have negotiated a new clause to increase job security for full-time employees. In the event of a lay-off of full-time employees, hours of work of existing part-time employees will not exceed 28 worked hours per week during such lay-off weeks.

Hours of Work and Productivity

Alberta Health Services and 24,000 registered and psychiatric nurses in the province represented by the United Nurses of Alberta saw a commitment by the employer to reduce overtime hours worked by members of the bargaining unit, including hours worked by casual employees, hours worked by part-time employees other than on regularly scheduled shifts, and direct nursing care or nursing instruction hours worked by individuals not directly employed by the employer. Those hours would be converted into, or added to, regular nursing positions. It is expected that such an initiative would result in significant costing and efficiency gains, allowing for the parties to agree on a 2.0% productivity increase to be applied to the provincial wage scales in the second year of the agreement.

Union job security concerns were also addressed through an employer guarantee that there would be no overall reduction in the total number of hours worked by nurses in Alberta, with benchmark hours defined as total nursing hours worked between April 1, 2009 and March 31, 2010. In addition, there was a commitment by Alberta Health Services that it would create, on an annual basis, a sufficient number of either regular positions, or temporary positions of six months or greater, to be able to hire at least 70% of Alberta nursing student graduates. Such positions would be within the direct nursing care and nursing instruction bargaining unit. That commitment, contained in a Letter of Understanding, would be effective through March 31, 2013.

Labour-Management Committee

General Dynamics Land Systems in London, Ontario, and the National Automobile, Aerospace, Transportation and General Workers Union of Canada (CAW Canada), Local 27, have reached an agreement with respect to coverage for home detoxification programs for alcohol and substance abuse. A labour-management committee will be established to assess the effectiveness of home detoxification programs and their applicability to the CAW membership. If the committee members reach an agreement on the effectiveness of such a program, the committee will then develop specific eligibility criteria for the program, as well as a formal process for assessment, review, approval, monitoring and termination of the program for an applicant.
