Canadian labour in profile: Wage adjustments, August 2011

Major collective bargaining settlements reached in August 2011 provided base-rate wage adjustments averaging 1.9% annually over the contract term. This is slightly higher than the 1.7% figure recorded in the previous month, and the 1.8% average for 2010. The August 2011 results are derived from a review of 12 major agreements* and cover 16,730 employees.

When the parties to these settlements previously negotiated, the resulting wage adjustments averaged 3.2%, a larger average than in their current settlements. Contract duration in August 2011 averaged 40 months, compared to 34 months in the previous round of settlements.

Wage adjustments in August ranged from a low of 1.0% for wage settlements at Dalhousie University, Isaac Walton Killam (IWK) Healthcare Centre, and Transat A.T. Inc., to a high of 3.0% at NAV CANADA. The majority of employees (61.1%) received wage increases in the 1.0 to 1.9% range.

Average wage adjustments in August 2011 were lower in the public sector at 1.7% than in the private sector at 2.2%. The majority of agreements are in the public sector (66%). The more significant agreements in the public sector were two health sector agreements in the Western provinces; the Regional Health Authorities in Manitoba settled with 1,620 employees for wage gains averaging 1.4%, and the Saskatchewan Association of Health

Organizations provided 3,000 employees with an average annual adjustment of 2.2%. Of note in the private sector, were the two transportation agreements previously mentioned (NAV CANADA and Transat A.T. Inc.) and the Bombardier Transportation agreement in Thunder Bay, Ontario which provided 680 employees with wage adjustments averaging 1.5%.

In the federal jurisdiction, there were two major settlements in August. NAV CANADA provided 2,100 air traffic controllers with an average annual wage increase of 3.0% in a 24-month contract. Transat A.T. Inc. provided 1,500 employees with an average annual increase of 1% over a five-year period. In the first eight months of 2011 (January to August), wage adjustments in the federal jurisdiction averaged 2.1%, slightly higher than the national average of 1.8%. However, average wage adjustments in the federal public sector were lower, at 1.6%.

Wage adjustments in August 2011 (1.9%) were lower than the Consumer Price Index (CPI), at 3.1%. Wage adjustments in the first eight months of 2011 (January to August) have been relatively moderate in comparison to the recent upward trend in the CPI in recent months.

* Note: All data compiled in this review involves major collective agreements covering 500 or more employees across Canada.
