INTRODUCTION

A. Foreward

Note: This introduction to Info Source is in large print to assist persons with visual disabilities.

Info Source: Sources of Federal Government Information will make it easier for you to find out about the Government of Canada, its organization and its information holdings. It will help you determine where you should go, write or call to make government enquiries, and is likely to be the first and only step you'll need to take to locate the source of the information you want.

This publication is one of a series of four reference tools to assist you and other members of the public in exercising your rights under two Canadian laws - the Access to Information Act and the Privacy Act. The Info Source publications support the government's policy to explain and promote open and accessible information regarding its activities.

Info Source is comprised of the following publications:

Info Source: Sources of Federal Government Information:

- provides information about the Government of Canada, its organization and its information holdings.
- helps individuals determine which institution to contact about requesting information formally or informally.
- provides individuals who are not, and who have never been employees of the federal government, with relevant information to facilitate access to personal information about them held by a federal government institution subject to the Privacy Act.

Info Source: Sources of Federal Employee Information:

- contains information to help current and former federal government employees to locate personal information held by the government.
- is intended to help former and current government employees to exercise their rights under the Privacy Act.

Info Source: The Access to Information Act and Privacy Act Bulletin:

- provides statistical information about the number of Access to Information and Privacy requests on an annual basis and cumulative statistics since 1983.
- contains a summary of federal court cases related to Access to Information.

Info Source: Directory of Federal Government Enquiry Points:

- contains addresses and telephone numbers for federal departments and agencies subject to the Access to Information Act and/or the Privacy Act.
- Other institutions associated with the federal government are included to facilitate access.

Info Source is distributed to libraries, municipal offices and federal government offices across Canada.

However, it is helpful for you to understand the basic differences between the Access to Information Act and the Privacy Act. The information accessible under each Act is different and there are different procedures to obtain it. The following pages describe the essential details.

B. Inside Info Source

This Info Source publication has three main components:

Introduction

The Introduction includes:

- a summary of the roles and responsibilities of the federal government institutions (Section C – Roles and Responsibilities) that are either responsible for the production of Info Source or are responsible for the provision of input to the Info Source publications;
- some essential points about the Access to Information Act (Section D) and the Privacy Act (Section E), and directions on how to locate information by using Info Source or by making a formal request under either Act (Section F);
- contact information if you wish to obtain a copy of any of the Info Source publications (Section G);
- a listing of those institutions for which Access to Information Requests must be accompanied by cheques or money orders made out to the institution itself and not to the Receiver General of Canada (Section H);
- information about the terms used throughout the book, including the description of the Standard Program Records (Section I – Glossary of Terms); and
- a listing of Access to Information and Privacy Coordinators, which is organized in the same order as the Table of Contents, gives you the address and telephone number of all Access to Information and Privacy offices.

Standard Program Records and Personal Information Banks

Standard Program Records: There is some information that is almost universally collected and maintained by federal institutions in their record keeping systems in support of common functions and activities. This information is used to document internal administrative functions, systems and procedures. They describe information related to Human Resources, Material Management, Corporate Services, etc.

A number of standard program records and related descriptions have been established by Treasury Board Secretariat and are included in this publication. Institutions may declare one or more of these standard records, rather than develop institution-specific record descriptions.

Standard Personal Information Banks: Standardized descriptions of personal information have been developed by Treasury Board to describe personal information that may be found in records commonly maintained by federal institutions and are included in this publication. Institutions may choose to register and declare one or more of these standard Personal Information Banks rather than develop institution-specific PIBs.

Chapters

There is one chapter for each federal government department or agency subject to the Access to Information Act and the Privacy Act, or to the Privacy Act only. Chapters are arranged in alphabetical order by the commonly used name of the institution. Each chapter contains the following (please note that institutions that are not subject to the Access to Information Act do not have to include these elements. Their reporting requirements are limited to Personal Information Banks):

General Information about the institution, including:

- Background
- Responsibilities
- Legislation
- Organization

Information Holdings including:

- Program Records
- Standard Program Records
- Personal Information Banks
- Standard Personal Information Banks
- Classes of Personal Information
- Manuals

Additional Information including:

- The name of the institution to which any payment should be made if the institution does not have an account with the Receiver General of Canada;
- The address of a central information source, as well as regional locations, if any; and
- The address(es) of Reading Room(s).

Using Info Source quickly and effectively

Determine the correct chapter

Turn to the chapter of the department or agency you think has the information, and check the Program Records and the Personal Information Banks.

If you don't know if you have the correct department or agency, a telephone call or letter to any Access to Information and Privacy Coordinator's office should provide the answer.

For persons with disabilities

Individuals who are unable to exercise their rights using regular procedures may obtain further assistance from any Access to Information and Privacy Coordinator's office.

C. Roles and Responsibilities

Treasury Board Secretariat (TBS)

In accordance with the Access to Information Act, Treasury Board is responsible for the annual creation and dissemination of a publication that provides a description of government organizations, program responsibilities and descriptions of records with sufficient clarity and detail to enable the public to exercise its rights under the Access to Information Act.

Treasury Board is also responsible for the annual publication of an index of personal information that will both serve to keep the public informed of how the government handles personal information, as well as facilitating the public's ability to exercise its rights under the Privacy Act. Treasury Board Secretariat fulfils these requirements through the annual publication of Info Source.

Library and Archives Canada (LAC)

Under the Library and Archives Canada Act (2004), the Library and Archives Canada is charged with various responsibilities regarding the disposition of information created by federal institutions in support of public policy, administration of government and program delivery. These responsibilities include the authorization of records destruction by government institutions and the preservation of records for their historical or archival importance.

Through the Government Records Disposition Program, the Librarian and Archivist of Canada issues Records Disposition Authorities (RDA) to enable government institutions to dispose of records which no longer have operational value, either by permitting their destruction (at the discretion of institutions), by requiring their transfer to the Library and Archives Canada, or by agreeing to their alienation from the control of the Government of Canada.

Questions concerning the application or interpretation of the Multi-Institutional Disposition Authorities may be addressed to the Information Management Centre of the Library and Archives Canada (LAC) at (613) 944-IMGI (4644) or by e-mailing imgi@lac-bac.gc.ca.

The Library and Archives Canada (www.collectionscanada.ca/) provides guidelines on retention periods for common administrative records on their Internet site at http://www.collectionscanada.ca/information-management/06_e.html.

Individual Institutions

Government institutions are required to provide descriptions of their organization and information holdings to Treasury Board Secretariat on an annual basis. These descriptions are utilized in the production of the publications required by the Access to Information Act and Privacy Act. Each department and agency is responsible for the information it submits.

Government institutions are also responsible for ensuring that all information/records are managed within an established life cycle. It is incumbent upon each government institution to understand and apply any legislation regarding the retention of information and more specifically, its own legislation. Each government institution is required to determine the appropriate retention periods for its records, including those common administrative records covered by a MIDA. Accountability regarding the decision to destroy records, once a Records Disposition Authority (RDA) has been established, and the timing of records destruction rests with individual government institutions.

Each federal institution has an Access to Information and Privacy Coordinator or a Privacy Coordinator. The Coordinators' offices are staffed by people whose role it is to answer questions and help identify the records or information you wish to see.

Coordinators may be contacted in person, by telephone, e-mail, letter or through the submission of a completed Access to Information and/or Privacy Request Form.

Information Commissioner

The Information Commissioner investigates formal complaints from members of the public arising from the Access to Information Act. If you have a complaint about the denial of access to information, fees charged for access, the time taken to respond to requests, refusal to give access in the official language requested, Info Source publications and other matters that relate to requesting or obtaining access to records, you may contact:

Office of the Information Commissioner

Place de Ville, 22nd Floor, Tower B
112 Kent Street
Ottawa ON K1A 1H3

General Enquiries..... (613) 995 2410
Fax (613) 947 7294
Toll-free 1 800 267 0441

When the Information Commissioner's investigation is completed, an individual who is of the opinion that they have not been given access to all information which they are entitled to receive has the right to apply to the Federal Court - Trial Division for a review of the matter.

Privacy Commissioner

The Privacy Commissioner is an ombudsman with the power to look into complaints of improper collection, use, storage, disclosure or disposition of personal information. The Privacy Commissioner may also help if you are dissatisfied with the response to your formal application or the time it has taken to obtain your response. If the Privacy Commissioner recommends that you be given access to records and the institution still refuses, an appeal may be made to the Federal Court.

When the Privacy Commissioner's investigation is completed, an individual who is of the opinion that they have not been given access to all of their personal information to which they are entitled, has the right to apply to the Federal Court - Trial Division for a review of the matter.

You may write or call the Privacy Commissioner's office at:

Office of the Privacy Commissioner

D. Access to Information Act

The Access to Information Act gives Canadian citizens as well as people and corporations present in Canada the right to have access to federal government records that are not of a personal nature. The Act complements but does not replace other procedures for obtaining government information. It is not intended to limit in any way the access to government information that is normally available to the public upon request.

Wide range of information

You may ask for information, no matter what form it is in, including letters, memos, reports, photographs, films, microfilms and computerized data. This Info Source publication has been designed to help you pinpoint the department or agency where the information is held and assists you in obtaining it.

Some information may be exempt or excluded under the Act.

Exemptions: Exemptions protect certain types of information that could cause harm if released. For example, some information on national security, law enforcement or trade secrets falls into this category.

Exclusions: The Access to Information Act does not apply to public information that is already available, such as publications and material in libraries and museums. It also excludes material such as Cabinet documents.

Note: The Act cannot give you access to records that are not controlled by the federal government, such as those maintained by provincial or municipal governments or by private organizations such as commercial banks and credit bureaus. Most provincial governments have legislation similar to the Access to Information Act, but may be referred to as a Freedom of Information Act. Consult the provincial government listings in the blue pages of your local telephone book.

E. Privacy Act

In its day-to-day operations, federal government departments and agencies collect personal information from almost all Canadians. The Privacy Act gives Canadian citizens and people present in Canada the right to have access to information that is held about them by the federal government. It also protects against unauthorized disclosure of that personal information. In addition, it strictly controls how the government will collect, use, store, disclose and dispose of any personal information.

Most information is available when you ask

Most of your personal information is available to you at your request. This Info Source publication has been designed to help you pinpoint the department or agency where the information is held and assist you in obtaining it.

Types of personal information held

You probably already know about many of the programs and operations of the government that use personal information such as income tax at Canada Customs and Revenue

Agency, citizenship at Citizenship and Immigration Canada and the Employment Insurance program at Social Development Canada.

There is personal information that the federal government may not release under the Privacy Act. For example, some personal information may relate to individuals other than the person requesting the information, or it may be about sensitive national security matters or law enforcement investigations.

Note: The Privacy Act does not control nor give you access to records that are not held by the federal government, such as those maintained by provincial or municipal governments or by private organizations such as commercial banks and credit bureaus. Most provincial governments have legislation similar to the Privacy Act. Consult the provincial government listings in the blue pages of your local telephone book.

Some personal information is confidential

The federal government must keep some personal information confidential under the Privacy Act, much of which relates to other people, national security or law enforcement.

Safeguarding personal information

The protection of your personal information and privacy is a very important aspect of the Privacy Act. The Act states how and when the government may collect, store and dispose of personal information. It also covers specifically why and how the information may be used or given out, as well as who may use or receive it.

Giving out information

The government may only disclose your information to someone else with your consent or when one or more of the criteria in the Privacy Act are met, such as to comply with a subpoena. Such disclosures are discretionary and are subject to any other Act of Parliament.

Personal Information Banks

Personal Information Banks provide a summary of the type of information about individuals that is held by federal departments and agencies. The Privacy Act requires that Personal Information Banks include all personal information that is organized and retrievable by a person's name or by an identifying number, symbol or other particular assigned only to that person. Personal Information Banks must also include personal information that has been or is being used, or is available for use for an administrative purpose.

There are five types of Personal Information Banks (PIB), but this publication currently contains only two types of PIB.

Standard Banks: There are a number of Standard Personal Information Banks (Standard Banks) that describe personal information contained in records commonly maintained by most government institutions. Institutions may require several or all of these Standard Banks to describe the personal information contained within their records. The Standard Banks describe information about such activities as Access to Information and Privacy Requests, Executive Correspondence Management Systems, etc.

These Standard Banks are identified with the unique identifier "PSU".

Particular Banks : describe personal information about members of the general public, contained in the records of the particular institution declaring that PIB. In addition, this type of Personal Information Bank may describe personal information about members of the general public and federal employees (current and former).

These Personal Information Banks are identified with the unique identifier “PPU”.

The other types of Personal Information Banks (PIB) relate only to current and former Government of Canada employees and these PIBs are contained the complementary volume to this publication -- Info Source: Sources of Federal Employee Information, which is available in the office of the Access to Information and Privacy Coordinator at each federal government department or agency, federal government personnel offices and federal libraries.

The Personal Information Banks contained within Info Source: Sources of Federal Employee Information are as follows:

Standard Employee Banks: There are a number of Employee Related Standard Personal Information Banks (Standard Employee Banks) that describe personal information contained in records commonly maintained by most government institutions about their employees. Institutions may require several or all of these Standard Banks to describe the personal information contained within their records. The Standard Banks describe information about such activities as pay and benefits, training and development, performance, etc., and identified with the unique identifier “PSE”.

Central Banks: These records and their related banks are maintained by central agencies such as the Public Service Commission, Public Works and Government Services Canada, and the Treasury Board of Canada Secretariat. They describe information about employees from all or several government institutions and are identified with the unique identifier “PCE”.

Particular Banks: Particular Banks describe personal information about employees that is specific to the requirements of each department or agency and is held within their record keeping systems. These Banks are identified with the unique identifier “PPE”.

F. How to Apply

Access to Information Act

Once you have decided to make a formal request under the Access to Information Act, there are certain simple procedures to follow:

- Consult Info Source to find the appropriate department or agency.
- Obtain an Access to Information Request Form from any location where Info Source is available (including the Web Site: www.tbs-sct.gc.ca/tbsf-fsct_e.html).
- If it is not convenient for you to fill in a form, you may send a letter, mentioning the Act (see details below).
- Send the form or the letter to the Access to Information Coordinator at the appropriate department or agency.

If you decide to submit a letter, you must state clearly that you are requesting information under the Access to Information Act, and include the following:

- description (be as specific as possible) of the records you want to see; preferred method of seeing the records (e.g. do you want to receive photocopies of the original documents or see the originals in the government office where they are located?); your name, street, address, city or town, province or territory, postal code, telephone number(s) and your signature;
- date of your request;
- application fee.

Fees and costs

An application fee of $5 (subject to change) applies and additional costs may be charged for each request. You will be notified in advance if there are additional costs and you may be asked to make a deposit.

Cheques and money orders are payable to the Receiver General of Canada with some exceptions. Please refer to Section H -- Institutions Without Receiver General Accounts for a list of institutions to which Access to Information Requests must be accompanied by cheques or money orders made out to the institution itself and not to the Receiver General of Canada.

Turnaround time

Government departments must acknowledge your request within 30 days under the Access to Information Act. However, in special cases, they may need more time to process your request. If you feel it's taking too long, you may submit a complaint to the Office of the Information Commissioner (See Section D – Roles and Responsibilities).

Privacy Act

When you have decided to make a formal request under the Privacy Act, there are certain procedures to follow. Remember, you will find what you are looking for faster if you already have a good idea of which department or agency has the information you want.

- Obtain a Personal Information Request Form at any location where Info Source is available (including the Web Site: www.tbs-sct.gc.ca/tbsf-fsct_e.html).
- Fill out the form and identify yourself in such a way that the government may verify who you are, i.e. that it is you, and not someone else, asking for your information. The more precise the information you provide, the faster your request can be answered.
- Send the form to the Privacy Coordinator of the appropriate department or agency.

There is no charge to apply for information under the Privacy Act.

To change the information

If you believe the information that a federal institution has on file about you is untrue or misleading, you may ask to have it corrected. Even if the department or agency does not agree to change this information, it must make a note that you have asked for the change and attach it to the file.

Turnaround time

Under the law, all or most of the information you ask for should be disclosed within 30 days of receiving the request. If a time extension is required, you will be notified within the first 30 days and told why up to another 30 days may be needed.

I. Useful Terms (GLOSSARY OF TERMS)

TERM	DEFINITION
Access to Information and Privacy Coordinator	Each federal government department or agency has an Access to Information and Privacy Coordinator. The Coordinators' offices are staffed by people to answer questions and help identify the records or information you wish to see.
Administrative Purpose	The use of personal information in a decision making process that directly affects the individual(s) to whom the information relates.
Bank (PIB) Number	A unique identifying number created for each Personal Information Bank. This number is assigned by each institution as a finding tool to link the PIB to the records and information maintained in their information management system.
Classes of Personal Information	Personal information not used administratively or not retrievable by personal identifier, for instance unsolicited opinions or general correspondence may be described under "Classes of Personal Information". This category was created to ensure that government departments and agencies account for all personal information that they hold.
Data Matching	An activity that involves comparing personal data obtained from a variety of sources, including personal information banks, for the purpose of making decisions about the individuals to whom the data pertains.
Information Life Cycle	The life cycle of information encompasses the stages of the planning, collection, creation, receipt, and capture of information by an institution. The life cycle includes the organization, retrieval, use, accessibility, dissemination and transmission; storage, maintenance and protection; and disposition and preservation of information.

Manuals	Directives, instructions, guidelines or procedures that are used by the employees of a department or agency to carry out its operations, activities or programs.
Multi-Institutional Disposition Authority (MIDA)	A Records Disposition Authority granted by the Librarian and Archivist of Canada to government institutions on a multi-institutional basis. A MIDA relates to records managed by all or a multiple number of government institutions, and which allows the institutions empowered to use the authority to dispose of records under certain terms and conditions. MIDAs are designed to eliminate the need for government institutions individually to prepare submissions for and negotiate agreements with the National Archivist for records that have similar administrative or operational status.
Personal Information Bank (PIB)	Personal Information Banks provide a summary of the type of information about individuals that is held by federal departments and agencies. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Privacy Act requires that Personal Information Banks include all personal information that is organized and retrievable by a person's name or by an identifying number, symbol or other particular assigned only to that person. • Personal Information Banks must include personal information that has been or is being used, or is available for use for an administrative purpose.
Program Records	Descriptions of the records and information created, captured and used by each federal government institution in support of its mandate. Program Records provide pointers to information usually held by federal government departments or agencies in their record keeping system. The Program Record descriptions identify the subject areas covered by an institution's functions, programs and activities.
Program Record Number	A unique identifying number created for each Program Record description. This number is assigned by each institution as a finding tool to access the information contained in their records.

Reading Room	The Access to Information Act requires all government institutions to provide facilities where their information and/or manuals can be reviewed. One or more location may be provided by an institution.
Records Disposition Authority (RDA)	The instrument that the Librarian and Archivist of Canada issues to enable government institutions to dispose of records which no longer have operational or other utility. There are three disposition methods – destroying the records (at the discretion of institutions), transferring historical records to the control of the Library and Archives of Canada or the removal of records from the control of the Government of Canada, i.e. transferring them to a Special Operating Agency or other level of government.
Retention and Disposal Standards	A timetable for the length of time institutional information/record is maintained under the control of the institution. These standards also indicate the disposition method to be applied to institutional records when no longer required to meet operational, legal or other requirements, and when the RDA may be applied for final disposition.
Standard Personal Information Banks	Standard Personal Information Banks (PIBs) have been developed to describe personal information that may be found in types of records commonly maintained by federal institutions. These records document internal administrative functions, systems and procedures that are common to or shared by all federal government institutions. They describe information related to pay and benefits, training and development, performance, etc.
Standard Program Records	Descriptions of records/information commonly created, collected and used by federal institutions, such as Human Resources, Physical Security, etc. Federal departments and agencies may declare one or all of the Standard Program Records within their chapters instead of developing institution-specific program record descriptions.

Automated Document, Records, Information Management Systems

Description: Automated document, records and information management systems are used to manage the full life cycle, from creation/collection to final disposition, of electronic documents (e-mail, word processing documents, spreadsheets, graphics, images, etc.), as well as non-electronic records (hard copy, posters, photographs, video tapes, audio tapes, maps, etc.). Information contained within the automated system may be entered in an electronic format, i.e. the capture of an electronic object or the creation of an electronic object through scanning (OCR), or a summary (profile) of the non-electronic information that is manually entered into the automated system.

This document/records/information life cycle management is done to facilitate compliance with the existing legislative and policy framework for the federal government.

Automated systems of this type normally allow for the integration of records and document management, imaging, and optical character recognition (OCR). Other features include the ability to search the information repositories for any word or string of words (full-text index searching and retrieval) and reporting capabilities. The automated system may also be electronically integrated with the institution's correspondence tracking system that is used to manage the tracking of incoming correspondence to ensure that responses about departmental policies, programs, initiatives and issues are prepared in a consistent and time-efficient manner.

Topics: The records related to Automated Document, Records and Information Management Systems may contain information about the institution's functional requirements, system specifications, the Treasury Board shared systems initiative, training information, procedures for the use of the system, implementation plans, maintenance procedures, migration strategies, technical support mechanisms, etc.

Business Continuity Plans (BCP)

Description: In compliance with the 2004 Operational Security Standard - Business Continuity Planning (BCP) Program, institutions must establish a Business Continuity Planning (BCP) Program. This program provides for the continued availability of services and associated assets that are critical to the health, safety, security or economic well-being of Canadians or the effective functioning of government. The BCP Program complements emergency preparedness that is mandated by legislation or government policy (e.g. fire and building evacuation plans; civil emergency plans). It also supports planning that is necessary to restore other-than-critical services and their associated assets and resources; departments should use this program to incorporate their planning for other-than-critical services.

The types of incidences for which the BCP may be initiated may vary from a minor incident, such as a building-specific power outage or an equipment or system failure, to one of provincial or national proportions. The BCP outlines and coordinates: the efforts of institutional staff; and the implementation of advance arrangements and procedures to ensure that the institution can continue or restart critical business operations within a reasonable timeframe.

Topics: The records related to Business Continuity Plans (BCP) may contain information about: Recovery plans; network and/or data backup procedures; emergency and recovery resources; service level agreements (including Memorandums of Understanding with other federal institutions); time-sensitive business functions; recovery or emergency response team members; essential records; plan escalation procedures; notification procedures for emergency response teams, institutional staff, Minister's staff, federal, provincial and municipal bodies; plan activation procedures; Command, Control and Emergency Centre Operations; Delegation/Designation of Authority; detailed business resumption, recovery and restoration procedures; software tools to create, and maintain the BCP; media handling procedures; etc..

Main Book Standard Bank Descriptions

Standard Personal Information Bank (PIBs) descriptions have been developed to describe personal information that may be found in types of records commonly maintained by federal institutions. These records document internal administrative functions, systems and procedures that are common to or shared by all federal government institutions.

These information banks are identified with the unique identifier “PSU” as part of the bank number contained within the PIB.

Retention and Disposal Standards for Standard PIBs:

The following Retention and Disposal Standards statement applies to all Standard PIBs unless otherwise noted within a specific PIB.

- The records containing the personal information described in the standard banks may be retained for different periods of time as decided by each government institution, unless otherwise specified.
- At a minimum, personal information used for an administrative purpose must be retained for at least two years unless the individual consents to its earlier disposal. Any disposal of such records must be in accordance with Records Disposition Authorities issued by the Librarian and Archivist of Canada.
 - The Privacy Act defines administrative purpose to mean the use of that information in a decision making process that directly affects an individual.
- For the specific amount of time that different types of common administrative documents are retained by a given government institution, please contact that institution’s ATIP Co-ordinator..

Access to Information and Privacy Requests

Description: The records containing the information described in this bank include requests made by individuals to obtain access to information under the control of the institution in accordance with the Access to Information Act and/or the Privacy Act, the replies to such requests, and information related to their processing. These records may include requests for correction of personal information; informal requests; records related to complaints, investigations and requests for judicial review; consultations received from other institutions; and requests for advice received from institutional officials that raise privacy or access to information concerns. Personal information may include the name of the requester, mailing address, telephone and facsimile numbers, e-mail address and other processing information related to the request, as well as personal information contained in institutional records that are relevant to the request.

Note: Personal information contained in institutional records relevant to the request is not used for administrative purposes.

Class of Individuals: Individuals who exercised their rights under the Access to Information Act and/or the Privacy Act, including individuals who made informal requests to obtain information under the control of the institution.

Purpose: The information described by this bank is used to administer the Access to Information Act and/or the Privacy Act as well as processing and responding to informal requests. This information may also be used during consultations with other government institutions, during investigations by the Offices of the Information and Privacy Commissioners and during court reviews. Aggregate information (does not identify individuals) is used to report to Parliament on the administration of the Acts.

Consistent Uses: Non-personal information may be used to provide reports on ATIP activities to management and to the Treasury Board Secretariat and other institutions, i.e. through CAIRS. The information may also be used for research, planning, audit and evaluation purposes.

Retention and Disposal Standards: For the specific amount of time that different types of common administrative documents are retained by a given government institution, please contact that institution’s ATIP Coordinator.

Automated Document, Records, Information Management Systems

Description: The automated system described by this bank is used to capture and manage documents, records (including email) and information received and/or created by the institution in support of the institution's functions and activities. Documents and email received by the institution may be entered into the automated system in an electronic format or summarized (profiled) and entered manually into the system

Class of Individuals: Any individual about whom the institution may collect information in support of a function, program or activity.

All employees of an institution, including contractors, agency employees and students, as well as any individual corresponding with the institution.

Purpose: This type of an automated system is used to manage the life cycle of the institution's document, records and information collections, as well as facilitating access thereto. The automated system is used to ensure the information is available to support the operations of the institution, and then disposed of appropriately. The automated system also makes searching and retrieving information from the institution's information collections faster and easier.

Consistent Uses: The information may be used in an aggregate format to report on system use, growth of the information collection, etc. The automated system may also be electronically integrated with the institution's correspondence tracking system that is used to manage the tracking of incoming correspondence to ensure that responses about departmental policies, programs, initiatives and issues are prepared in a consistent and time-efficient manner.

The information may also be used for research, planning, audit and evaluation purposes.

Retention and Disposal Standards: For the specific amount of time that different types of common administrative documents are retained by a given government institution, please contact that institution's ATIP Co-ordinator.

Business Continuity Planning (BCP)

Description: The information described by this bank includes personal information that is contained in institutional Business Continuity Plans (BCP). A BCP is established by a federal institution to provide for the continued availability of services and associated assets that are critical to the health, safety, security or economic well-being of Canadians, or the effective functioning of government.

The personal information contained within a BCP may include the names, home addresses, home telephone, pager and cellular phone numbers of employees and officers who are part of the institution's BCP response team, as well as similar emergency contact information for Ministers, exempt staff, senior officials. Also included are the names, emergency contact numbers (including cellular phone and pager numbers) of disaster response and/or recovery vendors and other service providers, in addition to federal, provincial and municipal officials who may have to be contacted to assist the institution as the result of an emergency situation.

Class of Individuals: Employees and officers who are members of the institution's response team, as well as Ministers, exempt staff, senior institutional officials and emergency response officials and recovery vendors/service providers.

Purpose: The purpose of the collection and use of the personal information described in this Bank is to ensure that the institution can contact appropriate and responsible individuals to respond in the event of an interruption in normal business operations.

Consistent Uses: Personal information described in this Bank may be shared with other federal institutions, police, fire and other emergency response agencies on an "as required" basis. Non-personal information may be used to provide reports to senior management about the execution of institutional Business Continuity Plans. This information may also be used for research, planning, audit and evaluation purposes.

Retention and Disposal Standards: For the specific amount of time that different types of common administrative documents are retained by a given government institution, please contact that institution's ATIP Coordinator.

Electronic Network Monitoring Logs

Description: The records containing the information described in this bank relate to the use by individuals of federal government electronic networks. Logs containing details of network use by individuals are compiled and are reviewed by appropriate officials of the institution when there is suspected misuse of a federal government electronic network, as defined by institutional policies or the Treasury Board Policy on the Use of Electronic Networks. Examples of information that may be in the records include network logs that may link an employee's workstation to an IP address, listings of sites visited and information on any transactions conducted, including date, time, duration and nature of the visit or transaction. The records may also include information on the use of authorization codes assigned to particular individuals, including successful or unsuccessful use of the codes, date, time and frequency.

Class of Individuals: Employees of the institution and other individuals using federal government electronic networks, including student employees, contract staff and agency personnel. Members of the public, Ministerial staff, Members of Parliament that send e-mail to the institution or to specific individuals within the institution.

Purpose: The information contained in the records is compiled to support the investigation of suspected or alleged misuse, or deliberate impairment of government electronic networks by persons employed by the institution or by other individuals from outside the institution.

Consistent Uses: The information may be used to substantiate any disciplinary action taken where violation of institutional policies or the Treasury Board Policy on the Use of Electronic Networks is determined. If an internal investigation determines that criminal actions may have taken place, the information may be shared with appropriate police authorities. This information may be used to provide reports to management. The information may also be used for research, planning, audit and evaluation purposes.

Retention and Disposal Standards: For the specific amount of time that different types of common administrative documents are retained by a given government institution, please contact that institution's ATIP Co-ordinator.

Executive Correspondence Management Systems

Description: The records containing the information described in this bank include general correspondence to the Minister or Secretary of State, their Staff and other senior executives within the institution. Records used in preparation of responses to incoming correspondence may also contain personal information about individuals that is sometimes provided by institutional officials to address issues and concerns raised in the incoming correspondence.

Personal information may include the name of the correspondent, mailing address, telephone and facsimile numbers, e-mail address and other personal information that may be included by the originator and/or respondent within the content of the correspondence.

Class of Individuals: General public, Members of Parliament, and officials representing other levels of government or international governments and agencies, external organizations and/or businesses.

Purpose: To manage, in a consistent and time-efficient manner, the receipt of, and responses to, correspondence or inquiries received from outside the institution that require replies from senior executives of the institution.

Consistent Uses: Incoming correspondence may be forwarded to other federal or provincial institutions for a full or partial response if it is determined by the receiving institution that the issue(s) contained within the correspondence fall under the jurisdiction of, and should be addressed by, the other institution(s). In some cases, incoming correspondence and the response may be copied to another federal or provincial institution where the correspondence impacts on their roles and responsibilities. The information may be used in an aggregate format to report on system use, growth of the information collection, etc. The Executive Correspondence Management System may be integrated with the institution's Automated Document, Records and Information Management System (see Standard Personal Information Bank Number PSU 929 for more details).

Security Video Surveillance and Temporary Visitor Access Control Logs and Building Passes

Description: This information relates to video surveillance recordings generated by closed circuit television (CCTV) cameras located on the perimeters of, or within institutionally operated buildings and facilities. Additionally, in support of employee and visitor access control, the records related to these subjects contain the actual access logs/registers used to issue temporary employee passes and temporary visitor passes.

Personal information collected may include recorded visual images, data logs, signatures, surnames, given names, telephone numbers, temporary pass control numbers and visitor company/organization information related to the issuance of temporary visitor passes.

Class of Individuals: Employees, and those on assignment or contract and visitors who require access to a federal institution or any other person within proximity of video surveillance recording capabilities.

Purpose: This information is used to enhance the security of government facilities and of individuals and assets present in such facilities. Video surveillance is sometimes conducted in real time or recordings can be used to investigate past occurrences, security incidents or emergency situations. Access logs/registers, temporary passes and any other records related to employee and visitor access control may also be used to monitor or investigate current or past security incidents.

Consistent Uses: To assist security officials in the monitoring of activities and/or the issuance of temporary access passes. Additionally, records and recordings may record entry and exit times from facilities and may be used in the event of security-related incidents such as thefts or emergency situations. In such cases, this information may be shared with appropriate law enforcement agencies and emergency workers. Video information that reveals evidence of illegal activity, employee misconduct or accidents may be disclosed to appropriate staff relations, enforcement or investigative bodies for further investigations, charges or disciplinary actions.

Retention and Disposal Standards: For the specific amount of time that different types of common administrative documents are retained by a given government institution, please contact that institution's ATIP Co-ordinator.

Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada

Chapter 1

The annual update for this institution was not received for inclusion in the 2004-2005 version of this Info Source publication. The following is from the 2003-2004 version of Info Source

General Information

Background

The Department of Agriculture was established in 1867, the year of Confederation, by an act of Parliament. The formation of the Experimental Farms System followed in 1886 and a Dairy Commissioner was appointed in 1890. The aim of Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada today is to promote the development, adaptation, and competitiveness of the agriculture and agri-food sector in a manner that respects the environment and contributes to the best quality of life for all Canadians. It helps the sector maximize its contribution to Canada's economic, social and environmental objectives, which are to provide for the needs of Canadian consumers and export markets in a manner which ensures a dependable supply of safe, nutritious food at reasonable prices; to ensure equitable returns to producers, processors and marketers; and to meet Canadian food and technological aid commitments to international development. The Minister of Agriculture and Agri-Food, the Department and portfolio agencies administer 22 acts concerning food and agriculture industries. The activities of the Department extend from the farmer to the consumer, through all phases of production, processing and marketing of agriculture and agri-food food products. The Department also assists farmers through crop insurance, margin stabilization and agricultural adjustment programs to alleviate losses caused by the weather, changing markets and other hazards.

Responsibilities

The mandate of Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada (AAFC) is to provide information, research and technology and policies and programs that achieve security of the food system, health of the environment and innovation for growth. The Department's responsibilities embrace most aspects of the agricultural industry. It carries out research into the physical and economic problems of agriculture; assists with market and export development; and carries out programs aimed at environmentally sustainable resource use. The Department enforces laws governing the sales of feed, fertilizers and pesticides; and assists farmers through measures such as production insurance. It also supervises racetrack betting.

AAFC is implementing a comprehensive national Agricultural Policy Framework with the goal of making Canada a world leader in Food Safety and Quality, Innovation and Environmentally Sustainable Production. To effectively deliver this program, the department now has a team-based governance. This new direction is a responsive and comprehensive approach to the risks facing the agriculture and agri-food business.

Horizontal teams are comprised of policy, science researchers, support staff, and others in order to get the best possible results, reflecting the Department's priority areas (Business Risk Management, Food Safety and Quality, Environment, Science and Innovation, Renewal, and International Issues). In order to sustain our ability to deliver our business priorities, seven enabling teams have also been established to support the horizontal teams.

The strategic outcomes of the Agricultural Policy Framework is to make Canada the world leader in: producing, processing and distributing safe and reliable food to meet the needs and preferences of consumers; in using environmental resources in a manner that ensures their quality and availability for present and future generations; and in innovation to develop food and other related agricultural products and services that capture opportunities in diversified domestic and global markets.

Organization

Horizontal Teams:

Business Risk Management Team

The Business Risk Management Team is committed to improving the producer's capacity to manage risk, and increasing the sector's viability and profitability through the development of an integrated business risk management framework.

Environment Team

The Environment Team is responsible for encouraging and supporting the adoption of beneficial management practices on farms across Canada based on sound science. The Environment Team develops programs and policies that help minimize the adverse impacts, as well as enhance the benefits that agriculture can have on the environment (i.e. soil, water, air, biodiversity), and establishes procedures with which to monitor improvements in the sector's agri-environmental performance.

Food Safety & Quality Team

The Food Safety & Quality Team is responsible for minimizing the risk and impact of food-borne hazards on human health, increasing consumer confidence and improving the sector's ability to meet or exceed market requirements for food products.

Innovation & Renewal Team

This Innovation & Renewal Team's mission is to improve the on-going competitiveness of the Canadian food and agriculture sector through the development and transfer of innovative technologies. The Team provides the agri-food sector with access to business management skills, new production systems, bio-products and strategies to seize opportunities and manage change.

International Issues Team

The International Issues Team's mission is to achieve increased recognition, at home and abroad, of the Canadian industry's world-leading capacity in meeting the demands of a rapidly changing and highly segmented global market, to promote Canada's advantages as an investment location, and to expand Canadian industry's access to foreign markets in order to maximize the benefits realized from Canada's reputation.

Enabling Teams:

Asset Management Team

The Asset Management Team is responsible for the planning, acquisition, maintenance and disposal of the Department's fixed and moveable assets; this includes policy development, contracting for goods and services, major capital planning and construction, fleet management, and accommodations. This team also delivers financial and human resources services in research centres in conjunction with Human Resources and Finance teams.

Communications & Consultations Team

The Communications & Consultations Team helps the Department understand its stakeholders and clients as well as the public environment through strategic and inclusive consultations, and by targeting audiences in the general public and among commodity/special interest groups. The Communications and Consultations Team, in accordance with the Communications Policy of the Government of Canada, manages AAFC's advertising, publishing, consultations and public opinion research, internal communications, media relations activities, and corporate and rural exhibit programs. Also, the Team aims to promote a better public understanding of the Agricultural Policy Framework and the agriculture and agri-food sector through awareness initiatives.

Finance Team

The Finance Team supports the sound stewardship of departmental resources and informed decision-making by management through the provision of timely, robust and relevant financial information, advice, services and policies. The Finance Team is the primary point of contact with the Treasury Board and Privy Council Office (PCO) on all Treasury Board submissions and requests for Orders in Council which together provide the department the requisite authorities and funding to implement departmental priorities. The Finance Team also offers a wide array of financial services principally in the domain of accounts payable/receivable transaction processing. Accountable for the integrity of the department's financial controls, the Finance Team continuously monitors financial expenditures to ensure compliance with all applicable central agency policies and directives.

Human Resources Team

The Human Resources Team is responsible for the planning, management and development of Agriculture and Agri-food Canada's human resources. They provide Human Resources management policies, programs and services that support working horizontally and achieve the objectives of the Agricultural Policy Framework and departmental business results.

Information Systems Team

The Information Systems Team assists the Department in achieving its objectives by providing expertise and support on technological tools, electronic document management systems, portal technology, knowledge management strategies, information technology strategies, web content management, and business intelligence tools.

Policy & Planning Team

The Policy & Planning Team supports integrated policy development through strategic planning, policy development on cross-cutting issues, liaison, and research. It also establishes the framework for departmental strategic management and leads the planning, performance measurement and management policy development.

Program Delivery Team

The Program Delivery Team ensures efficient and effective client-focussed program delivery through the design and implementation of a full range of national programs and services in support of the agriculture and agri-food sector and rural communities.

Corporate Offices:

Audit & Evaluation Team

The Audit & Evaluation Team provides the Departmental Audit and Evaluation Team (DAET) with independent assurance, information and advice on the effectiveness, efficiency and economy of Departmental programs, policies and operations.

Canadian Pari-Mutuel Agency

Canadian Pari-Mutuel Agency has a responsibility to protect the wagering public against fraudulent practices and to help maintain a viable racing industry in Canada. The Canadian Pari-Mutuel Agency is also responsible for providing daily auditing of all betting activities; for providing expertise, and conducting research in the areas of photo-finish, video race patrols, totalizer systems and equine drug control. The agency also ensures a 99.9 per cent accuracy in all betting transactions; provides efficient and effective pari-mutual supervision within the resource level of the federal levy and provides and promotes services that contribute to the positive image of racing.

Executive Offices

The Executive Offices are responsible for the correspondence, briefing and activity scheduling systems for the Minister and the Deputy Minister, for tracking and reporting on major current issues of concern to the Department, for Parliamentary Relations, and for providing secretariat services to the Departmental Management Committee, Management Council, the Heads Up Committee of the Department and the Departmental Audit and Evaluation Team.

Legal Services Team

The Legal Services Team provides legal information and advice on the development and implementation of Departmental programs, policies and operations.

Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration (PFRA)

The Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration (PFRA) works with people on the prairies to develop a viable agricultural industry and sustainable rural economy. In partnership with other levels of government, farm groups, producers and industry, PFRA protects Prairie soils, develops and conserves the area's water resources, and encourages diversification into new crops, value-added processing and other wealth-creating activities.

Rural & Co-operatives Secretariat

The Rural Secretariat, located in Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada, is the central point for rural policy issues within the Government of Canada. The Rural Secretariat's mandate is to provide analysis and advice on issues affecting rural and remote regions; facilitate the creation of partnerships around rural issues and priorities; promote dialogue between rural stakeholders and the federal government, and between the federal, provincial and territorial governments. The Co-operatives Secretariat is dedicated to the economic growth and social development of Canada by encouraging the establishment of partnerships between the co-operative sector and the federal government that support the development of co-operatives in areas of federal priority including rural and aboriginal economic development, health care service delivery and agriculture value added.

farm data on the number of hectares in production, type of crops and manure handling facilities. The goals of these agreements are to define and implement the activities, programs, coordination processes, and levels of human, technical, and financial resource commitments by the federal and provincial governments to soil conservation. The overall purpose of these activities is the development and adoption of the most appropriate technology in soil resource management and use that is within practical economic limits and is compatible with the soil's capability, in order to sustain the long term productivity of the land.

Class of Individuals: Dependent on the agreement, it may include individuals, groups of farmers, legally incorporated special interest groups, farm and agri-food organizations, conservation districts, universities, colleges, cooperatives, environmental groups, aboriginal groups, other provincial and municipal governments or agencies of these governments, provincial crown corporations, non-government corporations and financial institutions.

Purpose: This information bank is used to determine the eligibility of the applicants, to establish the level of assistance, to carry out the objectives of the federal/provincial agreements on environmental sustainability under the National Soil Conservation Program, Environmental Sustainability Initiative, Land Management Assistance Program and the Green Plan in the following provinces: Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia, and to make payments to farmers, farm organizations, consultant firms and research institutions.

Consistent Uses: This bank is used to record payments received by farmers, farm organizations, consultant firms and research institutions. Information may also be used to garnish payments received by individuals under several Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada programs. This activity would be made under the Family Orders and Enforcement Assistance Act.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Files are retained for six years after fiscal year of the last administrative use, and then transferred to National Archives for selective retention.

Risk Management & Safety Net Program – Survey

Description: This bank contains the results of a national survey on risk management and safety net programs. The survey examined risk concerns, producers' use of government programs and private risk management tools, and producers' farm financial situation.

Class of Individuals: Interviews were completed with 2,400 producers in November and December 1999 whose main farm enterprise was field crops, beef cattle, hogs, or horticulture.

Purpose: The survey was conducted to examine the use of safety net programs and private risk management tools to help manage price and production risks, and to assess the impact of these tools on farm financial situations.

Consistent Uses: Data will be used to assess safety net programs and the Net Income Stabilization Account.

Retention and Disposal Standards: This data will be kept for seven years after the completion of the survey (December 1999) and then transferred to National Archives for selective retention.

RDA Number: Under review.

Agricultural Marketing Programs Act (AMPA) Advance Payments Program

Description: This bank contains information on producer organizations applying under the Advance Payment Program, AMPA and on producers in default under the program. This information includes bank statements, credit checks, producers' and producer organizations' names and addresses, the amount of advances, payments, the repayment schedule, judgements against defaults, action taken by producer organization groups to obtain payment, organizational structures, management and organizational process description, audited financial statements, terms and conditions of guarantee provided.

Class of Individuals: Individual farm-product producers.

Purpose: To ensure repayment of advances to producer groups and including Canadian Wheat Board, who distribute funds to individual producers under the Advance Payment Program.

Consistent Uses: (1) Information is used to ensure adherence to the terms and conditions of AMPA and to take the necessary actions to ensure collection from defaulters. (2) Information may also be used to garnish payments received by individuals under several Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada programs. This activity would be used by the provinces to collect accounts receivable owing to the federal government from several federal agricultural programs under the Farm Income Assistance Initiative.

Retention and Disposal Standards: These files are retained for six years after the fiscal year of the payment of the loan. The files are then transferred to National Archives for selective retention.

Canadian Rural Transition Program

Description: The bank contains information on clients' names, addresses, social insurance numbers, descendants' lists, as well as specific business criteria for making determination on eligibility. The case files are kept secured in Canada Employment Centre offices.

Class of Individuals: Farmers who, by reasons of financial difficulty, have left or are leaving agriculture and are seeking assistance under the CRTP.

Purpose: The application is the basis for determining the eligibility of an applicant to receive assistance under the Program, i.e. the Transition Grant and Supplementary Transition Assistance. Social insurance numbers (SINs) are collected by the CRTP under the authority of the Unemployment Insurance Act and are also required to determine applicants' eligibility, i.e., whether or not he/she is in receipt of unemployment insurance or social assistance. In addition, the SIN is the basis of identification for payment of eligible applicants by the Department of Supply and Services and is also of use in advising Revenue Canada (Taxation) of any taxable benefits received under CRTP in a given tax year, and receipts are issued accordingly to the client.

Consistent Uses: In cases of acceptance, information rests with Canada Employment Centre offices. In cases of rejection, information is transferred to Ottawa Human Resources Development Canada – CRTP Office/policy Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada where all rejections are reviewed, and in some instances, decisions to reject are overturned.

Retention and Disposal Standards: All files will be kept for a minimum of two years after the client's farming activities have ceased. Canada Employment Centres will keep all files for the duration of the program (until March 31, 1997) and then transferred to National Archives.

Farm Consultation Service (FCS)

Description: The bank contains information on farmers in financial difficulty who have applied for review of their financial situation under the Farm Consultation Service, a Departmental Program developed as a complimentary program to the farm Debt Mediation Service. Specific information includes the applicant's name, address, principal commodity, creditors, estimated liabilities and list of all assets. The case files are kept secured in the Farm Consultation Service's offices.

Class of Individuals: Farmers in financial difficulty.

Purpose: The Farm Consultation Service ensure that farmer operators in financial difficulty have access to a financial review of their circumstances that would help resolve their difficulties and prevent more serious problems from occurring in the future. In order for the Farm Consultation Service to conduct a proper review, accurate financial information is required of the applicant. The information is provided on a Farm Financial Statement and may also include an Operational Plan.

Consistent Uses: Copies of the Farm Financial Statement (and Operational Plan) are provided to the applicant. The information is used in evaluating the farmer's operations and developing an operational plan or alternatives to assist in improving the farmer's situation.

Retention and Disposal Standards: All files are kept for six years from the date the file is closed or the last administrative action, and then transferred to National Archives for selective retention.

Description: The bank contains information on insolvent farmers who have applied for a review of their financial situation and mediation under section 5(1)(a) or (b) of the Farm Debt Mediation Act. Specific information includes the applicant's names, address, principal commodity, creditors, estimated liabilities and list of all assets. The case files are kept secured in the FDMS offices.

Class of Individuals: Insolvent farmers

Purpose: The Farm Debt Mediation Act ensures that insolvent farmers, whether or not they have received a Notice of Intent to Realize on their security, have access to an impartial third party review and mediation. This includes a review of the farmer's financial affairs and mediation between the farmer and the farmer's creditors for the purpose of assisting them to reach a mutually acceptable arrangement. In order for the Farm Debt Mediation Service to conduct a proper review, accurate financial information is required of the applicant. The information is provided on a Farm Financial Statement and may also include a Recovery Plan.

Consistent Uses: Copies of the farmer's Farm Financial Statement (and Recovery Plan) are provided to the mediator and to persons who will be participating in the mediation. The information is used in evaluating the farmer's alternatives and in mediation discussions with the farmer's creditors. The financial information of farmers in the province of Saskatchewan and Manitoba may be provided, with the farmer's consent, to the Saskatchewan farm Land Security Board and the Manitoba Board respectively to assist in their farm debt review programs.

Farm Debt Review Board

Description: This bank is no longer active. This bank contained information on farmers in financial difficulty and on insolvent farmers who applied for a review under section 16 and section 20 of the Farm Debt Review Act. Specific information included the applicant's name, address, Social Insurance Number (SIN), principal commodity, creditors, estimated liabilities and list of all assets. The case files were kept secured in the Board's offices.

Class of Individuals: Farmers in financial difficulty and insolvent farmers.

Purpose: The Farm Debt Review Act ensured that farm operators in financial difficulty, or facing a farm foreclosure, had access to an impartial third-party review of individual circumstances and possible financing or re-financing options. In order for the Board to conduct a proper review, accurate financial information was required of the applicant. A voluntary agreement between a farmer and his or her creditor(s) for a mutually satisfactory arrangement was sought. Social insurance numbers were collected on the Farm

Financial Statement under the authority of the Farm Debt Review Act to conduct reviews of detailed financial information regarding solvent and insolvent farmers in order to arrive at financial agreements with creditors and to provide assistance in facilitating arrangements with creditors.

Consistent Uses: Copies of the farmer's financial information were provided to the FDRB panel members for review. The information was used in evaluating the farmer's alternatives and in mediation discussions with the farmer's creditors. The financial information of farmers in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Manitoba was provided on a voluntary basis to the Saskatchewan Farm Land Security Board and the Manitoba Farm Mediation Board respectively to assist in their farm debt review programs.

Net Income Stabilization Account (NISA)

Description: This bank contains information provided by producers including name, address, financial information, Social Insurance Number (SIN) or Trust number, and corporation or business number.

Class of Individuals: Canadian Agriculture Producers who are eligible or that have applied for income assistance under the Farm Income Protection Act (FIPA).

Purpose: Information in this bank is used to determine eligibility and entitlements of the individual to any financial assistance under the Net Income Stabilization Account (NISA). NISA is a voluntary stabilization program in which individual producers make deposits to an individual account and contributions are matched by the federal and provincial governments. The producer is entitled to make account withdrawals when his/her net income is low. Portions of this account may be held with private financial institutions such as banks or credit unions. Information in this bank is collected on an annual basis directly from producers and agencies of provincial governments which have agreements in place to administer programs such as NISA, Canadian Farm Income Program (CFIP), the Canadian Agricultural Income Stabilization (CAIS) Program and/or equivalent programs as defined in the Agricultural Policy Framework (APF) Agreements. Collection of this information is authorized through FIPA.

Consistent Uses: (1) Information may also be shared with authorized parties to assist the Department in the collection of NISA overpayments. (2) Data consisting of producers' NISA bank deposits will be exchanged with institutions with the producer's consent. (3) Information herein may be used for further verification, program evaluation purposes and/or for the administration of CFIP and the CAIS Program. (4) The information may be shared with the provincial department responsible for agriculture for the purposes of audit, analysis, evaluation, program development and administration of NISA or an equivalent program as defined in the provincial APF agreement which is in place. (5) Names and addresses of producers may be used for distribution of material on new agricultural programs. (6) Data obtained may be used for public opinion polling on a regular basis. (7) In order to ensure that information submitted is consistent with information provided to the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency (CCRA) for income tax purposes, a link with the SIN or the Corporate Tax Number will be required. Use of the SIN is authorized under sections 10 and 11 of FIPA and section 241(4)(d)(xi) of the Income Tax Act. FIPA authorises collection and disclosure of the SIN to federal government institutions or departments. (8) Information may be used to garnish payments received by individuals under several Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada programs. This activity would be made under the Family Orders and Enforcement Assistance Act.

Western Grain Stabilization Program

Description: The bank was used to administer stabilization payments to grain producers. It contains the grain receipts and levy payments of holders of permits issued by the Canadian Wheat Board in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Class of Individuals: Grain producers in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Purpose: Files in this bank were used to calculate and issue stabilization payments to participating grain producers.

Consistent Uses: Disclosure: (1) On an individual request basis, account information supplied to Revenue Canada to assist in its investigations. (2) The four western provincial crown corporations (Manitoba Crop Insurance Corporation, Saskatchewan Crop Insurance Corporation and the Farm Income and Crop Insurance Branch of the British Columbia Ministry of Agriculture and Food requested use of our data bank. Information provided concerning specific producers' sales by grain type and tonnes (not sales value) and generally extends over a number of crop years. The requests are ongoing and average perhaps one per week involving perhaps a dozen producers at most. In addition, we also provided computer tape files of our participants identified by permit number only while quoting the outstanding levy to be deducted from these accounts. This information was used in conducting audits of crop insurance claims and in pursuing fraudulent claims through the courts. The computer tape files used for matching participant to claimant in order to determine the amount of levy to be deducted from the claimant's indemnity payment (the provincial corporations were registered as designated purchasers under the WAGS Act). (3) Western Grain Transportation Agency: Grain sales information specific to producers in a specific area covering a ten year period was provided. This was an annual request. This information is used to establish compensatory amounts for the additional cost of transporting grain by truck as a result of rail line abandonment and the closure of grain elevators contiguous to it. As additional rail lines become eligible each year for removal from the network, more producers are affected by elevator closures. (4) Canada Grains Council: Historical data which are non-specific as to producer. The data are statistical in nature and used by the council for various analyses and studies. This was an annual request at one time but we have not received a request for the past two years. (5) Auditor General: Complete copies of our master file of name and addresses as well as our payout file. The information is requested annually. The information is used to verify the propriety and accuracy of stabilization payments. (6) RCMP: Detailed information specific to individuals is provided which would include name and address as well as grain sales for one or more years. The information is requested on an as needed basis (very infrequently). This information is issued to conduct criminal investigations. (7) Statistics Canada: Statistical information is provided on an ad hoc basis. Requests are very infrequent. The information is not producer specific and is used to conduct various analyses and studies. (8) Canadian Wheat Board (CWB) Payouts: Producer permit numbers, participant status and the amount of levy yet to be deducted is provided to the CWB once or twice a year. Conversely, each week the CWB furnishes WGSA with a computer tape of name and address changes and new permit number issues. The information enables the CWB to match participant files to their payment files in order to deduct the WGS levy from interim, adjustment and final payments. Information on the payout and the levy by producer is returned for processing to the WGS accounts. The CWB also forwards information weekly providing information about new permit book numbers and name and address which is used to update the WGS data base prior to levy refunds or stabilization payouts. (9) Revenue Canada: Statutory set-offs are received and recorded to intercept amounts owing to the Crown. Levy refunds and stabilization payments are matched to the file of set-offs and may confirmed amounts are diverted to Revenue Canada. (10) Family Orders and Agreements Enforcement Assistance Act: Monthly a computer tape file is received from Justice Canada to perform a name and address match against the WGSA master file. The matching is carried out to identify payees against whom there is an outstanding summons. WGSA payments are intercepted and set aside for instructions from Justice as to the amount to be diverted.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Records are held for 20 years after the file is closed, and then transferred to National Archives for selective retention.

Classes of Personal Information

General Correspondence and Enquiries

Personal information in this class relates to routine correspondence concerning the regulatory and licensing activities associated with meat inspection, pesticides, feeds and fertilizers, veterinary biologics and the humane transportation of animals. It also relates to general enquiries concerning agricultural research, market intelligence, food advisory information and financial assistance to marketing boards and co-operatives. The personal information contained in this class normally includes the name and address of the enquirer, but is neither arranged nor retrievable by personal identifiers. This form of personal information exists in a fragmented form throughout the subject files controlled by the Department and is normally retrievable only if specifics are provided concerning the subject and the date of the correspondence. The retention period for this class of personal information is controlled by the retention period of the files in which they are stored.

Ministerial Correspondence

This class of information contains correspondence received by the Departmental Secretariat from external organizations and individuals in the form of requests for information, complaints, opinions and other similar submissions related to a broad range of policy issues pertaining to Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada's activities, wherein some unsolicited personal information has been provided by the correspondent. This form of information would be retrievable only if specifics of name, date of communication and subject were to be provided; it is not arranged or retrievable by personal identifiers. The retention periods of these classes of personal information are controlled by the record schedules of the general subject files in which they are stored.

Other Programs and Agreements

This class reflects other programs and agreements not specifically covered under the other classes. These other programs and agreements are aimed at resolving specific problems of a limited nature or in specifically defined areas of the country. For example, Federal-Provincial Agreements such as those under the Agricultural and Rural Development Act (ARDA) are concerned with rural problems of unemployment and social disadvantages. Special ARDA agreements have been used as a vehicle to improve the economic circumstances of native people by providing financial and other assistance to create job opportunities. Personal information may be stored in administering programs falling within this class. This information may include financial, employment, demographic and educational data on individuals. Such data, however, would be stored as part of the general subject files where records are not normally retrieved by name of individual or other personal identifier. This form of personal information is normally retrievable only if specifics are provided concerning the name of the program concerned and the name of the specific project.

Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency

Chapter 2

General Information

Background

The Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency (ACOA) is a federal government agency whose mission is to work in partnership with the people of Atlantic Canada to improve the economy of our communities through the successful development of businesses and job opportunities.

Established in 1987, ACOA offers a broad range of programs and services designed to create economic growth and business opportunities in Atlantic Canada. The Agency ensures that a wide variety of business development tools and resources are available to Atlantic entrepreneurs throughout all stages of the business lifecycle, from the time they are thinking about setting up a new business, to the time they are planning for growth and expansion .

Even though ACOA is part of the Industry Portfolio, the Agency reports to Parliament through the Minister of ACOA.

Responsibilities

ACOA has a broad mandate for economic development in Atlantic Canada to increase the number of jobs and the earned income of Atlantic Canadians. Because new employment is the direct result of business growth, particularly among small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs), ACOA seeks to provide people with encouragement, advice and information, and the capital and technology they need to start and expand their own businesses.

To fulfill its mandate, the Agency pursues two distinct activities: to ensure that a wide variety of business development tools and resources serve the diverse needs of the region's emerging and existing entrepreneurs; and, to ensure that all economic development programs and activities in Atlantic Canada are coordinated and designed to improve the climate for business growth generally.

Priorities

ACOA approaches its work in a strategic manner, focusing on the means to facilitate the creation and growth of small- and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) on overcoming barriers to growth, and on fostering a more entrepreneurial environment.

ACOA's key objectives are: to provide Atlantic Canadians with enhanced policy research and analysis to help create more and better economic opportunities in the region; and to provide business services to support SME growth and competitiveness.

ACOA categorizes its priorities as follows: Innovation; Trade, Tourism and Investment; Policy, Advocacy and Coordination; Entrepreneur and Business Skills Development; Community Economic Development; and Access to Capital and Information

Our Programs and Services

To meet its objectives in each of its key strategic development areas, ACOA administers, or is involved in, several programs.

Business Development Program

The BDP provides financial assistance to small and medium-sized businesses wishing to establish themselves, or expand and modernize their operations. Loans are interest free and unsecured, and are provided especially for those projects considered to be critical to competitiveness, but which are at the same time frequently considered to be too risky for conventional lenders.

Atlantic Investment Partnership (AIP) In June 2000, the Government of Canada introduced the Atlantic Investment Partnership (AIP). This initiative has been launched in order to help the Atlantic region benefit more directly from and overcome the challenges associated with the knowledge-based economy. The AIP's priorities of innovation, community economic development, entrepreneurship and business skills development, and trade build on the success of ACOA's existing programs.

Bilateral Economic Development Agreements

These are comprehensive, federal-provincial, cost-shared agreements involving strategic investments designed to benefit an industry, a sector, a community, and/or a province.

Pan-Atlantic Economic Development Agreements

These are comprehensive, multi-sectoral agreements, involving all four Atlantic provinces, designed to strengthen and support economically significant activities, such as trade and tourism.

Canada Business Service Centres (CBSC)

CBSCs, a network established to provide business-related services and information products to small and medium-sized enterprises are administered in the Atlantic region by ACOA. They are accessible via a 1-800 telephone service, Internet connection, fax, and walk-in services.

Community Business Development Corporations

ACOA supports these autonomous, not-for-profit corporations, which serve most rural areas of the region. They work to assist in the creation of small businesses, and in the expansion, modernization and stabilization of existing businesses. They help entrepreneurs gain access to the information, advice and capital they need to succeed.

Adjustment Programs and other Activities

These programs provide assistance to communities in the development of alternate forms of employment where traditional industries - such as the Atlantic ground fishery - have suffered a downturn. Recent examples of adjustment activities include: Base closure initiatives, and Borden-Cape Tormentine redevelopment programs. ACOA is also responsible for implementing the municipal/federal/ provincial Canada Infrastructure agreements in Atlantic Canada on behalf of the Government of Canada.

Legislation

- Canada Small Business Financing Act
- Government Organization Act, Atlantic Canada,
- Regional Development Incentives Act,
- Small Business Loans Act
- Special Areas Act

Organization

Organization Structure: ACOA's Head Office is located in Moncton, New Brunswick. It is comprised of the President's office, Policy and Programs, Finance and Corporate Services, Legal Services and Human Resources.

In each provincial capital in Atlantic Canada, regional Vice-Presidents are responsible for the delivery of ACOA programs. In Sydney, Nova Scotia, the Vice-President of Enterprise Cape Breton Corporation is responsible for delivering ACOA programs in Cape Breton. Each Vice-President is equipped with delegated authorities from the Minister to approve most projects and proposals.

Through its Ottawa office, which reports to the Vice-President responsible for Policy and Programs, ACOA advocates on behalf of Atlantic Canadians in the development of national policies and programs, as well as assisting the region's entrepreneurs in the procurement of federal government contracts.

ACOA legislation provides for an ACOA Advisory Board. The Board members represent all areas of Atlantic Canada. The President of ACOA is Chairperson.

The President of ACOA is also CEO & Chairman of the Board of Directors of Enterprise Cape Breton Corporation (ECBC). ECBC is a Crown Corporation established by legislation to promote and assist the financing and the development of industry on Cape Breton Island in order to provide employment outside the coal-producing industry and to broaden the base of the economy in Cape Breton Island.

While ECBC and ACOA have a close working relationship, and many ACOA programs are delivered in Cape Breton through the Corporation, ECBC is a separate entity and reports separately to Parliament.

Classes of Personal Information

Mailing Lists

This class of personal information contains the names and addresses of individuals who are on a mailing list to receive specific information or publications on departmental programs and activities. The lists are used by all bureaus to distribute departmental information and to respond to requests by individuals. The lists are updated on a continuing basis. The lists are maintained for a minimum of two years.

Ministerial Correspondence

This class of information contains correspondence addressed to the Minister, from external organizations and individuals in the form of requests for information, complaints, opinions and other submissions related to a broad range of policy issues pertaining to ACOA's activities wherein some unsolicited personal information has been provided by the correspondent. This form of information would be retrievable only if specifics of name, date of communication and subject were to be provided; it is not arranged or retrievable by personal identifiers. The retention periods of these classes of personal information are controlled by the record schedules of the general subject files in which they are stored.

Programs and Agreements

This class of information contains documents related to programs and agreements administered by ACOA. Personal information may be stored in administering programs falling within this class. The information may include financial, employment and demographic data on individuals. Such data, however, would be stored as part of the general subject files where records are not normally retrieved by name of individual or other personal identifier. This form of information is normally retrievable only if specifics are provided.

Public Opinion Research

This is a class of records generated by departmental officials who conducted public opinion research on a vast spectrum of topics related to the mandate and mission of ACOA. Retrievable records consist of data gathering instruments, such as, but not exclusively, questionnaires which may contain personal information that reveals the identification of the research subject. Data contained in this class of records are not used for administrative purposes. Individuals seeking access to these records must provide the title of the research project in which they participated, the location and the date of the search, and any other data that may help to identify and locate the personal information they are seeking.

Atlantic Pilotage Authority Canada

Chapter 3

The annual update for this institution was not received for inclusion in the 2004-2005 version of this Info Source publication. The following is from the 2003-2004 version of Info Source.

General Information

Background

As a result of recommendations made by the Royal Commission on Pilotage in Canada, the Pilotage Act was assented to by Her Majesty and the Governor-in-Council and proclaimed February 1, 1972.

The Pilotage Act created four pilotage regions with specific authorities, thereby replacing a large number of local pilotage districts. The four pilotage authorities – Atlantic, Laurentian, Great Lakes, and Pacific – are Crown corporations, responsible to Parliament through the Minister of Transport.

The Atlantic Pilotage Authority was incorporated in carrying out the Pilotage Act in 1972, and pursuant to the Financial Administration Act, (Schedule SC 1983-84, 31) was designated a Schedule III Part I Crown corporation.

Responsibilities

The role of the Authority is to establish, operate, maintain and administer, in the interest of safety, an efficient and economical pilotage service within its geographical boundaries – all coastal waters in the Atlantic region. As a further goal, the authority prescribes tariffs of pilotage charges that are fair, reasonable and consistent with providing revenues sufficient to permit the Authority to operate on a self-sustaining financial basis.

Legislation

- Atlantic Pilotage Regulations
- Authority By-Laws
- Canadian Shipping Act
- General Pilotage Regulations
- Pilotage Act

Organization

Administration Division

This Division provides administrative and financial services as required to operate within accepted corporate business procedures.

Bank of Canada

Chapter 4

General Information

Background

The Bank of Canada is the country's central bank. It was incorporated in 1934 under the Bank of Canada Act. Under the preamble of the Act, unchanged since its inception, the Bank of Canada is required "to regulate credit and currency in the best interests of the economic life of the nation, to control and protect the external value of the national monetary unit and to mitigate by its influence fluctuations in the general level of production, trade, prices and employment, so far as may be possible within the scope of monetary action, and generally to promote the economic and financial welfare of Canada."

Overall responsibility for the management of the Bank is assigned to the Board of Directors, composed of the Governor, the Senior Deputy Governor and 12 directors. The Governor and Senior Deputy Governor are appointed for seven-year terms, the directors for three years. The Deputy Minister of Finance sits on the board as a non-voting member. The Governor is the Chief Executive Officer of the Bank and is responsible for the business of the Bank. As a practical matter, since 1994, the Governing Council, composed of the Governor, the Senior Deputy Governor and the four other Deputy Governors has conducted Monetary Policy. The Executive Management Committee which includes a broader representation of management ensures that matters related to strategic direction and management are reviewed at the executive level.

Responsibilities

The Bank of Canada's primary responsibilities can be grouped into four broad functions: developing and implementing monetary policy, issuing bank notes, promoting the safety and efficiency of Canada's financial systems and providing funds management services.

Monetary policy is the Bank's primary function and most important responsibility. Monetary policy is concerned with managing the rate of monetary expansion in a way that is consistent with preserving the value of money. As part of its financial system role, the Bank oversees and provides operational support for major clearing and settlement systems, and conducts research into financial stability issues. In funds management, the Bank serves as fiscal agent for the government, advising on the management of the federal public debt and providing treasury management services. The Bank also has sole responsibility for issuing Canada's bank notes, undoubtedly its best-known product. This responsibility involves note design (including features that enhance security against counterfeiting), as well as printing, distributing and eventually replacing bank notes. Coinage, on the other hand, is produced by the Royal Canadian Mint. Lastly, as the government's fiscal agent, the Bank advises the government on matters relating to the public debt, issues government debt, maintains bondholder records, and makes payments on behalf of the government for interest and debt redemption.

Organization

Corporate Administration Departments

The Corporate Administration Departments provide advice, information and internal services that support the management of the Bank. The Corporate Administration departments are: Executive and Legal Services, Communications, Corporate Services, Financial Services (information, human resources, facilities, office, protective and automation services) and Audit Services. Executive and Legal Services provide corporate secretary support to the Bank's Board of Directors and the management of the Bank. Communications provide publication and public information services and Financial Services is responsible for the internal financial functions of the Bank, statutory financial reporting requirements, accounting in support of the Exchange Fund Account and administration of unclaimed bank balances.

Department of Banking Operations

The overall responsibility of the Department is to provide efficient and effective service to other central banks, international financial organizations, the Government of Canada, chartered banks, trust companies and other financial organizations. Its responsibilities include the security and administration of valuables such as gold and securities, the provision of banking services to other clients, and all aspects of the issuance of bank notes, including custody of the National Currency Collection. The Department also provides fiscal functions for which the Bank of Canada acts as an agent for the Government of Canada. These functions include the clearing of government obligations and receiving deposits for the account of the Government of Canada. Finally the Department participates with the Research Department in the Bank's Regional Presence activities.

Department of Monetary and Financial Analysis

This department is responsible for analyzing the transmission mechanism of monetary policy and contributing to the Bank's role in providing for financial stability. The department monitors and analyzes the evolution of financial variables such as monetary aggregates, credit aggregates and interest rates. It also monitors the evolution of the financial institutions, financial intermediation and payments systems to assess the implications for monetary policy and financial stability. It provides advice on regulatory and supervisory issues related to the financial sector policies under the jurisdiction of the federal government. Finally the department is responsible for the regulatory oversight of major clearing and settlement systems.

Financial Markets Department

This department has both operational and analytical duties. Its most important operational functions are to help implement monetary policy through its activities in financial markets, to conduct foreign exchange operations as fiscal agent for the government and the Bank, and to issue Government of Canada securities (principally treasury bills and marketable bonds) both domestically and abroad. Its analytical function is to monitor conditions in financial markets, forecast key financial flows and study relevant financial relationships. The results are communicated to the Bank's senior officers for their use in formulating monetary policy, advising the government on matters related to debt management, and influencing the development of capital market structures appropriate to Canadian needs.

Debt Administration Office

This department is responsible for administering Government of Canada domestic securities. Its functions include: development and distribution of debt certificates; maintenance of the debt register information; servicing the holders of debt instruments through account statements, interest payments, product information and other client services; and managing the order-taking and redemption processes through intermediaries.

International Department

The principal responsibilities of this department include producing timely analyses of current and prospective economic developments in foreign countries, providing policy advice on issues addressed by international organizations such as the International Monetary Fund and the OECD, and undertaking studies on international financial markets and economic policy issues.

Research Department

This department's primary responsibility is to assess the significance of current economic developments and prospects in Canada and to keep Bank management fully informed about them. An aspect of this responsibility is to seek further understanding of the operation of the economy and of public policies which are, or could be, employed in an attempt to regulate it.

Unclaimed Bank Balance Inquiries

Description: This bank contains letters requesting verification of ownership of unclaimed bank balances as well as requests to purchase the Unclaimed Bank Balance file. Requests originate with individuals, chartered banks, trust companies, barristers and solicitors and tracing companies acting on behalf of their clients.

Note: Canadian chartered banks are required to transfer all deposit accounts, maintained in Canadian currency, that have been inactive for a period of ten years or more to the Bank of Canada, in accordance with Section 438 of the Bank Act. This also includes all instruments (bank drafts, certified cheques, deposit receipts, money orders and travellers' cheques) that remain on the books of the chartered banks after a period of ten years from the date of issue. The Bank of Canada acts as a custodian for unclaimed bank balances, responds to general inquiries and claims, and makes payments, without fees, to those persons entitled to receive the proceeds. Balances with a value of less than $500.00 that remain unclaimed are kept for a period of twenty years, from the last date of transaction, then are transferred to the Receiver General for Canada. The accounts that represent a balance of $500.00 or more are kept indefinitely, or until claimed. It is not necessary to make a formal Access to Information request for access to the register of dormant accounts; personal inquiries may be directed to Unclaimed Balances Services (telephone: 1-888-891-6398); the register may also be searched via the Web at: ucbswww.bank-banque-canada.ca. As well, these records are available for sale, on a cost recovery basis, on certain magnetic media.

Class of Individuals: General public.

Purpose: The purpose of this bank is to process requests, to compile statistics and to maintain a record of the results of the verification process.

Consistent Uses: The information is used to respond to inquiries from owners of dormant accounts, or their authorized representatives in order to arrange for payments to rightful owners of these accounts.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Positive responses to requests for verification of ownership are kept for seven years, then destroyed. Vouchers and supporting documentation regarding paid accounts under $1000 are kept for 10 years. Negative responses to requests for verification of ownership are kept for two years, then destroyed. Records relating to the purchase of the unclaimed bank balance file are kept for a period of seven years, then destroyed.

British Columbia Treaty Commission

Chapter 7

General Information

Background

The BC Treaty Commission (“BCTC”) was created in September 1992 through an agreement between the Government of Canada, the Government of British Columbia and the First Nations Summit (“the Principals”), whose members represent the majority of First Nations in British Columbia.

The BCTC received statutory recognition through the Treaty Commission Act passed by the Legislature of British Columbia in April 1993 and through the BC Treaty Commission Act passed by the federal government in December 1995, both of which were proclaimed in force in March 1996. The First Nations Summit also passed a resolution in April 1993 to establish the BCTC.

Responsibilities

The role of the BCTC is to facilitate the negotiation of treaties and, where the Parties agree, other related agreements in British Columbia.

Business Development Bank of Canada

Chapter 8

General Information

Background

The Business Development Bank of Canada (BDC) is a Crown corporation which was established by an Act of Parliament effective October 2, 1975 as the Federal Business Development Bank (FBDB), and continued under its new name by an Act of Parliament on July 13, 1995. FBDB, in turn, had succeeded the Industrial Development Bank which was formed in 1944.

BDC's mandate is to support Canadian entrepreneurship by providing financial and management services, giving particular attention to the needs of small and medium-sized enterprises. A network of branches across Canada provide the full range of the Bank's services to small and medium-sized businesses located in each branch territory.

Responsibilities

The Bank is responsible for acting as a complementary lender, providing funds by means of loans and equity financing to small and medium-sized businesses to fill out or complete services available from commercial financial institutions. Through its Investment Group, the Bank is also responsible for providing venture capital and subordinate financing in addition to, or in place of, loans and guarantees.

Legislation

- Business Development Bank of Canada Act

Organization

The Bank has a network of approximately eighty branches across Canada organized into areas reporting to a Head Office located in Montreal.

Corporate resources located in regional Service Centres and Head Office provide guidance to branches with respect to the application of established Bank policy and procedures. They also process financing applications for amounts exceeding branch limits.

The branches provide financing and management services to small and medium businesses located within their particular territory. Enquiries and applications for financing and managerial support are received by branch personnel and processed in accordance with established policy and procedure.

Furthermore, enquiries and applications may be received through the Business Service Centre located in Head Office.

The various services and departments of the Bank include the following:

Consulting Group (formerly Management Services Division)

The Consulting Group offers BDC's management services by providing consulting services to help Canadian entrepreneurs strengthen their management capabilities.

BDC's consulting services provide entrepreneurs with the specialized support they need to enhance their business performance. Consulting in a variety of areas including finance and accounting, human resources, marketing, planning and general management is provided through a network of experienced business professionals and specialists.

Financial Services

Investment Group

Responsible for all equity, venture capital and subordinate financing. Its role is to act as a catalyst in stimulating the formation of risk capital for companies with high growth potential. It ensures that all proposals satisfy Bank policy and are financially viable. This Division assesses, on a continuing basis, the adequacy and suitability of investment policy and procedures and, when necessary, recommends changes. The services of this Division include direct purchase of a minority ownership interest as well as syndication of proposals to other venture capitalists and financial institutions.

Loans Division

Establishes and oversees policies and procedures with respect to the provision of financial assistance to small and medium-sized businesses. In addition, the Division oversees the management of the Bank's loan portfolio for the entire life of all accounts. Most financing is provided in the form of loans for such purposes as purchasing fixed assets, replenishing working capital, refinancing, and financing a change of ownership. Guarantees may be provided to other financial institutions to enable a business to obtain an adequate line of credit. Through the operations of BDC Connex - BDC's "virtual bank" - BDC offers on-line access to its financial services.

Head Office Departments

Audit and Inspection Department

Conducts reviews of the Bank's systems of internal control.

Controller's & Real Estate & Facilities Management

Responsible for all financial planning, accounting and control in the Bank. It also provides overall administration support services including lease administration of the Bank's premises.

Corporate Planning

Responsible for formulating the Bank's strategic, corporate and operating plans, analysis of existing activities and corporate development. It also provides information on economic conditions and the impact of the Bank's activities upon the economy.

Corporate Office

Provides the Bank with the strategic direction required to manage its activities and achieve its mandate and objectives.

Government Relations

Responsible for the coordination of communications between the Bank and the Minister, the government and members of Parliament, and has responsibility for international relations.

Human Resources

Provides the Bank with corporate-wide human resources management. It is also responsible for official languages, employment equity and payroll services

Insurance

Responsible for insurance related to loan security and corporate insurance.

Legal Services and Corporate Secretariat

Provides legal advice to the Bank in connection with its specific program activities and support departments. This department is also responsible for the Board of Directors, its Committees, and responses to Parliament.

Portfolio Risk Management

Develops, improves and produces risk information required for strategic decision-making, regular reports oriented to driving action on risks such as concentration, repayment quality, risk mix and pricing and maintains and improves risk-oriented tools such as the pricing and risk rating systems.

Marketing & E-business

Develops all financial products, and ensure that the Bank's products evolve with the needs of its customers.

Ombudsman's Office

Resolves all customer complaints not solved at other levels.

Public Affairs

This department is responsible for advertising and public relations to promote the role and activities of the Bank.

Systems and Technology

Develops and maintains business systems (manual and computerized) to support the operational functions and management information needs of the Bank.

Training

Responsible for establishing and executing competency standards and accreditation methods to develop a balanced and skilled work force.

Treasury

Responsible for funding of corporate cash requirements, monitoring of cash flow, deposit and investment of corporate funds and interest rate forecasts.

Special Initiatives

The Bank may also deliver programs from time to time on behalf of other government departments to meet the needs of specific entrepreneurial groups.

Canada Border Services Agency

Chapter 9

General Information

Background

The Prime Minister announced the creation of the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) on December 12, 2003. The new Agency brings together key border security and intelligence functions previously carried out by three Government organizations: the Customs program from the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency (CCRA); the Intelligence, Interdiction, and Enforcement program from Citizenship and Immigration Canada (CICA); and Import Inspection at Ports of Entry from the Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA).

The CBSA is part of the new portfolio of Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness (PSEP) and is an integral component of Canada's national security approach. The President of the CBSA reports directly to the Minister of Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness.

The PSEP portfolio brings together a number of government organizations with a key role to play in ensuring public safety, and allows for an integrated response to emergencies and potential threats to Canadian security. Other organizations within the PSEP portfolio are the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the Canadian Security Intelligence Service, the Correctional Service of Canada, the National Parole Board, and the Canada Firearms Centre.

Responsibilities

The CBSA integrates complementary business lines to protect public security and facilitate and control the movement of people and goods. All people and goods entering Canada, whether by air, land, or sea, must report to the CBSA at a port of entry. The CBSA operates at 1,369 service points across Canada and 39 locations abroad. It employs over 10,200 public servants who serve some 170,000 commercial importers and more than 98 million travellers each year.

The responsibilities of the CBSA include: Managing airports, land and sea ports of entry, by administering and enforcing domestic laws, as well as international agreements, that govern trade and travel; Ensuring that all travellers coming into Canada are admissible, comply with Canadian laws and regulations, and pay applicable duties and taxes; Processing all commercial shipments at ports of entry to ensure Canadian laws and regulations are adhered to and that no illegal goods enter the country; Detaining migrants who may cause a threat to Canada; Removing persons who have been determined inadmissible to Canada; and Ensuring food safety, and plant and animal health by identifying and interdicting high-risk, regulated commodities at air, land, and seaports.

Organization

The CBSA has seven branches, which are each led by a vice-president who reports directly to the President and Executive Vice-President.

Strategy and Coordination Branch

The Strategy and Coordination Branch is responsible for developing and establishing the internal corporate support framework for the stewardship of the CBSA's mandate and for ensuring that short- and long-term border management issues are identified and that strategies to address them are developed and communicated to the public. The functional activities include strategic policy and planning; audit and evaluation; international and federal/provincial programs; access to information and privacy (ATIP), cabinet/portfolio affairs and executive services; and public affairs functions and activities, including strategic and corporate communications, operational communications services, regional coordination and liaison, media relations and publishing.

Admissibility Branch

The Admissibility Branch develops national programs and operational policies related to the admissibility, processing, and recourse mechanisms for the import and export of goods and the movement of travellers, as well as the investigation of complaints related to unfair trade practices. The branch is also responsible for ensuring that the appropriate relationships exist with other government organizations, in particular with the Canadian Food Inspection Agency and Citizenship and Immigration Canada.

Enforcement Branch

The Enforcement Branch develops national procedures, strategies, and operational policies related to the CBSA intelligence, investigations, and enforcement programs. The branch is also responsible for collecting, analysing, and distributing intelligence regarding threats to the security of Canada's borders and the integrity of the CBSA's programs; providing intelligence support with respect to immigration and refugee cases; providing functional direction and support to field staff at posts abroad, ports of entry, and inland offices, as well as to Migration Integrity Officers located abroad; providing functional direction and support for the detention and removal programs; providing a focal point for the CBSA's relations with the security, law enforcement, and intelligence communities; researching, testing, purchasing, and maintaining high-technology detection equipment; developing and delivering specialized training to the field; developing and managing partnerships with other government departments, agencies, provincial and foreign governments, and the private sector; and working with international partners on the design of new programs.

Innovation and Technology Branch

The Innovation and Technology Branch translates business requirements, as outlined by the programs, into reality through the management of major projects to research, design, develop, and integrate quality business and Information Technology (IT) solutions to meet the challenges of border management. The branch is also responsible for the establishment, management, and operation of the corporate IT infrastructure and the management of IT service agreements, as well as for the direction of strategic research and development of innovative technologies, and the acquisition and management of technology.

Operations Branch

The Operations Branch is responsible for consistent program delivery in the regions and the coordination of regional operations. The branch also provides a single point of contact for the regions at the national level and ensures that regional interests are well represented at headquarters.

Human Resources Branch

The Human Resources Branch provides human resources (HR) support to build the new CBSA (including organizational design, change management, and HR systems), while at the same time constructing a blended CBSA HR regime from the three inherited regimes. The branch is also responsible for establishing an integrated framework of HR strategies, policies, and programs, and provides functional guidance and support for operations.

Comptrollership Branch

The Comptrollership Branch is responsible for establishing the financial and administrative infrastructure and corporate accountabilities for the CBSA, and provides strategic direction and executive oversight and delivery of all comptrollership functions, including financial, administrative, security, and real property functions, as well as policies, systems, and management practices. The branch also provides authoritative advice to senior management to ensure effective corporate governance and stewardship for resources, as well as functional guidance and support for operations.

Electronic Data Processing (EDP) Systems (shared with CBSA)

Description: EDP systems are used to gather or update the information needed for the operational support of citizenship and immigration programs. Citizenship and immigration-related programs and services are delivered using integrated clerical, manual and EDP systems. The EDP component consists of the sub-systems listed below. All sub-systems are linked to each other, either by a full computer connection (interface), or by common data elements that allow comparisons of information across systems. Therefore, actions in one sub-system may affect the smooth running of others. Approximately 500 separate immigration forms, with a total volume of 1,000,000 documents, are processed through these sub-systems each year. Enforcement Information Index (EII): Please see CBSA PPU 041 for details. A set of EII (CBSA PPU 041) cases produced on CD was distributed to posts (embassies and consulates) abroad. Enforcement Data System (EDS): Please see CBSA PPU 001 for details. A set of EDS (CBSA PPU 001) cases produced on CD was distributed to posts (embassies and consulates) abroad. Field Operational Support System (FOSS): The FOSS database is a central repository of information on all persons who have been, may be or are wanted to be seen by Immigration staff. FOSS is the main operational support system for Immigration operations in Canada. The system is comprised of numerous components including query functions, status entry, document creation, refugee monitoring, case processing support, medical profiles, registry functions, client name and address, statistical functions, airport primary inspection line functions, access and security, appeals and litigation, quality assurance and records maintenance. All Immigration staff that work with the public and the staff that support these officers use FOSS. It is also used at all international airports by Customs inspectors and by a number of specialized groups, such as: Case Management, Query Response Centre, Social Insurance Registry, Immigration Health, Immigration Statistics, External Affairs Protocol Office and the U.S. Immigration Offices at Detroit and Buffalo. There are over 14 million client records and over 23 million document reference records. Computer-Assisted Immigration Processing System (CAIPS): CAIPS is the Department's automated system for immigration application processing outside Canada. Information is entered in the system from application forms and supporting documentation submitted by applicants for immigrant and visitor visas, returning residence permits and student and employment authorizations. This information is transferred electronically to FOSS to facilitate inland processing. In addition, CAIPS users have real-time access to FOSS via the CAIPS-FOSS Integration module. Case Processing Centre System (CPC): The CPC system supports the processing of all in-Canada applications for the following six lines of Business: in- Canada sponsorship of family class; extension of visitor visas; extension of employment authorizations; extension of student authorizations; applications for Citizenship and Immigration Canada 385 permanent residence; applications based on Humanitarian and Compassionate grounds; and for persons deemed refugees. The system is tied very closely to FOSS. Citizenship Registry System (CRS): CRS manages processes related to citizenship, namely grants of citizenship and proofs of citizenship. The main functions are: Collect Fees; Collect Data; Certificate Preparation; Clearance; Decision: Scheduling; Log In (results) and File Retention. All record scheduling and workflow data related to citizenship processes are kept in this database and there is an interface with FOSS. National Case Management System (NCMS): The NCM system replaces seven regional case tracking applications—Tracking Resource Allocation and Client Scheduling (TRACS), Système d'Affectation des Ressources et Calendrier des Enquêtes (SARCE), Investigations Tracking System (ITS),

Investigation Case Management System (ICMS), Système Informatique pour le Suivi des Appels (SISA), and Appeals Tracking System (ATS). NCMS provides functionality that supports critical case tracking requirements from the regions and NHQ. It provides a facility aimed at satisfying management information needs. Key enforcement data is stored centrally to provide an integrated client case history for all domestic users. Its functions include case tracking, bring forward, scheduling, workload management, file registry, and forms and letters modules for all of CBSA's major enforcement business lines (except port of entry examinations).

Topics: Information systems generally; standard statistical coding for completing forms; information gathering systems (employment clearance, occupation, transportation tables, native language); data systems (immigrants processed abroad and in Canada, permanent residents, monthly program reports, special information retrieval procedures, foreign nationals visiting Canada).

Customs Brokers – Professional and Qualified Status

Description: A database is maintained on the computers in the Broker Licensing and Account Security Section.

Class of Individuals: The database lists individual candidates who have successfully completed the “Qualifying” or “Professional” customs brokers examination.

Purpose: The purpose of this bank is to maintain a record of all persons who have successfully completed one or both of the customs brokers examinations and to record the customs brokerage firm under whose license authority they transact business. As some individuals may lose their status by being absent from the brokerage industry for a period of time in excess of one year, the database allows the determination of candidates who have “lost” their status and would be required to re-qualify in order to assume certain positions with licensed customs Brokerage firms. Individuals who have been appointed to “qualified positions” with licensed Brokerage firms would also be recorded on the individuals brokerage firm’s files. It should be noted that the Qualified Person requirements is no longer in effect and that no further records will be maintained for the Qualified Person. The Qualified Officer requirement remains and records will continue to be maintained for these individuals. The information on the database is mostly available on brokers’ files (7637-2/Name of Broker)

Consistent Uses: None

Retention and Disposal Standards: Files are retained for seven years, then destroyed.

Passenger Travel Records

Description: This database contains information on all air passengers seeking to enter Canada, including the name, date of birth, citizenship, country of birth, address, ID and FOSS numbers, locator number, method of payment, and contact information. The information is received by CBSA in advance of the passengers’ arrival in Canada from commercial transporters, pursuant to section 148(1)(d) of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act and section 269 of the Regulations. Records may include both Advance Passenger Information (API) data, which consists of ‘tombstone’ data found in travel documents such as passports, and Passenger Name Record data, which consists of more detailed reservation information provided in the course of travel.

Class of Individuals: Persons who have sought to enter Canada by way of commercial airline and who have been subject to the enforcement provisions of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act.

Purpose: To assist CBSA officials in making a determination on the admissibility status of those seeking to enter Canada. API data is electronically matched against specific elements of CBSA’s Enforcement Data System to assist officials in identifying individuals who may require a secondary immigration examination. API data is also matched with the Canadian Customs – CBSA ENF 009 (Integrated Customs Enforcement System) to aid officers at the Primary Inspection Line (PIL) in referring persons to Immigration for further examination. Information in this bank may be used in the administration and enforcement of citizenship and immigration legislation. It may also be used by CBSA for the purpose of planning, monitoring and evaluation of programs and services.

Consistent Uses: The Information may be shared with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) and the Canadian Security and Intelligence Service (CSIS) for the purpose of conducting investigations related to immigration legislation. Some information may be disclosed to transportation companies within the terms of their responsibilities under the citizenship and immigration legislation. Other Uses: Information in this bank may be used by CBSA for internal audits, research purposes and collection of statistics. It may be provided to private sector research firms for research and statistical purposes.

Canada Council for the Arts

Chapter 10

General Information

Background

The Canada Council for the Arts was created by the Parliament of Canada in 1957 (Canada Council Act, 1957, RSC 1970 c-2, s. 1 as amended). The mandate of the Canada Council (Section 8(1)) is "to foster and promote the study and enjoyment of, and the production of works in, the arts."

Responsibilities

The general policy objective of the Canada Council for the Arts is to recognize, foster and promote excellence in the arts. Most of its grants are awarded through an extensive system of competitions judged by assessment committees of practising artists and other independent specialists in the particular disciplines.

In addition to its mandate to foster and promote the arts, the Canada Council for the Arts has been assigned responsibility for the Canadian Commission for the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) (Subsection 8(2), Order-in-Council PC 1957-831), in conformity with the constitution of UNESCO.

The Council also administers the Killam program of scholarly awards and prizes, financed from a private legacy. The Public Lending Right Commission, which provides payments to Canadian authors for the public use of their works in Canadian libraries, operates under the aegis of the Council.

Legislation

- Canada Council Act, 1957 Chapter C-2
- The Canada Council By-laws
- Canadian Commission for UNESCO Constitution and By-laws

Organization

Board of Directors

The Council is headed by a Board consisting of 11 members who are appointed by the Governor in Council. The Board meets at least four times a year and is responsible for all policy and financial decisions as well as other matters that are implemented by a staff headed by a Director, who is also appointed by the Governor in Council.

Director's Office

The Director of the Council is the chief executive officer of the Council. The Director's Office is responsible for overseeing and directing the work of the Council staff in the development and delivery of programs, grants and services.

Administration Division

This Division includes the Secretary-Treasurer's Office, the Human Resources Section, the Finance Section, Administrative Services and Information Management Services. The Division provides various corporate services such as personnel, financial and office management as well as the development, implementation and maintenance of Council's automated systems.

Public Affairs, Research and Communications Division

This Division undertakes advocacy initiatives in partnership with artists, arts organizations and other public bodies and institutions, and manages the Council's Parliamentary and business advocacy programs. The Division organizes special events, awards presentations and implements proactive media relations. It houses the Council's research, policy analysis and functions and monitors cultural policy development. It is also responsible for the Council's website and corporate publications.

Arts Division

The Arts Division is headed by a Director and is composed of six arts sections; Dance, Music, Theatre, Visual Arts, Media Arts, Writing and Publishing and three units Inter-Arts Office; Arts Services Unit, and the Aboriginal Arts Secretariat. The Director of the Arts Division is responsible for managing the development and operation of grant programs which provide financial support to Canadian artists and arts organizations. The Arts Services Unit provides administrative services to the arts sections through four major areas of activity; grant and prize application registry; reference and document centre; program information resource centre, program outreach and dissemination; and analysis to program development; and strategic priorities.

Equity Office

This Office supports the Council's strategic focus of equality of opportunity for culturally diverse artists and organizations thus ensuring the application of democratic processes and transparency that foster equal opportunity for all.

Canada Council Art Bank

The Art Bank promotes original contemporary Canadian art through a unique rental program available to public and private sector clients across Canada. It offers clients access to the largest selection of works of art in the country which includes 18,000 paintings, sculptures, drawings, photographs, and prints by over 2,500 artists.

The Prizes and Endowments Section

Administers over 100 individual prizes, fellowships and awards to Canadian artists and scholars each year, for a total of close to $3 million. In addition to the arts prizes, the Council's Killam Program awards prizes and fellowships to Canadian scholars of exceptional ability engaged in significant research projects in the humanities, social sciences and natural sciences. Many of the prizes and awards are privately endowed and are given in perpetuity, in memory of the donors.

The Public Lending Right Commission (PLR)

The Commission administers a program of payments to Canadian authors for the public use of eligible books catalogued in libraries across Canada. The PLR Board is responsible for setting general program policies.

Canadian Commission for UNESCO (United Nations Education, Scientific and Cultural Organization)

The Canadian Commission for UNESCO has been housed within the Canada Council since it was established in 1957. The Commission advises the Government of Canada on its relations with the United Nations Education, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) one of the foremost specialized agencies of the United Nations. The Commission also fosters cooperation between Canadian organizations in civil society and UNESCO.

General Information

Background

The Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation (CDIC) was established in 1967 by the Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation Act. The Corporation is an agent of Her Majesty in right of Canada and is a Crown Corporation named in Part I of Schedule III of the Financial Administration Act. The Corporation reports to Parliament through the Minister of Finance, who has delegated certain responsibilities for CDIC matters to the Minister of State (Financial Institutions). The Corporation's objects are to provide insurance against the loss of part or all of deposits, to be instrumental in the promotion of standards of sound business and financial practices for member institutions, and to promote and otherwise contribute to the stability of the financial system in Canada. These objects are to be pursued for the benefit of persons having deposits with member institutions and in such a manner as will minimize the exposure of the Corporation to loss.

Membership

Membership with CDIC is limited to banks, federally incorporated trust and loan companies, provincially incorporated trust and loan companies and associations to which the Cooperative Credit Associations Act applies. To obtain membership, an application must be submitted to CDIC and approved by its Board of Directors. Provincially incorporated institutions must be authorized by the province of incorporation to apply for deposit insurance.

Under the CDIC Act, the maximum basic protection for eligible deposits is $60,000 per depositor at each member institution. CDIC provides separate protection for eligible deposits held jointly, in trust, in registered retirement savings plans, and in registered retirement income funds, also to a maximum of $60,000, in each category. Deposits not payable in Canada or repayable in foreign currency are not eligible to be insured.

Responsibilities

The Corporation's primary role is set out above. Other responsibilities include examining the affairs of member institutions in order to obtain information for deposit insurance purposes (under legislation, the examination of member institutions is the responsibility of the Office of the Superintendent of Financial Institutions (OSFI)); acting as lender of last resort to provide short-term liquidation loans under specified authority; managing the acquired assets of member institutions; and reducing the risk of loss to the Corporation by guaranteeing loans or deposits with a member institution. In addition, the Corporation can act as curator of a bank, or liquidator or receiver of a member institution. Further, CDIC manages and invests funds accumulated from the operations of the Corporation.

To carry out its work, CDIC relies on the work of OSFI and provincial regulators. They are responsible for regulatory supervision and for ensuring that member institutions follow the rules and regulations and remain financially viable. If a member institution poses a significant risk of loss to the Corporation, CDIC will work closely with the regulator and usually complete an intensive special examination of the company's operations and the value of its assets to clarify CDIC's risk and to establish an information base upon which the Corporation can act promptly toward intervention or failure resolution.

Organization

Board of Directors

CDIC's Board of Directors comprises the Chairperson, the Governor of the Bank of Canada, the Deputy Minister of Finance, the Superintendent of Financial Institutions, the Commissioner of the Financial Consumer Agency of Canada and the Deputy Superintendent of Financial Institutions or an officer of the Office of the Superintendent of Financial Institutions appointed by the Minister. As well, there are five private sector directors. The Governor in Council appoints the Chairperson, the five private sector directors and the President and CEO.

Office of the President and CEO

The Office of the President and CEO is responsible for the overall management of the corporation, for strategic planning and for liaising with the Board of Directors. The Audit and Consulting Services function, the Corporate Risk function and the Corporate Strategy and Reporting function report directly to the President and CEO. The Executive Vice-President and Chief Operating Officer also reports to the President and CEO.

Office of the Executive Vice-President and Chief Operating Officer

The Office of the Executive Vice-President and COO is responsible for overseeing the day-to-day operations of the Corporation. All divisions of the Corporation (as identified below) and Human Resource Management function report to the Executive Vice-President and COO.

Corporate Affairs Division

This division is comprised of the Communications and Public Affairs Department, the Policy and International Department and the Legal Department.

The Communications and Public Affairs Department is responsible for providing internal and external communications, public relations and linguistic services. It manages a multi-year public education and awareness program on deposit insurance and CDIC's Web site and toll-free information line.

The Policy and International Department is responsible for conducting research on and analyzing emerging financial sector policy issues, for assessing and developing public policies that relate to CDIC's mandate and operations and for co-ordinating CDIC's international activities.

The Legal Department is responsible for providing legal counsel and advice in all legal matters affecting the Corporation.

Finance and Administration Division

This division is comprised of the Finance and Treasury Department and Information Systems Department.

The Finance and Treasury Department is responsible for the accounting, financial planning, and treasury activities of the Corporation. The Information Systems department is responsible for information management, application development and technical infrastructure support.

Insurance and Risk Assessment Division

The responsibilities of this division include the effective operation of the insurance, member relations, and risk assessment functions of the Corporation, the development of systems and procedures for the conduct of interventions and the management of claims and recoveries associated with past failed member institutions. This division is also responsible for developing and establishing standards of sound business and financial practices, and for administering the system of differential premiums.

Canada Economic Development for Quebec Regions

Chapter 12

General Information

Background

Under the order adopted on February 13, 1998, Economic Development Agency of Canada for the Regions of Quebec (CED) became the new name of the organization formerly known as the Federal Office of Regional Development (Quebec), or FORD(Q). FORD(Q) was created in June 1991, and has been part of the Industry Portfolio since January 1996.

Responsibilities

The Canada Economic Development Agency for Quebec Regions, as a member of the Industry Portfolio, reports to the Minister of Industry. The Minister is responsible for the promotion of the economic development of the regions of Quebec, which is the Agency's sole business line. The objectives and responsibilities of the Minister responsible for the Agency are defined in Part II of the Department of Industry Act, assented to in March 1995.

In this context, Canada Economic Development's mandate is to promote the economic development of the regions of Quebec, paying special attention to those experiencing slow economic growth and inadequate employment, with a view to the enhancement of prosperity and employment in the long term.

Legislation

- Atlantic Enterprise Loan Insurance Regulations with regard to projects in the Province of Quebec
- Canada Small Business Financing Act
- Department of Industry Act regarding regional economic development in the Province of Quebec
- Enterprise Development Regulations with regard to contributions and projects in the Province of Quebec
- Industrial and Regional Development Act regarding activities in the Province of Quebec
- Small Business Loans Act
- Special Areas Act regarding activities in the Province of Quebec

Organization

Canada Economic Development for the Regions of Quebec has its headquarter in Montreal and a liaison office in Gatineau. The Agency also has a network of 14 business offices in various regions of Quebec and provides clients with information on its programs and services through its Internet site, www.dec-ced.gc.ca.

The Executive Assistant and Ministerial Advisor, Assistant Deputy Minister, Operations, Assistant Deputy Minister, Policy, Planning and Information, Director General, Communications, Director General, Resource Management and Director, Legal Services, report to the Deputy Minister.

Deputy Minister

The Deputy Minister is responsible, on behalf of the Minister, for the day-to-day management of the Agency. She also supports and contributes to collective management of the government. She acts as senior policy advisor for the Minister and the government, and is assisted in her activities by her Executive Assistant and Ministerial Advisor, who serves as a co-ordinator in support of senior management. The Executive Assistant and Ministerial Advisor heads the Corporate Secretariat, which is responsible for ministerial correspondence, parliamentary relations and enforcement of the Access to Information Act and the Privacy Act.

Operations

The Assistant Deputy Minister, Operations, is responsible for program development and the delivery of all Agency products and services, as well as for negotiating and managing partnership agreements with other federal departments and outside organizations, such as financial institutions. She is in charge of implementing agreements with the Quebec government, including the Infrastructure Agreement. The Assistant Deputy Minister, Operations, heads the Regional Operations Branch, the Inter-Regional Intervention and Partnership Branch and a network of 14 business offices throughout Quebec.

The business offices, located in various parts of Quebec, are nerve centres for the delivery of the programs and services of Canada Economic Development for the Regions of Quebec. They play an active role in establishing the Agency's priorities and approaches and in adjusting programs and services to the local situation. Regional teams represent the Agency with local organizations and hold consultations with the community. They also enable the Government of Canada to publicize its policies and its activities with regard to the economic development of the regions.

Policy, Planning and Information

The Assistant Deputy Minister, Policy, Planning and Information, is responsible for defining the Agency's strategic orientations, carrying out the necessary socio-economic studies, providing the Agency's input to the creation of national policy, promoting Quebec regional interests at the federal level, maintaining the quality system, the performance measurement and managing information. She administers these operational entities: Governmental Affairs Branch located in Gatineau, the Policy and Planning Branch and the Quality, Information and Technologies Branch.

Communications

The Communications Branch is responsible for developing and implementing a communication program to inform the public of the Agency's contribution and, in the case of special mandates, the Government of Canada's contribution, to the economic development of the regions of Quebec.

Resource Management

The Resource Management Branch provides advice, support and guidance to managers and employees in regards to different issues related to the management of human, financial and material resources. It ensures liaison with the Office of the Auditor General of Canada, the Treasury Board Secretariat and the Public Service Commission. It plays a leading role in creating and managing an administrative reform based on sound management practices resulting in effective decision making. The Branch is responsible for creating programs and policies and delivering strategic and corporate services in all areas related to the management of human resources. It also participates in implementing the Expenditure Management System, controlling revenues and expenditures and drawing up financial policies, procedures and systems. Lastly, it is responsible for the management of administrative and real property services, government contracts, purchasing and security.

Legal Services

The Legal Services Branch provides legal assistance and opinion relevant to the Agency activities. More specifically, Legal Services activities focus on commercial law and its impact on public law. The Branch also provides litigation support services.

Canada Firearms Centre

Chapter 13

General Information

Background

The Canada Firearms Centre is an independent Department within the portfolio of Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness Canada. The Deputy Head of the Canada Firearms Centre is the Commissioner of Firearms who is appointed pursuant to section 81.1 of the Firearms Act.

Responsibilities

The Canada Firearms Centre is responsible for the overall administration of the Firearms Program, which includes the licensing of firearm owners and the registration of firearms and other measures related to safe responsible firearms use and firearms controls. The Centre provides administrative direction and funding to the Program, and maintains the Canadian Firearms Information System (CFIS), a fully integrated automated information system that provides administrative and enforcement support to all partners involved in licensing, registration and the issuance of authorizations related to restricted and prohibited firearms. The Centre also holds the files contained in the Restricted Weapon Registration System (RWRS) collected under previous legislation.

The Centre develops and manages safety training courses and material and designs all application forms concerning firearms. In addition, the Centre conducts research, consultations and develops policy related to firearms. It develops firearms legislation and accompanying regulations and negotiates agreements with the provinces and territories as well as international agreements. The Centre maintains a Web site as well as a toll free line [telephone: 1-800-731-4000].

Legislation

- Firearms Act S.C. (1995), c. 39
- An Act to amend the Criminal Code (firearms) and the Firearms Act S.C. (2003), c. 8

Organization

The authority for executing the requirements of the Firearms Act rests with the Commissioner of Firearms who is appointed pursuant to section 81.1 of the Firearms Act. The Commissioner of Firearms reports to the Minister of Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness Canada. The Registrar of Firearms, and Chief Firearms Officers, (named by appropriate provincial or federal ministers), also have specific responsibilities under the Firearms Act.

Personal Information Banks

Canadian Firearms Program

Description: Personal information in this bank is collected under the statutory authority of the Firearms Act and related Regulations and is used by federal and provincial officials in the administration of this legislation.

The bank describes applications for the licensing of individuals, firearms businesses, carriers, museums; applications for public agency identification numbers; applications for the registration of firearms; and the applications and results of Safety Training Courses taken by individuals. Most of the personal information in the bank is contained in the application forms for the Possession Only Licence, Possession and Acquisition Licence, minors' licence, firearms business licence, and the application to register firearms.

In addition, this bank describes information about individual and business licences, registration certificates, firearms that are recorded to police agencies, government departments, and others, inter provincial and international carrier licences, the names of the individuals who are approved verifiers and authorizations to import and export firearms as required under the Firearms Act. The data bank also describes documentation on refusals and revocation of registration certificates, carrier licences and authorizations to import and export. It also contains applications from individuals or business' regarding licences or authorizations that are refused or revoked by the CFO and documentation on prohibition orders of which the CFO is informed under Section 89 of the Firearms Act. It should be noted that Import and Export requirements are not yet in force.

Personal information from these applications may include: name, address, telephone number, firearm(s) owned, as well as an indication (from boxes checked by the applicant) of the following: firearms licence refusals, revocations or prohibition orders, criminal convictions or discharges, emotional and behavioural problems, incidents involving violent behaviour, marital status, citizenship, and financial difficulties. The bank may also describe the name, address and telephone number of the spouse/common-law partner, guarantors, references, and those in a prescribed relationship to a business. It may describe additional personal information by way of an indication of a police occurrence report or a mention that interviews and investigative reports were prepared in the course of issuing a licence or registration certificate under the Firearms Act. Details of interviews and reports are held by the provinces/territories. Records are kept on transactions conducted through the 1-800 Call Centre. Finally, records are kept on enquiries to which the Communications Branch responds.

Information described in this bank may be maintained in hard copy, on microfilm or other long-term storage medium, and in automated form in the Canadian Firearms Information System (CFIS).

Class of Individuals: Individuals who have applied for licences, registrations and other privileges or authorizations under the firearms legislation and have been issued them, or had licences, registration certificates and authorizations refused or revoked; or have been prohibited from possessing firearms, ammunition or other explosive substance.

Purpose: The administration and enforcement of firearms control legislation and regulations in Canada and at Canadian borders.

Consistent Uses: Certain information in this bank may be used by domestic and foreign accredited law enforcement agencies in the enforcement and administration of the law and in the detection, prevention or suppression of crime.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Information in this bank is retained for a minimum of ten years. Some information may be retained permanently pursuant to paragraph 83(1)(a) of the Firearms Act and subsection 4(2) and Section 6 of the Firearms Records Regulations. Where the record has been designated as having archival or historical value, the record shall be transferred to the control of the National Archives of Canada; and where the record has not been so designated, it shall be destroyed.

Canada Industrial Relations Board

Chapter 14

General Information

Background

The Canada Industrial Relations Board (CIRB) is an independent, representational, quasi-judicial tribunal responsible for the interpretation and application of the Canada Labour Code, Part I (Industrial Relations) and certain provisions of Part II (Occupational Health and Safety).

Part I of the Canada Labour Code had remained virtually unchanged since 1972. However, with the coming into force on January 1, 1999 of Bill C-19, an Act to amend the Canada Labour Code (Part I), R.S. 1998 C. 26, significant changes were made to the Code in an effort to modernize it and improve the collective bargaining process for federally regulated industries. The Act also replaced the former Canada Labour Relations Board with the Canada Industrial Relations Board.

The Board has jurisdiction in regard to some 700,000 employees engaged in federal jurisdiction industries, which include interprovincial transportation (air, land and water), broadcasting, banking, longshoring and grain handling, and to private sector employees in Nunavut, the Yukon, and the Northwest Territories.

Responsibilities

The Board's mandate is to contribute to and promote effective industrial relations in any work, undertaking or business that falls within the authority of the Parliament of Canada. It interprets and applies the Code in a manner that supports and promotes free collective bargaining and the constructive settlement of disputes.

In general, Part I of the Canada Labour Code charges the Board with a two-fold responsibility: that of granting, modifying and terminating bargaining rights, and that of resolving, through mediation or adjudication, complaints of unfair labour practice concerning violations of the Code by trade unions or employers.

Under Part II of the Code, the Board must rule on complaints by employees alleging that they have been discriminated against or punished for exercising their rights in relation to safety.

On finding a violation of the Code, the Board is empowered to order reinstatement and compensation where appropriate. It is also empowered, upon application, to order employees to return to work in cases of illegal work stoppages and to attempt to resolve or adjudicate, where necessary, various other types of disputes that may arise under Part I of the Code.

Legislation

- Canada Labour Code (Parts I and II)
- Canada Industrial Relations Board Regulations, 2001, SOR/2001-520

Organization

The Board is composed of a chairperson, at least two full-time vice-chairpersons (at present five) and not more than six full-time members (three representing employees and three representing employers) (at present six full-time and six part-time), all appointed by order-in-council. The chairperson and vice-chairpersons are appointed for five-year terms; members are appointed for three-year terms. This makes up the Adjudicative Branch of the Board.

The Board is managed by the executive director, who is responsible for regional operations, case management, information management and information technology, financial and administrative services and human resources. The director general of the Case Processes Branch is responsible for the provision of strategic advice and support in respect of case management and workflow as well as for the direction of Legal Services.

The majority of the Board's staff, as well as its full-time vice-chairpersons and members, work out of the headquarters (National Capital Region) office; the Board also has five regional offices and a satellite office, all staffed with labour relations professionals and case management teams.

Personal Information Banks

Religious Objections

Description: This bank contains applications by individuals who, because of religious beliefs, object to joining a trade union or to paying regular union dues to a trade union. The Board may order that a provision in a collective agreement requiring membership in a trade union or the payment of union dues as a condition of employment, not be applied to such employees.

Class of Individuals: Individuals who work for companies under federal jurisdiction, as set out in the Canada Labour Code.

Purpose: Personal information is obtained solely for the purpose of determining whether an employee's objections to membership in a trade union are based on true religious convictions.

Consistent Uses: Religious objections may occasionally require a public hearing to determine complex issues, which could affect the Board's decision regarding the objections. Such a hearing may result in the publication of a written judgement containing the facts surrounding the application and the Board's reasons for granting, or rejecting, the application.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Case files are kept by the Board for three years from the date of the last proceeding, and then destroyed.

RDA Number: 96/025

Related PR#: CIR OPS 030

TBS Registration: 002331

Bank Number: CIR PPU 015

Termination of Bargaining Rights

Description: This bank contains case files concerning applications for revocation of certifications, which grant bargaining agents (unions) the right to represent employees in collective bargaining with employers in the federal jurisdiction.

Class of Individuals: Individuals who work for companies under federal jurisdiction, as set out in the Canada Labour Code.

Purpose: Personal information is obtained solely for the purpose of determining whether an individual is a member of the bargaining unit and therefore entitled to express support for or against his or her bargaining agent.

Consistent Uses: Applications for revocation may occasionally require a public hearing in order to determine complex issues, which could affect the Board's decision and may result in the publication of a written judgement, which will contain the facts surrounding the application and the Board's reasons for granting or rejecting it.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Case files are kept by the Board for 10 years, then transferred to the National Archives of Canada for selective retention. Cases withdrawn are destroyed after three years.

Applications for Employment

Description: This bank maintains an inventory of applications from individuals requesting employment with the Department. The files include completed application forms, letters, and curriculum vitae of persons seeking employment with the Department.

Class of Individuals: Individuals seeking employment with the Department.

Purpose: The bank is used to review applications of individuals requesting employment with the Department when positions become available.

Consistent Uses: The candidate's skills may be assessed and if deemed suitable, the candidate may be invited to serve in a capacity other than the position or level of initial interest.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Records are retained for six months and then destroyed.

Violations of the Canada Labour Code

Description: This bank contains case files concerning complaints by individuals that a section, or sections, of the Canada Labour Code, Parts I and II have been violated by their employer, their union, or another individual. Files may contain information on grievances, work records, or letters from unions or employers containing opinions or comments about individuals.

Class of Individuals: Individuals who work for companies under federal jurisdiction, as set out in the Canada Labour Code.

Purpose: Information about individuals is obtained solely for the purpose of bringing about a settlement to the dispute or, failing settlement, for the purpose of adjudication by the Board on the merits of the complaint.

Consistent Uses: Information contained in case files, along with testimony given at public hearings may be published in written judgements, which set out the Board's reasons for rejecting or upholding a complaint. Personal information is used solely for the purpose of settling or deciding on the merits of each case and is published solely for the purpose of explaining the Board's reasons for its decision and its policy in like cases.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Case files are kept by the Board for three years from the date of the last proceeding, and then destroyed.

Classes of Personal Information

Other case files and subject files held by operational services may contain personal information such as names of individuals, addresses, position titles, job descriptions, salaries, and membership in a trade union. The information is not retrievable by personal identifiers and is collected solely for the purpose of administering the Canada Labour Code. All files are organized by file number and are maintained by operational services at headquarters in Ottawa. Regional offices retain duplicate files for the purposes of investigation until the settlement of a case. Some personal information such as job descriptions and salaries may be published in written judgements where it is pertinent to the background of a case in which the CIRB decides its decision requires formal elaboration. Such information is usually the result of testimony given at public hearings.

Canada Lands Company Limited

Chapter 15

General Information

Background

Canada Lands Company Limited (“CLCL”) reports to the Parliament of Canada through the appropriate Minister and is a commercially-oriented agent Crown corporation. It was established in 1956 and reactivated in 1995.

CLCL is subject to the Access to Information and Privacy Acts, whereas its wholly-owned subsidiaries are subject to the Personal Information Protection and Electronics Documents Act.

Responsibilities

The Company optimizes the financial and community value of strategic properties no longer required for program purposes by the Government of Canada. It accomplishes this through its non-agent subsidiary, Canada Lands Company CLC Limited (“CLC”) by purchasing land at fair market value, then improving, managing or selling it in order to produce the best possible benefits for both local communities and the Company’s shareholder, the Government of Canada.

CLCL is a Canada Business Corporations Act corporation and is listed in Schedule III, Part 1 of the Financial Administration Act. It is the parent company of three wholly owned subsidiaries:

Canada Lands Company CLC Limited – a non-agent Crown corporation, which carries out the core real estate business, active in 24 municipalities across Canada;

Parc Downsview Park Inc., now an agent Crown corporation, – which was incorporated in 1998 to manage and develop the former Canadian Forces Base (CFB) Toronto lands as Downsview Park, and which reports to Parliament as a deemed parent Crown corporation; and Old Port of Montréal Corporation Inc., an agent Crown corporation which is responsible for redeveloping and managing the Old Port of Montréal and which also reports to Parliament as a deemed parent Crown corporation.

Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation

Chapter 16

General Information

Background

Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC) was incorporated as a Crown corporation in January, 1946, by an Act of Parliament. CMHC has authority to act for the Government of Canada in all matters prescribed under the Housing Acts, principally the National Housing Act (NHA). CMHC reports to Parliament through a designated Minister. Its affairs are managed by a Board of Directors consisting of the Chairman of the Board, the President and eight other members, all appointed by the Governor-in-Council.

Responsibilities

CMHC is a Crown corporation of the Government of Canada. Under the authority of the National Housing Act (NHA) and the Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation Act, CMHC's mission is to promote housing quality, affordability and choice for Canadians through four business pillars: Housing finance, Research and Information Transfer, Assisted Housing and International Activities. CMHC's mandate provides the basis for four corporate objectives that focus and guide all of CMHC's activities. CMHC's four corporate objectives are: A. Improve Housing Choice and Affordability for Canadians; B. Improve Housing and Living Conditions for Canadians; C. Support Market Competitiveness, Job-Creation, and Housing Sector Well-Being; and D. Be a Progressive and Responsive Organization.

Legislation

- Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation Act
- Financial Administration Act
- National Housing Act

Organization

Assisted Housing Sector

Programs and activities managed from the sector include: the Residential Rehabilitation Assistance Programs, the Emergency Repair Program, Housing Adaptations for Seniors Independence, the Shelter Enhancement Program, F/P/T Agreements, Aboriginal Housing, Loans Administration and Direct Lending, Social Housing Programs, Housing Internship Initiative for First Nations and Inuit Youth and the Canadian Centre for Public-Private Partnerships in Housing.

Audit and Evaluation Services

Performs operational, financial and special audits of functions, programs, systems and Federal/Provincial/Territorial Agreements. Periodically evaluates the continued relevance, success and cost-effectiveness of NHA programs and on that basis, the President, with the Board of Directors, recommends to the Minister or Cabinet the reconfirmation, improvement and discontinuance of NHA programs.

CMHC International

CMHC International is responsible for CMHC's involvement in foreign activities related to housing, on behalf of the Government of Canada. Its primary mandate consists of assisting Canadian housing manufacturers and suppliers in developing business opportunities in selected foreign markets, such as the U.S., Japan, UK, Chile and China. CMHC International also works on a contractual basis with international organizations and countries in transition to assess and improve their housing environment. Certain projects involve short-term or longer-term technical assistance based on the level of expertise required.

Corporate Services

This sector consists of the Information Technology, Marketing, Legal and Administrative Divisions, and the Web Development Group. It is responsible for the business systems required to support many of the operations needs of the Corporation, as well as Corporate brand development and business line marketing, the provision of legal services, the overall architecture and design of the Corporate web site, and a full range of administrative services (including procurement, document production and records-keeping, translation, security and facilities management). The sector also manages services for external clients including order fulfilment, the CMHC call centre and the Canadian Housing Information Centre.

Finance

This sector is responsible for the overall financial management of CMHC. This includes overseeing and coordinating the various budgeting processes at CMHC including the Operating Budget, Capital Budgets and Annual Reference Level Update (ARLU) for CMHC's appropriation dependent activities. Finance Sector is also responsible for the processing of CMHC's financial transactions and the internal controls related to that activity. As well, the sector is responsible for the preparation of CMHC's financial statements and all related systems required to support the financial activities of the Corporation.

Human Resources

This sector supports CMHC managers and employees in all aspects of human resources management, including operational and administrative assistance as well as strategy and policy development. It comprises the following groups: Client Service Strategy and Delivery, HR Planning, Policy and Organizational Development, Total Compensation, and Employee Relations.

Insurance and Securitization

This sector consists of Product and Technology Development Division; Insurance Risk and Actuarial Analysis Division; Insurance Servicing Division; Underwriting Division; Securitization Operations; Securitization, Product and Policy Development Division; and, Business Development Division. This sector is responsible for developing, promoting, maintaining and supporting policies, products and services in the area of mortgage insurance and mortgage securitization.

Policy and Planning Sector

This sector is comprised of the Policy and Research Division, the Market Analysis Centre, the Strategic Planning Division and the Canadian Housing Observatory Secretariat. The sector is responsible for strategic and corporate planning, performance measurement and reporting, government liaison and policy development, and the conduct and administration of housing research, including the analysis of housing markets and the transfer of the resulting information to consumers, industry, governments and others. The sector also promotes internal communications about corporate performance and fosters the assessment, development and implementation of innovative ideas.

Risk Management and Communications Sector

This sector consists of Risk Management, Corporate Relations and Communications, the Enterprise Risk Management Office and the Pension Fund. It is responsible for enterprise-wide risk management. The sector develops and implements national communications strategies and is responsible for liaison activities between the Corporation and the Minister's Office. The sector is also responsible for corporate financial risk management policy and for monitoring and reporting CMHC's financial risk exposures and performance.

Treasury

Treasury is responsible for CMHC's capital market borrowings as well as the investment activities of the mortgage loan insurance fund and the mortgage-backed securities guarantee fund. Treasury also acts in the issuer role, by agreement, on behalf of the Canada Housing Trust (CHT).

General Information

Background

Canada Post Corporation is a federal Crown corporation, established by the Canada Post Corporation Act on October 16, 1981. It collects, processes and delivers mail across Canada, and between Canada and more than 200 postal administrations around the globe. The Corporation is entrusted with 10 billion messages and parcels annually to over 13 million addresses in rural and urban Canada. Products and services are marketed through a network of over 22,000 retail points of purchase.

Canada Post Corporation, with 64,500 full and part-time employees, is the sixth largest employer in Canada outside of government and, with almost $6 billion in annual revenue, is a large and important part of the transportation and communications sectors of the Canadian economy.

In the course of doing business, Canada Post Corporation maintains and uses records of employees, contractors, customers and others. The Corporation places a high value on the protection and propriety of such personal information; employee access to their records and customer confidentiality are longstanding traditions.

Customer Relationship Network

Description: This bank contains such records as enquiries, complaints or claims, declarations (in the case of claims) and information relating to their processing. Certain information exists in automated form in the Customer Relationship Management (CRM) module of the Systems Applications and Processes systems (SAP). CRM provides a single point from the Customer Interaction Centre (CIC) screen where customer history can be viewed and transactions such as claims, orders, enquiries, customer contract or account enquiries can be launched from one screen. Data elements include the names and addresses of the sender and addressee, the nature of the shortcoming (e.g., delay, loss, damage, redirection, call-for), the type and value of the item, any special services purchased (registration), dates of mailing and claim, insured amount, result of investigation and amount paid. Individuals seeking access to this bank should specify the date and subject matter of their previous enquiry, as well as the names and addresses of the sender and addressee on the article or other identifying information.

Class of Individuals: Customers who have submitted enquiries or complaints to Customer Relationship Network; or who have applied for indemnification. (Note that payment records also are stored in Accounts Payable, CPC PPU 060; that written enquiries and complaints also are processed through the Corporate Correspondence system, CPC PPU 030; and that Risk Management Claims, CPC PPU 050, also includes claims records.)

Purpose: The purpose of this bank is to support the management of responses to customer enquiries, as well as the resolution of complaints and claims.

Consistent Uses: The records are used to analyze and resolve complaints, claims and other concerns; to respond to enquiries about mail services, regulations and rates; for audit and market research purposes; and to identify trends or patterns. Certain information may be disclosed to Transport Canada, the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency, foreign postal authorities, law enforcement agencies and others, where necessary, to resolve the claim or enquiry.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Records are retained for two years after last administrative use (which is normally the issue of a response to an enquirer or indemnification), and then destroyed. Disposal of payment records stored in Accounts Payable is governed by the retention schedule for that bank.

Official Languages Complaints

Description: This bank contains records documenting the nature, extent, scope, type and location of official languages complaints, as well as the results of complaint investigations and resolution. Note that the identity of complainants is protected under section 60 of the Official Languages Act throughout the investigation process. Therefore, unless complainants agree to reveal their identity, records are anonymous in nature.

Class of Individuals: Individuals or groups who file complaints either directly with CPC or with the Commissioner of Official Languages (excluding official languages issues handled through Customer Service).

Purpose: The purpose of this bank is to support the investigation and resolution of official languages complaints submitted by individuals or groups to the Commissioner of Official Languages or CPC and to retain an audit trail of actions taken. Certain information exists in automated form as a confidential module of the Systems Applications and Products (SAP).

Consistent Uses: The records are used to report internally to the executives and to external agencies responsible for monitoring compliance of the Official Languages Act and related regulations. They may also be disclosed to the Federal Court or other authorized third parties to facilitate the resolution of complaints, grievances or court action.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Complaint files are retained for five calendar years after complaint resolved or withdrawn.

Classes of Personal Information

Administrative Records

Certain information provided by or about individuals may also be found in administrative records, such as general correspondence and organizational planning files, minutes of committee meetings, daily information books, library loan and distribution lists, fixed asset inventory control reports, general ledger reports, audit reports and evaluations, internal electronic mail communications, video recordings and records relating to visits and conferences involving officials of other postal authorities. Several functions also provide advice on employee, customer or contractor matters concerning areas such as employee relations, labour relations, customer service, corporate security, occupational health and safety, etc. This information may exist in the form of personal notes, drafts, letters, case files and electronic mail messages, duplicates of which are often located in other personal information banks. Retention/disposal standards vary, but comply with a two-year minimum.

Marketing and Sales

This class includes marketing information such as marketing program offers e.g. VentureOne, market research studies, various coded mailing lists, market surveys and test reports concerning householders and other Canada Post customers (for example, large volume mailers). The records include correspondence, reports, accounts of sales calls and other meetings with customers, which may contain the names, titles and business addresses of company representatives, as well as profiles of key executives. These records are used for business purposes only, namely to identify customer needs and perceptions and to help make marketing decisions related to product and service mix, price and promotion. Canada Post also temporarily retains certain records which may contain personal information under arrangements with customers and business partners. These records assist in the preparation of account development strategies for national and divisionally managed accounts. Such records are not under the Corporation's sole control and may not be accessed without the prior consent of the customer or business partner involved. Note also that claims and enquiries related to collection and delivery services have been indexed and described as a Canada Post information bank (see Customer Relationship Network, CPC PPU 030). Certain records are held in electronic form in the following systems: Cash Receipts, Canadian Wildlife Service, National Accounts and Marketing Mailing List.

Undeliverable Mail

This class of records includes lettermail and parcels that, for any cause, cannot be delivered to the addressee or returned to the sender. This includes mail that cannot be delivered for legal reasons, and mail that is refused by the addressee or on which postage due is not paid by the sender on demand. The treatment of this mail is governed by the Undeliverable Mail Regulations. Undeliverable mail is opened to facilitate delivery to addressee or return to sender. Undeliverable airmail is not returned to the sender or forwarded to an addressee unless it bears a specific request for return or redirection to another address, or has obvious value. Undeliverable international mail is returned to the country of origin unless marked abandoned, in which case it is treated in the same manner as domestic mail. When undeliverable mail of no obvious value does not contain sufficient information to permit the mail to be returned to the sender or forwarded to the addressee, it is destroyed. Where the mail contains cash or merchandise the cash is deposited to the credit of Canada Post Corporation and the merchandise is sold or otherwise disposed of in a manner approved by the Corporation.

Additional Information

Please see the INTRODUCTION to this publication for information on access procedures under the provisions of the Privacy Act.

Records contained within information banks are limited to relevant data subjects. For example, if an individual has never bid on nor been awarded a contract with Canada Post, no record of that individual would exist in the applicable contract bank.

To facilitate access and records retrieval, specific details should be provided, such as those outlined in individual bank descriptions.

If Canada Post exempts any information, the individual refused access is provided with the precise reasons for the exemption and the applicable appeal procedures.

Records are routinely destroyed when their useful life expires; thus, access requests for older records may prove unsuccessful. Individuals are encouraged to seek informal access to their records - employees via their supervisors, and customers, contractors and others via the Canada Post officials with whom they have been dealing.

Canada Revenue Agency

Chapter 18

General Information

Background

In 1927, the Department of National Revenue Act established the Department of National Revenue by renaming the Department of Customs and Excise. The Department was responsible for assessing and collecting duty and tax, monitoring the movement of people and goods across the Canadian border and protecting Canadian industries from foreign competition.

The same act created a second department to collect income tax, a responsibility that a commissioner from the Department of Finance had been meeting. Each department had the same minister, but had its own departmental organization and deputy minister.

In May 1994, Bill C-2, an act to amend the Department of National Revenue Act received royal assent and formed the legal basis to create a consolidated department to perform the activities previously done by Revenue Canada, Customs and Excise and Revenue Canada, Taxation. A new regional structure was implemented in July 1994, combining the 23 parallel regions of Customs, Excise, and Taxation into six consolidated regions. The Headquarters organization was also consolidated into six restructured program branches and six corporate branches.

On November 1999, Revenue Canada began operations as the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency (CCRA).

On December 12, 2003, the Prime Minister announced the creation of the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA). This announcement resulted in the transfer of the former CRA Customs Branch to the CBSA. In time, the CRA will see its name formally changed to the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA). The ATIP activities reported on include those related to the CRA's Customs Branch which began before December 12, 2003, and that have remained with the CRA subsequent to that date.

Since December 12, 2003, the CRA's responsibilities have included revenue collection, administering tax laws for the Government of Canada and for most provinces and territories, and delivering various social and economic benefit programs. In fulfilling these responsibilities, we serve hundreds of thousands of Canadians, every day.

The CRA's approach to compliance is based on self-assessment and voluntary compliance. To help our clients meet their obligations and to inform them of their rights and entitlements, we provide information and technical guidance in applying the provisions of tax legislation and related roles. To ensure the fairness of the system, we maintain an enforcement capacity to take appropriate corrective action when people do not abide by the laws and regulations we administer on behalf of all Canadians.

In fulfilling these responsibilities, the Agency administers 66 acts of Parliament, works for the federal, provincial, and territorial governments, and deals with virtually every business and individual in Canada.

Responsibilities

The Agency responsibilities include revenue collection, trade administration, and various social and economic benefit and incentive programs delivered through the tax system.

It works for the federal, provincial, and territorial governments, as well as individuals and businesses, to support Canada's social and economic progress.

The Agency administers the Canada Child Tax Benefit, the goods and services tax/harmonized sales tax (GST/HST) credit, and many provincial and territorial benefit and credit programs. It also collects federal and some provincial income tax, GST/HST, Canada Pension Plan contributions, Employment Insurance premiums and excise duties. As well, it collects excise tax and, for provinces with agreements with the federal government, provincial sales tax, tobacco taxes, liquor mark-ups, and levies on non-commercial imports.

The Agency continually strives to deliver our programs and services effectively, fairly, and at the lowest possible cost. Its goals are to: provide accessible, responsive, and reliable services and clear, informative communications; deliver fair, responsible, and effective enforcement programs in a way that directly responds to environmental changes; minimize the administrative cost and compliance burden on clients through the streamlining and simplifying of legislation, programs, and operations; apply the principles of fairness diligently and consistently in all CRA programs to keep public confidence and encourage voluntary compliance; ensure that employees have the knowledge, skills, and support to work effectively in an environment that promotes and recognizes exemplary performance; and support Agency programs and initiatives through responsive, integrated and affordable corporate policies, systems and processes.

The Assessment and Collections Branch is responsible for providing assistance and information to clients, for processing client returns for tax and benefit programs, and for collecting tax, levies, duties and other amounts such as Canada Pension Plan and Employment Insurance payments. This Branch also administers specialized tax credit and benefit programs such as the Canada Child Tax Benefit, Children's Special Allowance, Goods and Services Tax Credit and other provincial/territorial benefit and credit programs.

Board of Management

The Board of Management has the responsibility of overseeing the organization and management of the Agency, including the development of the Corporate Business Plan and the management of policies related to resources, services, property, personnel and contracts.

Compliance Programs Branch

The Compliance Programs Branch is responsible for the verification and enforcement activities aimed at ensuring compliance with customs and revenue laws. This Branch performs examinations, audits and investigations to ensure compliance with income tax and GST laws; performs verifications and implements enforcement activities at the international level; provides information to taxpayers to encourage compliance and; performs compliance research.

Corporate Audit and Evaluation Branch

The Corporate Audit and Evaluation Branch (CAEB) supports the achievement of the Agency's goals by providing the Commissioner, Deputy Commissioner and Agency senior management with independent and objective information, advice and assurance on the adequacy of the Agency's management framework and on the efficiency and effectiveness of its strategies, activities, programs and initiatives. The work of the Branch also facilitates the oversight by the Board of Management, through its Finance Committee, of those activities of the Agency falling within the Board's sphere of interest.

Finance and Administration Branch

The Finance and Administration Branch is responsible for managing the CRA's financial resources and capital. This Branch also supports the delivery of the Agency's programs and services through the provision of functional advice and services such as sustainable development and security.

Human Resources Branch

The Human Resources Branch is responsible for supporting major change initiatives and developing and/or implementing human resources policies. This Branch also provides services related to staffing, training and development, staff relations, classification, human resources planning, official languages, employee assistance, pay and benefits, and employment equity.

Information Technology Branch

The Information Technology Branch (ITB) oversees the development and implementation of IT planning and reporting. This Branch also supports the delivery of the Agency's programs and services through the development, implementation, maintenance and support of the IT infrastructure including systems architecture and security. ITB is also responsible for advising on the purchasing of hardware and software and for promoting corporate standards within the Agency.

Legal Services

Legal Services is responsible for providing counsel that helps the CRA make legally correct decisions as well as the coordination of the larger Justice Canada services for the CRA.

Policy and Planning Branch

The Policy and Planning Branch is accountable for interpretation and remission administration of the Excise Act, the Excise Act, 2001, the Excise Tax Act, the Income Tax Act, the Air Travellers Security Charge Act, Part III and IV of the Employment Insurance Act and Part I of the Canada Pension Plan. Further, this Branch is responsible for CRA policy and intergovernmental affairs and for registering and monitoring charities and deferred income plans. This Branch provides functional direction to the regions on all excise matters, federal-provincial relations and the coordination of international relations. The Branch has responsibility for all statistics related to income tax, excise, GST/HST, incentives, benefits, trusts, pensions, etc.; the release of the data; and for socio-economic analysis, research, forecasting modeling.

Public Affairs Branch

The Public Affairs Branch is responsible for providing corporate services such as the processing of ministerial correspondence, parliamentary affairs services and for managing the Access to Information and Privacy program. Public Affairs leads the Agency's communications planning and the delivery of communications products and services. Lastly, this Branch provides strategic publishing support to the Agency and branches through the development of an annual publishing plan, the provision of publishing advice, and the delivery of timely and cost efficient publishing services and products, including the management of the corporate Internet site.

Advance Child Tax Credit (ACTC) Data Bank

Description: This credit was discontinued after the 1992 taxation year. This data bank contains information on the tax filers who meet the eligibility criteria for a prepayment cheque. It contained the information used to determine an individual's eligibility and the reasons why a cheque may have been withheld (e.g., debt owing to the Agency, bankruptcy). In addition, it recorded any subsequent activity on an individual's ACTC account (e.g., cheque returned to the Agency, additional cheque issued).

Class of Individuals: Individual tax filers.

Purpose: The purpose of this bank was to provide an up-to-date record of all the activities on an individual's ACTC account.

Consistent Uses: This data bank enabled field staff, who were the principal user of the system, to reply to enquiries from tax filers and their authorized representatives accurately and in a reasonable period of time.

Retention and Disposal Standards: After a file has been completed and the Ministerial Notification letters mailed, the complete file is to be retained by the Tax Services Office for a period of two years plus one quarter, pending notification of an appeal to the Tax Court of Canada. Afterwards, it is to be destroyed. The information on the database will be retained for archival purposes.

Taxation Rapid Information

Description: This bank contains selected data from the Taxpayer Master File and the centralized accounting and collections master file, e.g. identification, filing, assessment, refund data and amount, and tax accounting transactions and collection data. Coverage is restricted to individual tax filers.

Class of Individuals: Individual tax filers.

Purpose: The purpose of this bank is to provide on-line access from tax offices to individual tax filers' computer records of their tax assessment, accounting and/or collection data. The principal use of this bank is to provide immediate responses to enquiries received at any tax services office from individual tax filers and their authorized representatives. Access will not be permitted without adequate proof of identification, including Social Insurance Number and/or authority. New rapid files are created every calendar year and updated as activity occurs in the "parent" files.

Consistent Uses: The principal use of this bank is to support the audit programs, enforcement procedures, and collection actions required, and to respond to tax filers' enquiries regarding their income tax affairs. Selected information from this bank is shared under approved sharing agreements with various provincial and federal authorities. Information received from employers and other sources is used to verify, for subsequent adjustment where necessary, income and deduction data reported by a taxfiler.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Where the new file is created the old file is destroyed.

Taxation Taxpayer Master File

Description: This bank serves as a depository for information on individuals which consists of name, address, account number and tax data. The tax data is available as current information which commences with the 1987 year, and historic information, which commences with the 1978 year. Access will not be permitted without the necessary authority and/or adequate proof of identification, including a Social Insurance Number and signature.

Class of Individuals: Individual tax filers.

Purpose: This bank provides statistical data for several analysis and support systems; provides and maintains a uniform account number system for tax filer identification by using the Temporary Taxation Number, or Social Insurance Number which is used in Canada by the Central Index; and enables the Canada Revenue Agency to administer, under the approved authority, the Employment Insurance Act and Canada Pension Plan Act. The Social Insurance Number may be used to match information slips filed by employers and payers such as banks, trustees, executors and administrators with returns in this bank, for the purpose of income verification and identification of people who have not filed an income tax return. The information in this bank concerns persons who have filed a tax return for a given year. The principal use of this bank is to access T1 individual tax return information. Identification and income data is provided to Federal, Provincial and Territorial programs. Use of selected information from this bank is made by Statistics Canada in light of entitlement prescribed in the Statistics Act.

Retention and Disposal Standards: The retention period for these records varies according to the record retention and disposal schedules of the subject files in which they are maintained. For the specific amount of time that these records are retained by the Canada Revenue Agency, please contact our ATIP Coordinator.

Taxfiler Representative Identification System (TRIS) Data Bank

Description: This system has 2 separate data banks that serve as depositories for information pertaining to taxfiler representatives. The first data bank contains information on legal and authorized representatives (individuals, third parties and corporations) to whom the CRA has been authorized, by the respective client(s), or by the courts, to release confidential taxfiler information upon request. In order for an authorized representative to be entered into the data bank, clients must provide either a properly completed and signed consent form or a letter of authorization. In order for a legal representative to be entered into the data bank, the client or the representative must provide legal documentation identifying them as the legal representative (Attorney of a POA, Executor of a will, administrator of an estate, etc.). The second data bank contains specific information related to trustee's in bankruptcy and tax discounters. These individuals and corporations are not authorized to have access to confidential taxfiler information unless it has been so otherwise granted by their respective clients and has been entered into the first data bank.

Class of Individuals: Individuals and Corporations.

Purpose: The purpose of the data banks are to maintain an up to date electronic record of authorized taxfiler representatives, trustee's in bankruptcy, and discounters for use by authorized agency staff.

Retention and Disposal Standards: The information on this database will be retained indefinitely or until such time as a client authorizes it be modified or deleted.

Electronic Waiver on Withholding (EWOW) System

Description: A mainframe 'expert' system database, which is used daily by field officers to process requests for waivers of withholding tax. These requests are received from either non-resident persons under section 102, 105 or 805 of the Income Tax Regulations, or Canadian residents seeking a tax waiver under the Overseas Employment Tax Credit (OETC) program. Under the "Undue Hardship" provision found at subsection 153(1.1) of the Income Tax Act, the Minister may reduce the withholding required if the waiver applicant can demonstrate that the withholding required is in excess of the tax liability to Canada. Names and addresses of applicants and their respective payers or employers, amounts paid for self-employed or employment services days spent in Canada and outside Canada during the term of a contract, expenses claimed and treaty exemptions claimed (non-residents) is some of the information kept in the database.

Class of Individuals: Non-resident persons providing employment services in Canada, non-resident persons carrying on business in Canada through a permanent establishment and Canadian residents working overseas for Canadian employers (OETC).

Purpose: The information is compiled and reviewed in accordance with each new waiver application under the "Undue Hardship" provision. Current service information may be linked with historical data to help officers determine whether a waiver should be accorded the applicant. Prior to the issuance of a waiver, officers ensure that applicants have complied with their Canadian income tax requirements and responsibilities.

Consistent Uses: Information is used daily as part of processing procedures as well as for trend analysis, program enhancement and for potential enforcement projects including matching with T1 and T2 processing systems.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Database was created in 1996 and records have not been deleted since then. Additionally, since historic records are used to review current waiver requests, disposal dates have not been considered.

Non-Compliance Identification Research Data

Description: This bank contains information relating to financial transactions of individuals, including names and addresses. It is used to assist in audit, investigative and other compliance actions taken under the Income Tax and Excise Tax Acts.

Class of Individuals: Taxpayers.

Purpose: The purpose is to (1) detect non-filers of income tax and information returns, (2) confirm the correctness of reported taxable income and (3) analyze and identify compliance trends, emerging issues and the factors underlying non-compliance behaviour. The information includes publicly available data obtained from federal, provincial and municipal governments for data-matching purposes, such as lists of shipping, Canadian civil aircraft registrations, provincial sales tax, property assessments, vehicle registries, municipal building permits, business licenses, and business and city directories. It includes, as well, information on some federal government subsidy and incentive programs, as well as information obtained in confidence from a variety of other sources in the public sector, such as marketing and distribution boards, colleges, and school boards. Some information is also obtained from the business and commercial sector regarding the purchase of goods and services, such as delivery of raw materials, removal of waste products, provision of security services and free-lance professional and administrative services. Once organized for a compliance action, this personal information becomes part of this bank and is normally retrievable by name and some other personal identifier. Some of the information in this bank may subsequently be transferred to other established personal information banks. Access will not be permitted without the necessary authority

Consistent Uses: Some of the information in this bank, subject to formal agreements, may be shared with federal and provincial authorities involved in individual enforcement and administrative compliance activities. Current data matching activities with Agriculture Canada, the Province of Ontario and the Province of B.C.

Non-Resident and Emigrant Dispositions Database (NEDD)

Description: Presently a stand alone database NEDD is currently being developed for mainframe application as a national database for the use of Tax Services Offices (TSOs) across the country for the purpose of collecting data on non-resident and emigrant dispositions of taxable Canadian property (section 116 of the Income Tax Act). Section 116 requires non-residents to notify the Minister of dispositions of certain property. Where appropriate withholding tax is remitted, the Minister will issue a certificate of compliance to the non-resident vendor and purchaser. NEDD electronically captures data relating to the disposition of property, search and retrieve records that were previously created and print the section 116 certificates of compliance. NEDD also contains features such as automatic tax calculations and letter templates. NEDD produces a variety of lists, statistical reports and a current inventory report. Records include; vendor of property, purchaser of property, proceeds of disposition, adjusted cost base of property, tax collected, security arranged, adjustments to tax reported, treaty exemptions, identification numbers (SIN, TTN, BN or trust account number) and description of property, including address. Identification numbers are matched with CRA internal systems to obtain name and address.

Class of Individuals: Non-resident individuals, corporations, trusts and partnerships who dispose of taxable Canadian property.

Purpose: The information is compiled to review non-residents' requests for certificates of compliance and to issue the certificates.

Consistent Uses: Information is used for analysis, program enhancement and potential enforcement projects through matching with the T1, Cortax and TRIS systems to identify non-filers. In addition, matching with other internal and external sources to promote compliance with the section 116 requirements.

The Registered Charity Information Return (T3010)

Description: This bank describes information on the directors/trustees of registered charities that these charities are required to provide to the Charities Directorate of the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) on an annual basis. This information, as well as information related to the operation of the charity, including financial data, is deemed necessary to facilitate the administration and enforcement of the Income Tax Act. The personal information collected on each member of the governing body includes: Last name, first name, initial, date of birth, complete mailing address, home telephone number, title of position within the governing body in the charity and whether or not they are at arm's length (Arms length is a tax concept that describes a relationship in which the parties act independently of each another.) to other Directors/trustees of the same charity.

Class of Individuals: Any individual who holds a position on the governing body of a Canadian registered charity.

Purpose: In accordance with the Income Tax Act, registered charities are required to provide the CRA with operational information annually.

This information is submitted on Tax form T3010. This information, most of which is confidential, is required to facilitate the administration and enforcement of the Income Tax Act. Form T3010 is used exclusively by the Charities Directorate of the CRA to assess a charity's operational information to ensure that it complies with the Income Tax Act. If the return reveals that the charity presents compliance issues, the Directorate may engage in a series of activities including: outreach/education on how to comply with regulations or a more thorough investigation of the charity's activities, after which various sanctions could be applied, up to and including revocation of registered status. The T3010 information is stored in the Charities Assessing and Registration (CARE) system. CARE is a mainframe system that is maintained by the Information Technology Branch (ITB) of CRA on behalf of the Charities Directorate. It is internal to CRA and does not have linkages to external systems.

Consistent Uses: This information is disclosed (see below) in accordance with the Income Tax Act. There are no other uses of the information. Disclosure: The public information portion of the T3010 Return pertaining to directors or trustees is limited to: full name, position in the charity and arm's length status. This information is available to the public and other government agencies on request (see below) and on the Charities' Internet web site. 1.T3010 Ad Hoc Reports/Data Extracts are disclosed to the public upon request, in accordance with Subsection 149.1(15) of the Income Tax Act (public information only). 2.Photocopied T3010 Information Returns are disclosed to the public upon request (public information only). 3.T3010 information is disclosed to Statistics Canada bi-annually (all information). 4.T3010 information is disclosed where the release of any or all of the information, is permitted by law under Subsection 241 of the Income Tax Act.

Retention and Disposal Standards: The paper copies of the charity return are to be retained for 6 years. Once a Records Disposition Authority has been obtained, they will be destroyed. We are currently working to apply the same retention and disposal standard to the electronic information stored within CARE.

Requests for Refund of Federal Excise Tax on Gasoline

Description: Data include information about each claimant. Included are claimant's name, registered charities or athletic association's names, address, telephone number, tax registration number, employer's Corporation Account (CORTAX) issued by the Canada Revenue Agency Account number where applicable, claimant's status and type, official language preference for corresponding with the Agency and information about amount of refund claimed and paid.

Class of Individuals: Handicapped persons medically certified, to the extent that public transportation is hazardous to their health; Canadian Charitable Organizations or Canadian Amateur Athletic Associations registered with Canada Revenue Agency who have filed a claim for a gasoline tax refund. These files include both personal and corporate information.

Purpose: This bank exists for the purpose of refunding individuals or registered bodies making application under the Excise Tax Act, the federal excise tax paid on gasoline. The bank is used for the purpose of examining individual claims for gasoline excise tax refunds, and may be used to inspect claimant's receipts and supporting documents related to such claims.

Consistent Uses: This information is used to assess eligibility for the refund, and to calculate the amount of refund. It is also used to establish internal accounting records on which details of the amount of tax paid or payable are maintained.

Other uses for the data include the generation of mailing lists for technical materials, information bulletins, and such similar materials. This information is never disclosed, other than to specific persons for uses specifically authorized under the Excise Act and the Excise Tax Act.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Each claim is retained for a period of seven years and then destroyed.

RDA Number: No longer covered under an existing authority. Presently under review.

Canada School of Public Service

Chapter 19

General Information

Background

Legislative amendments to establish the Canada School of Public Service are contained in the Public Service Modernization Act, which received royal assent on November 7, 2003. The Canada School of Public Service (the School) officially came into being on April 1, 2004, as the common learning provider for the Public Service of Canada.

The School brings together three well-established federal public service learning organizations, the Canadian Centre for Management Development, and from the Public Service Commission, Training and Development Canada and Language Training Canada.

The objective of the School is to contribute to building and maintaining a modern, high-quality, professional public service that is at the leading-edge of knowledge in modern public administration and public sector management. Through up-to-date adult learning techniques, it will provide public servants with access to the common learning opportunities they require to effectively serve Canada and Canadians.

Responsibilities

The Canada School of Public Service was created to bring a more unified approach to serving the common learning and development needs of public servants and to help ensure that all public service employees across Canada have the knowledge and skills they need to deliver results for Canadians.

Common learning needs include the core knowledge, competency and skills that all public servants require, no matter what job they do or where they do it.

The School is open and accessible to federal public servants in all regions of the country. Headquartered in the National Capital Region, the School has a presence in each province and territory and has the capacity to deliver its programs across Canada in both official languages. It will actively explore service delivery partnerships to improve accessibility to its programs. The School will utilize a variety blended learning products including on-line courses, webcasting, videoconferencing, business conferencing and distance learning to ensure that learning can be brought to federal public servants, wherever they may be.

The School will also pursue advanced standing for its programs in order to create seamless learning pathways between the public service and universities and community colleges for its clients.

Legislation

- Canada School of Public Service Act

Organization

Office of the President

The President of the Centre is appointed by the Governor-in-Council and has the rank and status of a deputy minister. The President is the Chief Executive Officer of the School and has control over the form and content of programs, studies and publications of the School, the appointment of staff, the contracting for services and any other authority normally exercised by a deputy head pursuant to a statute or delegated authority. The President is assisted in these functions by the School's Senior Vice-President. The positions reporting to the President are listed below.

Policy, Planning and Communications

The Director General, Policy, Planning and Communications, assists in setting and communicating the School's strategic directions and priorities and reporting on results. This includes responsibility for the School's planning and reporting cycle, the management of corporate committees as well as for corporate policy development and internal audit and program evaluation. It also includes responsibility for external communications, such as corporate messaging and identity, as well as internal communications to employees.

Corporate Services

The Director General, Corporate Services, is responsible for the finance, administration and IT services of the School. Corporate Services have the responsibility for a range of basic services that are required to support the smooth operation of the organization. These include financial services (billing, invoicing, cost recovery, planning, financial systems and contracts), administrative services (accommodation, mail, reception, telecommunications and security), and IT services (infrastructure, helpdesk/client services, applications and web site). Corporate Services are also responsible for handling Access to Information and Privacy (ATIP) requests and addressing privacy issues.

Human Resources

The Director General, Human Resources is responsible for the provision of a full range of human resource services (e.g. staffing, classification, compensation, learning, HR planning and policy development, etc.) to the School's managers and employees. These services are aimed at building a high performance, learning organization. Human Resources assists senior management in the overall planning, monitoring, reporting and continuous improvement to assist in the School's thrust towards becoming a learning organization that models public service values.

Client Relations and Partnerships

The Director General of Client Relations and Partnerships is responsible for all the primary points of entry to the School for departments, regions, communities, international clients and individual learners. The focus on clients and their learning needs is exercised through the School's international programs and regional operations functions, and through the provision of conferences and special events, registrar and consulting services. The Client Relations and Partnerships branch offers single-window access to the School's learning products, services and expertise to learners from the public service and beyond.

Leadership and Learning Centres

The Senior Vice-President, Leadership and Learning Centres, is responsible for the School's core centres of expertise in training and development. A wide range of evidenced-based training, development and learning opportunities are provided through four leadership and learning centres:

The Leadership and Career Development Centre focuses on the development of leadership skills and competencies, including improving the ability of public servants to bring the core values of the public service to life in the workplace, career development programs for aspiring leaders, which includes the educational component of the Accelerated Executive Development Program (AEXDP), the Career Assignment Program (CAP); the Management Trainee Program (MTP); and leadership and management programs for senior leaders, including deputy ministers, associate deputy ministers and assistant deputy ministers.

The Public Administration Development Centre provides departments and agencies with learning opportunities that are unique, flexible and costs-effective. It will ensure that the Public Service as a collectivity develop a shared vision and unity of purpose, acquire a common body of government, specific knowledge, master the skills and competencies critical to performance and share common values and principles in their daily management practices. It contains three elements, namely orientation for new managers aimed at various levels from supervisor to executive, a core management curriculum focussed on the fundamentals of public sector management and an advanced management curriculum providing targeted training on specific management topics.

The Professional Development Centre concentrates on the development of professional skills and competencies in the area of public administration. It is responsible for four areas, namely: the orientation of new recruits to the culture, values, traditions and modus operandi of the federal public service; the development of skills that are generic to the Public Service, such as project management; the professional of employees in corporately designated priority functional groups such as human resources, finance, procurement, material management and real property and information holdings; and "train the trainer" program to help departments implement the government's learning policy with respect to workforce development.

The Language Training Centre provides training for the acquisition of second official languages skills at levels A, B, and C by public servants who do not already possess these skills required for the performance of their work. This includes the learning style analysis and diagnostics (Orientation), the research, design and development of French and English programs, courses, and technological learning tools to help public servants meet their work-related second official language requirements. Language Training Centre offers a range of advisory, informational and coordinating services related to second official language training.

Knowledge Management and Advanced Education

The Vice-President of Knowledge Management and Advanced Education is responsible for providing expertise in adult learning and learning delivery methods. This group also supports the School in the development and implementation of new learning methods, including computer-assisted learning and distance learning. This includes responsibility for CampusDirect, a three year pilot project to develop a public service-wide learning infrastructure. It also provides expertise to the School in the area of knowledge management through acquiring, storing, managing and transmitting information and knowledge of value to the delivery of the School's services.

Research and University Relations

The Vice-President, Research and University Relations manages the School's multi-faceted relationship with Canada's universities and community colleges and is responsible for conducting and publishing research on a range of issues falling under the topics of public administration, public sector management, governance, learning and leadership. The Branch develops partnerships and networks both nationally and internationally. This group is also responsible for the administration of fellowship programs for senior public and private sector officials and for academics.

Canada Science and Technology Museum Corporation

Chapter 20

General Information

Background

The Canada Science and Technology Museum Corporation (CSTMC), a Crown Corporation, was established in 1990 by the Museums Act.

Responsibilities

The purpose of the Corporation, as defined in the Act, is to foster scientific and technological literacy throughout Canada by establishing, maintaining and developing a collection of scientific and technological objects, with special but not exclusive reference to Canada, and by demonstrating the products and processes of science and technology and their economic, social and cultural relationships with society. It consists of three museums: the Canada Science and Technology Museum (CSTM), the Canada Aviation Museum (CAvM) and the Canada Agriculture Museum (CAgM).

Legislation

- Museums Act, 1990

Organization

Directorate

The Directorate is responsible for the direction of the Corporation and the management of all its activities, resources and outputs. It includes the office of the Corporate Secretary and Executive Director, Corporate Planning which provides a support function for the President and CEO and the Board of Trustees and offers services in the areas of policy development and internal audit, and evaluation and research.

Canada Science and Technology Museum

The Museum is the only comprehensive science and technology museum in Canada. The Museum boasts the largest and finest collection of scientific and technological artifacts in Canada. Since its inception in 1967, the CSTM collection has grown particularly strong in the general areas of communication, transportation, and physical science.

Canada Aviation Museum

The Canada Aviation Museum is responsible for preserving, demonstrating and interpreting for present and future generation the development of Canadian and world aviation, both civil and military and illustrating the past and continuing contribution of aviation to the evolution of the social, economic and built fabric of Canada.

Canada Agriculture Museum

The Canada Agriculture Museum is a unique combination of a modern working farm and a museum. It fulfills its mission through exhibitions, special events, school programs, workshops, demonstrations and collaboration with related museums and organizations.

Museum Services Branch

The Museum Services Branch provides centralized services and support which include Collection Services, Conservation Services, Informatics Services, Publication Services and Retail Operations.

Corporate Development Division

The Corporate Development Division is responsible for generating resources (including money, goods and services) in order to augment the corporation's appropriated federal budget in support of its mandate and corporate objectives. Resources are generated through sponsorship, fundraising and membership programs aimed at the private sector and the general public.

Support Services

Support Services provide advice, administration services and control of resources. They include Human Resources, Finance and Administration, Facilities and Protection.

Classes of Personal Information

Some CSTM and CAM files summarized in the Program Records contain personal information which is not used in a decision-making process directly affecting the individual to whom it relates. Examples are inquiries about CSTM and CAVM collections, programs and services, information and advice given to individuals by CMST or CAVM employees about museums and museum objects.

These classes of personal information are kept on the relevant subject files and are not identifiable by name of the individual or other personal identifier. To retrieve these classes of personal information, CSTM and CAVM would need as much detail as possible about the subject matter, the geographic location and the time the information would have come to the CSTM or CAVM.

The retention periods for these classes of personal information are the same as those for the subject files containing the information.

Canada-Newfoundland Offshore Petroleum Board

Chapter 21

General Information

Background

The Canada-Newfoundland Offshore Petroleum Board was established in 1987 as a joint federal/provincial agency pursuant to the federal Canada-Newfoundland Atlantic Accord Implementation Act and by the provincial Canada-Newfoundland Atlantic Accord Implementation Act. These acts brought into law the principles established in a 1985 agreement between the federal government and the provincial government relating to offshore petroleum resources.

Responsibilities

The Board manages the petroleum resources in the Newfoundland offshore area on behalf of the Government of Canada and the Government of Newfoundland and Labrador. Its authority is derived from the legislation implementing the 1985 Atlantic Accord between the two governments.

The Board has a duty to ensure that management of offshore land rights takes place in an orderly way; that assessments of the resource potential of the offshore area are completed on a timely basis; offshore exploration and production activities are conducted in a safe and environmentally responsible manner; exploitation of the resource is conducted in accordance with good oilfield practice to optimize recovery and avoid waste; and operators' procurement decisions are consistent with their statutory obligations and agreements with governments to provide economic and social benefits to Canada, and in particular to Newfoundland; and it provides guidance to industry regarding regulatory requirements and encourages continuous improvement in practices that provide for worker safety and environmental protection.

Legislation

- Canada-Newfoundland Atlantic Accord Implementation Newfoundland Act, R.S.N. 1990, c.C-2
- Canada-Newfoundland Atlantic Accord Implementation Act, S.C. 1987, c.3

Organization

The Board consists of seven members who are appointed for fixed terms of office (The Board currently has six Board members). Three members are appointed by the federal government, three by the provincial government and the Chairman is appointed by both the federal and provincial governments. The Chairman also acts on a full-time basis as Chief Executive Officer.

Exploration Department

This Department is responsible for co-ordinating geophysical and geological program authorizations; monitoring and evaluating geological and geophysical programs and exploratory and delineation drilling; determining significant and commercial discovery areas; evaluating undiscovered resource potential of the Board's area of jurisdiction; providing recommendations on development plans and maintaining geological and geophysical databases and cuttings, cores and fluid samples.

Reservoir Engineering Department

This Department is responsible for oil and gas conservation; assessing discovered resources and productive capacities; administering regulations concerning exploitation schemes for depletion of oil and gas pools, reservoir data acquisition and production rate limitation; reviewing and providing recommendations on well evaluation programs, development plans for oil and gas fields, production accounting procedures and testing programs; maintaining the reservoir database; evaluating conservation and enhanced recovery projects; monitoring field performance; and conducting reservoir performance studies.

Operations and Safety Department

This Department is responsible for reviewing and providing recommendations regarding the approval of offshore petroleum exploration, development and production activities; reviewing operators' emergency response plans; monitoring offshore petroleum activities; conducting safety audits and inspections related to procedures, training and equipment; administering and making recommendations regarding the drafting of regulations, their standards and guidelines; monitoring any conditions of approval; co-ordinating with other agencies as required; and providing status reports of offshore petroleum activities.

Environmental Affairs Department

This Department assesses environmental effects; administers and advises on environmental protection regulations and guidelines; establishes and monitors compliance with physical environment and effluent treatment requirements; co-ordinates with other environmental agencies; and reviews operators' environmental emergency contingency plans.

Industrial Benefits Department

This Department provides advice to the Board concerning the administration of the Canada-Newfoundland benefits plan provisions of the legislation, including provisions related to domestic procurement, employment, project management, research and development, education and training, and employment equity.

Legal and Land Department

This Department is responsible for providing legal and land advice and services to the Board. Land matters include the issuance of exploration rights through calls for bids; and the administration of exploration, significant discovery and production licenses.

Administration Department

This Department provides administrative, financial, human resource, and computer services to the Board.

The Executive Committee

The Executive Committee manages the day-to-day activities of the Board. It comprises the Chairman and all of the vice-chairmen.

Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Board

Chapter 22

General Information

Background

The Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Board was established in 1990 as a joint federal-provincial agency pursuant to the federal Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Resources Accord Implementation Act and the provincial Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Resources Accord Implementation (Nova Scotia) Act. These Acts implemented a 1986 agreement between the federal government and Nova Scotia relating to offshore petroleum resources. The Board has offices in Halifax and Dartmouth, Nova Scotia.

Responsibilities

The Board's principal responsibilities include: enhancement of safe working conditions for offshore petroleum activities; protection of the environment during offshore petroleum activities; management of offshore petroleum resources to ensure that operators provide for maximum economic recovery and avoid waste; review of industrial benefits matters relating to petroleum activities offshore Nova Scotia so as to ensure that Canadians, with first consideration given to Nova Scotians, have a full and fair opportunity to participate on a competitive basis in the supply of goods and services to be used in any offshore petroleum activities; issuance, in a controlled and fair manner, of licences required to carry out petroleum exploration and development activities offshore Nova Scotia. The Board also maintains a public registry of licences, curates samples and geological and geophysical information (which is made available to the public following a statutory confidentiality period), and compiles and develops information on petroleum resources within the Nova Scotia Offshore area; collection, maintenance and distribution of offshore petroleum information to the petroleum industry, governments and the public in general.

Legislation

- Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Resources Accord Implementation (Nova Scotia) Act, S.N.S. 1987, c. 3.

- Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Resources Accord Implementation Act, S.C. 1988, c. 28.

Organization

The Board consists of five members who are appointed for fixed terms of office (the Board currently has four Board members with one additional appointment pending). The Government of Canada and the Government of Nova Scotia each appoint two members. The Chairman is appointed by both governments. The Board has appointed a Chief Executive Officer who is responsible for day to day operations of the Board and a staff of thirty-three people.

Offshore Petroleum Resources

This Department is responsible for assessing discovered petroleum resources and evaluating the undiscovered petroleum resource potential of the Nova Scotia offshore area; recommending lands for disposition through calls for bids (including the terms and conditions of calls for bids and licences); administering licences under which oil and gas rights are held and maintaining a public registry of such licences; evaluating the results of geological and geophysical surveys and exploratory and development drilling; determining areas to be designated as significant discoveries or commercial discoveries; archiving geological, geophysical and well history reports; and curating cuttings, cores and fluid samples.

Offshore Operations, Health and Safety

This Department is responsible for providing recommendations regarding the approval of plans, programs and specific activities related to exploration, development or production; monitoring any conditions of approval; conducting audits, inspections and investigations related to procedures, training and equipment; reviewing operator's management system frameworks and safety plans; reviewing operators' emergency response plans; and monitoring and providing status reports on offshore petroleum activities. It is also responsible for conserving oil and gas resources; assessing the productive capacities of wells; monitoring field performance and conducting reservoir performance studies; and administering regulations concerning production schemes, production rate limitations and the acquisition of reservoir data.

Environmental Affairs

This Department assesses the environmental effects of offshore operations as well as risks to offshore operations arising from the physical environment. It administers and advises on environmental protection regulations and guidelines, establishes and monitors compliance with physical environment and effluent treatment requirements, coordinates with other environmental agencies, and reviews operators' environmental emergency contingency plans.

Administration, Industrial Benefits and Legal

This Department provides administrative, financial, human resources and legal services to the Board. The Department is responsible for the Board's external communications, including publications and public relations. The Department also administers statutory requirements concerning employment and industrial benefits plans.

Canadian Air Transport Security Authority (CATSA)

Chapter 23

General Information

Background

The creation of the Canadian Air Transport Security Authority (CATSA) stems from the Government of Canada's commitment to enhance air transportation security in response to the tragic events of September 11, 2001. CATSA came into force on April 1, 2002, upon the passage of the Canadian Air Transport Security Authority Act (Bill C-49). The creation of CATSA was part of a comprehensive $2.2 billion package of air security initiatives contained in the December 2001 budget. CATSA is a Crown corporation based in the National Capital Region. It reports to Parliament through the Minister of Transport.

Responsibilities

The Canadian Air Transport Security Authority (CATSA) is responsible for:

Pre-board screening of passengers and their belongings.

In the screening process, passengers and their carry-on baggage are examined to prevent a passenger from transporting a prohibited item, such as a knife, firearm, incendiary device, or explosive, onto the plane. CATSA is responsible for ensuring that passengers are screened at Canadian airports.

Acquisition, deployment, operation and maintenance of Explosives Detection Systems (EDS).

Through the use of high-tech Explosives Detection Systems (EDS) equipment, CATSA is responsible for screening checked baggage at Canadian airports. This responsibility includes purchasing, installing, operating and maintaining the equipment.

Screening of Non-Passenger in restricted areas.

CATSA implemented a system for the random screening of non-passengers accessing restricted areas at Canadian airports. The screening applies to individuals such as airline personnel, airport employees, refuelers, caterers and maintenance personnel. CATSA's role includes the administration of the program, training of screening personnel and the purchase, deployment, operation and maintenance of all screening equipment.

Implementation of a Restricted Area Identification Card (RAIC).

Together with Transport Canada and Canadian airports, CATSA is implementing an enhanced restricted area identification card for all non-passengers working in a restricted area at the airport. Biometrics and centralized databanks will allow CATSA to track, in real time, the issuance, verification and cancellation of passes.

Implementation of the Canadian Air Carrier Protective Program (CACPP).

CATSA is responsible for working with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) for the implementation of the Canadian Air Carrier Protective Program. CATSA provides funding to the RCMP to place specially-trained police officers onboard Canadian commercial aircrafts. This program covers selected domestic, transborder and international flights, and all flights to Reagan National Airport in Washington, D.C.

Contributions toward airport policing costs.

In the aftermath of 9/11, new measures were implemented at airports to increase police presence. CATSA provides funding, under contribution agreements, to airports that are required by Transport Canada regulations to maintain an enhanced police presence.

Legislation

- Canadian Air Transport Security Authority Act (C-49)

Organization

Office of the President and Chief Executive Officer (CEO)

The President and CEO plays a pivotal role in positioning CATSA strategically, both at the national and the international levels. The President and CEO is also responsible for ensuring that the organization receives all it needs to execute its mandate. By managing the organization's corporate requirements, by establishing priorities, by administering the corporate growth and by liaising with his national and international counterparts and with other security and intelligence agencies, the President and CEO ensures that CATSA's mission and vision are carried out.

Internal Audit

The Internal Audit division is responsible for the oversight frameworks across the organization such as international and external audits, program evaluation and quality reviews. The Internal Audit division reports directly to the President and CEO.

Office of the Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer (COO)

The Executive Vice President and COO is CATSA's representative for the operations and as such is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the organization. He plays an essential role in helping CATSA achieve its mandate by providing the operational requirements of the organization as a whole and by ensuring that the corporate strategy and direction are followed.

Office of the Vice President and Chief Financial Officer (CFO)

The Vice President and CFO is responsible for the following divisions:

Finance

The Finance division is responsible for ensuring the provision of advice, services and support in the areas of financial planning, accounting operations, contracting and procurement and asset management.

Legal and Regulatory Affairs

The Legal and Regulatory Affairs' division is responsible for supporting the organization in providing advice and counsel on legal issues and commercial contracting expertise. It is also responsible for regulatory affairs. This function includes ensuring cost, benefit and risk analysis of regulatory changes and providing advice and interpretations of regulations.

Corporate Services

The Corporate Services division comprises seven groups. The Human Resources group works in partnership with all parts of CATSA to enable them to successfully meet their human resources requirements such as resourcing, payroll and benefits and job evaluation. The Organizational Effectiveness group is responsible for performance management and corporate learning. The Learning group is responsible for CATSA's training centers and training contractors. The Facilities Management group is responsible for all of CATSA's leased facilities. The Information Management and Information Technology group supports the organization in the areas of records management, database administration, infrastructure and help desk and network services. The Information Systems (IS) group plays an essential role in project management and CATSA's business systems and web. And finally, the Corporate Security group ensures information technology, document handling, physical, personnel and contract security.

Office of the Vice President of Operations

The Vice President of Operations is responsible for the following divisions:

Equipment Implementation and Maintenance

The Equipment division is responsible for technical delivery such as equipment procurement and deployment of baggage screening equipment, equipment testing and evaluation, technical writing and technical support and compliance.

Screening Operations

The Screening Operations division is responsible for several programs such as pre-board screening and hold baggage screening. The Operations group plays a pivotal role in monitoring service delivery and security and regulatory compliance and in managing all regional operational issues. This division's responsibilities include performance measurement reporting, negotiation, interpretation and administration of service provider's contracts, provider scheduling and the administration of invoicing for service provider contracts.

Operations Support

The Operations Support division comprises several areas of responsibilities such as the management, planning, implementation and the analysis reporting of the Non-passenger Screening (NPS) program, the development, implementation and review of the standard operating procedures as well as CATSA's operating plan. It is also responsible for pass cards and biometrics – including the Restricted Area Identification Card program (RAIC) – operational requirements, external liaison, internal liaison and operational policy development.

Office of the Vice President of Quality

The Vice President of Quality is responsible for the following divisions:

Quality and Police Programs

The Quality and Police Programs division is responsible for the administration and management of CATSA's role in the Canadian Air Carrier Protective Program (CACPP). This division provides expertise in information and trend analysis and it also ensures airport policing quality management and risk management. It also looks after CATSA's Security Communication Centre for the oversight of screening points and critical security incidents.

Research and Certification

The Research and Certification division is responsible for the coordination and monitoring of the research portfolio. It also serves as a centre of expertise in the disciplines of strategic and tactical research, statistical analysis, and best practices. The Certification group of this division is responsible for certification and accreditation of screening officers and for the analysis of certifications and quality control issues.

Office of the Vice President of Strategy

The Vice President of Strategy is responsible for the following divisions:

Communications

The Communications division is responsible for supporting the organization in terms of media relations, strategic and internal communications, translation, editing and website content. The Communications division also provides expertise with respect to marketing, advertising, public opinion research, the federal identity program and official languages. The Communications division's responsibilities also include media monitoring, the processing of public inquiries and complaints and the production of CATSA's monthly newsletter. In addition, the Communications division is responsible for government and stakeholder relations including Parliamentary and Inter-governmental affairs and the administration of key legislative requirements such as Access to Information and Privacy legislations and privacy impact assessments requirements.

Strategic and Business Planning

The Strategic and Business Planning division is responsible for providing strategic business advice and ensuring international liaison and environmental scanning. This division is also responsible for corporate reporting and policy. It helps ensure compliance to statutory reporting requirements such as the corporate plan and the annual report of the organization. It plays an important role in the area of integrated management practices such as performance measurement and evaluation and the management of CATSA's Business Intelligence system.

Corporate Secretary

The Corporate Secretary's division supports the Board of Directors in board and committee meetings responsibilities and is the focal point for communication with the board of directors and senior management. The Corporate Secretary also assists directors and senior management in tailoring corporate governance principles and practices to fit the board's needs and the expectations of the government. The Corporate Secretary also provides legal advice to the Board of Directors at meetings and liaises with the Legal Services Division on behalf of the Board.

Canadian Artists and Producers Professional Relations Tribunal

Chapter 24

General Information

Background

The Canadian Artists and Producers Professional Relations Tribunal was created pursuant to the Status of the Artist Act which received Royal Assent in June 1992. The provisions of the Act creating the Tribunal were brought into force in June 1993. The first members of the Tribunal were appointed in March 1995 and the Tribunal has been operational since the substantive provisions of the Act were brought into force in May 1995.

One of the most important features of the Status of the Artist Act is that it establishes a framework for the conduct of professional relations between independent professional artists and producers within the federal jurisdiction.

The Act guarantees the right of artists to join associations that can represent their professional interests and gives them a mechanism through which to advance their socio-economic interests by guaranteeing the right to bargain collectively with producers for the purpose of reaching agreement on the minimum terms and conditions under which an artist will provide services to those producers. The Act also permits producers to form associations for the purposes of bargaining and entering into scale agreements.

Responsibilities

The Tribunal is the independent quasi-judicial agency established to administer the framework governing professional relations between self-employed artists and producers under federal jurisdiction that is prescribed by the Status of the Artist Act. The Tribunal's principal responsibilities are to define sectors of cultural activity suitable for collective bargaining between artists' associations and producers within the Tribunal's jurisdiction and to certify artists' associations to represent self-employed artists working in these sectors; and to deal with complaints of unfair labour practices and other matters brought forward by artists, artists' associations and producers and to prescribe appropriate remedies for contraventions of Part II of the Act.

The Tribunal reports to Parliament through the Minister of Labour. However, certain provisions of the Act specify a role for the Minister of Canadian Heritage.

Legislation

- Status of the Artist Act
- Status of the Artist Act Professional Category Regulations
- Canadian Artists and Producers Professional Relations Tribunal Procedural Regulations

Organization

The Tribunal is composed of a Chairperson, a Vice-chairperson and not less than two or more than four other full-time or part-time members. The Chairperson is the Chief Executive Officer of the Tribunal and is responsible for the management of the staff and supervision of the work of the Tribunal.

IPCS INTOX –

Description: This Databank and Poison Centre Software are essential tools for poison centres and related units concerned with preventing, recording, evaluating, diagnosing, treating and reporting on chemical emergencies. Both these database-driven tools allow professionals to: respond rapidly to poisonings by their being able to rapidly retrieve and present essential information about the toxic agents and their effects; record and manage data systematically; plus, respond quickly to emergency inquiries regarding poisons and access information from more than 100 experts and those responding to emergencies concerning toxic exposures. The IPCS INTOX Programme provides a forum for collaboration between experts and those responding to emergencies concerning toxic exposures. Being part of this expanding global network is an important benefit for participants, as they are able to share information via the INTOX global network. The programme has been coordinated by the IPCS in collaboration with the Canadian Centre for Occupational Health and Safety.

Canadian Commercial Corporation

Chapter 26

General Information

Background

The Canadian Commercial Corporation (CCC) is governed by its enacting legislation, the 1946 Canadian Commercial Corporation Act. CCC's broad mandate: "to assist in the development of trade between Canada and other nations and to assist persons in Canada to dispose of goods and commodities that are available for export from Canada".

Responsibilities

CCC is a Crown Corporation mandated to facilitate international trade, particularly in government markets. For Canadian exporters, CCC is a partner who helps open the door to international markets and win export sales. Since 1946, CCC has served thousands of companies in all regions of Canada, helping them to capture over $30 billion in export business in more than 100 countries.

CCC's principal business is to act as a prime contractor, signing contracts with foreign buyers for goods and services from Canadian suppliers. When CCC is involved as prime contractor, the foreign buyer gets a unique and powerful government-backed guarantee of contract performance, while the Canadian exporter gains the confidence and credibility that comes from having the Government of Canada at the table.

In addition to its prime contractor role, CCC facilitates access to commercial sources of pre-shipment financing, and offers a range of procurement, pre-contract, contract advisory and post-contract services on a fee for service basis.

CCC is an integral part of the Government of Canada's trade team offering services which complement the export financing and insurance activities of Export Development Canada as well as the market intelligence and promotional activities of the Department of International Trade and other federal departments and agencies

Legislation

- Canadian Commercial Corporation Act

Organization

The board of directors is comprised of Canadian business executives, public service officials and the President of the Corporation. The President and Chief Executive officer directs the business of the Corporation and exercises further power and duties as assigned by the Board.

Business Development and Operations

This unit handles market opportunities development, business development, preparation of bids and proposals, contract negotiations and contracting administration. It is also responsible for the Progress Payment Program that gives access to pre-shipment financing to small and medium sized enterprises.

Communications and Stakeholder Relations

This unit is responsible for increasing awareness and usage of CCC services among exporters, trade intermediaries, foreign buyers. It focuses on sectoral marketing, communications, media, government relations, events and trade shows.

Corporate Services

The unit oversees the human resources, administration, health and safety, official languages, rewards and recognition, multiculturalism, translation and security requirements of the Corporation. It is also responsible for planning and implementing the IM/IT infrastructure for the Corporation.

Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board

Chapter 27

General Information

Background

In order to better ensure the protection and preservation of significant examples of our cultural, historic and scientific heritage in institutions and public authorities located in Canada, the Government of Canada adopted the Cultural Property Export and Import Act (Act) in 1977.

The Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board (CCPERB) is an independent administrative tribunal established by the Cultural Property Export and Import Act with three main areas of responsibility: hearing appeals of denied export permits; determining fair cash offers to purchase in relation to denied export permits; and certifying cultural property for income tax purposes.

Responsibilities

The Act regulates the export and import of cultural property; provides for grants to assist with the purchase of cultural property under certain circumstances; and provides for special tax incentives to encourage Canadians to donate or sell important cultural objects to designated institutions and public authorities based in Canada.

For the purposes of the Act, cultural property must be movable, that is, capable of being transported from one place to another; and it need not be Canadian in origin. The concept of cultural property incorporates a wide variety of objects ranging from works of art to archaeological artifacts, military objects to archival material, ethnographic material to decorative arts, and scientific to musical instruments.

As part of exercising its responsibilities, CCPERB must first confirm that the cultural property in question is of outstanding significance by reason of its close association with Canadian history or national life, its aesthetic qualities, or its value in the study of the arts or sciences; and is such a degree of national importance that its loss to Canada would significantly diminish the national heritage.

Administrative services to the Review Board are provided through the Department of Canadian Heritage by the Movable Cultural Property Secretariat. All Review Board files are housed with the Secretariat. The personal information they contain pertains to members of the Review Board, applications for grants, loans, cultural property export permits and appeals of refusal of such permits, and applications for the certification of cultural property submitted on behalf of donors or vendors. Applications are filed by number but can be either accessed through a manual cross-index or automated system containing the name of the appellant (in the case of an export appeal) or the donor/vendor (in the case of certification) or recipient institution. Review Board member files are maintained in alphabetical order.

Legislation

- Cultural Property Export and Import Act.
- Cultural Property Export Regulations
- Canadian Cultural Property Export Control List

Organization

Employees of the Movable Cultural Property Directorate, whose offices are located in the National Capital Region, provide secretariat services to the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board.

Appeals

Description: An applicant for a cultural property export permit, whose application is refused, may appeal this decision to the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board. The process of appeal, including the dissemination of the relevant information, is set out in section 26 of the Cultural Property Export and Import Act. The information in this bank includes the original permit application, the advice of the expert examiner and any other experts consulted, and administrative correspondence related to the conduct of the appeal and any requests for a determination of a fair cash offer with respect to the file. In each case, the information contained in an appeal file is shared with all parties in the proceeding.

Class of Individuals: Individuals seeking to export cultural property which is subject to export control, expert examiners and designated permit officers.

Purpose: To facilitate the hearing of appeals of refused export permit applications by the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board and allow the Review Board to make a determination of a fair cash offer where requested.

Consistent Uses: Information contained in this bank is used to inform Review Board Members of the objects under consideration and to advise institutions and public authorities in Canada of the availability of objects for which the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board has established a delay period. The information is also used to identify trends and patterns associated with the operations of the Review Board.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Files are kept for ten years and are then transferred to the National Archives of Canada

Certification

Description: The purpose of this bank is to enable the Review Board to make determinations concerning the certification of cultural property for income tax purposes, and to issue cultural property income tax certificates. The application files contain information concerning the fair market value of objects being disposed of to designated institutions by individual donors or vendors. Material held in the bank includes the application, appraisals, declaration of authenticity, information on provenance, significance of the object, deeds of gift or purchase agreements and, in the case of a sale, the purchase price. Copies of any advice from experts consulted and a copy of the tax certificate are also included.

Class of Individuals: Individuals or corporations who donate or sell cultural property to designated Canadian cultural institutions, museums, archives, libraries, and universities.

Purpose: Certification of cultural property for income tax purposes and the issuance of cultural property income tax certificates.

Consistent Uses: Information contained in this bank is used to support the determination of fair market value for the purposes of issuing income tax certificates. The information is also used to identify trends and patterns associated with the operations of the Review Board.

Certification - Appeals Before the Tax Court

Description: In accordance with section 33.1 of the Cultural Property Export and Import Act, redeterminations of fair market value made by the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board may be appealed to the Tax Court of Canada. Any person who has irrevocably disposed of an object, the fair market value of which has been redetermined under subsection 32(5), to a designated institution or public authority may, within ninety days after the day on which a Cultural Property Income Tax Certificate is issued in relation to that object, appeal the redetermination to the Tax Court of Canada. Material held in the bank includes the Notice to Appeal filed with the Tax Court, correspondence with legal counsel, reports prepared by expert witnesses, court documents, copies of the original tax certificate, correspondence, and application for certification of cultural property for income tax purposes.

Note: Some of these records may be protected by solicitor client privilege.

Classes of Individuals: Individuals who donate or sell cultural property to designated institutions.

Purpose: The Tax Court of Canada may confirm or vary the fair market value and, for the purposes of the Income Tax Act, the value fixed by the Court is deemed to be the fair market value of the object determined by the Review Board in respect of its disposition.

Consistent Uses: Information in this bank is used to support the appeal process associated with the contestation of a redetermination made by the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board. Information is also used to identify trends and patterns associated with the operations of the Review Board.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Files are retained for ten years and are then transferred to the National Archives of Canada.

Canadian Dairy Commission

Chapter 28

General Information

Background

The Canadian Dairy Commission, a Crown Corporation established by the Canadian Dairy Commission Act in October 1966, is accountable to Parliament through the Minister of Agriculture and Agri-Food. A chairman and chief executive officer, a vice-chairman and a commissioner are appointed by Governor in Council to head the corporation. Funded by the federal government, producers and the marketplace, the Commission strives to balance and serve the interests of all dairy stakeholders – producers, processors, further processors, exporters, consumers and governments.

Responsibilities

The legislated objectives of the Commission are to provide efficient producers of milk and cream with the opportunity of obtaining a fair return for their labour and investment, and to provide consumers with a continuous and adequate supply of dairy products of high quality.

The Commission has the authority to purchase, store, process or sell dairy products; to investigate matters relating to the production, processing or marketing of any dairy product; and to help promote the use of dairy products.

In meeting its legislated objectives, the Commission carries out a wide range of activities. It establishes support prices at which it will purchase butter and skim milk powder. These prices are used as a reference at the provincial level in pricing milk components sold to processors. It also works with the private sector to balance the seasonal demand and supply of industrial milk products for the domestic market through the operation of storage programs and facilitates the export of dairy products to world markets within Canada's World Trade Organization (WTO) commitments. Additionally, the Commission acts as first receiver of butter imports to fulfill Canada's international trade obligations and administers a permit system which provides further processors and exporters with access to competitively-priced milk components for use in the manufacturing of dairy products and products containing dairy ingredients.

The supply of industrial milk is managed nationally through the establishment of Market Sharing Quotas (MSQ) as determined by provisions of the National Milk Marketing Plan. The Commission, in chairing the Canadian Milk Supply Management Committee (CMSMC), calculates and recommends the level of national MSQ and provincial market shares that are determined by the CMSMC. On behalf of Canadian dairy producers, the Commission administers and acts as a Secretariat to the revenue pooling and market sharing systems.

CDC's Access to Information and Privacy requests and their administration are handled by Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada.

Legislation

- Canadian Dairy Commission Act
- Dairy Products Marketing Regulations

Organization

The Chairman and CEO heads the CDC, with help from the Vice-Chairman and the Commissioner. They are assisted by three Senior Directors, each heading the following sections:

Audit

The Audit Section is in charge of internal and external audits. External audits are mostly carried with further processors who participate in the Special Milk Class Permit Program.

Finance and Operations

This section is responsible for the commercial operations of the CDC, as well as for the administration of the Special Milk Class Permit Program, the Dairy Ingredient Marketing Program, and the financial and electronic systems of the Commission.

Policy and Corporate Affairs

This section is responsible for economic and policy analysis, strategic planning, program evaluation, human resources and communications.

Canadian Environmental Assessment Agency

Chapter 29

General Information

Background

The Canadian Environmental Assessment Agency (the Agency) was created on December 21, 1994 to administer the federal environmental assessment process under the Canadian Environmental Assessment Act. The Agency reports directly to the Minister of the Environment. The Agency is a federal department dedicated to administering and promoting environmental assessment policies and practices of the federal government. Its mission is to provide Canadians with high quality federal environmental assessments that contribute to informed decision making in support of sustainable development.

Responsibilities

The Agency's main responsibilities are: to administer the federal environmental assessment process; to provide advice to the Minister of the Environment on his responsibilities under the Act; to provide opportunities for public participation in the federal environmental assessment process and to promote sound environmental assessment practices.

Legislation

- The Canadian Environmental Assessment Act is complemented by the following regulations:
- the Law List;
- the Comprehensive Study List;
- the Inclusion List;
- the Exclusion List;
- the Federal Authorities Regulations;
- the Projects Outside Canada Environmental Assessment Regulations;
- the Regulations Respecting Co-ordination by Federal Authorities of Environmental Assessment Procedures and Requirements Regulations; and the Canada Port Authority Environment Assessment Regulations.

Organization

The Agency is divided into three main sectors: Program Delivery, Policy Development and Corporate Services. The Agency's Legal Services reports directly to the President, who heads the Agency.

Legal Services

Legal Services provides professional advice to the Agency and other federal departments regarding the design and implementation of the Act and the environmental assessment regulatory framework.

Program Delivery Sector

Project Assessment

Project Assessment administers the federal environmental assessment process for projects which require assessment by a review panel or a mediator; manages the Agency's responsibilities, including the public review process, for comprehensive studies and class screenings; enhances public participation through the Participant Funding program; and advocates timely, efficient and high-quality environmental assessments of projects.

Regional Liaison and Guidance

Regional Liaison and Guidance provides the Agency's clients across the country with services to enhance the quality of environmental assessment to promote compliance with the Act and its regulations. These include training on the Act and advice on good environmental assessment practices.

The six regional offices across Canada are responsible for the coordination of federal authorities in the conduct of comprehensive studies and of federal environmental assessments involving other jurisdictions. They also provide expert advice, training and information on environmental assessment activities and practices to other federal departments and agencies, the provinces and territories, First Nations, industry, universities, environmental groups and other stakeholders.

Regional Liaison and Guidance supports the President of the Agency as the federal Administrator of the environmental and social protection regimes set out in chapters 22 and 23 of the 1975 James Bay and Northern Quebec Agreement (JBNQA) and assists (remove. It also provides guidance to) partners and stakeholders in the conduct of environmental assessments under the JBNQA.

Policy Development Sector

Legislative and Regulatory Affairs

Legislative and Regulatory Affairs provides a legislative and regulatory framework for integrating environmental assessment into federal decision making; monitors and promotes compliance within that framework; and explores alternatives to regulations.

It is responsible for the design and implementation of the government-wide Quality Assurance Program related to environmental assessment and the design and implementation of the government-wide electronic registry of project environmental assessment information (the Canadian Environmental Assessment Registry Information System).

It provides support to the Regulatory Advisory Committee and the Senior Management Committee on Environmental Assessment.

Policy Analysis

Policy Analysis develops the policy framework for environmental assessment in Canada and represents Canada in international negotiations related to environmental assessment. It facilitates an effective and efficient environmental assessment process through the negotiation of bilateral agreements for environmental assessment cooperation with provinces and other jurisdictions. It provides guidance to departments in their compliance with the Cabinet Directive on the Environmental Assessment of Policy, Plan and Program Proposals. As well, it provides advice on Aboriginal environmental assessment matters to the Agency and other clients in order to shape the federal approach to integrating environmental assessment requirements into comprehensive land-claim agreements, self-government agreements and federal devolution initiatives.

To support the development of the policy framework for environmental assessment, Policy Analysis is also responsible for a number of development and guidance activities. It manages the Agency's research and development program that funds new research to advance the practice of environmental assessment. It develops guidance on the integration of traditional ecological knowledge into environmental assessment. As well, Policy Analysis serves as Secretariat to the Environmental Assessment Administrators Group. Policy Analysis is also responsible for the development and coordination of the Agency's Sustainable Development Strategy.

Corporate Services Sector

Communications

Communications provides communications advice, planning, production and related services in support of the Agency's strategic objectives. It promotes environmental assessment to the public. Communications manages the Agency's site and a communications program which facilitates informed public participation in the federal environmental assessment process. The Agency's web site can be accessed at www.ceaa-acee.gc.ca. Communications also manages the parliamentary relations, ministerial services, ministerial correspondence, and Access to Information Act and Privacy Act activities.

Finance and Administration

Finance and Administration is responsible for managing financial resources by providing services such as financial planning, analysis and reporting, procurement and contracting, accounting, cost recovery and financial systems support and training. Finance and Administration supports the Agency's delivery of programs and services by providing advice and services such as corporate planning and reporting, performance measurement and policy development.

Human Resources

The Human Resources Group provides direction, services and strategic advice related to the human resource aspects of the Agency's programs, activities and initiatives. Services are provided in the areas of staffing, classification, organizational design, staff relations, career development and learning, strategic planning, occupational health and safety, pride recognition and workplace well-being, employment equity and official languages.

Classes of Personal Information

General Correspondence

Correspondence received from external organizations and individuals in the format of requests for information, complaints, comments and suggestions related to a broad range of issues pertaining to the Agency.

The personal information contained in this class normally includes the name and address of the enquirer. However, this information is fragmented throughout the subject files and is normally retrievable only if the name, subject and the date of correspondence is provided.

Information pertaining to environmental assessments may be disclosed to foreign, provincial or municipal governments as well as other interested parties unless the individual expressly requests confidentiality.

The retention periods of these classes of personal information depend on the record disposal schedules of the general subject files in which they are stored.

Mailing Lists

This class contains correspondence and mailing lists, which may contain personal information in the form of an individual's name, mailing address at home or business.

The purpose of this class is to maintain standard lists for the mailing of publications, reports, press releases and other documentation on the Agency's activities and programs.

Records on the automated system are updated as required to take changes into account.

Ministerial Correspondence

This class of information contains correspondence addressed to the Minister and received by the Agency's correspondence unit from external organizations and individuals in the form of requests for information, complaints, opinions and other similar submissions related to a broad range of issues pertaining to the Agency's activities, wherein some unsolicited personal information has been provided by the correspondents. This type of information would be retrievable only if specifics of name, date of communication and subject are provided.

Information pertaining to environmental assessments may be disclosed to foreign, provincial or municipal governments as well as other interested parties unless the individual expressly requests confidentiality.

The retention period for these classes of information depends on the record schedules of the subject files in which the information is stored.

Canadian Food Inspection Agency

Chapter 30

General Information

Background

The Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) was created in 1997 to consolidate the delivery of all federally mandated food inspection, plant protection and animal health programs - delivery that was previously provided by four federal government departments: Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada, Fisheries and Oceans Canada, Health Canada and Industry Canada.

Responsibilities

The Canadian Food Inspection Agency, reporting to the Minister of Agriculture and Agri-Food, delivers all federal inspection services related to: food; animal health; and plant protection.

This includes responsibility for the administration and enforcement of 13 Acts and 39 sets of regulations.

Health Canada and the CFIA share unique and complementary roles and responsibilities, specifically in the area of food safety. Health Canada is responsible for food safety policies, standards and regulations, while the CFIA is responsible for all food inspection and compliance activities, as well as the development of regulations and policies related to food labelling and compositional standards.

Legislation

- Agriculture and Agri-Food Administrative Monetary Penalties Act
- Canada Agricultural Products Act
- Canadian Food Inspection Agency Act
- Consumer Packaging and Labelling Act (as it relates to food)
- Feeds Act
- Fertilizers Act
- Fish Inspection Act
- Food and Drugs Act, Sections 2 and 27 (as it relates to food)
- Health of Animals Act
- Meat Inspection Act

- Plant Breeders' Rights Act
- Plant Protection Act
- Seeds Act

Organization

Canadian Food Inspection Agency

The Agency Executive consists of the President, an Executive Vice-President, a Vice-President Operations, a Vice-President Programs, a Vice-President Public Affairs, a Vice-President Human Resources, a Vice-President Science, a Vice-President Corporate Services, an Executive Director International Affairs, an Executive Director Corporate Planning, Reporting & Accountability, a Head, Legal Services and an Executive Assistant to the President.

Description: Information on the development of and compliance with standards and labels to ensure quality, nutritional value and safety of agri-food products.

Topics: The information is available on CFIA web site.

Access: Various

Format: Machine-readable, computer available and/or hard copy available.

Program Record Number: CFIA LAB 085

Program Records – Science

Analytical Methodology Development

Description: Information on analytical methodologies to support and enhance the quality of scientific analysis provided by the division.

Topics: Methodology research proposals; assessment studies; methods validation; establishment and dissemination of methodology; program review; analytical literature surveys; research reports; publications; investigational sampling requests, and results.

Access: Various

Format: Machine-readable, computer available and/or hard copy available.

Program Record Number: CFIA AMD 070

Biological Programs

Description: Information on the identification of pests and on analysis of pest risk.

Topics: Lists of intercepted pests; insects and plant diseases; surveys; pest identification; and analysis of pest risk.

Access: Various

Format: Machine-readable, computer available and/or hard copy available.

Program Record Number: CFIA BIO 170

Pathology Services

Description: Diagnostic service and research activities related to animal diseases, consultation and licensing for use of biologics, veterinary and pest control products.

Personal Information Banks

Accreditation of Private Seed Testing Laboratories

Description: This bank contains technical information on organization, management, testing equipment, sample throughput and the performance rating of the laboratory in performance monitoring programs.

Class of Individuals: Seed laboratory proprietors, accredited seed analysts.

Purpose: The purpose of this bank is to maintain records of the businesses and individuals who have been accredited to test and grade seed along with the technical data on the bases for the accreditation, and subsequent performance of the quality of the seed testing carried out by the laboratory.

Consistent Uses: To assess, on the basis of performance and maintenance of the facilities and staff, if the accreditation should be continued or withdrawn.

Retention and Disposal Standards: These files are retained for 10 years. The files are then transferred to National Archives for selective retention.

RDA Number: 2003/015

Related PR#: CFIA 105

TBS Registration: 003139

Agricultural Biotechnology

Description: This bank contains correspondence related to agricultural biotechnology, including correspondence on submissions for environmental safety assessments of plants with novel traits (PNTs), novel feeds derived from PNTs, and other areas of agricultural biotechnology. Personal information in this data bank includes correspondents' names, addresses (if sent in by post), email addresses (if sent in by email), correspondence, and agency responses to that correspondence.

Class of Individuals: Individuals from the general public, academia, non-government organizations (NGOs), and industry who write to the agency on issues related to agricultural biotechnology.

Purpose: The information is used to respond to correspondence and to provide information, including decision documents for PNTs, to individuals who have given comments or made general inquiries about agricultural biotechnology. Relevant scientific comments may be used in safety assessments of PNTs. The names and addresses of the individuals may be provided to the organization conducting the safety assessment with the consent of the individuals.

Consistent Uses: Comments and personal information may be shared with other federal government regulators doing safety assessments, such as Health Canada, for the same purposes: to allow for comments on assessments and other aspects of regulating agricultural biotechnology, and to respond to correspondents.

Retention and Disclosure Standards: The personal information and comments received are entered in an electronic database, which will be retained indefinitely. The intent is for hard copies to be retained for five years and, once the RDA is approved, they will be destroyed after the retention period has expired.

Canadian Forces Grievance Board

Chapter 31

General Information

Background

The Canadian Forces Grievance Board (CFGB) was established on March 1, 2000 as a result of legislation that contained comprehensive amendments to modernize the National Defence Act (NDA). These amendments are designed to help renew the Canadian Forces. One of the reforms was aimed at creating an independent review of grievances through the establishment of the Canadian Forces Grievance Board. The establishment of the Board is defined in section 29.16 of the NDA. Chapter 7.12 of the Queen's Regulations and Orders applicable to the Canadian Forces that govern the types of grievances referred to the CFGB came into effect on June 15, 2000.

Responsibilities

The Canadian Forces Grievance Board is an external and independent administrative tribunal with powers of a quasi-judicial nature, established by the National Defence Act (NDA), that is mandated to investigate and review grievances referred to it by the Chief of the Defence Staff (CDS) and to provide findings and recommendations to the CDS regarding grievances so referred. The Canadian Forces Grievance Board has the power to summon witnesses, to compel the production of evidence when the Board considers it necessary and to determine and modify its own rules of procedure. Although the Board's findings and recommendations are not binding, the CDS must provide reasons in writing to the Board and the grievor if he does not accept them. The Board reports annually to Parliament through the Minister of Defence.

Legislation

- Canadian Forces Grievance Board Rules of Procedure
- National Defence Act
- Queen's Regulations and Orders applicable to the Canadian Forces

Organization

The Board is responsible for the review of certain types of grievances referred to the Board by the Chief of the Defence Staff.

Board Membership

The Board is made up of a chairperson, a full-time vice-chairperson, a part-time vice-chairperson and part-time members, all appointed by the Governor in Council. The Chairperson is a full time member, is the Chief Executive Officer of the Board and has supervision over and direction of its work and staff. The senior staff consists of an Executive Director, a Director, Grievance Analysis and Operations, and a Director, Legal Services and General Counsel.

Organizational Structure

Director, Grievance Analysis and Operations

The Director, Grievance Analysis and Operations is responsible for researching and investigating the information that the Board needs to make findings and recommendations on grievance cases.

Executive Director

The Board's Executive Director is responsible for providing strategic leadership, as well as developing and implementing the Board's management framework, its strategic priorities, its business plan, reviewing its progress, and negotiating on behalf of the Board with central agencies.

Director, Legal Services and General Counsel

The Director, Legal Services and General Counsel is accountable for directing the provision of legal advice, interpretation and legal opinions to the Canadian Forces Grievance Board, legal representation at Board hearings, and representation of the Board before the Federal Court of Canada.

Canadian Grain Commission

Chapter 32

General Information

Background

The Canadian Grain Commission (CGC) is a federal agency reporting to the Canadian Parliament through the Minister of Agriculture and Agri-Food. The CGC: Regulates grain handling in Canada; Establishes and maintains standards of quality for Canadian grains.

The CGC's vision statement is as follows: Excellence in grain quality assurance; We will maintain unbiased third-party objectivity; We will do what is good for the entire grain industry; The quality of grains, oilseeds and pulses is the focal point of our expertise; Quality is anything that enhances the value of Canadian grain; We are a business-like government organization; We will ask "Does it make sense?"; We will work to our strengths; We will focus on clients needs.

Its mission is: To be a leader in providing grain quality management and quantity assurance, dedicated to excellent and responsive service supporting producers, all sectors of the grain industry and their customers.

Responsibilities

The CGC delivers a grain quality and quantity assurance program that results in consistent and reliable shipments of grain that meet contract specifications for quality, safety and quantity. Quality is Canada's competitive edge in the world market. Quality and quantity assurance services include:

Inspecting grain to certify quality, including all grain received at and shipped from terminals, all grain exported from transfer elevators, and submitted samples of grain from producers and the grain trade

Certifying weights for grain exports, supervising weighing at terminals, conducting audits of terminal and transfer elevator stocks and inspecting terminal and transfer elevator scales

Identifying and explaining the relationships between the physical and biochemical properties of grain and the end-use value of grain

Developing fast, accurate, economical, and meaningful methods for evaluating grain quality

Supporting the sale and market development of grains and oilseeds by giving technical advice on grain and oilseed quality and end uses, and by evaluating the quality of plant breeders' cultivars to ensure that they have the physical and quality criteria needed for registration

- Screening, monitoring and certifying grain shipments to ensure that Canadian grain is not only safe but meets strict international tolerances for toxic contaminants
- Providing information to marketers and processors of Canadian grain on the quality of commercial grain shipments and of each harvest
- Investigating and resolving complaints and inquiries related to the quality and quantity of Canadian grain
- Providing other specialized services requested by the grain industry
- The CGC also regulates the grain industry to ensure the fair treatment of producers and the integrity of grain transactions and to maintain grain quality as grain is moved through marketing channels. Regulation includes:
 - Licensing eligible grain dealers and elevator companies
 - Conducting audits of licensees' liabilities to producers
 - Monitoring the financial position of licensees and obtaining security to protect producers in case of a default by a licensee
 - Developing and setting grain quality standards
 - Inspecting grains and grain handling facilities to ensure freedom from insect infestations
 - Collecting and publishing statistics on grain handling, storage, and movement
 - Administering producer cars
 - Mediating and resolving producer complaints concerning grain transactions
- The CGC provides other services of value to the grain industry in Canada and abroad, such as:
 - Operating the Grain Inventory Accounting System and facilitating information flow on behalf of the grain trade
 - Providing grain quality data

- Offering general and custom-designed grain industry training courses
- Conducting contract work, for example, repairing moisture meters and doing chemical analyses of grain

The CGC provides services to CGC staff, such as: Administration; Communications; Finance; Information technology; Policy development; Library; Health and safety.

Legislation

- Canada Grain Act

Organization

Canadian Grain Commission

The CGC is organized into the Executive, Corporate Services, Grain Research Laboratory (GRL), Industry Services, and Finance. Its head office is located in Winnipeg, Manitoba. Industry Services comprises five regions: Bayport, Eastern, Pacific, Prairie and Thunder Bay. The CGC employs approximately 700 employees.

The Executive consists of three commissioners, appointed by government, who set policy and provide leadership, and the chief operating officer who oversees operations. Assistant commissioners, also appointed by government, work closely with producers and other industry members in rural development. Assistant commissioners inform producers and the industry about the CGC's role and responsibilities and act as mediators.

The chair of the Grain Appeal Tribunal reports directly to the chief commissioner. The Tribunal is an independent committee appointed by the CGC. It examines appeals by those dissatisfied with the grade assigned on an official sample and makes a final decision.

Canadian Heritage

Chapter 33

General information

Background

The Department of Canadian Heritage was created on June 25, 1993, through the reorganization of the federal government. The Act to establish the Department of Canadian Heritage and to amend or repeal certain other acts was proclaimed on June 12, 1996. The Department's mission is to contribute to a more cohesive and creative Canada. We honour this commitment to Canadians by promoting the creation, dissemination and preservation of diverse Canadian cultural works, stories and symbols reflective of our past and expressive of our values and aspirations. To enhance the quality of our lives, Canadian Heritage fosters access to and participation in Canada's cultural life. The Department strengthens connections among Canadians and deepens understanding across diverse communities to ensure that all Canadians can participate in civic life. In Canada, we have developed a distinctive model of shared citizenship based on diversity, mutual accommodation, respect and responsibility; that is why Canadian Heritage promotes citizen's rights and responsibilities and fosters opportunities for all to participate in Canada's civic life.

Responsibilities

The Department of Canadian Heritage is responsible for policies and programs relating to arts, culture, heritage, broadcasting, Canadian identity, multiculturalism, official languages and sport, as well as broad policies relating to heritage.

Areas of responsibility include: developing Canadian cultural affairs and broadcasting policy; assisting cultural industries and arts and heritage organizations; encouraging the creation, production, distribution and consumption of cultural and heritage goods and services; creating opportunities for young Canadians to participate in exchange programs and promoting exchanges and related activities; fostering Canadians' collective sense of self and promoting the civic participation of all members of Canadian society; supporting community partnerships; promoting a greater understanding of human rights; enhancing the participation of urban and off-reserve aboriginal organizations in Canadian society; managing programs and initiatives related to the multicultural character of Canadian society; encouraging and developing amateur sport; advancing the equality of status and use of the official languages and supporting the development of official-language minority communities.

Legislation

The following statutes are administered, in whole or in part, by the portfolio of Canadian Heritage:

- An Act to Incorporate the Jules et Paul-Emile Léger Foundation

Organization

Deputy Minister's Office

Corporate Secretariat

This group supports the Minister's office and the offices of the Ministers of State, the Deputy Minister, and the Associate Deputy Minister, through the coordination and provision of a wide range of advisory and operational services. The Corporate Secretariat includes the Access to Information and Privacy Secretariat, Parliamentary and Regulatory Affairs, the Executive Services Secretariat, and Planning and Resources Management.

Human Resources and Workplace Management

Reporting to the Deputy Minister, the Human Resources and Workplace Management provides services and advice to the Management Committee and to managers of the Department on all matters involving human resources management, protection and safety services and facilities management services. Thus, the Branch ensures human resources services in the National Capital Region and in Regional Offices.

Legal Counsel

Reporting to the Deputy Minister, the Legal services are provided by lawyers from the Department of Justice who offer program managers a wide range of services, including preparing opinions on the laws administered by the Department, drafting regulatory texts and giving advice on policies being developed.

Office of the Ombudsman and Senior Integrity Officer

The Ombudsman is an impartial party who offers support and conflict resolution services to all Department staff, regardless of the employee's level or job category. The Office's mandate is to build trust and promote an environment within the Department that encourages employees to address their concerns, and be a communications channel and a vehicle to assist the organization in working towards change. The Office, which is a distinct entity reporting directly to the Deputy Minister, operates according to three guiding principles: neutrality, confidentiality and informality.

The Ombudsman is also the Senior Integrity Officer. As such, he/she helps employees express their concerns about wrongdoing, pursuant to the Policy on the Internal Disclosure of Information Concerning Wrongdoing in the Workplace.

Portfolio Affairs Office

The Portfolio Affairs Office (PAO) provides a strategic focus to the Department's interactions with members of the Portfolio by coordinating and integrating issues related to the policy, resources planning, reporting, marketing, communications and governance practices of the 19 boards, agencies and Crown corporations for which the Minister of Canadian Heritage is responsible. PAO manages Ministerial and Deputy Ministerial meetings with the Heads and Chairs of Portfolio organizations oversees the process of Governor in Council and Ministerial appointments and monitors the status of the current appointees of these organizations.

Strategic Policy and Research Branch

The Strategic Policy and Research Branch coordinates and informs the strategic policy decisions of Canadian heritage, provides the Minister and the Department with intelligence on a wide range of social and economic policies discussed at Cabinet, and provides corporate leadership on the policy and research agendas of the Department. The Strategic Policy and Cabinet Affairs unit contributes to the policy development process by developing the Department's horizontal policy agenda, monitoring and shaping ministerial priorities and assisting with the Department's internalization of the Government's policy agenda. It briefs the Minister and Ministers of State on all policies presented to Cabinet, and assists sectors in the development of Departmental policies for submissions to Cabinet.

The Strategic Research and Analysis Unit conducts research on issues relating to the Department's objectives, provides advice to other sectors and communicates research findings.

Citizenship and Heritage Sector

The Citizenship and Heritage Sector integrates programs and policies that strengthen the foundations of our society - inclusion, linguistic duality, respect for diversity, recognition of Aboriginal societies and the rights and responsibilities of citizenship. The activities of the sector foster strong communities and reinforce shared citizenship and a sense of belonging to Canada. The Citizenship and Heritage sector has policies and programs in five key areas - Official Languages, Multiculturalism and Human Rights, Aboriginal Affairs, Heritage, Citizenship Participation and Promotion. In addition, the sector supports one administrative tribunal, the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board, and two special operating agencies, the Canadian Heritage Information Network and the Canadian Conservation Institute.

Aboriginal Affairs Branch

The Aboriginal Affairs Branch assumes responsibility for the activities of its Aboriginal Programs Directorate and its Policy and Research Directorate. The branch works with Aboriginal people, primarily off-reserve, to celebrate and strengthen their cultural distinctiveness as an integral part of Canadian diversity. The Department of Canadian Heritage is committed to improving the quality of life of Aboriginal people, and increasing their full participation in, and contribution to, Canada's civic and cultural life. The Aboriginal Affairs Branch operates with this departmental perspective in mind.

Aboriginal Programs Directorate

Our Programs support Aboriginal infrastructure at the national, regional and community levels for Inuit, Métis, Non-Status Indian and First Nations living primarily off-reserve. They enable Aboriginal people to address the social, cultural and economic issues affecting their lives in Canadian society. The Aboriginal Programs Directorate works to help realize Canadian Heritage's strategic objectives by strengthening Aboriginal cultural identity and languages and by facilitating the inclusion of Aboriginal people in a manner that recognizes their cultures and fosters their contribution to Canada. These programs and initiatives, some of which have been operating for almost 30 years, provide a representative voice and promote culture. They also connect communities, and support community services in urban and rural settings in order to improve the quality of life of Aboriginal people. Funding for programs and initiatives is provided through the Aboriginal Friendship Centres Program, the Northern Native Broadcast Access Program, the Aboriginal Representative Organization Program, the Aboriginal Women's Program, the Urban Multipurpose Aboriginal Youth Centres Initiative, the Post-Secondary Scholarship Program, the Young Canada Works for Aboriginal Urban Youth, and the Aboriginal Languages Initiative. The Aboriginal Programs Directorate also administers three Aboriginal languages agreements with the Northwest Territories, the Yukon, and Nunavut.

Policy and Research Directorate

The Policy and Research Directorate provides policy and issue analysis and advice to the Minister of Canadian Heritage on matters relating to the lives of Aboriginal people in Canada. The Directorate focuses on Aboriginal cultures, languages and identity, and the unique place of Aboriginal societies within the broader Canadian society. The Directorate is responsible for Aboriginal policy development, policy and treaty negotiation coordination, research and international and indigenous relations. The Directorate is working closely with the Ministerial Task Force on Aboriginal Languages and Cultures and is overseeing the review of associated federal programming in support of the creation of the Aboriginal Languages and Cultures Centres.

Citizenship Participation and Promotion Branch

The Citizenship Participation and Promotion Branch fosters citizen participation and engagement by connecting Canadians to one another, both within and across communities. The Branch achieves these objectives through a number of initiatives.

The Canadian Studies program enables young Canadians to learn more about Canada, its history, and its institutions. The Exchanges Canada program offers opportunities for youth to connect with young Canadians from diverse communities and to experience our common institutions first-hand. Finally, the Katimavik program and the Young Canada Works initiative enable youth to participate fully in Canada's institutions and communities through work experiences and volunteer opportunities.

Volunteerism Initiatives: One of the concrete ways Canadians connect with each other and contribute to their communities is through volunteering. The Canada Volunteerism Initiative (CVI) works to enhance the experience of volunteering by helping organizations effectively recruit, engage and retain volunteers. The best way to do this is to create connections between organizations, so they can share best practices and learn from each other. To facilitate this exchange, CVI has facilitated the creation of local networks that ensure the program activities are responsive to community needs.

CVI also focuses on increasing the awareness of the contributions volunteers make to our quality of life, through formal promotional activities such as the annual National Volunteer Week, and through the dissemination of knowledge and information about volunteering in Canada.

Youth Engagement Initiatives: Youth engagement initiatives help to prepare youth for a lifetime of civic engagement and shared citizenship. These initiatives follow a logical progression from building awareness and knowledge of the country, to creating connections between citizens, and leading to full participation in Canada's institutions and society.

Multiculturalism and Human Rights Branch

The Multiculturalism and Human Rights Branch groups policy and program activities related to multiculturalism and human rights. The Branch supports the Government's agenda for promoting Canadian identity, and for the inclusion and valuing of all citizens in the social fabric of the country.

Human Rights Program

The Human Rights Program promotes the development, understanding, respect for and enjoyment of human rights in Canada; and coordinates consultations on the domestic implementation of international human rights instruments.

The program promotes knowledge of human rights through various education and promotion activities, and coordinates the preparation of Canada's reports on the implementation of United Nations and other international human rights instruments. The activities of the Program include the provision of both financial and technical support to non-governmental organizations concerned with human rights education, development and research, and assisting and coordinating federal/provincial/territorial consultations on human rights in Canada. The Program distributes selected human rights publications upon request. The Program also funds the Court Challenges Program of Canada for test cases of national significance on official languages and equality rights guaranteed under Canada's Constitution (administered at arms-length from the Government).

Multiculturalism Program

Canada's cohesion is built on diversity. The Multiculturalism Program of the Department of Canadian Heritage is one important means by which the government pursues the identity, social justice and civic participation goals of Canada's Multiculturalism Policy. Celebrating over 30 years of accomplishments, the Multiculturalism Policy encourages Canadians to embrace, accept, and respect one another without regard to race, religion, origin or ethnicity. The Canadian Multiculturalism Act of 1988 reaffirmed multiculturalism as a fundamental characteristic of Canadian society. The Program has further evolved to encompass, within its policy goals, four areas of focus: fostering cross-cultural understanding; combating racism and discrimination; promoting shared citizenship; and ensuring that institutions reflect our diversity.

The Multiculturalism Program implements Canada's Multiculturalism Policy through the following types of initiatives:

Community action - initiatives that support communities to identify what prevents their members from participating in society, and/or draw on the communities' strengths to develop solutions.

Institutional development - initiatives that help public institutions become more open, accessible, inclusive and responsive to diverse communities.

Policy development and implementation - analysing and developing policy options to further the implementation of the Canadian Multiculturalism Act and advance the values and principles of multiculturalism in Canada.

Public education - initiatives that seek to improve public understanding of multiculturalism and racism and contribute to informed public dialogue and take action on issues related to ethnic and racial diversity in Canada.

Research projects that engage in the systematic investigation and study of data and information to acquire, generate and disseminate knowledge, and increase understanding of issues related to multiculturalism, and cultivate ethnic, religious and racial diversity in Canada.

Official Languages Support Programs Branch

The Official Languages Support Programs Branch has the mandate to enhance the vitality of the English and French linguistic minority communities in Canada and support and assist their development, as well as to foster the full recognition and use of both English and French in Canadian society, as set out in section 41 of the Official Languages Act, through the two programs identified below. In addition, in accordance with section 42, it coordinates the Government of Canada commitment by encouraging federal departments and agencies to participate actively in community development and promote linguistic duality.

Community Life component

This component is intended to create, improve and deliver activities and services to minority communities to ensure their long-term development. The component emphasizes the need to enable the various development partners, whether they are organizations in the communities themselves, provincial and territorial governments, or federal departments and agencies, to organize their actions so as to obtain long-term impacts. In this regard, it helps support various community activities (representation, awareness, networking, etc.) and equip these communities with certain infrastructures required to establish living spaces in their language, such as community centres, community radio and theatres. This component supports community and cultural activities offered by community organizations, and the development of services from provincial and territorial governments in certain priority areas. It also seeks to encourage partnerships between communities and federal departments and agencies in areas relating to community life.

Development of Official-Language Communities

The purpose of this program is to help members of English and French linguistic minority communities to improve their ability to live in their own language in their communities, participate in Canadian society and ensure their long-term development, as well as to have access to education in their language in their communities and to programs and services in their language offered by various governments, institutions or administrations. The following two components of the program contribute to these objectives.

Enhancement of Official Languages

The purpose of this program is to increase the proportion of Canadians who: have a working knowledge of both official languages, have a better understanding of and appreciation for the benefits of linguistic duality, and accept official-language minority rights and foster their participation in Canadian society. The following two components of this program contribute to these objectives.

Minority-Language Education component

This component seeks to help provinces and territories provide programs and activities relating to education in the language of the minority communities and increase the proportion of Canadians who use these programs. The component also seeks to increase and disseminate knowledge, methods and innovative tools that can support minority official-language education. In this regard, it makes it possible to sustain activities relating to the support and administration of education in minority communities, program development, teacher training and development, student support, or other priority areas, such as establishing school-community centres, implementing school governance and supporting post-secondary education. It also makes it possible to support first-language development activities and fund research projects or projects to develop methods and tools to help advance education in minority communities.

Promotion of Linguistic Duality component

This component aims to increase participation by Canadians in activities that promote linguistic duality and rapprochement, to promote the French language and culture in Canada, and to increase access for Canadians to services in both official languages provided by non-government organizations. It makes it possible to support activities that promote linguistic duality to Canadians in order to better inform them about the issue and make them understand and appreciate the advantages of living in a bilingual country. Activities of rapprochement between various groups of Canadians, in particular, will be carried out, as will promotional activities highlighting the importance of learning the second official language or celebrating the contribution of the French language and culture to majority and minority communities. Activities leading to the development of an organization's bilingual capacity will also be carried out.

Second-Language Learning component

This component is intended to help provinces and territories provide programs and activities aimed at the learning of English and French as a second official language and increase the proportion of Canadians who use these programs. The component also seeks to increase and disseminate knowledge, methods and innovative tools that can support the teaching of the second official language. In this regard, the component makes it possible to sustain activities relating to the support and administration of the teaching of English and French as a second official language, program development, teacher training and development, student support, or other priority areas. It also makes it possible to support activities to learn and develop English and French as a second official language and fund research projects or projects to develop methods and tools to help advance second-language teaching.

Strategic Policy and Management Branch

The Strategic Policy and Management Branch provides a sector perspective and a modern management approach to policy, planning, research and resourcing activities, ensuring a clear link to departmental priorities and strategies, and maximizing opportunities for horizontal linkages. In addition, it conducts and disseminates public opinion and socio-demographic research.

Heritage Group

Canadian Conservation Institute

The Canadian Conservation Institute (CCI) has the mandate to promote the proper care and preservation of Canada's cultural heritage and to advance the practice, science, and technology of conservation.

Its mission is to preserve the Canadian heritage and support conservation and heritage institutions in Canada by creating and disseminating conservation knowledge and providing expert services. The Institute offers a wide range of products and services to its clients, for example: consulting services, conservation and restoration treatments, analytical and scientific services, site visits, on-site services, training services, preventive conservation services, publications and specialized products, library services, and exhibit transportation services.

Reflecting its priority of providing the widest possible access to the knowledge developed by its conservators and scientists, CCI publishes an increasing amount of information on its website. It also provides assured response to all inquiries via a Client Services Desk, 613-998-3721. In order to respond to an increasing interest from the general public for information on the preservation of personal artifacts, family heirlooms, and memorabilia, CCI has created a new public website "Preserving my Heritage". This new Web site contains a wide range of practical how-to-care-for information, fascinating insights into the world of preservation, a virtual tour of the Institute's conservation and research laboratories, and much more.

Canadian Heritage Information Network (CHIN)

CHIN's mission is "as an active museum network, CHIN engages national and international audiences in Canadian Heritage through leadership and innovation in digital content, partnerships and lifelong learning opportunities". As of March 2004, more than 1,020 Canadian museums had joined in the collaborative effort to develop content for online audiences.

Through the Virtual Museum of Canada (VMC) at www.virtualmuseum.ca, CHIN assists the Canadian museum community in achieving a collective online presence. The VMC enables Canadians to freely access, in both official languages, heritage content and features developed by Canadian museums and galleries, including virtual exhibits, games, educational materials and more than 400,000 images. The VMC also includes the Community Memories landmark, designed to stimulate community/museum partnerships in the development of local history exhibits. Since its launch, the VMC has enjoyed tremendous success with over 11 million visits and over 53 million page views.

The CHIN Web site, at www.chin.gc.ca, provides the heritage community with access to professional resources, with a particular focus on skills development for the creation, presentation and management of digital content. CHIN products and services include online courses on image digitization and automated collections management systems; information about professional events and career opportunities; research and reference tools; a national inventory of nearly 4 million museum objects, including artefacts, natural science specimens and archaeological sites; intellectual property publications; bibliographies and data dictionaries.

CHIN also represents the museum community in international projects related to access to heritage information. In addition to the VMC and CHIN portals, CHIN also manages the international Conservation Information Network's Web site.

Heritage Policy Branch

The Heritage Branch is responsible for the development of legislation and national policies and strategies aimed at protecting and enhancing public access to Canada's artistic, historic, built, natural and scientific heritage. The Branch maintains ongoing liaison with federal heritage agencies, and with national heritage organizations and other non-governmental organizations. The Branch assists the Parks Canada Agency with its legislative and cabinet responsibilities, and has launched the Historic Places Initiative to protect Canada's National historic sites, federal heritage buildings, and archaeological resources under federal jurisdiction. The Branch is also responsible for the design and delivery of heritage programs such as the Museums Assistance Program; the Movable Cultural Property Program; the Young Canada Works in Heritage Organizations Program; the Canada Traveling Exhibitions Indemnification Program; the Canadian Arts and Heritage Sustainability Program; co-manages the Cultural Spaces Canada Program with the Arts Policy Branch; and provides the Secretariat to the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board.

Cultural Affairs Sector

The Cultural Affairs Sector draws together policy development and program delivery related to the arts, new media, broadcasting and cultural industries. The Sector provides the Minister with independent policy advice and support on new initiatives that shape overall cultural policy. The Sector's objectives are to promote the creation, dissemination and preservation of diverse Canadian cultural works, stories and symbols reflective of our past and expressive of our values and aspirations. The Sector's goal is to support the creation of, and access to diverse Canadian cultural expression.

In fulfilling its mandate the sector works closely with portfolio agencies including the National Film Board, Telefilm Canada, the Canada Council for the Arts, the National Arts Centre, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, and the Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications Commission.

Arts Policy Branch

The Arts Policy Branch develops national strategies, policies and programs to assist Canadian artists and non-profit cultural organizations, and conducts related research. It also develops legislation and proposes legislative amendments to the Status of the Artist Act and the Income Tax Act pertaining to the status of the artist and national arts services organizations. The Arts Policy Branch is responsible for the Arts Presentation Canada Program, the National Arts Training Contribution Program, the Canadian Arts and Heritage Sustainability Program, the Cultural Capitals of Canada Program and the Cultural Spaces Canada Program. The Arts Policy Branch also advises the Minister on policies regarding the Canada Council for the Arts and the National Arts Centre.

Broadcasting Policy and Innovation Branch

The Broadcasting Policy and Innovation Branch works to ensure the sustainable development and operation of a broadcasting system to which all Canadians have access and which reflects the diversity of the country, in accordance with the Broadcasting Act. The Branch develops policies, monitors and advises on issues facing the Canadian broadcasting system and public and private broadcasters, as well as new media industries. It also provides advice to the Minister on government policy related to the CBC and the CRTC.

The Branch is also responsible for the Canadian Television Fund, the Northern Distribution Program and for Radio Canada International.

Canadian Culture On Line Branch

The Canadian Culture Online is part of the Department's strategy to encourage a uniquely Canadian presence on the Internet. The objectives are to help create Canadian cultural content for the Internet, encourage Canadians to access that content and help create the right environment for Canada to become a leader in digital content production. The funding programs under Canadian Culture Online help creators and communities, cultural industries and institutions to develop and promote digital content that reflects our culture, history, arts and heritage. Important areas of emphasis are the creation of original French language content and content for young Canadians. Key policy issues include digital standards and interoperability, sustainability and copyright, cultural diversity, French on the Internet, Aboriginal content, youth, as well as e-learning.

The Branch also supervises and reviews the Canadian New Media Fund administered by Telefilm Canada.

Copyright Policy Branch

Copyright has been described as the foundation upon which all cultural creation is built. Copyright allows creators to be fairly compensated for their works, and provides a mechanism through which Canada's rich cultural heritage is disseminated and made accessible to the greatest possible number of citizens. Copyright promotes and protects all forms of creative endeavour, and thus supports the development of all Canadian cultural industries. The Copyright Policy Branch, in co-operation with the Intellectual Property Policy Directorate of Industry Canada, is responsible for formulating national policies, and for proposing legislative amendments to the Copyright Act when necessary. The work of the Branch ensures, through the development of policies and legislation, the legal recognition and protection of the economic and moral rights of creators and users.

Film Video and Sound Recording Branch

The Film, Video and Sound Recording Branch develops, implements and administers policies and programs in support of the production, distribution and consumption of Canadian audiovisual cultural products and sound recordings. The Branch also advises the Minister on policies regarding Telefilm Canada and the National Film Board of Canada.

Through the Canadian Audio-Visual Certification Office, it also co-administers Canada's film and video tax credit program with the Canadian Customs and Revenue Agency.

With the creation of the Canada Music Fund, the branch also provides investment for the development of new artists and the production and promotion of new recordings; for crosscutting projects affecting the industry; and for the preservation and digitization of significant Canadian musical works.

Investment Review Branch

The Cultural Sector Investment Review

Directorate is responsible for the administration of the Investment Canada Act as it pertains to investments by non-Canadians in Canada's cultural sector. The directorate's mission and objectives focus on ensuring that it is able to derive significant and various benefits for Canadians through the review of investments by non-Canadians who establish or acquire cultural businesses in Canada.

Publishing Policy and Programs Branch

By formulating and developing national policies, proposing legislation and designing and administering programs in the fields of book and periodical publishing, the Publishing Policy and Programs Branch is responsible for fostering the creation, publication and dissemination of Canadian authored books and periodicals containing Canadian editorial content. This is achieved through supporting the Canadian-owned book and periodical publishing sectors. The Branch also supports the Canadian book and periodical publishing industries by providing direct financial assistance to Canadian publishers, by ensuring that market conditions do not unfairly jeopardize the ability of Canadian publishers to produce books and periodicals; by ensuring that Canadian publishers remain competitive in the marketplace; and by assisting the Canadian book industry to adapt to new technologies. The Publishing Policy and Programs Branch works closely with other departments, Canada Council for the Arts, stakeholders and clients to ensure a strong Canadian-owned industrial infrastructure within the Canadian publishing industry.

International and Intergovernmental Affairs Sector

The International and Intergovernmental Affairs Sector is responsible for international affairs such as the International Network on Cultural Policy; involvement in the International Francophonie and Trade and Investment for the cultural industries. The Sector is also responsible for the Department's intergovernmental relations; the policies and programs for Sport Canada and coordinating federal involvement in the 2010 Olympic and Paralympics Winter Games.

International Affairs Branch

The International Affairs Branch builds international support for Canadian domestic cultural policy objectives. The Branch positions Canada as a leader on the world stage by building international alliances through cooperation, advocacy, exchanges and engagement. Through participation in international cultural fora, and bilateral and multilateral missions, International Affairs strives to shape international policy discussions and action plans. By using a holistic, PCH-wide approach to the international cultural agenda, International Affairs is able to bring the international context to domestic policy-making and program delivery.

International Affairs comprises three directorates which manage PCH's international relations, participation, negotiations and strategy, as well as policy development. The International Relations and Policy Development Directorate, in addition to its responsibilities for bilateral and multilateral cooperation, is the lead on the international cultural diversity file - which includes the Convention on Diversity of Cultural Contents and Artistic Expressions at UNESCO - and houses the International Network on Cultural Policy's (INCP) Liaison Bureau. The International Francophonie Directorate promotes Canada's involvement and influence within the International Francophonie in the areas of culture, heritage and sport, most notably through the promotion of Francophone-Canadian culture through the management of and participation in TV5, the international French-language television channel. The Branch's International Sport Directorate works to enhance Canada's position as a leading sport nation by influencing the international sport policy agenda to advance domestic sport objectives. These objectives include the eradication of doping in sport and increased access and equity in sport for targeted under-represented groups, such as women and disabled athletes.

Planning and Intergovernmental Affairs Branch

The Intergovernmental Affairs Directorate seeks to forge strategic alliances with other levels of government to support mutual areas of interests such as the arts, culture and heritage as well as ensure that intergovernmental issues are incorporated into the Department's policies and programs.

The Tourism Policy Directorate guides the Department's approach to tourism and seeks to influence Canada's priorities and objectives in this policy area. At its core, the Directorate provides leadership in the development, implementation and promotion of a departmental policy on tourism. Currently, the Directorate is coordinating two major initiatives: the Federal-Provincial-Territorial (FPT) Tourism Initiative and the Canadian Heritage Sustainable Tourism Policy Initiative.

Sport Canada Branch

Through the policies and programs of Sport Canada, the Government of Canada is involved in enhancing opportunities for participation and excellence in sport so that all Canadians can enjoy involvement in sport to the extent of their abilities and interests, and an increasing number of athletes can perform consistently and successfully at the highest international competitive levels.

To these ends, the Branch provides expertise and financial assistance to national single and multi-sport organizations, athletes, coaches, organizing committees of major sport events, provincial and territorial governments and other activities connected to sport which support departmental strategic objectives and Government of Canada priorities. Sport Canada's policies and programs are developed and delivered using the framework provided by the Canadian Sport Policy – adopted jointly by the federal, provincial and territorial governments in 2002, and the Physical Activity and Sport Act.

2010 Games Secretariat

The 2010 Winter Games Federal Secretariat is the focal point of the Government of Canada's participation in the 2010 Olympic and Paralympic Winter Games in Vancouver and Whistler. Federal involvement includes not only delivering essential government services such as security, customs and immigration for the Games, but also ensuring the Games will leave sustainable athletic, cultural and economic legacies. The 2010 Winter Games Federal Secretariat works with over 20 federal departments, agencies and crown corporations to ensure that Government of Canada priorities such as diversity, inclusion, environmental sustainability and volunteerism are incorporated into all stages and aspects of the Games and the Olympiad's four year Cultural Program.

The Federal Secretariat works in concert with the 2010 Organizing Committee for the Olympic and Paralympic Winter Games (OCOG), the Province of British Columbia, the City of Vancouver, the Resort Municipality of Whistler, the Canadian Olympic and Paralympic Committees and four local BC First Nations (Lil'wat, Musqueam, Squamish and Tsleil-Waututh).

Trade and Investment Branch

Trade and Investment provides expertise and policy advice on cultural trade and investment issues, including trade negotiations and disputes, and provides support to Canadian arts and cultural small and medium sized enterprises (SMEs) for international business development and export preparedness. The Branch consists of two directorates: the Trade and Investment Development Directorate (TIDD); and, the Trade and Investment Policy Directorate (TIPD).

TIPD works in close cooperation with the Department of International Trade and other federal departments to ensure Canada's position in international trade and investment negotiations reflects our cultural policy priorities. As part of its mandate, TYPD is working with Canadian and international partners to develop the proposed international convention on cultural diversity, and also provides expertise on international trade issues involving domestic cultural policy development.

TIDD ensures the inclusion of the arts and cultural sectors interests in the federal government's international business strategies and delivers trade support programs and services. TIDD represents the Department in Team Canada Inc, engages the cultural sectors through Trade Team Canada Cultural Goods and Services and is responsible for the Trade Routes program, a multi-sector program that supports export preparedness and international market development activities of Canadian arts and cultural SMEs.

Planning and Corporate Affairs Sector

Helping the Department better serve Canadians, that's what we're all about. As the champion of excellence in management, the Planning and Corporate Affairs Sector provides leadership and support to departmental activities in the delivery of programs which in turn enable the Department to fulfill its mandate and accountabilities.

Corporate Planning and Management Branch

The Corporate Planning and Management Branch (CPMB) provides corporate expertise, analysis and advice on all matters related to integrated planning, reporting and management, with special emphasis on corporate planning and modern management practices. The Branch is responsible for the production of the Report on Plans and Priorities (RPP), the Departmental Performance Report (DPR) and the departmental input to the Canada's Performance Report.

Corporate Review Branch

The Corporate Review Branch is responsible for the planning, organization and management of internal audit and evaluation activities for the Department. The Corporate Review Branch also supplies information, analyses and advice to Departmental managers to help improve management practices, resource allocation, policy development and compliance with program terms and conditions.

Evaluation Services provides Senior Management with objective assessments and advice on: a) the adequacy of program design, delivery and performance measurement practices and b) the continued relevance / rationale, success and cost-effectiveness of its programs, policies and initiatives. The staff also provides guidance and advice on performance measurement strategies and tools, implementation of accountability and measurement framework and, with program managers develop frameworks to guide future evaluations.

Assurance Services conducts audits to provide assurances on risk management strategy and practices, management control frameworks and practices, and information used for decision-making and reporting.

Financial Management Branch

The Financial Management Branch is responsible for developing and implementing the financial management framework in Canadian Heritage that is the foundation for sound decision-making and sound comptrollership practices. The Branch has four directorates:

The Financial Planning and Resource Management Directorate is responsible for the development and maintenance of an integrated financial management framework; the funding of departmental operations through the preparation of departmental Budgets and Estimates; monitoring, controlling, and providing advice for the optimum utilization of resources allocated to the Department; and developing and directing the implementation of sound financial planning, financial control and financial reporting.

The Grants and Contributions Centre of Expertise follows the Department's success in ensuring due diligence in the management of grants and contributions' programs through rigorous training and enhanced monitoring, a Centre of Expertise was created in early 2003. The Centre brings together all corporate functions and services in support of grants and contributions and is leading the migration to a more reasonable diligence that continues to manage risks and maintain accountability while improving access for the diversity of program applicants many of which are struggling to build capacity in their cultural sector or minority community.

The Centre comprises: Advisory Services which promotes the good management of grants and contributions' programs throughout their life cycle (design, delivery, monitoring and audit/evaluation) in accordance with the Grants and Contributions Management Policy: Principles and Standards of Practice; a Policy Services Unit which issues policy papers and clarifications; a Secretariat which ensures the accuracy of and processes files for approval; a Grants and Contributions Information Management System; and a Learning Services unit which provides tools, training and opportunities for program staff to share best practices.

The Accounting Operations, Financial Policy and Systems Directorate is responsible for departmental accounting operations; issue of payments and collection of revenues; maintaining the departmental delegation of signing authorities; production of Public Accounts; overseeing financial systems, policies and training; development and operation of the Department's Integrated Financial and Materiel System (IFMS) and the Salary Management System (SMS).

The Contracting and Materiel Management Directorate is responsible for providing services, advice and support to management in the areas of goods and services contracting, partnerships, sponsorships, warehousing, fleet operations and asset tracking.

Knowledge, Information and Technology Services

The Knowledge, Information and Technology Services' (KITS) mandate is to provide its clients in PCH with IM/IT leadership and expert advice in the area of technology and information management. KITS is responsible for developing and implementing an Information Management and Information Technology (IM/IT) strategy that will form the foundation of the Department's evolution into a state-of-the-art, knowledge-based learning organization.

KITS is responsible for developing and maintaining corporate systems and providing an efficient and secure technical infrastructure. The Branch is also responsible for strengthening its IM/IT capacity to meet its Government on-Line commitments in the next four years and beyond. KITS' long-term objective is to build an integrated, networked IM/IT service level organization to support PCH's business drivers.

Public Affairs and Communications Sector (PAC)

The Public Affairs and Communications Sector is mandated to ensure an integrated, coherent and proactive approach in how PCH reaches out to Canadians. In contributing to the government's important role in bringing Canadians together, the PAC Sector communicates and delivers events, stories and shared experiences, domestically and internationally. The Sector also ensures that regional perspectives are represented at the departmental Executive table and that PCH policies, programs, communications and services are delivered in a regionally sensitive way.

Communications Branch

The Communications Branch promotes the policies, programs and services that support the Department's strategic objectives. It also provides strategic advice to the Department's Sectors and Programs on all issues related to communications with the public, client groups and the media. Through its integrated communications activities, and the use of techniques such as storytelling, the Branch ensures that the Department is visible, accessible and accountable to the public.

e-services Branch

The mandate of the Branch is to enable PCH and Canadians to engage, develop and showcase Canadian arts, culture, heritage and sports through improved service delivery and innovative use of the Internet and new media technologies.

This mandate is delivered through a variety of strategies and initiatives, which include:

- A Canadian Heritage service vision agenda
- The Canadian Cultural Observatory and its on-line digital hub Culturescope.ca: providing research information and a virtual space for engagement within the cultural professional community
- The Cluster: CultureCanada.gc.ca, a PCH horizontal contribution to providing a window to all Canadian government cultural information, products and services.
- Culture.ca, Canada's Cultural Gateway: a collaborative initiative designed to provide Canadians with access to the best Canadian cultural content on-line
- The Departmental Web site, presenting the face of Canadian Heritage to Canadians
- The Service Improvement and Government On-Line initiatives

The Branch contributes to departmental policy and program development through its expertise in service improvements, Internet technologies, and service delivery.

Canadian Cultural Observatory

The Observatory, in collaboration with its many partners, informs and advances cultural development in Canada by fostering more responsive cultural research, encouraging informed decision-making for policy and planning, and stimulating community debate and improved knowledge exchange. Culturescope.ca, the Observatory's interactive on-line hub for arts and culture professionals, supports this mandate by providing access to cultural data, research and analysis, as well as a suite of networking tools that enable groups of registered members to work together in private on-line communities. The website address is www.Culturescope.ca.

Culture.ca Gateway

Culture.ca is a unique gateway designed for Canadians to explore and find the best of Canadian culture on-line. Extensive and continually revised and updated resources connect to the history, art, people, places, sports, and media that help define who we are as Canadians. The site includes 1.5 million fully searchable Web resources, and provides direct access to more than 10,000 quality Canadian cultural sites. Featured content encourages users to explore cultural topics in further depth and presents candid perspectives from Canadians, including cultural leaders from across the country. Culture.ca also provides access to the Speaker's Bureau, an on-line directory of cultural experts who are available to share their expertise with Canadians.

Culture, Heritage and Recreation Cluster

CultureCanada.gc.ca is the Government of Canada's one-stop Web access to government culture, heritage and recreation services and programs. Created as part of the Treasury Board Secretariat's Government On-Line initiative, CultureCanada.gc.ca is based on the GOL principles of "organizing information around the needs and expectations of Canadians", as well as "taking a whole of government approach" in providing information. This Web site seeks to deliver quick and easy access to cultural services across Canada. The goal is to provide greater links to a wide range of resources from all levels of government in Canada. The website address is www.Culturescope.ca.

ECommunications

The eCommunications unit develops and maintains the Canadian Heritage web site. Via the Canadian Heritage public website, eCommunications provides public access to information on the Department's programs, policies, publications and events. It comprises over 50,000 Web pages and is visited by more than half a million Internet users per month.

Service Improvement and Government On-Line

The eServices Branch has responsibility for Service Improvement across the Department of Canadian Heritage. The "Service Improvement Initiative" was established by Treasury Board as part of "Results for Canadians" to serve Canadians better. The eServices Branch is also responsible for key departmental initiatives pertaining to the Internet including Government On-line. The Branch advances Canadian Heritage's online initiatives aimed at expanding the reach and quality of communication, connecting and interacting with Canadians, as well as fostering a public dialogue through eConsultations and enhancing public access to information and services through online service delivery.

Major Events and Celebrations Branch

Through various programs, both international and national, the Major Events and Celebrations Branch seeks primarily to promote and strengthen Canadian identity and pride in Canada, and to highlight our society's major accomplishments. It also seeks to commemorate and celebrate Canada, and the individuals, events and symbols that have shaped its specific character.

Celebration, Commemoration and Learning

The Celebration, Commemoration and Learning directorate is the cornerstone of a strategy designed to create a constant and unified federal presence right across the country. The implementation of a five-year plan entitled "Building a Cohesive Canada through Celebration, Commemoration and Learning" is a key responsibility. As well, the Directorate has the mandate to create opportunities for Canadians to connect in celebrating their history, their diversity and their achievements and to commemorate people, places and events that have marked Canada's development. One of its main activities includes the Celebrate Canada! Program, which is an eleven-day celebration that takes place from June 21 to July 1. National Aboriginal Day on June 21 kicks off the celebrations. Events continue with Saint-Jean-Baptiste Day on June 24, Canadian Multiculturalism Day on June 27, and culminate with Canada Day on July 1. Other activities related to the program include the Poster Challenge and the Canada Youth Awards.

International Expositions

The International Expositions Directorate designs, plans and implements Canada's participation in international expositions with the goal of enhancing their positive impact, both nationally and internationally. Ensuring the active involvement of citizens in Canada's participation at expositions through the development of engaging programs and initiatives is a priority. The Directorate represents the Government of Canada at the International Exhibitions Bureau (IEB), the body that controls the frequency and the quality of international expositions, and is responsible for the fulfillment of the IEB Convention when expositions are hosted in Canada.

State ceremonial and Corporate Events

The mandate of State Ceremonial and Corporate Events directorate is to coordinate various events ranging from national events under the responsibility of State Ceremonial, such as royal visits, state funerals and installation of new Governors General. Other activities include provision of ceremonial and protocol advice, administration of federal activities for Lieutenant Governors, oversee and coordinate use of a gift bank for use by the Governor General and members of the Canadian Ministry, and oversee use of Parliament Hill for activities.

Management, Regional and Correspondence Services Branch

The Management, Regional and Correspondence Services Branch is responsible for the management of the strategic, business planning and reporting functions for the Public Affairs and Communications Sector, directing public opinion research and trends analysis for both the Sector and the Department, providing policy advice to the Assistant Deputy Minister of the Sector and other senior executives of the Department, and leading the coordination of policy development in the Sector. The Branch is also responsible for the management of regional liaison and coordination through the Regional Affairs Directorate between the Department's five regions and Headquarters, the management and operations of ministerial correspondence and the sectoral management of human, financial and information management / information technology resources.

Information and Research on Canada Program (IRCP)

The sole recipient of the Information and Research on Canada Program is the Canadian Unity Council (CUC) for the operations and activities of the CUC's Centre for Research and Information on Canada (CRIC). Founded in 1996, the CRIC focuses on research, communication and education. Its purpose is to inform and educate all Canadians about their country. Initiatives include: Opinion Canada, a bi-monthly bulletin; Direction, a weekly newsletter; a Web site, fact sheets published three times a month; opinion poll tracking; regional and provincial roundtables on Canadian unity; and Handbook on Canada, a pocket-book size reference.

Regions

Five regional offices, located in Moncton, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver, manage and deliver programs, serve clients, provide liaison daily with the public and contribute to the development and implementation of departmental policies. Twenty-six points of service across the country ensure that Canadians have access to departmental programs and services.

Classes of Personal Information

In the course of conducting the programs and activities of the Department, categories of personal information may be accumulated which are not contained in the specific personal information banks previously described in this entry. Such personal information includes requests for information and publications, research proposals, expressions of public support, comments and suggestions, requests for funding and assistance, and complaints. This information is stored as part of the general subject files, the records of which are not normally retrievable by name of individual or other personal identifier. Specifics must be provided concerning the subject matter, related program activity, as well as the date on which the information was received by the Department and to whom it was addressed.

The personal information contained in these subject files is retained for the same period of time as the related subject information and is disposed of according to the appropriate subject records schedules.

Arts Presentation Canada

This class of personal information contains applications and supporting documentation submitted by cultural organizations seeking financial assistance for their activities. These documents may contain personal information pertaining to the directors and officers of cultural organizations including names and addresses. As well, the curriculum vitae of participants and/or expert advisors to the proposed activity may be held on file. This information is not filed by personal identifier but rather by cultural organization or activity title. This information was compiled to assess applications for funding of projects under the program including management development projects, capital projects and festivals and special events such as national conferences, etc. Records are primarily maintained by the Department's Regional Offices which are responsible for the management of the Program. Records maintained by headquarters are retained for seven years, then transferred to National Archives of Canada for selective retention.

Book Publishing Industry Development Program

This class of documents contains separate files for each application for funding under the Book Publishing Industry Development Program. Files contain information about the corporate and financial status of the book publishers or industry groups involved. Personal information retained could include citizenship, nationality and other personal and financial information of company presidents, vice-presidents and shareholders. The information is used to determine eligibility for funding under the program. Files are retained for seven years and are then destroyed. (See also Program Records: COM ACI 250 - Book Publishing Industry Development Program).

Canadian Human Rights Commission

Chapter 34

General Information

Background

The Canadian Human Rights Commission was given its mandate with the passage in July 1977 of the Canadian Human Rights Act. The Act became operative on March 1, 1978.

Responsibilities

The Commission's program objective is to give effect to the principle that within the federal sphere every individual should have an equal opportunity to participate in Canadian life consistent with his or her duties and obligations as a member of the Canadian society.

Specifically, the Commission deals with complaints of discrimination in employment, in the provision of goods, services, facilities and/or accommodation customarily available to the general public and in the provision of commercial premises or residential accommodation, based on any of the eleven prohibited grounds of discrimination enumerated in the Act: race, national or ethnic origin, colour, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, marital status, family status, disability, or conviction of an offence for which a pardon has been granted. The Commission attempts to resolve complaints through alternative dispute resolution. Cases that cannot be resolved are investigated and may be referred to the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal for further inquiry.

The Canadian Human Rights Act prohibits discrimination in policies and practices affecting wages for male and female employees who are performing work of equal value. As a result, the Commission investigates complaints alleging inequities in wage-related practices.

The Commission also carries out employment equity audits of federal departments, agencies, and federally regulated employers. The Employment Equity Act mandates the Commission to perform these audits, take the necessary steps to ensure there is compliance and report to Parliament on the results every year.

The Commission also has a statutory responsibility to discourage and reduce discriminatory practices through public education, liaison, and any other means it considers appropriate. This responsibility is discharged by producing promotional and educational materials, developing and conducting information programs to foster public understanding of the principles of equal opportunity enshrined in the Canadian Human Rights Act, and by working cooperatively with employers and service providers both at the headquarters and regional levels in order to prevent discrimination.

The Commission functions as an independent agency and reports to Parliament.

Canadian Human Rights Tribunal

Chapter 35

General Information

Background

The Canadian Human Rights Tribunal (Tribunal) was established in its original form in 1977 by the Canadian Human Rights Act (CHRA). Formerly known as the “Human Rights Tribunal Panel”, the Tribunal was funded and administratively supported through the Canadian Human Rights Commission (Commission) until 1997 when it officially became a fully independent agency scheduled under the Financial Administration Act. A year earlier, the Tribunal’s mandate had been expanded to include the adjudication of proceedings under the Employment Equity Act (EEA). Therefore, members of the Tribunal also act as the Employment Equity Review Tribunal (EERT). The Tribunal has existed in its current form, as a permanent standing body, since 1998.

Responsibilities

The Tribunal is a quasi-judicial tribunal that publicly hears complaints of discrimination referred to it by the Commission in order to determine, for the most part, whether the activities of federally-regulated employers and service providers violate the CHRA. The purpose of the CHRA is to protect individuals from discrimination and to promote equality of opportunity. It prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, national or ethnic origin, colour, religion, age, sex, marital status, family status, sexual orientation, disability, and conviction for which a pardon has been granted. The Tribunal’s main objective is to ensure that the CHRA is applied fairly and impartially.

In particular, the Tribunal may hear complaints of discrimination in the provision of goods, services, facilities or accommodation customarily available to the general public; in the provision of commercial premises or residential accommodation; or in matters related to employment. Complaints are based on one or more of the eleven grounds of discrimination enumerated above. The Tribunal also hears complaints alleging wage disparity between men and women performing work of equal value in the same establishment. Finally, it has jurisdiction to hear complaints of telephonic communication likely to expose persons to hatred or contempt by reason of their identification on discriminatory grounds. The parties to a Tribunal proceeding include the complainant and the person alleged to have engaged in the discriminatory practice (“respondent”). The Commission may also participate in the proceeding as a representative of the public interest. The Tribunal decides if discrimination has occurred based on evidence and the law. If it finds that the complaint is substantiated, the Tribunal issues an order to the respondent, setting out the remedies.

Apart from its adjudications under the CHRA, the Tribunal’s mandate also includes hearing matters under the EEA. The EEA governs most federally regulated employers and obliges them to eliminate systemic barriers to a fully representative workforce. Two general types of proceedings can give rise to the constitution of an EERT: (1) Proceedings initiated by an employer, or by the Commission, wherein the Tribunal examines the validity of a “direction to comply with the EEA” previously issued by the Commission to the employer; (2) Proceedings initiated by a private sector employer, or by the Minister of Labour, wherein the Tribunal examines the appropriateness of monetary penalties previously assessed by the Minister against the employer in respect of certain kinds of non-compliance with the EEA. The Tribunal convenes a hearing, hears evidence and argument and makes an order either granting or denying the relief sought.

Legislation

- Canadian Human Rights Act (R.S., 1985, c. H-6)
- Employment Equity Act (S.C. 1995, c.44)

Organization

Tribunal Members

The CHRA provides for a full-time Chairperson and Vice-chairperson, as well as up to thirteen additional full- or part-time members, all appointed by the Governor in Council. The Chairperson and Vice-chairperson may be appointed for terms of up to seven years while the other members may be appointed for terms of up to five years. At present, the Tribunal is comprised of a Vice-chairperson acting as Chairperson (the post of Chairperson is vacant), as well as two other full-time members and six part-time members. The Acting Chairperson is serving a five year term while the other members have been appointed to terms of three years.

When a case is referred to the Tribunal under the CHRA or the EEA, the Chairperson designates either one or three members to hear the case. In carrying out their adjudicative functions members set dates for disclosure, hear and decide preliminary objections, preside over hearings where testimony and other evidence is presented, deal with motions, listen to argument and make decisions on the merits of the case (including remedy where appropriate). The Chairperson and Vice-chairperson also develop policies and establish rules of procedure for the Tribunal's adjudication processes.

Tribunal Staff

Registry

The Registry's activities are entirely separate from the adjudication process. The Registrar of the Tribunal and his staff plan and arrange hearings, serve as a liaison between the parties and members, and direct the Tribunal's administrative operations. The Registrar is the Senior Public servant and Chief Operations Officer of the Tribunal, whose duties include providing administrative support and procedural guidance to the members, as well as budgeting and allocating resources for the Tribunal. The Registry's staff is divided into the following sections: Corporate Services, Financial Services, Network Services, Registry Operations, Research Services.

Corporate Services

Corporate Services is responsible for the delivery of all corporate and administrative services to the Tribunal, including procurement, records management, office accommodation, telecommunications, contracting of professional services, and reception services.

Financial Services

Financial Services is responsible for the delivery of all financial services to the Tribunal, including processing and recording all account transactions, monitoring the budget and providing reports to Parliament and central agencies.

Network Services

Network Services provides all information technology support to Tribunal members and staff, including network systems maintenance, purchases, installation, and testing of hardware and software.

Registry Operations

Registry Operations' Manager is responsible for the planning and organization of all cases that are referred to the Tribunal for hearing, the development of operational policies and procedures relating to the administration of the hearing process, and the supervision of Registry Officers. The Registry Officers provide logistical support services to the Tribunal including advice and guidance as to media coverage, scheduling of witnesses, hearing dates, and procedural matters. They manage all administrative aspects of the cases, liaising between the parties and the Tribunal members.

Research Services

Research Services assists the Tribunal members, on large and complex cases, by cataloguing evidence and locating items in the record as directed by the Tribunal.

Legal Services

Legal Services provides the Tribunal with legal information, advice and representation.

Canadian Institutes of Health Research

Chapter 36

General Information

Background

CIHR (Canadian Institutes of Health Research) is the major federal agency responsible for funding health research in Canada. The CIHR concept is an innovative one - a multi-disciplinary approach organized through a framework of thirteen "virtual" institutes, each dedicated to a specific research area, linking and supporting researchers pursuing common goals. Institutes bring together researchers who approach health challenges from different disciplinary perspectives, drawing on the combined strengths of these approaches. The four pillars of CIHR include biomedical, clinical science, health systems and services, and the social, cultural and other factors that affect the health of populations. CIHR Institutes are not centralized "bricks and mortar" facilities, they are "virtual" organizations that fund researchers located in universities, hospitals and other research centres across Canada. CIHR Institutes are a source of scientific leadership establishing priorities that facilitate research efforts in Canada.

Responsibilities

According to the Canadian Institutes of Health Research Act, the objective of the CIHR is to excel, according to internationally accepted standards of scientific excellence, in the creation of new knowledge and its translation into improved health for Canadians, more effective health services and products and a strengthened Canadian health care system.

The institutes promote and build upon Canada's firm foundation of research excellence. They engage the research community and encourage interdisciplinary, integrative health research. Through their Scientific Directors and Institute Advisory Boards and under the guidance of the Governing Council, they work together to forge a health research agenda across disciplines, sectors, and regions that embraces scientific opportunity and reflects the emerging health needs of Canadians, the evolution of the health care system and the information needs of health policy decision-makers. They facilitate partnerships and accelerate the transfer of new knowledge into benefits for Canadians.

Legislation

- Canadian Institutes of Health Research Act, Chapter 6, Statutes of Canada 2000

Organization

CIHR is run by a President and a Governing Council of 19 members. The Governing Council sets the overall strategic direction, goals and policies. It establishes, maintains, and terminates Health Research Institutes and determines the mandate of each. As outlined in the legislation, the Governing Council is responsible for the management of the CIHR, including: developing its strategic directions, goals and policies; evaluating its overall performance, including with respect to achievement of its objective; approving its budget; establishing a peer review process for research proposals made to the CIHR; approving funding for research; approving other expenditures to carry out its objective; establishing policies respecting consulting and collaborating with persons and organizations that have an interest in health research; and dealing with any other matter that the Governing Council considers related to the affairs of the CIHR.

Thirteen research Institutes have been created in the areas of Aboriginal Peoples' Health, Aging, Cancer Research, Circulatory and Respiratory Health, Genetics, Gender and Health, Health Services and Policy Research, Human Development, Child and Youth Health, Infection and Immunity, Musculoskeletal Health and Arthritis, Nutrition, Metabolism and Diabetes, Neurosciences, Mental Health and Addiction, Population and Public Health.

Led by Scientific Directors and guided by the wisdom of Institute Advisory Boards composed of various health stakeholders, Institutes encourage researchers, voluntary health organizations, government and other partners to work together to shape the Canadian research agenda and translate research findings into practice within Canada's health system.

All applications for Grants and Awards are subject to a rigorous peer review process by volunteer committees of experts in their fields. Successful applications are approved by Council. Day to day CIHR activities are conducted by a Secretariat of approximately 350 employees located in Ottawa.

Secretariat

The Secretariat, which has the general responsibility for the administration of the Mandate, is divided into an Ethics branch and four portfolios under the direction of four Vice-Presidents:

Ethics

Responsible for ethics in research

Corporate Affairs Portfolio

Governance

Responsible for coordination of activities and meetings of Governing Council and various Executive Committees involved in corporate governance of CIHR

Corporate Performance Management

Responsible for the auditing of CIHR

Corporate Planning and Policy

Evaluation and Analysis

Responsible for the analysis and data both within CIHR and to the research community

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 020

Fields of Research

Description: Information on speciality areas of health research for which CIHR has some responsibility.

Topics: Research in the fields of dentistry; schools of pharmacy; psychology; occupational health and safety; gerontology; surgery and veterinary medicine; space research; mental research; general correspondence.

Access: File arranged by subject.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 115

Fund for Research in the Fields of Dyskinesia and Torticollis

Description: The Fund is used for the support of basic and/or clinical research, in the broad field of movement disorders known as dyskinesia and more particularly for research in the movement disorder known as torticollis.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of the grant; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 111

CIHR Groups

Description: This funding program is closed to new applicants until further notice. CIHR groups provide full support for teams of accomplished investigators who wish to develop collaborative programs in what appear to be especially productive areas.

Topics: Application of group director and colleagues; executive and Governing Council decisions; administration of the group; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 030

Health Professional Student Research Awards (formerly known as the Burroughs Wellcome Fund Student Research Awards)

Description: A number of awards will be provided each year to each Canadian School of medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, pharmacy, optometry, ophthalmology, nursing, midwifery, audiology/speech language pathology, dietetics, occupational therapy, chiropractic medicine, physiotherapy, athletic therapy, respiratory therapy, social work and clinical psychology programs to enable health professional students to gain exposure to research at any time throughout the year.

Topics: Deans' reports; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 085

Health Research Programs of Excellence

Description: These programs are trans-disciplinary research programs representing at least two of the four themes of health research, with an emphasis on research translation between the themes, and focused on an important health problem.

Topics: Individuals' applications; committee decisions, administration of the grant; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 425

Institutional Establishment and Development Grant

Description: To increase the capacity of all Canadian research institutions to undertake excellent health research. Accordingly, it announces a one-time opportunity for Institutional Grants, with two specific objectives:

Establishment Grants: To facilitate the recruitment to Canadian institutions of excellent international health researchers, or Canadian citizens who have established their reputation for excellence in health research through careers developed outside Canada.

Development Grants: To permit underdeveloped institutions to undertake activities which will increase their competitiveness in applications for CIHR funding.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of the grant; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 345

Intellectual Property Management Program

Description: Accelerate the transfer of knowledge and technology residing in Canadian universities and hospitals for the benefit of Canada. IPM grants are intended to strengthen the ability of these institutions to manage their intellectual property, to attract potential users and to promote the professional development of intellectual property personnel. The ultimate goal is to contribute to the strengthening of Canada's competitiveness in a knowledge-based global economy. A joint participation with the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council (NSERC) and the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council (SSHRC).

Topics: Individual applications to NSERC; committee decisions; administration of the grant; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 405

Interdisciplinary Capacity Enhancement (ICE) Team Grant Program

Description: This program is to provide support for new or existing groups who can demonstrate that they are committed to engendering a trans-disciplinary research culture and to attracting into, engaging and mentoring junior researchers (faculty and post-doctoral fellows not otherwise funded) or established researchers who have not worked extensively in health research in the past.

Topics: Individuals' applications; committee decisions, administration of the grant; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 435

Interdisciplinary Health Research Teams (IHRTs)

Description: Interdisciplinary Health Research Teams (IHRTs) consist of five or more researchers who pool their expertise, different perspectives, and resources to address or resolve an important health research issue.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of the grant; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 320

International Scientific Exchange

Description: CIHR participates in a number of exchange programs each with a separate agreement, which are intended to foster collaboration between scientists in Canada and those in Argentina, Brazil, the People's Republic of China, France and Italy.

Topics: Applications; reviews by external referees; committee assessment; notification and administration of grants; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 185

Investigators

Description: This program has been discontinued. The program provides salary support for independent investigators who have made outstanding contributions and have demonstrated leadership in their field. It is intended for health researchers who, early in their career, have developed a reputation for excellence in research.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of the award; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 060

Maintenance Grants

Description: The program provides for the cost of maintaining instruments that are not part of shared facilities and are required for the conduct of ongoing research for a single CIHR operating grant, or for several CIHR research grants held by one or two investigators.

Topics: Applications; reviews by external referees; committee assessment; notification and administration of grants; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 025

Multi-User Maintenance Grants

Description: This program covers the costs of maintaining facilities which are shared by groups of researchers within a department, faculty, university or region.

Topics: Applications; reviews by external referees; committee assessment; notification and administration of grant; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 175

MD/PHD Program Studentships

Description: Studentships are offered to students who are registered in a combined MD/PHD program at Canadian institutions that offer such a program.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of the award; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 080

Michael Smith Prize in Health Research

Description: In 1993, Dr. Michael Smith shared the Nobel Prize for chemistry for discovering and developing a crucial technique, known as site-directed mutagenesis, used in genetic engineering. His discovery enabled researchers to gain enormous insights into the structure and function of genes and proteins. To honour Dr. Smith, CIHR has established the Michael Smith Prize in Health Research.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of the award; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 245

Multi-User Equipment Grants

Description: CIHR will consider applications for multi-user equipment grants to augment the research capabilities of a large number of funded investigators within an institution or region.

Topics: Applications; reviews by external referees; committee assessment; notification and administration of grants; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 180

New Investigators

Description: This program is intended to provide the opportunity for new investigators to develop and demonstrate their independence in initiating and conducting health research.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of the award; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 065

Operating Grants

Description: Information about operating grants to provide support for new or continuing research activities by individuals or small groups of investigators working in collaboration.

Topics: Applications; reviews by external referees; committee assessment; notification and administration of grants; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 010

Opportunity Program

Description: The Opportunity Program supported workshops, consensus conferences, strategic planning exercises and similar activities. The program was offered only in FY 1999/2000.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of the grant; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 315

Partnerships

Description: Information related to CIHR's Partnership Research Program which aims to increase the number of grants, awards for training and other forms of salary support.

Topics: Various agreements between CIHR and Pharmaceutical companies, non-profit Organizations and Government. See CIHR web site for complete listing of Agreements. (www.cihr-irsc.gc.ca)

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 240

Postdoctoral Fellowships

Description: Postdoctoral Fellowships provide support for highly qualified candidates to add to their experience by engaging in research either in Canada or abroad. A candidate must hold, or be completing, either a PhD or a health professional degree (or equivalent) in a field such as medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, optometry, veterinary medicine, chiropractic, nursing or rehabilitative science.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of the award; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 075

President's Fund

Description: Information related to funds made available for grants and awards in support of projects that cannot benefit from the assistance available under the CIHR's regular programs.

Topics: Individual requests; decisions; administration; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 270

Proof of Principle Program

Description: The objective of this program is to facilitate and improve the efficiency of the commercial transfer to knowledge and technology resulting from CIHR-funded grants and awards.

Topics: Individual applications; reviews by external referees; committee assessments; notification and administration of grants; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 330

Randomized Controlled Trials (formerly Clinical Trials)

Description: A randomized controlled trial (RCT) is a study involving humans where at least two interventions in health care (possibly including placebo or standard care) are compared using random allocation, statistical methodologies and blinding techniques.

Topics: Applications; reviews by external referees; committee assessment; notification and administration of grants; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 160

Science Writer Scholarships

Description: CIHR has established scholarships at both undergraduate and graduate levels to increase the number of Canadian science writers engaged in communicating the findings and implications of health research.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of the award; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 365

Senior Investigators

Description: This funding program has been suspended until further notice. This program is designed to contribute to the salary of investigators of exceptional merit who are leaders in their field having more than ten years' experience as an independent investigator.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of award; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 255

Senior Research Fellowships

Description: This funding program has been suspended until further notice. Senior Research Fellowships are offered to outstanding candidates who have been identified by a Canadian institution as having strong potential to become an independent investigator.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of the award; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 070

Short-term Exchange Grant

Description: Designed to facilitate cross-disciplinary training opportunities by providing financial support primarily to biomedical and health-associated researchers, for short-term (three months maximum) exchange visits to appropriate research centres for specialized training.

Topics: Applications; reviews by the Institute of Genetics; committee assessment; notification and administration of grants; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 410

Special Projects

Description: This program has been suspended until further notice. CIHR will consider projects in those subject areas which do not fall within the terms of reference of any of its regular programs.

Topics: Applications; reviews by external referees; committee assessment; notification and administration of grants; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 195

Strategic Programs Announced through the Request for Application Process

Description: Strategic Programs refer to research funding and/or training initiatives related to CIHR priorities and designed to contribute to CIHR strategic initiatives. Strategic programs, particularly CIHR Institute funding opportunities are launched through Requests for Applications (RFAs) twice a year.

Topics: Please refer to CIHR's website for a complete listing of RFAs, (www.cihr-irsc.gc.ca).

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

The Michael Smith Awards for Research Personnel

Description: In 1993, Dr. Michael Smith was honoured with the Nobel Prize for Chemistry for his discovery and development of a crucial technique, known as site-directed mutagenesis, used in genetic engineering. His discovery enabled researchers to gain enormous insights into the structure and function of genes and proteins. Throughout his career, Dr. Smith strongly encouraged young people to pursue science as a career, and he has used his prize to promote science, encourage women to pursue interests in science and support research on severe mental illnesses, especially schizophrenia. In honouring Dr. Smith's scientific accomplishments and his lifelong promotion of science, CIHR offers Doctoral Research Award, Postdoctoral Fellowship and New Investigator awards in his name.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of the award; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 250

Training Program Grants

Description: A CIHR Training Program consists of a group of excellent mentors/educators, accomplished in health research, who work collaboratively to offer a research training program of defined format and content to a group of trainees.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of the grant; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 325

Tri-Council Workshop/Networking Program

Description: The objective of this program was to help the research community to plan collaborative research projects to be submitted to CIHR and health-related programs of the granting councils. The program was offered only in FY 1999/2000.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of the grant; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Program Record Number: CIHR CIHR 310

Workshops and Symposia

Description: This funding program has been discontinued effective September 1, 2003. As part of its program for research in the health sciences, CIHR is prepared to support a limited number of applications for the support of workshops and certain types of symposia held in Canada.

Topics: Individual applications; committee decisions; administration of the grant; general correspondence.

Access: Information arranged by name of applicant.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Applicants' History Sheets and Notification of Award

Description: This bank contains Applicants' History Sheets for individuals, which are kept in the Programs Branch. These sheets, which are cumulative over the life of the program, are identified by the applicant's name and file number. They also contain information such as the title of the grant application, amount requested and funded or rejected. The Finance Section also keeps copies of notifications of awards, which contain the applicant's name, address, university, grant number and amount awarded. This information relates to investigators holding an academic appointment in a Canadian Health Science Faculty, and Research Trainees. This information is used to maintain a history of the CIHR's financial support to individuals.

Class of Individuals: Investigators holding an academic appointment in a Canadian School of medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, nursing, optometry, or pharmacy.

Purpose: This bank is used to identify applicants and to constitute a history of CIHR support to individuals and organizations.

Consistent Uses: The information collected is to provide historical data which assists the peer review process.

Retention and Disposal Standards: The bank is updated annually and retained permanently.

Partnership and Knowledge Translation Portfolio

Partnerships Grants and Awards Application and Assessment Records

Description: This bank contains supporting documentation of proposed projects and of individual applications for funding under one of the several Partnership programs sponsored by the CIHR. It contains applications, third-party assessments, committee assessments, site visit-reports, and training, travel and financial administration details on the support of successful applicants. Individuals identified are those applicants meeting the criteria for each program, as amended from time to time, and published in the Canadian Institutes of Health Research's Grants and Awards Guide.

Class of Individuals: This information relates to investigators holding an academic appointment in a faculty of health science in a Canadian university, or employees of a company (the term "company" is understood to mean an organization, industry or consortium which produces health care products or services).

Purpose: This information is used to evaluate the relative merits of the proposals (with the purpose of funding or not funding) and for observing the progress of those proposals that are funded.

Consistent Uses: CIHR also uses information in this bank to identify prospective referees and committee members, to evaluate its programs, and to produce statistics and planning information. Some data is shared between the CIHR and participants in this program.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Files in this bank are retained for eight years: active two years after termination or rejection of special program and dormant six years. They are then transferred to the National Archives of Canada for selective retention.

Research Portfolio

Grants Applicants and Committee Records

Description: The purpose of this bank is to maintain a record of the applications and assessment records of health scientists applying for funding of research projects by CIHR. It contains the relevant Canadian Institutes of Health Research application form and supporting data presented by the applicant, referee and committee assessments of the project, the ranking awarded, the decision of CIHR, and if successful, the financial and administrative data pertaining to its support. Individuals identified are those making project proposals to CIHR.

Class of Individuals: Investigators pursuing health research at a Canadian institution.

Purpose: Information in the bank is evaluated to assess the relative merit of the proposal for the purpose of funding or not funding the project.

Consistent Uses: Information in the bank provides the basis for planning and budgeting of health sciences research activities by CIHR, and is useful in the monitoring of the peer review system. Information is shared with the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council (SER PPU 004) and the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council (SHR PPU 015, 020). The results of competitions are forwarded to university research administration officers and Dean's Offices who are responsible for processing applications from their institutions before sending them to CIHR, for administering the grants and for informing the candidates of the outcome of their applications.

Awards Applicants and Committee Records

Description: This bank contains records of individual applications for funding under one of several personnel support programs sponsored by the CIHR. It contains applications, third-party appraisals, committee assessments, training, travel and financial administration details on the support of successful applicants. Individuals identified are those applicants meeting the criteria for each program as amended from time to time and published in the Canadian Institutes of Health Research Grants and Awards Guide.

Class of Individuals: Research trainees with BSc, MD, DDS, DVM, MSc, PhD, and D. Pharmacy professors holding an appointment at Canadian institutions engaged in health research.

Purpose: Information in this data bank is used to assess the education and other requirements necessary to meet the criteria of the applicable program, and to evaluate the merits of the application for funding.

Consistent Uses: Information in the bank provides the basis for planning and budgeting of health sciences research activities by CIHR, and is useful in the monitoring of the peer review system. Information is shared with the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council (SER PPU 015) and the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council (SHR PPU 010). The social insurance number is required from the recipients of certain awards to comply with the Income Tax Act. The results of competitions are forwarded to university research administration officers and Dean's Offices who are responsible for processing application from their institutions before sending them to CIHR, for administering the grants and for informing the candidates of the outcome of their applications.

Canadian International Development Agency

Chapter 37

General Information

Background

The Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) supports the sustainable development in developing countries in order to reduce poverty and to contribute to a more secure, equitable and prosperous world.

Responsibilities

CIDA is the federal agency responsible for implementing Canada's Official Development Assistance (ODA) program and for administering most of the ODA budget. CIDA's aid program is administered through a number of aid delivery channels: bilateral (government-to-government) assistance, multilateral development institutions, and supports the development activities of non-governmental organizations (NGOs) and the private sector.

Legislation

- Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade
- Financial Administration Act
- International Development (Financial Institutions) Continuing Assistance Act

Organization

The Agency is headed by the President who reports directly to the Minister for International Cooperation. The Senior Vice-President, the Secretary General, eight Vice-Presidents, two Directors General, and one Chief Information Officer assist the President. These branches are: Africa and Middle East; Americas; Asia; Canadian Partnership; Central and Eastern Europe; Communications; Human Resources and Corporate Services; Information Management and Technology; Multilateral Programs; Performance and Knowledge Management; and Policy.

The President is the Chair of the Executive Committee, which also meets a second time, on a weekly basis for an operational meeting. The Executive Committee is supported by three key committees which have decision-making powers. These are: the Audit and Evaluation Committee; the Policy Committee; and the Corporate Resources Committee. Seven sub-committees, in turn, support the three key committees.

The Corporate Secretariat is responsible for the coordination and the support of the Executive Committee. The Corporate Secretary is also responsible for ministerial correspondence, executive briefings, Access to Information and Privacy requests, Parliamentary Relations, Cabinet Liaison, as well as for providing administrative support to the Minister's office.

In addition, the President is supported by the Business Operations Group whose role is to rationalize the Agency's business processes and practices; foster innovation in programming; provide a forum to address cross-cutting /multi-branch issues; and to resolve operational branches issues.

The Ombudsman is also housed in the President's Office. The Ombudsman provides CIDA staff with a confidential, neutral, independent and informal process which facilitates fair and equitable resolution of workplace related issues

Policy Branch

Policy Branch formulates and maintains the ODA policy framework in support of the Agency's mandate and program priorities in the context of the Government of Canada's international policy objectives and interests. It monitors issues and trends in development assistance and provides strategic advice and information to the Minister, the Agency and other government departments on a wide range of long- and short-term development policy and strategic issues. The Branch also provides specialized expertise on scientific and technical matters and, in certain cases - e.g. environmental assessment - verifies Agency compliance with legislation.

Policy Branch takes the lead on strategic planning and management of the International Assistance Envelope. At the domestic level, the Branch works closely with other departments and agencies on policy research and development, as well as on issues management, to ensure that government policy reflects the full diversity of Canada's relationships with developing countries.

At the international level, the Branch focuses on improving the co-ordination of Canadian development policies with those of other donor countries - e.g., through the Development Assistance Committee of the OECD. Policy

Branch also helps to represent Canada's interests in international fora and verifies that relevant international commitments undertaken by Canada are reflected in the government's international development policies. Policy Branch includes three Directorates: (1) Policy Analysis and Development Directorate; (2) Governance and Social Development Directorate and (3) Corporate Planning and Co-ordination Directorate.

Performance and Knowledge Management Branch

The Performance and Knowledge Management Branch helps improve CIDA's management performance and development effectiveness, through its internal audit, evaluation, results-based management and knowledge management activities. The Branch provides assurance, independent and objective information and advice to management on the continued relevance, success and cost-effectiveness of key CIDA policies, programs and projects, and on the effectiveness of the management systems, processes and practices. It gives methodological support to branches on performance measurement as well as on the development and implementation of performance measurement frameworks. The Branch also supports the Agency in its transition into a knowledge-based learning organization.

Multilateral Programmes Branch

CIDA funds for multilateral programs are channelled through United Nations agencies and other international development organizations. In addition, CIDA and the Department of Finance provide funds to international financial institutions (IFIs) such as the Regional Development Banks and the World Bank. While the organizations are responsible for the administration of projects, Canada participates in their governing bodies to ensure that the organizations operate within the policy guidelines established by the Government of Canada, and that they advance Canada's development objectives in terms of their contribution to meeting the Millennium Development Goals. The Multilateral Branch is composed of five divisions.

Canadian Partnership Branch

Within the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA), the Canadian Partnership Branch (CPB) is responsible for international cooperation programs with colleges, universities, companies, non-governmental organizations, cooperatives, unions and associations.

CPB's programs are carried out in partnership with those organizations. The Branch's main objective is to help the Agency carry out its mandate of supporting sustainable development and reducing poverty in some of the poorest developing countries in the world.

Partner organizations design and carry out projects aimed at improving quality of life and building the capacities of local private sector and civil society. The resulting partnerships promote knowledge and development in the voluntary and private sectors, both in Canada and in the developing country.

CPB is providing strategic advice, knowledge sharing and financial support to 1,300 international cooperation programs and projects being carried out by almost 850 partners.

CPB is divided into five divisions: the Private Sector Division; the Voluntary Sector Division; the Agency Services and Canadian Relations Division; the Knowledge, Policy and Planning Division; and the Management and Operational Support Division.

Central and Eastern Europe Branch

The Central and Eastern Europe Branch focuses on supporting democratic development and economic liberalization in Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union, by building mutually beneficial partnerships. Within this overall framework of promoting Canadian global interests and security, including nuclear safety, the Central and Eastern Europe Program aims to assist the transition to market-based economies; to facilitate Canadian trade and investment links with the region; and to encourage good governance, democracy and adherence to international norms.

The program works through partnerships, which transfer knowledge, skills and technology between Canadian organizations and those in the recipient country. In this way, Canada is helping the countries of Central and Eastern Europe reorient their human resources, build and adapt key institutions, and develop the policies needed to run a stable market economy and modern democracy - and, ultimately, to attract more foreign trade and investment. The program also aims to improve the safety of Soviet-designed nuclear power stations and continues to provide humanitarian assistance in countries such as Tajikistan.

Canada has funded a program in Central and Eastern Europe since 1989, but it is only since 1995 that CIDA has delivered this assistance on behalf of Canadians. The special budget for helping countries in transition is in addition to, and separate from, the official development assistance (ODA) budget.

Africa and Middle East Branch

CIDA's Africa and Middle East Branch is headed by a Vice-president and is subdivided into ten divisions: Policy, Strategic Planning and Technical Services; Management Services and Employee Development; North Africa and Middle East; Sahel and Ivory Coast; Atlantic West Africa; Gulf of Guinea Region; Southern Africa; Eastern Africa and the Horn of Africa; Central Africa and Great Lakes; and Panafrican Program and Francophonie.

As well, the Canada Fund for Africa is administered by a separate Secretariat within the Branch.

The policies and strategies developed for cooperation with Africa and the Middle East complement Canada's foreign policy objectives and are in line with the specific mandate of CIDA. The Branch has two principle objectives: poverty reduction and the promotion of Peace and security.

Americas Branch

The Americas Region is composed of the following six geographic divisions: the Caribbean; Haiti, Cuba and the Dominican Republic; Central America; Andes, Brazil and Southern Cone and the Inter-American programme. In addition, for programme management and policy co-ordination purposes, the Branch has a Policy, Planning and Management Division.

The Americas Region is highly diverse geographically, developmentally, and with respect to resource distribution. CIDA supports development activities that promote social, political, economic and environmental sustainability through a strategy of promoting a more equitable economic growth and poverty reduction. Sectors of involvement include: health, water and sanitation, education, child protection, agriculture, economic development, environment, forestry, fisheries, transport, energy, telecommunications, and mining.

Activities in the area of social development, institutional support, and industrial co-operation can be funded through Bilateral, Multilateral, and Partnership channels and implemented by Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs), Non-Governmental Institutions (NGIs), and private sector enterprises. CIDA also supports small development projects in almost all countries through the Canada Fund for Local Initiatives. CIDA promotes equality between women and men through all of its activities as well as through regional gender equality funds.

Asia Branch

The principal role of Asia Branch is to plan, develop and implement Canada's bilateral development cooperation program in Asia by matching Canadian capabilities and resources with the needs of recipient countries.

Under the direction of a Vice-president, Asia Branch comprises six geographic program divisions as well as a strategic planning and policy division and a strategic management division. Each geographic program is responsible for the identification, development and management of development cooperation activities with one or several recipient countries.

The goal of Asia Branch is to promote growth with equity in Asia including strengthening the basis for its prosperity and promoting security within the region. It has adapted its programs and projects to meet the changing realities of the diverse economies of the region and therefore undertakes a wide range of specific development initiatives, from direct grassroots poverty reduction to helping local governments improve economic and social policy frameworks, as well as helping Asian private sectors access expertise and technology from the Canadian private sector. Special attention is given to reinforcing national and regional security through support to better governance, democratic development and human rights activities.

There are approximately 410 ongoing projects, including 26 Canada Funds, across the range of CIDA's priorities. Programming in the areas of basic human needs (including education and health) and human rights, good governance and democratic development account for approximately 60% of the Branch's aid budget of approximately $320 million in 2003/04. Other development priorities receiving strong support are gender equality, environment and private sector development. The Branch implements projects across Asia by using contractors, consultants, non-governmental organizations (NGOs) and individual cooperants. Some projects, such as Canada Funds, are managed in Asia by High Commission or Embassy staff.

Human Resources and Corporate Services Branch

The Human Resources and Corporate Services Branch's role is to promote a qualified, productive and sustainable workforce as well as an enabling environment which encourages organizational effectiveness, service delivery improvement and continuous learning in order to support the Agency in the pursuit of its mandate. It develops, implements, and encourages the use of corporate tools, mechanisms and practices in the sectors of human resources, finance, contracting management, administrative and security services and facilitates the adoption by the Agency of exemplary practices in these areas.

The Branch is responsible for the delivery of an array of user-driven programs and services for the Agency in the sectors of: human resources, administrative and security services, finance, and contracting management, according to CIDA's plans and priorities. Constant provision of advice and level of service in these sectors must be assured while, at the same time, new and improved services and government-wide initiatives are implemented using new technology to facilitate the rapid access to services, information and tools.

Information Management and Technology Branch

The Information Management and Technology Branch (IMTB) provides CIDA with corporate informatics support associated with information management, information technology and office automation. The Branch also helps CIDA identify valuable emerging technologies and information management techniques, and integrate them with our own strategies.

The major strategic thrusts outlined in the Information Management / Information Technology (IM / IT) Strategy define IMTB's role: to help the Agency use technology to deliver projects and programs efficiently, effectively and through collaboration; to use technology to support CIDA's need to manage and capitalize on its relationships; to support CIDA's ability to leverage the Agency's investments, knowledge and experience to achieve greater impact; this must be done by facilitating the strategic implementation of subject and sector portals with technology-based environments that support collaboration and sharing with other stakeholders; to improve the capture, management of and access to CIDA's paper and electronic documents and records in order to make effective and efficient use of the information they hold; and to provide technological tools to enable all CIDA staff, regardless of location, to access, capture, retrieve and reuse Agency information.

These strategic thrusts complement the Agency's business objectives. The Branch currently has six divisions.

Communications Branch

Communications Branch works with broadcasters, independent producers and educators to produce television and radio programs about international development projects, issues and policies. It publishes brochures on programs, information kits on new initiatives. It makes available its collection of 100,000 photographic images that document Canada's role in international development.

The Branch also responds to calls from the media for information, and responds to thousands of inquiries from Canadians—from schoolchildren, university students and business people. Through the Branch's Speakers' Program, senior CIDA staff meet with community leaders across the country. Communications Branch organizes media events with local partners in the regions to highlight their involvement in development projects.

Telling Canadians about the results of our aid program does make a difference.

Policy Branch

Policy Analysis and Development Directorate

Description: The Policy Analysis and Development Directorate is responsible for developing and managing an integrated strategic policy analysis, research and development capacity for the Agency. The Directorate provides leadership in the articulation of a strategic vision for the Agency, formulation of Agency policies across a wide-range of environmental and economic sectors, and a solid foundation of research and analysis for the Agency. The Directorate plays a leading role in representing the Agency in international fora and in the interdepartmental policy development process.

Topics: strategic policy analysis, research and development capacity

Program Record Number: CIDA YAD 1035

Strategic Policy Division

Description: Strategic Policy Division is responsible for providing strategic policy advice regarding the overall direction of the Agency to the Minister, President and Executive Committee. It is responsible for monitoring and analysing the changing context for international assistance, including the geopolitical context, trends in development thinking and the domestic environment with a view to articulating the implications for CIDA's approach to development assistance. In this capacity, the Division takes a lead role in coordinating the preparation of major Agency policy documents, environmental scanning and in positioning CIDA within the Government's overall priorities (including reviews of international policy).

Topics: - strategic policy, International Policy Review

Program Record Number: CIDA YSP 1036

Economic Policies Division

Description: The Division is responsible for contributing to the Agency's policy base in three general areas: trade and development, international finance for development, and other areas pertaining to economic development, including micro-finance, infrastructure services, and natural resources. It has corporate policy responsibilities on tied aid, and for Agency policies on private-sector development, agriculture and rural development and poverty reduction. It provides advice to the Minister, President, senior management and the various branches on these subjects and economic development issues in general. It provides input into Canadian positions at various international fora including the World Bank and the IMF, OECD-DAC, UNCTAD, WTO, and G7/8 meetings. In concert with other divisions and government departments, the Division monitors and advises the Agency on emerging issues in economic development.

Topics: -trade, international finance, economic development, micro-finance, infrastructure services, tied aid, private sector development, agriculture, rural development, Information and Communication Technologies (ICT), UNCTAD, WTO, OECD-DAC, G7/8, biotechnology

Program Record Number: CIDA YDA 1008

Environment Division

Description: The Environment Division is primarily responsible for corporate leadership on environment and natural resource issues. The Environment Division provides policy analysis and advice and seeks strategic opportunities, domestically and internationally, to influence policies and programmes of CIDA and its partners, including other government departments to ensure that development cooperation is environmentally sustainable. For example, the Division works with other branches of CIDA and other government departments to build Canadian policy positions for international negotiations on multilateral environmental agreement (MEAs) such as persistent organic pollutants, climate change, biodiversity and desertification.

In collaboration with CIDA's Continuous Learning section, the Environment Division leads in designing and delivering environmental learning and training initiatives for Agency staff. As well, the Division coordinates EnviroNet, the Agency's knowledge network for environment and provides support for other knowledge sharing networks concerned with climate change and natural resources.

CIDA, through the Environment Division, is the lead agency for Canada, both as a donor and domestically, as an affected party, for the implementation of the UN Convention to Combat Desertification in countries experiencing serious drought and desertification (UNCCD). The Division also houses the Canada Climate Change Development Fund Secretariat which administers the special $100M fund for climate change in support of Canada's International Strategy on Climate Change.

The Division also includes the Environmental Assessment and Compliance Unit which provides technical and scientific expertise to support the implementation of CIDA policies, directives, guidelines and capacity-building programs with regard to the application of environmental assessment, as embodied in domestic and international instruments including the Canadian Environmental Assessment Act and the Cabinet Directive on the Environmental Assessment of Policy, Plan and Program Proposals (otherwise known as Strategic Environmental Assessment). The Unit also provides corporate technical and procedural guidance on the conduct of environmental assessment as required by CIDA's Policy for Environmental Sustainability and the Sustainable Development Strategy. In support of public access to information on environmental assessment, the Unit also administers the Public Registry under the Canadian Environmental Assessment Act.

Topics: environment, natural resources, environmental learning, water, forests, energy, land degradation, climate change, desertification, environmental assessments

Program Record Number: CIDA YEN 1010

Analysis and Research Division

Description: The Division is responsible for undertaking a program of analysis and research to support the development of Agency policy positions and programming. The Division works on both country-specific and broader thematic issues. It works closely with other analysts throughout the Agency, and maintains close relationships with other development-related research organizations such as the World Bank and the Canadian academic community.

Topics: analysis, research

Program Record Number: CIDA YAR 1013

Governance and Social Development

Directorate

Description: The Governance and Social Development Directorate is responsible for policy analysis, policy development and corporate policy stewardship for a wide array of social sector issues in international development. These include the Agency's social development priorities (health and nutrition, basic education, HIV/AIDS, child protection), governance, gender equality, human rights, as well as emerging security issues. As a consequence of its leadership role, the Directorate represents the Agency in the interdepartmental social policy development process, and at domestic and international fora related to governance and social sector issues.

Topics: health, education, HIV/AIDS, child protection, gender equality, human rights, peace and security, governance

Program Record Number: CIDA YGS 1075

Democratic Institutions and Conflict Division

Description: The Division is responsible for articulating CIDA's policy and contributing to Agency practice in regard to governance, peace and security. The Division's governance mandate includes the institutions and practices related to democracy, rule of law, public sector and services, and security system reform -- based in principles of human rights. Governance pertains not only to the guiding role of the State, but also to how civil society and private sector contribute to poverty reduction and sustainable development. It also includes a focus on Indigenous populations in developing countries. With respect to peace and security, the Division is responsible for policy development in the areas of conflict prevention, peacebuilding and security.

Topics: conflict, corruption, governance

Program Record Number: CIDA YDI 1012

Gender Equality Division

Description: The Gender Equality Division works to promote the integration of equality between men and women and the empowerment of women into all of CIDA's policies and processes. The Gender Equality Division provides advice but not funding. The Division supports the Minister for International Co-operation, CIDA's President and the Vice-President of Policy in strengthening and building on CIDA's leadership in the integration of gender equality in development co-operation. The Division's work is strengthened by its networks with international and donor groups, NGOs, academics, and experts to facilitate the incorporation of new learning within CIDA. The Division, in partnership with other corporate groups, regularly provides analysis and advice on CIDA policy documents and procedural guidelines to ensure these continue to promote gender equality; coordinates related professional training at CIDA; and facilitates internal and external communications on gender equality at CIDA. The Gender Equality Division serves on committees and panels to represent CIDA's perspective on gender equality, including: Interdepartmental committees and working groups such as the Interdepartmental Committee on Gender Based Analysis and the Interdepartmental Committee on the Status of Women; Seminars with universities and NGOs; and international bodies like the Organization for Economic Co-operation - Development Assistance Committee (DAC), the Gender Equality Network and the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women.

Program Record Number: CIDA YWD 1015

Human Rights and Participation Division

Description: The Division is responsible for policy analysis and advice in the areas of human rights, children's rights and participatory development. The Division works with other Agency Branches and interdepartmentally to develop and support international policy positions on human rights and development in multilateral fora. The Division includes the Children's Rights Unit, which was created by the Minister in 2000, to support the development and implementation of the Action Plan on Child Protection, one of the four components of CIDA's Social Development Agenda. The Unit also manages a Child Protection Research Fund.

Topics: human rights, children's rights, child protection

Program Record Number: CIDA YHR 1037

Social Development Policies Division

Description: The Social Development Policies Division has as its major role, the sectoral corporate stewardship of three of the four Social Development Priorities (SDPs) of the Agency - Health & Nutrition; Education; and HIV/AIDS. As such, the Division focuses on the Agency's strategic directions / policies in these areas, as articulated in CIDA's Action Plans, under the general umbrella of the Social Development Framework. The Division works closely with other parts of Policy Branch to ensure that the policy stewardship function is coherent with and supportive of the broad policy agenda of the Agency. In addition, the Division maintains close links with other Branches of the Agency in order to: assist in the translation of SDP-related policy into programming through the development of appropriate implementation tools; review the degree of policy implementation through monitoring and analysis of investments in SDP sub-sectors; recommend changes to investment strategies in the SDP sectors and sub-sectors, or to the goals or themes currently defined in the Action Plans. In its role as corporate steward, the Division acts as the primary point of contact for interdepartmental activities in these sectors, and represents the Agency at domestic and international fora.

Topics: health, nutrition, education, HIV/AIDS

Program Record Number: CIDA YSD 1052

Corporate Planning and Co-ordination Directorate

Corporate Planning Division

Description: Corporate Planning is responsible for directing the development of the strategic corporate planning, budgeting and reporting framework and process to ensure the effective alignment of Agency programs with its corporate mandate, priorities and policies. Corporate Planning has a number of core functions: develops and oversees the strategic corporate planning, budgeting and reporting framework and process, which is linked to the achievement of global development goals (the Millennium Development Goals); leads the strategic management of the International Assistance Envelope; prepares corporate reports to Parliament, and the public on the Agency's direction and performance; and develops the Agency's Sustainable Development Strategy and monitors its implementation.

Topics: Millennium Development Goals, International Assistance Envelope, Sustainable Development Strategy

Program Record Number: CIDA YDG 1003

Policy Co-ordination Division

Description: The Policy Co-ordination Division supports the Agency's Minister and executives in the co-ordination of Agency positions on current, critical and horizontal public policy issues and promotes consistency and coherence. It also coordinates Agency relations with other government departments involved in Official Development Assistance (ODA) and with the International Development Research Centre (IDRC). In particular, the Division coordinates CIDA's strategic involvement in international summits and conferences, such as the G8 and the UNGA to ensure the coherence of Canada's policy position and develop messaging strategies for key issues. Furthermore, the Division is responsible for the Agency's relations with other donor countries and, through the Development Assistance Committee (DAC) of the OECD, works to enhance the coordination, coherence and effectiveness of development policies through active monitoring, analysis, and discussion of donor trends.

Topics: OECD, donor & policy coordination

Program Record Number: CIDA YDC 1014

Branch Management Services Division

Description: Responsible for the development and co-ordination of all mechanisms and systems for human, financial and information resources management and planning in Policy Branch. Also responsible for delivering internal contract and administration services, and for advising the Branch senior management on resources utilization, corporate exercises and on the achievement of branch objectives and results.

Topics: human resources, financial resources, management, planning

Program Record Number: CIDA YMP 1001

Strategic Information Division

Description: The Division provides strategic corporate information reports, business intelligence and trend analysis to help the Branch strengthen its capacity to use Agency information for policy development and to support senior management decisions. The Division also coordinates, in collaboration with CIDA's Information Management and Technology Branch and other branches, the identification of the Agency's needs for information to support an integrated corporate planning, budgeting, programming, monitoring and reporting system..

Topics: strategic information, business intelligence

Multilateral Branch

Policy, Planning and Management Division

Description: The Division is responsible for developing, coordinating and representing the Branch's strategic framework, and for monitoring implementation of that framework. The Division coordinates the preparation of the Branch Performance Review and other accountability instruments, as part of a mandate to assess and enhance multilateral effectiveness. The Division is responsible for managing Branch-wide operations, including work planning, human resource and budgetary allocations, information management and administrative services. The Branch ensures synergy, coherence and consistency within the Branch and with other CIDA Branches on these matters. It provides policy advice and support to the other divisions in the Branch and policy advice to the Vice-President on corporate issues.

Topics: Developing/ coordinating /representing/monitoring implementation of the framework, Branch Performance Review, accountability instruments, work planning, human resources, budgetary allocations, information management, administrative services, ensures synergy/coherence/ consistency, policy advice

Program Record Number: CIDA MPM 5102

The Program Against Hunger, Malnutrition and Disease

Description: The function of CIDA's Program Against Hunger, Malnutrition and Disease is to respond to emergencies and foster development. The overriding goal is to reduce hunger and malnutrition and disease as obstacles to sustainable development. The link between nutrition, health and poverty is at the core of the PAHMD's activities: malnutrition weakens the immune system leading to increased disease; disease decreases nutritional intake and prevents people from working; the loss of income results in increased hunger. To break this cycle, the Division is implementing complementary initiatives in the areas of health, food and nutrition support, income generation and institutional strengthening. These include micro-nutrient deficiencies (vitamin A, iron and iodine), which cause serious health problems and reduce the benefits of food intake; targeted food aid to improve the nutritional status of women and children; and the delivery of cost-effective health interventions such as the expansion of tuberculosis control measures and immunization of children against measles.

A maximum of 10 percent of the Division's budget can be utilized for purchases of food aid outside Canada. All remaining food aid procurement is tied to the purchase of Canadian commodities and services. Wheat, pulses and vegetable oils are the main food commodities purchased, with wheat flour, corn and canned fish provided to a lesser extent. Local customs, end-use and the ratio of price-to-nutritional value are determining factors in the selection of products. The bulk of CIDA's food aid assistance is provided through the United Nations' World Food Program, through bilateral channels (country-to-country) and through Canadian NGOs such as the Canadian Foodgrains Bank.

Topics: -reduce hunger/malnutrition/disease, micronutrients, food aid

Program Record Number: CIDA PAHMD 5107

International Financial Institutions Division

Description: The division represents Canada's interests as a shareholder in the international financial institutions, advancing policies by these institutions which support the developmental principles of Canadian foreign policy, particularly with a focus on poverty reduction. It provides investments (paid in capital) and guarantees (callable capital) to facilitate recycling of private capital resources for development financing, and in so doing significantly multiplies the availability of such financing. It also provides funding to the concessional windows of the Regional Development Banks, which lend resources to the poorer developing countries at very low rates of interest. The Division participates with other departments in managing the development dimensions of Canada's relationship with the World Bank Group, where the funding is provided by through the Department of Finance, and in managing Canada's relationship with the IMF. It is also responsible for managing Canada's assistance provided to the Global Environment Facility, the Multilateral Fund for the Implementation of the Montreal Protocol, and the International Fund for Agricultural Development. The Division also promotes policies to improve the developmental effectiveness of these institutions. Moreover, it manages a portfolio of Trust Funds to support project preparation work and policy analysis by Canadian firms and institutions at the IFIs, and contributes to special thematic funds at these institutions.

Topics: Trust Funds, policy analysis, International Financial Institutions

Program Record Number: CIDA MFD 5401

International Humanitarian Assistance Program

Description: The Division provides financial support for efforts to alleviate human suffering caused by natural and human-caused disasters abroad. This assistance is normally channelled through international institutions and Canadian and international non-governmental organizations involved in such work. Core funding is given in support of the programs of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, the United Nations Relief and Work Agency for Palestinian Refugees, the International Committee of the Red Cross and the UN Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs. Grants are also given in support of special appeals launched by these and other humanitarian institutions, including Canadian NGOs specialising in relief work. To ensure the flexibility needed by an emergency response mechanism, a policy of providing largely untied international human assistance program grants is maintained. The Division also has a unit dealing with rapid assessment and response to disasters. The Peace and Security Unit manages the Peacebuilding Fund which provides grants for peacebuilding support to conflict-affected countries, CIDA's corporate relationships with the UN University for Peace and the Pearson Peacekeeping Centre, and the Canadian Policing Arrangement. The Mine Action Unit provides policy leadership and coordination for CIDA programming in support of humanitarian demining, victim assistance and mine awareness, with funds from the Canadian Landmine Fund.

Topics: alleviation of human suffering, natural/human-caused disasters abroad

Program Record Number: CIDA MHA 5301

United Nations and Commonwealth Programs Division

Description: The division seeks to improve the efficiency, effectiveness and impacts of the UN and Commonwealth development institutions. These organizations and programs include UN bodies such as the UN Development Program, UNICEF, the World Health Organization, the UN Population Fund and UNAIDS, as well as institutions of the Commonwealth.

Topics: Improve efficiency/ effectiveness/ impacts of the UN and Commonwealth development institutions

Program Record Number: CIDA MUN 5501

Canadian Partnership Branch

Private Sector Division

Description: The Private Sector Division contributes to poverty reduction through private sector development in developing and transition countries. The Division's Industrial Cooperation Program (CIDA-INC) supports private Sector initiatives that help build the local private sector in developing and transition countries through investment, access to new markets, and the transfer of knowledge, skills and technology, or that improve local infrastructure through professional services. Eligible initiatives have specific, measurable social or environmental benefits for the host country, and offer a sound technical approach with an acceptable level of risk. CIDA-INC's Investment Mechanism supports enterprises that seek to invest in, and establish a long-term business relationship with a local partner to produce goods or services. CIDA-INC's Professional Services Mechanism supports consulting firms that seek to participate in infrastructure projects with positive developmental impacts in the host country. The Division also supports institutional capacity-building through specialized training institutes.

Topics: Poverty reduction through private sector, support to private sector initiatives, investments, access to new markets, transfer of knowledge/skills/ technology, local infrastructure

Program Record Number: CIDA SEL 6201

Voluntary Sector Division

Description: This Division supports the development work of approximately 120 program-funded Canadian voluntary-sector organizations, including non-governmental organizations (NGOs), universities and colleges, cooperatives, unions and professional associations. It also supports the work of more than 150 project-funded organizations. Contributions to NGO programs are organized according to the sector in which they carry out most of their activities. Contributions to Canadian university and college initiatives are managed through a variety of mechanisms according to merit-based competitions. The Projects and Innovation Unit funds short-term projects carried out by Canadian NGOs in partnership with local organizations.

Topics: voluntary sector

Program Record Number: CIDA SNG 6139

Agency Services and Canadian Relations Division

Description: This division manages core services for the Agency. These services include: CIDA's national network of regional offices; a consultation unit for discussing new policy directions with partners and the Canadian public. It manages the Conference Secretariat, which supports the participation of representatives from developing countries and countries in transition, in international and regional conferences with themes of interest to CIDA; the selection of overseas election observers; and manages the partnership with the Centre for Intercultural Learning. It is also responsible for managing contributions to a wide range of partner initiatives targeted to Canadians and youth. These initiatives include: scholarships and awards; internships and exchanges for young Canadians; the placement of Canadian volunteers abroad; and public engagement activities.

Topics: scholarships and awards, internships and exchanges, placement of Canadian volunteers abroad, public engagement activities

Africa and Middle East Branch

The Policy, Strategic and Technical Services Division

Description: The Policy, Strategic Planning and Technical Services Division supports the Vice-president and the Branch Managerial Group on Branch strategic decisions and related day-to-day operations. It provides leadership on Branch policy development, strategic planning, development of sector/thematic frameworks and aid resource allocation. The Division manages the Branch overall programming function and contributes to the programming initiatives of regional divisions. The Division co-ordinates the Branch performance review function as well as communication, information and knowledge management. BFP also serves as an innovation centre for the Branch and is the leading division for representing and advocating AMEB interests. AMEB Technical Services comprises 21 specialists whose areas of competence cover the key aspect of our development cooperation Programme. Their scientific and technical advice contributes to the planning, implementation, monitoring and evaluation cycle of programmes and projects. These scientific and technical specialists (S & T) also contribute to strategic planning exercises in the Branch and the Agency. In addition, they play an important role in ensuring the quality of S & T services provided to the Branch by external consultants. The Information and Technology Management unit (ITM) supports the strategic activities of the Branch by facilitating access to relevant information to support decision-making processes. With respect to operational activities, the unit contributes to the availability of technical tools, systems and effective information management processes, encourages electronic collaboration and facilitates interaction between headquarters and the field.

Topics: Policy development, strategic planning, development of sector/thematic frameworks, aid resource allocation

Management Services and Employee Development Division

Description: The Management Services and Employee Development Division plans and directs financial administration, contracting, administration and human resources development services. In this context, the Management Services and Employee Development Division is responsible for a team of specialists in administrative, financial and contracting services who contribute a wide-ranging background of knowledge and experience. The team gives professional and impartial financial management advice to program managers and project officers to support them in the management of their programs and projects. This Division is also responsible for the management of the administration and salary budget for the Branch as a whole. Additionally, they staff all vacancies and plan training programs tailored to the needs of the Branch's employees.

Topics: Financial planning and administration, contracting services, management advice, human resources development, management of administration and salary budget and staffing.

Program Record Number: CIDA BFX 4205

Central Africa and the Great Lakes Division

Description: The region is composed of: (i) two core programming countries, Cameroon and Rwanda; (ii) one country in transition: the Democratic Republic of Congo; (iii) one country from which CIDA is planning to withdraw its bilateral programming in 2006: Gabon; (iv) six countries where Canadian bilateral support is limited to the Canada Fund: Burundi, Chad, Central African Republic, Republic of Congo, Sao Tome and Principe, and Equatorial Guinea; and (v) sub-regional initiatives supporting peace and security in the Great Lakes Region of Africa. The focus of the Cameroon program under the Cooperation Strategy updated and approved in 2003 is on issues linked to good governance on three levels: central government, sectorial governance and civil society; and the forest sector in the wider context of rural development. As well, some projects within the area of development of human resources are being implemented. The focus of the Rwanda program is on supporting poverty reduction through rural development and governance/decentralization initiatives, with gender equality and HIV/AIDS as crosscutting themes. CIDA's interim DRC program is currently being adjusted to respond to the encouraging recent developments in the DRC through programming focusing on support for good governance within the context of the transition to democracy. In addition, some projects in the area of rehabilitating basic social and economic services are currently being implemented, with the promotion of gender equality and the participation of Congolese women as a crosscutting theme. The Central Africa and Great Lakes Division is also involved in several regional initiatives that are aimed at promoting durable peace and security in the Great Lakes region, and it is currently working with other Government departments in the establishment of an integrated "3 D +" (Diplomacy, Defence, Development) vision to support the DRC's transition. CIDA's bilateral initiatives in the DRC and the Great Lakes region are complemented by important disbursements in humanitarian assistance, provided by CIDA's Multilateral Branch.

Topics: Cameroon, Rwanda, Democratic Republic of Congo, Gabon, Burundi, Chad, Central African Republic, Republic of Congo, Sao Tome, Equatorial Guinea, Great Lakes Region of Africa, Good governance, rural development, development of human resources, poverty reduction, gender equality, HIV/AIDS, rehabilitating basic social and economic services, durable peace and security

Program Record Number: CIDA BFG 4287

East Africa and the Horn of Africa Division

Description: East Africa and the Horn of Africa Division is responsible for government-to-government programming for two of CIDA's nine countries of focus: Ethiopia and Tanzania. Additionally, it manages bilateral programming in the following countries throughout East Africa and the Horn sub-region: Comoros, Djibouti, Eritrea, Kenya, Madagascar, Seychelles, Somalia, Sudan, and Uganda. The Tanzania and Ethiopia programs support a few key priorities identified in each country's own national poverty reduction plans - in Tanzania basic education, private sector development, HIV/AIDS, and good governance; in Ethiopia food security/agriculture & water, and governance/capacity building. The general objectives of the bilateral programming in the remaining countries of the sub-region are: 1) to promote regional peace and security; 2) to improve democratic development, good governance and human rights; 3) to support national Education for All efforts; 4) to reduce HIV/AIDS prevalence; and 5) to promote gender equity. A Canada Fund for Local Initiatives is active in most countries to help support small-scale projects.

Topics: Ethiopia, Tanzania, Comoros, Djibouti, Eritrea, Kenya, Madagascar, Seychelles, Somalia, Sudan, Uganda, Peace and security, democratic development, education, HIV/AIDS, gender equity
Program Record Number: CIDA BFK 4218

Gulf of Guinea Division

Description: The Gulf of Guinea Division is responsible for managing CIDA's bilateral development assistance programs in Ghana Togo and Nigeria. The Nigeria Program is new and growing rapidly because Nigeria is a country of regional significance. There are very limited activities in Togo. The Ghana program has been one of CIDA's largest assistance programs, in which CIDA is continuing over 40 years of support to the country's development. Ghana is one of CIDA's countries of concentration in Africa so its aid budget has been substantially increased this year. Its current focus is on improving food security, establishment of sustainable potable water systems, strengthening central and local governments as well as supporting the efforts of the Government of Ghana with the implementation of its poverty reduction strategy. CIDA reopened the Nigeria program in 1999 with short term initiatives that reinforced the emergence of democracy and respect for human rights, immunization against polio and anti-corruption efforts. The current and longer term program focus is on agriculture, health and the environment. Togo is the beneficiary of a small embassy-managed Canada Fund for Local Initiatives which finances non-government activities aimed at reducing poverty and encouraging democracy.

Topics: Ghana, Togo, Nigeria - Food security, potable water systems, poverty reduction, democracy, immunization against polio, anti-corruption, agriculture, health and environment
Program Record Number: CIDA BFW 4249

North Africa and Middle East Division

Description: This program includes North Africa (Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia), Middle East (Jordan, West Bank/Gaza, Lebanon, Yemen), Egypt and Iraq. CIDA's programming supports three themes: the search for peace, development of democratic institutions, and achievement of equality through poverty reduction and capacity building. Sustainable development vitally complements efforts made to reach a lasting peace in the Middle East. The Canadian aid program pursues the following objectives: supporting the transition to economies based on market forces as well as equitable distribution of wealth; strengthening public institutions; promoting the establishment of quality basic education systems, open to both girls and boys; helping civil society to meet new social, political and economic challenges; fostering employment and human resource development, and favouring the emergence and consolidation of mutually beneficial partnerships between Canada and the region.

Topics: Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Jordan, West Bank/Gaza, Lebanon, Yemen, Egypt, Iraq - Peace, development of democratic institutions, poverty reduction, capacity building, education.
Program Record Number: CIDA BFM 4256

Pan Africa and la Francophonie Division

Description: The main objectives of the Pan-African Program are to build Africa's capacity to take responsibility for development tools and promote the emergence and building of a network of institutions capable of action on Africa's wide challenges, to build inter-regional cooperation in seeking innovative solutions to continental and/or inter regional problems, especially in the areas of social development (health, nutrition, education), governance (peace and security trans-boundary environmental issues, gender equality) and economic development (regional and pan-African integration, micro-finance and co-operatives). The program works in close collaboration with a number of African institutions in a multi-donor approach. The Francophonie Program supports the Government of Canada's goals to strengthen solidarity and cooperation among the countries of La Francophonie through the multilateral institutions and development programs of this international organization. The program also supports a limited number of multi-country projects derived from the key themes of recent Francophonie summits.

Topics: inter-regional cooperation, social development, governance, economic development, solidarity and cooperation among the countries of la Francophonie.
Program Record Number: CIDA BFT 4244

Southern Africa Division

Description: Southern Africa is composed of 11 countries, of which Mozambique is considered for CIDA programming a country of focus, and South Africa a country of regional significance. Malawi, Zambia and Zimbabwe are benefiting from a multi-year bilateral program. Botswana, Lesotho, Swaziland, Namibia and Angola are eligible for Canada Fund for local Initiatives (CFLI) and occasionally humanitarian assistance and food aid. Mauritius is not receiving aid support from CIDA. Many of the region's major development challenges correspond to CIDA's priorities and include: HIV-AIDS devastating effects and disproportionate challenges, food security, poverty reduction, education, health gender equity. To a less extent but also important, CIDA's activities in the region are concerned by the status of women, governance and democratic development, human rights, population migration, regional cooperation, economic development, natural resources management, and the environment. The regional dimension is taking a special importance in the region mainly due to the imbalance in poverty acuity and wealth distribution. Relatively rich and well organized South Africa is neighbouring countries of either extreme poverty, dealing with an actual democracy and governance crisis or just coming out long lasting internal conflicts, all of them having to face the HIV-AIDS dramatic social and economic consequences. CIDA, as other donors is looking at supporting regional institutions in their initiatives toward regional consultation, synergy and cooperation.

Topics: Mozambique, Malawi, Zambia, Zimbabwe, Botswana, Lesotho, Swaziland, Namibia, Angola, South Africa, HIV/AIDS - Food security, poverty reduction, education, health, gender equity, governance and democratic development, human rights, population migration, regional cooperation, economic development, natural resources management, environment
Program Record Number: CIDA BFO 4270

Sahel and Ivory Coast Program

Description: We find two countries of concentration in this region, Mali and Senegal, five program-countries, Benin, Burkina Faso, Ivory Coast, Guinea, Niger, and five countries, Cape Verde, Gambia, Guinea-Bissau, Mauritania and Sierra Leone, where most of bilateral co-operation takes place as a Canada Fund for Local Initiatives. Program modulation of those countries takes all of the following into account: the level of development, our co-operation background, their political bond with Canada and mostly, the country needs in term of poverty reduction. Inside Core program countries and program-countries, bilateral programming of Canada responds to priorities expressed in the countries' poverty reduction strategies. In Senegal as well as in Mali, the programs are designed to considerably and effectively contribute to poverty reduction. In Senegal, the program is focused on increased access to basic education, literacy, skilled training and on local economic development. In Mali, the program is contributing to: increasing access to basic social services (health and education); growth of household income and its securement; good governance and state of law. In the five program-countries, programs centre around: the satisfaction of basic human needs (mostly education); accelerated and equitable economic development, especially through micro finance and economic operator support; good governance and public management improvement; and sound natural resource management. A focused attention is given to women as a designated group. On the regional level, strategy consists of supporting economic and co-operation integration inside ECOWAS zone. Risks of loss of control are relatively high in that region, because of the high level of poverty, some fragile political systems and external vulnerability of economies.

The Canada Fund for Africa

Description: The $500 million Canada Fund for Africa, launched at the G8 Summit in Kananaskis in June 2002, was established to support the New Partnership for Africa's Development (NEPAD), a visionary made-in-Africa plan to lift the continent out of poverty, and the G8 Africa Action Plan. The Fund is designed to support bold new initiatives and predominantly large-scale programs that have a major impact on sustainable development in Africa. Its objectives are to foster innovation and economic growth, strengthen African institutions, improve the well-being of future generations of Africans, and help Africans build their capacity to achieve their own development goals. The initiatives of the Fund support African development in such areas as governance and peace and security; health; agriculture, environment, and water; economic growth through trade and investment; and information and communication technologies.

Topics: NEPAD; agriculture; digital divide; economic growth; environment; Canada Fund for Africa; food security; governance; G8; health; HIV/AIDS; trade; water; youth.

Canadian International Trade Tribunal

Chapter 38

General Information

Background

Bill C-110, which established the Canadian International Trade Tribunal (the Tribunal) and dissolved the Canadian Import Tribunal, the Tariff Board and the Textile and Clothing Board, received Royal Assent on September 13, 1988. Sections of the Canadian International Trade Tribunal Act (CITT Act) establishing the corporate structure of the Tribunal were proclaimed on September 15, 1988. Sections of the CITT Act giving the Tribunal operational responsibilities and dissolving the Canadian Import Tribunal, the Tariff Board and the Textile and Clothing Board came into force on December 31, 1988. Pursuant to the NAFTA Implementation Act, on January 1, 1994, the Tribunal became Canada's bid challenge authority in respect of federal government procurement, as contemplated under Article 1017 of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). The Tribunal succeeds the Procurement Review Board of Canada in this capacity. The Tribunal also acts as the bid challenge authority under the Agreement on Internal Trade (AIT) and the Agreement on Government Procurement (AGP).

Responsibilities

The Tribunal is a quasi-judicial tribunal responsible for conducting dumping and countervailing injury inquiries, making inquiries and carrying out recommendations as directed and considering import safeguard complaints by domestic producers. It is empowered to deal with appeals from decisions of the Minister of National Revenue or the President of the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) involving mainly customs and excise matters. The Tribunal receives and decides complaints from Canadian, U.S. and Mexican suppliers that believe that the procurement process conducted by the Canadian federal government was not carried out in accordance with NAFTA, as well as complaints under the AIT and the AGP. The Tribunal also conducts investigations into requests from Canadian producers for tariff relief on imported textile inputs used in their production operations.

Legislation

- Canadian International Trade Tribunal Act, R.S.C. 1985 (4th Supp.), c. 47
- Customs Act, R.S.C. 1985 (2d Supp.), c. 1
- Excise Tax Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. E-15
- Special Import Measures Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. S-15

Organization

The Tribunal consists of a chairperson, two vice-chairpersons and not more than six other permanent members appointed by the Governor in Council. The Governor in Council may also appoint up to five temporary members, as required. The Tribunal is supported by the Research Branch, the Legal Services Branch, the Management Services Branch and the Secretariat.

Classes of Personal Information

Some CMCC files summarized in the program records contain personal information which is not used in a decision-making process directly affecting the individual to whom it relates.

Examples are inquiries about CMC and CWM collections, programmes and services, information and advice given to individuals by CMC and CWM employees about museums and museum objects, and information about individuals in documents relating to grants or proposed grants to institutions.

These classes of personal information are kept on the relevant subject files and are not identifiable by name of the individual or other personal identifier. To retrieve these classes of personal information, the CMCC would need as much detail as possible about the subject matter, the geographic location and the time the information would have come to the CMC or the CWM.

The retention periods for these classes of personal information are the same as those for the subject files containing the information.

Classes of Personal Information

Some CMN files summarized in the program records contain personal information which is not used in a decision-making process directly affecting the individual to whom it relates. Examples are inquiries about CMN and its collections, programmes and services, information and advice given to individuals by CMN employees about museums and museum objects, and information about individuals in documents relating to grants or proposed grants to institutions.

These classes of personal information are kept on the relevant subject files and are not identifiable by name of the individual or other personal identifier. To retrieve these classes of personal information, the CMN needs as much detail as possible about the subject matter, the geographic location and the time the information would have come to the Museum.

The retention periods for these classes of personal information are the same as those for the subject files containing the information.

Canadian Nuclear Safety Commission

Chapter 41

The annual update for this institution was not received for inclusion in the 2004-2005 version of this Info Source publication. The following is from the 2003-2004 version of Info Source.

General Information

Background

The Nuclear Safety and Control Act was passed by Parliament in 1997 to better reflect the current regulatory mandate and priorities. The legislation replaced the Atomic Energy Control Act and paved the way for the creation of the Canadian Nuclear Safety Commission (CNSC). The strengthened regulations and new authorities given to the Commission represent the first major overhaul of Canada's nuclear regulatory regime since the creation of the Atomic Energy Control Board (AECB) more than 50 years ago. The Commission's creation follows the coming into force of the Nuclear Safety and Control Act on May 31, 2000. It is a departmental corporation, named in Schedule II of the Financial Administration Act. The CNSC reports to Parliament through a designated Minister, currently the Minister of Natural Resources Canada.

Responsibilities

Our mandate is to ensure that the use of nuclear energy in Canada does not pose an unreasonable risk to health, safety, the environment and national security. This mandate extends to the control of import and export of nuclear materials and other prescribed substances, equipment and technology, and to fulfilling Canada's obligations under the Canada-International Atomic Energy Agency Safeguards Agreement, pursuant to the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons. We achieve our mandate through regulations that establish a comprehensive licensing system which covers nuclear facilities, nuclear materials and other prescribed substances and equipment, including the certification of domestic and foreign transport package designs. This licensing system, which operates on a cost recovery basis, is administered to take into account the concerns and responsibilities of federal and provincial government departments in such areas as health, environment, transport, and labour. We also contribute to international agencies and, through cooperation agreements, assist other countries in improving their regulatory controls of nuclear materials and facilities.

Legislation

- Nuclear Safety & Control Act, S.C. 1997, chapter 9
- Nuclear Liability Act, R.S.C., 1985, chapter N-28

Organization

The Commission is constituted as a corporate body of up to seven members, one of whom is President and Chief Executive Officer appointed by the Governor in Council. Through the President, the Commission receives advice from a Legal Services Unit, composed of legal experts provided from the Department of Justice and a medical liaison officer, who represents the Group of Medical Advisors. Our officers and employees implement the policies of the Commission and make recommendations to the Commission on regulatory matters. Staff is organized into four directorates and one secretariat as described below.

Directorate of Reactor Regulation

The Directorate of Reactor Regulation is responsible for regulating the operation of all nuclear power plants in Canada. It is responsible for the development of safety standards and licensing conditions, for assessment of licence applications, for preparing licensing recommendations to the Commission, and for compliance activities.

Directorate of Fuel Cycle and Materials Regulation

The Directorate of Fuel Cycle and Materials Regulation is responsible for the regulation of uranium mining and processing, research facilities, particle accelerators, nuclear substances and devices, decommissioning and waste management, and the packaging and transportation of radioactive materials.

Directorate of Environmental and Human Performance Assessment

The Directorate of Environmental and Human Performance Assessment (DEHPA) assesses licensee performance in the areas of radiation and environmental protection, quality assurance, training and human factors. This directorate is also responsible for technical training of CNSC and foreign staff; CNSC obligations related to the Canadian Environmental Assessment Act; and for investigation of accidents and significant events.

Directorate of Corporate Services

Corporate Services is responsible for the CNSC's programs and policies for the management of its financial and human resources and for its information, physical and information technology assets. In addition, Corporate Services is responsible for the organization's communications, external relations, strategic planning and emergency preparedness programs.

Office of Regulatory Affairs

The Office of Regulatory Affairs is responsible for organization-wide programs, initiatives and actions that enhance the CNSC's regulatory effectiveness, efficiency and overall operation.

Office of International Affairs

The Office of International Affairs (OIA) licenses the export and import of controlled nuclear items. It implements Canada's bilateral nuclear cooperation agreements, international safeguards agreements, domestic nuclear security and international physical protection requirements. The OIA manages a safeguards research and development program, advises on multilateral nuclear non-proliferation issues and coordinates the CNSC's participation in other international activities.

Secretariat

The Secretariat plans the business of the Commission and gives technical and administrative support to the President and to the other Commission members. This involves related communications with the Minister's Office and all other stakeholders, including government departments, intervenors, licensees, media and the public. The Secretariat is also the official registrar in relation to Commission documentation and manages the hearing process.

Program Record Number: AEB SEC 220

Organization and Functions

Description: Information on CNSC activities.

Topics: Organization of the Commission; appointments; significant development reports; meetings of internal heads of directorates or sections; annual reports; Policy and Practices Manual; Administrative Policy and Procedures Manual; and Minister's briefings.

Program Record Number: AEB SEC 005

Orientation Facilities

Description: Information on foreign countries interested in purchasing CANDU reactors or technology.

Program Record Number: AEB DOA 260

Particle Accelerators

Description: General information on particle accelerators.

Topics: Courses and seminars; standards and guidelines; technical information; and relations with Health Canada.

Program Record Number: AEB DFC 075

Prescribed Equipment

Description: Information on general export control of prescribed equipment, such as nuclear reactors, fuel processing facilities, heavy water plants and nuclear accelerators.

Program Record Number: AEB DRS 125

Prescribed Substances

Description: Information on prescribed substances, which are defined as radioactive isotopes of all elements and any substances containing such isotopes which are designated as capable of releasing atomic energy. The CNSC maintains files on all licensed users and producers of radioisotopes in Canada.

Topics: Use; exports; policies; health precautions.

Program Record Number: AEB DFC 155

Prescribed Substances – Accidents, Unauthorized Uses

Description: Information on situations where possible risk to workers and the public is caused by radioactive contamination and exposure.

Topics: Contamination of jewellery and pottery; improper safeguards for radioisotopes use - hospitals, pharmaceutical labs, research labs; transportation accidents; unauthorized uses of radioactive materials; contamination.

Program Record Number: AEB DFC 175

Provincial Governments

Description: Information on dealings with the provincial governments and two territories.

Program Record Number: AEB SEC 240

Public Information

Description: Information requests; Federal Identity Program; programs; policies and procedures; projects and publications; public opinion projects; editorial services; translation and revision.

Program Record Number: AEB SEC 020

Quality Assurance

Description: Information on the overall design quality of nuclear facilities.

Topics: Standards; manufacturers; manufacturer quality assurance programs.

Program Record Number: AEB DAA 110

Radiation Protection

Description: Information on radiation protection for workers, public and environment affected by reactor facilities.

Program Record Number: AEB DRR 040

Radioactive Waste Management Facilities

Description: Information on every radioactive waste management facility in Canada.

Topics: Low-level storage; high-level storage; reactor wastes; uranium tailings; chemical treatment; licensing; maintenance; compliance.

Program Record Number: AEB DFC 190

Reactor Codes and Standards

Description: Quality assurance codes and standards used in the design of nuclear facilities.

Topics: Components; inspections; quality control; reliability and maintainability of concrete containment structures; protective systems and instrumentation; and seismic design requirements for CANDU.

Program Record Number: AEB DAA 095

Reactor Operating Training

Description: Information retained to help in the preparation of the evaluation of training programs and the examination of reactor operators according to CNSC standards.

Topics: Ontario Power Generation, Hydro-Québec, New Brunswick Electric Power; Bruce Power; AECL.

Program Record Number: AEB DRR 070

Reactor Safety

Description: Information on the development of safety requirements for nuclear facilities.

Topics: Siting guides; reactor safety criteria.

Program Record Number: AEB DRR 090

Reactors – General

Description: General information on the operation of reactor facilities.

Program Record Number: AEB DRR 030

Regulatory Documents

Description: Information on the development of CNSC regulatory documents excluding nuclear safety legislation and Canadian nuclear safety and control regulations. Documents are developed using public consultation and used for the guidance of licensees and other regulated persons involved with the nuclear energy field and prescribed substances.

Topics: Regulatory documents, public consultation.

Program Record Number: CNS ORA 255

Safeguards

Description: Policies and measures for the non-proliferation of nuclear energy.

Topics: Domestic and international safeguards; costs; reference documents; instrumentation; inspection procedures; accountability; visits and inventories of nuclear facilities in Canada; safeguards inspectors; special studies on accountability for highly enriched uranium and non-destructive measurement devices.

Program Record Number: AEB DRS 150

Safeguards Support Program

Description: Research and development contract reports and Safeguard Support Program Reports.

Program Record Number: AEB DRS 250

Security

Description: Information on the physical security of nuclear facilities and personnel.

Program Record Number: AEB DRS 140

Steam Rebuild Programs

Description: Information on improvements of original deficient steam generators in some of the reactors.

Topics: 600MW, 500MW, and 850MW steam generator rebuild programs.

Program Record Number: AEB DRR 050

Transportation

Description: Policies, regulations and practices for the safe handling and transportation of radioactive materials in Canada and abroad.

Topics: Shipping regulations; labelling requirements for radioisotopes; transportation of radioactive waste; liability insurance; regulations for all modes of transportation - air, road, rail and marine; certificates; Canada Post Corporation; emergency procedures; accidents and standards; transportation of nuclear materials to and from foreign countries; endorsements from foreign countries for shipping containers; technical aspects of shipping, containers and testing programs.

Program Record Number: AEB DFC 160

United Nations Disarmament Commission

Description: Information on the United Nations Non-Proliferation Treaty on Nuclear Weapons, international safeguards, international agreements and various United Nations committees on nuclear energy.

Access Request Data Bank

Description: This bank contains the access request forms sent by individuals requesting access to files, the replies to such requests and information related to their processing.

Class of Individuals: Canadian citizens, permanent residents of Canada and individuals present in Canada.

Purpose: It is used for processing access requests only, and to report on the number of access requests received annually.

Retention and Disposal Standards: These files will be kept for five years and then destroyed.

RDA Number: 91/024

TBS Registration: 004128

Bank Number: AEB PPU 045

Applications for Employment

Description: This bank exists to maintain an inventory of applicants from the general public or the federal government for employment with the CNSC. It includes correspondence, applications for employment, curricula vitae and other personal information.

Class of Individuals: Individuals seeking employment.

Purpose: This bank is used to identify applicants for possible future appointments to the Commission staff.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Records are retained in the bank for six months and then destroyed.

RDA Number: 91/024

TBS Registration: 004126

Bank Number: AEB PPU 035

Examinations and Results

Description: This bank maintains a record of the examinations given to personnel at nuclear reactor facilities. Data includes names of individuals, titles of examinations written and results in terms of success or failure.

Class of Individuals: Employees at Class I facilities (nuclear generating stations and non-power facilities).

Purpose: The CNSC sets these examinations to ensure that the requirements for operating personnel are met.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Records are retained indefinitely. Paper and electronic copies of the information which is stored as a subset of this bank are retained for two years before they are transferred to classified waste.

RDA Number: 91/024

TBS Registration: 004123

Bank Number: AEB PPU 015

Exposure Device Operator

Description: This bank maintains a record of the personal information and certification results for all candidates certified or seeking certification as exposure device operators, and those previously certified as Qualified Operators. Data includes names and addresses of individuals, titles of examinations written and results in terms of success or failure.

Class of Individuals: Individuals employed or seeking employment as Exposure Device Operators.

Purpose: The CNSC certifies exposure device operators based on education, training and experience. This database tracks all candidates information in relation to certification.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Records are retained for as long as the individual is certified. When the individual is no longer certified, the records are retained for 2 years and then destroyed.

RDA Number: 91/024

TBS Registration: 005095

Bank Number: CNS PPU 060

Health and Safety Regulations: Inspection Officers

Description: This bank may contain data on nationality, age, sex, education and special training, and employment history, as well as correspondence with provinces leading to appointments. There may be sensitive material relating to federal-provincial negotiations for service.

Class of Individuals: Canadian citizens and residents of Canada.

Purpose: The purpose of this bank is to record information relating to the appointment of employees of provincial government departments or health institutes, to act as inspectors under the Nuclear Safety and Control Regulations. The bank provides an up-to-date identification of individuals appointed as inspectors.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Records are kept for five years and then destroyed.

RDA Number: 91/024

TBS Registration: 004122

Bank Number: AEB PPU 010

Health and Safety Regulations: Medical Advisers

Description: The bank contains names and details concerning present employment and area of jurisdiction, and communications between the CNSC and parent agencies or the individuals prior to appointment. The bank provides an up-to-date status of individual appointments by name. Individuals this bank relates to are all qualified medical officers, who may be from provincial government departments, hospitals, institutions, or the federal service.

Class of Individuals: Canadian citizens, medical officers.

Purpose: The purpose of the bank is to record information on the appointment of medical advisers to the CNSC.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Records are retained during the tenure of appointment and for five years and then destroyed.

RDA Number: 91/024

TBS Registration: 004121

Bank Number: AEB PPU 005

Personal Service Contract Files

Description: The bank includes basic personal data, subject matter and terms of contract.

Class of Individuals: Information on organizations and individuals from the private sector under contract for services.

Purpose: The purpose of the bank is to maintain an accurate account of all contracts. The primary use of the bank is to record negotiations between the CNSC and the individuals concerned.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Records are retained for six years and then destroyed.

RDA Number: 91/024

TBS Registration: 004127

Bank Number: AEB PPU 040

Reactor Operators and Training

Description: Data in this bank include a record of correspondence, details of education and experience, and basic personal information.

Class of Individuals: Employees at reactor sites.

Purpose: The purpose of the bank is to provide an accurate and up-to-date record of all information on authorizations and appointments of individuals to designated positions at nuclear generating stations and research reactor sites.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Records are retained for sixty years and then destroyed.

Canadian Polar Commission

Chapter 42

General Information

Background

In September 1985 the Minister of Indian Affairs and Northern Development commissioned a study group to investigate the state of Canadian polar science. Based on extensive consultations with Canada's northern research community, government departments, and non-government organizations, the study group produced its report, Canada and Polar Science, in March 1987.

Among its recommendations was a call for the creation of "a national body to provide ongoing contact, at a senior level, between the federal government and those concerned with Canadian polar science and research".

Professor Thomas Symon's report The Shield of Achilles, which became the draft of a mandate for the Canadian Polar Commission, expressed concern that a new commission not duplicate the efforts of other institutions, but "build upon, complement and support the work of the many diverse existing Canadian institutions, programmes, and organizations that are dedicated to the development of polar knowledge".

The Canadian Polar Commission was established by Parliament in 1991 as Canada's national advisory agency on polar affairs. It supports Canada's polar research community by developing new information resources and technologies, and by helping bring a fresh and vital perspective to bear on Canadian policy making with respect to the Arctic and Antarctic. The Commission encourages the growth of new partnerships between the science community and Northern Canadians, and seeks actively to raise the profile of polar research at the national level.

Responsibilities

The Polar Commission's mandate requires it to: Monitor polar knowledge in Canada and around the world; work with Canadian and international institutions to determine scientific and other priorities; encourage support for Canadian polar research; communicate polar research information to Canadians; and foster international co-operation in the advancement of polar knowledge.

The Commission can: initiate, sponsor and support conferences, seminars, and meetings; undertake and support studies on matters relating to the polar regions, and publish and disseminate relevant studies and reports; recognize relevant achievements and contributions and give prominence to Canadian polar scientific research and its application; support and encourage organizations, institutions, and individuals involved in polar research.

Legislation

- Canadian Polar Commission Act (February 1991)

Organization

The Canadian Polar Commission Board members are selected for their northern expertise, and to reflect the ethnic, linguistic, and regional diversity of Canada's polar regions. Full-time employees in the Public Service of Canada are not eligible. Members hold office for three years, and may be appointed for a second term.

Personal Information Banks

Applications for Employment

Description: The records related to this bank contain information on individuals who have submitted applications for employment and related correspondence. The records may contain letters, completed application forms, résumés, letters of reference and letters from the Commission acknowledging receipt of applications. The types of personal information collected include: applicant's name, mailing address, telephone number, e-mail address, employment status and history, marital status, age, sex, country of birth, citizenship, social insurance number, educational background and letters of recommendation.

Class of Individuals: Individuals seeking employment with the institution.

Purpose: To maintain an inventory of potential candidates that may be considered for use in a staffing purpose when vacancies arise within the Canadian Polar Commission.

Consistent Uses: Relevant information may be transferred to an employee personnel record if the individual is offered and accepts employment. This information may also be used for planning and evaluation purposes.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Individual applications that are not considered during a staffing process are retained for six months after receipt of the application and then destroyed. Applications considered during a staffing process are retained for 3 years following the expiry of the eligibility list or after the last administrative use and then destroyed.

Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission

Chapter 43

General Information

Background

The Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) was established by Parliament in 1968. It is an independent public authority constituted under the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. C-22, as amended) and reports to Parliament through the Minister of Canadian Heritage.

The CRTC is vested with the authority to regulate and supervise all aspects of the Canadian broadcasting system, as well as to regulate telecommunications common carriers and service providers that fall under federal jurisdiction. The CRTC derives its regulatory authority over broadcasting from the Broadcasting Act (S.C. 1991, c. 11, as amended). Its telecommunications regulatory powers are derived from the Telecommunications Act (S.C. 1993, c. 38, as amended) and the Bell Canada Act (S.C. 1987, c.19 as amended).

Responsibilities

In broadcasting matters, the CRTC regulates and supervises the public, community and private sectors with a view to implementing the broadcasting policy for Canada set out in section 3 of the Broadcasting Act. It has the power, inter alia, to issue, renew and amend licences and to set any conditions of licence it deems appropriate. With respect to federally-regulated telecommunications carriers, the CRTC has the power to ensure that the rates charged by the carriers are just and reasonable, and that Canadian carriers do not unjustly discriminate in relation to the provision of telecommunication services. The Commission's approval is also required for traffic and certain other types of agreements. The Commission also has powers to forbear from the regulation of services of Canadian carriers. In order to fulfil its mandate, the CRTC collects a variety of information pertaining to applicants and existing licensees of programming, distribution or network undertakings across the country. Financial and operating information is collected on a yearly basis in Annual Returns. Programming on radio and television is monitored: television stations, including pay television and specialty services, must submit detailed program logs monthly and radio stations must submit their program logs upon request. In the course of the public hearing process, information concerning the applications being heard is made available for public examination, as outlined in the CRTC Rules of Procedure. These public files include interventions made by anyone wishing to express his/her views with respect to particular applications or issues raised in public hearings. In telecommunications hearings, interrogatories and other more formal practices may be carried out, as outlined in the CRTC Telecommunications Rules of Procedure. The Commission receives complaints and inquiries from specific individuals or corporations, or interest groups regarding both broadcasting and telecommunications. Copies of complaints relating to broadcasting matters are forwarded to the licensee concerned for comment and placed on a file available for examination by the public. As appropriate, they may be forwarded to the Canadian Broadcast Standards Council (the CBSC), which administers industry standards and codes of conduct or to the Cable Television Standards Council (CTSC) which administers Cable Service Standards.

Organization

The Secretary General

The Office of the Secretary General is the formal point of contact for the general public and industry with the Commission and communicates decisions and notices on behalf of the Commission. In addition, the Office of the Secretary General is responsible for the administrative activities of the Commission and oversees the following directorates: Finance and Corporate Services, Human Resources, Secretariat and Client Services, Informatics Services and Information Management.

Finance and Administrative Services

This Branch provides financial, management and administrative services to ensure the efficient and cost effective operation of the Commission. It is responsible for corporate resource-based issues including cost recovery, policy issues dealing with CRTC Broadcasting Licence Fees and Telecommunications Fees, collection of fees, financial operations, budget management and control, and the preparation of departmental financial statements and Public Accounts; for administrative services including accommodation, telecommunications services, fleet management, and departmental security, public hearings logistics and special projects.

Informatics Services

The Informatics Division is accountable for the co-ordination, administration, development, production and support of all information technology infrastructure and projects to support the collection, organization, maintenance, management and transmission of electronic information. This accountability extends to the long term planning, implementation and evaluation of all processes related to the management of information technology as a corporate resource.

Information Management

The Information Management Division is responsible for document and records management as well as for Information Management tools and services. It is also in charge of the mail services to guarantee the collection, organization, maintenance, management and transmission of information. The Division is responsible for maintaining a collection of information resources relevant to the communications industries in Canada as well as for managing the web site and other Commission publications. Also, the division coordinates the ATIP functions (Access to Information and Privacy) and the headquarters examination room.

Human Resources

Human Resources assists the Commission in carrying out its mandate by ensuring sufficient numbers of staff members who are competent, trained, deployed where needed, appropriately compensated and representative of the Canadian population. To accomplish this, Human Resources provides advice and guidance on the design of the organization and its positions, recruitment and selection of employees, investment in learning and development, maintenance of a positive work environment within the CRTC and administers the administration of pay and employee benefits. Much of this is governed by Acts of Parliament that apply to human resource management across the Public Service.

Secretariat and Client Services

Secretariat provides secretariat support to committee activities of the Commission and coordinates the CRTC's agenda management, and public hearing schedule.

Client Services responds to inquiries and complaints on broadcasting, telecommunications and corporate issues received by telephone, e-mail and letter from the general public as well as from industry, special interest groups and government representatives. This group explains the Commission's mandate, policies and decisions; reviews complaints against regulated companies; provides liaison with self-regulatory councils; and directs the Commission's regional offices as well as their Documentation Centres.

Broadcasting Directorate

The Broadcasting Directorate is responsible for providing the Commission with all information needed to regulate those broadcasting undertakings subject to the CRTC's jurisdiction and for developing general broadcasting regulatory policy for adoption by the Commission. The Directorate develops advice and recommendations to the Commission in order to implement the Broadcasting Policy for Canada set out in section 3 of the Broadcasting Act as well as the regulatory policy set out in section 5. The Broadcasting Directorate is headed by the Executive Director, Broadcasting. The responsibilities of the Directorate are carried out by four divisions reporting to the Executive Director, Broadcasting.

Broadcasting Operations Group

This group is responsible for the analysis of the majority of broadcasting applications from the initial submission through to the issuance of a decision, licence or a licence amendment as well as the public process of all broadcasting applications. It also keeps track and monitors the reporting requirements and programming activities of broadcast undertakings, including radio, television, specialty, pay and pay-per-view services, and the community channels of broadcasting distribution undertakings.

Competitive Disputes Group

Competitive Disputes is responsible for the timely and efficient review and disposition of competitive disputes in a rapidly evolving competitive communications environment. These include disputes of complaints that arise between programming undertakings (pay, pay-per-view, video-on-demand, and specialty services) and broadcasting distribution undertakings (cable, DTH, MDS) which are attempting to negotiate the terms, including wholesale rates, for affiliation agreements; that involve allegations of undue preference conduct by programming undertakings or broadcasting distribution undertakings; and that arise from allegations of inappropriate dealings with respect to exclusive or preferential programming rights. It conducts alternative dispute resolution processes ("ADR") including staff mediation or arbitration where appropriate. Whether proceeding by way of ADR or traditional decision-making process, it ensures that complaints and disputes are resolved in a manner consistent with public policy objectives established by the Broadcasting Act, and Commission policies and regulations made thereunder.

Broadcasting Policy Group

The Broadcasting Policy Group is accountable for planning, organizing and leading the provision of timely and competent analysis and recommendations regarding the economic, social, cultural, competitive and technical implications of proposed regulatory policies, applications or decisions with respect to conventional radio and television services, discretionary services, broadcasting distribution undertakings and social policy, recognizing the distinctions and special needs of Canada's English- and French-language markets. The Group determines and directs research and analysis and makes recommendations on the formulation, definition and enhancement of regulatory frameworks, strategies and policies that address social, cultural, economic, distribution and competitive issues. The group also has responsibility for policy issues related to cable, satellite and other distribution undertakings, as well as for mergers, acquisitions and ownership policy in the broadcasting sector.

Economic Analysis and Research Group

The Economic Analysis and Research Group plans, organizes, coordinates and leads environmental scanning, tracking, research and analysis related to the identification, recognition, monitoring and assessment of critical issues, trends and developments affecting Canada's broadcasting and related industries in both the domestic and global marketplaces; monitors and assesses the impact of government strategies, regulatory and policy decisions and of international regulatory and market forces on the economic performance and the structure of the broadcasting sector; provides strategic information and recommendations on the application of research and analysis findings to the elaboration or review of broadcasting regulatory frameworks and Commission strategies and policy decisions; directs the diffusion of policy and market research to the public and the broadcast industry to assist intervenors in their participation in public hearings and other consultative processes and facilitates transparency in all Commission processes.

Communications Branch

The Communications Branch develops and carries out all communications strategies to inform the public, media, and regulated industries; elaborates on our messages and puts in place strategies and initiates public forums to better engage open discussions with the general public; works towards ensuring that the Commission's views and decisions are transmitted in user-friendly language and distributed in areas accessible to all Canadians; and ensures that the Commission's role, mandate and vision are clear.

Legal Directorate

The Legal Directorate is responsible for providing the Commission and its Chairperson with legal services and advice respecting the implementation and interpretation of broadcasting, telecommunications and other related legislation. The Legal Directorate advises the Commission and its Chairman on the CRTC Act, the Broadcasting Act and Telecommunications Act, as well as statutory instruments such as regulations and rules of procedure made pursuant to these Acts, related federal and provincial legislation, and conflict of interest rules and guidelines.

It conducts questioning at public hearings and represents the CRTC during legal proceedings; provides advice on applications, procedural matters and associated questions on administrative law and policies formulated to further the Commission legislative objectives.

The Legal Directorate also deals with complaints received by the Commission alleging violations of statutes or regulations and drafts regulations and associated amendments.

Telecommunications Directorate

The Telecommunications Directorate develops advice and recommendations to the Commission to ensure the implementation of Canadian telecommunications objectives set out in the Telecommunications Act and to ensure that Canadian carriers provide telecommunications services and charge rates on terms that are just and reasonable, and do not unjustly discriminate or provide an unreasonable preference toward any person. The responsibilities of the Telecommunications Directorate are carried out by seven branches reporting to two Director Generals and to the Executive Director.

Industry Analysis and Regulation

The Industry Analysis and Regulation group provides analysis and advice on all aspects of the Canadian telecommunications industry. It is also responsible for preparing the annual report to the Governor in Council concerning the status of competition in the industry. The group manages the contribution regime that governs the subsidy to telecommunications service in high cost serving areas, the collection of Telecom Fees, and is responsible for the issuance of international telecommunications licences. It also monitors foreign ownership regulation relating to Canadian telecommunications common carriers. Lastly, it is responsible for all regulatory aspects of telephone numbering in Canada including participation in the North American numbering plan. In supporting these activities, the group has developed and operates a large data warehouse that permits data to be collected directly from industry sources, stored, and analyzed.

Consumer Affairs

The Consumer Affairs group's mandate is to ensure the advancement of consumer interests and of consumer access to telecommunications in the context of the continued transition from a monopoly to a competitive telecommunications market. This group is responsible for ensuring the Commission's policies and determinations will result in a consumer friendly marketplace. It oversees the quality of service provided by the telephone companies to subscribers, consumer issues, privacy, disabled access and consumer literacy issues. Goals in this regard include protecting consumers and promoting access to telecommunications for all consumers.

Telecom Policy Decisions

The Telecom Policy group's mandate is to review and interpret, where necessary, the policies of the Commission. The group is responsible for policy framework research, imputation test and mark-up policies, promotion and bundling policies, forbearance policy and for regulatory framework proceedings. In addition, this group assists other groups in their review or development of regulatory frameworks. Finally, it is responsible for ensuring the Commission's policies and determinations include supporting competition, and protecting consumer interests.

Competition Implementation and Technology

The Competition Implementation and Technology group is responsible for dealing with implementation issues related to the Commission's regulatory frameworks which facilitate the introduction and evolution of competition in the various telecommunication markets. This group is responsible for industry negotiated processes such as: the Canadian Interconnection Steering Committee (CISC) that resolves operational and administrative matters among service providers and affected parties; the expedited procedure that addresses competitive disputes; and the Alternate Dispute Resolution (ADR) procedure that resolves conflicts between affected parties. The group also provides support and leadership regarding issues that involve technical matters. This group takes into account the technological evolution that is taking place in the telecommunications industry and puts in place the regulatory frameworks that reflect this evolution both in Canada and globally.

Competitor Services and Costing

The Competitor Services and Costing group is responsible for the review and the development of competitor service rates and costs. The group provides analysis and advice on aspects of rate regulation, competitor service tariffs and the appropriate regulatory framework, including Phase II costing methodology and procedures. It is also responsible for costing compliance and the costing analysis required to determine the subsidy requirements.

Tariffs

The Tariffs group assesses the rates, terms and conditions of tariffed services offered by the regulated telecommunications companies. The group provides analysis and advice pertaining to tariff applications for services provided to residential customers, business customers and to providers of telecommunications services. This group contributes to the review of complex policy issues, that cross a number of sectors/programs, including matters of competition, economics and technology respecting telecommunications carriers under the Commission's jurisdiction.

Decisions, Planning and Operations

The Decisions, Planning and Operations group directs the overall strategic planning and operations of the Telecommunications Directorate, as well as, the editing, co-ordination and publication of Telecom decisions. The group is the main interface with the other Directorates of the CRTC and ensures that the Telecommunications Directorate contributes to the efficient functioning of the entire CRTC. It is also responsible for the development and management of systems and processes to track and report on Telecommunications action plans, as well as, the status of items on an ongoing basis. The group also oversees Government initiatives such as Government on line (GOL) and other parliamentary reporting requirements, as required.

Canadian Security Intelligence Service

Chapter 44

General Information

Background

The Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS) has operated pursuant to the Canadian Security Intelligence Service Act, since its inception in 1984.

Responsibilities

CSIS collects, analyzes and retains information and intelligence respecting activities that may on reasonable grounds be suspected of constituting threats to the security of Canada, and reports to and advises the Government of Canada in relation to these matters.

The Service also plays a role in providing security assessments to departments of the Government of Canada (in accordance with section 13 of the CSIS Act and government security policy) and may provide security assessments to the government of a province or any department thereof, any police force in a province, and to the government of a foreign state or institution thereof or an international organization of states or institutions thereof when a security clearance is a required condition of employment. As well, CSIS may advise any Minister of the Crown on matters relating to the security of Canada, or provide any Minister of the Crown with information relating to security matters or criminal activities that is relevant to the exercise of any power or the performance of any duty or function by that Minister under the Citizenship Act or the Immigration Act. It may also conduct such investigations as are necessary in order to provide security assessments or advice to Ministers. Further, CSIS may, in relation to the defence of Canada or the conduct of international affairs, assist the Minister of National Defence or the Minister of Foreign Affairs and International Trade, within Canada, in the collection of information or intelligence relating to the capabilities, intentions or activities of any foreign state or group of foreign states or any person other than a Canadian citizen or permanent resident, or corporation.

Legislation

- Canadian Security Intelligence Service Act

Organization

The Director, under the direction of the Minister, has the control and management of CSIS and all matters connected therewith. The Assistant Director, Secretariat has the responsibility to support the activities of the Director and senior management. The Assistant Director Corporate has general responsibility for information management, internal security, management services, technical and scientific services. The Deputy Director Operations has responsibility for foreign liaison, human sources, operational support and the regional offices. The Assistant Director Operations reports to the Deputy Director Operations regarding the counter-terrorism, counter-intelligence, counter-proliferation, security screening, analysis and production programs. The Assistant Director Human Resources has overall responsibility for human resource programs.

Canadian Security Intelligence Service Investigational Records

Description: This bank contains personal information on identifiable individuals whose activities are suspected of constituting threats to the security of Canada; on identifiable individuals who are or were being managed as confidential sources of information; on identifiable individuals no longer investigated by CSIS but whose activities did constitute threats to the security of Canada and which still meet the collection criteria stipulated in section 12 of the CSIS Act, and on identifiable individuals the investigation of whom relate to the conduct of international affairs, the defence of Canada or any state allied or associated with Canada or the detection, prevention or suppression of subversive or hostile activities. Exempt Bank Status: This bank has been designated as an exempt bank by Order-in-Council No.14 (CSIS) dated 26 November 1992.

Class of Individuals: Individuals suspected of espionage or sabotage against Canada or the interests of Canada; individuals involved in foreign influenced activities within or relating to Canada that are clandestine or deceptive or involve a threat to any person; individuals involved in activities within or related to Canada directed toward the use of serious acts of violence to achieve a political, religious or ideological objective within Canada or a foreign state; or individuals whose activities are directed toward the unlawful covert undermining, or the overthrow by violence, of the constitutionally established government system in Canada; or any other activities described in the definition of "threats to the security of Canada" at section 2 of the CSIS Act; individuals identified relating to a national security concern, the defence of Canada or the conduct of the international affairs of Canada; and individuals who are confidential sources of information.

Purpose: Collected under section 12 of the CSIS Act with respect to threats to the security of Canada; under section 15 concerning the collection of information for the purpose of providing advice pursuant to section 14; and under section 16 concerning the collection of information or intelligence relating to the capabilities, intentions or activities of foreign states and certain persons.

Consistent Uses: CSIS may only disclose information it obtains if it does so in accordance with the controls of subsection 19(2) of the CSIS Act. First, it may disclose information for the purposes of the performance of its duties and functions under the CSIS Act or the administration or enforcement of that Act, or as required by any other law. The Service may thus disclose personal information to the Government of Canada, for example, as part of its duty to report, and give advice, thereto in relation to activities suspected of constituting threats to the security of Canada. Secondly, where the information in its possession may be used in the investigation or prosecution of an alleged contravention of the law, or where it relates to the conduct of Canada's international affairs or to the defence of Canada, then it may be disclosed to the appropriate police officials and Attorney General, to the Minister of Foreign Affairs and International Trade and to the Minister of National Defence, respectively. Thirdly, information may be disclosed where, in the opinion of the Minister, disclosure to any Minister of the Crown or person in the Public Service of Canada is essential in the public interest and that interest clearly outweighs any invasion of privacy that could result from the disclosure. Pursuant to section 13 and 14 of the CSIS Act, CSIS may also disclose information in the preparation of a domestic or foreign security assessment, or in providing advice under the Citizenship Act or Immigration Act. Personal information may also be disclosed to the Inspector General and the Security Intelligence Review Committee. Information in this bank may also be used for audit, research, planning, evaluation and statistical purposes.

Retention and Disposal Standards:

Information in this bank may be retained from two years to twenty years after the last action, subject to the retention and disposal schedules approved by the National Archivist. When files have been designated as historical, they may be transferred to the custody and control of the National Archives of Canada.

Canadian Security Intelligence Service Records

Description: This bank consists of information on individuals who came to the attention of the former RCMP Security Service while carrying out its responsibilities pertaining to informing the government of national security concerns. This bank may also contain information on individuals who incidentally came to the attention of CSIS as a result of carrying out its mandate under section 12 and/or section 16 of the CSIS Act. This bank may contain information on individuals mentioned in reports related to probable unauthorized disclosure of, or unauthorized access to, classified information or assets.

Class of Individuals: Defectors, human sources or individuals, the nature of whose actions or activities caught the attention of CSIS or of its predecessor, the former RCMP Security Service; individuals suspected of espionage or sabotage against Canada or the interests of Canada; individuals involved in foreign influenced activities within or relating to Canada that were clandestine or deceptive or involved a threat to any person; individuals involved in activities within Canada that were directed toward the use of serious acts of violence to achieve a political, religious or ideological objective within Canada or a foreign state; or individuals whose activities that were directed toward the unlawful covert undermining, or the overthrow by violence, of the constitutionally established government system in Canada; individuals, other than Canadians or permanent residents, whose capabilities, intentions or activities regarding the defence of Canada or the conduct of international affairs are inimical to the interests of Canada.

Purpose: Collected or obtained by CSIS or the former RCMP Security Service and retained by CSIS under section 12 concerning threats to the security of Canada or under sections 15 or 16 concerning the collection of information relating to the capabilities, intentions or activities of foreign states and certain persons.

Consistent Uses: CSIS may only disclose information if it does so in accordance with the controls of subsection 19(2) of the CSIS Act. First, it may disclose information for the purposes of the performance of its duties and functions under the CSIS Act or the administration or enforcement of that Act, or as required by any other law. The Service may thus disclose personal information to the Government of Canada, for example, as part of its duty to report and give advice to the government regarding activities suspected of constituting threats to the security of Canada. Secondly, where the information in the Service's possession may be used in the investigation or prosecution of an alleged contravention of the law, or where it relates to the conduct of Canada's international affairs or to the defence of Canada, then the information may be disclosed to the appropriate police officials and to the Attorney General, the Minister of Foreign Affairs and International Trade, and the Minister of National Defence, respectively. Thirdly, information may be disclosed where, in the opinion of the Minister, disclosure to any Minister of the Crown or person in the Public Service of Canada is essential to the public interest, and that interest clearly outweighs any invasion of privacy that could result from the disclosure. Pursuant to sections 13 and 14 of the CSIS Act, CSIS may also disclose information in the preparation of a domestic or foreign security assessment, or in providing advice under the Citizenship Act or the Immigration Act. Information in this bank may also be used to assist provincial governments, foreign and domestic agencies, on request, through agreements established under section 17 of the CSIS Act. (See Classes of Personal Information at the end of this Chapter) Personal information may also be disclosed to the Inspector General and to the Security Intelligence Review Committee. This bank may be used as a source of information or for linking with other information sources for the purposes of fulfilling CSIS's legislated mandate. This information may also be used for audit, research, planning, evaluation and statistical purposes.

Retention and Disposal Standards:

Information in this bank is under continuous review and files are disposed of in accordance with the retention and disposal schedules approved by the National Archivist. When files have been designated as historical, they may be transferred to the custody and control of the National Archives of Canada.

Complaints Against CSIS or Its Employees

Description: This bank contains complaints communicated to CSIS, the Security Intelligence Review Committee (SIRC) or the Office of the Solicitor General of Canada against CSIS or its employees, and any record generated to resolve such complaints that is under CSIS control. In addition to the requirements indicated on the Personal Information Request form, individuals must provide the location where the complaint was reported and the nature of the complaint to retrieve the information of interest for processing.

Class of Individuals: Individuals involved in complaints against CSIS or its employees.

Purpose: To determine the validity of complaints and to record any corrective measures taken, including recommendations for disciplinary or misconduct proceedings.

Consistent Uses: Used in disciplinary and misconduct processes under the CSIS Act. The SIRC or the Inspector General may also use information in this bank to conduct investigations of CSIS. Information in this bank may also be used for the management of CSIS, research, audit, planning, evaluation and statistical purposes.

Retention and Disposal Standards: A minimum of twelve years after the last documentation on the individual complaint file, then transferred to the National Archives of Canada.

Security Assessments/Advice

Description: This bank contains personal information on individuals who are or have been the subject of a request for a security assessment for pre-employment/employment with federal or provincial government departments and agencies and the private sector working under federal government contracts, when a security clearance is a required condition of employment. This includes information obtained during internal quality control investigations. Similar records are held in respect to security assessments required by a provincial government, a foreign state, or an international organization of states. This bank may also contain criminal records, credit bureau results, security analyses, security assessments and investigative reports, related correspondence and a notation of the level of security clearance granted. In addition, this bank may hold information on persons subject to security assessment or advice relative to the Citizenship Act or Immigration Act.

Class of Individuals: Persons for whom CSIS was asked to provide a security assessment or advice for pre-employment/employment, including contract and company personnel working under federal or provincial government or agency contracts; CSIS and CF/DND employees; individuals requiring access to internationally protected persons, VIPs and special events; the Parliamentary Precinct and the restricted areas of airports; seaports; individuals requiring a Canada/US border pass under the Free and Secure Trade (FAST) program; designated provincial government employees; individuals who would seek admittance or to remain lawfully in Canada; and individuals seeking citizenship. By virtue of the screening process, personal information may be held on individuals who are not themselves the subject of the security assessment.

Purpose: Collected under section 15 of the CSIS Act to provide security assessments pursuant to section 13 or advice pursuant to section 14 of the Act.

Consistent Uses: Pursuant to sections 19(2), 13 and 14 of the CSIS Act, CSIS may disclose information or may match information in the preparation of a domestic or foreign security assessment or in providing advice pertinent to the Citizenship Act or Immigration Act or where the information relates to the conduct of the international affairs of Canada, to the Secretary of State for External Affairs, or where the information is relevant to the defence of Canada, to the Minister of National Defence. It may also be used for data matching, or for the purposes of conducting lawful investigations in matters which may on reasonable grounds, be suspected of constituting threats to the security of Canada and in other lawful investigations. In addition, information may be provided to the Inspector General and the Security Intelligence Review Committee, the Federal Court and the Supreme Court. This information may also be used for research, audit, planning, evaluation and statistical purposes.

Retention and Disposal Standards:

Information in this bank may be retained from two years to twelve years from the last updating, and then disposed of subject to the Retention and Disposal schedules approved by the National Archivist. Security of Information Act Records

Description: This bank describes information about individuals that fall within the "Permanently Bound to Secrecy" provisions of the Security of Information Act (SOIA). The information includes surname, full given names, maiden name, nickname(s), gender and date of birth.

Class of Individuals: Current or former members or employees (including former members or employees as of December 24, 2001) of particular departments set out in the Schedule of the SOIA (such as the Canadian Security Intelligence Service, Communications Security Establishment, and certain branches of other departments), or those individuals (who by reason of office, position, duties, contract or arrangement) that have been identified by a deputy head as having, will have, or has had, authorized access to special operational information, and it is in the interest of national security to permanently bind that person to secrecy.

Purpose: To retain and maintain a record of indoctrination and identity of individuals who were or are employees of departments listed in the Schedule of the SOiA, or individuals designated by a deputy head under subsection 10(1) of the SOIA.

Consistent Uses: CSIS will manage this bank's information and, when requested, confirm to a Departmental Security Official that the name of an individual is or is not stored therein. The majority of Government of Canada departments and agencies will have the potential to query this storage bank and/or provide information which will be stored there. The identification of the individual is confirmed by three pieces of personal data, such as full name, date of birth, and gender. Employees of a "scheduled department" are automatically bound by nature of their employment. Employees defined within the SOIA as being "designated" by the deputy head, are notified and are provided with documentation advising them of this designation. A copy of applicable documentation will be retained within an individual's departmental security screening file in accordance with PSE 924, except for DND and the RCMP which will store this information within DND PPE 834 and CMP PPU 065 respectively.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Records of individuals defined as being "permanently bound to secrecy" will be retained until the individual reaches age 90.

RDA Number: To be determined.

Self Protection Activity

Description: This bank contains personal information on individuals in contact with CSIS with a view of providing services directly or through contract to CSIS. The information may include the individual's name, any aliases and other personal identifiers. Under subsection 16(2) of the Privacy Act, CSIS consistently responds to all applicants in a manner that neither confirms nor denies the existence of personal information in this bank, regardless of whether or not personal information about the applicant exists in this bank.

Class of Individuals: Individuals in contact with the Service.

Purpose: The purpose for which the information in this bank was recorded is in support of CSIS's counter intelligence program. The information will allow CSIS to better protect itself from infiltration by hostile foreign services and others whose interests are inimical to the interests of Canada.

Consistent Uses: Information in this bank may be used in support of CSIS's counter intelligence program. Information in this bank may also be used for audit purposes.

Retention and Disposal Standards:

Information in this bank will be retained for a minimum of ten years, and destroyed when considered to be of no further value.

Classes of Personal Information

In the course of carrying out the daily investigative activities and functions of the Canadian Security Intelligence Service, personal information may be accumulated such as in the security assessments and crisis management programs which are not described in the specific personal information banks. This information is not used for an administrative purpose affecting an individual, and can include names, addresses and other identifying data in a record. Such information is only retrievable if full specifics are provided concerning the subject matter. The retention period for this form of information is in accordance with the retention and disposal schedules approved by the National Archivist.

Unsolicited opinions or requests for information are received by the Service. This information is not used for an administrative purpose, other than to respond in some instances to the originator. This correspondence is stored in a file associated with the subject matter, and is disposed of in a manner authorized by the National Archivist.

Some interview clips on video cassettes purchased from the Public Service Commission are being used to help English and French speaking CSIS employees to prepare for oral interaction tests conducted as an administrative measure in support of the CSIS official languages program. The personal information in the cassettes is not being used for an administrative purpose respecting any of the individuals presented in the videos.

Under the National Archives Act, index cards, registers and automated ledgers and indices are required to be created on all files opened by the Service since its inception. They contain general information such as the file numbers, titles, file creation and disposition dates. These personal information holdings serve as an information management tool that is created and used to account for the opening and disposition of each file. The index cards and registers are retained for a period of time after the disposition of the information holdings itself. An individual wishing access to the general information about them self that may be contained in the index cards and registers is required to provide the file number or sufficiently specific information as to render it reasonably retrievable.

General Information

Background

The Act of Parliament establishing the Canadian Space Agency was proclaimed into force on December 14, 1990. The Canadian Space Agency was created from divisions of the former Ministry of State for Science and Technology (MOSST), the National Research Council of Canada (NRC), the Department of Communications (DOC) and Energy Mines and Resources (EMR).

Responsibilities

The mandate of the Agency is to promote the peaceful use and development of space, to advance the knowledge of space through science and to ensure that space science and technology provide social and economic benefits for Canadians.

The Agency

assists the Minister to coordinate the space policies and programs of the Government of Canada;

plans, directs, manages and implements programs and projects relating to scientific or industrial space research and development and the application of space technology; promotes the transfer and diffusion of space technology to and throughout Canadian industry and;

encourages commercial exploitation of space capabilities, technology, facilities and systems.

Legislation

- The Canadian Space Agency Act

Organization

Executive Office

President's Office

The mandate of the President's Office is to ensure that the Agency is effective in meeting the Government's objectives for the Canadian Space Program, particularly in the use of space science and technology to meet the needs of Canadians and the development of a capable space industry; and that the Programs of the Agency are delivered efficiently. The office provides Executive Secretariat services (PCO type).

Senior Vice-President's Office

The mandate of the Senior Vice-President's Office is to support the President in meeting the Government's objectives for the Canadian Space Program, particularly in the use of space science and technology to meet the need of Canadians and the development of a capable space industry; and that the Programs of the Agency are delivered efficiently.

Vice-President, Science, Technology and Programs

The Vice-President, Science, Technology and Programs advises the President on all technical matters concerning the delivery of the CSA programs. He provides professional and executive leadership in the delivery of programs which includes design, development and testing functions that are central to the achievement of the Agency's mandate. He is accountable for delivering Canada's space hardware and services on time and within cost and specifications; supporting and advancing the development and implementation of an overarching vision and integrated strategic and operational policies, strategies and processes for the sustaining management of the Agency's science and technology programs to ensure the maximum return on the government's investment and to support the Canadian space sector.

Core Functions

Canadian Astronaut Office

The mandate of CAO is to:

develop and maintain human space flight expertise to meet the needs of the Canadian Space Program; participate in Canadian Space Program activities that rely upon or benefit from knowledge, skills, and attitudes of trained astronauts; increase public awareness of the Canadian Space Program and its benefits; and advocate a Canadian economy based upon innovation and advanced education.

Space Operations

Provide an environmental test facility capable of meeting current and emerging needs of Canada's space community and the nation's space related objectives and operates the space and ground segments of the space-related assets of the CSA.

Space Science

The mandate of this Directorate is to advance the knowledge of space through science and to ensure that the space science and related technology supported by the Agency provides social and economic benefits to Canada.

Space Systems

The Space Programs Directorate is accountable for delivering CSA's space systems (hardware and software) from preliminary design to commissioning on time, within cost and to specifications within the Agency's strategic and operational framework, and ensuring that safety and quality standards are met in the execution of the Agency's programs.

Space Technologies

The Space Technologies Directorate is the functional center for technical expertise within the Agency. It manages the internal R&D activities, ensures the development by the industry and the diffusion of space technologies, the management of Intellectual Property, the utilization and commercialization of Earth Observation data, to enhance Canadian industrial competitiveness and to support Canadian space programs.

Executive Functions

Audit, Evaluation and Review

Assist Senior Management to improve the performance of, and enhance accountability for, the Agency's mission and objectives.

Corporate Management

Conduct financial planning and analysis, budget preparation, financial control, accounting & reporting, develop and manage financial policies, systems, procedures and controls, act as official Spokesperson with Treasury board, manage the Business Planning cycle, provide regular, integrated comprehensive status on Agency performance against Business Plans.

Communications

Provides communications support and advice to the Canadian Space Agency, its programs and sectors by:

Identifying and addressing communication needs and issues in the development, implementation and evaluation of policies, programs, services and initiatives.

Providing the public with timely, accurate, clear, objective and complete information about the Agency's programs, services and initiatives.

Consulting the public and taking account of interests and concerns when establishing priorities and planning programs and services.

Working collaboratively with other government departments and agencies to achieve coherent and effective communications with the public.

Coordinating all matters of communications with the Industry Minister's Office.

Strategic Development

Develop, update, communicate and ensure the effective use of the Canadian Space Strategy as well as of the Thrust strategies: Earth Observation, Satellite Communications and Space Science and Exploration.

External Relations

The External Relations Directorate manages the strategic relationships between the Canadian Space Agency and its domestic and international partners. Key mandates include the development and implementation of policies and strategies relating to cooperation partnerships with domestic stakeholders (Federal and Provincial Governments, industry and academia) and international agencies and industries, as well as support to the commercial initiatives of Canadian space companies on world markets. In connection with the latter, the Directorate provides strategic and timely information to industry and other stakeholders.

Government Liaison

Responsible for relations with Government elements in the National Capital: Office of the Minister of Industry, Departments & Agencies in the Industry Portfolio, and Central agencies of the Government of Canada and other government departments. Government Liaison ensures that the CSA is a valuable contributing member of the Portfolio, ensures appropriate CSA involvement in Government policy development, and assists in gaining Government support for CSA initiatives. It also represents an administrative link to the Industry Minister's Office and central agencies, and provides support to CSA staff visiting the National Capital.

Corporate Functions

Administration

Manage the Agency's facilities and telecommunications, ensure the physical security of the Agency's facilities and assets, manage the Agency's procurement and contract management activities, manage and maintain government information holdings and the library services as well as the Agency's information management framework and manage the information technology infrastructure for the Agency.

Human Resources

Guide and support the overall management of the Human Resources required to implement the mission of the CSA.

Legal Services

Provide CSA with legal expertise on all aspects of its operations.

Canadian Tourism Commission

Chapter 46

General Information

Background

The Canadian Tourism Commission (CTC) became a Crown corporation on January 2001 with the coming into force of the Canadian Tourism Commission Act. It is a unique public/private sector partnership that provides an innovative approach to tourism: one that is industry-led, research-based and market-driven.

Responsibilities

According to Section 5 of the CTC Act, the objects of the Commission are to: Sustain a vibrant and profitable Canadian tourism industry; Market Canada as a desirable tourist destination; Support a cooperative relationship between the private sector and the governments of Canada, the provinces and the territories with respect to Canadian tourism; and Provide information about Canadian tourism to the private sector and to the governments of Canada, the provinces and the territories.

In pursuit of its objectives, and working with its public- and private-sector partners, the Commission undertakes: Joint advertising and promotional activities in markets across the globe; Macroeconomic, market and industry research; and Industry Relations and Product Innovation and Enhancement activities to remove barriers to growth and foster development of tourism products that meet international demand.

The CTC continuously seeks to create new partnership opportunities for its activities in marketing, research and other programs. The CTC has two Web sites: www.canadatourism.com, the business Web site; and, www.travelcanada.ca, the consumer-orientated Web site.

Legislation

- The Canadian Tourism Commission Act

Organization

Marketing and Sales

The CTC currently has five marketing programs which focus on travel originating in four major geographical markets - Canada, United States (Leisure and Meetings, Conventions and Incentive Travel (MC&IT)), Asia-Pacific and Europe/Latin America. An important element of these marketing programs is the CTC's internationally-based sales staff.

Information and Corporate Secretary

Providing strategic information is the CTC's second business line, complementing and supporting marketing and sales, and contributing equally to industry success. The goal of Information Services is to improve tourism-industry performance by helping the industry identify opportunities, address issues affecting its growth, understand costs, and measure its health and performance. Information Services is responsible for the following programs:

Research

The research group works in partnership with major research and statistical organizations in Canada and the world to develop and organize data that could support strategic business decisions in tourism. A priority for this group is to track the impact of marketing initiatives. Research helps the tourism sector develop an understanding of its own size, structure and industry trends, including trends in major economic conditions that affect it.

Industry Relations

The Industry Relations group works with industry associations, government regulators, and financial and other institutions that service the tourism industry, to promote supportive policies and remove barriers to growth. The Industry Relations group meets these needs by prioritizing, researching and sharing information on a range of issues important to fostering a healthy business climate.

Communications

The Communications unit is responsible for promoting the CTC as the primary source of knowledge and information on the tourism industry; strengthening the capacity of government partners and industry associations to provide their constituents with information about the industry and the CTC..

Planning and Product Innovation and Enhancement

Planning is responsible for analyzing, identifying and planning the CTC's future opportunities, challenges, requirements and strategic priorities, including the development and production of CTC's Strategic and Corporate Plans. Planning is also responsible for an evaluation and tracking unit that will conduct evaluations annually of some marketing campaigns and activities in each of the CTC's program areas.

As the global tourism market expands, consumers have become more demanding and more sophisticated. In order to meet changing market requirements, the Canadian tourism sector strives to improve the quality and increase the quantity of its product offerings. In this regard, the CTC's Product Innovation and Enhancement group works with partners to enhance their products by offering information and intelligence on the supply side, especially in the areas singled out in the CTC's vision and mission statements: the experience of diverse cultures and communities and the connection with nature.

Finance and Administration

Finance and Administration is responsible for the CTC's financial policies, systems and reporting, procurement, and information technology.

Human Resources

This branch is responsible for programs, policies, and services related to staffing, training and career development, staff relations, organization, classification, human resources planning, employee assistance, and pay and benefits.

Market Data Base

Description: Information is gathered through the CTC's two web sites: the business web site, www.canadatourism.com, which allows for business-to-business communication, and the consumer-oriented web site: www.travelcanada.ca. CanadaTourism.com contains research and marketing program information, member profiles, and business connection groups. The consumer web site contains locational travel and socio-demographic information of residents of various countries who have requested travel information from the Canadian Tourism Commission or its industry partners. First and foremost, the bank contains the name and address (and perhaps the e-mail address) of the enquirers. Other information including past travel history to Canada, future plans, and lifecycle information may be collected as part of this program. Countries involved in the program include: Canada, the United States, the United Kingdom, France, Germany and Japan. The database is continually being updated.

Class of Individuals: Residents of Canada's principle tourism markets and members of Canada's tourism industry.

Purpose: The information is initially collected to permit the distribution of tourist information, following a request by an enquirer. Subsequent uses of the data base include marketing implications including additional information gathering, market segmentation and partnering.

Consistent Uses: The creation and development of a data base is consistent with the marketing objectives of a national tourism organization.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Retained for three years and then destroyed.

This class of personal information contains the names and addresses of individuals who are on a mailing list to receive the CTC's monthly publication, and other documentation on the CTC's activities. The lists are updated continuously and the information is kept until superseded.

Public Opinion Research

This is a class of records generated through public opinion research studies on a vast spectrum of topics related to the mandate and mission of the CTC. Retrievable records consist of data gathering instruments, such as, but not exclusively, questionnaires which may contain personal information that reveals the identification of the research subject. Data contained in this class of records are not used for administrative purposes. Individuals seeking access to these records must provide the title of the research project in which they participated, the location and the date of the research, and any other data that may help to identify and locate the personal information they are seeking.

Canadian Transportation Agency

Chapter 47

General Information

Background

The Agency is an independent, quasi-judicial tribunal that makes decisions on a wide range of economic matters involving federally-regulated modes of transportation (air, rail and marine), and has the powers, rights and privileges of a superior court to exercise its authority. Along with its roles as an economic regulator and an aeronautical authority, the Agency works to facilitate accessible transportation, and serves as a dispute resolution authority over certain transportation rate and service complaints.

The Canada Transportation Act is the Agency's enabling statute to implement the federal government's transportation policy. The Agency also shares responsibility for administering other Acts and their related regulations, including the Canada Marine Act, the Pilotage Act, the Coasting Trade Act and the Railway Safety Act.

Responsibilities

Among its varied responsibilities, the Agency has a mandate to: license air and rail carriers; approve proposed construction of railways; and protect the interests of Canadian marine vessel operators when authorizing foreign vessels to operate in Canadian waters.

It resolves complaints concerning rail rates, service and other matters within its jurisdiction and has the authority to remove undue obstacles to persons with disabilities who travel on the federally regulated air, rail and marine network. In addition, the Agency participates in international bilateral negotiations and administers bilateral agreements as the Canadian aeronautical authority.

On July 5, 2000, the Agency was conveyed expanded responsibilities over air transportation and the position of Air Travel Complaints Commissioner was created.

Legislation

The Agency has primary responsibility for the following legislation:

- Canada Transportation Act, S.C. 1996, c. 10

- The Agency shares responsibility to Parliament for the following legislation:
- Canada Marine Act, S.C. 1998, c. 10
- Canadian Environmental Assessment Act, S.C. 1992, c. 37
- Civil Air Navigation Services Commercialization Act, S.C. 1996, c. 20
- Coasting Trade Act, S.C. 1992, c. 31
- Energy Supplies Emergency Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. E-9
- Pilotage Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. P-14
- Railway Relocation and Crossing Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. R-4
- Railway Safety Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. 32 (4th Supp.)
- Shipping Conferences Exemption Act, 1987, R.S.C. 1985, c. 17 1987 (3rd Supp.)

The Agency has sole responsibility for the administration of the following regulations, rules and other statutory instruments:

- Air Transportation Regulations (SOR/88-58)
- Canadian Transportation Agency Designated Provisions Regulations (SOR/99-244)
- National Transportation Agency General Rules (SOR/88-23)
- Personnel Training for the Assistance of Persons with Disabilities Regulations (SOR/94-42)
- Railway Costing Regulations (SOR/80-310)
- Railway Interswitching Regulations (SOR/88-41)
- Railway Third Party Liability Insurance Coverage Regulations (SOR/96-337)
- Railway Traffic Liability Regulations (SOR/91-488)
- Railway Traffic Passenger Tariffs Regulations (SOR/96-338)
- Uniform Classification of Accounts and Related Railway Records

Organization

The Agency is made up of a maximum of seven Members, including the Chairman, who is also the Chief Executive Officer, and the Vice-Chairman, as well as up to three temporary Members. There are currently eight Members, including the Air Travel Complaints Commissioner. A staff of about 280 employees assists the Members in their decision-making process.

Since complaints drive many of the Agency's processes, it has developed ways of handling complaints quickly, effectively and fairly. A panel of at least two Members must hear all complaints and issue decisions.

The Agency is divided, administratively, into five branches: the Chairman's Office; the Air and Accessible Transportation Branch; the Rail and Marine Branch; the Legal Services and Secretariat Branch; and the Corporate Management Branch.

Chairman's Office

The Chairman's Office includes the Internal Auditor and the Communications directorate. The Internal Auditor is responsible for providing management with objective assessments about the design and operation of management practices, control systems, and information, in keeping with modern comptrollership principles. The Communications directorate is a proactive partner with the branches in ensuring that Canadians interested in transportation understand their rights, their obligations and the Agency's role under the Canada Transportation Act. The Communications directorate publishes brochures and booklets; it sends out news releases, responds to information requests and operates a Web site; it participates at events and trade shows with Members and staff to meet Canadians face-to-face to answer their questions directly. Because the Agency has diverse audiences with varying needs, it provides its information in many formats, including paper, electronic, braille and audio cassette.

Air and Accessible Transportation Branch

The Air and Accessible Transportation Branch processes license and charter permit applications from Canadian and foreign air carriers, and is involved in enforcing Agency licensing requirements. It helps negotiate and implement international air agreements, administers and receives complaints concerning international air tariffs, and rules on appeals of NAV CANADA user charges. The Office of the Air Travel Complaints Commissioner, established in 2000, handles air travel complaints. The branch also helps to ensure that all modes of federally-regulated transportation are accessible to persons with disabilities, and deals with their complaints related to air, rail and marine transportation.

Rail and Marine Branch

The Rail and Marine Branch deals with rate and service complaints in the rail and marine industries, as well as disputes between railway companies and third parties in railway infrastructure matters. The branch offers mediation services as an alternate dispute resolution mechanism to the hearing process. It processes applications for certificates of fitness for the proposed construction and operation of railways, and provides technical advice and recommendations to Members concerning railway interswitching rates. Railways' revenue caps for the movement of western grain, the development of railway costing standards and related regulations, and the audit of railway companies' accounting and statistics-generating systems (as required), are also the responsibility of the branch. It also protects the interests of Canadian vessel operators when dealing with applications to use foreign vessels in Canada, while making recommendations to the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency to allow the use of foreign vessels when suitable Canadian vessels are not available.

Legal Services and Secretariat Branch

The Legal Services and Secretariat Branch provides legal advice and counsel in all matters brought before the Agency and ensures that the rules of fairness are followed in the process leading to a decision or an order. The Branch also plays a major role in developing and applying the Agency's procedures and regulations.

The Branch provides legal advice and counsel in enforcement cases and in cases of complaints that are brought to the attention of the Air Travel Complaints Commissioner. It represents the Agency before the Courts, including the Federal Court of Appeal and the Supreme Court of Canada, when Agency decisions are submitted to the appeal process. Branch staff also assist the conduct of Agency meetings and hearings. The Secretary has the duty, under the Canada Transportation Act, of maintaining a record of any rule, order, decision and regulation of the Agency.

Corporate Branch

The Corporate Management Branch supports the overall function of the Agency by providing corporate services related to human resources, strategic planning, finance, electronic information systems, records management and the library.

Personal Information Banks

Air Service License Applications

Description: This bank contains a record of air service license applications for use in granting or denying license authorities under the Canada Transportation Act. The bank contains applications and interventions in support or opposition thereto. The bank may contain personal information relating to the applicant or other parties of record in the form of an individual's name; his or her home, business, mailing or email address or telephone number; nationality; age; identifying numbers; and financial information. Note that since July 1, 1996 interventions are no longer a part of the air service license application process.

Class of Individuals: Applicants and intervenors in the licensing process.

Purpose: For granting or denying licenses under the Canada Transportation Act.

Consistent Uses: None.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Files are destroyed twenty years following the cancellation of the license.

Canadian Wheat Board

Chapter 48

The annual update for this institution was not received for inclusion in the 2004-2005 version of this Info Source publication. The following is from the 2003-2004 version of Info Source.

Note: This institution is not subject to the Access to Information Act.

General Information

Background

The Canadian Wheat Board (CWB) was established by the Canadian Wheat Board Act in 1935 to provide for the orderly marketing of wheat produced in the area designated by the Act. Barley and oats were added to the mandate in 1949. The marketing of oats was removed from the CWB in 1989.

Responsibilities

The CWB is obliged to purchase wheat and barley offered to it for sale by farmers in accordance with established delivery calls and to pay an initial payment for same in accordance with the Act. The CWB then markets this grain in interprovincial and international markets. The surplus proceeds received upon sale and available for distribution are divided equitably among the farmers delivering grain to the CWB after the initial payment is made to the farmers and the CWB's operating costs are deducted. The CWB is also responsible for administering a delivery system which is designed to maximize marketing opportunities, as well as allocate delivery opportunity among farmers wishing to deliver grain for sale in interprovincial and international markets. The CWB administers the Agricultural Marketing Programs Act pursuant to which advance payments are made to farmers undertaking to deliver wheat and barley as delivery opportunities are available. The CWB administers the Spring Credit Advance Program (SCAP) for wheat and barley pursuant to which advance payments are made to farmers to assist with seeding costs.

Legislation

- Canadian Wheat Board Act
- Canadian Wheat Board Act Regulations
- Canadian Wheat Board Election Regulations

Organization

The Canadian Wheat Board is led by a 15-member Board of Directors, including 10 elected farmers and five directors appointed by Governor-In-Council based on their business expertise. The Board is responsible for the overall governance of the corporation and its strategic direction.

The CEO and President is also a member of the Board of Directors. The CEO/President is responsible for operations at the CWB. Reporting to the CEO/President are the three Executive Vice-Presidents, the Vice-President of Farmer Relations, the Vice-President of Human Resources, the Corporate Secretary, the General Counsel and the Internal Auditor.

Personal Information Banks

Grain Growers Advance Payment Records

Description: This bank is used to record the value of cash advances issued and refunds received from grain growers under the Agricultural Marketing Programs Act and the Spring Credit Advance Program.

Class of Individuals: Grain growers who have taken cash advances under the Agricultural Marketing Programs Act.

Purpose: The information gathered is used to monitor the grower's repayment of monies advanced. Repayment is conditional on the grower's delivery and sale of grain as soon as he or she is able to do so. The information is summarized and controlled as required by the federal government.

Consistent Uses: The information is shared with grain companies that act as agents of the CWB in making and collecting cash advances. It is also shared with the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency, provincial crop insurance organizations, lending institutions and secured parties (secured parties are any person or business organization with a lien on the grain pledged by the grain grower on the advance payment application) when requested. Information would be shared for the purposes of completing the advance payment application. The grain grower agrees to permit the CWB to share this information with these other parties to protect their security interest in the grain.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Files are retained for three years following the retirement of the advance payment and then destroyed.

RDA Number: 74/008

TBS Registration: 004082

Bank Number: CWB PPU 010

Grain Growers Delivery Records

Description: This bank contains a record of each producer certificate issued to a grower by a grain company in payment for the grower's delivery of wheat and barley to the CWB account.

Class of Individuals: Grain growers who deliver to the CWB.

Purpose: The growers' delivery records are the basis for equitable distribution of profits realized from the sale of wheat and barley by the CWB. These records also include farmers who participate in the CWB fixed price or basis contracts and are receiving a payment separate from the CWB price pooling system. The information produces statistical statements by district(s), grain company and type of wheat and barley.

Consistent Uses: The information is shared with the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency, Human Resources Development, Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada's farm safety net programs, provincial crop insurance organizations and grain companies that are agents of the CWB.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Files are retained for seven years and then destroyed.

RDA Number: 74/008

TBS Registration: 004083

Bank Number: CWB PPU 015

Grain Growers Payment Records

Description: This bank contains a record of each payment made to wheat and barley growers which resulted from an increase in the price paid for wheat and barley or from the profits realized from the sale of wheat and barley by the CWB. It also contains payment records for farmers participating in the fixed or basis contracts who are receiving a payment separate from the CWB price pooling system.

Class of Individuals: Wheat and barley growers who deliver to the CWB.

Purpose: The information is maintained to control the value of payments and monitor bank cashings, lost cheques, uncashed cheques, etc. Statements are produced to show the value of payments by district(s), kind of wheat and barley, dates of issuance and bank clearance and for other control purposes (verification of rates and tonnes; verification of accounting transactions, stale-dated cheques; cancelled/re-issued cheques).

Consistent Uses: Information in this bank is shared with the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency, Human Resources Development, Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada's farm safety net programs and, in the case of non-resident farmers, with their representatives in Canada and the Bank of Montreal.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Files are retained for seven years and then destroyed.

RDA Number: 74/008

TBS Registration: 004081

Bank Number: CWB PPU 005

Grain Growers Permit Records

Description: This bank is used to establish and maintain a record of each wheat and barley grower's entitlement to market wheat and barley. Under the authority of the Canadian Wheat Board Act, this bank may contain the Social Insurance Numbers of those farmers who choose to supply them.

Class of Individuals: Wheat and barley growers who have obtained a CWB permit book.

Purpose: The permit book application information is used to monitor and record each grower's delivery and sale of wheat and barley to CWB account and to verify entitlement for cash advances under the Agricultural Marketing Programs Act. The grower's name and address are used to distribute profits realized from the sale of wheat and barley. Summary statements for planning purposes are produced by district(s) and type of wheat and barley. Information in this bank is used to prepare voters' lists for Canadian Wheat Board elections.

Consistent Uses: Various components of the information are shared with Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada, the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency for inter-provincial and export licenses, provincial crop insurance organizations, various other provincial institutions, departments and related commodity groups, universities for consistent use and statistical research purposes and the grain companies that are agents of the CWB.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Files are retained for seven years and then destroyed.

Citizenship and Immigration Canada

Chapter 49

General Information

Background

The Government of Canada has administered immigration services since Confederation and citizenship registration since 1947. The Department of Citizenship and Immigration Canada (CIC) was created by an Act of Parliament, which received Royal Assent on June 23, 1994. This Act brought together immigration services and citizenship registration, operations and corporate functions from various departments. CIC reports to Parliament through its Minister, who is also responsible for the Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada (IRB), an independent tribunal established by the Parliament of Canada. The IRB's functions are separate from those of the Department. CIC is governed by the Department of Citizenship and Immigration Act, the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act, the Citizenship Act and the supporting regulations. These provide the Governor in Council, the Minister and the Deputy Minister with the discretionary authority required for developing and implementing responsive and flexible policies, programs, services and initiatives.

Responsibilities

The Department of Citizenship and Immigration Act establishes a specific federal mandate for the Minister of Citizenship and Immigration Canada. This mandate includes all matters relating to the administration of the programs and policies of immigration and citizenship that are not assigned by law to other departments, branches or agencies of government.

CIC brings together a broad range of activities: the selection of immigrants and refugees and the issuance of temporary resident visas abroad; the examination of persons seeking entry to Canada at ports of entry; the facilitation and control of immigrants and foreign visitors in Canada; the settlement and integration of immigrants and refugees; and the processing of applications for Canadian citizenship and proof of citizenship.

The government reorganization of December 12, 2003, launched important changes at CIC. Responsibility for enforcement, intelligence and interdiction operations were transferred from CIC to the Canada Border Services Agency.

The Deputy Minister sets departmental priorities in conjunction with the Minister of CIC and develops strategies to meet these goals. Five senior departmental executives report to the Deputy Minister: the Assistant Deputy Ministers (ADMs) of Policy and Program Development; Operations; Centralized Services Delivery and Corporate Services; Strategic Directions and Communications; and the Director General of Human Resources. The department operates through its national and five regional headquarters, through three centralized processing offices in Canada and through 148 local offices across Canada and abroad.

The Assistant Deputy Minister (ADM) of Policy and Program Development is responsible for policy and program development in the areas of Admissibility, Integration (including citizenship), Business Solutions, Refugees, Selection, as well as legislative and regulatory reform.

The ADM of Operations coordinates the work of CIC's five domestic regions, the International Region, Medical Services, Case Management, and Strategic Operations Planning.

The ADM of Centralized Services Delivery and Corporate Services is responsible for Finance, Administration & Security, the Departmental Delivery Network, Information Management and Technologies and the Modern Management Office.

The ADM of Strategic Directions and Communications is responsible for Communications, Executive Services, Internal Audit and Disclosure, Priorities, Planning and Research, Strategic Policy and Partnerships, Metropolis Project, and the Task Force on Document Integrity.

The Director General, Human Resources, is responsible for planning and managing all of CIC's human resources activities, programs and services, including Workplace Effectiveness, Client Services, Learning and Development, and Strategic Resourcing.

Organization

Policy and Program Development

Admissibility (SED)

The Admissibility Branch is responsible for developing and coordinating policy and procedures designed to maintain and protect the health, safety and good order of Canadian society.

The Branch performs a number of policy functions in support of its mandate including regulatory and legislative amendments, research, quality control, and the fostering of domestic and international partnerships.

In executing its functions, the Branch provides leadership, advice and functional direction in support of departmental and government objectives on such admissibility issues as visitor visa policy, inadmissibility criteria, and anti-fraud.

The Admissibility Branch is composed of five divisions and two groups: Legislative and Regulatory Policy; Ports and Border Management; International Partnerships and Liaison; Visa Policy, Special Projects and Research Analysis; Management Services; Quality Assurance / Anti-fraud group; and Document Policy group.

The Legislative and Regulatory Policy Division is responsible for development of policies, guidelines and functional direction relating to the application of the several of the inadmissibility provisions of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act (IRPA). This includes misrepresentation, criminality and rehabilitation as well as non-compliance, including non-compliance with the residency obligation for permanent residents. The Division is also responsible for policies for the right to appeal of permanent residents and protected persons. Finally, it liaises with the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) on inadmissibility and other enforcement issues.

The Ports and Border Management Division oversees, monitors and evaluates port of entry operations across Canada. It develops and implements national policies, strategic directions, operational priorities and service standards applicable in the examination of all persons seeking entry at land borders, airports and marine ports of entry.

The International Partnerships and Liaison Division is responsible for ensuring that Branch interests and positions are represented in international fora and documents (e.g., conventions, treaties, resolutions) and for the related domestic liaison. The Division is also responsible for agreements with international partners which permit information sharing on matters pertaining to the administration and enforcement of each party's immigration legislation.

The Visa Policy, Special Projects and Research Analysis Division is responsible for the coordination and development of short-term, cross cutting policy projects relating to admissibility issues. The Division also offers research support to members of the Admissibility Branch in support of policy development. Lastly, the division has the policy mandate lead for the Temporary Resident Visa Program, which includes the visa review process.

The Management Services Division leads the Branch's participation in budget forecasting and provides internal services to managers in the areas of human resources (training, succession planning), access to information and privacy, expenditure control, and other administrative matters.

The Quality Assurance / Anti-fraud group plays a major role in establishing strategies, policies and guidelines on quality assurance and anti-fraud in order to ensure program integrity. The Division coordinates quality assurance and anti-fraud activities at a departmental level. It serves as a focus for reporting on quality assurance and anti-fraud projects and initiatives within the Department and disseminates information on best practices. The Division also works in collaboration with the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA), the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP), the Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS) on issues related to quality assurance and anti-fraud.

The Document Policy Group is responsible for providing policy guidelines for administration of the permanent resident (PR) card. These guidelines are published in the CIC Enforcement Manual Chapter 27. This directorate also coordinates the regulatory amendment process for issues related to travel documents and PR cards. Document Policy is also responsible for the assessment of travel documents issued outside of Canada and for providing policy guidelines with respect to acceptability of various documents for purposes of travel to Canada.

Business Solutions Branch (BSB)

Business Solutions is the departmental focus for business requirements. The Branch provides leadership to the business community by formulating strategies and plans for the design and integration of business processes through the use of enterprise-wide models. Business Solutions Branch champions the high-level business architecture that is the foundation for the future integrated departmental business processes that deliver program and corporate services.

The business strategy of the Branch is to actively support business process owners in their business process design initiatives across the Department, through the provision of expertise on work process design techniques and coordinating between the various business process initiatives. The Branch is concerned with the development of the corporate climate and infrastructure for business process renewal, to be achieved through planning, organizing, leading and monitoring the business process design effort across the whole of the CIC organization. This process infrastructure is characterized by consistent standards for the Department's business solutions and their related information systems. It supports the evolution of client-centered services that respond to the strategic and operational imperatives of the Department.

A principal priority for Business Solutions for the next several years is to provide the business leadership for the Global Case Management System (GCMS). This will be done within the strategic framework of the Department that focuses increasingly on ongoing program renewal and effective allocation of resources.

Enforcement (SED)

As of December 12, 2003, responsibility for enforcement activities has been transferred to the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA). Please refer to the CBSA's Chapter in Info Source.

Integration (SID)

The Integration Branch is responsible for the development of policy and programs that define membership in Canadian society, enhance the role of Canadian citizenship, and support the settlement, adaptation and integration of newcomers. The Branch develops policies and programs that promote integration and Canadian citizenship; ensures that the federal government meets its responsibilities towards the immigrants it accepts for permanent residence; educates potential new Canadians about the rights and responsibilities of Canadian citizenship; promotes the value of Canadian citizenship to newcomers; and administers and interprets the Citizenship Act. The Integration Branch oversees the delivery of programs under its jurisdiction through a network of national partnerships, as required. The Integration Branch is composed of five divisions: Citizenship Division (SIC); Settlement Division (SIE); Integration Promotion Division (SIP); Service Line Support Division (SIS) and Special Initiatives and Outreach (SIO).

The Citizenship Division (SIC) manages the overall administration of the Citizenship Act and Regulations. The main activities are developing and revising the regulations and policies for the administration of the Act, maintaining legislative compliance, providing functional guidance on citizenship matters, ensuring quality assurance, implementing new Citizenship Legislation and maintaining an historical body of knowledge on past and present nationality legislation.

The Settlement Division (SIE) provides functional guidance; develops policies, operational procedures and work instruments; designs program terms and conditions for the settlement programs and services provided to newcomers; manages national settlement realignment agreements with the provincial governments; manages the orientation abroad initiative; manages contribution program allocations and expenditures and is responsible for the implementation of the Official Languages Act for programs administered by the Integration Branch.

The Integration Promotion Division (SIP) is responsible for the development of activities and programs which promote citizenship and settlement programs and initiatives. This Division is also responsible for administering the Citation for Citizenship Program and the 'Canada: We All Belong!' campaign; as well as for the development, production and distribution of promotional material in support of its mandate.

The Service Line Support Division (SIS) provides the Branch with the capacity to plan, analyze and coordinate activities and to provide an efficient infrastructure to support the other divisions in the Branch, corporate initiatives and CIC priorities. It is also responsible for cross-cutting policy development.

The Special Initiatives and Outreach Division (SIO) provides policy and developmental assistance on new integration initiatives as well as outreach activities with other departments and stakeholders. Activities include the management of the Enhanced Language Training (ELT) initiative, working with stakeholders on immigrant labour market integration issues including foreign credential recognition, CIC's Voluntary Sector Initiative, implementation and evaluation of pilot or demonstration projects, the coordination of the CIC Francophone Community Steering Committee, and the implementation of the Official Languages Act for programs administered by the Integration Branch.

Refugees (SRD)

Refugees Branch is composed of the Asylum, Resettlement, Policy Development and International Protection, and Refugee Program Support Divisions. They are responsible for the management of refugee policy, programs and targets; liaison with the Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada (IRB); representing the interests of CIC and the Government on refugee issues; and coordinating reporting and liaison activities.

Selection (SSD)

Selection Branch is responsible for the development of policy, program design and procedural guidance affecting the selection of people to Canada, both immigrants and non-immigrants. The goal is to develop policy with an operational perspective, provide procedural guidance to the field both nationally and internationally, and feedback field perspectives into the policy-making process.

Social Policy and Programs Division (SSG) – This division is responsible for all policy and program development related to maximizing the social benefit of immigration to Canada, with the exception of refugee and integration policies and programs. The scope of SSG's policy and program responsibilities includes all matters related to family reunification from overseas and within Canada, discretionary decision making for humanitarian reasons or public interest, the Live-in Caregiver Program, Temporary Resident Permits and the Permit Holder Class and migration to Official Language Minority Communities.

Economic Policy and Programs Division (SSE) – This group is responsible for all policies and programs supporting the department's economic objectives, with the exception of business immigration programs. SSE's responsibilities include policies and programs related to both permanent and temporary immigration. These include: visitors, students, temporary workers, skilled workers, provincial nominees, foreign credential recognition, skills and innovation agenda, permanent resident obligations, regionalization, third party language testing, trade agreements affecting the movement of people.

Secretariat on Regulating Immigration Consultants (SSC) – This division is responsible for implementing the recommendations of the Advisory Committee on Regulating Immigration Consultants which reported to the Minister in May 2003. This involves working with the Canadian Society of Immigration Consultants (the new independent self-regulating body) to develop a financial, regulatory and operational framework to improve client protection and enhance the professionalism of immigration consultants.

The Business Immigration Division (SSM) is responsible for policy formulation, program development and procedural compliance for self-employed, investor and entrepreneurial programs.

The Service Line Support Division (SSS) is responsible for the coordination and management of branch administrative functions, for setting program performance standards, objectives, priorities and goals in the context of the planning and accountability process, and for evaluating and reporting on program performance.

Levels Management Division (SSL) – This division has lead responsibility for translating strategic goals into annual delivery strategies and operational plans to ensure the department meets the level and mix of immigrant landings announced in the Minister's Annual Report to Parliament. This involves on-going monitoring of current year levels, developing and consulting on operational plans for following years and continuous refinement of the levels management tools.

Operations

Atlantic Region

The Atlantic Region of Citizenship and Immigration Canada is responsible for the delivery of Canada's immigration programs and program activities in the four Atlantic Provinces: Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island. This includes immigrant selection, non-immigrant processing, immigration medical services, reporting and liaison, immigration, visitor and refugee programs, Citizenship, Settlement, Admissibility, Selection, Inland Control, and Ports of Entry.

The Atlantic Region is also responsible for ensuring a consistent approach across the four provinces; as well as for coordination and liaison with other departments and agencies such as the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA), the Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS), Health Canada and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP). The Atlantic Region ensures that the delivery of these programs is consistent with Canadian law and policy.

The Atlantic Region consists of 12 local offices and the Atlantic Regional Headquarters. Inland and port of entry officers are responsible for facilitating the admission of bona fide visitors, temporary workers, students, immigrants and refugees while ensuring that those inadmissible to Canada are refused entry and those subject to enforcement action are referred to the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA). These officers are also responsible for hearings in order to take action against violations of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act. In addition to providing immigrant and temporary admissions services, inland offices also grant citizenship and work with the provinces, municipalities and community groups to help newcomers integrate and promote understanding of the rights and responsibilities of Canadian citizenship.

Quebec Region

The role of Citizenship and Immigration Canada's Quebec Region is to apply federal programs and offer citizenship and immigration services for the Quebec Region in collaboration with Quebec's ministère des Relations avec les citoyens et de l'Immigration (MRCI), which exercises a shared jurisdiction with the federal department in the area of immigration.

CIC Quebec Region's mandate is carried out by a regional office with seven regional branches: Programs, Ports of Entry and Local Operations, Client Service and Facilitation, Human Resources, Information Technologies and Telecommunications, Communications, Finance and Administration, in addition to five local immigration offices, three of which also provide citizenship services.

For the Citizenship Program, the Quebec Region provides Canadian citizenship granting services to candidates who apply for citizenship, and also has a mandate to promote citizenship and the values associated with it.

For the Immigration Program, the Region's network of airport, land and maritime ports of entry manages the admission of visitors, immigrants and refugee protection claimants to Canada. The network of inland offices offers services to clients.

To ensure the integrity of the Citizenship and Immigration programs, staff at ports of entry and inland offices apply enforcement measures to individuals who violate the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act and Regulations.

The Client Services Unit in the Quebec Region has been set up to offer services that complement those of the call centre. Staff in the unit provide services relating to complaints, and respond to complex requests that cannot be handled by the call centre. Staff also respond to information requests coming from federal riding offices.

The Quebec Region plays an active role in the Our Missing Children program. The aim of this program is to identify children who have been abducted or are runaways and who appear at our borders. In this area, great vigilance is exercised by immigration officers, who are regularly briefed on the profile of the runaways, kidnappers and smugglers who might be implicated in this traffic of children. This program is administered in partnership with the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA), the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP), and Foreign Affairs Canada (FAC).

Ontario Region

This region is comprised of directorates and regional management areas which report to the office of the Director General.

Strategic Planning and Executive Services (SPEXS) leads the Planning and Accountability Cycle for Ontario Region. SPEXS facilitates the development of Regional Priorities, publishes them, and develops templates for Regional Management Area Workplans.

The Settlement Directorate assists newcomers to integrate into Canadian society by funding community-based delivery partners under CIC settlement and resettlement programs

The Selection, Integration and Refugees (SIR) Directorate is responsible for partnerships, all aspects of processing in-Canada applications referred by central processing centres, the Citizenship program, in person refugee claims, coordination of continuous process improvement, quality assurance and some enforcement activity. SIR is also responsible for the coordination and delivery of the permanent resident card initiative.

The Refugee Processing Units have been established at Pearson International Airport, Fort Erie, Etobicoke and Windsor Ambassador Bridge Port of Entry.

The Port of Entry Directorate provides advice and guidance on port of entry issues to the Director General and field staff. The Directorate liaises with the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) – Customs Border Services at a regional level.

Communications provides communications products and services for both internal and external clients and designs communications strategies and action plans to achieve departmental and regional objectives. It provides advisory, editorial, media and community relations services to the Director General, the regional management team and managers. The Communications Directorate responds to media inquiries pertaining to program, operational and case issues.

Finance, Administration and IT Informatics Services (FAIS) responds to the operational needs of CIC staff and programs through the provision of integrated corporate services in the areas of Finance, Administration, and IT Services. In addition, FAIS includes Access to Information and Privacy, which provides service to departmental staff and the public at large.

Human Resources provides advice and services to the Region in the areas of Compensation and Benefits, Staffing, Official Languages, Diversity, Health and Safety, Staff Relations, Classification, Learning and Development, and Awards and Recognition.

Prairies and Northern Territories Region

The Prairies and Northern Territories Region is responsible for the delivery of Canada's immigration, visitor, citizenship, and settlement programs for the Department through port of entry and inland offices in Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and Nunavut.

The Region consists of:

Regional Headquarters located in Winnipeg, five full service (inland) citizenship and immigration centres located in Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina, and Winnipeg, three international airport ports of entry at Winnipeg, Calgary, and Edmonton, five land border ports of entry located at Coutts, Carway and Chief Mountain in Alberta, North Portal in Saskatchewan, and Emerson in Manitoba, two airport offices receiving cross-border flights in Regina and Saskatoon; and two 'satellite' offices in Lethbridge and Yellowknife.

The ports of entry are additionally responsible for 31 customs outposts along the Canada-US border.

British Columbia and Yukon Region

The British Columbia and Yukon Territory Region coordinates the delivery of citizenship and immigration services to residents and visitors throughout British Columbia and the Yukon Territory. Core service activities include the immigration and temporary resident programs, citizenship, and settlement programs of the Department through ports of entry and inland offices. The region consists of 3 international airports, 5 land border ports, 4 marine ports, 1 passenger rail port, 15 customs outposts, and 5 inland offices. Officers at the ports of entry as well as inland are responsible for facilitating the admission of bona fide temporary residents, temporary workers, students, as well as immigrants, refugees and refugee claimants while ensuring that those inadmissible to Canada are refused entry. In addition to providing immigrant and temporary admissions services, inland offices also grant citizenship and promote understanding of the rights and responsibilities of Canadian citizenship. In the Yukon Territory, the department, in concert with service providing organizations, administers the full range of settlement services under the immigrant settlement program. In British Columbia, however, because the responsibility for design and delivery of other settlement programs devolved to the Province of British Columbia under the terms of the Canada-British Columbia Agreement for Co-operation on Immigration, the department administers only the resettlement assistance program for government-assisted refugees and an airport reception program for new immigrants arriving from abroad. The region is also home to the marine response team which was developed to meet the challenge of large-scale marine smuggling operations off the West Coast of British Columbia. The Marine Response Team is responsible for the interdiction, containment and transportation of irregular marine arrivals off Canada's West Coast.

International Region (RID)

The International Region is responsible for the delivery of Canada's immigration programs at Canadian missions abroad. This includes immigrant selection, non-immigrant processing, immigration medical services, program integrity and reporting and liaison. The International Region plays a lead role in international migration, and in the coordination of the Department's international activities, particularly with respect to relations with Foreign Affairs Canada (FAC), other countries, and multilateral organizations. The International Region comprises eight divisions – Asia and the Pacific (RIA), Africa and the Middle-East (RIF), Western Hemisphere (RIW), Europe (RIU), Resource Management (RIG), Personnel (RIR), Operational Coordination (RIM) and Management Services (RIS).

The International Region is responsible for the delivery of all program activities at Canadian diplomatic missions around the world. This includes all operational aspects of immigration programs such as delivery of annual immigration levels; management of immigration, visitor and refugee programs abroad; ensuring a consistent approach across geographic regions; and coordination and liaison with other departments and agencies such as the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA), the Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS), Health Canada and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP). The International Region ensures that the delivery of the program is consistent with Canadian law and policy and with Canada's bilateral and multilateral foreign policy interests.

The four geographic branches are responsible for managing the delivery of immigration, temporary resident and refugee programs at missions within the following territories: Asia-Pacific, Europe, Western Hemisphere, and Africa and the Middle-East.

Resource Management (RIG) is responsible for the maintenance of an operational structure through the allocation of financial and human resources to ensure global immigration is consistent with levels established by Cabinet. This includes those resources in the Foreign Affairs Canada (FAC) financial base that support the immigration program. Resource Management includes Resource Allocation and Administrative Services (RIGS) and Overseas Resources Management (RIGR).

Operational Coordination (RIM) is responsible for the development and dissemination of statistical information relevant to international operations, communications policies and activities with missions abroad, managing overseas mission reconfiguration, promotion and recruitment, and issues of global interest within the International Region.

In close co-operation with the departmental Human Resources, Finance and Administration Branches, the Personnel Division (RIR) is responsible for the management of human resources relating to the International Service. This division includes Assignments (RIRA), Personnel Services (RIRP) and Training (RIRT).

Management Services (RIS) is responsible for the provision of program support to the region for information management, visits and protocol, access to information, management of locally engaged staff and program integrity.

Case Management (BCD)

The role of Case Management Branch (BCD) is to review and manage contentious, sensitive and high profile cases for both the Minister of Citizenship and Immigration Canada (CIC) and the Minister of Public Security and Emergency Preparedness (PSEP) (through liaison with the Canadian Border Services Agency [CBSA]).

In general terms, BCD cases are often directed towards the Ministers of both Departments for use in the House of Commons and include preparation of House Cards/Question Period notes, case chronologies and Ministers' Office Field Request for Assistance (MOFRAs). At the same time, some of our cases may involve seeking the Minister's special exemption from certain provisions of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act, the Citizenship Act and the attendant regulations.

The operations of this Branch are complex involving coordination and cooperation with other CIC and CBSA offices both in Canada and abroad, other government departments, agencies and external non-governmental organizations.

This Branch is organized into two divisions which are operational in focus. In addition, the Director General's Office supports the Director General in such Branch-wide concerns such as budget management, human resources and program measurement.

Case Review Division:

This division is managed by the Director, Case Review and has three principle areas of responsibility. This Division is responsible for the review, assessment and preparation of a variety of documents for use by the Ministers and senior management of CIC and Public Security and Emergency Preparedness (PSEP), as well as field staff.

1) the Danger to the Public/Rehabilitation Unit: This unit is responsible for the review of requests for Directions for Admissibility Hearings involving long-term permanent residents of Canada; Danger Opinions for persons who have been convicted of serious offences outside of Canada as it relates to eligibility before the Immigration and Refugee Board to hear a claim to be a Convention refugee and for persons who have been convicted of serious offences in Canada as it relates to refoulement; extradition requests; risk of return (PRRA) cases; requests for rehabilitation; Reciprocal Arrangement cases; the Transfer of Offenders Act; and the issuance of some temporary resident permits.

2) the Citizenship Unit: This unit is responsible for the analysis of certain cases to determine whether they should be referred to the RCMP for investigation and possible criminal charges under The Citizenship Act, due to fraud, or if revocation of citizenship should be recommended to the Minister. The unit liaises with CSIS on security cases, and reviews briefs provided by CSIS to determine if clients meet the citizenship requirements. The unit also reviews the cases of persons under the age of 60 for whom a citizenship judge has recommended a waiver of one of more of the citizenship requirements, and determines whether a waiver is warranted. The unit is the contact point for overseas offices when they discover possible fraud in the citizenship process by persons applying for permanent resident cards to return to Canada. The unit works closely with Department of Justice on complex and litigious cases. The unit also processes requests for special grants of citizenship, which require a submission to the Governor in Council. They also handle requests from the Minister's offices of Citizenship and Immigration Canada (CIC) and the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA), including housecards, Ministers' Office Field Request for Assistance (MOFRAs), briefing notes, and correspondence.

3) the Immigration Cases Unit: This unit is responsible for the assessment of high profile, contentious or sensitive cases and preparation of

House cards/Question Period notes, case chronologies and MOFRAs and other documentation for use by the Ministers of Citizenship and Immigration Canada (CIC) and Public Security and Emergency Preparedness (PSEP), and senior staff in both Departments. This unit also handles some aspects of the extradition process and formulates responses to a variety of clientèle on a myriad of immigration-related issues. These cases often involve liaison with CBSA. Cases related to organized crime, crimes against humanity/war crimes and security are primarily managed by CBSA.

There are also three ministerial assistants who report to the Director, Case Review and act as liaison between the Ministers' staff, CIC and CBSA and are involved in the research and analysis of complex and sensitive immigration and citizenship cases. They recommend appropriate courses of action and strategy which meet the requirements of the Ministers' offices while respecting the integrity of the various Acts and regulations.

Litigation Management Division (BCL):

This Division is managed by the Director, Litigation Management Division and is responsible for the management of litigation related to both citizenship and immigration issues - both in Canada and abroad. The main role of this Division is to provide a link between the Department of Justice lawyers and CIC and CBSA operational and policy areas. BCL instructs Department of Justice lawyers on case-specific immigration and citizenship matters before the Courts, provides guidance to CIC and CBSA staff on the litigation process in general and on specific cases. BCL also ensures that the appropriate action is taken in response to Court orders. The Division also responds to requests for assistance or information from the Ministers' offices and field offices (both in Canada and abroad).

BCL manages the Litigation Steering Committee, a committee composed of senior managers in both Citizenship and Immigration Canada (CIC) and the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) who determine the departmental response to litigation of particular significance to either department.

Intelligence Branch (RZD)

As of December 12, 2003, responsibility for intelligence activities has been transferred to the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA). Please refer to the CBSA's Chapter in Info Source.

Strategic Operations Planning Unit (AOB)

The Strategic Operations Planning Unit provides support to the ADM, Operations on strategic and operational issues, contributes to the sector's planning and reporting capability, and acts as an advocate for the regions for the development of CIC policies. The unit is also responsible for managing the Situation Centre, and acts as the link between the regions and the NHQ sectors to ensure a coordinated effort in response to emergency situations, including operational readiness planning.

Medical Services Branch (HMD)

The Medical Services Branch supports Canadian immigration and health systems through the provision of immigration and public health advice, service and support. The Branch develops policies and designs programs that manage the specific health issues related to immigration and resettlement from abroad, and in partnership with other departments and central agencies, plans and delivers programs that support the health of Canadian overseas staff and dependants. Medical Services supports the implementation of these programs by CIC, Health Canada (HC), Foreign Affairs Canada (FAC) and Treasury Board of Canada Secretariat (TBS), assisted when required by a network of national and international partners. The Branch also strives to increase the better understanding of health issues and concerns faced by migrants, and represents the Department in multilateral and international migration health settings. Among other things, the Medical Services Branch is responsible for spearheading the development of operations and policy for the medical program at CIC, in addition to advising senior management and the Minister on medical matters.

The Medical Services Branch (HMF) manages the interim federal health program which is designed to cover emergency and essential health care costs for refugee claimants, refugees and others under immigration control.

The Program Delivery Directorate (HPD) is responsible for managing the medical processing of immigrants, refugees, refugee claimants and certain classes of temporary residents who apply to enter Canada, developing medical assessment guidelines and, maintaining quality assurance standards. In association with HC (Occupational & Environmental Health Services) and Foreign Affairs Canada (FAC), the division also helps federal employees and dependants remain healthy while serving abroad.

The Program Elaboration Directorate (HPE) is responsible for supporting the legislation on medical inadmissibility, providing analytical support to the Branch's programs, liaison activities including government, national and international immigration health organizations, and providing statistical and qualitative medical information on immigration health issues for the Department and other agencies.

Centralized Services Delivery and Corporate Services

Finance (BFD)

The Finance Branch provides services, advice and information to departmental management concerning the financial management of the Department's policies and programs. The Branch is divided into four directorates: Financial Policy and Systems (BFP), Accounting Operations (BFO), Financial Planning, Analysis and Reporting (BFM), and Cost Management. The key functions carried out by the Branch include: providing financial policies and systems; providing accounting services; managing the loan portfolio; developing cost recovery/revenue generating plans; developing fee regulations; developing resource management plans for reallocating departmental funds or securing funding approval through central agencies to fund departmental programs; developing and implementing activity based costing approaches and models; and providing financial analysis and reporting services.

Administration and Security Branch (BFA)

The Administration and Security Branch provides services, advice and information to departmental management concerning key functions: Corporate Security, Accommodation, Procurement and Contracting Services and Common Services.

The Branch is organized into three Directorates: Administration, Corporate Security and Accommodation.

Administration is responsible for the material management, assets management and procurement and contracting programs of Citizenship and Immigration Canada. We also manage the envelopes for common services such as the Acquisition Card, Crown Asset Disposal/Removal, the Fleet Management Program, Mail services, the National Uniform Program, Sustainable Development and Translation Services.

Corporate Security is responsible for the overall management of security including physical and personnel security, Business Continuity Planning, Emergency Preparedness and Planning, Security Training and Awareness and the Controlled Assets Program for Citizenship and Immigration Canada.

Accommodation is responsible for supporting our Department's priorities by providing a safe and productive workplace within a context of modern management and responsible partnership with other government departments. We are divided in two sections; Facilities Management and Strategic Accommodation.

Departmental Delivery Network (DDN)

The Departmental Delivery Network (DDN) provides integrated program management and delivery on a product line basis in Canada. It ensures that CIC's centralized points of service have access to management and program support.

The Departmental Delivery Network includes a small NHQ structure (including Support Services–SSD, Service Delivery–SDD, and Citizenship and Immigration Services–CIS), three central processing centres (Case Processing Centres (CPCs) in Vegreville, Alberta–CPC-V, Mississauga, Ontario–CPC-M, and Sydney, Nova Scotia–CPC-S), one Ottawa-based central point of service (Query Response Centre–QRC) and one call centre in Montreal.

The Support Services Division (SSD) is responsible for developing systems for information management, information technology, human resources practices, finance and administrative matters.

The Service Delivery Division (SDD) is responsible for managing CIC's call centre operation. It also develops the application kits used by clients to access the CPCs and missions outside Canada.

The Citizenship and Immigration Services Division (CIS) is the principal contact in National Headquarters for the three CPCs (Mississauga, Sydney and Vegreville). CIS provides the CPCs with advice, guidance, assistance and operational instructions on the citizenship and immigration programs.

CPC-Vegreville (CPC-V) opened for full processing on April 1, 1994 and is responsible for providing a front-end service to all in-Canada foreign nationals applying for permanent residence and extensions to temporary resident status. (Applications processed include temporary residence applications such as extensions of visitor status, new and extended work permits, study permits and temporary resident permits; immigrant applications for permanent residence, right of permanent residence fee loan and protected person status documents)

The Mississauga Case Processing Centre (CPC-M) has been the national Processing centre for all family class sponsorships where applicants reside outside Canada since April 1994. As such, the primary responsibility for this centre is the processing of all family class sponsorship applications. In conjunction with this role, it also serves as the contact point for social services sponsorship default notification and acts as the national repository for family class sponsorship applications.

CPC-Sydney (CPC-S) has operated since 1984 and processes requests for grants, proofs and searches of Canadian Citizenship and change of address requests submitted through CIC's on-line services. CPC-S also maintains an archive of citizenship records through the Citizenship Registration System (CRS), the staff administers the Citizenship Act while serving as a citizenship card production centre. A second CPC-PRC, located in Sydney, processes applications from permanent residents for permanent resident cards.

The Query Response Centre (QRC) retains on microfilm records of entry to Canada for permanent residents and temporary residents, as well as selected enforcement documents. The Centre is responsible for requests for verification of admission and supporting documents for immigration inquiries and court proceedings. It also includes verifying landing records of those who wish to become Canadian citizens and the processing of requests to amend or replace landing records. The QRC supports the CPC-PRC for the processing of the permanent resident cards.

The call centre serves as the initial point of contact for CIC clients in Canada. The call centre agents provide general and case specific information and help clients with next steps in their cases and take publication and application kit orders. The agents have no decision making authority.

Information Management and Technologies (BID)

The IM/IT function plans, builds and operates the applications, information and technology infrastructure needed to support the delivery of CIC's services and programs to Canadians, and to administer and manage the Department. The branch ensures the integrity, accuracy and effective delivery of departmental information holdings, including departmental records (both paper and microfilm) and library holdings.

To ensure that the efforts and resources of the IM/IT function are well aligned with CIC's new departmental priorities, we have identified five main objectives for the IM/IT function in 2004-2005: 1) advancing the implementation of the Global Case Management System (GCMS) to establish a solid foundation for the future; 2) enabling business transformation by fostering innovative service delivery, and through improved process, document and identity integrity; 3) building an effective relationship with the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) supporting their efforts to improve the security of our borders and our citizens; 4) developing an exemplary workforce to enable us to meet the needs of GCMS and the post-POE CIC; and, 5) maximizing IM/IT value to ensure that scarce departmental resources are used in the most effective way.

The most important of our five objectives for the current year is to advance the implementation of the Global Case Management System (GCMS) and support the early efforts to bring it into production.

The Global Case Management System (GCMS) is a five-year program to replace Citizenship and Immigration Canada business systems with an integrated case management based set of applications and infrastructure components in support of all of the Department's client operations. The program will improve CIC's overall efficiency, and client service delivery, as well as facilitate communications and data sharing with our delivery partners. GCMS will also provide the technological foundation to support new business initiatives and capitalize on innovative technology.

Modern Management Office (Special Project) (MMO)

CIC created its Modern Management Office (MMO) in August 2000 as an important step to implement the Modern Comptrollership Initiative of the Government of Canada.

Essential elements of modern comptrollership are strategic leadership, motivated people, shared values and ethics, integrated performance information, mature risk management, rigorous stewardship and clear accountability.

Progress has been made in several areas. In March 2001, CIC carried out a baseline assessment of its capacity to implement modern management practices in the Department. The report of CIC's Modern Management Practices Assessment was completed and an action plan was developed.

Strategic Directions and Communications Communications (BPD)

The role of the Communications Branch is to provide services which will meet the communications needs of the Minister and the Department. The Branch informs the public, in both official languages, about departmental policies, programs and services, alerts key audiences to major new departmental initiatives, and provides advice and guidance to the Minister and senior departmental officials on all communications aspects of programs, operations and activities. The Communications Branch is divided into three directorates: Corporate Communications, Public Environment and Media Relations, and Strategic Communications.

Priorities, Planning and Research (PPR)

The Priorities, Planning and Research Branch is responsible for corporate strategic planning and accountability processes and for strategic research and statistics.

The Strategic Planning Division (SP) leads CIC's business lines in the development of integrated strategic planning, consistent with the Government's socio-economic agenda. The Division is accountable for reporting to Parliament, including the Report on Plans and Priorities (RPP), the Departmental Performance Report (DPR) and the Annual Report to Parliament on Immigration. The Strategic Planning Division also undertakes program evaluations to support management decision-making and supports program branch leads on the development of Results Management Accountability Frameworks (RMAFs) and Accountability, Risk and Audit Frameworks (ARAFs). Also, the Division is responsible for developing a Performance Measurement strategy and fostering its application in the department. The Division also manages the Department's regulatory process and legislative agenda, provides advice and guidance on regulatory issues and oversees the delegation and designation of authorities.

Strategic Research and Statistics (SRS) provides support to policy and program development; develops and manages the departmental research plan; and is the departmental focal point for the development, conduct and contracting of research. The Division also produces key corporate statistical publications including Facts and Figures and The Monitor.

Executive Services (BMD)

The Executive Services Branch consists of Briefings and Parliamentary Affairs (BMP), Ministerial Enquiries (BMQ) and Public Rights Administration (BMX).

The Briefings and Parliamentary Affairs Division is responsible for managing Ministerial and DM briefings, providing information to the Minister's office in preparation for Question Period, organizing and managing corporate committees, and supporting the movement of CIC items through the parliamentary process.

The Ministerial Enquiries Division provides enquiries and correspondence management services to the offices of the Minister and the Deputy Minister. Its mandate is to prepare replies to written enquiries/correspondence for the Minister; reply to telephone enquiries from Members of Parliament (MPs) and Senators; and provide reception services to the Minister's office. The division is divided into three units—Ministerial Enquiries Tracking Unit; Correspondence Unit and a Telephone Enquiry Unit.

The Public Rights Administration Division is responsible for the management of access to information, privacy and human rights activities.

Strategic Policy and Partnerships (BSD)

Strategic Policy and Partnerships provides strategic policy direction for the Department, including the integration of the Department's agenda with the broader government agenda and identifying opportunities for advancing policy and program priorities through domestic and international linkages and partnerships.

Strategic Policy (BSD) provides strategic policy advice for the Minister, Deputy Minister and the Assistant Deputy Ministers on government-wide and Department-wide issues, leads on and coordinates long-term and ongoing corporate strategic policy and prepares briefings for the Minister on external cabinet documents.

The Intergovernmental and Stakeholder Relations (BSO) component establishes frameworks and acts as the Department's focal point for federal-provincial relations; supports existing immigration agreements; establishes negotiating frameworks; manages federal provincial negotiations for immigration agreements; manages negotiations of memoranda of understanding on the exchange of information with provinces; and supports other branches in federal provincial consultation exercises.

International Policy Coordination (BSK) develops the Department's international migration strategy and coordinates departmental participation in multilateral activities and fora by: managing and enhancing Canada's participation in international organizations active in migration; supporting Canada's foreign policy objectives by working with Foreign Affairs Canada (FAC), the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) and other government departments, as well as with researchers and non-governmental organizations, identifying and pursuing the links between international migration and other foreign policy issues, such as sustainable development, population programs, human rights, humanitarian assistance, trade, foreign investment, conflict resolution, and peace building; managing Canada's participation in technical assistance projects in the area of migration; and providing secretariat support to the Department's Steering Committee on the International Agenda.

Gender-Based Analysis Unit (BSR) is responsible for the integration of gender and diversity considerations into the policy, program and legislative work of the Department; building capacity for gender and diversity analysis through the development and implementation of specialized training; coordinating the legislative requirement to report on gender issues.

Metropolis (APX)

CIC supports the Metropolis Project Team which coordinates the Metropolis Project and its strategic directions. The Metropolis Project is a co-operative international initiative to stimulate multidisciplinary policy research on the effects of international migration and diversity, especially on cities. The key objective of the Metropolis Project is to give governments solid information to help them develop policies that can accommodate and manage social change arising from immigration. The project is structured as a partnership with both domestic and international components.

Nationally, the Metropolis Project is supported by a consortium of federal departments and agencies (Citizenship and Immigration Canada, the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada, Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation, Canadian Heritage, Human Resources and Skills Development Canada, Statistics Canada, Status of Women, Department of Justice Canada, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Public Service Commission, Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness Canada and the Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency). The Metropolis Project Team coordinates federal activities through an interdepartmental committee structure. Five Metropolis Centres of Excellence, located in Montreal, Toronto, Edmonton, Vancouver and the Maritimes, have been created, each a partnership of major universities. Collectively the Centres involve over 20 universities and several hundred affiliated researchers and graduate students. Federal, provincial and municipal governments, NGOs and private sector representatives participate actively on the management and advisory structures of each of the Centres. In addition to receiving core federal support, the Centres draw extensive support from the universities and receive additional project resources from federal departments, provinces, NGOs and the private sector.

The international Metropolis Project involves a partnership of policy makers and researchers from over 20 countries, including the United States, most of Western Europe, Israel, Argentina and the Asia-Pacific Region, and inter-governmental and non-governmental organizations, such as the European Commission, UNESCO, the International Centre for Migration Policy Development, the Migration Policy Institute, the International Organization for Migration and the Migration Policy Group. The international project, which is managed through an International Steering Committee with the CIC Metropolis Project Team providing strategic direction and coordination, achieves significant leverage with its academic resources and its network.

Audit and Disclosures

Audit and Disclosures Branch conducts audit and consulting engagements to provide assurances to senior management on the adequacy of: risk management strategies and practices, management control frameworks and practices, and information used for decision-making and reporting. The Branch also monitors that management action plans responding to internal audit observations are successfully implemented. In addition the Branch serves as the liaison office for the Office of the Auditor General and the Treasury Board Secretariat Centre of Excellence for Internal Audit. The Branch is also responsible for the implementation of the Internal Disclosure Policy within CIC (Internal Disclosure of Information Concerning Wrongdoing in the Workplace).

Human Resources (BHD)

The Human Resources Branch provides a full range of human resources services such as staffing and classification, official languages, pay and benefits, training and development, labour-management relations, workplace ethics, conflict resolution, health and safety, organizational well-being (including recognition programs) and individual/organizational performance evaluation. This branch also provides departmental services in the area of planning and environmental analysis, resourcing strategies, policies and monitoring as well as supports the implementation and development of the departmental Human Resources Management system. The Human Resources branch also defines and supports departmental strategies on learning and change management and ensures learning and career management services as well as program related training.

Other

Office of the Senior Citizenship Judge

The Citizenship Commission is an independent administrative tribunal reporting directly to the Minister. The Commission is administered by a Senior Judge who ensures that Citizenship Judges, who are appointed by Order-in-Council, discharge their statutory and administrative duties under the Citizenship Act, and acts as the link between Citizenship Judges, the Minister and the Department with regard to citizenship issues.

Citizenship Judges are required to conduct the following activities: determine, in accordance with the Citizenship Act, whether applicants meet the requirements to become citizens; perform the ceremonial functions associated with administering the Oath of citizenship; carry out an ambassadorial role associated with the promotion of the concept and values of Canadian citizenship in the communities where they are appointed.

Ombudsman

The Ombudsman provides an informal process for dealing with employee concerns and problems. These include, but are not limited to, unfair practices or systems, the conduct of other employees and issues of ethical behaviour, such as conflict of interest or activities that seem to be contrary to public service values and the public interest.

The services of the Ombudsman are available to all employees of the Department of Citizenship and Immigration at all levels, including managers.

Any matter of concern to the employee can be raised with the Ombudsman.

The Deputy Minister assigns the responsibilities and duties of Ombudsman as per his general authority under the Public Service Employment Act. The Ombudsman reports directly to the Deputy Minister.

The services of the Ombudsman are available to employees who wish to resolve problems informally as an alternative to more formal mechanisms, such as grievances, appeals and complaints. The Ombudsman is not intended to replace other existing policies or procedures, the roles of unions, the department's Staff Relations division, the established system of Designated Departmental Representatives, the Public Service Commission, the Public Service Staff Relations Board or the Canadian Human Rights Commission. The Ombudsman will ensure that employees are aware of these alternatives and the time limits within which they may access them, so that they may make an informed choice as to which process to follow.

Topics: Include the contract value, vendor information and purchasing trends, which allows the production of ADHOC reports, responses to Access to Information and Privacy (ATIP) requests and spending estimates.

Program Record Number: CIC APB 007

Information Management and Technologies (BID)

Electronic Data Processing (EDP) Systems

Description: EDP systems are used to gather or update the information needed for the operational support of citizenship and immigration programs. Citizenship and immigration-related programs and services are delivered using integrated clerical, manual and EDP systems. The EDP component consists of the sub-systems listed below. All sub-systems are linked to each other, either by a full computer connection (interface), or by common data elements that allow comparisons of information across systems. Therefore, actions in one sub-system may affect the smooth running of others.

Topics: Citizenship and Immigration, CIC, Citizenship, Immigration, Visitors, Students, Foreign Workers, Computerized System and System.

Program Record Number: CIC APB 005 (formerly CIC IMM 110)

Field Operations Support System (FOSS)

Description: The FOSS database is a central repository of information on all persons who have been, may be or are wanted to be seen by Immigration staff. FOSS is the main operational support system for immigration operations in Canada. The system is comprised of numerous components including query functions, status entry, document creation, refugee monitoring, case processing support, medical profiles, registry functions, client name and address, statistical functions, airport primary inspection line functions, access and security, appeals and litigation, quality assurance and records maintenance. All Immigration staff that work with the public and the staff that support these officers use FOSS. It is also used at all international airports by customs inspectors and by a number of specialized groups, such as: Case Management, Query Response Centre, Social Insurance Registry, Immigration Health, Immigration Statistics, External Affairs Protocol, Canadian consulates in various locations in the United States, as well as Joint Passenger Analysis Units in Miami. There are over 17.5 million client records and over 30 million document reference records.

Topics: Immigration, Visitors, Students, Foreign Workers, FOSS, Computerized System and System.

Program Record Number: CIC APB 005 (formerly CIC IMM 110)

Computer-Assisted Immigration Processing System (CAIPS)

Description: CAIPS is the Department's automated system for immigration application processing outside Canada. Information is entered in the system from application forms and supporting documentation submitted by applicants for immigrant and visitor visas, returning resident permits and student and employment authorizations. This information is transferred electronically to FOSS to facilitate inland processing. In addition, CAIPS users have real-time access to FOSS via the CAIPS-FOSS Integration module.

Topics: Overseas, Immigration, Visitors, Students, Foreign Workers, CAIPS, Computerized System and System.

Program Record Number: CIC APB 005 (formerly CIC IMM 110)

Case Processing Centre System (CPC)

Description: The CPC system supports the processing of all in-Canada applications for the following: in-Canada sponsorship of family class; extension of temporary resident visas; applications for permanent resident visas; applications based on humanitarian and compassionate grounds and applications for permanent resident cards.

Topics: Inland, Immigration, Visitors, Students, Foreign Workers, Immigration Sponsorship, Vegreville, Mississauga, CPC, Computerized System and System.

Program Record Number: CIC APB 005 (formerly CIC IMM 110)

Citizenship Registry System (CRS)

Description: CRS supports the processing of all applications for a grant of citizenship and a proof of citizenship from within and outside Canada. The primary functions include: collect fees; obtaining RCMP and CSIS clearance; collect data; certificate preparation; decision: scheduling; log in (results) and file retention. All record scheduling and workflow data related to citizenship processes are kept in this database and there is an interface with FOSS.

Topics: Citizenship, Canadian Citizenship, Citizenship Certificate, Sydney, CRS, Computerized System and System.

Program Record Number: CIC APB 005 (formerly CIC IMM 110)

Client Status Query (CSQ)

Description: CSQ allows query access to the Field Operations Support System (FOSS) database via the web. The application provides its users with a Windows-based view of FOSS. Because it's not restricted to a character-based screen size, the information in CSQ, while the same as that in FOSS, can be presented in a much more user-friendly manner. The information is easier to read as the screens are not restricted in size and therefore full descriptions can be shown to the users, rather than codes that the user must learn. All client information and document information that is stored on FOSS is viewable by the CSQ user. As well as containing FOSS data, CSQ also contains high level National Case Management System (NCMS) information allowing immigration officers access to enforcement tracking information. As well, CSQ is the only national system where the client's signature and photo for his permanent residence card can be viewed.

Topics: Permanent Resident Card, Photo, Photograph, PRC, Computerized System and FOSS.

Program Record Number: CIC APB 005
(formerly CIC IMM 110)

National Case Management System (NCMS)

Description: The NCM system has replaced several regional case tracking applications. NCMS provides functionality that supports critical immigration enforcement case tracking requirements from the regions and NHQ. It provides a facility aimed at satisfying management information needs. Key enforcement data is stored centrally to provide an integrated client case history for all domestic users. Its functions include case tracking, bring forward, scheduling, workload management, file registry, and reporting modules for all of CIC's major enforcement business lines (except port of entry examinations).

Topics: Enforcement, Enforcement Case Tracking, NCMS, Computerized System and System.

Program Record Number: CIC APB 005
(formerly CIC IMM 110)

Card Control System (CCS)

Description: The CCS brings together data and images from FOSS, CPC System and a scanning database held in Sydney, N.S. When all the data are complete and present, CCS sends these to the permanent Resident Card Production Facility in Canadian Bank Note (CBN) in order to produce the PR Card. CBN then returns card data, the disposition of the card and various statistics used in the management of the program. There are interfaces to the FOSS, the CPC system, the Sydney Scanning System, the CSQ and CBN.

Topics: Information systems generally; standard statistical coding for completing forms; information-gathering systems (employment clearance, occupation, transportation tables, native language); data systems (immigrants processed abroad and in Canada, permanent residents, monthly program reports, special information retrieval procedures, foreign nationals visiting Canada).

Program Record Number: CIC APB 005
(formerly CIC IMM 110)

Technical Support

Description: Information on the architecture, development and design of hardware, software, database, centre, administration of data, Electronic Data Processing (EDP) Policy, Training, EDP Standards, and contracts.

Topics: Correspondence; tenders and contracts; security of EDP installations; computer activity reports; systems and programming standards; software master control programs and utilities for all systems, EDP policy, database studies, schedules and information, EDP standards and contracting documentation.

Modern Management Office (Special Project) (MMO)

Modern Management – General

Description: Carried out a baseline assessment of its capacity to implement modern management practices.

Topics: Program record consists of CIC's modern management practices assessment and an action plan called "Building Management Capacity" which was approved by the CIC Executive Committee in December 2002.

A CIC Integrated Risk Management Framework was developed and also approved by the CIC Executive Committee in December 2002. The Framework is intended to serve as a guide for managing risks in the context of our various work environments. It provides a simple and useful mechanism to help formulate decisions, prevent problems and reduce losses. In the area of values and ethics, a manager's kit: Dialogue and Ethical Decision Making was developed and published in September 2003.

Personal Information Banks

Policy and Program Development

Admissibility (SED)

Enforcement Data System

Description: This bank contains information from the enforcement records of persons who have come under examination at a port of entry or investigation at an inland Canada Immigration Centre. This bank is a subsystem (batch system) of the Field Operational Support System (FOSS). The bank includes a report from an immigration officer and a record of the inquiry, appeal and removal process. Records may include name, address, birth date, country of birth, enforcement action undertaken (i.e. a report, arrest, inquiry or removal under the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act), and the date and place of each event in the process. The deportation order is available on persons subject to the removal process from January 1, 1973. The bank includes the electronic collection and use of fingerprints, digital photographs and personal histories of refugee and immigrant applicants to Canada. Some of the information may be duplicated in the Immigrant Case File—CIC PPU 042 and the Permanent Resident Data System—CIC PPU 053. Persons seeking access to this information should supply their name, date of birth, approximate date of entry to Canada and port of entry.

Class of Individuals: Persons who have been subject to the enforcement provisions of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act of Canada.

Purpose: The purpose of this bank is to help determine the admissibility of persons to Canada or the right of persons to remain in Canada, and to produce statistical reports in support of the enforcement function.

Consistent Uses: Information is also used by the Department of Human Resources and Skills Development Canada (HRSDC) and by the Immigration Appeal Division of the Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada (IRB). Other uses may include sharing information with the Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS), the Department of Justice, Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness Canada and other divisions of the IRB. Information may be shared between the IRB's Immigration Appeal Division—IRB PPU 110 and Adjudication Division—IRB PPU 140. Information may be shared with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) and the CSIS for the purpose of conducting security reviews or investigations related to immigration legislation. The bank electronically discloses fingerprints and personal histories to the RCMP for data matching and security checks with foreign government law authorities. The information is shared with the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) to aid the officers at the Primary Inspection Line (PIL) in referring persons to Immigration for further examination as well as for the purpose of determining eligibility for the Alternate Inspection Systems (AIS). It is also shared with foreign governments under the terms of agreements/arrangements and the purpose of lawful investigations or the enforcement of any law.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Paper records are normally retained ten years after the last administrative action. Disposal standards are currently under review.

Description: This bank may include the following types of information: name, date of birth, country of birth, sex, marital status, citizenship, date and place of landing in Canada, permanent address in Canada, telephone number as well as reason for and length of absence from Canada. Persons seeking access to this bank must supply their date of birth, approximate date of permit issuance and office of issue.

Class of Individuals: Permanent residents who, according to the Immigration Act, have valid reasons for remaining outside Canada for extended periods of time.

Purpose: To record information which will facilitate the return to Canada of a permanent resident. The information is used in the administration and enforcement of immigration legislation.

Consistent Uses: The information may be disclosed to the Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS) and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) for the purpose of conducting security reviews or investigations related to immigration legislation. Uses also include the sharing of information with Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness Canada, CSIS, the Department of Justice and the RCMP where these uses are pursuant to the law. Information may also be disclosed to various foreign governments, law enforcement bodies and detaining authorities with respect to the administration and enforcement of immigration legislation. Information may be disclosed to medical practitioners for the purpose of providing medical services to newly arrived immigrants being held in detention centres as well as to the Canadian Council of Engineers for the assessment of engineering qualifications. Some information may also be disclosed to transportation companies within the terms of their responsibilities under immigration legislation. It may also be disclosed to provincial authorities for assessment under the terms of an agreement (i.e. Canada-Quebec Accord) or arrangement. Other uses may include the sharing of information with the insurance and employment programs of Human Resources and Skills Development Canada (HRSDC), the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA), the Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada, Foreign Affairs Canada (FAC), International Trade Canada (ITCan), Health Canada, Veterans Affairs Canada as well as with provincial or municipal government departments under the terms of an agreement (i.e. Malton Neighbourhood Services) responsible for assisting immigration settlement for the purpose of administering their programs (e.g. social welfare, education, and human resource planning) and for research purposes. Information may also be shared with Statistics Canada and Foreign Affairs Canada for statistical and planning purposes. It may also be shared with foreign governments under the terms of an agreement or arrangement in order to conduct a lawful investigation or administer or enforce any law. It may be provided to private sector research firms for the purposes of planning, statistics, research and evaluation. Information obtained from Foreign Affairs Canada (FAC), International Trade Canada (ITCan), Health Canada, the Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada (that contained in IRB PPU 105–Immigration Appeal Board Records, IRB PPU 110–Immigration Appeal Division Records, IRB PPU 115–Convention Refugee Determination Division Records and IRB PPU 145–Research Directives, Claim Specific Information), CSIS, the RCMP and some provincial government departments may be compared for the purpose of administering or enforcing the immigration legislation and to administer and conduct the appeals process under the Immigration Act.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Information is kept for two years after the issuance of the permit. Disposal standards are currently under review.

Sponsors of Foreign Nationals

Description: Data on the sponsor include name, date of birth, country of birth, sex, previous and current marital status, citizenship, status in Canada, address, telephone and fax numbers, labour force status, occupation, identification number, annual revenue, and may include information related to the eligibility assessment for sponsorship. It may contain all or some of the above information on any other individual who may support the sponsorship undertaking. Data on the foreign national being sponsored include name, relationship to sponsor, date, place, and country of birth, marital status, address, identification number and unique medical identifier. It may contain all or some of the same information regarding any family members of the immigrant who are included in the application. A copy of the information may form part of the Immigrant Case File–CIC PPU 042. Individuals may gain access to the bank by providing their complete name, date and place of birth. The information may be held at the Mississauga or Vegreville Case Processing Centre, and Canada Immigration Centre or at a post abroad, or all three.

Class of Individuals: Canadian citizens or permanent residents who apply to sponsor the admission to Canada of members of the family class or the spouse or common-law partner in Canada class.

Purpose: To record information pertaining to a Canadian citizen's or a permanent resident's application to sponsor foreign nationals coming to Canada. Information is used in the administration and enforcement of immigration legislation, including sponsorship default.

Consistent Uses: The information is used internally for management information system purposes and for purposes of research, planning, evaluation and statistics. It may be used in investigations by the Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS), the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP), or other law enforcement bodies where these uses are pursuant to the law. Other uses may include sharing the information with Foreign Affairs Canada and International Trade Canada, or sharing information with provincial and municipal departments under the terms of a formal agreement in order to conduct a lawful investigation, to administer or enforce any law, or for the purpose of administering their programs. It may be used for internal audit purposes. It may be provided to private sector research firms for planning, statistics, research and evaluation. The information on the immigrant may also be shared with foreign governments such as the United States immigration service pursuant to an agreement or an arrangement in order to conduct lawful investigations or administer or enforce any law. The information in this bank may be matched with that in IRB PPU 105-Immigration Appeal Board Records and IRB PPU 110-Immigration Appeal Division Records to administer and conduct the appeals process under the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Paper and/or imaged records are held for two years after sponsorship application is refused. Imaged records are held for seven years after sponsorship has ended. The retention and disposal standards for electronic records are currently under review with the Library and Archives Canada.

Description: The bank contains information on persons who apply at posts abroad for a permanent resident visa, a temporary resident visa, a work permit, a study permit, a travel document for permanent residents, a temporary resident permit, an employment authorization, a student authorization, a returning resident permit, or on persons who attempt or are suspected of seeking to enter Canada illegally or who counsel or assist persons seeking to enter Canada. Records in the bank may contain some or all of the following: applications; certificates of birth, death, marriage, divorce, separation, adoption, and education; employment experience and references; statements of assets and bank, trust, and brokerage statements; property holdings; business investments, and medical reports. The file may also contain details concerning criminality and availability of funds. Persons seeking access to this information bank should provide their name or names they have used, date of birth and, if possible, their visa office file number.

Class of Individuals: Individuals who have applied for a permanent resident visa, a temporary resident visa, a work permit, a study permit, a travel document for permanent residents, a temporary resident permit, an employment authorization, a student authorization, or returning resident permit at posts abroad. Individuals who are known to have entered Canada illegally or are suspected of participating in irregular entry activities.

Purpose: The information contained in this bank may be used in the administration and enforcement of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act of Canada. The bank serves as a repository for detailed and summary documentation on those persons wishing to visit or immigrate to Canada and persons involved in the facilitation thereof.

Consistent Uses: Information may be disclosed to the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA), the Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS) and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) for the purpose of conducting security and law-enforcement reviews or investigations related to immigration legislation, or in the detection, suppression and prevention of offences against the Immigration and the Refugee Protection Act and Regulations. Information regarding applicants that is obtained from CBSA, CSIS, the Solicitor General, the RCMP or provincial government departments will be added to the individuals' files. Information is also shared with the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) for the purpose of ensuring and monitoring the lawful entry of persons seeking to enter Canada. Consistent uses may include sharing information with the Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada, the Department of Justice, or judicial bodies for the purpose of administering and conducting the appeals process under the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act. It also may include sharing information with departments of provincial governments, as well as the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, and the International Organization for Migration (IOM), where these organizations have a role in referring cases to the department or in assisting in the resettlement process. Information may also be shared with individual sponsors and sponsoring groups, as well as with designated medical personnel who conduct medical examinations for the purpose of identifying medical conditions of immigration applicants. Information may be disclosed to transportation companies within the terms of their responsibilities under immigration legislation. Consistent uses may also include sharing information with Foreign Affairs Canada (FAC) where issues relating to Canada's bilateral or multilateral relations are concerned. Information may be disclosed to foreign governments, to law-enforcement bodies, to detaining authorities, and to judicial and state authorities where memoranda of understandings exist circumscribing the terms of such disclosure. Consistent use may include verification of documentation with law-enforcement bodies or with judicial and state authorities of foreign governments, where verification of the documentation with the issuing authority is required in the administration and enforcement of immigration legislation. Information may be shared with foreign governments as well as with Canadian employer associations for the purpose of processing applications from seasonal agricultural workers. Information may be used internally for program management purposes, for the purposes of research, planning, evaluation and statistics, and for internal audit purposes.

Case Management (BCD)

Case Processing System (CPS)

Description: The Case Processing System (CPS) is both a tracking system and a processing system. All rehabilitation cases and temporary resident permit requests for criminally inadmissible immigrant applicants, direction for hearings on long-term permanent residents convicted of serious crimes, pre-removal risk assessments (PRRA) as well as all danger to the public cases are in this system. Reports are prepared for the Minister's delegate in each case using CPS.

Class of Individuals: The clients are those who are criminally inadmissible. They are seeking relief from the inadmissibility or CIC is preparing a request for a danger opinion to (a) prevent a person from claiming refugee status, or (b) allow refoulement of a Convention refugee or protected person; or where CIC is seeking a decision on a positive PRRA on cases where restrictions apply.

Purpose: CPS is used as a tracking system for cases within the Danger to the Public – Rehabilitation Unit. It is used for writing rehabilitation assessments, requests for Minister's opinion/reconsiderations, applications for temporary resident permits, danger opinions on removal cases, restriction assessments for positive PRRA and directions for hearings on long term permanent residents convicted of serious crimes. It is also used for writing memos, letters and faxes to CIC local offices. As well, statistics can be gathered on volumes of cases and approval rates from this system.

Consistent Uses: CPS is accessible only by employees of the Danger to the Public – Rehabilitation Unit. The information with respect to Danger to the Public cases and positive PRRA is disclosed to the person concerned and to his/her counsel. Information that is not related to danger to the public is not disclosed to other government agencies or members of the public.

The file may contain information on an immigrant's earlier status in Canada (e.g. employment authorization information, etc.). It may include all or part of the same information regarding any other person named in the application. It may include information on the sponsor and information from the Foreign Students Records and Case File—CIC PPU 051. It may also include the name and address of bond depositor, sum deposited, terms and conditions imposed, name of person signing bond, name of persons bonded, terms and conditions which they must meet, and acknowledgement of terms and conditions. It may also include pre-removal risk assessments. Persons seeking access to this information bank must supply their date of birth, approximate date of entry into Canada and port of entry.

Class of Individuals: Persons accepted or refused admission to Canada as permanent residents, Convention refugees, visitors, immigrants, permit holders; persons seeking approval of criminal rehabilitation; persons declared a danger to the public by the Minister under the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act; persons under enforcement action in Canada; persons who are the object of litigation before courts or administrative tribunals in matters relating to immigration.

Purpose: This personal information relates to the immigrant's applications for permanent or temporary admission to Canada and subsequent decisions for which purpose the bank was established. Information is used in the administration and enforcement of immigration legislation, as required.

Consistent Uses: The information may be used or disclosed in the administration and enforcement of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act and the detection, suppression and prevention of immigration offenses. The information may be disclosed to the Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS) and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) for the purpose of conducting security reviews or investigations related to immigration legislation. Uses also include the sharing of information with Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness Canada (PSEPC), CSIS, the Department of Justice, Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) and the RCMP where these uses are pursuant to the law. Information may also be disclosed to various foreign governments subject to multilateral treaties or agreements, law enforcement bodies and detaining authorities with respect to the administration and enforcement of immigration legislation. Personal information relating to warrants and arrests for examination, admissibility hearings, removal from Canada or a proceeding that could lead to the making of a removal order by an immigration officer, and removal orders (departure orders, deportation orders and exclusion orders) issued by immigration officers, and their execution, may be disclosed by media relations officers when it has been determined that the disclosure is necessary for the administration and enforcement of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act and the detection, suppression and prevention of immigration offences. Information may be disclosed to medical practitioners for the purpose of providing medical services to newly arrived immigrants being held in detention centres as well as to the Canadian Council of Engineers for the assessment of engineering qualifications. Certain information may be shared with service provider organizations (SPOs) and private sponsors in Canada for the purposes of administering the refugee program. Some information may also be disclosed to transportation companies within the terms of their responsibilities under immigration legislation. It may also be disclosed to provincial authorities, agencies and municipalities under the terms of an agreement or arrangement. Other uses may include the sharing of information with the insurance and employment programs of Human Resources and Skills Development Canada (HRSDC), the Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada, Foreign Affairs Canada (FAC), Health Canada, for assessment, provision of settlement assistance, administration of provincial programs and for research purposes. Information may also be shared with Statistics Canada and FAC for statistical and planning purposes. It may also be shared with foreign governments and immigration authorities under the terms of an agreement or arrangement in order to conduct a lawful investigation or administer or enforce any law. It may be provided to private sector research firms for the purposes of planning, statistics, research and evaluation. Permanent Resident Card

Description: The bank contains information on persons who have been granted permanent resident status and who have been issued a permanent resident card. Records in the bank contain the information collected by overseas missions and inland CICs from all applicants for permanent residence as it is captured on the record of landing (CIC Form IMM1000) and the confirmation of permanent residence (CIC Form IMM5292). Information contained in this bank includes the following: the applicant's name, date and place of birth, signature, gender, height and eye colour, the date on which and the place where the applicant became a permanent resident, the applicant's mailing address, the address of all of the applicant's places of residence during the previous five years, the name and address of the applicant's employers and educational institutions attended during the previous five years, the periods during the previous five years that the applicant was absent from Canada, the name, address and telephone number of the applicant's guarantor, whether a report under subsection 44(1) of the Act has been made in respect of the applicant or whether a decision was made outside of Canada that they have failed to comply with the residency obligation under section 28 of the Act, and whether the applicant has lost permanent resident status or has been issued a removal order; a certified copy of a passport currently held by the applicant or held by the applicant at the time of becoming a permanent resident, the form IMM1000, entitled "Record of Landing", or the IMM5292, entitled 'Confirmation of Permanent Residence', held by the applicant, a provincial driver's license held by the applicant, a photo-identity card held by the applicant and issued by a province, a student card held by the applicant and issued by a provincially accredited college or university, or the most recent notice of assessment within the meaning of the Income Tax Act received in relation to the applicant's income tax return; and two identical photographs signed by the guarantor.

Class of Individuals: Persons who have been granted permanent residence in Canada.

Purpose: The information contained in this bank may be used in the administration and enforcement of immigration legislation. The bank serves as a repository for information on those persons who have been issued a permanent resident card in order to ensure the integrity of the card issuing process.

Consistent Uses: The information may be disclosed to the Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS), the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) and the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) for the purpose of conducting security reviews or investigations related to immigration legislation. Consistent uses may include sharing information with Foreign Affairs Canada, the Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada, the Department of Justice, the Canada Revenue Agency, the Canada Border Services Agency, the Solicitor General and Human Resources and Skills Development Canada, as well as departments of provincial governments with an interest in providing services to immigrants under federal-provincial memoranda of understanding. Information may be compared with that contained in the personal information bank entitled "Determination of Permanent Resident Status"—CIC PPU 068.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Paper records are held by CPC Sydney and are destroyed two years after the last administrative action. The electronic file in FOSS relating to the particulars of the holder is retained indefinitely, in conjunction with the microfilm copy of the confirmation of permanent residence (IMM 5292). A photographic image will also be held indefinitely in an image bank for compliance and enforcement purposes. Permanent resident cards that cannot be delivered within 180 days of notifying the applicant of its availability will be destroyed as required by subsection 58(3) of the Immigration Regulations.

Determination of Permanent Resident Status

Description: The bank contains information on persons who have or who claim to have been granted permanent resident status in Canada. Records in the bank may contain information collected by overseas missions, ports of entry and inland Canada Immigration Centres (CIC's) from permanent residents and may also contain information as reflected on a permanent resident's "Record of Landing" (CIC Form IMM1000) or "Confirmation of Permanent Residence" (CIC Form IMM5292). Information contained in this bank includes the following: the permanent resident's name, gender, date and place of birth, marital status; the date on which and the place where the permanent resident became a permanent resident [and, if applicable, what terms and/or conditions were applied at the time of landing or at the time of being granted permanent residence]; the permanent resident's residential address in Canada; the permanent resident's address outside of Canada; the permanent resident's mailing address; if notated or otherwise indicated by the permanent resident on the

"Questionnaire: Determination of Permanent Resident Status" (CIC Form IMM 5511), the permanent resident's country of citizenship, passport number and date of passport expiry; the permanent resident's places and duration of residence during the previous five years; if while absent from Canada during the previous five years the permanent resident accompanied a Canadian citizen spouse, common-law partner or parent, the Canadian citizen's name, proof of Canadian citizenship and proof of relationship to the permanent resident and the periods of absence from Canada when the permanent resident was accompanying the Canadian citizen; if while absent from Canada during the previous five years the permanent resident was employed outside of Canada on a full time basis by a Canadian business, or in the public service of Canada or of a province of Canada, the name, address, duration and proof of such employment with the employer during the previous five years; if while absent from Canada during the previous five years the permanent resident accompanied a Canadian permanent resident spouse, common-law partner or parent who was or is employed outside of Canada on a full time basis by a Canadian business, or in the public service of Canada or of a province of Canada, the Canadian permanent resident's name along with proof of that Canadian permanent resident status and proof of that Canadian permanent resident's employment and proof of that Canadian permanent resident's relationship to the permanent resident and the periods of absence from Canada when the permanent resident was accompanying that Canadian permanent resident; in the case of a permanent resident with a sum total number of days less than 730 days during the previous five years in which the permanent resident was: (a) physically present in Canada, and/or (b) accompanying outside of Canada a Canadian citizen spouse, common-law partner or parent, and/or (c) employed outside of Canada on a full time basis by a Canadian business, or in the public service of Canada or of a province of Canada, and/or (d) accompanying outside of Canada a Canadian permanent resident spouse, common-law partner or parent who is or was employed outside of Canada on a full time basis by a Canadian business, or in the public service of Canada or of a province of Canada, any humanitarian and compassionate considerations relating to the best interests of any child that may be directly affected by a determination of the permanent resident's residency in Canada and/or any humanitarian and compassionate considerations that the permanent resident feels would overcome any breach of the permanent resident's residency obligation as required under the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act.

Class of Individuals: Persons who have or claim to have been granted permanent residence in Canada.

Purpose: The information contained in this bank may be used in the administration and enforcement of immigration legislation. The bank serves as a repository for information on those persons who have been issued a permanent resident card in order to ensure the integrity of the card issuing process.

Consistent Uses: Information may be compared with that contained in permanent resident card application (CIC PPU 067). The information may be disclosed to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) and the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) for the purpose of investigation of an offence under the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act. Consistent uses may include sharing information with the Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada, and the Department of Justice.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Paper records will be held by CIC for five years. Retention periods for a photographic image [held in an image bank] and the electronic file in the Field Operational Support System (FOSS) relating to the particulars of the permanent resident's compliance with the section 28 residency obligation under the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act are under review by the Library and Archives Canada.

Letters written by the general public asking for information on the programs and responses to these letters are placed on CIC program files and are not retrievable by personal identifiers. They may, however, contain personal information. Any questions relating to CIC's programs and services are referred to the appropriate program group and letters from the public will be found in the relevant program files. Mailing lists may be found by consulting the Communications Branch.

Selection (SSD)

Selection Branch may hold letters and faxes from the general public, lawyers, consultants, MPs, private sector, other governmental departments and non-governmental organizations. This correspondence may include enquiries, requests for information, advice and opinion on CIC policies, programs, and the handling of cases by individuals employed in the immigration program, as pertains to cases where individuals have applied for permanent resident status or temporary resident status. Memos and other briefing documents may deal with the same individuals and topics. This correspondence does not constitute any part of routine administration of the immigration program.

Strategic Directions and Communications

Communications (BPD)

Distribution mailing lists, both on paper and computer disks, which include individuals, as well as groups and media, who receive various departmental and branch publications, notably news releases and speeches, or who are targeted to receive promotional/educational or information materials (e.g. National Citizenship Week and other campaigns) or key documents or legislation (e.g. CIC's annual report to Parliament on immigration). This information is not retrievable by personal identifier.

Human Resources

The Employee departure feedback program gathers information from employees who leave the department on their reasons for leaving and their satisfaction with different aspects of their experience. The information gathered serves as an organizational health indicator and is used to inform efforts to recruit, retain and motivate employees and make the department an exemplary and effective workplace. Information is gathered through two questionnaires (one for the departing employee and one for their manager) and an interview of the employee by a third party consultant. The information collected is in the form of background/demographic information, multiple choice and yes/no questions, ratings of satisfaction levels on a scale of 1-5, as well as comment sections and the opportunity to elaborate in the interview. The latter two forms could contain unsolicited personal information about an identifiable individual, however, information collected is not retrievable by personal identifiers.

Commission for Public Complaints Against the RCMP

Chapter 50

General Information

Background

The Commission for Public Complaints Against the RCMP was established by Parliament in March 1986, as a result of recommendations arising from the 1976 Marin Commission of Inquiry Relating to Public Complaints, Internal Discipline and Grievance Procedure within the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and the 1981 McDonald Commission of Inquiry Concerning Certain Activities of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Part VII of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Act, which made the Commission operational, came into force on September 30, 1988.

Responsibilities

The Commission for Public Complaints Against the RCMP is an independent administrative tribunal empowered to conduct external and independent reviews of public complaints concerning the conduct of members of the RCMP in the course of their duties. The Chair of the Commission reviews the disposition of the complaint by the RCMP and may conduct investigations and institute public hearings of the Commission. The Chair may, as well, initiate a complaint personally if there are reasonable grounds for investigation. If the Chair considers it advisable in the public interest, the Chair may conduct an investigation of any complaint or institute a hearing regardless of whether the complaint has been investigated or otherwise dealt with by the RCMP. The findings and recommendations of the Chair are sent to the Commissioner of the RCMP and the Solicitor General of Canada. The Chair reports annually to Parliament through the Solicitor General of Canada.

Legislation

- Royal Canadian Mounted Police Act, Parts VI and VII

Organization

The Commission consists of a Chair, a Vice-Chair, a member for each contracting province and not more than three other members, to be appointed by order of the Governor in Council. The Chair is the Chief Executive Officer of the Commission and has supervision over and direction of the work of the Commission staff. The senior staff of the Commission consists of an Executive Director, a General Counsel, a Director of Operations, Senior Reviewer/Analysts, Reviewer/Analysts, Investigators, a Senior Advisor Policy, Planning and Research, Regional Directors and an Office Manager.

Copyright Board of Canada

Chapter 51

The annual update for this institution was not received for inclusion in the 2004-2005 version of this Info Source publication. The following is from the 2003-2004 version of Info Source.

General Information

Background

The Copyright Board of Canada was created by a series of amendments to the Copyright Act which were proclaimed on February 1, 1989. It replaced the Copyright Appeal Board which had been responsible since 1935 for approving annual tariffs respecting the public performance of music. Bill C-32 (Act modifying the Copyright Act) which received Royal Assent on April 25, 1997, modifies the mandate of the Board by adding the responsibilities, among others, for the adoption of tariffs for the public performance and communication to the public by telecommunication of sound recordings of musical works, for the benefit of the performers of these works and of the makers of the sound recordings (“the neighbouring rights”) and for the adoption of tariffs for private copying of recorded musical works, for the benefit of the rights owners in the works, the recorded performances and the sound recordings (“the home-taping regime”).

Responsibilities

The Copyright Board of Canada is an independent administrative agency which has been conferred department status for purposes of the Financial Administration Act. Its mandate stems from the Copyright Act.

The Copyright Board of Canada plays a major role in the collective administration of copyright, particularly where the public performance and the communication to the public, by telecommunication, of musical works, as well as the retransmission of distant radio and television signals are concerned. The Board plays a surveillance role in three ways with respect to collective societies which administer very large repertoires of work created by a multitude of originators both in Canada and in other countries: as an economic regulatory body, by approving tariff proposals by the various copyright collective societies; as an arbitrator in private disputes; and as an arbitrator of the public interest.

The Board’s principal mandate is to set royalties which are fair and reasonable for both copyright owners and the users of copyright-protected works, as well as issuing non-exclusive licences authorizing the fully legal use of works when the copyright owner cannot be located.

The Board reports annually to Parliament through the Minister of Industry.

Legislation

- Copyright Act, R.S.C. (1985), c. C-42
- Local Signal and Distant Signal Regulations
- Retransmission Royalties Criteria Regulations
- Programming Undertaking Regulations
- Definition of Small Retransmission Systems Regulations
- Definition of “Small Cable Transmission System” Regulations
- Regulations establishing the Period of Royalty Entitlements of Non-members of Collecting Bodies
- Regulations defining “Wireless Transmission System”
- Regulations defining “Advertising Revenues”
- Exceptions for Educational Institutions, Libraries, Archives and Museums Regulations
- Regulations prescribing Networks
- Educational Program, Work and Other Subject-matter Record-keeping Regulations

Organization

The Board consists of a chairman, a vice-chairman and a maximum of three other members, all appointed by the Governor in Council. The Chairman, who must be a judge of a superior, county or district court, directs the work of the Board and apportions its work among the members of the Board. The Vice-Chairman, who is the Chief Executive Officer of the Board, supervises and directs the work of the Board’s staff. The Board has a staff of twelve employees, two of whom report to the Chief Executive Officer: the Secretary General and the General Counsel.

Correctional Service of Canada

Chapter 52

General Information

Background

In 1977, the Correctional Service of Canada (CSC) was formed through the amalgamation of the Canadian Penitentiary Service and the National Parole Service.

Responsibilities

Mission: The Correctional Service of Canada, as part of the criminal justice system and respecting the rule of law, contributes to the protection of society by actively encouraging and assisting offenders to become law-abiding citizens, while exercising reasonable, safe, secure and humane control.

The Correctional Service of Canada provides programs for offenders from admission until the expiration of their sentence. In order to carry out its responsibilities, the Correctional Service creates files to hold information on offenders, prisons, organizations and occurrences that affect or may affect it in the carrying out of its mandate. Information must be collected from and shared with numerous sources, such as other components of the criminal justice system, as is explained in the section "General Information on Data Matching/Data Sharing", at the end of this chapter.

Legislation

- Corrections and Conditional Release Act, SC 1992, c. C-20
- Criminal Code RSC, 1985, c. C-46
- Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1976
- Criminal Records Act RSC, 1985, c. C-47
- Prisons and Reformatories Act RSC, 1985, c. P-20
- Transfer of Offenders Act, 1977-78, c. T-15
- Young Offenders Act RSC, 1985, c. R-1

Organization

Communications and Consultation

The Communications and Consultation Sector is responsible for raising Canadians' awareness about correctional issues. The Sector provides communications planning and advice; handles relations with the media; and offers a variety of multimedia services to its clients, including exhibits, publications, film and video services.

Community Engagement

The Community Engagement Sector is responsible for engaging a wide range of communities in the reintegration of offenders and the promotion of restorative justice approach. More specifically, the Sector provides leadership in the areas of Citizen Advisory Committees, victims, restorative justice, dispute resolutions, Federation of Canadian Municipalities, volunteers, Lifeline, non-governmental agencies involved with communities and CSC national contribution Program. In addition, the Sector provides: direct support and secretariat services to the National Executive Committee of the Citizen Advisory Committees and to the National Association of Volunteers; acts as co-partner with National CSC/NPB shared Victim office; manages the CSC national Contribution program and approval process for both national and Aboriginal contributions.

Corporate Services

The Corporate Services Sector is responsible for information management and technology, technological and operational support, technical services, facility planning, design and construction program, real property services, finance and material management. More specifically, this Sector provides all goods and services (food, clothing and housing), technology, engineering, finance, administration, procurement, information management, maintenance and capital program management services to support correctional facilities and activities.

Correctional Operations and Programs

The Correctional Operations and Programs Sector is responsible for the integrity of community and institutional operations and correctional programs across the Correctional Service of Canada, and for improving the delivery of safe corrections. More specifically, this Sector is responsible for: aboriginal issues; chaplaincy; health services; offender reintegration and correctional programs (e.g. sex offender, education, substance abuse, living skills and personal development programs); operational support; operational and departmental security (e.g. personnel security screening, baseline security requirements, readiness levels, business continuity planning, employee protection and investigations of security breaches and incidents) and CORCAN.

CORCAN is a Special Operating Agency within CSC which provides employment and employability skills to offenders incarcerated in federal penitentiaries and, for brief periods of time, after they are released into the community. The goal is to improve offenders' job readiness so they can find and keep a job when they leave prison and safely reintegrate back into society and re-entry into the labour market.

Executive Secretariat

The Executive Secretariat is responsible for the daily liaison with the Office of the Solicitor General and for the coordination and preparation of executive correspondence to the Commissioner, the Minister's Office, other Members of Parliament and Legislative Assemblies.

Human Resource Management

The Human Resource Management Sector is responsible for the identification, resolution and implementation of human resource activities and for providing interpretations of related policies, directives and guidelines. Overall this Sector is responsible for labour relations; learning and career development; employee assistance programs; occupational safety and health; executive services, corporate classification, recruitment and staffing; official languages and employment equity; personnel services for National Headquarters; human resource systems and strategic human resource planning.

Legal Services

This Sector is responsible for providing a variety of in-house legal services to the Commissioner and staff of the Correctional Service of Canada in connection with matters relating to the operations of the Service and provides interpretations of related acts, regulations, policies, directives and guidelines.

Office of the Commissioner

The Commissioner, as the Senior Executive Officer of the Correctional Service of Canada, is accountable to the Solicitor General of Canada in managing and guiding the policies and programs of the Service.

Office of the Deputy Commissioner for Women

The Women Offender Sector is responsible for the effective policy and program development, implementation and ongoing program delivery for women offenders sentenced to two years or more.

Office of the Senior Deputy Commissioner

The Senior Deputy Commissioner supports the Commissioner in the management and direction of the Correctional Service of Canada to achieve the Service's program objectives.

Performance Assurance

The Performance Assurance Sector is responsible for audits, evaluations, investigations and the management of the accreditation process. It is also responsible for providing performance measurement tools and advice for the regions and sectors of the Correctional Service of Canada. As well, the sector is responsible for the Office of Values and Ethics which manages activities associated with the Internal Disclosure of Wrongdoing in the workplace.

Policy, Planning and Coordination

The Policy, Planning and Coordination Sector is responsible for strategic and operational planning and reporting, research, policy development, knowledge management, intergovernmental affairs and rights, redress and resolution. Specific responsibilities of this Sector include the legislative agenda (e.g. Correctional and Conditional Release Act and Regulations), federal/provincial projects, international relations, and issues relating to human rights and to the Access to Information and Privacy Acts.

Regions

Five regional offices, located in the Atlantic, Québec, Ontario, Prairie and Pacific Regions, are responsible for administering the operations of correctional institutions and the supervision of offenders. These offices are responsible for implementing national policies and programs; developing regional policies, plans and programs for performance measurement, human resource and financial management, federal/provincial relations, liaison with the Commissioner's Office, public consultation, and provision of information to the media, elected officials, interest groups and the public.

Each Region is comprised of correctional facilities classified as maximum, medium and minimum security; women's facilities, district offices, parole offices and community correctional centres. These facilities are responsible for the delivery of programs, secure housing and safe reintegration of offenders by implementing both national and regional policies and programs and for participating in the formulation of corporate policy and plans, and ensuring their appropriate implementation.

Personal Information Banks

Access and Privacy Requests

Description: This bank is located at National Headquarters. It contains the information request applications under the Privacy Act and Access to Information Act for records held by the Correctional Service of Canada (CSC), and the replies to such requests and information related to the processing of such requests. As some Privacy requests are processed at the institutional or regional level, records can also be held at those locations. The bank holds requests for consultations from other Government Institutions. The bank also holds Requests for Corrections, replies to requests for Corrections and related documents, information on complaints and related information. It is emphasized that when requesting access to this bank, in addition to the other data indicated on the standard Personal Information Request form or on the Access to Information form, individuals must give their full name and DOB; with regard to Privacy requests, offenders and ex-offenders will also give their FPS numbers.

Class of Individuals: Individuals who, pursuant to the Privacy Act or Access to Information Act, seek to access information held by the CSC.

Purpose: To provide background documentation to assist in the resolution of complaints under the Privacy Act and Access to Information Act; also, for research, statistical and evaluation purposes.

Consistent Uses: The bank is used for processing access requests and to report on the number of Privacy and Access requests annually. No data matching occurs. The information can also be used for research, statistical and evaluation purposes.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Records are held for two years following the last use for administrative purposes; they are then destroyed.

Retention and Disposal Standards: 98/001

Case Management - Community Bank

Description: Since 1991, as a result of the shift of case preparation from the community to the institutions, the CSC gradually introduced a major change to its case management records system. The existing three-bank case management records system, CSC PPU 035 Case Management - Institution "A", CSC PPU 040 Case Management - Institution "B", CSC PPU 030 Case Management - Community was phased out; as a result of the conversion the CSC has one, single ACTIVE case management bank called "CSC PPU 042 Case Management Bank". (a) ALL the records filed before the conversion on the CSC PPU 030 Case Management Community Bank remain active and are transferred to the new "CSC PPU 042 Case Management Bank", (b) the name CSC PPU 030 Case Management - Community Bank disappears; (c) ALL case management records, be they generated from then on in the institution or in the community, are filed on the one, single case management bank CSC PPU 042 Case Management Bank. Therefore, all the CSC PPU 030 Case Management - Community records that were held on the former CSC PPU 030 Case Management - Community Bank are now all on the CSC PPU 042 Case Management Bank. In order to access a CSC PPU 030 Case Management Community Bank the requestor merely has to request the CSC PPU 042 Case Management Bank and he will thus get all his former CSC PPU 030 Case Management - Community records. Status of CSC PPU 030 Case Management Community Bank for offenders who were under CSC jurisdiction BEFORE the conversion of the case management records system and who DID NOT return under CSC jurisdiction: The CSC PPU 030 Case Management Community Bank remains inactive. This bank remains accessible under the Privacy Act. Status of CSC PPU 030 Case Management Community Bank for offenders who were under CSC jurisdiction BEFORE the conversion but who came back under CSC jurisdiction AFTER the conversion of the case management records system: The CSC PPU 030 Case Management Community Bank is: (a) retrieved from Archives, (b) the name CSC PPU 030 Case Management Community is deleted, (c) the content of this former CSC PPU 030 Case Management - Community Bank is reactivated and the file is renamed CSC PPU 042 Case Management Bank. From then on, the CSC continues filing ALL case management records on the offender on this one, single, CSC PPU 042 Case Management Bank, be they generated in the community or in the institution." This bank contains records and data on an offender's release programs as well as background information on his/her incarceration. It may contain information provided under expressed or implied confidentiality related to the offender's conduct, such as routine police reports, community investigations and information of a general investigative nature. This bank also encompasses any operational information in this area that may be required by the CSC to carry out its mandate under the relevant statutes.

Class of Individuals: Individuals who are or have been incarcerated in a federal institution; or individuals who belong (ed) to a provincial jurisdiction but whose case preparation and supervision are (were) effected by the Correctional Service of Canada (Example: provincial offenders serving time in Nova Scotia).

Purpose: To provide documentation to assist in the decision-making process for parole.

Consistent Uses: This bank is used in the preparation of penitentiary placement and release. Information may be shared with victims or potential victims of offenders, private after-care agencies, government institutions at all levels including foreign governments for the administration of matters such as transfers, employment, education, corrections, health care and social services; for the purposes of applying the Immigration Act; and for monitoring and/or investigating recipients of social benefits such as educational, social welfare and unemployment insurance benefits allocated by municipal, provincial or federal departments; the information may also be shared with accredited domestic and foreign law-enforcement and investigative agencies in the administration or enforcement of the law and in the detection, prevention or suppression of crime generally. Data matching occurs with law enforcement agencies and provincial authorities. Details on data matching are found under the heading of "Additional Information".

Retention and Disposal Standards: Records are retained until the offender reaches 70 years of age or until five years after the last warrant expiry date, whichever is longest. Historical records are transferred to the National Archives of Canada.

Consistent Uses: Certain health care records are used for research, evaluation and training purposes, but no decisions directly affecting the individual result from these uses. Information may also be shared with the private sector in the areas of health and social services, and with the public sector in the areas of health and social services, the Employment Accident Compensation Program and corrections. Information contained in this bank may also be shared with members of CSC Boards of Investigations, or health care professionals designated by such Boards, for the purpose of conducting investigations pursuant to the Corrections and Conditional Release Act. Data matching of health information does not occur in the sense implied by this document – the "Additional Information" section references OMS – because health information is not yet available electronically. Once there is an electronic health information system, health information will only be shared with the offender's specific informed consent as per CSC policy, professional codes of conduct and Canadian law. At this time, when necessary and with offender consent, specific health information is shared as part of an application for conditional release, etc.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Records are retained until the offender reaches 70 years of age or until five years after the last warrant expiry date, whichever is longest.

Note: However, with respect to X-ray films, these records are retained, at the institution of taking, for a minimum of five calendar years. Historical records are transferred to the National Archives of Canada.

Classes of Personal Information

Administrative Inquiries

This group is a class of records on incidents involving offenders, staff or members of the public regarding injury sustained while on institutional property, damage or loss of personal property or departmental property and other unusual incidents such as fires which might result in a claim against the Crown. Individuals seeking access to these records must provide the location and the approximate date the inquiries were held. This class of records is used to process claims for and against the Crown, to establish the nature and length of disabilities and to determine the need for establishing or revising internal operating procedures. Records are retained for twenty-five years. Historical records are transferred to the National Archives of Canada.

Appreciation, Complaints, Inquiries

This group is a class of records generated by members of the public, or staff such as: letters of appreciation, complaints and general inquiries. The data contained in this class of records is only used for an administrative purpose in cases where a complaint or inquiry is acted upon. Individuals seeking access to these records must provide the approximate date that the letter of appreciation, complaint or inquiry was initiated. These records are retained for two years. Historical records are transferred to the National Archives of Canada.

Complaints and Criticisms

This group is a class of records on complaints or criticisms received from staff regarding conditions of employment, including those from the Human Rights Commission and the Anti-discrimination Branch of the Public Service Commission. Individuals seeking access to these records must provide the approximate date the complaint or criticism was lodged. This class of records is used to record information dealing with complaints or criticisms involving staff and to make specific decisions to resolve the matter. Records are retained for three years.

Correctional Investigator Inquiries Records

This group is a class of records on inquiries initiated by the Correctional Investigator. This class of records is used to analyze and make action recommendations resulting from these inquiries conducted by the Correctional Investigator. These records are retained for twenty-five years. Historical records are transferred to the National Archives of Canada. Data matching occurs with the correctional investigator.

Disciplinary Court Hearings

This group is a class of records on disciplinary court hearings. For each session of disciplinary court, audio recordings are made which contain the transcripts of the hearings on offenders who have been charged while incarcerated in an institution. This class of records is used to make decisions on the discipline of offenders resulting from the disciplinary court and during the grievance process. Individuals seeking access to these records must provide the name of the institution in which they were charged and the date of the disciplinary hearing. It should be noted, however, that the offender may obtain records by sending a written request directly to the warden of the institution where the disciplinary hearing occurred. These records are retained for two years following the suspension of all actions relating to the disciplinary hearing. No data matching occurs.

Information Services - Inquiries

This group is a class of records on miscellaneous inquiries received from the public, outside organizations and other government departments on services performed by the Department. This class of records is used to respond to requests to interview employees and offenders from external sources such as the media and provincial organizations. Individuals seeking access to these records must provide the approximate date that the inquiry was initiated. These records are retained for two years. Historical records are transferred to the National Archives of Canada.

Institutional Security Threats

This group is a class of records on national and international groups, organizations and criminals. This class of records is used to provide background information on threats to institutional security and to provide reports on all security investigations to aid in preventing recurrences. Individuals seeking access to these records must provide the location and approximate date of the threat or investigation. These records are retained for ten years. Historical records are transferred to the National Archives of Canada. Data matching occurs with NPB, law enforcement agencies and provincial authorities.

Ministerial Inquiries

This group is a class of records on inquiries received from the public, outside organizations and other government departments on parliamentary matters and material agendas and decisions of Cabinet. This class of records is used to prepare ministerial correspondence resulting from these inquiries. Individuals seeking access to these records must provide the subject matter, and approximate date the inquiry was initiated. Records are retained for five years. Historical records are transferred to the National Archives of Canada.

Research/Public Opinion Research

This is a class of records generated by research subjects, offenders or staff who participate in research, including public opinion research, on a vast spectrum of topics, conducted in the Correctional Service of Canada. Retrievable records consist of data gathering instruments such as, but not exclusively, questionnaires containing personal information that reveals the identification of the research subject. Data contained in this class of records are not used for administrative purposes. Individuals seeking access to these records must provide the title of the research project in which they participated, the location and date of the research, and any other data that may help to identify and locate the personal information they are seeking. No data matching occurs.

Security Inquiries

This group is a class of records on serious security incidents. For each incident, the report includes the inquiry terms of reference, facts gathered and recommendations. This class of records also encompasses police reports and intelligence assessments and is used to provide documentation to prevent recurrences of security incidents. Individuals seeking access to these records must provide the type of incident, the location and approximate date of the incident. These records are retained for twenty-five years. Historical records are transferred to the National Archives of Canada. Data matching occurs with NPB, law enforcement agencies and provincial authorities.

Special Investigations

This group is a class of records on special investigations performed by the Performance Assurance Sector on a wide variety of operational matters. The reports of the investigations include the terms of reference, facts gathered and recommendations. This class of records is used to resolve incidents involving offenders or employees and to correct, where required, methods of operation and internal procedures. Individuals seeking access to these records must provide the investigation, the location and approximate date it was initiated. Records are retained for twenty-five years. Historical records are transferred to the National Archives of Canada.

General Information on Data Matching / Data Sharing

Data Matching - Data Sharing

Within the mandate of the Correctional Service of Canada (CSC) is the requirement to share data with other areas of the Criminal Justice Community, to ensure that offenders are appropriately managed in a safe, secure and humane environment, and to ensure the safety of the offender, other inmates, staff and the community at large. Also, in order to accomplish its mandate the Service needs the information provided by other agencies and therefore matching/sharing is conducted.

Data Matching/Data Sharing with Law Enforcement Agencies (municipal, provincial, international, federal police forces or another law enforcement body)

Following an offender's sentence to a federal institution, the CSC requests the criminal record

(history information) from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP). This information is used to assess the impact of the offender's criminal behaviour and to alert staff who will deal with the offender. CSC also requests a police report from the arresting and/or investigating law enforcement body in order to have a full understanding of the events surrounding the offence.

Following a sentence to a federal institution in the case of foreign nationals, the CSC must also request from the Inland Service (Immigration) that they provide it with information that is relevant to the administration of the offender's sentence and to the case management process.

When an offender is released to the community, there is a requirement to notify the RCMP and/or the local police force, and, when necessary, the Inland Service (Immigration), of the offender's address and the terms and conditions of the release. If an offender violates conditions of release, or is considered to be a risk, CSC will issue a warrant for the apprehension of the offender. The warrant is transmitted to the local police and the data is entered into the Canadian Police Information Centre (CPIC) system. The police is requested to locate and apprehend the offender.

Data Matching/Data Sharing with the National Parole Board

CSC data is shared with the National Parole Board (NPB). With the current renewal of the OMS by both CSC and NPB, seamless data/information sharing continues to occur and be a priority for both organizations.

While it is CSC's responsibility to manage the offenders for the duration of their sentence, it is the NPB's responsibility to assess the offenders' progress during incarceration, their risk to society, and their potential for successful reintegration into the community as law-abiding citizens. CSC information is shared with NPB pertaining to all aspects related to an offender prior to and during incarceration. Once NPB has assessed the information, and through a hearing process, makes their decision, CSC is notified. If the NPB makes a decision to conditionally release an offender, it is CSC staff who are responsible for the supervision and control of the offender in the community and keeping NPB informed of the offender's progress.

Data Matching/Data Sharing with Provincial Authorities

An offender, who is sentenced to a period of incarceration of two years or more, will serve this sentence under the jurisdiction of CSC. Offenders sentenced to less than two years will serve their sentence under a provincial jurisdiction. However, CSC is doing the case preparation and supervision for some provinces that do not have a parole board.

Often an offender will have a history of provincial incarceration, further, prior to sentencing the offender could be held in a provincial institution or a remand centre. Information collected during any period of incarceration is deemed significant and sometimes crucial to the successful management of that offender. It is for these reasons that information is routinely shared between CSC and provincial authorities, which include also the boards of education and hospitals.

Information is also requested from the sentencing judge and could also be requested from the crown attorney, from provincial parole and probation services. CSC uses this information in the management of the offender and decision-making process.

Method of Data Matching/Data Sharing

In the preceding descriptions of CSC data matching/sharing, every effort is taken to ensure that the data matched/shared concerns the same individual. In order to validate that the different agencies are dealing with the same individual, a number of personal identifiers are matched. These include: name, sex, date of birth, finger print series number (FPS) and in some cases physical features.

CSC may conduct or assist others in conducting ad hoc data matching/sharing for the purpose of the enforcement of any law (i.e. Criminal Code).

Department of Finance Canada

Chapter 54

General Information

Background

The Department of Finance is established under the Financial Administration Act. The relevant portions are sections 14 and 15:

14. "There is hereby established a department of the Government of Canada called the Department of Finance over which the Minister of Finance appointed by commission under the Great Seal shall preside.

15. The Minister holds office during pleasure and has the management and direction of the Department, the management of the Consolidated Revenue Fund and the supervision, control and direction of all matters relating to the financial affairs of Canada not by law assigned to the Treasury Board or to any other minister."

Responsibilities

The Department is responsible for advice to the federal government on the economic and financial affairs of Canada. It oversees all government initiatives affecting the economy and monitors external factors that may have a bearing on domestic economic performance. The Department's most visible output is the federal budget. The Minister of Finance's budget speech reviews the government's accounts and presents fiscal projections for the coming years, including expenditures, revenues, tax changes and debt levels. In addition, the Minister is responsible for the management of the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

In addition to this broad assignment of responsibility, and his key role as a central policy advisor, the Minister is responsible to Parliament for the following statutes:

Classes of Personal Information

In the course of conducting the programs and activities of the Department of Finance, personal information may be accumulated which is not contained in the specific information banks described in this entry. This information exists in a fragmented form throughout the subject files of the Department. This information is stored as part of the general subject files, where records are normally retrieved by the name of the individual or other personal identifier. This form of information is retrievable only if specifics are provided concerning the subject matter, related departmental activity, as well as the date at which the information was received by the Department and to whom it was addressed.

The personal information contained in the subject files is retained for the same period of time as the related subject information and disposed of according to the appropriate record schedules.

Department of Foreign Affairs

Chapter 55

Please note: The following information does not refer solely to the Department of Foreign Affairs, but is the 2003-2004 Info Source chapter for the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Affairs (DFAIT). As a result of the December 2003 split into two separate entities, the Department of Foreign Affairs was not able to update their content for inclusion in the 2004-2005 version of Info Source.

General Information

Background

The Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade had its origin in an Act of Parliament in 1909 to deal with Canada's relations with other governments within the British Empire and with foreign states. In 1981, the foreign operations of the immigration service were brought into the Department. In January 1982, there was a fundamental reorganization to include the foreign trade policy and international trade component of the Industry, Trade and Commerce Department. In 1992 the Immigration component of the foreign service was transferred to Employment and Immigration Canada and certain other non-core functions, such as the World Exhibition program and international sport program, were transferred to other departments. In 1993 the Investment Development Division of Investment Canada was merged with the Department.

The Department of External Affairs Act of 1985 set forth the mandate of the Department and provided for a Secretary of State for External Affairs (SSEA) and a Minister for International Trade. The name of the Department was subsequently changed to External Affairs and International Trade Canada. In the fall of 1993 the Department assumed its present title, the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade (DFAIT), and the SSEA's title was changed to Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Responsibilities

The Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade has the primary responsibility for the promotion and protection of Canada's interests abroad and the conduct of Canada's relations with other countries. Its legal mandate, as set out in the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade Act, RSC 1985, c. E-22, is to: conduct all diplomatic and consular relations on behalf of Canada; conduct all official communication between the Government of Canada and the government of any other country and between the Government of Canada and any international organization; conduct and manage international negotiations as they relate to Canada; coordinate Canada's economic relations; foster the expansion of Canada's international trade; coordinate the direction given by the Government of Canada to the heads of Canada's diplomatic and consular missions and to manage these missions; administer the foreign service of Canada; and foster the development of international law and its application in Canada's external relations.

The Department has four basic roles, which flow from the legal mandate. They are: the development and coordination of the Government's international policy; advocacy of Canadian interests and values overseas; the provision of services to Canadians (trade and investment promotion, securing and improving market access, consular assistance, passports); and support for other government departments and agencies abroad (including provincial governments).

Organization

The Department has two Ministers (the Minister of Foreign Affairs and the Minister for International Trade) and three Secretaries of State (for Asia Pacific; for Latin America, Africa and la Francophonie; and for Central and Eastern Europe, and the Middle East). The responsibilities of the two Ministers extend beyond this Department: the Minister of Foreign Affairs

is also responsible for the International Development Research Centre, the International Joint Commission and the International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development. The Minister for International Trade is responsible for the Export Development Corporation, the Canadian Commercial Corporation, the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) Secretariat, and the Northern Pipeline Agency Canada.

Headquarters Organization

The Department is headquartered in Ottawa but operates throughout Canada via local and regional passport offices and through its network of trade commissioners in regional offices. Below the deputy minister level, the Department is organized by function, by geography and for corporate services at the assistant deputy minister level and is supported by the Legal Adviser and Planning Secretariat. There are special ambassadors, based in Ottawa, for special subjects such as Fisheries Conservation, the Environment, Air Negotiations and Circumpolar Affairs. The present headquarters structure came into effect in September 1996.

The functional Assistant Deputy Ministers (International Business and Communications; Trade, Economic and Environmental Policy; Global and Security Policy) are accountable for developing coherent, effective global policies and initiatives to achieve worldwide the objectives of the government's foreign policy. The geographic Assistant Deputy Ministers (Asia Pacific; Americas; Europe, Africa and the Middle East) are accountable for the implementation of objectives within their respective regions and ensuring that policies and initiatives are consistent with the development and maintenance of effective and coherent relationships between Canada and each country.

The Department is further divided into a number of bureaux, as listed below alphabetically, each headed by a director general. The bureaux, in turn, are separated into divisions, each under a director. There are also some divisions and work units that do not form parts of bureaux. The acronym by which each major unit is known is shown after the name.

Missions abroad

Outside Canada, the Department operates through a network of 129 missions and 33 offices in 107 countries. Overseas representation also exists through a number of honorary consuls. Details of missions abroad can be found in the publication Canadian Representatives Abroad, issued annually.

Bilateral missions are accredited to specific countries. They include larger missions that provide a full range of services within the business line framework and smaller missions that specialize in specific services, including those of other government departments such as CIDA and Citizenship and Immigration Canada.

Multilateral missions serve Canadian interests in specific international organizations such as the World Trade Organization (WTO), the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), the United Nations (UN) and the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD), the European Union (EU), and the Organization of American States (OAS). Missions also provide support to other government departments, including financial management, accommodation and property management, materiel management, communications, information management, personnel management of locally engaged staff, transportation and security.

Canadian Foreign Service Institute (CFSI)

The Institute plans and delivers training and development programs to Departmental employees. The programs are designed to improve the effectiveness of employees in the delivery of the Department's programs in Canada and internationally and to facilitate career development. They include training in official and foreign languages, intercultural effectiveness and a broad range of skills and practices related to DFAIT's business lines. Organizational development services are also provided to assist the Department in managing change.

Communications Bureau (BCD)

The Communications Bureau consists of the Foreign Policy and Corporate Communications Division, the Trade Communications Division, the Media Relations Office, the Outreach Programs and E-Communications Division, the Communications Services Division and the Director General's Office.

The Bureau is responsible for increasing awareness and understanding of Canada's foreign policy and international trade agenda among domestic and foreign audiences. It is also responsible for explaining the role of the Department to Canadians and recently added an internal communications function in order to foster a more productive working environment and forum for ideas at headquarters and at missions abroad.

More specifically, the Communications Bureau provides quality communications advice and services to Ministers and officials on issues, events and initiatives. It also ensures that Canadian and foreign media, as well as other partners, groups and individuals, receive timely and accurate information about the Department and international issues of importance to Canada. The Bureau organizes speaking tours and other outreach programs and activities, provides the Department with public opinion research and analysis, co-ordinates advertising and publishing, and promotes public understanding of the historical aspects of Canada's foreign relations.

Consular Affairs Bureau (JPD)

The Consular Affairs Bureau, under the direction of a Director General, has the sole responsibility for the provision of assistance to and protection of Canadians in other countries. In carrying out that mandate, it operates through staff at Canadian missions abroad as well as through five headquarters divisions consisting of: Case Management, Emergency Services, Program Services, Informatics Services, and Communications and Training. The Bureau sets overall policy for the delivery of consular services, manages cases in cooperation with missions, establishes service standards, manages the cost recovery program, delivers passport and citizenship services overseas, manages the 24-hour, 7-days-a-week departmental/consular operations centre and ensures the application of the Vienna Convention on Consular Relations and related multilateral and bilateral agreements to its consular activities.

Corporate Finance, Planning and Systems Bureau (SMD)

This bureau is comprised of four divisions. The Planning, Program Analysis and Budgeting Division (SMP) provides analysis and advice to the Executive Committee on program planning and resource allocation matters; negotiates with central agencies the size of the Department's budget; coordinates the preparation of the Department's submissions to Treasury Board and its Estimates; prepares DFAIT's annual reports on Plans and Priorities and its Departmental Performance Report to Parliament. The division also coordinates the Department's strategic planning and conducts costing and financial analysis activities.

The Common Services Abroad, Planning and Coordination Division (SMC) provides strategic direction and planning of common services delivery to partner departments and co-locators at our missions abroad; coordinates and supports the implementation of the Framework for Managing Growth at Missions adopted by DFAIT in 2001; develops and negotiates memoranda of understanding (MOUs) with partner departments and co-locators; cost recovery from partner departments and co-locators, and coordination and promotion of the Modern Management initiative.

The International and Domestic Financial Division (SMF) is responsible for domestic and foreign operations for the Department as well as other government departments engaged in foreign operations; and for the operation of a centre of expertise dedicated to the management of service contracts for the department.

The Corporate Management Systems, Policy and Compensation Division (SMS) is responsible for the strategic direction, development, maintenance, training and support of systems utilized in the management of departmental resources including financial, human, and material management, including the Integrated Management System (IMS), PeopleSoft; HRMS, Salary Management System, and Business Intelligence; the administration of compensation and benefits for departmental employees; as well as the formulation and coordination of financial policy.

Economic Policy Bureau (EED)

The Bureau is responsible for the development and coordination of Canada's positions on international economic and development assistance issues, including G8 Economic Summits, the OECD and APEC. It is also responsible for research and analysis of policy options on Canada's international trade and economic agenda. It consists of three divisions: International Economic Relations and Summit Division; Economic Relations with Developing Countries Division; and Trade and Economic Analysis Division.

Executive Services Bureau (DCD)

The objective of this Bureau is to provide dedicated, one-stop support to our two Ministers, and three Secretaries of State and the Deputy Ministers. It is composed of four divisions: DCL (Cabinet and Parliamentary Liaison); DCP (Access to Information and Privacy Protection); DCC (Ministerial Correspondence); and DCX (Executive Briefings). It also acts as a focal point on regulatory matters and policies, is responsible for preparing and disseminating the Forward Planning Document and acts as Secretariat to the Department's Executive Committee.

Export and Import Controls Bureau (EPD)

The authority to control the export and import of goods and technology through the Export and Imports Permits Act (EIPA) is the basis of the Bureau's foreign and domestic policy mandate. The Act sets out criteria to govern the inclusion of particular goods on an Export Control List and an Import Control List, and provides for the inclusion of particular countries on an Area Control List applicable to exports. Control over the flow of goods contained on these lists and to/from these destinations is effected through the issuance or denial of export and import permits. The Act delegates to the Minister of Foreign Affairs the discretion to grant or deny requests for permits, and thus confers on the Minister broad powers to control the flow of goods. The principal role of the Export and Import Controls Bureau is to manage Canada's export and import control regime. This it does through policy development; issue management; processing and issuance of permits; and multilateral and bilateral negotiations.

Geographic Bureaux

For the conduct of external relations, the world has been divided among eight geographic bureaux each under a director general. These are: Africa (GGD); Central, East and South Europe (RBD); European Union, North and West Europe (RWD); Latin America and Caribbean (LGD); Middle East, North Africa and Gulf States (GMD); North Asia and Pacific (PND); South and Southeast Asia (PSD); and North America (NAD). Each bureau is separated into divisions according to smaller geographic areas, and within the divisions, a country desk approach is normally used. The responsibilities and activities of the geographic bureaux have much in common and are best described together.

Each bureau is responsible for the management and coordination of the full range of relations with its region. Included are the operations of the Canadian posts abroad in its area, their guidance and instruction, the on-going dialogue with them, and the provision and allocation of resources to them. Under the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade Act, a head of mission is defined as responsible for the management and direction of the mission and the supervision of the official activities of the various Canadian departments and agencies in the country in question.

The geographic bureaux provide policy advice to Ministers, based on country and regional analysis, and generally are responsible for the handling of bilateral political and economic issues and trade policy with various parts of the world. Each bureau normally manages directly certain core DFAIT programs or "business lines"; for example, "international security and cooperation" or "international business development". In addition, the bureau – with its component divisions – coordinates the delivery within its area of other departmental business lines, including DFAIT's public affairs, consular and administrative programs, as well as the programs of other federal departments and agencies with major operations overseas. As the main point of contact for the Canadian business community, geographic divisions handle export promotion and country-specific market access issues. Most of them support tourist promotion activities in conjunction with the Canadian Tourism Commission, fairs and trade missions, investment development and science and technology cooperation. They also serve as a point of contact for non-governmental organizations with interests abroad and for foreign diplomatic missions based in Ottawa.

Global and Human Issues Bureau (AGD)

This Bureau is responsible for policy development and coordination of activity in issues which are transnational in nature and contribute to sustainable human development and human security. The Human Rights, Humanitarian Affairs and Women's Equality Division ensures effective monitoring of human rights, women's equality issues world-wide and the effective integration of these considerations into all relevant aspects of bilateral and multilateral relations. It also coordinates the foreign policy aspects of humanitarian affairs and migration and refugee issues. The Aboriginal and Circumpolar Affairs Division manages aboriginal issues in Canada's multilateral and bilateral relations and is responsible for the implementation of the Northern Dimension of our Foreign Policy. The Bureau is responsible for the development of the Government's Human Security Policy and Programme covering five key thematic areas: Protection of Civilians, Peace Support Operations, Conflict Prevention, Governance and Accountability and Public Safety. The Bureau is also responsible for the follow up to the Report of the International Commission on Intervention and State Sovereignty, entitled "The Responsibility to Protect" which deals with the issue of humanitarian intervention. Aspects of social development, including children's issues, are the responsibility of this Bureau as is the implementation of the Young Professionals International Program.

Human Resources Operations Bureau (HRD)

HRD is responsible for human resources strategy implementation. The Bureau is concerned with department-wide policies on Staff Relations and also for classification, staffing and training for non-rotational employees, pensions and insurance plans for Locally-Engaged Staff.

Information Management and Technology Bureau (SXD)

The Bureau provides corporate information management and information technology services to the Department and to other government departments with operations abroad. Through MITNET, the Department's telecommunications service, it provides secure and unclassified voice, facsimile, and data transmission. Through SIGNET, its local and wide-area computer network, it supports e-mail and access to departmental data and applications for 8,800 Canadian and locally-engaged staff around the world, thereby supporting the production, retrieval and delivery of timely information to staff and outside clientele. The Bureau is responsible for the Department's electronic and conventional libraries and registries. In addition, the Bureau is responsible for its involvement in Government-On-Line, putting key departmental services for Canadians on-line. The Bureau provides the infrastructure supporting the various departmental web sites; these sites are already attracting 1 million visits a month, providing increased on-line public access to departmental information. As Chief Information Officer, the Bureau's Director-General also coordinates planning, standards and policies for all information management and technology operations across the Department.

International Business Development Branch (TBD/TCD)

Manages medium to long-term strategic planning for international business development (IBD); recommends appropriate allocation of IBD resources, both human and financial; coordinates the Team Canada trade missions led by the Prime Minister and the trade missions led by the Minister for International Trade; manages the Client Service Fund (CFS) which supports the international business development efforts of Canadian business; maintains the public InfoExport web site (www.infoexport.ca) which provides fast and easy access to hundreds of

market studies and electronic service delivery; maintains the Virtual Trade Commissioner Web service which offer personalized on-line services for registered Trade Commissioner Service clients, including business and partner clients; designs and operates world-wide WIN/Client Management Services (as part of the Virtual Trade Commissioner project), encompassing sourcing, trade planning and client management tracking functions; markets the Trade Commissioner Service to the public using different mediums; provides client service guidelines, best practice tools, advice and training to help 500 trade officers at 140 Canadian posts around the world facilitate the efforts of Canadian business abroad; measures the performance of the Trade Commissioner Service and seeks to continuously improve the service based on feedback from clients; manages an outreach program across the country to talk to Canadians and businesses about the benefits of international trade, inform them of trade opportunities abroad, and to explain how the Trade Commissioner Service can help firms interested in international business development; provides assistance to industry clients through: production and dissemination of country and region-specific market studies and partnerships with national industry associations; develops and implements policies, performance and service standards for the Trade Commissioner Service; negotiates and maintains federal-provincial-territorial partnerships agreements; manages DFAIT's participation in Team Canada Inc (TCI), the entity responsible for government-wide management of International Business Development resources; manages Canada's Export Awards program which recognizes and celebrates international trade achievements of Canadian companies; provides input in the management of the Regional trade networks and plans through the International Trade Centres (ITCs); serves as DFAIT's focal point regarding the advancement of Canadian international science and technology (S& T) objectives; serves the export needs of SMEs as well as the special requirements of women, aboriginal and youth entrepreneurs; manages Canada's business development strategy for International Financial Institutions; manages use of Canada Account financing; is the focal point for the Export Development Corporation (EDC) and the Canadian Commercial Corporation (CCC); operates the International Business Opportunities Centre (IBOC) to direct solid trade leads to Canadian firms capable of filling overseas requirements; manages the International Business Development contributions to Government On-

Line initiative including compliance related to Common Look and Feel Program; maintains the Doing Business with Canada site, a Government On-Line project, part of the non-Canadians gateway; manages the Program for Export Market Development (PEMD) in support of international business development initiatives of Canadian companies and industry associations; manages the agreement with Canadian Manufacturers and Exporters (2002-2004) to provide bursary for the Robert L. Richardson Trade Commissioner Service Award for Excellence in International Trade Studies; and coordinates the International Business Internship Program which is funded by the Canada/Atlantic Provinces Cooperation Agreement on International Business Development and participating companies.

International Cultural Relations Bureau (ACD)

This Bureau promotes Canada abroad and helps achieve foreign policy and trade objectives by assisting Canadian scholars and artists to undertake international activities. In cooperation with the Canadian cultural and education industries the bureau provides assistance by promoting and facilitating the exports of cultural goods and services and education services. It is responsible for promoting Canadian Studies abroad; monitoring and coordinating Canadian representation at international education conferences; supporting international youth and cultural personalities exchange; and promoting abroad Canadian education and training goods and services. It provides funding for international tours by Canadian performing artists, writers and film directors, supports exhibitions abroad of Canadian visual art at leading museums and galleries and important international biennials. It also provides support to Canadian missions abroad in delivering cultural services. Information on Bureau programs and activities may be found on the Internet at: www.dfait-maeci.gc.ca.

International Environmental Affairs Bureau (AED)

This Bureau's mission is to defend and advance Canada's international interest in the environment, conservation, non-nuclear energy and sustainable development. It focuses on issues with multilateral and regional dimensions and those arising in multilateral and regional fora. The Bureau has international responsibility for issues relating to climate change, sustainable forest management, trade and the environment, hazardous and toxic substances, desertification, human settlements, biological diversity, biosafety, genetic resources for food and agriculture, air and marine pollution, whaling, and non-Canada-USA freshwater. To achieve progress in this area of responsibility the Bureau works with major international environmental and sustainable development organizations. It also recommends and oversees funding where appropriate. Domestically, the Bureau works toward agreement and productive partnerships with other government departments, agencies and non-governmental environmental, non-nuclear energy, developmental and business organizations. It prepares and monitors implementation of the Department's Sustainable Development Strategy and provides advice and assistance in the areas of environmental assessment and the greening of departmental operations both in Canada and at the 162 missions abroad. Information on Bureau programs and activities may be found on the Internet at: www.dfait-maeci.gc.ca/sustain/

International Organizations Bureau (IMD)

This Bureau coordinates Canada's participation in the United Nations and most of the specialized agencies and institutions that form part of the UN system. It is also responsible for coordinating Canada's multilateral relations with the Commonwealth and Canada's role and activities in la Francophonie.

International Security Bureau (IDD)

The International Security Bureau is the focal point of the Department's efforts to promote the Government's foreign policy objective of protecting Canadian security, within a stable global framework. The Bureau encompasses policy and operational responsibilities for non-proliferation, arms control and disarmament; regional security and peacekeeping; nuclear safety; North American and Euro-Atlantic security and defense relations.

Legal Affairs Bureau (JCD)

The main functions of the Legal Affairs Bureau are to promote the development of international law and dispute settlement mechanisms as instruments for peaceful change and the effective conduct of Canada's international relations. The areas of priority are: international peace and security, state sovereignty and extraterritoriality, human rights law, international criminal law, environmental law, law of the sea, and services to the public.

Office of Protocol (XDX)

The Chief of Protocol is the principal point of contact between the Government of Canada and foreign representatives accredited to Canada. The Office of Protocol is responsible for the accreditation and appointment of foreign diplomatic and consular representatives to Canada and of Canadian heads of diplomatic and consular missions to other countries. The Office manages all questions of privileges and immunities in respect to both foreign representatives in Canada and Canadian representatives abroad, as set out in the Foreign Missions and International Organizations Act, the State Immunity Act and the Vienna Conventions on Diplomatic and Consular Relations. The Office plans, organizes and manages state and official visits to Canada and participates in the logistical planning and conduct of travel abroad by the Governor General, the Prime Minister, the Minister of Foreign Affairs and the Minister for International Trade. The Office also organizes, arranges, and manages official hospitality functions for the Prime Minister, ministers and senior officials of this and other departments at Foreign Affairs Headquarters, at 7 Rideau Gate, the official Government guest house, and elsewhere in Canada and abroad.

Office of the Inspector General and Internal Audit and Evaluation (SIX)

The office of the Inspector General (OIG) serves senior management of the Department by conducting a range of independent reviews, including Audits and Evaluations, at headquarters and Missions. Its purpose is to encourage accountability and improvements in Departmental management of processes and operations. The OIG's principal information holdings are reports of reviews performed.

Passport Office (JWD)

The Passport Office, a Special Operating Agency of the Department of Foreign Affairs & International Trade, finances its operations entirely from the fees generated by passport services. Its administrative headquarters are located in Hull. The agency operates issuing offices (mail and personal service) in Hull and personal service counters at 29 regional offices across Canada. It also develops, promulgates, and monitors entitlement and issuance policies and procedures for application within Canada as well as at missions abroad.

Personnel Management Bureau (HPD)

The Bureau is concerned with the management of the Department's human resources through the recruitment, assignment, and promotion processes as these principally affect rotational personnel. It is also responsible for the negotiation and administration of the Foreign Service Directives, spousal issues, and all questions concerning the relocation of personnel in and out of Ottawa.

Physical Resources Bureau (SRD)

The Bureau, another Special Operating Agency, is responsible for the Department's Long Term Capital Program, including property renovations, construction, purchases and disposals as well as Chancery and Official Residence lease renewals and moves. The Bureau develops and interprets property and materiel policy, coordinates property program planning, and provides a broad range of maintenance, interior design, purchasing, and shipping services for missions. The Bureau also provides administrative services in the areas of materiel management, accommodation, mail and distribution services .

Policy Planning (CPD)

The Planning Secretariat provides general as well as specialized policy support to the Department. It is responsible for ensuring consistency and coherence across the whole range of Canadian foreign policy through the analysis, evaluation and development of policy, and by carrying out a number of specific policy tasks. The Secretariat feeds into the priority setting process of the Department by organizing Policy Board meetings held at the ADM level. Through its coordination of cross-cutting policy exercises, the Policy Planning group ensures that Canadian foreign policy reflects global realities and government objectives. The Secretariat also coordinates the briefing material for the transition of Ministers and Deputy Ministers. The Secretariat elaborates departmental crisis management strategies for major events with a policy impact such as the events of September 11th, as well as undertaking the review of priorities and resources in such instances. In addition, the Secretariat organizes several outreach functions such as the annual Ministerial retreat, briefing students and hosting various other roundtables and conferences. Within the Secretariat there are three units. The Policy Planning Division has special responsibility for the coordination of political input for the G8 Foreign Ministers' meetings. The Policy Coordination Division focuses, in particular, on trade and economic policy and its links to Canadian foreign policy, and also assesses and advises on how best to align the Department's international priorities and activities to Canada's economic and social agenda at home. The third unit, the Canadian Centre for Foreign Policy Development manages a program to engage Canadians on foreign policy issues and policy development, contributing financially to public project proposals, commissioning policy options papers, organizing events and roundtables and publishing project reports, papers and teaching aids. It also organizes an annual National Forum on Canada's international relations.

Security and Intelligence Bureau (ISD)

This Bureau is responsible for providing timely and critical intelligence on world events, assuring the protection of Canadian personnel and their families, safeguarding government premises and assets and the promotion and protection of Canadian national interests. The Bureau is also responsible, as the National Security Authority, for overseeing the security of all civilian NATO classified matter conveyed to Canada and for departmental Communication Security (COMSEC). The Foreign Intelligence Division provides, inter alia, information support for Department operations and ensures the coordination of intelligence activities with other Canadian agencies and foreign governments. The security divisions are responsible for all aspects of physical and technical security and personal safety at headquarters and abroad. This includes the security of buildings, information and information technology, security measures at headquarters and abroad, personnel security, clearances, investigations and security education and awareness.

Senior Coordinator for Federal-Provincial-Territorial Relations (CFD)

The Bureau is responsible for coordinating the Department's relationships with Canada's provincial/territorial governments on international issues. The Bureau negotiates agreements with the provinces concerning their formal relationship to the Department and coordinates support to the provinces prior to visits abroad by provincial/territorial government leaders. It also advises on issues touching on provincial/territorial government relations with international governmental organizations, and with visiting foreign leaders. It represents the Department in consultations and negotiations with the other government departments and provincial/territorial authorities, as required, on questions which may impact on federal-provincial-territorial relations. The Bureau is responsible for the international dimensions of Canadian federalism and, in this context, is the principal point of contact for the Forum of Federations. It also advises on the expenditure of specific grants and contributions funds which impact on attachment to Canada, and perceptions abroad of Canada as a strong united country. Through its work on international issues, the Bureau also supports the Government's strategic objectives, including national unity.

Trade Law Bureau (JLT)

The Trade Law Bureau handles information on legal aspects of Canada's international trade agreements and related matters including the General Agreement on Trade and Tariffs (GATT), the World Trade Organization (WTO), the Canada-US Free Trade Agreement, the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) and the Canada-Chile Free Trade Agreement. This bureau is also responsible for international dispute settlements under Chapters 11, 14, 19 and 20 of the NAFTA and Chapters 18 and 19 of the FTA, the GATT and WTO. As well, it deals with all legal issues related to trade in goods and services (e.g. transportation, communications, energy, professional services), agriculture, environment, trade sanctions, boycotts, private commercial arbitration, investment and international organizations).

Trade Policy I: General Trade Policy Bureau (EAD) - Trade Policy II: Services, Investment and Intellectual Property Bureau (EBD)

These two Bureaux work closely together and collectively are responsible for all aspects of Canadian trade policy, including the management of trade disputes.

Trade Policy Bureau I is responsible for maintaining a broad oversight of issues related to trade in goods. The Director General of Trade Policy Bureau I also serves as Canada's Coordinator for the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) and is responsible for managing Canada's participation in the NAFTA and its institutions. In addition, the Director General is responsible for the negotiation and/or oversight of regional and bilateral trade agreements, including the Free Trade Agreement of the Americas (FTAA), the Canada-Singapore and Canada-Central America Agreements, as well as for the ongoing management of bilateral trade agreements with Chile, Israel and Costa Rica. The Director General also serves as Chief Negotiator for free trade negotiations with the European Free Trade Association (EFTA).

Trade Policy Bureau II is responsible for maintaining a broad oversight of issues related to trade in services, as well as for the so-called new issues in international trade - culture, intellectual property, new technologies, electronic commerce, telecommunications, investment, competition, government procurement and corporate social responsibility. The Director General of Trade Policy Bureau II also maintains an overview of Canada's participation in the World Trade Organization (WTO) and the trade-related work of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD).

The Trade Policy Bureau I is comprised of the following four divisions: Regional Trade Policy; Trade Remedies; Technical Barriers and Regulations; and Tariffs and Market Access. The Trade Policy Bureau II also five divisions; Investment Trade Policy; Information and Technology Trade Policy; Services Trade Policy; Multilateral Trade Policy and Trade Policy Consultations and Liaison. This last division supports the work of industry Sector Advisory Committees on International Trade (SAGITs), coordinates a permanent forum for consultations with the provinces and assists other divisions in the planning and conduct of public consultation processes.

Consular Affairs — Assistance to Canadians

Description: This bank contains information on Canadians resident in foreign countries registered with a Canadian mission, and Canadians who sought or received assistance from a Canadian mission who have been arrested or detained abroad, or if Consular Affairs advice or assistance has been sought to obtain visas, permits, etc. of foreign countries. The information is in the form of applications, registration cards, memoranda, correspondence, reports and telegrams. The information is received from the individuals themselves, Canadian and foreign agencies, and international organizations. This bank of information is stored electronically within a computerized client/server system called COSMOS. COSMOS consists of a series of Windows-based programs linked through a common centralized database located at DFAIT headquarters. COSMOS provides consular staff with a comprehensive set of tools designed exclusively to facilitate the management of consular cases (including citizenship and immigration cases), the issuance of passports and the registration of Canadians abroad. Information entered into the database from either HQ or the missions is instantly available to all staff, thereby promoting increased service delivery levels to our clients.

Class of Individuals: Canadians resident in foreign countries who have registered with the nearest Canadian mission; Canadians who have sought or received assistance from Canadian missions; Canadians who have been arrested or detained abroad.

Purpose: The information contained in this bank is used to provide consular assistance to Canadian nationals abroad. It may be used, where necessary, to contact, protect, rescue or evacuate registered Canadians and their family members.

Consistent Uses: This information may also be used for the development of consular policy and the preparation of advice to missions abroad.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Information on registration of nationals and completed individual consular cases may be retained on departmental files (electronic and paper) up to five years. Ultimately, the electronically-held data will be archived and stored indefinitely. Other information may be retained up to 15 years then transferred to the National Archives of Canada

Classes of Personal Information

In the course of conducting the programs and activities of the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade, categories of personal information may be accumulated which are not contained in the specific information banks described in this entry. This information exists in a fragmented form throughout the subject files of the Department, which are described in the program records. This information is stored as part of the general subject files, where records are not normally retrieved by name of individual or other personal identifier. This form of information is retrievable only if specifics are provided concerning the subject matter, related departmental activity, the date on which the information was received by the Department and to whom it was addressed. The personal information contained in these subject files is retained for the same period of time as the related subject information and is disposed of according to the appropriate subject record schedules. The classes of personal information listed below describe particular program records which, because of their nature, are more likely to contain personal information.

International Security Bureau

Personal information may be held by the bureau concerning individuals who have been involved in defence activities with NATO, NORAD, or other international defence or arms control organizations, or in conferences or visits. Personal information might include personal biographies, tours of defence colleges, military travel and training, and nominations of Canadians for positions in international defence organizations concerned with defence or arms control. Persons seeking access should specify the subject of the enquiry, country and/or city, contacts, incident, conference/organization, visits, dates and circumstances which may have led to the establishment of a record.

Legal Affairs Bureau and Trade Law Bureau

The Legal Affairs Bureau handles a number of important functions including multilateral legal issues, peace and security law, humanitarian law, economic law, trade agreements, treaties, international law, dispute settlement, individual legal cases, and implementation of environmental legislation and Access to Information and Privacy legislation. Personal information held by the Bureau may include enquiries from Canadian residents seeking advice about international and foreign legal systems or concerning authentication of documents, and claims by Canadian citizens for possible support by the Canadian government. Other personal information would relate to specific issues handled by the Bureau. Persons seeking access must specify the subject of the enquiry, as well as country and/or city, legal firm, contacts, incidents, dates and circumstances which may have led to the development of a record.

Office of Protocol

The Office of Protocol is responsible for the administration of protocol-related programs of the Department and for the development of policies and procedures which direct the administration of protocol programs. Personal information in this class would pertain to individuals who have participated in, or have been the subject of protocol-related activities within programs such as accreditation and ceremonies, privileges and immunities, government hospitality, protection of foreign representatives and foreign decorations, and awards and honours to Canadians. Persons seeking access should specify the subject of the enquiry, country and/or city, contacts, incident, visits, conference, delegation, dates and circumstances which may have led to the establishment of a record.

Department of International Trade

Chapter 56

Please note: The following information does not refer solely to the Department of International Trade, but is the 2003-2004 Info Source chapter for the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Affairs (DFAIT). As a result of the December 2003 split into two separate entities, the Department of International Trade was not able to update their content for inclusion in the 2004-2005 version of Info Source.

General Information

Background

The Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade had its origin in an Act of Parliament in 1909 to deal with Canada's relations with other governments within the British Empire and with foreign states. In 1981, the foreign operations of the immigration service were brought into the Department. In January 1982, there was a fundamental reorganization to include the foreign trade policy and international trade component of the Industry, Trade and Commerce Department. In 1992 the Immigration component of the foreign service was transferred to Employment and Immigration Canada and certain other non-core functions, such as the World Exhibition program and international sport program, were transferred to other departments. In 1993 the Investment Development Division of Investment Canada was merged with the Department.

The Department of External Affairs Act of 1985 set forth the mandate of the Department and provided for a Secretary of State for External Affairs (SSEA) and a Minister for International Trade. The name of the Department was subsequently changed to External Affairs and International Trade Canada. In the fall of 1993 the Department assumed its present title, the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade (DFAIT), and the SSEA's title was changed to Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Responsibilities

The Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade has the primary responsibility for the promotion and protection of Canada's interests abroad and the conduct of Canada's relations with other countries. Its legal mandate, as set out in the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade Act, RSC 1985, c. E-22, is to: conduct all diplomatic and consular relations on behalf of Canada; conduct all official communication between the Government of Canada and the government of any other country and between the Government of Canada and any international organization; conduct and manage international negotiations as they relate to Canada; coordinate Canada's economic relations; foster the expansion of Canada's international trade; coordinate the direction given by the Government of Canada to the heads of Canada's diplomatic and consular missions and to manage these missions; administer the foreign service of Canada; foster the development of international law and its application in Canada's external relations.

The Department has four basic roles, which flow from the legal mandate. They are: the development and coordination of the Government's international policy; advocacy of Canadian interests and values overseas; the provision of services to Canadians (trade and investment promotion, securing and improving market access, consular assistance, passports); and support for other government departments and agencies abroad (including provincial governments).

Organization

The Department has two Ministers (the Minister of Foreign Affairs and the Minister for International Trade) and three Secretaries of State (for Asia Pacific; for Latin America, Africa and la Francophonie; and for Central and Eastern Europe, and the Middle East). The responsibilities of the two Ministers extend beyond this Department: the Minister of Foreign Affairs

is also responsible for the International Development Research Centre, the International Joint Commission and the International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development. The Minister for International Trade is responsible for the Export Development Corporation, the Canadian Commercial Corporation, the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) Secretariat, and the Northern Pipeline Agency Canada.

Headquarters Organization

The Department is headquartered in Ottawa but operates throughout Canada via local and regional passport offices and through its network of trade commissioners in regional offices. Below the deputy minister level, the Department is organized by function, by geography and for corporate services at the assistant deputy minister level and is supported by the Legal Adviser and Planning Secretariat. There are special ambassadors, based in Ottawa, for special subjects such as Fisheries Conservation, the Environment, Air Negotiations and Circumpolar Affairs. The present headquarters structure came into effect in September 1996.

The functional Assistant Deputy Ministers (International Business and Communications; Trade, Economic and Environmental Policy; Global and Security Policy) are accountable for developing coherent, effective global policies and initiatives to achieve worldwide the objectives of the government's foreign policy. The geographic Assistant Deputy Ministers (Asia Pacific; Americas; Europe, Africa and the Middle East) are accountable for the implementation of objectives within their respective regions and ensuring that policies and initiatives are consistent with the development and maintenance of effective and coherent relationships between Canada and each country.

The Department is further divided into a number of bureaux, as listed below alphabetically, each headed by a director general. The bureaux, in turn, are separated into divisions, each under a director. There are also some divisions and work units that do not form parts of bureaux. The acronym by which each major unit is known is shown after the name.

Missions abroad

Outside Canada, the Department operates through a network of 129 missions and 33 offices in 107 countries. Overseas representation also exists through a number of honorary consuls. Details of missions abroad can be found in the publication Canadian Representatives Abroad, issued annually.

Bilateral missions are accredited to specific countries. They include larger missions that provide a full range of services within the business line framework and smaller missions that specialize in specific services, including those of other government departments such as CIDA and Citizenship and Immigration Canada.

Multilateral missions serve Canadian interests in specific international organizations such as the World Trade Organization (WTO), the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), the United Nations (UN) and the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD), the European Union (EU), and the Organization of American States (OAS). Missions also provide support to other government departments, including financial management, accommodation and property management, materiel management, communications, information management, personnel management of locally engaged staff, transportation and security.

Canadian Foreign Service Institute (CFSI)

The Institute plans and delivers training and development programs to Departmental employees. The programs are designed to improve the effectiveness of employees in the delivery of the Department's programs in Canada and internationally and to facilitate career development. They include training in official and foreign languages, intercultural effectiveness and a broad range of skills and practices related to DFAIT's business lines. Organizational development services are also provided to assist the Department in managing change.

Communications Bureau (BCD)

The Communications Bureau consists of the Foreign Policy and Corporate Communications Division, the Trade Communications Division, the Media Relations Office, the Outreach Programs and E-Communications Division, the Communications Services Division and the Director General's Office.

The Bureau is responsible for increasing awareness and understanding of Canada's foreign policy and international trade agenda among domestic and foreign audiences. It is also responsible for explaining the role of the Department to Canadians and recently added an internal communications function in order to foster a more productive working environment and forum for ideas at headquarters and at missions abroad.

More specifically, the Communications Bureau provides quality communications advice and services to Ministers and officials on issues, events and initiatives. It also ensures that Canadian and foreign media, as well as other partners, groups and individuals, receive timely and accurate information about the Department and international issues of importance to Canada. The Bureau organizes speaking tours and other outreach programs and activities, provides the Department with public opinion research and analysis, co-ordinates advertising and publishing, and promotes public understanding of the historical aspects of Canada's foreign relations.

Consular Affairs Bureau (JPD)

The Consular Affairs Bureau, under the direction of a Director General, has the sole responsibility for the provision of assistance to and protection of Canadians in other countries. In carrying out that mandate, it operates through staff at Canadian missions abroad as well as through five headquarters divisions consisting of: Case Management, Emergency Services, Program Services, Informatics Services, and Communications and Training. The Bureau sets overall policy for the delivery of consular services, manages cases in cooperation with missions, establishes service standards, manages the cost recovery program, delivers passport and citizenship services overseas, manages the 24-hour, 7-days-a-week departmental/consular operations centre and ensures the application of the Vienna Convention on Consular Relations and related multilateral and bilateral agreements to its consular activities.

Corporate Finance, Planning and Systems Bureau (SMD)

This bureau is comprised of four divisions. The Planning, Program Analysis and Budgeting Division (SMP) provides analysis and advice to the Executive Committee on program planning and resource allocation matters; negotiates with central agencies the size of the Department's budget; coordinates the preparation of the Department's submissions to Treasury Board and its Estimates; prepares DFAIT's annual reports on Plans and Priorities and its Departmental Performance Report to Parliament. The division also coordinates the Department's strategic planning and conducts costing and financial analysis activities.

The Common Services Abroad, Planning and Coordination Division (SMC) provides strategic direction and planning of common services delivery to partner departments and co-locators at our missions abroad; coordinates and supports the implementation of the Framework for Managing Growth at Missions adopted by DFAIT in 2001; develops and negotiates memoranda of understanding (MOUs) with partner departments and co-locators; cost recovery from partner departments and co-locators, and coordination and promotion of the Modern Management initiative.

The International and Domestic Financial Division (SMF) is responsible for domestic and foreign operations for the Department as well as other government departments engaged in foreign operations; and for the operation of a centre of expertise dedicated to the management of service contracts for the department.

The Corporate Management Systems, Policy and Compensation Division (SMS) is responsible for the strategic direction, development, maintenance, training and support of systems utilized in the management of departmental resources including financial, human, and material management, including the Integrated Management System (IMS), PeopleSoft; HRMS, Salary Management System, and Business Intelligence; the administration of compensation and benefits for departmental employees; as well as the formulation and coordination of financial policy.

Economic Policy Bureau (EED)

The Bureau is responsible for the development and coordination of Canada's positions on international economic and development assistance issues, including G8 Economic Summits, the OECD and APEC. It is also responsible for research and analysis of policy options on Canada's international trade and economic agenda. It consists of three divisions: International Economic Relations and Summit Division; Economic Relations with Developing Countries Division; and Trade and Economic Analysis Division.

Executive Services Bureau (DCD)

The objective of this Bureau is to provide dedicated, one-stop support to our two Ministers, and three Secretaries of State and the Deputy Ministers. It is composed of four divisions: DCL (Cabinet and Parliamentary Liaison); DCP (Access to Information and Privacy Protection); DCC (Ministerial Correspondence); and DCX (Executive Briefings). It also acts as a focal point on regulatory matters and policies, is responsible for preparing and disseminating the Forward Planning Document and acts as Secretariat to the Department's Executive Committee.

Export and Import Controls Bureau (EPD)

The authority to control the export and import of goods and technology through the Export and Imports Permits Act (EIPA) is the basis of the Bureau's foreign and domestic policy mandate. The Act sets out criteria to govern the inclusion of particular goods on an Export Control List and an Import Control List, and provides for the inclusion of particular countries on an Area Control List applicable to exports. Control over the flow of goods contained on these lists and to/from these destinations is effected through the issuance or denial of export and import permits. The Act delegates to the Minister of Foreign Affairs the discretion to grant or deny requests for permits, and thus confers on the Minister broad powers to control the flow of goods. The principal role of the Export and Import Controls Bureau is to manage Canada's export and import control regime. This it does through policy development; issue management; processing and issuance of permits; and multilateral and bilateral negotiations.

Geographic Bureaux

For the conduct of external relations, the world has been divided among eight geographic bureaux each under a director general. These are: Africa (GGD); Central, East and South Europe (RBD); European Union, North and West Europe (RWD); Latin America and Caribbean (LGD); Middle East, North Africa and Gulf States (GMD); North Asia and Pacific (PND); South and Southeast Asia (PSD); and North America (NAD). Each bureau is separated into divisions according to smaller geographic areas, and within the divisions, a country desk approach is normally used. The responsibilities and activities of the geographic bureaux have much in common and are best described together.

Each bureau is responsible for the management and coordination of the full range of relations with its region. Included are the operations of the Canadian posts abroad in its area, their guidance and instruction, the on-going dialogue with them, and the provision and allocation of resources to them. Under the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade Act, a head of mission is defined as responsible for the management and direction of the mission and the supervision of the official activities of the various Canadian departments and agencies in the country in question.

The geographic bureaux provide policy advice to Ministers, based on country and regional analysis, and generally are responsible for the handling of bilateral political and economic issues and trade policy with various parts of the world. Each bureau normally manages directly certain core DFAIT programs or "business lines"; for example, "international security and cooperation" or "international business development". In addition, the bureau – with its component divisions – coordinates the delivery within its area of other departmental business lines, including DFAIT's public affairs, consular and administrative programs, as well as the programs of other federal departments and agencies with major operations overseas. As the main point of contact for the Canadian business community, geographic divisions handle export promotion and country-specific market access issues. Most of them support tourist promotion activities in conjunction with the Canadian Tourism Commission, fairs and trade missions, investment development and science and technology cooperation. They also serve as a point of contact for non-governmental organizations with interests abroad and for foreign diplomatic missions based in Ottawa.

Global and Human Issues Bureau (AGD)

This Bureau is responsible for policy development and coordination of activity in issues which are transnational in nature and contribute to sustainable human development and human security. The Human Rights, Humanitarian Affairs and Women's Equality Division ensures effective monitoring of human rights, women's equality issues world-wide and the effective integration of these considerations into all relevant aspects of bilateral and multilateral relations. It also coordinates the foreign policy aspects of humanitarian affairs and migration and refugee issues. The Aboriginal and Circumpolar Affairs Division manages aboriginal issues in Canada's multilateral and bilateral relations and is responsible for the implementation of the Northern Dimension of our Foreign Policy. The Bureau is responsible for the development of the Government's Human Security Policy and Programme covering five key thematic areas: Protection of Civilians, Peace Support Operations, Conflict Prevention, Governance and Accountability and Public Safety. The Bureau is also responsible for the follow up to the Report of the International Commission on Intervention and State Sovereignty, entitled "The Responsibility to Protect" which deals with the issue of humanitarian intervention. Aspects of social development, including children's issues, are the responsibility of this Bureau as is the implementation of the Young Professionals International Program.

Human Resources Operations Bureau (HRD)

HRD is responsible for human resources strategy implementation. The Bureau is concerned with department-wide policies on Staff Relations and also for classification, staffing and training for non-rotational employees, pensions and insurance plans for Locally-Engaged Staff.

Information Management and Technology Bureau (SXD)

The Bureau provides corporate information management and information technology services to the Department and to other government departments with operations abroad. Through MITNET, the Department's telecommunications service, it provides secure and unclassified voice, facsimile, and data transmission. Through SIGNET, its local and wide-area computer network, it supports e-mail and access to departmental data and applications for 8,800 Canadian and locally-engaged staff around the world, thereby supporting the production, retrieval and delivery of timely information to staff and outside clientele. The Bureau is responsible for the Department's electronic and conventional libraries and registries. In addition, the Bureau is responsible for its involvement in Government-On-Line, putting key departmental services for Canadians on-line. The Bureau provides the infrastructure supporting the various departmental web sites; these sites are already attracting 1 million visits a month, providing increased on-line public access to departmental information. As Chief Information Officer, the Bureau's Director-General also coordinates planning, standards and policies for all information management and technology operations across the Department.

International Business Development Branch (TBD/TCD)

Manages medium to long-term strategic planning for international business development (IBD); recommends appropriate allocation of IBD resources, both human and financial; coordinates the Team Canada trade missions led by the Prime Minister and the trade missions led by the Minister for International Trade; manages the Client Service Fund (CFS) which supports the international business development efforts of Canadian business; maintains the public InfoExport web site (www.infoexport.ca) which provides fast and easy access to hundreds of

market studies and electronic service delivery; maintains the Virtual Trade Commissioner Web service which offer personalized on-line services for registered Trade Commissioner Service clients, including business and partner clients; designs and operates world-wide WIN/Client Management Services (as part of the Virtual Trade Commissioner project), encompassing sourcing, trade planning and client management tracking functions; markets the Trade Commissioner Service to the public using different mediums; provides client service guidelines, best practice tools, advice and training to help 500 trade officers at 140 Canadian posts around the world facilitate the efforts of Canadian business abroad; measures the performance of the Trade Commissioner Service and seeks to continuously improve the service based on feedback from clients; manages an outreach program across the country to talk to Canadians and businesses about the benefits of international trade, inform them of trade opportunities abroad, and to explain how the Trade Commissioner Service can help firms interested in international business development; provides assistance to industry clients through: production and dissemination of country and region-specific market studies and partnerships with national industry associations; develops and implements policies, performance and service standards for the Trade Commissioner Service; negotiates and maintains federal-provincial-territorial partnerships agreements; manages DFAIT's participation in Team Canada Inc (TCI), the entity responsible for government-wide management of International Business Development resources; manages Canada's Export Awards program which recognizes and celebrates international trade achievements of Canadian companies; provides input in the management of the Regional trade networks and plans through the International Trade Centres (ITCs); serves as DFAIT's focal point regarding the advancement of Canadian international science and technology (S& T) objectives; serves the export needs of SMEs as well as the special requirements of women, aboriginal and youth entrepreneurs; manages Canada's business development strategy for International Financial Institutions; manages use of Canada Account financing; is the focal point for the Export Development Corporation (EDC) and the Canadian Commercial Corporation (CCC); operates the International Business Opportunities Centre (IBOC) to direct solid trade leads to Canadian firms capable of filling overseas requirements; manages the International Business Development contributions to Government On-

Line initiative including compliance related to Common Look and Feel Program; maintains the Doing Business with Canada site, a Government On-Line project, part of the non-Canadians gateway; manages the Program for Export Market Development (PEMD) in support of international business development initiatives of Canadian companies and industry associations; manages the agreement with Canadian Manufacturers and Exporters (2002-2004) to provide bursary for the Robert L. Richardson Trade Commissioner Service Award for Excellence in International Trade Studies; and coordinates the International Business Internship Program which is funded by the Canada/Atlantic Provinces Cooperation Agreement on International Business Development and participating companies.

International Cultural Relations Bureau (ACD)

This Bureau promotes Canada abroad and helps achieve foreign policy and trade objectives by assisting Canadian scholars and artists to undertake international activities. In cooperation with the Canadian cultural and education industries the bureau provides assistance by promoting and facilitating the exports of cultural goods and services and education services. It is responsible for promoting Canadian Studies abroad; monitoring and coordinating Canadian representation at international education conferences; supporting international youth and cultural personalities exchange; and promoting abroad Canadian education and training goods and services. It provides funding for international tours by Canadian performing artists, writers and film directors, supports exhibitions abroad of Canadian visual art at leading museums and galleries and important international biennials. It also provides support to Canadian missions abroad in delivering cultural services. Information on Bureau programs and activities may be found on the Internet.

International Environmental Affairs Bureau (AED)

This Bureau's mission is to defend and advance Canada's international interest in the environment, conservation, non-nuclear energy and sustainable development. It focuses on issues with multilateral and regional dimensions and those arising in multilateral and regional fora. The Bureau has international responsibility for issues relating to climate change, sustainable forest management, trade and the environment, hazardous and toxic substances, desertification, human settlements, biological diversity, biosafety, genetic resources for food and agriculture, air and marine pollution, whaling, and non-Canada-USA freshwater. To achieve progress in this area of responsibility the Bureau works with major international environmental and sustainable development organizations. It also recommends and oversees funding where appropriate. Domestically, the Bureau works toward agreement and productive partnerships with other government departments, agencies and non-governmental environmental, non-nuclear energy, developmental and business organizations. It prepares and monitors implementation of the Department's Sustainable Development Strategy and provides advice and assistance in the areas of environmental assessment and the greening of departmental operations both in Canada and at the 162 missions abroad. Information on Bureau programs and activities may be found on the Internet.

International Organizations Bureau (IMD)

This Bureau coordinates Canada's participation in the United Nations and most of the specialized agencies and institutions that form part of the UN system. It is also responsible for coordinating Canada's multilateral relations with the Commonwealth and Canada's role and activities in la Francophonie.

International Security Bureau (IDD)

The International Security Bureau is the focal point of the Department's efforts to promote the Government's foreign policy objective of protecting Canadian security, within a stable global framework. The Bureau encompasses policy and operational responsibilities for non-proliferation, arms control and disarmament; regional security and peacekeeping; nuclear safety; North American and Euro-Atlantic security and defense relations.

Legal Affairs Bureau (JCD)

The main functions of the Legal Affairs Bureau are to promote the development of international law and dispute settlement mechanisms as instruments for peaceful change and the effective conduct of Canada's international relations. The areas of priority are: international peace and security, state sovereignty and extraterritoriality, human rights law, international criminal law, environmental law, law of the sea, and services to the public.

Office of Protocol (XDX)

The Chief of Protocol is the principal point of contact between the Government of Canada and foreign representatives accredited to Canada. The Office of Protocol is responsible for the accreditation and appointment of foreign diplomatic and consular representatives to Canada and of Canadian heads of diplomatic and consular missions to other countries. The Office manages all questions of privileges and immunities in respect to both foreign representatives in Canada and Canadian representatives abroad, as set out in the Foreign Missions and International Organizations Act, the State Immunity Act and the Vienna Conventions on Diplomatic and Consular Relations. The Office plans, organizes and manages state and official visits to Canada and participates in the logistical planning and conduct of travel abroad by the Governor General, the Prime Minister, the Minister of Foreign Affairs and the Minister for International Trade. The Office also organizes, arranges, and manages official hospitality functions for the Prime Minister, ministers and senior officials of this and other departments at Foreign Affairs Headquarters, at 7 Rideau Gate, the official Government guest house, and elsewhere in Canada and abroad.

Office of the Inspector General and Internal Audit and Evaluation (SIX)

The office of the Inspector General (OIG) serves senior management of the Department by conducting a range of independent reviews, including Audits and Evaluations, at headquarters and Missions. Its purpose is to encourage accountability and improvements in Departmental management of processes and operations. The OIG's principal information holdings are reports of reviews performed.

Passport Office (JWD)

The Passport Office, a Special Operating Agency of the Department of Foreign Affairs & International Trade, finances its operations entirely from the fees generated by passport services. Its administrative headquarters are located in Hull. The agency operates issuing offices (mail and personal service) in Hull and personal service counters at 29 regional offices across Canada. It also develops, promulgates, and monitors entitlement and issuance policies and procedures for application within Canada as well as at missions abroad.

Personnel Management Bureau (HPD)

The Bureau is concerned with the management of the Department's human resources through the recruitment, assignment, and promotion processes as these principally affect rotational personnel. It is also responsible for the negotiation and administration of the Foreign Service Directives, spousal issues, and all questions concerning the relocation of personnel in and out of Ottawa.

Physical Resources Bureau (SRD)

The Bureau, another Special Operating Agency, is responsible for the Department's Long Term Capital Program, including property renovations, construction, purchases and disposals as well as Chancery and Official Residence lease renewals and moves. The Bureau develops and interprets property and materiel policy, coordinates property program planning, and provides a broad range of maintenance, interior design, purchasing, and shipping services for missions. The Bureau also provides administrative services in the areas of materiel management, accommodation, mail and distribution services .

Policy Planning (CPD)

The Planning Secretariat provides general as well as specialized policy support to the Department. It is responsible for ensuring consistency and coherence across the whole range of Canadian foreign policy through the analysis, evaluation and development of policy, and by carrying out a number of specific policy tasks. The Secretariat feeds into the priority setting process of the Department by organizing Policy Board meetings held at the ADM level. Through its coordination of cross-cutting policy exercises, the Policy Planning group ensures that Canadian foreign policy reflects global realities and government objectives. The Secretariat also coordinates the briefing material for the transition of Ministers and Deputy Ministers. The Secretariat elaborates departmental crisis management strategies for major events with a policy impact such as the events of September 11th, as well as undertaking the review of priorities and resources in such instances. In addition, the Secretariat organizes several outreach functions such as the annual Ministerial retreat, briefing students and hosting various other roundtables and conferences. Within the Secretariat there are three units. The Policy Planning Division has special responsibility for the coordination of political input for the G8 Foreign Ministers' meetings. The Policy Coordination Division focuses, in particular, on trade and economic policy and its links to Canadian foreign policy, and also assesses and advises on how best to align the Department's international priorities and activities to Canada's economic and social agenda at home. The third unit, the Canadian Centre for Foreign Policy Development manages a program to engage Canadians on foreign policy issues and policy development, contributing financially to public project proposals, commissioning policy options papers, organizing events and roundtables and publishing project reports, papers and teaching aids. It also organizes an annual National Forum on Canada's international relations.

Security and Intelligence Bureau (ISD)

This Bureau is responsible for providing timely and critical intelligence on world events, assuring the protection of Canadian personnel and their families, safeguarding government premises and assets and the promotion and protection of Canadian national interests. The Bureau is also responsible, as the National Security Authority, for overseeing the security of all civilian NATO classified matter conveyed to Canada and for departmental Communication Security (COMSEC). The Foreign Intelligence Division provides, inter alia, information support for Department operations and ensures the coordination of intelligence activities with other Canadian agencies and foreign governments. The security divisions are responsible for all aspects of physical and technical security and personal safety at headquarters and abroad. This includes the security of buildings, information and information technology, security measures at headquarters and abroad, personnel security, clearances, investigations and security education and awareness.

Senior Coordinator for Federal-Provincial-Territorial Relations (CFD)

The Bureau is responsible for coordinating the Department's relationships with Canada's provincial/territorial governments on international issues. The Bureau negotiates agreements with the provinces concerning their formal relationship to the Department and coordinates support to the provinces prior to visits abroad by provincial/territorial government leaders. It also advises on issues touching on provincial/territorial government relations with international governmental organizations, and with visiting foreign leaders. It represents the Department in consultations and negotiations with the other government departments and provincial/territorial authorities, as required, on questions which may impact on federal-provincial-territorial relations. The Bureau is responsible for the international dimensions of Canadian federalism and, in this context, is the principal point of contact for the Forum of Federations. It also advises on the expenditure of specific grants and contributions funds which impact on attachment to Canada, and perceptions abroad of Canada as a strong united country. Through its work on international issues, the Bureau also supports the Government's strategic objectives, including national unity.

Trade Law Bureau (JLT)

The Trade Law Bureau handles information on legal aspects of Canada's international trade agreements and related matters including the General Agreement on Trade and Tariffs (GATT), the World Trade Organization (WTO), the Canada-US Free Trade Agreement, the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) and the Canada-Chile Free Trade Agreement. This bureau is also responsible for international dispute settlements under Chapters 11, 14, 19 and 20 of the NAFTA and Chapters 18 and 19 of the FTA, the GATT and WTO. As well, it deals with all legal issues related to trade in goods and services (e.g. transportation, communications, energy, professional services), agriculture, environment, trade sanctions, boycotts, private commercial arbitration, investment and international organizations).

Trade Policy I: General Trade Policy Bureau (EAD) - Trade Policy II: Services, Investment and Intellectual Property Bureau (EBD)

These two Bureaux work closely together and collectively are responsible for all aspects of Canadian trade policy, including the management of trade disputes.

Trade Policy Bureau I is responsible for maintaining a broad oversight of issues related to trade in goods. The Director General of Trade Policy Bureau I also serves as Canada's Coordinator for the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) and is responsible for managing Canada's participation in the NAFTA and its institutions. In addition, the Director General is responsible for the negotiation and/or oversight of regional and bilateral trade agreements, including the Free Trade Agreement of the Americas (FTAA), the Canada-Singapore and Canada-Central America Agreements, as well as for the ongoing management of bilateral trade agreements with Chile, Israel and Costa Rica. The Director General also serves as Chief Negotiator for free trade negotiations with the European Free Trade Association (EFTA).

Trade Policy Bureau II is responsible for maintaining a broad oversight of issues related to trade in services, as well as for the so-called new issues in international trade - culture, intellectual property, new technologies, electronic commerce, telecommunications, investment, competition, government procurement and corporate social responsibility. The Director General of Trade Policy Bureau II also maintains an overview of Canada's participation in the World Trade Organization (WTO) and the trade-related work of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD).

The Trade Policy Bureau I is comprised of the following four divisions: Regional Trade Policy; Trade Remedies; Technical Barriers and Regulations; and Tariffs and Market Access. The Trade Policy Bureau II also five divisions; Investment Trade Policy; Information and Technology Trade Policy; Services Trade Policy; Multilateral Trade Policy and Trade Policy Consultations and Liaison. This last division supports the work of industry Sector Advisory Committees on International Trade (SAGITs), coordinates a permanent forum for consultations with the provinces and assists other divisions in the planning and conduct of public consultation processes.

Classes of Personal Information

In the course of conducting the programs and activities of the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade, categories of personal information may be accumulated which are not contained in the specific information banks described in this entry. This information exists in a fragmented form throughout the subject files of the Department, which are described in the program records. This information is stored as part of the general subject files, where records are not normally retrieved by name of individual or other personal identifier. This form of information is retrievable only if specifics are provided concerning the subject matter, related departmental activity, the date on which the information was received by the Department and to whom it was addressed. The personal information contained in these subject files is retained for the same period of time as the related subject information and is disposed of according to the appropriate subject record schedules. The classes of personal information listed below describe particular program records which, because of their nature, are more likely to contain personal information.

International Security Bureau

Personal information may be held by the bureau concerning individuals who have been involved in defence activities with NATO, NORAD, or other international defence or arms control organizations, or in conferences or visits. Personal information might include personal biographies, tours of defence colleges, military travel and training, and nominations of Canadians for positions in international defence organizations concerned with defence or arms control. Persons seeking access should specify the subject of the enquiry, country and/or city, contacts, incident, conference/organization, visits, dates and circumstances which may have led to the establishment of a record.

Legal Affairs Bureau and Trade Law Bureau

The Legal Affairs Bureau handles a number of important functions including multilateral legal issues, peace and security law, humanitarian law, economic law, trade agreements, treaties, international law, dispute settlement, individual legal cases, and implementation of environmental legislation and Access to Information and Privacy legislation. Personal information held by the Bureau may include enquiries from Canadian residents seeking advice about international and foreign legal systems or concerning authentication of documents, and claims by Canadian citizens for possible support by the Canadian government. Other personal information would relate to specific issues handled by the Bureau. Persons seeking access must specify the subject of the enquiry, as well as country and/or city, legal firm, contacts, incidents, dates and circumstances which may have led to the development of a record.

Office of Protocol

The Office of Protocol is responsible for the administration of protocol-related programs of the Department and for the development of policies and procedures which direct the administration of protocol programs. Personal information in this class would pertain to individuals who have participated in, or have been the subject of protocol-related activities within programs such as accreditation and ceremonies, privileges and immunities, government hospitality, protection of foreign representatives and foreign decorations, and awards and honours to Canadians. Persons seeking access should specify the subject of the enquiry, country and/or city, contacts, incident, visits, conference, delegation, dates and circumstances which may have led to the establishment of a record.

Department of Justice Canada

Chapter 57

General Information

Background

The Department of Justice was created by the Department of Justice Act, passed at the first session of Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, and assented to on May 22, 1868. This Act outlined the responsibilities of the Minister of Justice and the Attorney General of Canada and, with a few exceptions, these responsibilities have remained substantially unchanged.

Responsibilities

The work of the Department consists of litigation, provision of legal advice and opinions to the federal government of Canada on a very wide range of matters, and the drafting of legislation, contracts and other legal documents. The Department is also concerned with the legal aspects of developing government policy, and prepares or reviews recommendations for reform of the law. To carry out these responsibilities, the Department uses federal statutes and regulations. In addition, contributions are made to provide financial assistance to organizations conducting studies and legal research and to other law-related programs. A limited number of grants is made in connection with legal education, and cost-sharing agreements are entered into with provincial and territorial governments in connection with young offenders, compensation of victims of violent crimes, legal aid in criminal cases for adults and young offenders, native court worker programs, and access to legal information. The Department also undertakes research in support of policy initiatives and other departmental responsibilities. The role of the Federal Department of Justice does not include the provision of legal services or advice to members of the public.

Organization

Aboriginal Affairs Portfolio

The Aboriginal Affairs Portfolio carries out a wide range of responsibilities in relation to Aboriginal matters. It has strategic and operational responsibility with regard to the conduct of Aboriginal litigation, including that associated with Indian Residential Schools. The Portfolio advises the government on legal issues that are not the responsibility of any one program department (such as Metis and non-status Indians); it develops positions on legal policy issues such as management of the Crown's fiduciary obligations; it provides legal advice to Indian and Northern Affairs Canada and to the Office of Indian Residential Schools Resolution of Canada; and it leads and manages the Government's Aboriginal Justice Initiative.

Business and Regulatory Law Portfolio

The Business and Regulatory Law Portfolio comprises the office of the Assistant Deputy Minister and twenty four Legal Services Units. These Units provide on-site legal services to government clients whose mandates have in common a strong regulatory or business law component. These units include: Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada, Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency, Canada Economic Development for Quebec Regions, Canadian Environmental Assessment Agency, Canadian Food Inspection Agency, Canadian Heritage, Canadian International Development Agency, Canadian Nuclear Safety Commission, Canadian Space Agency, Communications Security Establishment, Competition Law Division, Environment Canada, Fisheries and Oceans, Foreign Affairs (JUS), Health Canada, Industry Canada, National Defence, National Research Council, Natural Resources Canada, Parks Canada Agency, Public Works and Government Services Canada, Social Development Canada/ Human Resources and Skills Development Canada, Transport Canada and Veterans Affairs Canada.

The Portfolio also includes three specialized units: the Intellectual Property Secretariat, the Maritime Law Secretariat, and the Property Law Section.

Central Agencies Portfolio

The Central Agencies Portfolio is composed of the Office of the Assistant Deputy Minister and seven Legal Services Units. These units provide on-site legal services to central agencies in their respective areas of activity. They manage critical horizontal legal, policy and operational issues related to the central agency functions of government. The Portfolio provides legal advice related to: financial institutions, public service employment law, labour law, official languages, GOL/Electronic Commerce tax law, Crown law, financial law, money laundering, terrorism, machinery of government, and the federal budget. The legal services units include: Finance Canada, Finance – Tax Counsel Division, Financial Consumer Agency of Canada, Financial Transactions and Reports Analyst Centre of Canada, Office of the Superintendent of Financial Institutions, Public Service Commission, and Treasury Board.

Citizenship and Immigration Portfolio

The Citizenship and Immigration Portfolio includes the Office of the Assistant Deputy Attorney General, the Legal Services Unit of Citizenship and Immigration Canada, the Crimes against Humanity and War Crimes Section, and the Immigration Litigation Sections of the regional offices. The Portfolio provides legal services and advice in matters relating to the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act, the Citizenship Act, and their associated regulations and other relevant legislation. It also provides legal services and advice on operational matters and on policy, program, and legislative development. In addition, it coordinates the delivery of litigation services by the regional offices and the Civil Litigation Section, and helps ensure that uniform legal positions are taken across the country in matters pertaining to the Portfolio's mandate. The Crimes against Humanity and War Crimes Section is mandated to receive allegations and to investigate, assess, and litigate cases against individuals suspected of involvement in war crimes, crimes against humanity, and other reprehensible acts committed during time of conflict, regardless of when or where the crimes occurred.

Civil Litigation Branch

The Civil Litigation Branch comprises the office of the Assistant Deputy Attorney General (Civil Litigation), Litigation Practice Management, Supreme Court of Canada and Charter Coordination, Coordination of Class Action and Mass Litigation, National Coordination of Legal Risk Management, Dispute Resolution and Business Management Centre. The role of the Civil Litigation Branch is essentially fourfold: (1) to coordinate the conduct of litigation and, where necessary, to coordinate legal, policy, and client perspectives and ensure the resolution of disagreements; (2) to ensure consistency in the positions taken in litigation and that the quality of representation meets the highest professional standards; (3) to assist in the refining of legal issues and positions as they arise, whether in the regions or in Ottawa, so that they are properly framed for consideration by the Litigation Committee, the Deputy Minister or the Attorney General; and (4) to provide guidance and direction in major, high profile litigation.

The Civil Litigation Section, housed in Ottawa's Headquarters, along with its counterparts in the Regional Offices, is responsible for the conduct of all litigation by or against the federal government, except tax and criminal litigation.

Civil litigation services are provided to virtually every federal department and agency. Counsel appear before all levels of provincial and federal courts and before many federal administrative tribunals and international panels, such as North America Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) panels. Civil litigation counsel also advise on potentially litigious issues and are involved in finding policy and legislative solutions to problems that have come, or may come, before the courts. Their expertise covers many areas of law, including administrative, constitutional, debtor-creditor, employment, immigration, and native law, to name a few.

Communications Branch

The Communications Branch sets communications objectives for the Department through needs analyses and reviews of both the government's agenda and the Department's agenda. It develops and implements strategic communications plans for the Department's legislative initiatives, major court cases, and programs and policies. It advises the Minister and the Department on communications issues, and provides coordination and functional advice for satellite communications offices such as those with the Family, Children and Youth Section, the Youth Justice Policy Section, and the Victims of Crime program. It assists sectors in planning and implementing their communications projects, and provides expert services and advice in such areas as promotion and publishing. The Branch is responsible for providing the Minister's Office with communications services, for liaison with the news media, for external communications such as news releases, speeches, exhibits and departmental advertising campaigns, and for liaison with other federal and provincial departments. The Branch also manages the departmental web site, as well as a public inquiry center [telephone: (613) 957-4222; fax: (613) 954-0811].

Corporate Services

The Corporate Services plays a functional leadership and operational role in relation to financial management and accountability, information management and technology, human resources management, access to information and privacy, and internal audit. Corporate Services activities focus on many government-wide priority initiatives including, for example, HR Modernization; Results for Canadians; strengthening comptrollership and oversight; reviewing government expenditures and modernizing management practices; assuring accountability, transparency, good governance and enhanced role for Parliament; and building public capacity.

Deputy Minister's Group

The Deputy Minister Group provides essential support services to the Deputy Minister, ensuring appropriate advice, communication and liaison on a range of issues between the Deputy Minister and the Minister's Office, the Department and other government departments and agencies. The Deputy Minister shares his responsibilities with three Associate Deputy Ministers, who together make up the Deputy Minister Team (DM Team). The DM Team has responsibility for the overall performance and management of the Department, handling issues that require attention at the Deputy Minister level. In addition to their collective responsibility for the overall management of the Department, the Associate Deputy Ministers have specific responsibility for Constitutional Affairs, Dispute Resolution Services, Francophonie, Justice in Official Languages and Bijuralism, and the Official Languages Law Group.

Federal Prosecution Service

The Federal Prosecution Service (FPS) is a national entity within the Department of Justice. It encompasses all staff counsel and prosecution agents engaged in the delivery of prosecution and criminal law advisory services at the federal level across Canada. Headed by the Assistant Deputy Attorney General (Criminal Law), the FPS consists of a central component (FPS-Headquarters), a regional component (prosecutors working in the Department's twelve regional offices and sub-offices and the legal agents working under their supervision), and the prosecutors with the Competition and Consumer Law Division within the Departmental Legal Services Unit at Industry Canada.

Headquarters is comprised of the Criminal Law Section, which includes the Federal Prosecution Service / Ottawa-Gatineau and the International Assistance Group; the e-prosecutions Secretariat; the Executive Services Office; the Renewal Secretariat; and the Strategic Prosecution Policy Section, which includes the Agent Affairs Unit and the National Security Group.

Integration

The mandate of the Integration initiative is to coordinate the implementation of the Department's Strategic Plan 2001-2005 and to facilitate teamwork in all sectors and regions with a view to achieving corporate objectives. It encourages partnerships and strategic linkages among the Sectors and Regions and with our external partners. The initiative provides the focus for teamwork, better information sharing and communication about best practices, innovation and continuous learning throughout the Department. In addition, the initiative promotes the integration of conflict management into the life and work of the Department.

International Cooperation Group

The International Cooperation Group is responsible for the development and implementation of cooperation programs in support of foreign countries' efforts to reform their system of justice.

Legislative Services Branch

The Legislative Services Branch is responsible for the drafting of all government bills and motions to amend; the drafting and examination of regulations; the Program for Harmonization of Federal Legislation with the Civil Law of Quebec; the official publishing of Acts of Parliament following Royal Assent and related reference tables; and the updating and consolidation of federal statutes and regulations. The Chief Legislative Counsel acts for the Minister of Justice in reviewing government bills and regulations for compliance with the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms and the Canadian Bill of Rights. The Branch also ensures the recognition of the bilingual nature of the Canadian legal system in bills and regulations.

Policy Sector

The Policy Sector plans, develops and implements justice policies dealing with both substantive and procedural criminal law, family law, youth justice and sentencing. In addition, the Sector provides policy, planning, and coordination capability within the Department. This includes the management of the Department's substantive policy agenda and the management of key relationships with the Department's policy partners in the federal government, the provinces and territories, and non-governmental organizations. The Sector is responsible for research and development, public legal education and information, and the coordination of the Department's consultation process. The Sector contributes to the development and maintenance of a fair and accessible justice system through the design, development, and implementation of federal/provincial/territorial contribution funding arrangements and grants and contribution programs. The Sector also provides a program evaluation capacity for the Department.

The principal components of the Policy Sector are: the Criminal Law Policy and Community Justice Branch, which includes the Criminal Law Policy Section, the Policy Centre for Victim Issues, the Sentencing Reform Team, and the Youth Justice Policy Group; the Family, Children, and Youth Section; the Policy Integration and Coordination Section, which includes the Evaluation Division, the Intergovernmental and External Relations Division, the Priorities and Strategic Planning Division, and the Research and Statistics Division, and the Programs Branch.

Public Law Sector

The Public Law Sector is composed of the Office of the Chief Legal Counsel and eight advisory and policy sections. The Constitutional and Administrative Law Section provides legal advice and litigation support to the Government of Canada on all matters of constitutional law, administrative law and Crown law, including the interpretation of statutes and regulations. The Human Rights Law Section provides legal advisory services and litigation support to the Government of Canada on matters relating to the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, the Canadian Human Rights Act and the Canadian Bill of Rights; it also provides services in the area of international human rights law. The Information Law and Privacy Section's primary role is to provide legal interpretation and advice and litigation support to the Government of Canada relating to the Access to Information and Privacy Acts. The Public International Law Section provides leadership and coordination in public international law matters and ensures the consistency of the Department's legal advice on international law. The Trade Law Bureau (JLT) provides legal advice to government departments on international trade and investment law, and represents Canada in litigation before international trade panels. The General Public Law Team provides policy advice and guidance to the Government of Canada on all public law related matters. The Judicial Affairs, Courts, and Tribunal Policy Unit fulfills both a specialized legal advisory role as well as a policy function on all matters relating to the Canadian judiciary and the courts and also provides policy advice in relation to structure and independence issues as they relate to administrative tribunals. Working closely with its provincial and territorial partners, the International Private Law Team deals with the development and implementation of international private law from a policy and an advisory perspective in four broad areas: international commercial law, judicial cooperation and enforcement of judgments, family law and child protection and protection of property.

Regional Offices

Six regional offices report directly to the Deputy Minister: the Atlantic Regional Office, located in Halifax; the Quebec Regional Office, located in Montreal; the Ontario Regional Office, located in Toronto; the Prairie Region, with regional offices in Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Edmonton and a sub-office in Calgary; the British Columbia Regional Office, located in Vancouver; and the Northern Region, with regional offices in Yellowknife, Inuvik, Iqaluit and Whitehorse. The Regional Offices represent the client departments in civil and criminal matters, and provide a wide variety of legal services.

Tax Law Services

The Tax Law Services Portfolio includes the Office of the Assistant Deputy Attorney General, the Legal Services Unit of the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency and Tax Litigation Sections in Ottawa and the Regional Offices. The Portfolio provides legal advice, litigation services and drafting services to the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency in respect of all fiscal matters including income tax, excise tax and GST, employment insurance, customs and border services and international trade.

Information Holdings

Program Records

The Department of Justice files are maintained based on the subject content of the record or case name and/or details of the case using a central file classification system. Each Regional Office, Legal Services Unit, and Headquarters Section classifies records according to the subject matter or case name. Generally the records can be categorized into four main groups: Administrative, Legal Operational, Legal Policy and Program Development. As a rule information is retrieved by name, subject, statute or term. Requesters need only describe the record they wish to access. If the request pertains to a specific case, the location indicating where the case took place is also required.

Aboriginal Information Research

Description: The database contains privileged legal opinions produced within the Aboriginal Affairs Portfolio. The primary goal of this database is to enable counsel to access legal advice that has been given previously in order to ensure consistent legal advice and efficient use of resources.

Topics: Formal opinions, by memorandum of law or letter, correspondence requesting legal opinions, and memoranda and correspondence providing legal advice.

Program Record Number: JUS CVL 005

Administration – Communication Branch

Personal Information Banks

Allan Memorial Institute Depatterned Persons Assistance Plan

Description: This bank contains information on individuals who have made application for an ex-gratia payment of $100,000 and who were former patients of Dr. Ewen Cameron at the Allan Memorial Institute and underwent a treatment termed 'depatterning'. The Plan was established by Order in Council (P.C. 1992-2302, 16 November 1992) and terminated on January 31, 1994. This bank contains application forms identifying the individual information, release forms authorizing the release of medical records, medical records to the extent required to substantiate the depatterning treatment and other administrative documentation.

Class of Individuals: Individuals who have made applications for payment under the criteria set out in the Order-in-Council.

Purpose: The information was used in the administrative and operation activities required to carry out the Government of Canada's responsibilities under the Order in Council.

Consistent Uses: No consistent use.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Records are retained for a period of 21 years after which they are destroyed or transferred to National Archives as historical records.

Central Registry of Divorce Proceedings

Description: This bank contains information obtained from the Registration of Divorce Proceeding Forms received from the various divorce registries in respect of the petitioner and the respondent, and includes all relevant personal information.

Class of Individuals: Persons who filed for divorce in a Canadian court either in their individual capacity or through the lawyers who represent them.

Purpose: The information in this bank is maintained for the purpose of informing the District Registrar of the various court offices of the existence or otherwise of pending divorce applications, thus settling jurisdictional issues pursuant to section 3 of the Divorce Act, 1985. In addition, statistical information is provided to Statistics Canada for the purpose of compiling marriage and divorce statistics for publication.

Consistent Uses: This information may also be shared with other government departments and policing agencies in compliance with the provision of the Privacy Act.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Textual records are retained for five years after divorce registration and machine-readable records are maintained actively for the life of the Divorce Registry program or for the length of time the Divorce Registry is administered by the Department of Justice then destroyed or transferred to National Archives as historical records.

Civil Proceedings and Legal Services

Description: This bank contains information relating to civil legal proceedings and legal services provided to all federal departments and most government agencies and institutions. The information is used to provide legal advice and representation in a practice which ranges across many areas of law, including administrative, constitutional, debtor-creditor, employment, family, immigration, native and tax law, to name a few. The bank contains information relevant to the legal advice and representation provided, such as solicitor-client correspondence and related records. In legal proceedings of a civil nature in which the Crown in right of Canada, a Crown agency or a Crown servant is a party, including proceedings before administrative boards and tribunals, it includes documents such as written pleadings, briefs, appeal books, transcripts and statements of evidence, writs, opinions and related correspondence.

Class of Individuals: Canadians, persons present in Canada, and persons who have been involved in civil litigation involving the federal government.

Purpose: The material in this bank is retained to enable the Department to carry out its duties as legal advisor to the federal government.

Consistent Uses: The greater part of the information contained in the bank is obtained from other federal institutions, as authorized by sub-section 8(2)(d) of the Privacy act. Considering the sources of personal information compiled, the social insurance number (SIN) is in some cases part of the information transmitted by institutions authorized to collect it, such as in some cases involving the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Civil litigation files are retained for 21 years after cessation of the legal action after which they are destroyed or transferred to National Archives as historical records. Files pertaining to other legal matters are retained for 30 years after which they are destroyed or transferred to National Archives as historical records. Files containing material of precedential value, as identified by Justice counsel, are retained for 35 years after a legal opinion is rendered and the file is closed. These latter files are then micro-filmed, a copy of the microfilm kept permanently at the Department, and the files transferred to National Archives.

Employment Departure Feedback Program (EDFP)

Description: This database provides information voluntarily submitted by employees who are voluntarily leaving the Department of Justice or whose terms were not renewed, who chose to participate in the Employee Departure Feedback Program (EDFP). The personal information collected includes the employee's age, gender, first official language, and employment equity group (if applicable). The name of employee or other personal information to identify the individual is not collected.

Class of Individuals: Department of Justice employees who are voluntarily resigning from the department for career changes and retirement, for example, in addition to individuals whose duration of employment has been reached. It does not include individuals in casual employment, temporary agency personnel, contractors/consultants, and employees who have experienced an involuntary separation, such as rejection or layoff.

Purpose: This information provides the Department of Justice with a better understanding of the reasons why employees leave the department and will be used to help Justice make improvements to its workplace policies, programs and practices in an attempt to improve the workplace and ultimately improve the retention of employees.

Consistent Uses: Information will be shared with the appropriate internal Human Resource programs. Information may be used to provide reports to management and it may also be used for research, planning, audit and evaluation purposes.

Retention and Disposal Standards: The information in the database will be retained for the length of time that the EDFP is administered by the Department of Justice, in order to analyse trends in employee departures that may be occurring over time. The questionnaires received in hard copy and entered into the database will be retained for five years and then destroyed.

Mailing List

This class of personal information contains the names and addresses of individuals who are on mailing lists to receive publications and other publicly available materials relating to departmental activities. The lists are used by all sectors of the Department and are updated on a continuing basis. The correspondence and request cards from individuals used for amending addresses and to add or delete individual names on mailing lists are retained until the mailing lists have been amended.

Management Effectiveness Survey (Upward Feedback)

This class of information contains employees' attitudes regarding management effectiveness with regards to work supervision, communications, training and development. The results of questionnaires serve as a catalyst to improve management practices within work units. Information from the questionnaires without respondent identifier is retrievable by location (client department) except for units having five employees or less, in which case the information is available by groups of three units without respondent identifier.

Subject Files and Routine Correspondence

Some departmental programs and activities result in the accumulation of personal information which is not contained in the personal information banks described above. This personal information is stored within subject files described as part of the Department's Information Holdings where records are not normally retrieved by the name of the individual or other personal identifier. This form of personal information consists of enquiries concerning particular justice matters, as well as requests for publications and reports. The information is normally retrievable only if specifics are provided concerning the subject matter. Retention of this form of personal information is controlled by the records schedules of the subject files in which the information is stored.

Environment Canada

Chapter 58

General Information

Background

The Department of the Environment was established by the Government Reorganization Act, 1970-71-72, ch. 42 on June 10, 1971. The Department, also known as Environment Canada, has as its primary duties renewable resources management and the protection of Canada's air, water and land resources. The departmental organization has three principal services: Environmental Protection which concentrates on response strategies and behavioural changes to prevent pollution of air, land and water ecosystems; Environmental Conservation which focuses on sustainable development of environmental resources; and Meteorological Service of Canada which focuses on integrated monitoring, atmospheric sciences, and services to Canadians.

The information holdings of the department are largely integrated and are often the product of more than one region or service. For example, Environmental Protection Service will benefit from science done in Environmental Conservation Service and Meteorological Service of Canada.

Responsibilities

The primary objective of the Department of the Environment is to preserve and enhance the quality of the environment for the benefit of present and future generations of Canadians. Departmental programs are designed to promote the establishment or adoption of objectives and standards relating either to environmental quality or pollution control, to ensure the wise management and use of renewable resources and to provide Canadians with environmental information in the public interest. As well, the department ensures that new federal projects, programs and activities are assessed early in the planning process for potentially adverse effects on the environment.

Legislation

- Arctic Waters Pollution Prevention Act
- Canada Water Act
- Canada Wildlife Act

- Canadian Environmental Protection Act
- Canadian Environment Week Act
- Fisheries Act

Organization

Environmental Conservation Service

The goal of the Environmental Conservation Service (ECS) is to ensure that future generations of Canadians inherit a natural environment as rich as the one we enjoy today. Working with many partners - individual Canadians, other federal departments, environmental and community groups, Aboriginal peoples, industry, other levels of government, and international organizations, ECS focuses on: wildlife conservation; science for decision-making; and ecosystem conservation. ECS consists of four directorates and one Branch: Canadian Wildlife Service, Conservation Strategies Directorate, National Water Research Institute, Water policy and Coordination Directorate, and the Science Policy Branch.

Canadian Wildlife Service

The Canadian Wildlife Service manages domestic and international wildlife and other wildlife related matters that are the responsibility of the federal government, such as management of migratory birds, species at risk, and conserving nationally significant habitat.

Conservation Strategies Directorate

The Conservation Strategies Directorate provides policy analysis and advice on a range of environmental areas. Staff work closely with other departments, jurisdictions, and non-governmental organizations to develop federal policies and strategies to conserve nature, focusing on nature priorities such as invasive species and managing horizontal programs such as pesticides science funding. The Biodiversity Convention Office, located within the directorate, ensures follow-up on commitments made under the United Nations Convention on Biological Diversity. The directorate also acts as the secretariat for the Office of the Assistant Deputy Minister, providing corporate and planning support for the Service.

National Water Research Institute

The National Water Research Institute (NWRI) conducts research in every region of Canada, investigating environmental issues such as impacts of agriculture, industry, and urbanization on water quality; the effects of contaminants in lakes, rivers, groundwater, and sediments; the extent of atmospherically transported persistent organic pollutants and metals in aquatic ecosystems; and the potential impact of climate change on water quantity and quality. Its two main centres are located at the Canada Centre for Inland Waters on the shores of the Great Lakes in Burlington, Ontario and the other one at the National Hydrology Research Centre, in the heart of the Canadian Prairies in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan.

Water Policy and Coordination Directorate

The Water Policy and Coordination Directorate (WPCD) works toward a vision of clean, safe, and secure water for Canadians and ecosystems by providing a focal point for the development of policy, integrated approaches, and governance related to the quality, quantity and sustainable use of water, nationally and on the global stage. WPCD works directly with the Canadian Council of Ministers of the Environment on a water action plan, that includes water quality guidelines and guidance on source-to-tap water management, and provides technical and secretariat support in federal engagement in Canada's regional water boards. In carrying out these activities, the Directorate provides leadership and support to EC Regions and Services, other federal departments, and our external partners in protecting water resources at home and internationally.

Science Policy Branch

The Science Policy Branch provides science and technology policy services to the department. These support departmental management efforts to ensure the excellence of Environment Canada's Science and Technology and the effectiveness of the federal government's Science and Technology policies.

Environmental Protection Service (EPS)

The focus of the EPS mandate is on the assessment and management of risk associated with domestic and international sources of pollution. The range of activity is broad: assessment of substances and practices that pose a risk to the environment, development and implementation of environmental protection measures including pollution prevention, regulations, permits and technology advancement; and ensuring compliance with federal pollution laws. These activities lead to improvements in environmental quality which helps to support the health and safety of Canadians and their economic security. A large part of the EPS mandate involves carrying out environmental protection obligations under the Canadian Environmental Protection Act and the pollution prevention provisions of the Fisheries Act. EPS consists of six directorates: Air Pollution Prevention Directorate, Environmental Technology Advancement Directorate, National Programs Directorate, Pollution Prevention Directorate, Risk Assessment Directorate and Strategic Priorities Directorate.

Air Pollution Prevention Directorate

The Air Pollution Prevention Directorate manages, coordinates and supports pollution prevention activities for global air issues (ozone depletion), transboundary air issues (smog, acid rain, particulates, and hazardous air pollutants), pollution data (National Pollutant Release Inventory, greenhouse gases and Criteria Air Contaminants), transportation systems and related industries, and oil, gas and energy industries.

Environmental Technology Advancement Directorate

The Environmental Technology Advancement Directorate (ETAD) helps protect the environment through Canadian science, technology and know-how. ETAD provides: specialized and applied Science and Technology (S&T) services to support environmental programs and regulatory functions; knowledge and assessment of technology options for Environmental Protection (EP); and S&T expertise to build capacity in Canada in Environment Canada (EC) priority areas. ETAD partners, at home and abroad, with other parts of EC, other federal government departments and agencies, as well as provinces, territories, municipalities, Aboriginal governments, non-government organizations and environmental non-government organizations. The Directorate continuously strives to engage the public and private sectors in developing, transferring, and implementing technology based solutions for EP.

National Programs Directorate

The National Programs Directorate develops policies and programs, and provides functional management to promote consistent national results for: environmental assessment, compliance assurance, enforcement, emergencies and security measures.

Pollution Prevention Directorate

The focus of the Pollution Prevention Directorate is to protect Canadians and their environment from threats posed by pollution by: establishing EPS-wide priorities for action to reduce the release of toxic substances; designing and implementing programs to reduce releases from: key industrial sources; use of products and; management of wastes.

Risk Assessment Directorate

The Risk Assessment Directorate (RAD) determines the issues and risks associated with toxics and other substances of concern. RAD works collaboratively with Health Canada to perform risk assessments of existing substances and both the risk assessments and management of new substances (including animate products of biotechnology) in support of the implementation of the Canadian Environmental Protection Act, 1999 (CEPA 1999).

Strategic Priorities Directorate

The Strategic Priorities Directorate provides policy and business planning advice on matters of strategic interest to EPS, including the Canadian Environmental Protection Act, 1999 (its review and operations), biotechnology, the EPS regulatory agenda and smart regulations, infrastructure programming, environmental protection on Aboriginal lands and interjurisdictional matters, as well as direction to the longer term planning and program integrity of EPS and the Clean Environment Business Line.

Human Resources and Service Innovation

The mandate of Human Resources and Service Innovation is to lead the department in modernizing its human resources functions, to leverage the knowledge of its people more effectively, and to promote and develop innovative and transformative services internally and externally. This mandate is characterized by an integrated approach towards people, knowledge, outreach and service.

Administrative Services and Environmental Management

Material and Contract Management; Real Property, Security, Accommodations, Records and Mail, Environmental Management Systems; Sustainable Development in Government Operations; Federal House in Order.

Client Service Transformation

Leadership, policy and strategic direction in support of EC's commitment to provide more effective and efficient citizen-centred service through multi-channel service delivery.

Functional leadership and coordination in support of the Department's Internet presence at www.ec.gc.ca, a key delivery channel for providing environmental information to Canadians as well as its equivalent Intranet for EC employees.

Coordination of the Government Online (GOL) initiative

Functional direction for departmental outreach initiatives particularly the EcoAction Community Funding Program, the Environmental Learning Framework, and the Youth Round Table on the Environment.

Corporate Management and Review

Operational Planning and Program Integration, Corporate Accounting and Review, Audit and Evaluation.

Corporate Secretariat

Ministerial Correspondence; Parliamentary Relations, Scheduling and Briefing; Access to Information and Privacy.

Financial Services

Financial Planning and Resource Analysis; Financial Policy, Systems and Accounting; Service Financial Advisors.

Human Resources

Classification and Staff Relations (Classification; Policies, Procedures and Guidelines); Human Resources Management (Human Resources Strategic Planning, Staffing and Work Force Adjustment, Continuous Learning, Official Languages); HR Information Systems; Senior Management Development and Services (management of executive group); Human Resources Operations (NCR) (Service to all NCR Clients).

Information Management and Information Technology

Information Management Practices, IT Business Strategies, Business Systems Support, IT Operations, and Library.

Knowledge Integration

Canadian Information System on the Environment (CISE) Secretariat, Knowledge Coordination Office, National Indicators and Assessment Office, Ecological Monitoring and Assessment Office.

Meteorological Service of Canada

The Meteorological Service of Canada (MSC) delivers, with the regions, the Atmospheric Environment Program (AEP). AEP's main activities include services related to monitoring and forecasting air quality, weather, climate and ice conditions, and to monitoring of water quantity and quality. AEP also carries out research in atmospheric sciences to improve our understanding of the atmosphere and to help Canadians understand how they affect the environment.

While the regions are responsible for observation and most service production and delivery, MSC is responsible for AEP's overall direction and standards, for specialized services like ice services, for support services – for example, super-computing, forecast guidance, and climatological and hydrological data archiving – and for most atmospheric research. MSC is also responsible for international affairs, including relations with the World Meteorological Organization, program plans, and performance measurement. It contributes, through its science and activities such as science assessment, to the development of the department's policies dealing with the atmospheric environment.

The Meteorological Service of Canada consists of five directorates that strive toward providing Canadians – as citizens, clients or decision-makers – with enough information to enable them to make wise decisions about their health, their safety and the environment.

Atmospheric and Climate Science

Working closely with Canadian universities and international scientific organizations, this directorate researches the mechanisms that control atmospheric and climate processes. This information is used to forecast atmospheric changes and help Canadians adapt to them, and to prevent or mitigate atmospheric catastrophes.

The Air Quality Research Branch does research on important atmospheric constituents such as ozone and greenhouse gases, and on atmospheric pollutants, such as acid rain, smog and toxics, and particulate matter, including their transport, deposition and transformation.

The Climate Research Branch does research on three main areas: producing numerical models to see how climate variations or the production of greenhouse gases will affect our climate in the future; monitoring and analyzing climates, principally in Canada and the Arctic; and examining climate processes, such as land-surface atmospheric exchanges, which are crucial in our ability to understand and simulate its evolution.

The Meteorological Research Branch does research to help the weather and environmental services program improve the accuracy and timeliness of its analyses and forecasts. It focuses on data assimilation and remote sensing, numerical weather prediction and physical atmospheric processes. It does so in close collaboration with the Canadian Meteorological Centre.

The Adaptation and Impacts Research Group looks at the socio-economic impacts of climate change and atmospheric pollution and develops adaptation strategies for Canadians.

The Science Assessment and Integration Branch produces full science assessments and other science-based documents pertaining to the atmospheric sciences relevant to selected air issues such as stratospheric ozone depletion, acid rain, ground-level ozone and particulate matter, and climate change. As well, the Branch uses the implications of the science assessments to mediate the development of appropriate policies, guidelines and objectives with a wide range of stakeholders, including provincial, federal and national policy-makers, industry representatives and environmental organizations.

Atmospheric Environment Prediction Directorate

This Directorate provides leadership for all prediction activities of the Atmospheric Environment Program and is responsible for numerical weather prediction, national informatics and telecommunications. It includes four branches: National Prediction Programs and three others that form the Canadian Meteorological Centre (CMC) -- Informatics, Operations and Development. The National Prediction Programs Branch leads and coordinates prediction programs among regional and central components. It also develops common approaches and promotes collaboration in the areas of production and dissemination systems and programs.

The Canadian Meteorological Centre provides forecast guidance to national and regional prediction centres. The Centre is responsible for the national telecommunications and data management systems and for the national meteorological and environmental predictions. CMC also co-ordinates national and international support to environmental emergencies. The Centre gathers, archives, analyses and disseminates data related to climate, stratospheric ozone, ultraviolet radiation and air quality. The CMC plays a primary role in technology transfer to regions. Some of the clients for this specialized information include Transport Canada (Nav Canada), National Defense, other government departments and agencies, several airlines, the media and many private companies. It is made up of three branches:

The Informatics Branch provides centralized computing and telecommunications services to meet the Atmospheric Environment Programs' objectives, support other departmental operations, and assist other approved users. It operates and maintains the supercomputer facility in Dorval and various telecommunications networks.

The Operations Branch is responsible for the operation of the weather, climate and air quality programs at the Canadian Meteorological Centre, and for the national and international Environmental Emergency Response service.

The Development Branch ensures that research findings are transferred into the operations of the Canadian Environmental Forecasting Systems, develops systems and products for the Canadian Environmental Forecasting Systems, and advises senior managers on forecasting techniques and related infrastructure.

Atmospheric Monitoring and Water Survey

This directorate provides national leadership to ensure that monitoring systems and related information services are provided to all Canadians. The directorate's goal is to ensure that nationally coherent, cohesive and cost-effective monitoring systems and related information services meet national and international standards and fulfill present and future user requirements.

The directorate is comprised of four branches and three divisions reporting to the Director General.

The National Weather and Climate Networks Branch provides functional leadership and coordination for the national weather and climate networks, strategic engineering and test and evaluation support.

The National Radar Project is responsible for the project management, coordination and implementation of the National Doppler Radar Plan (NRP).

The Water Survey Branch provides functional leadership and coordination for water survey networks and hydrology programs.

The National Archives and Data Management Branch is responsible for the national archives, the provision of national climate services and related data management activities. This branch provides functional leadership, advice and coordination to ensure effective data management, life cycle management support systems and data access.

The Data Standards and Quality Management Division establishes performance standards and operating procedures, and manages related documentation. In addition, the division is responsible for monitoring network performance in real-time and for central coordination of problem response actions.

The National Weather and Climate Operations Division contributes to the sustainable operation of Canada's atmospheric monitoring networks by providing engineering and technical support and procurement services.

Policy and Corporate Affairs

This directorate provides an ongoing assessment of the health of the Weather and Environmental Prediction program. This broad focus is reflected in the directorate's activities. International Affairs and relations with the planning and policy functions of Environment Canada are at its core. It also handles strategic capital planning and the overall stewardship of national standards and performance assessment reporting.

Through the planning process, this directorate helps to implement the changes resulting from the Alternative Service Delivery initiative and is also responsible for the Weather and Environmental Prediction Table and overall strategic planning with the regions.

The Business Planning and Development Branch provides planning support for the Weather and Environmental Predictions (WEP) program, including measuring program results to ensure they meet performance targets. The group also provides a program evaluation service for all national and regional components of WEP, and is the corporate secretariat for the Atmospheric Environment Service and WEP.

The Policy and International Affairs Branch ensures the WEP program is represented at international fora such as the World Meteorological Organization (WMO) and acts as a liaison for policy initiatives inside and outside Environment Canada that relate to WEP. The branch also handles ministerial correspondence and provides support for the ADM's corporate role.

The Strategic Capital Planning Branch oversees the administration and management of major capital investments related to WEP.

The Climate Change Action Fund (CCAF) was established by the federal government to help Canada meet its commitments under the Kyoto Protocol to reduce greenhouse gas emissions. The CCAF is intended to support early actions to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and to increase understanding of the impact, the cost and the benefits of the Protocol's implementation and the various implementation options open to Canada. One component of the Fund addresses Science, Impacts and Adaptation and is co-managed by EC (MSC) and Natural Resources Canada. Climate processes research, climate modeling and monitoring, impact studies and adaptation research are all supported.

Services, Clients and Partners

This directorate focuses on the needs of clients and partners and acts as a conduit for communications between clients, partners and the Atmospheric Environment Program (AEP). It also provides direct services to major clients through the Canadian Ice Service and the Interagency Service Branch.

The Meteorological Services Branch focuses on the relationship with public good clients and ensures their perspective is represented in policies.

The Interagency Services Branch manages the relationship with National Defence and NAV CANADA, and coordinates national delivery of services to them.

The Canadian Ice Service Branch delivers services to the Canadian Coast Guard concerning the movement of ice processes. It does so in close collaboration with the Canadian Meteorological Centre.

The Specialized Clients and Partners Branch maintains contact with all cost-recovery clients and helps to develop and implement a cost recovery framework.

The Revenue Management Branch advises on major contract renewals and sets up a cost accounting system.

The Performance Monitoring and Standards Branch systematically monitors performance to ensure MSC is meeting its targets for quality service.

Policy & Communications

Policy and Communications helps define, promote and support Ministerial and departmental priorities, policy directions and helps ensure that the department presents these priorities in a consistent, coherent and coordinated manner within the federal government as well as nationally and internationally. It does this through a combination of communications and consultations, by coordinating and guiding environmental policy within the department and across government, and by representing departmental interests at national and international levels. Policy and Communications also coordinates specific programs which support and encourage environmentally friendly actions, and which promote the department's and the private sector's environmental expertise in the global market. Policy and Communications consists of the six directorates: Climate Change Bureau, Communications Directorate, Economic and Regulatory Affairs Directorate, International Relations Directorate, Policy Research Directorate and Strategic Policy and Partnerships.

Climate Change Bureau

The Climate Change Bureau leads the development and implementation of plans and actions to meet Canada's commitments in the Kyoto Protocol. The Bureau manages public education and outreach activities such as the One-Tonne Challenge. The Bureau leads Canadian participation in international negotiations on climate change and the implementation of international aspects of the Kyoto Protocol.

Communications Directorate

The Communications Directorate and Regional Communications units at Environment Canada are responsible for providing strategic and operational communications advice and services to the Minister, senior departmental officials, business lines and service areas. This includes product development, speech writing, media relations, event planning, issues management, media monitoring, and the coordination of public opinion research.

The DG of Communications reports to the ADM Policy and Communications Service, and is responsible for promoting and ensuring effective and coordinated communications across the department. The Communications Directorate works closely with the senior management team of EC and with the Privy Council Office and other departments to ensure that communications strategies, products and resources are developed and deployed to effectively support well-defined departmental and Government of Canada priorities.

The Department's core communications units coordinate the strategic planning and operational implementation functions of the department's national and regional communications services and horizontal communications in delivering on the Government of Canada's environmental agenda.

Economic and Regulatory Affairs Directorate (ERA)

The Economic and Regulatory Affairs Directorate provides policy, economic analysis and regulatory advice and support for environmental issues, strategic policy development and implementation. ERA fosters policy innovation in the area of economy-environment integration (trade, budget, economic instruments); contributes to policy priorities (e.g., climate change, international agenda); promotes sound regulatory development (regulatory impact assessments, regulatory reform); develops and applies economic analytical tools in support of policy development (e.g., cost and benefit models, valuation).

International Relations Directorate

The International Relations Directorate provides strategic coordination and policy advice to ensure coherence between domestic and international policy and programs and also among international activities of the department. It also supports Environment Canada's, and in some cases the government's, involvement with United Nations organizations (United Nations Environment Programme, Commission on Sustainable Development); the environment and sustainable development work of the OECD; the North American Commission on Environmental Cooperation (CEC); and G-8. The Directorate also manages key bilateral relations with countries such as U.S., China, Russia, Mexico, Chile, Costa Rica and the European Union.

Policy Research Directorate

The Policy Research Directorate supports Environment Canada's investment in environmental knowledge management by guiding the development of an overall framework and by creating knowledge products that help integrate and explain Canadian policies with respect to the environment (e.g., priority-setting tools such as trend and survey analyses and indicators).

Strategic Policy and Partnerships

The Strategic Policy and Partnerships assists the Minister and the department in defining policy objectives and priorities and identifies opportunities to advance these interests within the federal government. It plays a strong role in federal, provincial and Aboriginal relations and in consultations with key stakeholders and organizations. It works to ensure coherence and consistency in departmental and federal policy, particularly in areas related to sustainable development.

Information Holdings

Program Records

Environmental Conservation Service

Canadian Wildlife Service

Aboriginal Affairs

Description: Information and correspondence on comprehensive land claim final agreements, self-government agreements, and aboriginal harvest surveys.

Topics: Council for Yukon First Nations Umbrella Final Agreement; Inuvialuit Final Agreement; Nunavut Land Claim Agreement; Gwich'in (NWT) Agreement; Sahtu Dene and Metis Agreement; Tlicho Agreement; Nisga'a Treaty; James Bay and Northern Quebec Agreement; Naskapi Agreement; Labrador Inuit Agreement; Nunavik Inuit Agreement-in-Principle; Labrador Innu (AIP negotiations); Deh Cho (AIP negotiations); Akaitcho (AIP negotiations) and Northwest Territory Metis Nation (AIP negotiations). Other topics are hunting rights (migratory birds), Acts and Regulations, Protocol Amending the Migratory Birds Convention, and (Aboriginal) harvest surveys.

Access: Files and documents are available at the headquarters of the Canadian Wildlife Service, Environment Canada, Gatineau, PC.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 115

Biodiversity

Description: Information on biodiversity conservation and the sustainable use of biological resources.

Topics: Wide range of biodiversity related issues including Agenda 21, agriculture, biotechnology, business and economy, ecosystems, education, extinction of species, fisheries, forestry, wildlife and species at risk, genetic resources, parks and protected areas, populations and consumption, and sustainable development. Also, includes national and international biodiversity strategies.

Access: Files are arranged by subject and listed by author or subject. Available at the Biodiversity Convention Office (BCO).

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 125

Federal Policy on Wetland Conservation

Description: Information on the roles and responsibilities of federal agencies, commitments of federal government and strategies to promote wetland conservation nationally and internationally; the development and assessment of federal projects affecting wetlands; analysis and advice to provincial and territorial jurisdictions with regard to wetland policy development; implementation of national and international wetland programs with partner agencies; interaction with North American Waterfowl Management Plan; provision of advice to the public, Parliament and Minister on the Policy and other initiatives affecting wetland conservation; development of selection criteria for Ramsar sites; publications and public and scientific events on wetland and habitat conservation.

Topics: Biodiversity conservation, Ministerial enquiries; Ramsar Convention on Wetlands of International Importance; policy advice to federal agencies.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 500

Habitat Conservation

Description: Information on habitat strategies, plans and data banks; research on habitat impacts from exotic species and land use changes; resource strategies and methodologies to monitor habitat changes/impacts; provision of land management services and advice to federal departments and agencies responsible for administering federal lands located in the provinces or specially dedicated lands located in the territories. National co-ordination of Ramsar Convention and delivery of Federal Policy on Wetland Conservation.

Topics: Habitat planning and management; resource management data; federal land data; public awareness; policy research and coordination; Canada Committee on Ecological Areas.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 165

Migratory Bird Surveys

Description: Information on the biometry of migratory birds.

Topics: Migratory game birds hunting permits; waterfowl harvest; breeding bird surveys; data processing.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 105

National Wildlife Areas and Migratory Bird Sanctuaries

Description: Public information and correspondence at all levels, concerning policies and regulations that govern land use activities on these designated nationally significant wildlife habitat areas. Activities also include development of selection criteria for both terrestrial and marine areas, consultation and development of management plans, progress reporting and scientific research and data collection.

Topics: Agreements; policy; regulations; rentals; leases.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 135

North American Waterfowl Management Plan (NAWMP)

Description: Information on the development, coordination and planning of the North American Waterfowl Management Plan (NAWMP).

Topics: Joint ventures; implementation agreements (multilateral, internal); NAWMP committees; long-term and annual work plans; funding arrangements; communications and general correspondence.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 170

Ornithology

Description: Information on all aspects of migratory birds and their conservation.

Topics: Migratory Birds Convention Act and Regulations; waterfowl hunting; North American Waterfowl Management Plan; bird banding programs; reports, studies and surveys; sanctuaries; migratory bird sanctuaries regulations; damage to crops by birds; Canadian Landbird Conservation Strategy; songbirds, seabirds, shorebirds; permits; research on species; use of birds; waterfowl kill statistics; waterfowl populations; breeding ground survey; breeding bird survey; brood production survey; waterfowl status reports. Correspondence with provinces, United States Fish and Wildlife Service; Mexico; and states on migratory birds and their conservation.

Access: Files are arranged by name and geographic locations.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 120

Toxicology Network

Description: Activities supporting the Toxicology Network, a network of scientists in Canadian universities conducting toxicology research in response to Canadians' concerns about toxic substances and risks posed to human health and the environment.

Topics: Toxicology research; toxic substances.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 100

Transboundary Wildlife

Description: Public information and correspondence on the proposal by the United States to explore for and develop potential oil and gas reserves in the sensitive calving grounds of the migratory Porcupine caribou herd on the coastal plain of the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge (ANWR) in northeast Alaska.

Topics: Porcupine Caribou; Arctic National Wildlife Refuge; United States.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 575

Wildlife Management

Description: Information on the federal participation and responsibilities in the management of wildlife.

Topics: Species at Risk Programme; Policies development for the implementation of the Species at Risk Act (SARA); Committee on the Status of endangered Wildlife in Canada (COSEWIC); Recovery of Nationally Endangered Wildlife (RENEW); Endangered Species Recovery Funds; transboundary wildlife; Porcupine Caribou Management Agreement; Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES); Wild Animal and Plant Protection and Regulation of International and Interprovincial Trade Act (WAPPRIITA); Canada Wildlife Act; Conservation of Arctic Flora and Fauna; Federal-Provincial Agreements; Correspondence on wildlife conservation issues; Canada/US Framework; Trilateral Canada/Mexico/US.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 150

Wildlife Toxicology

Description: Information and advice on the impacts of pesticides and pest control practices, environmental contaminants and other toxic substances on birds, other vertebrates wildlife (but not fish) and their habitats and foods (biodiversity).

Topics: Predicting and evaluating wildlife effects of toxic substances for support of environmental conservation and protection policy and regulation development. Research to establish cause-effect relationships for toxic substances and wildlife, to identify toxic substances in the environment and their sources, to develop and apply assessment methodology including modelling and tests methods, and to select indicators of environmental quality and health of wildlife. Wildlife disease issues and federal contact point with the Canadian Cooperative Wildlife Health Centre. Biomonitoring of contaminant trends and effects in wildlife in Arctic, Great Lakes-St. Lawrence, Marine and other Canadian ecosystems. Laboratory services for measurement of selected contaminant residues, biomarkers and bioassays and quality assurance management. National Specimen Bank of more than 30,000 frozen specimens (mainly birds) dating from around 1970 and specimen preservation technology. National database of toxic chemicals residues in wildlife (primarily birds). Contaminants in waterfowl and wildfoods for human consumption.

Access: By subject.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 145

Conservation Strategies Directorate

Canadian Biodiversity Strategy

Description: Supporting documentation for Canadian Biodiversity Strategy and the Convention on Biological Diversity.

Topics: Reports on ten expert focus groups convened to provide input into the CBS; a compilation of recommendations relevant to biodiversity already being undertaken by governments; an inventory of current government policies, programs and legislation relevant to biodiversity; and preparatory documentation for the drafting of the convention on Biological Diversity.

Access: Available at the Biodiversity Convention Office.

Format: Inventory information is available on computer database.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 130

Ecosystem Initiatives

Description: Ecosystem initiatives are partnership programs that have been put in place over the past ten years to address environmental, economic and social challenges in targeted geographic areas across Canada. They focus on issues involving air and water quality, resource use, human health and nature in an integrated manner responding to the unique problems of particular ecosystems and the unique needs of communities.

Topics: Ecosystems; partnership programs; air quality; water quality; resource use; human health and nature.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 210

National Water Research Institute

Atmospheric Transported Contaminants

Description: Research to investigate ecosystem-scale aquatic effects resulting from regional stressors such as the long-range transport of acidifying and persistent organic pollutants; information assessing aquatic ecosystem contaminants and their distribution, determining and modeling the factors controlling ecosystem responses (including pollutant fate and cycling), detecting and predicting trends, evaluating (with others) the environmental health of aquatic ecosystems, and providing technical advice to environmental managers.

Topics: Great Lakes, Acid Rain Hazardous Air Pollutants and Arctic programs of Environment Canada and Northern Contaminants Program of Department of Indian Affairs and Northern Development (DIAND).

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 680

Ecosystem Health Objectives and Indicators

Description: Information on integration of social, environmental and economic factors in developing objectives and indicators to enhance, protect and sustain the health of Canadian ecosystems.

Topics: Ecosystem approach; a framework for developing ecosystem health goals, objectives and indicators: tools for Ecosystem-Based Management.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 495

Effects of Toxic Substances

Description: Information on techniques to screen and assess priority substances and effluents for their potential to cause effects on aquatic biota, chemicals responsible for physiological and reproductive impacts, information to measure and predict exposure to a wide variety of contaminants in support of various national and regional ecosystem programs, e.g., CEPA, TSMP, EEM and Great Lakes 2000; assessments of priority substances and their impacts on the survival, growth and reproduction of biota. Future emphasis will shift toward the development of techniques to screen chemicals, effluents and environmental samples for physiological and reproductive impairment in aquatic biota, including fish and higher organisms. The development of methods to isolate and identify chemicals responsible for biological impacts in the environment will lead to the remediation of contaminated products, effluents and sites. More accurate prediction of exposure and effects of contaminants will greatly enhance our ability to assess their environmental hazard.

Topics: Priority substances assessment; effluent assessment.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 675

Environmental Effects Monitoring

Description: Information on potential adverse effects in aquatic environments from point source discharges. The information/scientific data generated is used to assess the adequacy of regulations and other pollution control approaches (e.g. for the Canadian pulp and paper industry), to aid in the development and assessment of environmental protection policies (e.g. for metal mining industry) and to provide benchmarks for Canadian industry in demonstrating their environmental stewardship.

Topics: Environmental effects of industrial discharges (pulp and paper, mining, etc.); National EEM Database; Science-based decision-making; Expert working groups; Technical guidance document development; National coordination.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 640

Groundwater Assessment and Remediation

Description: Research to assess and to develop techniques to remediate contaminated groundwater resources in Canada; information on the process of contaminant transport and transformation in a variety of groundwater environments; information on new techniques for isolating or remediating existing groundwater contamination; research on the role played by groundwater in regional water budgets and wetlands to support regional activities within Environment Canada such as the Great Lakes 2000 program, the Atlantic Coastal Action Program and the Canadian Environmental Protection Act (CEPA); research in the areas of groundwater/wetlands interactions and the contaminant hydrogeology of fractured media. New research will emphasize remediation of both nonaqueous and aqueous phase contamination in complex groundwater environments and the characterization of groundwater resources in relation to climate change. Emphasis will be placed on the development of user-friendly software packages for hydrogeological applications.

Topics: Contaminated Groundwater; remediation.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 685

Hydrological and Ecological Impacts of Atmospheric Change on Aquatic Ecosystems

Description: Research to develop a predictive understanding of how climate change influences the hydrologic and chemical cycles at regional and local scales, and, subsequently, how it affects the structure and function of aquatic ecosystems, particularly in northern environments; and to develop improved indicators, models and integrated assessment techniques for more accurate prediction of climate change impacts on the hydrology and ecology of aquatic ecosystems.

Topics: Climate change; hydrology; aquatic ecosystems.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 660

Impact of Increased UV-B Radiation on Aquatic Ecosystems

Description: Information to assess and predict the impacts of atmospheric ozone depletion (enhanced ground level ultraviolet radiation fluxes) on aquatic ecosystems; the impacts of UV-B on algal photosynthesis, bacterial growth, dissolved organic matter and forest stream ecosystems. Particular emphasis is directed at wetlands and prairie lakes. Research into UV-B effects on the impact on wetlands; information on the national Atmospheric Change - Ozone Depletion/UV-B initiative; research to determine the relationships among the biogeochemical changes occurring within aquatic ecosystems, particularly wetlands; UV-B-related research with other government and university scientists. Increased focus will be directed towards wetlands, carbon cycle dynamics, and the quantification of direct-dose response of aquatic organisms to manipulated radiation fields.

Topics: Atmospheric Ozone depletion; Aquatic ecosystems; UV-B radiation.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 665

Lake Assessment and Remediation

Description: Research to assess and remediate highly degraded aquatic ecosystems including large lakes, such as the Great Lakes, to smaller water bodies, including riverine lakes and reservoirs, to wetlands. The main focus is on the Areas of Concern (AOCs) in the Great Lakes and the development and implementation of Remedial Action Plans (RAPs) and on the development of Lakewide Management Plans (LAMPs) for the most degraded Great Lakes (Erie and Ontario), under the Great Lakes Action Plan. Research to provide knowledge and advice to the Great Lakes 2000 program on Lakewide Management Plans, and Remedial Action Plans. Increasing effort will be directed to efforts such as the PSL-2 (CEPA) national study on nutrients in the environment.

Topics: Aquatic ecosystems; Lake assessment and remediation; Great Lakes.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 690

Land Use Impacts: Forestry, Agriculture, Mining, Energy and Waste Management

Description: Research on land-use stressors such as forestry, agriculture, mining, energy development, waste management and urbanization, addressing the complex interactions between hydrological processes and ecological responses. Information to identify the impacts of such stresses on the health and sustainability of Canada's ecosystems and to foster sustainable development of Canadian resources through development of science-based best practices. The work supports Environment Canada mandates: e.g., the Canadian Environmental Protection Act (CEPA), Priority Substance List (PSL) regulations, and the Biodiversity Convention.

Topics: Land use impacts; sustainability of Canada's ecosystems.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 655

Sediment Assessment and Remediation

Description: Research to assess sediment quality and toxicity, leading to remediation of contaminated sediments. Multidisciplinary studies are carried out on the effects of sediment associated nutrients, organic chemicals and metals in aquatic ecosystems. New techniques are developed and tested to treat in-situ contaminated sediments, involving bench and pilot scale operations. Knowledge generated from the research is used to support programs such as Great Lakes Action Plan, Fraser River Management Plan, CEPA and Environment Canada regional activities. Research relevant to the assessment of contaminated sediment quality and remediation. Development of techniques for safe disposal of metal rich wastes. Studies of mercury methylation under different environmental conditions. Negotiations for full-scale treatment of contaminated sites for oil, PAHs or odour will continue while other treatments, such as metal fixation and sediment stabilization, are being studied.

Topics: Sediment quality and toxicity; remediation of contaminated sediments; Disposal of metal rich wastes.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 695

Sources and Fate of Toxic Substances

Description: Research on fundamental mechanisms governing the persistence and fate of toxic chemicals in aquatic environments to assess the hazards posed by toxic chemicals released to the aquatic environment; scientific information to support decision making for the Toxic Substances Management Policy (TSMP), the Canadian Environmental Protection Act (CEPA), the Pest Control Products Act (PCPA), the regional ecosystems programs, and ecosystem indicators; research on the occurrence, pathways and fate of present and future priority toxic substances in aquatic ecosystems; information on biological effects, especially the determination of chronic exposure to toxic chemicals (e.g. genotoxicity, reproductive toxicity, immunotoxicity, neurotoxicity, thyroid toxicity, etc.); priority substance assessment programs; advice to Environment Canada management; methods of destruction of toxic chemicals by physical, chemical, photochemical and biological means.

Topics: Toxic chemicals in aquatic environments.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 670

Technology Development - Wastewater

Description: Information on development and demonstration of waste water pollution control technology; technology development assistance programs; technical training; technology transfer; program planning and evaluation.

Topics: Program planning and evaluation; technology assistance program; waste water technology.

Access: Files are arranged by company.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 265

Urbanization

Description: Information on large-scale aquatic ecosystems impacted by stresses from non-point sources of pollution from agriculture, industry and urban developments; the development of water management plans for large regional ecosystems, such as those studied under the Fraser River Action Plan (FRAP) and the Great Lakes 2000 Plan; research on non-point source contaminant pathways and controls in large ecosystems, sustainable sectors and technology transfer to the Canadian environmental industry. Research.

Topics: transport of pesticides and nutrients in soil, vegetation and water; fine sediment trapping by vegetated channels and flood plains; flows over porous boundaries; initiation of sediment transport in steep channels; floc and contaminant-binding mechanisms; roles of flocculation mechanisms and biofilms in sediment/contaminant transport; advanced Best Management Practices for controlling stormwater impacts on receiving waters; and development of designer flocs for environmental industry applications.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 650

Water Resources Modeling and Analysis

Description: Development, maintenance, updating and application of water management computer models. Models include one-dimensional hydrodynamic river simulation with optional water quality routine, a generalized model using a network flow optimization algorithm and a heuristic database for both planning and water use and users conflict resolution, applying operational modeling of flow regulation and multiple-use, multi-reservoir/channel network, a water resources planning model which integrates water supply and demand considerations into a basin water balance and overall management framework, and a transient (dynamic) simulation model in which major ice phenomena and processes are considered (currently under development). Responsibilities also include provision of models, technical assistance and advice for water quantity, water quality, water demands, flow regulation and optimization to federal, provincial, private consultants and other agencies/organizations, collaboration with other federal departments, private and academic institutions in applied research into climate change impacts on water resources and adaptation strategies, as well as providing specialized expertise to Canadian aid agencies and other international organizations.

Topics: river hydraulics, one dimensional hydrodynamic modeling of river (and estuaries) flows, water quantity and quality, methodologies for simulating ice and groundwater impacts on water quality, water use forecasting on river basin basis, basin water balance, optimization of flow regulation and multiple-use, multi-reservoir/channel networks, flow regulation and water use planning, basin-wide operational flow regulation, water conservation, modelling of the integrated impacts of climate change on water use, water supply and basin water balance.

Format: CD's, disks, computer files, printed and electronic manuals and reports.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 205

Water Policy Coordination Directorate

Canada-United States and Interjurisdictional Waters

Description: Information on activities carried out under specific Canada-United States agreements or arrangements such as investigative, control, or surveillance board activities for the International Joint Commission (IJC) or in other bilateral Canada-United States situations; studies and implementation programs under formal federal-provincial arrangements under the Canada Water Act; and Canada-United States activities on shared river basins. Data collection and research carried out as a part of any of these formal arrangements are included as well as specific federal-provincial agreements required to carry out Canada's obligations in boundary waters (Canada-Ontario Agreement on the Great Lakes Ecosystem) and interprovincial arrangements (Prairie Provinces Water Board; Mackenzie River Basin Board; Ottawa River Regulation Planning Board). Information is also available on water use for selected years and geographic areas.

Topics: IJC investigations relating to boundary water removals; progress on Federal Water Policy and freshwater issues; St. Lawrence-Great Lakes programs and studies; Red River Basin studies and agreements including issues in midwest U.S. (Devils Lake / Garrison Diversion Unit / Northwest Area Water Supply Project) impacting on the basin in Canada; apportionment in Prairie waters, and the regulation of flows and levels in the Lake of the Woods and Ottawa River basin; and other international and interprovincial waters.

Access: Files are arranged by subject and project in electronic form; most reports and agreements are available in paper and / or electronic form.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 175

Ecological Applications Research

Description: Information on production of nationally consistent spatial data on the ecological characteristics and resource potentials of land, dissemination of scientific knowledge, methods and techniques used for surveying and classifying land, including wetlands, by ecological characteristics, for assessing resource potentials, impacts and hazards and for increasing knowledge of land and land/water process linkages of concern in environmental management; assessment of potential climate change of the vegetative and land base of Canada and consequent implications for resource management.

Topics: General correspondence; public awareness; inter-regional projects; wetlands and acid rain sensitivity; climate change; Canada Committee on Ecological Areas.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 160

Environmental Quality Guidelines

Description: Information on national science-based guidelines/standards for soil quality, water quality, sediment quality and tissue quality to protect and sustain terrestrial and aquatic ecosystems and their beneficial uses; scientific assessments of toxic substances; national protocols.

Topics: Environmental effects of toxic substances; National environmental quality guidelines and protocol publications including Canadian Water Quality Guidelines for the protection of raw drinking water quality, recreational water quality, aquatic life, livestock water, and irrigation water; Sediment Quality Guidelines for the protection of aquatic life and wildlife; Tissue Quality Guidelines for the protection of aquatic life and wildlife; and soil quality guidelines for agricultural, residential/parkland, commercial and industrial land uses; guidance for setting site-specific environmental quality objectives; ecological risk assessment guidance.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 490

Flood Damage Reduction

Description: The federal/provincial/ territorial Flood Damage Reduction Program (FDRP) has finished. Most of the flood-prone municipalities have been mapped. Information available: policy and scientific and technical advice on flood mitigation related to federal jurisdiction in water management; a coordination mechanism with other federal departments, territorial and provincial governments on flood damage reduction policies; information to the public on policies, programs and locations where floodplain mapping is available; and, assistance for defining the requirements for environmental assessments of flood control measures. A website is also maintained with flood related information, achievements of the FDRP, designated municipalities, how to obtain maps, contacts and links to provincial and other related sites.

Topics: Floods, flood damage reduction, flood plain mapping, designations.

Access: Files are arranged by subject, geographic location and annual reports; a FDRP website is available:

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 180

Freshwater Outreach

Description: The freshwater outreach program aims to provide Canadians with the knowledge, capacity, motivation and means to act appropriately in ways to protect, conserve, and sustain our water resources. This requires changing attitudes, values and behaviours through providing information and incentives for action and engaging in meaningful dialogue.

Topics: Environment Canada has provided an in-house water outreach program since the late 1960's, with a major effort taking place in the 1990's. Program activities have been based on developing products and partnerships and have resulted in the production of a number of publications, the promotion of water awareness messages at many events, and the creation of a large, national Web site on freshwater issues.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 560

Source-To-Tap Protection

Description: In consultation with partners in Federal/Provincial/Territorial Committees, Health and Environment Departments, provide guidance to drinking water system owners and operators, as well as the public, on how to apply the concept of the multi-barrier approach (MBA) to delivering safe drinking water to Canadians. Guidance on source water protection component of the MBA and its integration with the remaining components.

Topics: Provide continuous guidance and technical support to stakeholders for the purpose of implementing a MBA approach in their perspective efforts. Coordinating efforts with other government departments in implementing source water protection on federal lands. Develop source water guidelines.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 700

Sustainable Water Use

Description: Information on the ways in which water is used by individuals, industry and farmers. A particular emphasis is placed on the need to promote the efficient use of water and to reduce the amount of waste or unnecessary use through demand management strategies.

Topics: Outreach publications and partnerships have promoted the wise use of water. In addition, Environment Canada leads a socio-economic research project in which municipalities are asked to provide details as to their water utility. Questions on a survey, which has been conducted every 2 -3 years since the early 1980's, relate to water and wastewater – use, treatment and pricing. The information collected and reported is general in nature and is primarily aimed at the production of aggregate and summary statistics used in national trends and indicator work. The recent emphasis has been focused on the municipal sector however future work with other federal agencies will be targeted at the agricultural and industrial sectors.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 155

Water Pollution Programs

Description: Information on federal/provincial programs; pollution control in coastal areas; International Joint Commission programs; data management; Arctic water programs coordination; program evaluation; interservice and interagency program coordination; program planning and development.

Topics: Program coordination and evaluation; coastal zone; data management and analysis.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 270

Water Priorities

Description: Information on strategic policy analysis and integration, maintaining departmental, federal, and national water policy networks, and corporate support. The intent is to enhance the policy basis for federal government action on water issues by: coordinating strategic water policy, establishing key results that support EC business Lines; building on the Canadian Water Quality Guidelines as a pillar of water policy at the EC, federal, and intergovernmental levels; integrating departmental and interdepartmental work on the international water file; enhancing strategic capacity to respond to emerging water issues.

Topics: Water policy.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 580

Science Policy Branch

Science Policy

Description: Policy for the strategic management of the Department's science and technology activities and integration with federal Science and Technology (S&T) policy.

Topics: Departmental S&T management system; in particular, the work of the S&T Executive Committee, S&T Management Committee, and the Deputy Minister's S&T Advisory Board. Departmental contributions to and implementation of federal S&T policy; in particular, the S&T Assistant Deputy Minister (ADM) Committee, the S&T ADM Integration Board, and the S&T ADMs Advisory Committee on Human Resources.

Program Record Number: ENV ECS 645

Environmental Protection Service

Air Pollution Prevention Directorate

Acid Rain

Description: Information on the implementation of the Canada Wide Acid Rain Strategy for Post-2000; development of federal/provincial agreements to implement the Strategy; and development of and support to international agreements.

Topics: Acid Rain; Canada Wide Strategy.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 235

Electricity and Industrial Combustion

Description: Information on activities which promote pollution prevention, energy efficiency, appropriate supply options and pollution control actions to efficiently reduce air pollution from electric power generation and industrial combustion sources. Tools include support for research and development, information sharing, public reporting and a range of policy instruments such as: guidelines for new thermal power plants, guidelines for stationary combustion turbines and protocol for continuous emission monitoring.

Topics: Pollution Prevention; energy efficiency.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 535

Hazardous Air Pollutants

Description: Information on the negotiation of international agreements on persistent organic pollutants and heavy metals, development of federal/provincial/territorial strategies and plans for implementing Canada's commitments under international agreements, reporting on progress in meeting international commitments.

Topics: Hazardous Air Pollutants; Persistent Organic Pollutants (POPs).

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 280

International Smog

Description: Information focused on transboundary air pollution, including acid rain and ground-level (tropospheric) ozone and inhalable particles, the major components of smog.

Administration of the Canada-U.S. Air Quality agreement and the Ozone Annex, including reporting on progress in meeting the international commitments, exploring with the U.S. issues of joint interest such as emissions trading.

Topics: Transboundary air pollution; smog; Canada-US Air quality Agreement; Ozone Annex.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 365

National Pollutant Release Inventory (NPRI)

Description: For 2002, collecting, analyzing and reporting on-site releases, offsite transfers in waste, and off-site transfers for recovery, re-use and recycling, and energy recovery of 273 pollutants from more than 4000 individual facilities on an annual basis. NPRI-listed substances include CEPA toxics and criteria air contaminants.

Topics: Information publications, web sites, electronic tools and maps on sources of emissions or pollutant releases, pollutant or substance transfers and pollution prevention by facilities and/or sectors in Canada, based on the National Pollutant Release Inventory, air pollutant inventories and greenhouse gas emissions inventories; guidance manuals, software, tools and technical support reporting of pollution and emissions data.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 565

Oil, Gas and Energy

Description: Information on activities to reduce air pollution from the upstream and downstream petroleum and fuels sectors through research and development, pollution prevention and control instruments, information sharing and by increasing the proportion of Canadian renewable low-impact electricity (green power). Expertise includes developing and administering regulations and standards, codes of practice, and complementary measures to regulation; as well as providing broader policy advice, economic analysis, and technical guidance. Recent initiatives include: Benzene in Gasoline Regulations, Sulphur in Gasoline Regulations, Sulphur in Diesel Fuel Regulations, CCME National Framework for Petroleum Refinery Emission Reductions, activities relating to CO₂ Capture and Storage, and the Green Power Procurement and Market Incentive programs. Through the Environmental Choice Program, a registry of renewable low-impact electricity generators and products is maintained.

Topics: Air Pollution; Petroleum and fuels sectors.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 420

Stratospheric Ozone

Description: Information on the implementation of Canada's commitments under international programs, negotiation of international agreements, and achievement of domestic phase-out targets; EC's contribution to the Montreal Protocol and the Multilateral Fund.

Topics: Stratospheric Ozone; Montreal Protocol.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 570

Transportation Systems

Description: Information dealing with the assessment of the environmental impact of transportation systems in Canada and internationally and developing policies, programs and regulations aimed at mitigating the impact. Working with other government departments, vehicle and fuels industries, provincial and municipal governments and the environmental community. Addressing a broad array of issues such as tougher vehicle emissions standards, alternative fuels, inspection and maintenance programs, urban transit and public education.

Topics: Environmental impacts of transportation systems; vehicle emissions standards; alternative fuels; inspection and maintenance programs; urban transit.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 510

Urban Smog

Description: Information on the development and implementation of federal action plans and negotiation of federal/provincial and international agreements on air pollution; Implementation of federal commitments and initiatives under the Canada-wide Standards for PM and Ground-Level Ozone; Development of emission guidelines and fuel standards related to creation of smog precursors; Publication of progress reports regarding implementation of the Government of Canada's Interim Plan 2001 on Particulate Matter and Ozone.

Topics: Urban Smog; Canada Wide Standards for PM; Ground Level Ozone.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 260

Environmental Technology Advancement Directorate

Building Technologies and Environmental Systems

Description: Information on activities which contribute directly to the daily operation, recapitalization or modernization of service owned special purpose facilities.

Topics: Special Purpose facilities; modernization.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 630

Environmental Monitoring

Description: Information on all activities which support the quantification and geographical location of releases of pollutants into all media in the environment including programs such as the National Air Pollution Surveillance (NAPS) Network, Greenhouse Gases from Municipal Landfills, Light and Heavy Duty Engine Emission Testing, and Construction Equipment Retrofit and Emissions Testing.

Topics: Pollution; air pollution surveillance; emission testing.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 525

Environmental Research, Technology and Support

Description: Information on activities which support the development of methods, regulations, guidelines and standards to measure, prevent, control and manage toxics in air, water and soil including stationary and mobile source emissions, contaminated sites, oil and chemical spills, hazardous wastes, and wastewater.

Topics: Environmental research, environmental technology.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 620

Environmental Science and Technology Centres of Expertise

Description: Information on activities at the Environmental Technology Centre and Wastewater Technology Centre which support the service and department in specialized technical and research and development such as technologies for the measurement of air pollutants in ambient air and from mobile and stationary sources; the analysis of organic and inorganic components in diverse sample matrices; the assessment, management and remediation of leaking hazardous waste and other contaminated sites; the prevention and response to pollution emergencies such as oil and chemical spills; the assessment, evaluation and optimization of wastewater treatment plants; and the use of microwaves to enhance biological, chemical, and physical processes.

Topics: Environmental technology, wastewater technology.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 625

Program on Energy Research and Development

Description: Information on research activities: efficient energy use, in the areas of combustion efficiency, heat management and cross-sectoral energy efficiency technologies applicable to a broad range of industries, processes and energy sources; energy and climate change: understanding the role of greenhouse gases (GHG) in climate change, especially CO₂ in the sea, air and biota in, and surrounding, Canada; and, technologies for GHG capture and disposal; hydrocarbons and the environment: research addresses remediation and prevention technologies in atmospheric, marine and terrestrial environments; sustainable/renewable energy sources including bioenergy, small and large hydro, solar energy, wind and hydrogen from renewable resources; and sustainable transportation, including reducing energy demand, improving efficiency, and preparing for long-term sustainable transportation through advanced power systems and an eventual hydrogen-electricity energy economy.

Topics: Energy research.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 635

Technology Transfer and Capacity Building

Description: Information on activities which support the transfer of technology and build of capacity in the community, government and industry domestically and globally including programs such as Good Laboratory Practices, Multilateral Fund of the Montreal Protocol, Green Corps, Environmental Technology Verification, Climate Change Technology, Environmental Technology Trade Missions, Memoranda of Understanding on Environmental Cooperation, International Environmental Youth Corps, Technology Partnerships Canada, and Publications.

Topics: Technology Transfer.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 615

National Programs Directorate

Emergencies Operations

Description: Information from the operation of a 24 hour, 7 day a week national environmental emergencies hotline for Environment Canada. Coordination of the provision of support and technical advice on the environmental aspects of emergencies. Statistical information on spills obtained from historical spill report data.

Topics: Environmental emergencies.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 590

Emergencies Preparedness

Description: Information on inter-agency arrangements and contingency plans which contribute directly to increasing the capacity of responders and advisors to prepare for and mitigate the effects of environmental emergencies.

Topics: Emergency preparedness; contingency planning; environmental emergencies.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 595

Emergencies Prevention

Description: Information on activities to prevent and reduce the frequency, severity and consequences of sudden or unplanned releases of hazardous substances (risk management). These activities are generic and not associated with a specific incident.

Topics: Emergency preparedness.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 285

Environmental Assessment

Description: Development of policy and legally sound guidance; provision of expert advice to other government departments, clients and partners; verification and reporting on EC's compliance with CEAA; and implementation of EC's CEAA responsibilities and Cabinet Directive on policies and programs.

Topics: Information on provisions of legislation, policies, procedures and methodologies pertaining to EC's Environmental Assessment Program. Information on compliance with the 1990 (Revised 1999) Federal Cabinet Directive on Environmental Assessment of Policies and Programs. Topics include: Environmental Assessment studies of major development projects in Canada; regulations; guidelines; electronic data inventory; policies; links to international conventions. Also, Environment Assessment Infobase (EA Info); National Environmental Assessments System (NEAS); EC Referral Tracking System (RTS).

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 600

EP Enforcement (Regulatory Guidelines)

Description: Information on activities which contribute directly to the enforcement of environmental protection and wildlife legislation, including the development of enforcement policy guidelines and protocols, training programs and information management systems, as well as their implementation.

Topics: Information on enforcement of departmental legislation and regulations, CEPA, pollution prevention provisions of the Fisheries Act, Migratory Birds Convention Act, 1994; Canada Wildlife Act, Wild Animal and Plant Protection and Regulation of International and Interprovincial Trade Act; the National Environmental Management Information System and Intelligence System (NEMISIS); Successful Historical Prosecutions since 1988; On-going Prosecutions; Compliance and Enforcement Report, National Inspection Plan and Compliance Promotion Plan.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 110

Pollution Prevention Directorate

Disposal at Sea

Description: Disposal at sea permit system under CEPA 1999; development of policies, guidelines and protocols; support of international commitments under the London Convention 72 and 1996 Protocol; conducting annual monitoring studies at representative disposal sites.

Topics: National Ocean Disposal Database Network (NODNET).

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 215

Hazardous Wastes

Description: Information on Transboundary issues (Basel, OECD Council Acts, Can/US Bilateral Agreement); Environmentally Sound Management and liability regimes; hazardous waste computerized tracking system; hazardous waste imports and exports permitting; development and implementation of regulations (e.g. hazardous waste and PCB).

Topics: CEPA Regulations, Basel, OECD Council Acts, Can/US Bilateral Agreement

Access: Organized by subject matter.

Format: Paper copy, Canadian Notice and Manifest Tracking System (CNMTS). TMB Internet site, PCB Internet site :

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 230

Land-based Sources of Marine Pollution

Description: Information on the implementation of international and domestic marine obligations and commitments; participation in integrated coastal management; communications and outreach to improve awareness of the impacts of land-based activities on the marine environment; pollution prevention activities related to: sewage, POPs, radionuclides, heavy metals, oil, nutrients, contaminated sediments, litter, habitat destruction under Canada's National Programme of Action for Protection of the Marine Environment from Land-based Activities (NPA).

Topics: Coastal management; land-based sources of marine pollution.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 250

Pollution Prevention

Description: Information on pollution prevention planning under CEPA; Environmental performance agreements; Canadian Pollution Prevention Information Clearinghouse; Pollution Prevention Success Stories; participation in international fora (OECD/UNEP); and the development of information and training materials on pollution prevention.

Topics: Information publications, websites, activity posters, electronic learning and implementation tools related to pollution prevention planning.

Access: By topic, by industry sector, by substance, by management tool, by title.

Format: Electronically, hard copy [fact sheets, handbooks, guidelines, FAQs, policy frameworks, annual reports, strategies, agreements and plans

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 605

Risk Management of Toxic Substances

Description: Information on the development of options for the management of the threats to human health and/or the environment posed by toxic substances ; and development of risk management measures (including guidelines/codes of practice/standards/ economic instruments/regulations to prevent or minimize the use and releases of toxic substances.

Topics: Toxic substances.

Access: By substance and by source.

Format: Electronically: website

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 245

Risk Assessment Directorate

New Substances Notification, Assessment and Management

Description: Information for determining, in conjunction with Health Canada, whether new chemical, polymer or biotechnology substances may pose a risk to the environment or to human health; managing risk of substances where there is a suspicion of toxicity; administering the New Substances Notification Regulations (NSNR), processes and data systems, as well as the Domestic Substances List (DSL) and the Non Domestic Substances List (NDSL); engaged internationally to develop cooperative approaches to the assessment and risk management of new substances.

Topics: Search Engines for: DSL/ NDSL for Chemicals and Polymers; Confidential DSL/ NDSL for Chemicals, Polymers, Organisms and Microorganisms; DSL/ NDSL for Enzymes, Organisms and Microorganisms.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 300

Non-Hazardous Waste Management

Description: Information on the development of policies and programs relating to product policy; life-cycle management; extended producer responsibility; waste treatment/disposal and development and implementation of regulations for export and import of prescribed wastes.

Topics: CEPA Regulations.

Access: Organized by subject matter.

Format: Paper copy.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 610

Scientific Assessment of Substances

Description: Priority substances Assessments; categorization of the Domestic Substances List; screening level and other assessments.

Topics: Priority substances; Domestic substances.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 290

Water Quality Protection (Shellfish)

Description: National coordination of program which monitors shellfish growing waters for bacterial contamination, and classification of areas based on water quality survey and pollution source identification under a MOU for the Canadian Shellfish Sanitation Program led by the Canadian Food Inspection Agency.

Topics: Shellfish; Canadian Shellfish Sanitation Program.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 255

Strategic Priorities Directorate

Biotechnology Secretariat

Description: Information on the coordination of the Department's efforts in addressing science and policy issues on biotechnology, and increases its influence on the interdepartmental agenda.

Topics: Biotechnology.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 220

CEPA Review Office

Description: Information on the Canadian Environmental Protection Act review conducted by the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Environment and Sustainable Development Program.

Topics: Canadian Environmental Protection Act (CEPA).

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 555

Intergovernmental Harmonization Branch (IHB)

Description: guidance and support on federal/provincial aspects of EPS initiative. More specifically, IHB houses the secretariat for the CEPA National Advisory Committee which is one of Environment Canada's major forums for federal/provincial/territorial consultation on CEPA related initiatives. The branch also supports EPS input to CCME and coordinates the development of multi and bilateral administrative and equivalency agreements with provinces and territories. Preparation of the CEPA Annual report is also coordinated through IHB.

Topics: CEPA consultations; CEPA National Advisory Committee.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 275

Office of Biosafety

Description: Information on the Cartagena Protocol on Biosafety, and the coordination of government activities relating to the Protocol's ongoing development and operations.

Topics: Biosafety; Cartagena Protocol.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 225

Planning

Description: Information on the design and implementation of the planning, reporting and accountability systems and processes that support the Clean Environment Table decision-making.

Topics: Clean Environment Table; Planning.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 240

Regulatory Affairs

Description: Records on the development and approval of regulatory initiatives within EPS.

Topics: Environmental Protection Regulations.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 320

Strategic Policy

Description: Strategic policy advice on a number of horizontal issues: Aboriginal Issues: Supports the development and implementation of a consistent Environment Canada (EC)/Environment Protection Program approach to managing environmental protection issues on Aboriginal lands, and working with other federal departments (particularly INAC), so that the environmental conditions on Aboriginal lands have the same level of environmental quality as non-aboriginal lands.

Corporate Environmental Innovation (CEI): Aims to accelerate innovation and improved environmental performance in the corporate sector by encouraging and supporting corporate sustainability leadership.

Infrastructure: Aims to ensure the environmental sustainability of federal infrastructure programming, including project selection criteria, resource allocation and performance measurement. Ensures strategic linkages are made to Departmental priorities, such as climate change, clean air, and water quality.

Topics: Aboriginal Issues; Corporate

Environmental Innovation.

Program Record Number: ENV EPS 305

Human Resources and Service Innovation

Disclosure of Information to an Investigative Body

Description: Information on requests for disclosure of personal information to investigative bodies under paragraph 8(2)(e) of the Privacy Act.

Topics: Personal Information; investigative bodies; law enforcement.

Program Record Number: ENV HRSI 710

Knowledge Integration

Description: Information on the management, integration and dissemination of scientific and environmental information and knowledge. Promotion of the use of standards and protocols for the management of information and development of infrastructure.

Topics: Knowledge management.

Program Record Number: ENV HRSI 405

Program Evaluation

Description: Evaluation frameworks, assessments and studies of departmental components, and related data.

Topics: Departmental components that have been subject to one or more of these evaluation activities.

Access: Reports are classified by evaluation component.

Format: Hardcopy. (In many cases, only single copies exist.)

Program Record Number: ENV HRSI 520

Meteorological Service of Canada

MSC HQ - Projects

Description: Information on satellite activity reports; data collection platforms; SDL Staffing; SDL GOES; Meso-met Network; Wind Energy Field Studies investigations.

Topics: Reporting; data collection.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 370

Communications - Computing Services

Description: Information on communications and communications-programming.

Topics: Communications.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 470

Marine Meteorology

Description: Information on TOVS.

Topics: Marine Meteorology.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 355

Meso-Meteorology

Description: Information on the Meso-met Network.

Topics: Operation; data.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 360

Oil and Gas Exploration and Development

Description: Information on oil spill trajectories, freezing spray, ice and sea state models.

Topics: modelling.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 415

Atmospheric and Climate Science

MSC Headquarters - Projects Research

Description: Information on computerized and man-machine mix system; module component development and design; research data set development; also implementation and joint projects with forecast operations.

Topics: Systems design for automated weather forecasting procedures; creation of research data sets for weather forecasting research.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 400

Meteorological Research

Description: Major areas of activity include numerical modelling of the atmosphere for the purpose of developing new weather forecast techniques and improving existing ones (from short to extended range); data assimilation and satellite meteorology with a focus on the development of techniques for both quantitative application of operational satellite data to weather forecasting and making use of new satellite data; and atmospheric processes research studies of the interactions of airborne pollutants with clouds and precipitation, and the utilization of Doppler radar to recognize severe weather and its precursors.

Topics: Weather forecasting research.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 460

Research - Air Quality

Description: Information on air quality, pollutant transport, dispersion, chemical transformations, and deposition, monitoring and the development of measurement techniques, modelling, and field and laboratory experimental studies.

Topics: Acid rain, toxic chemicals, photochemical smog, stratospheric ozone, and greenhouse gases.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 315

Research - Climate

Description: Information on climate, circulation modelling (numerical modelling of the general circulation of the atmosphere, ocean, land surface, and cryosphere) with special interest on modelling ocean circulation, the middle atmosphere, and regional-scale systems; climate processes research conducted into the study of the energy and water cycle, surface processes, precipitation-runoff relationships, and climate-cryosphere interactions; and climate variability and change, and extreme and anomalous events.

Topics: Climate Modelling.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 455

Research - Environmental Adaptation

Description: Information on research to improve understanding of socio-economic and ecosystem impacts of atmospheric change and to generate knowledge that will help to improve decision-making and facilitate adaptive response; integrated climate impact assessment at regional (Mackenzie Basin, Great Lakes) and national (Canada Country Study) scales is an important focus.

Topics: Research on the impacts of atmospheric change.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 325

Research Management and Policy

Description: Information on meteorological, environmental adaptation and other related environmental and technological research and development; research and related support activities of a general management nature - decisions and large-scale agreements; special problems of the Arctic; training for research and grants for research outside the federal government which support the objectives and policies for climate and atmospheric research in Canada; mechanisms for better transfer of technology to and from government research laboratories; contracting-out of federal research and development; relationship with the Canadian Space Program.

Topics: Agreements; treaties; studies; committees; plans and programs; fellowships; training and development; grants; unsolicited proposals; contracting; technology transfer.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 310

Atmospheric Environment Prediction Directorate

Communications - Facsimile

Description: Information on Satellite Data Laboratory Operations.

Topics: Satellite data.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 330

Data Acquisition

Description: Information on land surface networks; upper air and aerological networks; Voluntary Observing Ship Program; remote sensing; environmental network.

Topics: Station classification; site information; meteorological and aerological instruments; codes; data standards; data reduction; quality assurance; equipment supply; development and testing; lists of ships participating; satellite ground stations; APT, weather radar; signal processing; data transmissions; maintenance; plans and policies.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 440

Data Acquisition Networks

Description: Information on atmospheric environment operations, overall policy, operational performance, procedures and standards.

Topics: Atmospheric environment operations.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 480

Forecast Procedures

Description: Information on meteorological models, procedures and techniques in support of forecast production.

Topics: Maps, charts and forms; satellite operations; plans and programs.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 430

Hemispheric Observations

Description: Observed data, hemispheric surface synoptic reports.

Topics: Hemispheric observations.

Format: Coded forms.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 450

Meteorology Aviation

Description: Information on the Rockcliffe STOL Project.

Topics: Meteorology aviation.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 350

Telecommunications

Description: Operational, alpha-numeric and facsimile information distributed by dedicated or dial-up communication lines.

Topics: Facsimile contracts; installations; procedures; traffic; teletype contracts - installations, procedures, traffic; computer aspects.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 425

Weather Forecast

Description: Digital information about global observational data sets (1992-present), digital gridpoint information about global analyses (1983-present) and forecasts (selected fields for last 5 years), and about regional analyses and forecasts (selected fields for last 5 years), of heights, temperature and moisture on mandatory pressure levels (currently 16 levels from 1000-10 hPa) as well as several surface based fields. The information is kept online in real time and then a subset is stored on digital tape. There are digital archives of weather maps and bulletins issued as well as historical records of verification statistics. There are microfilms of weather maps (1957-

March, 1994) of hemispheric analyses of the surface, 850, 700, and 500 hPa levels.

Topics: Weather forecast archives.

Format: Microfilm, digital tapes.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 445

Atmospheric Monitoring and Water Survey

Canadian National Climate Archive

Description: The National Climatological Archive (NCA) contains data sufficient to define the general climate of Canada. Data are retained in three forms - paper, microform and digital. This archive contains the majority of the long-term atmospheric data collected in Canada. The Digital portion of the archive contains data from about 6000 stations from all provinces and territories of Canada. About half are currently active stations. Data covers the period from 1840 to present.

Topics: Climatological data; data elements include temperature and precipitation, plus a number of other meteorological parameters such as winds, humidity, solar radiation, snow depth and soil temperature. Elements include monthly means daily climate parameters, and hourly elements. The archive also contains upper air information, ozone measurements, and air quality data.

Access: On-line interactive access to National Climate database; also computer print-outs, copies of original paper documents, microfiche, digital diskette and CD-ROM through DOE regional climate services offices and DOE MSC Headquarters - Climate Information Branch.

Format: Computer database, microfiche, paper documents.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 550

Instruments

Description: Information on Aeromet Facility Instrumentation.

Topics: Instrumentation.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 345

Instruments and Instrument Systems

Description: Information on instruments; general, humidity, evaporation, precipitation, marine, physical phenomena, pressure, radiation, atmospheric sounding wind.

Topics: Instrumentation.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 485

Radar

Description: Information on the MOT Radar and Satellite System.

Topics: Radar.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 375

Satellites

Description: Information on satellite programs.

Topics: Cost recovery; staffing the SKL; ICS Submission; MSC Satellite Programs; SDL Operations; NOSS; SURSAT.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 380

Water Quality Management Data

Description: Information and interpretive reports on the quality of surface and ground waters based on analysis of samples; information on field surveys and analytical methods, and on quality control; water quality guidelines for protection of uses, and water quality objectives for specific surface waters. It does not include water quality objective work done under specific international or federal-provincial basin studies, nor research related to water quality management.

Topics: Water pollution, water quality surveys, analytical methods, quality of surface waters, rain water and snow water quality, water quality guidelines, water quality monitoring programs.

Access: Files are arranged by subject, geographic location and title in the national and regional ENVIRODAT databases.

Format: On-line in the national and regional ENVIRODAT database.

Program Record Number: ENV MSC 185

Export Development Canada

Chapter 59

Note: This institution is not subject to the Access to Information Act.

General Information

Background

Export Development Canada (“EDC”) was named Export Development Corporation prior to December 21, 2001. EDC was established on October 1, 1969, by the Export Development Act and is an agent of Her Majesty in right of Canada. EDC is a Crown corporation whose shares may be owned only by Canada and is accountable for its affairs to Parliament through the Minister for International Trade. Both Export Development Canada and its predecessor, the Export Credits Insurance Corporation which commenced operations in 1944, were created to facilitate and develop trade between Canada and other countries.

Responsibilities

EDC is devoted exclusively to providing trade finance services to support Canadian exporters and investors in some 200 markets.

The Corporation achieves this through a wide range of flexible and innovative financial solutions to exporters across Canada and their customers around the world. Its risk management services – including insurance, financing and guarantees – have become an integral part of the export strategies of many large and small Canadian companies.

Canadian Legislation Compliance Program

Description: This bank contains personal information collected by EDC from the outside sources described below, under the authority of a program established for the purpose of ensuring that EDC complies with United Nations

Suppression of Terrorism Regulations made pursuant to the United Nations Act as well as the Anti-Terrorism Act and Regulations made there under. This personal information consists of a list of names of suspected terrorists and in some cases includes alias, date and country of birth.

The sources of such personal information are a) the United Nations Suppression of Terrorism Regulations made pursuant to the United Nations Act which refer to i) the list established by the Committee of the Security Council of the United Nations and ii) names listed pursuant to the said Regulations and b) the Regulations Establishing a List of Entities made pursuant to the Anti-Terrorism Act which lists names. This bank may also contain other records relating to the administration of the program such as exchange of correspondence with security and intelligence authorities. The information in this bank is linked to EDC Financing, Insurance and Equity Program database (EDC PPU 015).

Class of Individuals: 297 names are currently on the list established pursuant to the United Nations Act and the United Nations Suppression of Terrorism Regulations and 77 names are listed pursuant to the Anti-Terrorism Act and Regulations made thereunder. Many names appear in more than one list.

Purpose: The purpose of this bank is to ensure that EDC does not transact business with or involving individuals who are suspected of being engaged in terrorist activities and identified as such pursuant to the United Nations Suppression of Terrorism Regulations as well as the Anti-Terrorism Act.

Consistent Uses: The bank may also be used to: (i) authenticate decisions on refusing to provide any financial or related services for the benefit of any listed person; (ii) determine whether EDC is in possession or control of any property owned or controlled by or on behalf of a person listed in the Regulations, and, (iii) report to the security and intelligence authorities any information collected or generated by EDC with respect to any listed person.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Personal information collected from outside sources is retained as long as necessary to comply with Canadian legislation. Other personal information is retained for two years after the last administrative use at which time the records are destroyed.

Classes of Personal Information

In the course of conducting the programs and activities of Export Development Canada, categories of personal information not used for administrative purposes may be accumulated. Such personal information includes, among other things, general biographies of individuals in relation to EDC's program services. This form of personal information is retrievable if specifics are provided concerning transactions filed e.g. names of exporters, countries and projects, rather than by name of individual or other personal identifier.

Other information provided by or about individuals may also be found in corporate record holdings such as information services, accounts payable and library files. This class of personal information is retrievable only if the requester identifies, in sufficient detail, the subject of the information that they wish to access. The retention periods are controlled by the record schedules of the general subject files in which they are stored.

Farm Credit Canada

Chapter 60

General Information

Background

Established in 1959 under the Farm Credit Act, Farm Credit Canada (formerly Farm Credit Corporation) (FCC) is a federal Crown corporation reporting to Parliament through the Minister of Agriculture and Agri-Food.

Amendments passed in 1993 changed the act to the Farm Credit Corporation Act.

On June 14, 2001 Royal Assent was given to amendments to the Farm Credit Corporation Act. The Farm Credit Canada Act broadened FCC's mandate to provide more financial and business management options for Canadian producers and farm-related businesses. At the same time the word Canada was added to the corporation's name.

Responsibilities

The purpose of FCC is to enhance rural Canada by providing specialized and personalized business and financial services and products to farming operations, including family farms, and to those businesses in rural Canada, including small and medium-sized business, that are related to farming. The primary focus of the activities of FCC shall be on farming operations, including family farms.

Legislation

- Farm Credit Canada Act

Organization

A Board of Directors comprised of up to 12 members governs FCC. The Board of Directors is responsible for overseeing FCC's management and business in the best interest of FCC and the long-term interest of the Government of Canada as required and set down in the Farm Credit Canada Act and the Financial Administration Act.

Chief Executive Officer

Working with the Board of Directors, FCC's President and Chief Executive Officer (CEO) is responsible for the strategic leadership of the corporation.

Office Locations

FCC has approximately 1,100 staff located in approximately 100 offices across Canada serving its customers. FCC's Corporate Office is located in Regina, Saskatchewan.

Operating Structure

National Sales & Services

National Sales and Services is mandated to anticipate market trends, customers needs and to deliver the right products and services to FCC's customers at the right cost. The main focus is to provide financing and financial solutions to FCC customers and potential customers.

FCC AgExpert

FCC's AgExpert division provides accounting and field management software that helps farmers enhance management practices

Enterprise Integration & Innovation

Responsible for the business and technical requirements of the corporation, at the enterprise level, so as to optimize integration between processes and systems and enhance the customer's experience across channels. Also responsible for the internal management and review of FCC's business and activities and rethinking and redesigning business processes throughout FCC to achieve improvements in critical measures of performance.

Finance

Federal Bridge Corporation Limited

Chapter 61

General Information

Background

The Federal Bridge Corporation Limited (FBCL) was established in 1998 under the Canada Business Corporations Act, and is designated a proprietary corporation (Schedule III, Part 1) within the meaning and purpose of the Financial Administration Act.

Responsibilities

The Corporation was incorporated with the mandate to replace The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority as the corporate body with the responsibility for superintending the Authority's non-navigational assets. The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority was dissolved on December 1, 1998 pursuant to provisions of the Canada Marine Act. The management of the Authority's navigational assets was transferred to a not-for-profit corporation while the Authority's non-navigational assets were transferred to FBCL.

FBCL also ensures the acquisition of lands for the construction, maintenance and operation, alone or in conjunction with an appropriate authority in the United States, of bridges connecting Canada with the United States; and the acquisition of lands for, and construction or acquisition, maintenance and operation of such bridges and works or other property as the Governor in Council may deem necessary. FBCL reports to Parliament through the Minister of Transport.

The Seaway International Bridge Corporation, Ltd.: An FBCL subsidiary with a head office, located in Cornwall, Ontario, operates and manages an international toll bridge system between Cornwall, Ontario and Rooseveltown, New York, on behalf of the owners – The Federal Bridge Corporation Limited of Canada and the Saint Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation of the United States.

The St. Mary's River Bridge Company, owner of the portion of the Sault Ste. Marie International Bridge situated in the Province of Ontario, and an FBCL subsidiary, entered into an agreement for the maintenance and operation of the Bridge with the Michigan Department of Transportation. This international bridge links Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario and Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan.

The Jacques Cartier and Champlain Bridges Incorporated, an FBCL subsidiary, was established to provide the public with a safe and efficient transit across the Jacques Cartier, the Champlain and the Honoré – Mercier Bridges, along the Bonaventure Autoroute, the Champlain Bridge Jetty (cyclists) and through the Melocheville Tunnel, structures situated in the Greater Montreal region.

The main business involvement of FBCL at the Thousand Islands Bridge is the operation of the Canadian portion of the Thousand Islands Bridge System at Ivy Lea, Ontario which is administered for FBCL on a contract basis, by the Thousand Islands Bridge Authority of the United States.

Financial Consumer Agency of Canada

Chapter 62

General information

Background

The Financial Consumer Agency of Canada (FCAC) was established under the Financial Consumer Agency of Canada Act, on October 24, 2001 as an agency responsible for strengthening the oversight of consumer protection measures in the federally regulated financial sector and for expanding consumer education activities. The federally regulated Canadian financial services sector includes all banks and all federally incorporated or registered insurance, trust and loan companies and co-operative credit associations.

Responsibilities

The FCAC is responsible for:

supervising financial institutions to determine whether they are in compliance with the consumer provisions applicable to them; promoting the adoption by financial institutions of policies and procedures to implement consumer provisions applicable to them; monitoring the implementation of financial institutions' publicly available voluntary codes of conduct that are designed to protect the interests of their customers, and to monitor any public commitments made by financial institutions to protect the interests of their customers; promoting consumer awareness about the obligations of financial institutions under consumer provisions applicable to them; and fostering an understanding of financial services and issues relating to financial services, in co-operation with any department, agency or agency corporation of the Government of Canada or of a province, financial institutions and consumer and other organizations.

Legislation

- Bank Act
- Co-operative Credit Associations Act
- Financial Consumer Agency of Canada Act
- Insurance Companies Act
- Trust and Loan Companies Act

Organization

Executive Services

The Agency is headed by the Commissioner who has the rank and powers of a deputy head of a department. He is responsible for exercising the powers, duties and functions assigned to him under the Act and is assisted by a Deputy Commissioner.

Legal Services

This Branch is responsible for providing or obtaining legal advice and services pertaining the interpretation of statutes, regulations, and other legal instruments. It is also responsible for providing advice on policy development and preparing legal documents.

Administrative Services

This Branch is responsible for providing the administrative services required by the Agency including, human resources and financial services (contracted out to OSFI), access to information and privacy, materiel management, facilities management, records management, informatics (contracted out to PWGSC - GTIS), security, occupational health and safety, and mail and messenger services.

Compliance and Industry Relations

This Branch oversees compliance by Federally Regulated Financial Institutions (FRFI's) with the consumer provisions of the legislation applicable to them and monitors adherence with FRFI's Codes of Conduct and Public Commitments that protect the interests of consumers.

Consumer Education and Public Affairs

This Branch is responsible for promoting consumer awareness about obligations of financial institutions under the consumer provisions applicable to them and for fostering, in cooperation with other stakeholders (federal/provincial/territorial government departments or agencies, financial institutions, consumer and other organizations) an understanding of financial services and issues relating to financial services. The Branch is also responsible for responding to the financial consumer general service complaints and enquiries service, managing the correspondence unit and for the Web site design and management.

Financial Transactions and Reports Analysis Centre of Canada

Chapter 63

General Information

Background

The Financial Transactions and Reports Analysis Centre of Canada (FINTRAC) was established by the Proceeds of Crime (Money Laundering) Act (PCMLA), Chapter 17, Statutes of Canada 2000. The PCMLA was proclaimed on July 5, 2000. The PCMLA was amended by the Anti-Terrorism Act, Chapter 41, Statutes of Canada 2001, proclaimed on December 24, 2001. The amendments allowed for the extension of the mandate of FINTRAC to cover matters involving the detection and deterrence of the financing of terrorist activity and matters relating to the security of Canada. The amendments also changed the name of the Act to the Proceeds of Crime (Money Laundering) and Terrorist Financing Act (PCMLTFA).

The key objectives of the Act are: To implement specific measures to detect and deter money laundering and terrorist financing and to facilitate the investigation and prosecution of money laundering and terrorist financing offences; To fight organized crime by organized crime by providing those responsible for the application of the law with the information they need to deprive criminals of the proceeds of their criminal activities while ensuring the appropriate safeguards are in place to protect personal privacy; To assist Canada in fulfilling its international commitments in the fight against transnational organized crime and terrorist activity.

Responsibilities

FINTRAC's legislative mandate is to:

collect, analyse, assess and, where appropriate, disclose information relevant to the investigation and prosecution of money laundering and terrorist financing offences; act at arm's length from law enforcement agencies and other entities (i.e. police, Canada Revenue Agency (CRA), Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA), Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS) and Citizenship and Immigration Canada (CIC)) to which it is authorised to disclose information; ensure that personal information under its control is protected from unauthorised disclosure; enhance public awareness and understanding of matters related to money laundering and terrorist financing; and ensure compliance with the record keeping and reporting obligations.

In operationalizing the legislative mandate, FINTRAC has adopted the following principles. FINTRAC: Strives to become a centre of expertise in the analysis of financial and other data to identify suspicious transactions associated with money laundering and terrorist financing activities, and to enhance awareness and understanding of matters related to money laundering and terrorist financing; Safeguards the personal privacy of individuals and protect their records from unauthorized disclosure; Operates at arms length from law enforcement agencies; Develops relationships with domestic and international entities to obtain and exchange data, information, and knowledge.

Legislation

- Proceeds of Crime (Money Laundering) and Terrorist Financing Act, Chapter 17, Statutes of Canada 2000, Chapters 12, 27, 32 and 41, Statutes of Canada 2001.

Organization

FINTRAC is headed by a Director appointed by Governor in Council who has all the powers of a deputy head of a department, as well as those of a separate employer. FINTRAC is comprised of four functional areas – Financial Intelligence Analysis, External Relationships, Information Technology, and Corporate Management – each headed by a Deputy Director. The following provides an overview of the responsibilities and activities of each of the four areas.

Financial Intelligence Analysis

Financial Intelligence Analysis is responsible for the analysis of the data reported to FINTRAC by reporting entities pursuant to the Act and Regulations. This work includes analysis to determine whether transactions provide reasonable grounds to suspect that the transaction is related to the commission of money laundering or terrorist financing offences, assess general trends and patterns of activity, and prepare recommendations for disclosures to law enforcement and other appropriate agencies.

External Relationships

The External Relationships area is comprised of four main sections.

International Relationships deals with establishing and maintaining international networks and multi-lateral relationships.

Domestic Relationships is responsible for FINTRAC's relationships with domestic partners and stakeholders. Domestic partners include law enforcement agencies, intelligence agencies and those government departments that are part of the National Initiative to Combat Money Laundering: the Department of Finance, the Canadian Customs and Revenue Agency (CCRA), Citizenship and Immigration Canada (CIC), the Canadian Security and Intelligence Service (CSIS) and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP). Domestic Relationships is also responsible for FINTRAC's relationships with reporting entities and other stakeholder groups.

Through Communications, FINTRAC uses a strategic communications approach to inform and educate its stakeholders and the general public on FINTRAC's activities in combating money laundering and terrorist financing in Canada and abroad. FINTRAC has a web site to disseminate information to reporting entities and other stakeholder groups, and create outreach products and training tools to assist in liaison and compliance activities.

Compliance has the responsibility of ensuring that reporting entities meet the requirements of the PCMLTFA. The Compliance Sector works closely with reporting entities to support their efforts to implement a compliance regime to assist them in meeting their obligations under the Act and Regulations. As stated earlier, failure to report prescribed or suspicious financial transactions can result in significant fines or jail terms.

Information Technology

The Information Technology area is charged with developing and applying information management and information technology methodologies that will support and advance FINTRAC's objectives. This area will design and implement procedures and controls to ensure and protect the safety and security of all information, while also ensuring the secure transmission of data between reporting entities and FINTRAC. It is also responsible for designing, maintaining and implementing Corporate Management database management systems and building and managing custom applications to meet internal and external end user requirements.

Corporate Management encompasses Human Resources, Finance and Administration, Security, ATIP and the Library. Human Resources ensures that appropriate HR systems, policies and procedures are in place to promote FINTRAC as an employer of choice, to respect employee rights, and to foster organizational wellness.

The Financial, Administrative and Strategic Planning branch of Corporate Management advises FINTRAC's managers on all financial and administrative aspects of strategic and operational planning and priorities. It is also responsible for coordinating and delivering all required reporting to Parliament.

Security is responsible for designing, managing and monitoring policies and procedures to protect FINTRAC's premises, information systems and provide secure access to employees and other authorised persons.

The Senior Advisor, Access to Information and Privacy Acts (ATIP) and Library works in close collaboration with the Information Management branch of the Information Technology Sector.

Financial Intelligence Analysis

Description: Information relating to the analysis of the transaction reports received from reporting entities, in both paper and electronic form, as required by Parts 1 and 2 of the Proceeds of Crime (Money Laundering) and Terrorist Financing Act (PCMLTFA). Reporting entities include the following institutions and individuals such as financial entities (including banks, credit unions, caisses populaires, trust and loan companies and agents of the Crown that accept deposits liabilities); life insurance companies, brokers or agents; securities dealers, portfolio managers and investment counsellors who are provincially authorized; persons engaged in the business of foreign exchange dealing; money services businesses; accountants and/or accounting firms (when carrying out certain activities on behalf of their clients); real estate brokers or sales representatives (when carrying out certain activities on behalf of their clients); casinos; and individuals or entities when importing or exporting large amounts of currency or monetary instruments into or out of Canada. The kind of reports that are received includes suspicious transaction reports (STRs), large cash (over $10,000) transaction reports (LCTRs), cross-border currency (over $10,000) reports (CBCRs), international electronic funds (over $10,000) transfers (EFTs), receipt of voluntary information from law enforcement agencies, the public and foreign financial intelligence units with whom the Financial Transactions and Reports Analysis Centre of Canada (FINTRAC) has signed an Memorandum of Understanding (MOU). Part 3 of the PCMLTFA also permits FINTRAC to collect information relevant to money laundering activities or the financing of terrorist activities that is publicly available, including commercially available databases, or that is stored in databases maintained by the federal, provincial or territorial governments for purposes of law enforcement. Agreements and MOUs must be entered into with such governments before FINTRAC can receive this information. Also, FINTRAC has signed information exchange agreements with foreign financial intelligence units (FIUs) worldwide, enabling it to provide financial intelligence to its counterparts and to receive similar information.

Topics: These reports along with information available from the databases referred to above are received in electronic form and become part of the Financial Intelligence Analysis database. FINTRAC's analysts then analyze the database to extract financial intelligence that would be relevant to the investigation or prosecution of money laundering offences, terrorist activity financing offences and threats to the security of Canada. When FINTRAC is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds to suspect that information would be relevant to an investigation or prosecution of one of the offences listed earlier, it discloses this financial intelligence to the RCMP, provincial and municipal police agencies, CSIS, CBSA and CIC.

Format: Computerized database and paper case files.

Personal Information Banks

Financial Intelligence Analysis Database

Description: This database contains reports about financial transactions that the Proceeds of Crime (Money Laundering) and Terrorist Financing Act (PCMLTFA) requires institutions carrying out financial transactions to send to FINTRAC. These reports include: banking transactions involving amounts of $10,000 or more; international electronic funds transfers involving amounts of $10,000 or more; copies of terrorist property reports sent to the RCMP or CSIS; import or export of currency or monetary instruments of $10,000 or more in value, sent to FINTRAC by the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA); financial transactions for which there are reasonable grounds to suspect are related to the commission of a money laundering offence, a terrorist activity financing offence or threats to the security of Canada, regardless of the value of the transactions, and voluntary information about suspicions of money laundering or of the financing of terrorist activities regardless of the value of the activities. The personal information that is recorded on a transaction report includes information about the individual who carried out the transaction (client) and, where applicable, information about the person or entity on whose behalf the transaction (beneficiary) was carried out. The following personal information must be provided about the client: name, client number (if available), full address, country of residence, citizenship, home telephone number, what was used to identify the client (identifier) such as a provincial or territorial health card, a driver's licence, etc. and the number on the identifier, date of birth, occupation, employer's name, address and telephone number. If the transaction is being carried out on behalf of beneficiary that is an entity, information about the beneficiary must also be provided to FINTRAC. In respect of a beneficiary that is an entity, this includes the name of the business, corporation or other entity, the type of business, full business or corporate address, telephone number, incorporation number, person(s) authorized to conduct transactions through the beneficiary's account. If the beneficiary is a person, the same information about the individual must be provided as was provided for the client, except the date of birth is not required.

Class of Individuals: Individuals are those involved in financial transactions that the PCMLTFA requires to be reported to FINTRAC. This can include the employees, clients and beneficiaries of the following institutions: financial entities (such as banks, credit unions, caisses populaires, trust and loan companies and agents of the Crown that accept deposit liabilities); life insurance companies, brokers and agents; securities dealers, including portfolio managers and investment counsellors; persons engaged in the business of foreign exchange dealing; money services businesses (including Canada Post for money orders); accountants (when carrying out certain activities on behalf of their clients); real estate brokers or sales representatives (when carrying out certain activities on behalf of their clients); and certain casinos.

Purpose: The data that is collected and maintained by FINTRAC is analyzed (through the use of specially-designed technological tools) for unusual patterns of transactions. The information analyzed includes the financial information the Centre receives from reporting entities and the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA), information provided by federal, provincial, territorial and municipal police and other domestic and international government organizations, as well as information available from public or commercially-available databases.

Consistent Uses: FINTRAC must disclose designated information to the appropriate police force, whether federal, provincial, territorial or municipal, when it has reasonable grounds to suspect that the information would be relevant to the investigation or prosecution of a money laundering offence, a terrorist activity financing offence or threats to the security of Canada. The following information, which is referred to as "designated information" in the PCMLTFA, is disclosed: information that identifies the person(s) involved in the transaction(s), where and when the transaction(s) took place, and certain other details about the transaction(s).

Retention and Disposal Standards: The PCMLTFA sets out the retention and disposal periods for the information contained in the reports sent to FINTRAC by reporting entities. The reports and the information in them must be destroyed five years after the date the report and the information were received by FINTRAC. This includes the original reports as well as the information contained in the reports that has been entered into the FIA database. If the information contained in the report is included in a disclosure, that report and information must be destroyed eight years after the date the report was received by FINTRAC.

Applications for Employment

Description: The records related to this bank contain information on individuals who have submitted applications for employment and related correspondence. The records may contain letters, completed application forms, résumés, letters of reference and letters from the Centre acknowledging receipt of applications. The types of personal information collected include: applicant's name, mailing address, telephone number, e-mail address, employment status and history, marital status, age, sex, country of birth, citizenship, social insurance number, educational background and letters of recommendation.

Class of Individuals: Individuals seeking employment with FINTRAC.

Purpose: To maintain an inventory of potential candidates that may be considered for use in a staffing purpose when vacancies arise within the Financial Transactions and Reports Analysis Centre of Canada (FINTRAC).

Consistent Uses: Relevant information may be transferred to an employee personnel record if the individual is offered and accepts employment. This information may also be used for planning and evaluation purposes.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Individual applications for employment that are not considered during a staffing process are retained for six months after receipt of the application and then destroyed. Applications considered during a staffing process are retained for 2 years following the expiry of the staffing process or eligibility list or after the last administrative use and then destroyed.

Fisheries and Oceans Canada

Chapter 64

General Information

Background

The Constitution Act, 1867 gives Parliament jurisdiction over "Sea Coast and Inland Fisheries." The Fisheries Act, 1868 was enacted in accordance with this responsibility. The Department of Fisheries and Oceans Act, 1978 - 79 established the Department and provides jurisdiction over sea coast and inland fisheries, fishing and recreational harbours, hydrography and marine sciences and the coordination of policies and programs of the Government of Canada respecting oceans. The Canadian Coast Guard, formerly a part of Transport Canada, merged with DFO on April 1, 1995. On December 12, 2003, the policy functions related to pleasure craft, marine navigation services, pollution prevention and response, and navigable waters were transferred to Transport Canada. The Constitution Act, 1982, the Canada Shipping Act, the Arctic Waters Pollution Prevention Act, the Navigable Waters Protection Act, the Department of Transport Act and the National Transportation Act are the principal Acts governing marine transportation activities. The Fisheries Act is the primary piece of legislation for managing fisheries and the Oceans Act lays out the foundation for the department's oceans agenda.

Responsibilities

While other government departments contribute to the management of Canada's water-based activities, the primary focus of Fisheries and Oceans is on water and the resources it contains. It has responsibility for all matters respecting oceans not by law assigned to any other department. The scope of this responsibility and the extent to which it is exercised by the federal government have been determined by judicial interpretation, agreements with provinces and the evolution of public policy.

Specific responsibilities include:

Provision of programs for the provision of water transportation system and services interests contributing to safe, efficient and economical conduct of marine activities, protection of the marine environment in Canadian waters and, where appropriate, undertaking development, operation and maintenance of specific elements of the marine transportation system.

Scientific research respecting stock assessment and resource conservation requirements, aquaculture regulation and development, primary production, physical oceanography and limnology (studies in freshwater), hydrographic surveying and charting, environmental issues and the behaviour and effects of marine contaminations, and administration of various Federal acts, regulations and policies designed to conserve and protect the aquatic habitat.

Organization

There are five major activities under the departmental mandate which are administered by Assistant Deputy Ministers (ADMs) who are responsible for broad policy formulation, strategic and operational planning, resourcing, scientific and technical services and functional guidance. to the Regional Directors General who provide for Program delivery.

Deputy Minister

In accordance with Section 3 of the Department of Fisheries and Oceans Act, the Deputy Minister of Fisheries and Oceans is the deputy head of the Department. The Office of the Deputy Minister develops, coordinates and implements the Departmental Program consistent with the powers, duties and functions outlined in Section 4 of the Act and provides administrative support to Crown Corporations for which the Minister has responsibility. Program objectives are carried out by one Associate Deputy Minister (Associate DM) and five Assistant Deputy Ministers (ADMs) located at headquarters in Ottawa, Ontario and six Regional Directors General (RDGs) located across the country. In addition to the Associate DM, ADMs and RDGs, the Director General - Communications, the Director General -Executive Secretariat and General Counsel also report directly to the Deputy Minister.

Executive Secretariat provides support to the Offices of the Minister, the Deputy Minister and the Associate Deputy Minister. The Executive Secretariat is responsible for: Cabinet and Parliamentary Affairs including the provision of advice and briefings on policy issues, coordination of Question Period briefing materials; liaison with the Minister's office; management of Ministerial and Departmental correspondence and related processes; Access to Information and Privacy; and associated administrative functions.

The Communications Branch houses the department's expertise for providing a broad range of internal and external communications advice, strategies, products and services.

General Counsel - Department of Justice legal services attached to DFO provide legal counsel on all matters touching the operation and administration of the Department.

Associate Deputy Minister

The Associate Deputy Minister supports the Deputy Minister in managing all aspects of departmental business. In this context, the Associate DM's duties include leadership of various specific initiatives, and a special focus on priority areas, as requested by the Deputy Minister. These specific duties include a focus on: capital planning processes, which the Associate DM helps oversee as chair of the department's Investment Management Board; legal risk management, in the Associate DM's capacity as chair of the department's Litigation Committee; aquaculture, which the Associate DM helps oversee as chair of the Departmental Management Committee Subcommittee on Aquaculture; and human resources modernization initiatives, which have in the past included oversight and management of a departmental mentoring program, competency-based learning and development strategy, and workplace health and wellness initiative.

The Associate DM also has direct responsibility for two key areas of the department. First, the Associate DM oversees the Audit and Evaluation Directorate, which carries out the functions of evaluation and internal audit across the department, and serves as a focal point for audits conducted by the Auditor General. Second, the Office of Early Conflict Resolution reports directly to the Associate DM. This office provides departmental employees with a non-adversarial mechanism to address any concerns they may have about conflicts or potential conflicts in the workplace. The Office of Early Conflict Resolution also provides the department's Disclosure function, as set out in the Treasury Board's Policy on the Internal Disclosure of Information Concerning Wrongdoing in the Workplace.

Human Resources and Corporate Services

The ADM, Human Resources and Corporate Services is responsible for providing human resource management, advice and services for human resource planning, HR Strategies and Programs, organization and classification, recruitment and staffing, executive resourcing, labour relations, compensation, learning and recognition, employment equity, official languages, employee assistance program, career counselling, and HR management systems. The ADM, Human Resources and Corporate Services provides executive direction, coordination and corporate administrative services in support of Program objectives. The Sector is also responsible for:

Coast Guard College -prepares Officer Cadets for a career in the Coast Guard, provides training in search and rescue, Marine Communications and Traffic Services, marine engineering, navigation, shipboard management and provides residential facility for conferences and meetings in the Maritimes.

Finance and Administration -provides advice and services in areas of resource management, financial planning, accounting and reporting, policy and systems, contracting and procurement, asset management (not including Small Craft Harbours) and administration and security.

Information Management and Technology Services -provides advice and services in the areas of application development, information and data management (including libraries), computer processing and telecommunications.

The Real Property, Safety and Security (RPSS) Branch provides advice and services in the areas of Real Property management, Divestiture, Environmental Coordination and Safety & Security in accordance with a comprehensive framework designed to manage and improve departmental performance in compliance with applicable federal statutes, policies and regulations.

Environmental Coordination Office - implementation of an environmental management framework designed to manage and improve departmental environmental performance in compliance with federal statutes and regulations.

Small Craft Harbours -administration and maintenance of a national system of harbours to provide fishers with safe and accessible facilities ranging from isolated mooring buoys to large, full service facilities. Small Craft Harbours (SCH) is also responsible for the Harbour Authority (HA) Program, which encourages and supports the formation of non-profit corporations (i. e. , harbour authorities) to assume the day-to-day management and operation of fishing harbours. SCH is responsible for the Recreational Harbour Divestiture Program, which oversees the transfer of recreational harbours to local communities or other interests. Small Craft Harbours is responsible for the rationalization of its fishing harbours, keeping only those active harbours that meet present and future industry needs.

Newfoundland Bait Program (NBP) - unique to Newfoundland, this program exists to provide a bait purchase and sale function from as many as 25 locations across the Province. Legal authority for this program exists within the Terms of Union between Newfoundland and Canada. At present, facility ownership rests with Fisheries and Oceans Canada while day-to-day service delivery is provided by a private sector contractor.

Strategic Management - leads and facilitates change management initiatives and provides advisory support services internally to the department for the identification, analysis and resolution of strategic issues related to department-wide administration, management and governance matters. Strategic Management also coordinates Employment Equity and Official Languages reporting, performance measurement and business planning for the sector. The Office of Modern Comptrollership leads, coordinates and facilitates DFO's response to broader government-wide initiatives.

Fisheries and Aquaculture Management

The ADM, Fisheries and Aquaculture Management is responsible for:

Aboriginal Policy and Governance -develops Aboriginal fisheries policies, administers the Aboriginal Fisheries Strategy, the Marshall response initiative, the Aboriginal Aquatic Resources and Oceans Management Program and negotiates provisions of land claims related to DFO's mandate.

Coordination of the annual seal hunt.

Atlantic Fisheries and Pacific Region Licensing Appeal Boards - hear appeals from fishermen dissatisfied with departmental licensing decisions and consider general problems on licensing policy.

Conservation and Protection - ensures compliance with legislation, policies and programs in support of conservation and sustainable fisheries resources through educational and enforcement programs in both tidal and non-tidal waters except in Ontario, Quebec and the Prairie Provinces. Fishery management plans, policies, programs and regulations ensure sustainability of stocks and fair distribution of harvestable surpluses.

Fisheries Policy Development -The Atlantic Fisheries Policy Review (AFPR) has been established to develop a consistent and cohesive policy framework for the management of Canada's East Coast fish stocks. The work of the AFPR is being done in two phases: Phase I delivers a long-term policy framework and has been completed. Phase II establishes priorities and begins to operationalize elements from the policy framework developed in Phase I. Work also has been undertaken to establish a national fisheries policy framework.

International Affairs - the role is to direct the conduct of international relations to advance Canada's fisheries conservation interests and work to assert Canadian interests with respect to internationally managed fish stocks. This includes the negotiation and administration of international treaties and agreements affecting conservation, allocations, the conduct of bilateral and multilateral fisheries relations with other countries, the settlement of issues related to maritime boundary disputes as well as the formulation and presentation of international fisheries conservation and allocation advice to the Minister.

Licensing - provides a means for regulating participation in and access to the fishery to ensure that the harvest remains within conservation limits and promotes economic viability.

Responsible Fishing Programs -contributes to resource conservation of fish stocks through the development and industry use of selective fishing practices.

The Freshwater Fish Marketing Corporation - advice and analysis of issues relating to the operations and mandate of this Crown Corporation are provided to the Minister on an ongoing basis. The Department coordinates on an annual basis the development and approval by Treasury Board and the Department of Finance of the corporate plan and operating and capital budgets of this Corporation.

Aquaculture Management Directorate (AMD) – AMD provides departmental focus and strategic direction on the aquaculture file. Helps to create an enabling regulatory environment so the industry can succeed sustainably. Pursues stronger collaboration with federal and provincial partners through the Canadian Council of Aquaculture Ministers Aquaculture Task Group and other federal-provincial mechanisms, to bring about an integrated governmental response to the emerging needs and priorities of the aquaculture industry, such as food safety, traceability, business risk management and aquatic animal health. Establishes mechanisms to reach aquaculture stakeholders, listening and acting on their concerns, and contributing to an informed public dialogue and strengthened public and consumer confidence by providing factual information about aquaculture challenges and opportunities. Participates in key international aquaculture policy and research with a view to sharing Canadian expertise and values, and maintaining Canada's leadership in sustainable development.

Canadian Coast Guard

NOTE: On December 12, 2003, the policy functions related to pleasure craft, marine navigation services, pollution prevention and response, and navigable waters were transferred to Transport Canada.

The Commissioner, Canadian Coast Guard, develops and operates the national marine transportation system and is responsible for:

Icebreaking and Arctic Operations -provides, operates and maintains icebreaking ships, facilities and services, manages a program of route information, ice management, vessel escort and harbour breakout, supports other government departments and agencies in safe and efficient movement of marine traffic in ice-infested waters, supports other government marine related activities, including sovereignty in the Canadian Arctic and operates a program to minimize the effect of flooding caused by ice jams on the upper St. Lawrence River.

Marine Navigation Services - provides, operates and maintains a system of short and long range aids to navigation, oversees private aids to navigation systems, provides public safety information services and provides waterways management.

Marine Communications and Traffic Services - provides communications and traffic services for the marine community and for the benefit of the public at large. Ensures safety of life at sea in response to international agreements through the provision of a Distress and Safety radio service, protects the marine environment and enhances the efficient movement of shipping through the provision of traffic management systems in offshore, coastal, riverine and port waters, provides support for business, other government departments and the national interest by the provision of a marine information management system, and provides a public correspondence system to facilitate ship shore radio communications for the private sector and fleet operations.

Integrated Technical Support – As the National Technical Authority for the CCG, ITS is responsible for the design and effective and efficient materiel support of all CCG's physical assets throughout their life. These assets include vessels, aids to navigation and communication, navigation surveillance and information systems which provide service to CCG and DFO programs and external clients. ITS is responsible for the business management of CCG's technical program, the management of acquisition projects, the establishment and maintenance of standards and processes for engineering. Life Cycle Materiel Management, and Integrated Logistics Support.

Rescue and Environmental Response -provides marine search and rescue capability within the Canadian area of responsibility as defined under International Maritime Organization agreements and in Canadian waters of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence system, promotes safety to the marine public in order to minimize loss of life and injury as well as the loss of property, provides emergency planning and environmental response to clean up pollution from shipping incidents, on a cost recovery basis and carries out a monitoring and oversight role as part of the joint Industry/Government partnership on spill response.

Fleet - provides the national policy, planning requirements, professional staff support and safety management functions of national fleet management for Canadian Coast Guard ships and aircraft used to support the marine activities of the Department, other government departments and the safety and sovereignty requirements of the citizens of Canada.

Oceans

The ADM, Oceans ensures the development of an integrated departmental approach to the discharge of our oceans and freshwater responsibilities, and is responsible for:

Habitat Management Directorate - design, development, implementation and coordination of policies, plans and programs related to the protection and conservation of aquatic habitats; investigation and monitoring of biological and physical conditions which affect the quality of the aquatic environments; environmental assessments of projects impacting the aquatic environment; compiling information in support of sustained economic utilization of Canada's renewable aquatic resources; and monitoring the management of the quality of the aquatic habitat.

Oceans Directorate - the implementation of Canada's Oceans Strategy and the Oceans Action Plan, and the development and management of Marine Protected Areas, Integrated Management and Marine Environmental Quality programs. The Directorate is also responsible for promoting ocean stewardship programs and initiatives, supporting the Minister's Advisory Council on Oceans (MACO) and supporting global oceans governance.

Policy

The ADM, Policy is responsible for:

Economic and Policy Analysis - provides social and economic analysis, statistical services and policy advice on a wide range of domestic economic and international fisheries and oceans issues, including commercial fishing licence fees and other user charges, fisheries policy renewal, oceans industries, and international trade. Promote Canadian interests through participation in major international economic organizations. Manage, facilitate and coordinate policy and program development on key horizontal issues within DFO and across government. Establish and participate in policy research networks. Facilitate the development and coordination of international policy positions. Coordinate DFO's participation in Team Canada Inc. trade missions and in the National Voluntary Sector Initiative.

Governance - provides a single focus of expertise to support the development of new governance models in areas already identified for change; advises the department on horizontal governance initiatives that affect DFO programs and mandate.

Policy, Coordination and Liaison - leadership in developing legislative and regulatory instruments to support the fishery of the future, and other departmental and government-wide priorities for renewal and enhanced performance; policy and regulatory analysis in support of legislative initiatives led by other sectors, including amendments to the Coastal Fisheries Protection Act, and the Canada Shipping Act; policy leadership on the development and implementation of mechanisms for intergovernmental cooperation including the Canadian Council of Fisheries and Aquaculture Ministers, the Atlantic Council of Fisheries and Aquaculture Ministers; and the Pacific Council of Fisheries and Aquaculture Ministers policy leadership and support to promote the full and productive implementation of the Canada-B.C. Agreement on the management of Pacific salmon; policy development in the area of freshwater and professionalization of fish harvesters.

Strategic Priorities and Planning - lead a coordinated approach to developing strategic priorities and cross-cutting policy issues; develop mechanisms and processes to promote inter-sectoral cooperation in the development of policy initiatives (e.g. Shadow/Policy Committees); coordinate the department's strategic planning process; promote an integrated approach to departmental planning and reporting; provide tools and resources in support of strategic planning (e.g. annual environmental scans, quarterly scanning reports); coordinate and provide support to Departmental Management Committee Retreats.

Science

The ADM, Science ensures the highest standard of scientific information for use in developing policies, regulations and legislation regarding oceans and aquatic life and is responsible for: fisheries research – providing advice on the status of fish stocks and on conservation objectives, as well as information on marine ecosystem issues and species at risk; environmental and biodiversity science – monitoring chemical, physical and biological conditions that affect the aquatic environment and biodiversity; oceanography – conducting physical and biological oceanographic research, including ocean climate studies, and providing environmental descriptions, in addition to advice on environment/ecosystem interactions; aquaculture – monitoring wild and cultured stocks of finfish and shellfish for disease, conducting research on biological and sustainable production, fish health, and environmental interactions, and transferring technology to Canada's aquaculture industry; hydrography – The Canadian Hydrographic Service surveys and describes the physical features of Canada's navigable waters; acquires supplementary data from other sources; manages and integrates the data and makes this hydrographic information available in the most suitable form. CHS provides hydrographic information to all marine traffic in Canadian waters to ensure safe and efficient navigation in Canadian waters while increasing knowledge of these waters for the sustainable development of resources. The hydrographic data and products also support sovereignty and national security.

Regional Offices

Regional Directors General are responsible for Program Delivery in meeting the mandate of the Department under the functional guidance of the Deputy Minister, the SADM and the ADMs. Each Region is described hereunder:

Central and Arctic Region - encompassing Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, the Northwest Territories and Nunavut, it contains about 67% of Canada's freshwater and seven of the 14 largest lakes in the world, emphasizing cleanup and preservation initiatives in the Great Lakes. It accounts for about 60% of Canada's recreational fishing which exceeds the commercial fishery catch. Some 50% of the commercial catch is marketed through the Freshwater Fish Marketing Corporation. In marine transportation it directly supports shipping with nearly 200 icebreaking responses, over 1,800 search and rescue responses and it maintains nearly 7,200 navais. It provides primary marine pollution response North of 60. Search and rescue services in the Great Lakes are provided to the highest concentration of pleasure craft in the country and the Region supports commercial marine traffic to the North American heartland.

Gulf Region - encompassing the northern and eastern portion of New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, and a portion of Nova Scotia adjacent to the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The Region is responsible for the management of many groundfish and pelagic species such as cod, herring, tuna, halibut and flounder. Commercially imported invertebrates' species found throughout the Region include lobster, snow crab, and molluscs such as oysters, mussels, clams, and scallops. In addition, several of the southern Gulf tributaries act as important spawning rivers for anadromous species including Atlantic salmon, trout, and alewife. The DFO Regional Office is located in Moncton, N.B., with three area offices which are located in Tracadie-Sheila, N.B., Charlottetown, P.E.I., and Antigonish, N.S. With 12,300 commercial fishers and over 4,200 vessels involved in the southern Gulf of St. Lawrence fishery, the approximate landings of fish products for 2002 were 157,000 metric tons worth 396 million dollars.

Québec Region - encompassing the Province of Quebec, it covers more than 6,000 kilometres of coastline. Fisheries sector includes over 4,000 fishermen, nearly 1,600 vessels, nearly 100 processing plants and over 200 small craft harbours. A marine science research centre, the Maurice-Lamontagne Institute, Mont-Joli, provides fisheries, oceanographic and hydrographic research. DFO manages the entire marine fishery in the region except for anadromous and catadromous species which are managed by the Province. In marine transportation, it directly supports shipping with nearly 500 icebreaking and vessel escort responses, over 1,200 search and rescue responses and it maintains more than 2,550 navais. It ensures year-round access to the Port of Montreal and other ports on the St. Lawrence. Due to its icebreaking program, it safeguards susceptible water-side communities which may experience the effects of floods.

Maritimes Region - Scotia-Fundy fisheries management sector encompasses part of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick from the northern tip of Cape Breton to the New Brunswick-Maine border and adjacent waters to the 200-mile limit of the economic zone. The region has a very active diverse commercial fishery on the Bay of Fundy, Gulf of Maine and the Scotian Shelf. This commercial fishery includes 13,947 full and part-time fishers on over 5,040 vessels, some 232 harbours, and a commercial fishery that landed some 371,000 tonnes of product for a preliminary landed value of $713,000,000 in 2002.

In addition, the aquaculture industry (Maritimes Region) was valued at approximately 300 million dollars in 2002.

Coast Guard programs are delivered through three major land bases; 6,104 fixed and floating aids to navigation as well as 5 DGPS transmission sites; a regional fleet consisting of 8 major and 18 small vessels (including 9 lifeboat stations); 7 helicopters with 4 helicopter hangars; 3 Marine Communication and Traffic Centres; a Regional Operations Centre; a Joint Rescue and Coordination Centre; 6 inshore rescue boats;

Canso Canal; 4 Emergency response equipment depots; and a coast guard auxiliary.

Newfoundland and Labrador Region - encompassing the province of Newfoundland and Labrador along with adjoining marine waters, the shoreline covers nearly 29,000 km. More than 95% of the province's communities are scattered along the coast and thousands of fishing and recreational craft navigate the region's waters. A distributed rural population and many isolated communities mean a dependence on ocean transport and the fishery. Gales, storms, ice, icebergs and fog are some of the challenges the region faces in delivering its services. In marine transportation, Coast Guard directly supports shipping with nearly 125 icebreaking responses, over 600 search and rescue responses, marine communications and traffic services, environmental response and the maintenance of nearly 1,600 navais. Coast Guard's programs are delivered through a regional fleet consisting of 14 vessels and 3 helicopters. As well, CG coordinates the Coast Guard Auxiliary which is comprised of 1000 members.

Pacific Region -comprising British Columbia and the Yukon, it is entrusted with managing and protecting Pacific marine fish stocks, covering 105 river systems in British Columbia, as well as eight northern transboundary rivers, the Stikine, Taku, Alsek, Chilkat, Whiting, Unuk, Chicamin and Yukon. This region supports commercial, recreational and aboriginal fisheries and significant Canadian oceans science and technology industries. In marine transportation it directly supports shipping with over 2,200 aeronautical and maritime search and rescue responses and it maintains more than 1,950 navais.

Enforcement

Description: Conservation and protection of fisheries, surveillance and enforcement records.

Topics: Offshore, inshore and inland surveillance and enforcement activities.

Program Record Number: DFO MAN 305

Fisheries Policy Development

Description: Policy preparations in support of fisheries renewal, reports, discussion document and brochure developed by AFPR, summary of policies affecting management of fisheries on Canada's Atlantic coast.

Topics: Fisheries management policy on Canada's Atlantic coast, National fisheries management policy framework, Independent Panel on Access Criteria (IPAC).

Program Record Number: DFO MAN 335

Fisheries Licence Appeal Board

Description: Information on fisheries licences (Atlantic and Pacific).

Topics: Appeals from fishermen dissatisfied with departmental licensing decisions; licensing policy; recommendations to the Minister.

Program Record Number: DFO MAN 310

Fisheries and Aquaculture Management

Description: Management of the fisheries, including resource rehabilitation.

Topics: Resource management; allocation and regulations development; licensing; Aboriginal affairs - food fisheries; land claims negotiations and implementation; employment; band by-laws.

Program Record Number: DFO MAN 315

Responsible Fishing Programs

Description: Reports, guidelines, protocols, mandates, administration, support initiatives throughout the fishing industry.

Topics: Code of Conduct for Responsible Fishing Operations, Program for Energy Research and Development. These Programs cover areas such as Responsible Fishing, gear development, implementation of the Canadian Code of Conduct, and partnering with industry.

Access: Records arranged according to document management criteria set out by the Department.

Format: Some on EDP database; others hard copy.

Program Record Number: DFO MAN 330

Structural Adjustment Programs

Description: Information on advice and analysis of issues relating to the operations and mandate of the Freshwater Fish Marketing Corporation (FFMC).

Topics: Corporate Plans, and Operating and Capital Budgets of the FFMC Corporations.

Canadian Coast Guard

NOTE: On December 12, 2003, the policy functions related to pleasure craft, marine navigation services, pollution prevention and response and navigable waters were transferred to Transport Canada.

Aids to Navigation -Marine

Description: Information on the establishment, operation and maintenance of visual, audio and electronic aids to navigation.

Topics: Buoys; lights; beacons; fog signals; radio communication systems; notices to shipping; notices to mariners; site acquisitions; buildings; structures; service contracts, dredging fees.

Access: By subject and geographic site.

Format: EDP systems and microfilm.

Program Record Number: DFO CCG 105

Ice Operations

Description: Information on icebreaking, ice routing advice, ice escorting and the International Ice Patrol.

Topics: Icebreaking; ice routing advice; reconnaissance; ice escorting; International Ice Patrol; methods and equipment.

Program Record Number: DFO CCG 130

Marine Communications and Traffic Services

Description: Information on the establishment, operation and maintenance of Marine Communications and Traffic Services infrastructure.

Topics: Marine Radio Communications and Vessel Traffic Services Systems, notices to shipping and notices to mariners, buildings, structures, remote sites, services contracts.

Program Record Number: DFO CCG 205

Pollution

Description: Includes emergency plans and operations concerning the clean-up of oil or other pollutants.

Topics: plans; operations; reports; methods and equipment.

Program Record Number: DFO CCG 150

Search and Rescue - Coast Guard

Description: This class covers information relating to search and rescue operations, and lifesaving stations.

Topics: Lifesaving stations; search and rescue; equipment and supplies.

Access: Files arranged by subject, and geographically.

Program Record Number: DFO CCG 155

Ships and Aircraft -Canadian Government

Description: Information on the management, operations, functions and services performed by the Canadian Coast Guard fleet of ships and aircraft; vessel and aircraft support to CCG Marine Programs such as Navigation Systems (Aids to Navigation and Icebreaking), Safety, Environmental Response Systems (Search and Rescue, Marine Communications and Traffic Services, Environmental Response/Protection); support to Oceans sector, Fisheries Management and Science sectors, including Hydrographic Services. This includes information on management strategies, planning, policies, scheduling, costs, crewing practices, performance measures and safety (ISM Code) procedures.

Topics: Strategic Planning, Business Planning, Performance Management, Crewing, Charters, Fleet List, Fleet Program Delivery Plans, Services, Service Accords/MOU's, Fuel, Operational Requirements, Capital Planning, and Helicopter Management.

Access: Files arranged by subject and name of Coast Guard vessel.

Program Record Number: DFO CCG 165

Telecommunications and Electronics -Marine

Description: Information on the life cycle management including establishment, design, procurement of equipment, operation and maintenance of stations and systems that provide communications and electronic navigation aids to the Canadian Coast Guard and marine transportation.

Topics: Life cycle management establishment; construction; operation; maintenance; services; buildings; site acquisitions; concessions and leases; apparatus; supplies; equipment; utilities; security and frequencies.

Access: Files arranged by subject, geographical location and name of Coast Guard ship.

Format: EDP systems and microfilm.

Program Record Number: DFO CCG 200

Waterways

Description: Information on water on St. Lawrence waterways.

Topics: Water levels St. Lawrence waterways; and St. Lawrence ship channel.

Program Record Number: DFO CCG 106

Oceans and Habitat

Oceans

Description: Lead and facilitate the development of an Oceans Action Plan for Canada; develop and implement integrated oceans management plans; designate Marine Protected Areas; establish marine environmental quality guidelines and criteria.

Topics: Canada's Oceans Strategy, Marine Protected Areas, Coastal Zone Management, Oceans Act, Oceans Action Plan.

Access: Organized by subject matter

Format: Paper and electronic records

Program Record Number: DFO OCE 005

Habitat Management

Description: Information on habitat management, protection, restoration and development; review of referred development activities in or near water; federal environmental assessment; scientific research on fish habitat, changes to or destruction of fish habitat and chemical contamination of fish habitat resulting from human activity.

Topics: Habitat protection, operations, planning, restoration and development; resource rehabilitation and enhancement; carrying capacity of fish habitat; physical alteration of fish habitat; toxic chemicals; contaminants.

Access: files arranged by subject

Format: Paper, electronic and database

Program Record Number: DFO OCE 010

Policy

Economic and Policy Analysis

Description: Information on policies, programs and activities in the areas of socio-economic analysis and policy development.

Topics: Socio-economic analysis and policy; fisheries statistics; fisheries international trade databases; banks of information relating to the Surveys of Atlantic Salmon Anglers, 1988 and the Surveys of Atlantic Fishermen, 1984, 1988; the Surveys of Recreational Fishing in Canada, 1975, 1980, 1985, 1990, 1995, 2000; Surveys of Oceans Industries, 1996, 2000.

Access: Alphabetically, numerically and chronologically.

Format: Paper and electronic format.

Program Record Number: DFO POL 510

Intergovernmental Affairs

Description: Information on federal-provincial-territorial agreements and cooperative arrangements adopted by the Department.

Topics: Interdepartmental and intergovernmental cooperation in fisheries and aquaculture; frameworks for federal-provincial consultation and liaison; federal-provincial-territorial economic and constitutional issues.

Access: Alphabetically, numerically and chronologically.

Format: Paper and electronic format.

Program Record Number: DFO POL 515

Legislation and Regulation

Description: Coordination, development and review of legislative and regulatory instruments within the department's fisheries, aquaculture, oceans and Coast Guard mandate.

Topics: Legislative and regulatory initiatives related to Fisheries and Aquaculture Management, Oceans and Habitat Management, Science and Small Craft Harbours.

Access: Alphabetically, numerically and chronologically.

Format: Paper and electronic format.

Program Record Number: DFO POL 525

Science

Fisheries, Environment and Biodiversity Science

Description: Records relate to the acquisition of the knowledge-base and provision of scientific advice in the management and development of fisheries and other renewable and non-renewable marine and freshwater resources, and in conservation of aquatic species and ecosystems.

Topics: Resource assessment; marine ecology; freshwater ecology; conservation and protection of fish, fish habitat and aquatic ecosystems; biodiversity; and species at risk.

Access: Alphabetically, numerically and chronologically.

Format: Paper and electronic format.

Program Record Number: DFO SCI 610

Marine Environmental Data Services

Description: MEDS' mandate is to manage and archive ocean data collected by DFO, or acquired through national and international programs conducted in ocean areas adjacent to Canada, and to disseminate data, data products, and services to the marine community in accordance with the policies of the department.

Topics: Physical, Chemical and Biological data: Contaminants, Oceanographic Profiles, Tides and Water Levels, Drifting Buoy, Measured Wave and Offshore Oil and Gas Environmental Data sets.

Access: Raw data that can be retrieved chronologically, alphabetically, or numerically.

Format: Electronic format.

Program Record Number: DFO SCI 612

Hydrographic Service

Description: Bathymetric data; navigational charts -surveys, chart production; geophysical-hydrographic surveys; tides, currents and water levels; sailing directions; ocean mapping; navigation.

Topics: Navigation charts -surveys, production;

tides, currents, and water levels; sailing directions; ocean mapping; navigation.

Access: Files arranged by geographic location.

Format: Full size graphics, micrographics and EDP format.

Program Record Number: DFO SCI 615

Regional Offices

Arctic and Inland Fisheries

Description: Information on policy and program coordination and delivery in the Arctic and Inland Fisheries sector of the Department.

Topics: Marine mammal stock assessment and surveys; inland fisheries management; fish habitat disruption; conservation of fishery and marine mammal resources in the Northwest Territories and Nunavut.

Program Record Number: DFO RDG 055

Fisheries Resource Allocation

Description: Management, conservation, protection, enhancement and allocation of all species of the fisheries resource throughout Canada.

Topics: Resource management, allocation, licences, registration of fishers and vessels, quota monitoring, stock enhancement, observer programs, test fisheries, consultation and negotiation, Aboriginal Fisheries Strategy, Salmonid Enhancement Program, regulation amendments, habitat rehabilitation, MOUs and agreements, Advisory Boards and Committees.

Access: Records stored by Region, numerically and by subject.

Format: Records in paper, microfiche, and EDP format.

Program Record Number: DFO RDG 060

Sector Management (Seals and Marine Mammals)

Description: Information on the Atlantic coast seal hunt and marine mammal conservation issues and activities.

Topics: Seal catch statistics and seal licensing policy, development projects under the Assistance to the Sealing Industry Program; bycatch of marine mammals, recreational observation of marine mammals, strandings, live capture and export of marine mammals; and laws and regulations pertaining to marine mammals.

Commercial Fishing Licence Databases

Description: The bank contains an alphabetical listing of Atlantic and Pacific licensed commercial fishermen along with fishing vessel profiles. Key data elements are name, address, homeport, fishing category (full-time or part-time), fees paid, vessel name, vessel specifications, species licence entitlements, individual quotas, actual catch figures and DFO identification number, as well as a listing of all purchasers of fishing net labels and replacement labels.

Class of Individuals: Commercial fishermen.

Purpose: To develop fishing plans, to assess fish stocks, to assist DFO in the issuance of fishing net labels and replacement labels, to provide for vessel safety inspections and provide a database of information in cases of emergency.

Consistent Uses: This bank may be used as a source of information for other banks such as Surveys (DFO PPU 075). For the purposes of enforcement and conducting investigations in accordance with Canadian fisheries legislation, data DFO Violations (DFO PPU 060) is linked with this bank. Data from this bank is also shared with various provincial departments under section 8(2)(f) of the Privacy Act, for the purposes of administering a law or conducting a legal investigation and may also be shared with approved local fishing organizations in specific provinces in order to assist DFO in the issuance of fishing net labels and replacement labels. The data in this bank is also shared with the Department of National Defence for its National Search and Rescue (SAR) Management System (DND PPU 550). Vessel specific personal information may be shared with other agencies in SAR situations.

Retention and Disposal Standards: The records in this databank are of historical significance and will be retained indefinitely.

Statistics Program

Description: The Department collects commercial fishing "Catch and Effort Data" from commercial licence holders, commercial fish buyers and vessel skippers and the Dockside Monitoring Program (DMP). The information identifies, but is not limited to, individual vessel and commercial buyers, species weight and information on amount paid (except for DMP data), areas of catch and fishing effort where applicable, on a trip by trip basis (from log books). The statistics system is decentralized, operating from regional offices. National statistics are developed in Ottawa using regional contributions. The databases include: Commercial Fishing Registration and Licensing Data; Domestic Quota System; Permis-pêcheur-bateau; Commercial Fishing Licence Data; Tidal Water Sport Fishing Licence Data; Licensing; Foreign Licensing and Surveillance System Flash; Aquaculture Licence; Complaint Control System; Import Rejection.

Class of Individuals: Commercial licence holders, Commercial fish buyers, vessel owners/skippers, DMP Companies.

Purpose: Stock assessment and quota monitoring purposes, international fisheries agreements, economic and statistical analysis, policy development and analysis.

Consistent Uses: In support of enforcement and the conduct of investigations in accordance with Canadian fisheries legislation, data is linked with the Commercial Fishing Licence Databases (DFO PPU 010), the Catch and Effort Data (DFO PPU 055) and DFO Violations (DFO PPU 060). Used for annual reporting on Canadian fisheries data to NAFO, OECD and FAO. Also used for economic analyses and program evaluations of various segments of the fisheries and for fisheries management purposes as authorised by the Fisheries Act and other related acts of Parliament. Some personal information maintained in the bank is shared with the Nova Scotia Department of Fisheries with the written consent for disclosure from the individual to whom the information relates. In all the above areas, data are produced in reports containing no personal information. However, personal information is maintained in the bank.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Information in this bank will be held indefinitely due to the historical value of the information.

Surveys

Description: From time to time, surveys are carried out by the Department to obtain information. These surveys include: Commercial Fishing Registration and Licensing Data; Domestic Quota System; Permis-pêcheur-bateau; Commercial Fishing Licence Data; Tidal Water Sport Fishing Licence Data; Licensing; Foreign Licensing and Surveillance System Flash; Aquaculture Licence; Complaint Control System; Import Rejection; Plant Capacity Survey; Vessel Performance Studies; Angler Diary; National Survey of Recreational Fisheries; Coûts et revenus des entreprises de Pêche; Costs and Earning Survey of Commercial Fishermen; Survey of Pacific Costs and Earnings; Fisherman's Income Survey; Atlantic Canada Sport Catch Data. Other similar surveys may occur as the need arises. Information may be gathered through the Catch and Effort Data (DFO PPU 055) and Commercial Fishing Licence Database (DFO PPU 010) banks. Much of this data is published in a statistical format, with all personal identifiers removed. For example, Newfoundland region publishes occasionally its "Costs and Earnings" Survey.

Class of Individuals: Information in this bank relates to clients of departmental fisheries programs and sports fishermen.

Purpose: The information is compiled to provide the Department with the statistical or economic information it requires to manage its programs effectively.

Consistent Uses: None identified

Retention and Disposal Standards: Information in this bank will be held indefinitely due to the historical value of the information.

Fish Health Officials

Description: The bank contains applications for recognition as Fish Health Officials under the Fish Health Protection Regulations and lists of recognised Fish Health Officials, with specimen signatures.

Class of Individuals: Applicants include federal and provincial government employees as well as persons in the private sector in Canada, and from other countries. The bank relates to professionals with specific education and experience in fish disease diagnostics.

Purpose: By comparison with specimen signatures, to verify authenticity of Fish Health Certificates that are required before import permits can be issued for importation or transfer into Canada or between provinces of cultured Salmonid fish.

Consistent Uses: Basis for decision to accept or reject applicants requesting recognition as Fish Health Officials along with a record of qualified individuals.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Personal files of Fish Health Officials (FHO's) and master copies of lists of FHO's will be held in a central registry in the Fisheries and Oceans Science Directorate. FHO files will be destroyed five years after cancellation as an FHO.

Fraser River Port Authority

Chapter 65

General Information

Background

The Fraser River Port Authority was proclaimed May 1, 1999 pursuant to the Canada Marine Act, 1998. The Port Authority is a continuation of the Fraser River Harbour Commission which was established under the Harbour Commissions Act, 1965. Prior to 1965, the agency was known as the New Westminster Harbour Commissioners as created by federal legislation in May 1913.

The Fraser River is a major river transportation route in the Province of British Columbia with good harbour facilities available from Steveston (9 km from the mouth) to New Westminster (35 km from the mouth).

Responsibilities

The Fraser River Port Authority, also referred to as Fraser Port, is responsible for administering the lower portion of the main arm of the Fraser River from Kanaka Creek (near Haney, BC) downstream to the mouth of Fraser River. In addition, Fraser Port's jurisdiction includes a small portion of the North Arm of the Fraser River, a portion of the Pitt River from Pitt Lake to the Pitt River's confluence with the Fraser River, and from the mouth of the Fraser River, south to Brunswick Point in Canoe Pass.

Fraser Port, as the lead agency, works in conjunction with the nine municipalities that border the Fraser River, and numerous local, Provincial and Federal agencies, to coordinate harbour operations and developments, as well as to maintain sustainability of the Fraser River and harbour facilities within the jurisdiction of the Port Authority.

Legislation

- Canada Marine Act, S.C.1997-98, c.10
- Port Authorities Management Regulations
- Port Authorities Operations Regulations

Organization

The President and Chief Executive Officer of the Fraser River Port Authority is the Head of the Institution for the purposes of the Access to Information Act and the Privacy Act and exercises all the powers and responsibilities pertaining to this function under the Acts in question.

Business Development

Responsibilities of the department are to develop new business opportunities, market strategies and implementation plans; to review and maintain awareness of contracts, agreements, negotiations in progress, and geographic market segments; to maintain awareness of missions, objectives and key priorities of Fraser Port; to review and assess the overall strengths and weaknesses of the organization; to identify key issues and external events which are of significance to Fraser Port; and to develop awareness of opportunities for market development and expansion for all divisions.

Finance and Administration

Responsibilities of the department are to develop corporate policies, standards and programmes related to organizational structure and processes; to review and develop information and data processing requirements and systems; to review and develop human resources, resource planning, career planning and succession policies; to review and develop purchasing policies, procedures and controls; and to review, plan, and develop financial standards, policies, procedures and controls.

Operations

Responsibilities of the department are to review and maintain awareness of environmental and land maintenance issues; to review and develop awareness of vessel programs; to develop channel strategy policies; and to administer environmental matters relating to leasing, permitting, and licensing of tenants and activities along the Crown portions of the Fraser River.

Property Development

Responsibilities of the department are to review and maintain awareness of land development opportunities; to administer capital projects; to review and address property issues; to resolve administrative processing inconsistencies; and to administer the leasing, permitting, and licensing of tenants and activities along the Crown portions of the Fraser River.

Public Affairs

Responsibilities of the department are to coordinate preparation and distribution of the Annual report; to answer external requests for information at the Corporate level; to coordinate printing and distribution of Corporate Information brochures; and to coordinate advertising and publicizing the Fraser River Port Authority.

Classes of Personal Information

In the course of conducting the programs and activities of Fraser Port, categories of personal information may be accumulated which are not contained in the specific personal information banks described above. Such personal information includes expressions of public support, offers of services, and complaints. This information is stored as part of the general subject files where records are not normally retrieved by name of the individual or other personal identifiers.

Personal information is normally retrievable only if specifics are provided concerning the subject matter, the related program activity, and the approximate date on which the information would have been received by Fraser Port. The retention periods for these classes of personal information are controlled by the Records Retention Schedules for the general subject files in which they are stored.

Freshwater Fish Marketing Corporation

Chapter 66

General Information

Background

The Freshwater Fish Marketing Corporation (FFMC) was established in 1969 under the authority of the Freshwater Fish Marketing Act. The Act gives the FFMC the exclusive right to interprovincial and export trade in designated products of the freshwater fisheries supplied from the three Prairie Provinces, the Northwest Territories, and part of northern Ontario. The FFMC is a federal crown corporation listed under Schedule III, Part I of the Financial Administration Act.

Responsibilities

The objectives of the Corporation are: to market fish in an orderly manner; to increase returns to fishermen; and to promote markets and export trade in fish.

The Act requires the FFMC to purchase all legally caught fish offered for sale by licensed fishermen, subject to price and terms and conditions of purchase (including quality provisions). It must conduct its operations on a self-sustaining financial basis without appropriations by Parliament.

Legislation

- Freshwater Fish Marketing Act (1969)

Organization

The FFMC is managed by an eleven member board of directors composed of a Chairman, a President, one director for each participating province/Territories and four other directors. The Chairman and the President are appointed by the Governor-in-Council. The remaining directors are appointed by the Minister of Fisheries and Oceans with the approval of the Governor-in-Council. Directors from a participating province are appointed on the recommendation of the Lieutenant Governor in Council of the participating province. The board of directors is supported and advised by an Advisory Committee composed of fifteen members appointed by the Governor-in-Council.

Great Lakes Pilotage Authority Canada

Chapter 67

The annual update for this institution was not received for inclusion in the 2004-2005 version of this Info Source publication. The following is from the 2003-2004 version of Info Source.

General Information

Background

As a result of recommendations made by a Royal Commission on Pilotage in Canada, the Pilotage Act was assented to by Her Majesty and the Governor-in-Council and proclaimed in force February 1, 1972.

The Pilotage Act created four pilotage regions with specific authorities, thereby replacing a large number of local pilotage districts. The four Pilotage Authorities - Atlantic, Laurentian, Great Lakes and Pacific - are Crown corporations, responsible to Parliament through the Minister of Transport.

The Great Lakes Pilotage Authority, Ltd. was established in February 1972 pursuant to the Pilotage Act, incorporated as a limited company in May 1972, and was continued under the Canada Business Corporations Act. Until October 1st, 1998, it operated under the name of Great Lakes Pilotage Authority, Ltd. Pursuant to the Marine Act, which received Royal Assent on June 11 1998, the name of the Authority was changed to Great Lakes Pilotage Authority and the Authority is deemed to have been established under subsection 3(1) of the Pilotage Act. The Authority is a Crown corporation listed in Schedule III, Part I of the Financial Administration Act. On October 1st, 1998, the Authority ceased to be a subsidiary of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority and has initiated a process to surrender its charter under the Canada Business Corporations Act.

Responsibilities

The role and objectives of the Authority are to establish, operate, maintain and administer, in the interest of safety, an efficient and economical pilotage service within its geographical boundaries; all waters in the Province of Quebec south of the northern entrance to St. Lambert Lock and all Canadian waters in and around the provinces of Ontario and Manitoba. Pilotage in the international waters within the boundaries is shared with United States of America Pilot Corporations, which are under the direction of the United States Coast Guard, as agreed under a memorandum of arrangements between Canada and the United States. The Authority prescribes tariffs of pilotage charges that are to be fair, reasonable and consistent with providing revenues sufficient to permit the Authority to operate on a self-sustaining financial basis.

Legislation

- Authority By-Laws
- Canada Shipping Act, RSC, 1985, c. S-9
- General Pilotage Regulations
- Great Lakes Pilotage Regulations
- Memorandum of Arrangements between the Minister of Transport, Canada and the Secretary of Transportation, U.S.A.
- Pilotage Act, RSC, 1985, c. P-14

Organization

The Great Lakes Pilotage Authority consists of a part-time Chairman and six members appointed by the Governor in Council with a full time Chief Executive Officer appointed by the Board of Directors. The Authority's head office is located in Cornwall, Ontario. The Eastern District operations office is located at headquarters and the Western District operations office in St. Catharines, Ontario. All management, administrative, personnel, financial contracts and purchasing services are provided by the Cornwall office. The Authority is a Crown corporation, responsible to Parliament through the Minister of Transport.

Administration Branch

This Branch provides administrative and financial services as required to operate within accepted corporate business procedures.

Operations Branch

Hamilton Port Authority

Chapter 71

General Information

Background

The Hamilton Harbour Commissioners was established in 1912 pursuant to the Hamilton Harbour Commissioners Act. On May 1, 2001, the port authority was continued as the Hamilton Port Authority pursuant to the Canada Marine Act, which received Royal Assent on the 11th day of June 1998.

The Canada Marine Act established 18 Port Authorities with their own specific Letters Patent. Each Port Authority is responsible to Parliament through the Minister of Transport.

Responsibilities

The mission of the Hamilton Port Authority is to promote and develop the movement of cargo and people while advancing the economic interests of the Hamilton region. The Hamilton Port Authority must take into consideration community interests and the local environment while ensuring profitability of the Authority. To this end, the HPA ensures that the Port is cost-effective, develops and manages its assets efficiently, stimulates industrial activity and business growth, is innovative within the port and transportation fields and preserves the port's heritage. The port authority develops opportunities including industrial parks, recreational facilities and commercial development on the Harbour.

The role of the Hamilton Port Authority is to facilitate and expand the movement of cargo through the Port of Hamilton, provide facilities and services that are competitive, safe and commercially viable. The Port manages marine navigation and safety issues within port boundaries and develops marine-related businesses on the lands that it owns or manages.

The Port Authority provides leadership and maintains a marine infrastructure that: satisfies the needs of users; offers, in a commercially viable manner, the best terminal handling operations and services; encourages responsible and sustainable property development; provides for a high level of safety and environmental protection; and supports the achievement of local, regional and national socioeconomic objectives.

Legislation

- Canada Marine Act, R.S.C. 1998, chapter C-10
- Letters Patent
- Management Regulations
- Operations Regulations

Organization

Board of Directors

The Hamilton Port Authority is managed by a seven-member board of directors. The federal, provincial and municipal government each appoint one member. The other four members are selected from among nominees advanced to the federal government by the standing Hamilton Port Authority Nominating Committee. Candidates are the nominees of the Port's three User Group categories and appointed by the Minister of Transport. The Board elects a Chair from amongst its members.

Executive Office

The President and CEO is the head of the corporation and exercises all the powers and responsibilities pertaining to this function under the Act, the Regulations and the Letters Patent. The President and CEO monitors outside legal services, corporate secretarial services at all Board of Directors meetings, the development of corporate policy, and liaison with all levels of government and other port authorities. The President and CEO leads a team of Managers consisting of the Vice President, Finance and Administration, the Vice President, Operations/Harbour Master, and the Manager, Marketing and Trade Development. In addition, this department is responsible for the management and maintenance of the Harbour-West Marina, and identifying and developing business opportunities for recreational and commercial markets within the authority of the corporation.

Finance and Administration

This department is responsible for general accounting, financial analysis, budget forecasts, preparing of financial reports and the five-year business plan, cash management, insurance, administering capital projects, purchasing and supplies, information technology, and human resources.

Operations

The Operations department comprises the divisions of the business briefly summarized below:

Within the Harbour Master's division, responsibilities include marine traffic management within the harbour limits, Port Security, enforcement of regulations as a port authority as well as emergency planning.

Within the Property division, responsibilities include review and awareness of land development opportunities, addressing property issues, administering leases, permits and licenses of tenants and activities along the Crown portion of the harbour.

Within the Engineering division, responsibilities include implementation of capital works projects, construction coordination with new and existing tenants, and management of navigable channels.

Within the Maintenance and Purchasing division, responsibilities include overseeing of all maintenance and repair to port authority leased or owned properties, buildings and vehicles, leadership and participation in health and safety initiatives and training, and managing the purchase of goods and services.

Marketing

This department is responsible for business development, tariffs, customer relations, community relations, sponsorships and donations, media relations, business communications, corporate events and communications, promotional affairs and advertising.

Hazardous Materials Information Review Commission

Chapter 72

The annual update for this institution was not received for inclusion in the 2004-2005 version of this Info Source publication. The following is from the 2003-2004 version of Info Source.

General Information

Background

The Hazardous Materials Information Review Commission (HMIRC) was established by the Hazardous Materials Information Review Act, assented to on June 30, 1987 and proclaimed on October 1, 1987. The Commission is part of the Workplace Hazardous Materials Information System (WHMIS) which requires that information about the hazards of materials produced or sold in Canada or used in Canadian workplaces be provided by suppliers to employers and, in turn, by employers to employees.

Responsibilities

As a vital and independent agency, accountable to Parliament through the Minister of Health, the mission of the Commission is to: ensure a balance between industry's right to protect confidential business information and the right of employers and workers to know about the hazardous materials they deal with in the workplace; provide a trade secret mechanism within WHMIS; resolve complaints and disputes impartially, fairly and promptly through statutory or alternate means.

To achieve its mission, the Commission carries out the following mandate under the authority of the Hazardous Materials Information Review Act and the provincial and territorial occupational health and safety acts: to formally register claims for trade secret exemptions, and issue registry numbers; to issue decisions on the validity of claims for exemption using prescribed regulatory criteria; to make decisions on the compliance of material safety data sheets (MSDSs) and labels within the WHMIS requirements as set out in the Hazardous Products Act and Controlled Products Regulations and various provincial and territorial occupational health and safety acts; and to convene independent, tripartite boards to hear appeals from claimants or affected parties on decisions and orders issued by the Commission.

Legislation

- Hazardous Materials Information Review Act [R.S.C. 1985, c. 24 (3rd Supp.), Part III]
- Hazardous Materials Information Review Regulations (SOR/88-456, August 25, 1988; amendment: SOR/88-510, September 29, 1988; SOR/89-288, June 1, 1989; SOR/91-419, June 20, 1991; SOR/93-234, May 11, 1993)
- Hazardous Materials Information Review Act Appeal Board Procedures Regulations (SOR/91-86, January 7, 1991)

Organization

The Commission is governed by a Council of Governors, consisting of members representing workers, suppliers, and employers, and the federal, provincial and territorial governments. Each governor is appointed by the Governor in Council to hold office for up to a three-year term. The Council is headed by a Chairperson chosen by the governors for a term of one year.

The Council is responsible for making various recommendations to the Minister of Health, including changes to the regulations respecting the Commission's fee structure, to procedures for reviewing claims for exemption and to appeal procedures.

The President and CEO is appointed by the Governor in Council, and has the authority and responsibility to supervise and direct the organization's work on a day-to-day basis. The President is accountable to the Council of Governors and the Minister of Health. The President's Office acts as Secretariat to the Council of Governors.

The Commission is organized into two branches: Operations and Corporate Services and Adjudication.

Operations

The Vice-President, Operations, has the authority and responsibility to supervise and direct the work within the Client Services and MSDS Compliance business lines.

Client Services

The aim of Client Services is to assist suppliers or employers in protecting their products' confidential business information while allowing them to meet their disclosure obligations under the WHMIS.

Client Services involves the formal registration of claims for exemption, the issuance of registry numbers, and the security of claim-related information. Service to clients begins when the Commission is contacted by a company wanting to make a claim and needing to know what the process involves.

Client Services assists companies in protecting confidential business information while at the same time meeting their WHMIS obligations. Information is provided that can help companies present complete and accurate MSDSs with their claims. Our Web site helps share this information with industry and labour. Once the application is accepted as complete, we issue the company a registry number for the claim in no more than seven days.

Screening officers have the statutory responsibility to decide whether claims are valid, and for determining whether MSDSs or labels submitted with the claims comply with the WHMIS legislation.

The decision on claim validity is reached by reviewing supporting information from the claimant against the criteria prescribed in the Hazardous Materials Information Review Regulations.

MSDS Compliance

The aim of MSDS Compliance is to regulate, in the public interest, the maximum health and safety benefits in the workplace.

Screening officers review claim related MSDSs and, in some cases, labels pursuant to the Hazardous Products Act, the Canada Labour Code, and provincial and territorial occupational health and safety legislation, and decide whether they are within the WHMIS regulatory requirements. Such decisions take into account health and safety advice prepared by scientific evaluators in the MSDS Compliance Division.

When work begins on a file, the first step is to build a collection of scientific information relevant to each of the product's ingredients. The evaluator will be alert for new information or information of which the company might not have been aware, trying to ensure that the MSDS reflects the current state of knowledge about the hazards that may be associated with a product.

Evaluators assess this information and prepare an advice document for the screening officers on the health and safety hazards posed by the product which have not been adequately disclosed on the MSDS. The screening officers offer claimants, and any affected party who has made representation to the screening officer following publication of the Notice of Filing in the Canada Gazette, an opportunity to review and comment on the health and safety information and advice provided by the evaluators. In the case of the latter, sharing an advice document with an affected party must respect the legislative provisions which protect the confidentiality of information received from a claimant.

At the conclusion of the claim and MSDS review process, a formal Statement of Decision is forwarded to the claimant. Should a claim be ruled invalid, an order is issued to the claimant to disclose the confidential business information which was the subject of the claim. Where the MSDS or label does not meet the WHMIS requirements, the screening officer orders that changes be made to bring about compliance. All orders specify the period during which various changes must be made if the product is to continue to be sold in Canada.

A notice is published in the Canada Gazette to make public the decisions and orders issued by the screening officer, and to initiate the time during which the claimant and affected parties may appeal the decisions or orders. If no appeal is filed, the claimant must provide a copy of the amended MSDS to the screening officer, who reviews it to ensure compliance with the order.

Corporate Services and Adjudication

The Vice-President, Corporate Services and Adjudication, who is also the Chief Appeals Officer, has the authority and responsibility to supervise and direct the work within the Dispute Resolution business line and Corporate Services.

Dispute Resolution

The aim of Dispute Resolution is to provide all parties with a range of options for discussion on issues arising from decisions and orders of the Commission in order to prevent disputes from arising and where they do arise, to address them as early and effectively as possible.

The Commission is in the process of designing and developing, through tripartite consultation, a Dispute Resolution system which will supplement and work in conjunction with the current appeals process.

The appeals process includes the convening of independent tripartite boards to hear appeals from claimants or affected parties. An appeal may relate to the compliance of an MSDS, the rejection of a claim or to request disclosure in confidence, for reasons of health and safety in a workplace, of information in respect of which a claim for exemption is made. For each appeal filed, a Notice of Appeal is published in the Canada Gazette to provide affected parties with an opportunity to make representations to the appeal board.

An appeal board is comprised of a Chairperson appointed by the Chief Appeals Officer, and two members appointed by the Chairperson: one representing suppliers and/or employers, and the other, workers. Board members are selected from lists of potential nominees established in accordance with the Hazardous Materials Information Review Act.

The final outcome of the appeals process is a decision by the appeal board to dismiss the appeal and confirm the decisions or orders of the screening officer; or to allow the appeal and either vary or rescind the decisions or orders being appealed. A Notice of Decision, including the purport and reasons, is published in the Canada Gazette.

Corporate Services

The Corporate Services Division has been mandated with a very important role: ensuring the success of the three core business lines. Corporate Services provides a full range of services to the Commission including finance, records and facilities management, security, management services, information technology, administration, human resources, communications and strategic planning.

Health Canada

Chapter 73

The annual update for this institution was not received for inclusion in the 2004-2005 version of this Info Source publication. The following is from the 2003-2004 version of Info Source.

General Information

Background

Health Canada is the federal department responsible for helping the people of Canada maintain and improve their health. For more information about the Department's structure, see About Health Canada on the web at www.hc-sc.gc.ca.

Responsibilities

In partnership with provincial and territorial governments, Health Canada provides national leadership to develop health policy, enforce health regulations, promote disease prevention and enhance healthy living for all Canadians. Health Canada ensures that health services are available and accessible to First Nations and Inuit communities. It also works closely with other federal departments, agencies and health stakeholders to reduce health and safety risks to Canadians. Through its administration of the Canada Health Act, Health Canada is committed to maintaining this country's world-renowned health insurance system which is universally available to permanent residents, comprehensive in the services it covers, accessible without income barriers, portable within the country and publicly funded. Each province and territory administers its own health care plan with respect for these five basic principles of the Canada Health Act. Many factors, including family history, social or financial status, physical environment and personal lifestyle choices, influence individual health. By making Canadians more aware of dangers to their health, protecting them from avoidable risks and encouraging them to take a more active role in their health, Health Canada fosters a healthier population and contributes to a more productive country.

Organization

Associate Deputy Minister's Office

Audit and Accountability Bureau

The primary role of the Audit and Accountability Bureau is to conduct independent reviews of the Department's operations, activities, systems and functions to ensure that they support the delivery of departmental programs in an economic, efficient and effective manner. The coverage, objectives and scope of internal audits is overseen by a departmental Audit and Evaluation Committee, which also approves all audit reports and monitors the implementation of appropriate corrective action in response to audit recommendations. The Bureau also has a proactive role regarding values and ethics. The Bureau is also leading the Department's responsibility with respect to values and ethics. A Centre for Workplace Ethics has been created within AAB and was mandated to develop a strategy and to conduct a departmental-wide dialogue on values and ethics with employees throughout the Department as the first phase of this strategy. In closing, the Bureau is also responsible for implementing the new Policy on the Internal Disclosure of Information regarding Wrongdoing in the Workplace.

Deputy Minister's Office

Access to Information and Privacy Division

The Access to Information and Privacy Division is responsible for coordinating, reviewing and evaluating access to information and privacy requests for the Department.

Executive Correspondence Directorate

The Executive Correspondence Directorate is responsible for tracking, reporting, record-keeping, editing, proofreading, writing and word processing activities, as well as coordination, analysis and advice related to the management of Ministerial, Deputy Ministerial and Associate Deputy Ministerial correspondence, on behalf of the Department. It manages write-in campaigns and tracks action requests from the Minister's, Deputy Minister's and Associate Deputy Minister's offices. The Directorate also delivers comprehensive training to Health Canada staff on correspondence activities and on the overall process. The Directorate acts as the OPI for the Management of Executive Correspondence tracking system.

Chief Scientist

The Office of the Chief Scientist (OCS) promotes awareness of Health Canada's science and research, it champions excellence and innovation in science and research both within and outside of Health Canada to ensure the Department has the capacity to perform, harness and translate sound science and research for evidence-based decision making. Working with Health Canada's science and policy communities, the OCS supports the Department's roles within Canada's health research and information system.

Corporate Services Branch

CSB provides financial planning and administration, human resources services, assets management, occupational health and safety, and security operations.

Assets Management Directorate

The Assets Management Directorate (AMD) supports the effective management of physical assets and the occupational health, safety, and security of the employees of Health Canada. The range of services in support of Departmental programs, includes: materiel acquisition and utilization; custodial property management, maintenance and disposal; facilities planning; building and tenant services; occupational health and safety, and security; and environmental management. The Directorate develops and maintains policies, systems, and procedures governing the management of these services within Health Canada.

Departmental Planning and Financial Administration Directorate

The focus of this Directorate is the management of departmental resources. Its role is to implement, interpret and administer the regulations, policies and processes associated with resource planning and utilization and financial administration (comptrollership) across the Department. Directorate activities include the provision of direct services such as financial planning, accounting, functional and advisory assistance to managers, and financial systems support and training to all branches.

Human Resources Services Directorate

The Human Resources Services Directorate supports the effective management of human resources within Health Canada by providing a wide range of services to managers in the identification, recruitment, development and retention of employees. These include the provision of advisory and support services in the areas of organizational design, workforce planning and diversity, staffing, flexible working arrangements, healthy workplaces, employee compensation, continuous learning, the recognition of achievements and labour relations.

Planning and Special Projects Directorate and Office of Modern Comptrollership

The Planning and Special Projects Directorate supports the Assistant Deputy Minister (ADM), Corporate Services Branch (CSB) and departmental senior management in the conduct and administration of a wide range of department-wide and government-wide projects through their life cycle. The Directorate undertakes special projects which support the improved delivery of Health Canada's programs, the enhanced management of its resources and the provision of quality services. On behalf of the Branch and Department the Directorate leads new initiatives being developed or introduced by central agencies to improve management efficiency and effectiveness (e.g., modern comptrollership, Year 2000, sustainable development, environmental management system, integrated risk management framework). The Directorate also serves as the Department's Office of Modern Comptrollership (modern management practices). The Office provides a single window contact point in the Department with Treasury Board and other Departments on modern management practices. The Directorate undertakes planning activities for the Corporate Services Branch and provides leadership in the management of cross-branch projects such as internal communications, workplace health and continuous learning. The Directorate provides advice, expertise and assistance with respect to the development and maintenance of several departmental and branch databases.

First Nations and Inuit Health Branch

First Nations and Inuit Health Branch works with First Nations and Inuit people to improve and maintain the health of Aboriginal peoples. It provides health services to status Indians living on reserve, communities in the territories, and to Inuit people through community-based nursing stations, health centres, and other health facilities in isolated and remote areas. The goals of the branch are to improve the health of First Nations and Inuit, support their access to quality health services and to facilitate greater control over health programs. Its regional offices are located in every province, except in the Atlantic provinces, which are represented by the Atlantic Region.

The delivery and management of Health Canada's community-based wellness programs in the territories are carried out by the Northern Secretariat. The Northern Secretariat also participates in the negotiation and implementation of self-government agreements and the strengthening of partnerships among First Nations, Inuit, territorial governments and other stakeholders.

Business Planning and Management Directorate

The Business Planning and Management Directorate (BPMD) helps the First Nations and Inuit Health Branch develop and improve strategies, priorities, programs, policies and funding arrangements required to deliver health services to First Nations and Inuit. BPMD also develops accountability frameworks to support the delivery of health services to over 630 First Nations and Inuit communities in Canada.

Chief Executive Advisor, First Nations and Inuit Relations

The Office of the Chief Executive Advisor for First Nations and Inuit Relations helps strengthen the First Nations and Inuit Health

Branch's policy and planning efforts by: coordinating the negotiations related to new delivery models; maintaining relations and undertaking consultations with Aboriginal groups at the national and regional levels; coordinating Branch initiatives in partnership with organizations such as the Assembly of First Nations and Inuit Tapiriit Kanatami.

Community Programs Directorate

The Community Programs Directorate works in partnership with First Nations and Inuit to deliver a wide range of programs in key community health sectors. Key programs focus on children and youth, mental health and addictions, and chronic disease prevention.

Non-Insured Health Benefits Program

The Non-Insured Health Benefits Program provides medically necessary health-related goods and services, not covered by other federal, provincial, territorial or third-party health insurance plans, to about 706,000 eligible registered Indians and recognized Inuit and Innu. These benefits complement provincial/territorial insured health care programs and include drugs, medical transportation, dental care, vision care, medical supplies and equipment and payment of provincial health care premiums (British Columbia and Alberta), co-insurance payment deductibles and mental health counselling.

Office of Community Medicine

The Office of Community Medicine focuses on developing professional competence and leadership in the delivery of community-based health services by: establishing clinical standards in community medicine; recruiting, managing and retaining physicians; networking with First Nations and Inuit health authorities, provincial and territorial governments, and other stakeholders; providing expert advice.

Office of Nursing Services

The Office of Nursing Services is responsible for nursing recruitment and retention; nursing practice, standards and competency; education and staff development; nursing management; expert advice; liaison and networking.

Primary Health Care and Public Health Directorate

The Primary Health Care and Public Health Directorate is responsible for the delivery of primary health care services, prevention and health promotion programs, in partnership with

First Nations and Inuit health authorities. Activities support knowledge and capacity building among First Nations and Inuit. Key services delivered by the Primary Health Care and Public Health Directorate include home and community care, health infrastructure (such as telehealth services and electronic health records management), health human resources (including bursary and scholarship programs), infectious disease control, environmental health programming, and research and expert advice on dental and pharmacy issues.

Strategic Policy, Planning and Analysis Directorate

The Strategic Policy, Planning and Analysis Directorate supports the First Nations and Inuit Health Branch by providing strategic and tactical advice, priority setting and policy coordination; providing information and analysis to carry out research, evaluate programs and manage information resources; and through the development of policies in response to emerging and long-term issues. Expertise in the Directorate is shared with First Nations and Inuit, federal, provincial and territorial government departments, and other stakeholders.

Health Policy and Communications Branch

The Health Policy and Communications Branch (HPC) provides advice and support to the Minister, the departmental executive and to program branches in the areas of policy development, intergovernmental and international affairs, strategic planning and review, communications and consultation, and the administration of the Canada Health Act.

Communications, Marketing and Consultation Directorate

The Communications and Consultation Directorate provides communications and consultations advice and support to the department and the Minister, implements and evaluates communications strategies, prepares communications plans for Memoranda to Cabinet, and advises senior managers on high profile public issues as they emerge. It provides advice and support for Health Canada's consultations and citizen engagement strategies for major policy and program issues and initiatives.

Health Care Policy Directorate

The Health Care Directorate is responsible for providing overall policy advice and support to the Minister on Health System Renewal, which is one of the Business Lines of Health Canada. This responsibility includes providing broad advice on the financing, future directions and sustainability of the publicly funded health system, as well as specific policy advice on current health care priorities, including: primary care; health human resources; home and continuing care; palliative/end-of-life care; pharmaceuticals; acute care and health care technology; quality care and patient safety; and accountability and governance.

Intergovernmental Affairs Directorate

The Intergovernmental Affairs Directorate is responsible for the administration of the Canada Health Act. It monitors provincial / territorial compliance with the criteria and conditions of the Act, informs the Minister of possible non-compliance and recommends appropriate action. The Directorate also provides policy advice concerning the Act, develops interpretations under it, provides an annual report to Parliament on the Act, and provides support to legal counsel in court cases in which the Act is involved.

The Directorate also provides strategic advice and coordination on the full range of federal / provincial / territorial issues in order to maintain effective relationships with provinces and territories while preserving the federal government interest in order to advance Health Canada's mandate. It supports the branches with respect to the federal / provincial / territorial aspects of their policies, programs and activities. The Directorate is also in charge of the organization of federal / provincial / territorial Deputy Ministers and Ministers meetings and it is the Department's focal point for issues related to the Social Union Framework Agreement.

International Affairs Directorate

The International Affairs Directorate initiates, coordinates and monitors departmental policies, strategies and activities in the international field. It provides advice on the Department's strategic approach to international affairs; ensures the Department's international activities are internally coherent and consistent with government wide policies; and recommends departmental representation at international meetings.

The Directorate represents the department in international organizations, promotes the department's corporate interests abroad and ensures that Canadian health policy and priorities are reflected in the department's international activities. The directorate administers exchange agreements with other countries, manages the international components of the Tobacco and AIDS strategies, arranges visits for foreign delegates interested in health affairs, and responds to health-related information requests both from domestic and foreign clients.

Nursing Policy

Established in 1999, the Office of Nursing Policy is responsible for representing the nursing perspective in policy advice and support to Health Canada. The Office contributes to health policy formulation and program development across the department. Maintaining close links with stakeholders, the Office represents Health Canada throughout the nursing and health care communities, and integrates their perspectives and priorities when developing advice for the Minister and the Department.

Policy, Planning and Priorities Directorate

The Policy, Planning and Priorities Directorate provides strategic policy and planning advice to the Minister and Senior Management. In the development and coordination of policy, the directorate is guided by government priorities, the horizontal nature of policy issues, and the ongoing need for policy cohesion. Key partnerships include the other branches of the department, the central agencies, other federal departments, other levels of government, and also the non-governmental sector.

Legislative Renewal

The Health Protection Legislative Renewal team has undertaken a comprehensive review of Health Canada's health protection legislation with a view to replacing outdated statutes with a new health protection legislative regime. The federal health protection statutes were developed decades ago in a piecemeal fashion. The objectives of the legislative review are to strengthen and modernize the legislation and to provide policy direction in the area of health protection.

Women's Health Bureau

The main responsibilities of the Women's Health Bureau are to promote, monitor and report on the implementation of Health Canada's Women's Health Strategy and to administer the Centres of Excellence for Women's Health Program. Its primary functions are: ensuring that women's health concerns receive appropriate attention and emphasis within the department; promoting an understanding of gender as a critical variable in health; promoting the implementation of a systematic gender-based analysis process throughout the Department; analysing and assessing the impact of programs, policies and practices in the health system, broadly defined, on women and women's health; maintaining an ongoing relationship with major health and women's organizations and promoting women's active involvement in their own health and well-being.

Health Products and Food Branch

The Branch mandate is to take an integrated approach to management of risks and benefits to health related to health products and food by: minimizing health risk factors while maximizing the safety provided by the regulatory system for health products and food; and, promoting conditions that enable Canadians to make health choices and provide information so that they can make informed decisions about their health. Major programs are: Therapeutic Products; Biologics and Genetic Therapies (including blood and blood products, viral and bacterial vaccines, genetic diagnostics and therapies, tissues, organs, xenotransplantation, radiopharmaceuticals and reproductive technologies); Food; Health Products and Food Branch Inspectorate; Health products and Food Litigation; Marketed health Products; Natural Health Products; Veterinary Drugs; Policy and Strategic Planning; Issues Management; Office of Biotechnology and Science; Office of Consumer and Strategic Involvement; Office of Nutrition policy and Promotion; Office of Regulatory and International Affairs.

Marketed Health Products Directorate

The MHPD is responsible for coordination of consistency of post-approval surveillance and assessment of signals and safety trends concerning all marketed health products. The MHPD works in close collaboration with other Directorates and Branches.

Regulatory and International Affairs

Improves the ability and capacity of the Health Products and Food Branch to implement regulatory policy, increase knowledge and involvement of the public, and develop consistent approaches to regulating risks. It also promotes HPFB's interests internationally.

Biologics and Genetics Directorate

The Biologics and Genetics Directorate (BGTD) is the regulatory authority in Canada which is responsible for efficacy and quality of all biologics and radiopharmaceuticals for human use, marketed in Canada. These blood and blood products, viral and bacterial vaccines, genetic therapeutic products, tissues, organs and xenografts, which are manufactured in Canada or elsewhere. BGTD's work provides health care professionals, consumers, and patients with the information they need, and makes informed recommendations to Canadians about vaccines, blood products and other treatments.

Food Directorate

The Food Directorate helps the people of Canada maintain and improve their health through science-based policies and advice on the safety and nutritional quality of food. We use the Health Canada integrated approach to managing risks and benefits to health by: promoting healthy behaviors, protecting Canadians against risk factors over which they have little control, and providing information and tools so that Canadians can make informed decisions about their health. In the areas of food additives, chemical and microbiological contaminants, nutrients, novel foods, including genetically modified foods, and food components and processes, the Directorate develops policies, standards and guidelines, conducts research and evaluates submissions. These responsibilities are carried out under the authority of the Food and Drugs Act and Regulations and the Department of Health Act. In addition, under the Canadian Food Inspection Agency Act, the Directorate assesses the effectiveness of the activities of the Canadian Food Inspection Agency related to food safety. Information on food safety and nutrition is available at the following Health Canada web sites: the Food Directorate site: www.hc-sc.gc.ca/food-aliment/ and the Food and Nutrition site:

Veterinary Drugs Directorate

The Veterinary Drugs Directorate (VDD) ensures safety of foods such as milk, meat, eggs, fish and honey from animals treated with veterinary drugs. It also ensures that veterinary drugs sold in Canada are safe and effective for animals. The Director General's office carries out the planning and administration and financial operations of VDD. The Directorate is comprised of five divisions:

Human Safety Division evaluates data on new drugs to assess any potential hazards to human health resulting from the use of veterinary pharmaceuticals in animals used for food, and conducts health risk assessments at the request of the Canadian Food Inspection Agency. The Division establishes mandatory withdrawal periods and sets maximum residue limits for residues of veterinary drugs in food derived from animals and develops warning statements for veterinary drug labels. In addition, the Division develops policies relating to the human safety of veterinary drugs, including antimicrobial resistance, and maintains a close working relationship with CFIA on matters of food safety.

Manufacturing and Chemical Evaluation Division examines manufacturing, quality control and packaging processes to ensure that all new veterinary drugs sold in Canada meet strict quality and manufacturing standards and maintain potency for their stated shelf life.

Clinical Evaluation Division undertakes pre-market evaluation of veterinary drugs to determine that they are safe for use with the intended species of animals, effective for claims made and that labels are clear and concise, provide adequate directions for use, including caution and warning statements. On a case-by-case basis only, the Division may authorize the sale of an unapproved veterinary drug through its Emergency Drug Release Program. The Division contributes to science-based policy development. The Division has recently established a Pharmacovigilance Unit to conduct post-market safety surveillance to improve the monitoring of veterinary drugs in Canada.

Submission and Knowledge Management Division manages activities and develops policies and procedures for the management of submissions of veterinary drugs. The Division coordinates the issuance of Notices of Compliance once the submission has been reviewed and cleared for sale in Canada. It is also responsible for the design and development of technology processes to streamline and facilitate the business of the VDD.

Strategic Planning and Stakeholder Relations Division is responsible for strategic planning and the coordination of VDD policies and procedures to ensure that they are in compliance with Departmental, other federal and international policies, acts and regulations. The Division is also responsible for public consultation on policies and regulatory amendments, and works to develop and strengthen partnerships with stakeholders and other interested groups to ensure that the goals and objectives of the VDD are understood, and that work done in collaboration with our partners balances the needs of consumers and industry to ensure the safety of food produced from animals as well as the health of animals.

Office of Nutrition Policy and Promotion

The Office of Nutrition Policy and Promotion promotes the nutritional health and well-being of Canadians by collaboratively defining, promoting and implementing evidence-based nutrition policies and standards. Key activities include the planning, implementation, coordination and synthesis of research to support national policies and programs; the development and updating of dietary guidance based on current scientific knowledge, for example, Canada's Food Guide to Healthy Eating; and the dissemination of nutrition-related information. Action to improve nutrition is a shared responsibility and as such, the Office works closely with key stakeholder groups from health, industry and other government agencies and departments.

Health Products and Food Litigation Secretariat

The Health Products and Food Litigation Secretariat was established in 2000 to respond to litigation initiated against Health Canada concerning Medical Devices. In partnership with the Department of Justice, the Health Products and Food Litigation Secretariat is responsible for the strategic management of litigation related to the activities of the Branch.

The Secretariat provides service to Health Canada and Justice in managing current litigation and legal risks. The functions of the Secretariat include: management of court cases; collection and analysis of documentary and witness evidence for the purpose of litigation; litigation policy development and analysis; assessment and management of strategic and legal risks.

Natural Health Products

On March 26, 1999, Health Minister Allan Rock announced that he had accepted all 53 recommendations made in the Standing Committee report on natural health products. In accordance with the Standing Committee's report, the Minister also announced the creation of a new Office of Natural Health Products, now called the Natural Health Products Directorate (NHPD). NHPD's mission is to ensure that all Canadians have ready access to natural health products that are safe, effective, and of high quality, while respecting freedom of choice and philosophical and cultural diversity.

Following a Transition Team report and extensive national consultations, NHPD pre-published its Regulations in Canada Gazette, Part I (CGI) on December 21, 2001. The main components of the Regulations are definitions, product licensing, adverse reaction reporting, site licensing, good manufacturing practices, clinical trials, and labeling and packaging.

The Natural Health Products Regulations were published in the Canada Gazette, Part II on June 18, 2003. The Regulations will come into force on January 1, 2004, with a transition period ranging from two years (for site licensing) to six years (for product licensing, for products already issued a Drug Identification Number).

Office of Consumer and Public Involvement

The Office of Consumer and Public Involvement promotes meaningful public and consumer participation in decision-making on priorities, policies and programs for the Health Products and Food Branch.

Policy and Strategic Planning Directorate

This directorate is accountable for the management of key strategic policy and planning files/issues in support of and as assigned by the ADM, Health Products and Food Branch; for the integration of strategic policy and planning initiatives with departmental policies and programs; and strategic input into branch business plans, and priorities.

Inspectorate

The primary role of the Health Products and Food Branch Inspectorate is to deliver a national compliance and enforcement program for all products under the mandate of the Branch, with the exception of food products that are the responsibility of the Canadian Food Inspection Agency. The Inspectorate is responsible for the management of inspection, investigation, monitoring activities and enforcement strategies related to the fabrication, packaging/labeling, testing, importation, distribution and wholesaling of regulated health products for human and veterinary use.

Regional Directors

HPFB activities are carried out through offices in the National Capital Region and five regional offices: Atlantic, Québec, Ontario and Nunavut, Manitoba- Saskatchewan and Alberta, British Columbia, the Yukon and Northwest Territories. Regional operations cover many of the Branch programs including: compliance and enforcement related to therapeutic products and food; inspections of clinical trial sites and establishments that manufacture, process, distribute and/or sell products regulated by the Branch; investigations related to product complaints; public involvement and consultation; policy development; health promotion; laboratory work including risk assessment and standard setting; and, liaising with and outreach to government and private organizations. The five regional offices are managed by Regional Directors who report to the Assistant Deputy Minister and work collaboratively with Branch and Regional Directors General.

Therapeutic Products Directorate

The Therapeutic Products Directorate (TPD) contributes to the health of Canadians and to the effectiveness of the health care system by assessing the safety, efficacy and quality of pharmaceuticals and medical devices in a timely manner. TPD is the Canadian federal authority that regulates pharmaceutical drugs and medical devices for human use. Prior to being given market authorization, a manufacturer must present substantive scientific evidence of a product's safety, efficacy and quality as required by the Food and Drugs Act and Regulations.

The TPD is supported through the contributions of more than 400 scientists, doctors, technicians, administrators and managers, all dedicated to helping Canadians maintain and improve their health. The Directorate is comprised of 11 Bureaux and Offices.

Office of Biotechnology and Science

The Office of Biotechnology and Science was established in October 2000 to provide a visible, integrative focal point for biotechnology within Health Canada, the federal government and with external partners and stakeholders. The OBS provides intelligence and forecasts applications and potential impacts of biotechnology in the health sector. It also has a mandate to increase awareness of biotechnology within the Department and externally with the public. The OBS is responsible for the Science Library Network which delivers library services to the Health Canada scientific community.

Healthy Environments and Consumer Safety Branch

The Healthy Environments and Consumer Safety Branch promotes healthy and safe living, working and recreational environments. It provides occupational health and safety services within the federal government and establishes public health policies and services to protect the health of the travelling public and dignitaries visiting Canada. It assesses and reduces health risks posed by environmental factors and it regulates the safety of industrial and consumer goods. The branch also regulates tobacco and controlled substances, coordinates Canada's Drug Strategy, promotes initiatives that reduce or prevent the harm associated with tobacco, alcohol and other substances, and provides expert advice and drug analysis services to law enforcement agencies across the country. Finally, it is responsible for coordinating and monitoring Health Canada's Sustainable Development Strategy.

Drug Strategy and Controlled Substances Programme

The Drug Strategy and Controlled Substances Programme regulates controlled substances and promotes initiatives that reduce or prevent the harm associated with these substances and alcohol. The Programme also provides expert advice and drug analysis services to law enforcement agencies across the country.

The following are the Programme's main areas of responsibility: Office of Demand Reduction provides national leadership and coordination on the development of Canada's Drug Strategy which focuses on strategies for prevention, treatment and harm reduction, related to substance abuse. Activities in this area include: collaborating with other departments, governments and expert bodies by chairing federal-provincial-territorial committees, advisory committees and interdepartmental meetings; researching, analyzing and distributing leading-edge information about substance abuse including best practices for prevention, treatment and rehabilitation; working multilaterally with groups, such as the United Nations Drug Control Program, and other with countries to address the global drug problem; and managing the Alcohol and Drug Treatment and Rehabilitation Program, a cost-shared contribution program involving the provinces and territories.

Office of Controlled Substances (OCS) works to ensure that drugs and controlled substances are not diverted for illegal use. This involves developing legislation, regulations, policies and programs to ensure that these drugs and substances are used only for legitimate medical and scientific purposes. Activities in this area include: licencing manufacturers and distributors of drugs and controlled substances and issuing import/export permits when necessary, to manage and track the movement of drugs and controlled substances across the Canadian border; authorizing the disposal of illegal drugs that have been discovered or seized; licencing individuals and companies to cultivate, process and sell industrial hemp products; managing an exemption process that allows individuals with legitimate scientific or medical reasons to possess a controlled substance; and working with other groups such as the law enforcement community to address compliance issues.

Office of Cannabis Medical Access (OCMA) coordinates the development of and administers the new regulatory approach permitting individuals to access marihuana (cannabis) for medical purposes. Activities in this area include: developing a regulatory scheme for individuals wishing to use marijuana for medical reasons and administering the regulations including the provision of a clear decision-making framework whereby authorizations to possess and licences to cultivate marihuana may be approved.

Research and Surveillance Programme funds clinical research to generate sound information on the risks and benefits associated with the use of marihuana for medical purposes. Trends and patterns of illicit drug use in Canada are monitored as well as policies issues and emerging trends regarding drug abuse nationally and internationally. The Programme maintains network with government and non-government stakeholders regarding data collection and information needs. The data and information gathered provide an evidence-based platform for the decision and policy making processes and also serve to meet the Programme's international reporting obligations.

Drug Analysis Services provides drug analysis services including expert advice and analytical support to law enforcement agencies in their drug enforcement responsibilities. Activities in this area include: analyzing the content and determining the quantity of illicit drugs seized by law enforcement agencies across the country - roughly 80,000 drug samples per year - and documenting the information for use as evidence in criminal prosecutions; and assisting in the investigation and dismantling of clandestine laboratories, by gathering evidence to determine the type and quantity of drugs produced, as well as advising on any health and safety issues related to shutting down these laboratories.

Workplace Health and Public Safety Programme (WHPSP)

WHPSP is responsible for helping Canadian private and public sector employers maintain and improve the health of their workers by providing leadership and policy development in the areas that affect workplace health. A major component of WHPSP's portfolio is the Public Service Health Programme. WHPSP is the principal occupational health and safety advisor to the Treasury Board Secretariat. The Programme also provides public health services including food, water and sanitation inspections on common carriers, and develops health contingency plans for Internationally Protected Persons on official visit or attending international summits hosted by the Prime Minister in Canada.

Workplace Hazardous Materials Information System (WHMIS)

Pursuant to a formal agreement with the Government of each Province and Territory and with the Minister responsible for the Labour Program at Human Resources Development Canada, Health Canada's WHMIS Division serves as the national coordinator for the governance and administration of WHMIS in Canada. Also, the Division is the national secretariat for this federal, provincial and territorial (F/P/T) government partnership program. National standard for the classification of hazardous workplace materials; regulatory criteria for biohazards, chemical and acute hazards, as well as criteria for chronic health hazards including mutagenicity, carcinogenicity, embryo and reproductive toxicity, respiratory tract and skin sensitization; national regulatory and compliance policies and guidelines for classification, labelling and material safety data sheet ("MSDS") requirements; liaison with the 13 F/P/T government bodies responsible for occupational health and safety in Canada.

Product Safety Programme

The Product Safety Programme has the legislative mandate to identify, assess, and manage the health and safety hazards and health risks to Canadians associated with: new chemical substances; products of biotechnology; radiation produced by radiation emitting devices; environmental noise; solar UV radiation; consumer products (incl. cosmetics); workplace chemicals.

Safe Environments Programme

The Safe Environments Programme promotes healthy and safe living, working and recreational environments through the identification and assessment of health risks posed by environmental factors. In addition to the activities carried out under its legislative mandate, the Programme develops national risk management strategies supported by scientific research to promote healthy environments and reduce the risks to human health from the environment. The Programme's main areas of responsibility include risk management initiatives associated with atmospheric factors, indoor environments and airborne contaminants; water quality, including the evaluation of water treatment processes and devices and the development of national standards in collaboration with the provinces and territories. The Programme is responsible for the implementation of the Federal Nuclear Emergency Plan and the National Dosimetry Service and Registry and for assessing and informing Canadians about the risks of radiation. The Programme conducts the environmental assessment of departmental projects and focuses on increasing knowledge of health impacts of pollutants and climate change, ecosystems and health and children's environmental health. Safe Environments Programme staff are located in the national capital region and in regional offices across Canada.

Tobacco Control Programme

The goal of the Tobacco Control Programme is to reduce death and disease due to tobacco use. The Office of Regulations and Compliance administers the Tobacco Act, which regulates the manufacture, sale, labeling and promotion of tobacco products, in order to protect Canadians, especially young people, from the health consequences of tobacco addiction. The Office of Prevention, Cessation and Education works with partners to reduce tobacco-related illness and death through prevention, protection and cessation activities and provides access to information on issues related to tobacco use and second-hand smoke. It also fosters support for tobacco control measures and contributes to an infrastructure of coordinated planning, best practices and capacity building. The Office of Policy and Planning develops the policies, strategies and frameworks that are needed to reduce tobacco use in Canada, and also promotes international cooperation for tobacco control. The Office of Research, Evaluation and Surveillance monitors and analyzes knowledge, attitudes and behaviour with respect to smoking; monitors and analyzes tobacco sales, industry practices and consumption; and works to expand knowledge of the health effects of tobacco use. The Office of Mass Media develops mail, radio, newspaper, magazine and television advertising, as well as web site information. It also develops and provides promotional materials such as information kits, posters, media kits and fact sheets to health professionals, opinion leaders, decision makers, and individual Canadians.

Information, Analysis and Connectivity Branch

The Information, Analysis and Connectivity Branch (IACB) brings together, in one organization, three key levers of the information spectrum - from the creation of the knowledge and information through analytical research to the dissemination of that information through the information highway. IACB will, at the same time, build strong information management and technology networks in the department and externally with clients and stakeholders. Through IACB, the department works to: improve the analytical basis of decision-making; develop the creative use of the information highway in the health sector; and in cooperation with the provinces and territories, the private sector and international partners, provide advice, expertise and assistance with respect to information management and information technology, planning and operations.

The Branch is comprised of five Directorates and is home to the Chief Information Officer.

Applied Research and Analysis Directorate

ARAD helps to build the analytical foundation for Health Canada's policy decision making and performance measurement and reporting. ARAD conducts economic analysis of health policy issues, funds external policy research in selected priority areas, and runs a policy research publications program, including publication of a Health Policy Research Bulletin. ARAD develops the department's program evaluation plan and standards, as well as conducts evaluations of key departmental policies and programs. ARAD develops the quantitative information base to support the department's and the Government of Canada's health system performance reporting commitments. ARAD develops, in collaboration with data providers, federal policy on investments in Canada's health statistics system and coordinates departmental core data requirements with data providers. ARAD has also developed a data dissemination system to give Health Canada analysts single-tool access to core data from a wide variety of sources. ARAD actively supports IACB, other branches, and regions through capacity building, partnerships, and the provision of analytical and performance information and tools.

Chief Information Officer

The CIO is responsible for leading the Department's strategic IM/IT planning (including an annual work plan); establishing a common departmental architecture (including policies and standards); being a champion of the Computer Science (CS) community in fostering excellence and a shared management regime; and leading colleagues in the implementation of best practices for project management, procurement, and performance measurement.

Information Management Services Directorate

Under the direction of the Chief Information Officer, IMSD is responsible for planning, directing and coordinating the department's information/knowledge management and information technology (KM/IM/IT) program. This includes coordination of a departmental planning process for information and knowledge management, development and management of a diversified technology architecture, and design and implementation of informatics initiatives, strategies, technologies and policies in the department.

Office of Health and Information Highway

OHIH is Health Canada's focal point for all matters concerning the use of information and communications technologies (ICTs) in the health sector. The strategic orientations for OHIH are knowledge development and management, partnerships and collaboration, and federal policy development. OHIH coordinates, facilitates, and manages health infrastructure-related activities, both within Health Canada and with external stakeholders. The Government On-Line Division (GOLD), which falls under the responsibility of OHIH, is the departmental focal point for the planning and implementation of Health Canada's electronic access to key programs and services. GOLD works in collaboration with Branches, Regions and Agencies to identify information and services that Canadians will be able to access electronically and to facilitate the changes required to make them available on-line.

Official Language Community Development Bureau (OLCDB)

The mandate of the OLCDB is to lead Health Canada's responsibilities under Part VII of the Official Languages Act by ensuring that English and French linguistic minority communities in Canada will have access to health services and relevant information in the language of their choice wherever they reside in Canada.

Planning & Operations Directorate

POD is responsible for providing the Branch with a range of planning and management services including strategic and operational planning; input to departmental planning documents, and the provision of the full range of human resource and administrative services.

Pest Management Regulatory Agency

PMRA is responsible for protecting human health and the environment by minimizing the risks associated with pest control products. This is achieved through four key activities: new product evaluation leading to regulatory decisions within specified performance standards on applications for the registration of new pest control products; registered products evaluation to ensure that registered products meet current standards by periodically re-evaluating the data supporting such products according to current standards; promotion, maintenance and enforcement of compliance with the Pest Control Products Act (PCPA) and Regulations through investigations, consultations and inspections; and the development of sustainable pest management policies and programs and the integration of sustainable pest management into regulatory decision making.

Population and Public Health Branch

Population and Public Health Branch (PPHB) has a mission to work with all of our partners to safeguard the health of the people of Canada and enhance the conditions that contribute to their well-being. This includes responsibility for policies, programs and research relating to disease surveillance, prevention and control, health promotion, and community action.

The Department achieves its health promotion and protection objectives through leadership and partnerships in health promotion, protection and illness prevention and control; by creating and disseminating knowledge based on sound science, research and surveillance data; and by funding community health projects. Through our work with provinces and territories, we also translate our public health knowledge into practices and actions aimed at safeguarding the health of Canadians.

PPHB is made up of five Centres, three Directorates and two Laboratories with more than 1,300 staff located across the country, all of whom contribute to the achievement of the Branch's mission. In addition to the National Capital Region, PPHB has a presence in the Atlantic, Quebec, Ontario and Nunavut, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, Alberta and Northwest Territories, and British Columbia and Yukon Regions.

Main areas of focus

Public knowledge about the determinants of health and actions to take to maintain and improve health; access to tools to improve health; and enhanced community capacity to deal with individual and collective health issues.

Collaborations that help Canadians maintain and improve their health.

Preventive initiatives and practices that have enabled a reduction of illness, disability, injury and/or death

Improved health surveillance, emergency preparedness and response strategies.

Centre for Chronic Disease Prevention and Control (CCDPC)

The Centre is the national focal point for chronic disease prevention and control. Program activities are centred around three key strategic priorities: knowledge generation and dissemination, policy and program development, and surveillance. Activities focus on building and disseminating the evidence based on best practices and lessons learned to support policies and programs for chronic disease prevention and control; facilitating the development of prevention, screening and early detection programs for chronic diseases by provinces/territories; providing project funding to community and support groups; developing national strategies for the management and control of chronic diseases; maintaining and enhancing an integrated surveillance system to assist in developing chronic disease policy; and providing a stimulus for international links in the area on chronic disease prevention and control.

Centre for Emergency Preparedness and Response (CEPR)

The Centre is Canada's central coordinating point for public health security issues. Its many responsibilities include developing and maintaining national emergency response plans for Health Canada; monitoring outbreaks and global disease events; assessing public health risks during emergencies; contributing to keeping Canada's health and emergency policies in line with threats to public health security and general security for Canadians in collaboration with other federal and international health and security agencies; being responsible for the important federal public health rules governing laboratory safety and security, quarantine and similar issues; and being the health authority in the Government of Canada on bioterrorism, emergency health services and emergency response.

Centre for Healthy Human Development (CHHD)

The Centre is responsible for implementing policies and programs that enhance the conditions within which healthy development takes place. Through action founded on the principles of population and public health, the Centre addresses the determinants of health and facilitates successful movement through the life stages. The Centre acts through programs addressing healthy child development, active living, families, aging and lifestyles, public information and education (Canadian Health Network), as well as issues related to rural health.

Centre for Infectious Disease Prevention and Control (CIDPC)

The Centre promotes improvement in the health status of Canadians in the area of infectious diseases through public health action. These public health actions include surveillance and epidemiology, risk management, research including laboratory science, health promotion, public health policy development, and prevention and care programs. CIDPC's objectives are to decrease transmission of infectious diseases and to improve the health status of those infected. The Centre's program areas include infectious disease surveillance and risk assessments, foodborne, zoonotic and environmentally acquired infections, immunization and respiratory infections, community acquired infections including Hepatitis C, blood safety surveillance and health care acquired infections, HIV/AIDS policy/coordination/programs, and HIV and retrovirology laboratories. The Centre works in close partnership with Canada's Provinces and Territories and with international agencies to accomplish its goals.

Surveillance and Risk Assessment Division – CIDPC

The Surveillance and Risk Assessment (SRA) Division has a number of diverse roles. It conducts national surveillance of notifiable diseases and manages a regionally-based network of field surveillance officers that work with provincial and territorial authorities to improve the timeliness and completeness of surveillance data on infectious diseases. The Division is also responsible for providing national leadership in the assessment of the temporal, geographic and demographic trends in the HIV epidemic. This is done by collating and analyzing national HIV and AIDS surveillance information, by providing technical and financial support for extramural research on HIV epidemiology, by performing intramural research and analysis, and by holding national meetings on issues of importance to HIV epidemiology and surveillance. The SRA Division undertakes risk assessments and carries out modeling and projections to provide public health intelligence for effective policy and planning to control infectious diseases, with particular attention being paid to newly emerging threats. This is achieved by synthesizing multiple sources of data and analyzing the data using modern models and methods from the field of biometric, epidemiology, econometrics and demography, translating public health information into public health options.

Community Acquired Infections Division - CIDPC

The Division provides national leadership and coordination of surveillance, targeted research studies, evidence-based national standards, policy development and information dissemination for sexually-transmitted infections. It supports a holistic view of sexual and reproductive health and works to ensure access to services and programs, including sexual health education, that help Canadians improve and maintain their sexual and personal health. The Division works with provinces, non-governmental organizations, and health care providers to improve and maintain the sexual health of the Canadian population by preventing and controlling sexually transmitted diseases and their complications including infertility and cancer.

The Division designs, develops and implements programs that will prevent Hepatitis C infection, supports people infected with or affected by the disease and increases public awareness about Hepatitis C. In addition, the Division manages the financial arrangements for the Hepatitis C Settlement Agreement; administers the Hepatitis C Prevention, Support and Research Program; oversees the transfer of funds to the provinces and territories for Hepatitis C health care services and Hepatitis C look-back/trace-back initiatives. The Division is the focal point for a population health approach to Hepatitis C ensuring a coordinated and integrated federal response.

Finally, the Division provides leadership and coordination in the prevention and control of tuberculosis in collaboration with partners at the regional, provincial/territorial, national and international levels. Key activities include development of a Canadian Strategy for Tuberculosis Prevention and Control, funding and coordination of the advisory Canadian Tuberculosis Committee, and surveillance reports on TB cases, TB drug susceptibility test results and Correctional Service of Canada inmate TB cases plus latent TB infections. In addition, it sponsors targeted research, provides policy and program advice as well as training to other government departments and supports the STOP-TB initiative to control TB in developing countries.

Centre for Surveillance Coordination (CSC)

The Centre collaborates with public health stakeholders on the development, maintenance and use of health surveillance information, tools and skills to increase the capacity of public health professionals and decision makers across Canada, which enables them to protect better the health of Canadians through timely and informed decision making. The Centre provides coordination and strategic vision for the development of a Network for Health Surveillance in Canada and develops, maintains and strengthens relationships with local/regional, provincial/territorial and federal governments as well as non-governmental organizations and academia. With its partners, the Centre jointly addresses cross-cutting issues in public health surveillance. The Centre's Canadian Field Epidemiology Program (CFEP) strengthens public health practice in Canada through a training program that fosters excellence in the practice of applied epidemiology. The CFEP is part of an international network of training programs in epidemiology and public health interventions.

Canadian Science Centre for Human and Animal Health (CSCHAH) - Common Services

CSCHAH - Common Services provides the state-of-the-art laboratory space, management planning and administrative support and logistics to the two client science organizations at the Canadian Science Centre for Human and Animal Health - the National Microbiology Laboratory (NML) and the National Centre for Foreign Animal Diseases (NCFAD). In addition, the Centre maintains critical operations that assure the health and safety of the occupants as well as the community.

Laboratory for Foodborne Zoonoses (LFZ)

The Laboratory provides policy makers and other stakeholders with scientific information and advice on minimizing the risks of human illnesses arising from the interface between humans, animals and the environment, with special emphasis on infections due to enteric pathogens (intestinal disease-causing agents). Located in Guelph, Ontario, with satellite units in Lethbridge, Alberta, and St-Hyacinthe, Quebec, these locations provide opportunities for collaborative projects with universities, government agencies (federal and provincial), and public health and industry partners in delivery of the program objectives.

Management and Program Services Directorate (MPSD)

The Directorate is a centre of leadership and expertise that provides Branch-wide management and program services to support the population and public health mandate of the Branch in the following areas: leadership and coordination of performance measurement and evaluation; grants and contributions management; continuous learning and workplace health activities; management of the Population Health Fund; and administrative services (e.g., accommodations, informatics and information management, Ministerial and Executive correspondence).

National Microbiology Laboratory (NML)

The National Microbiology Laboratory consists of five National Laboratories supported by a Division of Core Services, which includes DNA sequencing, Animal Resources and a Central Laboratory for Decontamination and Wash-up Services. The five National Laboratories are: National Laboratory for Zoonotic Diseases and Special Pathogens; National Laboratory for Bacteriology; National Laboratory for Enteric Pathogens and Foodborne Diseases; National Laboratory for Diagnostic Virology; National Laboratory for Host Genetics and Prion Diseases

These Laboratories provide expert microbiological reference testing, surveillance, and outbreak investigation support to the public health network in Canada.

Strategic Policy Directorate (SPD)

The Directorate provides PPHB with policy expertise and coordination. It collaborates with analysts in all areas of the Branch to develop, articulate and integrate Branch policy. By gathering and synthesizing key policy information, creating and cultivating internal and external partnerships and providing sound, evidence-based policy advice, SPD helps to set strategic directions for PPHB and the Department.

Healthy Communities Division (HCD)

This is the centre of excellence for the issues of family violence, mental health, physical activity, rural health, and injury prevention. It partners with various stakeholders including Mental Health, National Clearinghouse on Family

Violence, Office of Rural Health, Active Living, and the Physical Activity Unit (www.hc-sc.gc.ca/hppb/mentalhealth) - Mental Health (www.hc-sc.gc.ca/hppb/familyviolence) - National Clearinghouse on Family Violence (www.hc-sc.gc.ca/ruralhealth) - Office of Rural Health (www.hc-sc.gc.ca/hppb/fitness) - Physical Activity Unit

Regional Presence

PPHB has a presence in all regions of Canada and with the Northern Secretariat. These offices carry out the Branch mandate through such activities as program delivery, research and knowledge development, policy analysis and development, community capacity building, and public and professional education. PPHB regional offices: Atlantic Region; Quebec Region; Ontario and Nunavut Region; Manitoba and Saskatchewan Region; Alberta and Northwest Territories Region; British Columbia and Yukon Region.

Regional Directors General

Regional Directors General will become the focal point for the Department in their region, including ensuring, in their region, horizontal coordination and cohesion across both programs and issues, and in relations with provinces, territories and partners. They have also been given operational responsibility for program delivery in specific program areas.

Program Record Number: HCan 006 335

Health Policy Research Program (HPRP)

Description: Information (i.e. final reports, statistics, manuals, applications for funding, review process) on contributions in support of health policy research activities.

Topics: Population health; Health Canada policy issues; integration of health systems; health risks.

Program Record Number: HCan 006 340

Office of Health and Information Highway

Description: Information (i.e. reports, manuals, program documentation, dockets, etc.) pertaining to the renewal and restructuring of the Canadian health system through the application of information and communications technologies.

Topics: Canadian health infostructure/infoway, E-health, Canadian Health Network, Canada Health Infostructure Partnerships Program, Health Infostructure Support Program, Privacy and the protection of personal health information, Health information for the public, Telehealth, Electronic Health Records, Health Surveillance, First Nations Health Information Systems, Advisory Council on Health Infostructure, Advisory Committee on Health Infostructure.

Program Record Number: HCan 006 334

Pest Management Regulatory Agency

Pesticide Evaluation

Description: Information on the evaluation of pesticides and on precautions for their safe use.

Topics: Product chemistry; toxicology; metabolism; residues; environmental chemistry; toxicology and efficacy.

Program Record Number: HCan 007 098

Inspection and Compliance

Description: Information on the development, implementation and monitoring of a national field compliance program for registered pesticides.

Topics: Monitoring; Investigating; enforcement; verifications; sampling.

Program Record Number: HCan 007 099

Pest Control

Description: Relates to pest control programs, diseases and external parasites of plants and animals, control methods for specific pests.

Topics: General information on pest control; adjuvants; industrial slime; invertebrate and vertebrate pests; materials preservation; plant diseases; water bodies; weed and plant growth control; wood preservation.

Program Record Number: HCan 007 081

Pesticide Research Permits

Description: Permits to conduct research on new or registered products.

Topics: Policies and general information on research permits and submissions.

Program Record Number: HCan 007 082

Pesticide Statistics

Description: Relates to numerical information about the number of registered pesticides, submissions, and uses.

Topics: Policies and general information on statistics and product developments and registrations; and uses.

Program Record Number: HCan 007 083

Registration and Fees

Description: Information on the registration of pesticides under the Pest Control Products Act.

Topics: Application for registration; chemical specification forms; product labels; registrant correspondence; technical and scientific data in support of pesticide evaluation.

Access: Files arranged by registrant code and registration number.

Program Record Number: HCan 007 097

Regulatory Communication

Description: Includes policies, guidelines and procedures relative to pesticides and pest management including dissemination of technical information via various media.

Breast Cancer

Description: The Canadian Breast Cancer Initiative (1993-1998) and the Renewed Canadian Breast Cancer Initiative (1998-2003) are departmentally-led initiatives that involve working in partnerships with key stakeholders from the provincial territorial governments, health professionals, care providers, associations, researchers, educators, consumers and support groups, the private sector and women affected by breast cancer. The goals of the Initiative are to reduce both the incidence of breast cancer in Canada and the mortality rate, and to improve the quality of life of those directly and indirectly affected by breast cancer from prevention to palliative care. The Renewed Initiative works through five linked components: the Canadian Breast Cancer Research Initiative; Prevention, Early Detection and Quality Screening; Surveillance and Monitoring; Enhancing Quality Approaches to diagnosis, Treatment and Care; Community Capacity Building; and Evaluation and Coordination.

Topics: Prevention; Early Detection and Screening; Quality Management; Information Systems; Education; Awareness Raising and Recruitment; Treatment and Care; Support, Advocacy, Community Capacity Building and Networking; Policy Issues.

Program Record Number: HCan 008 260

Canadian Breast Cancer Screening Database, The (CBCSD)

Description: The CBCSD is a national breast screening surveillance system designed to facilitate monitoring and evaluation of organized screening programs across Canada. Established in 1993, it is operated and maintained by the Chronic Disease Prevention and Surveillance and Risk Assessment Divisions in the Centre for Chronic Disease Prevention and Control.

Topics: In addition to demographic data (such as age, ethnicity, place of residence) and risk-factor profile data (such as parity, gravidity, family cancer history) for each consenting client, the database records details pertaining to all screening episodes occurring within the programs. Hospital treatment and diagnostic databases and provincial cancer registries are linked to the CBCSD to provide diagnostic outcome data for abnormal screens. Data are available from program start date, and are updated every two years.

Program Record Number: HCan 008 261

Canada Prenatal Nutrition Program

Description: Information on CPNP, a program which funds community based coalitions and agencies to establish, deliver or enhance services for at-risk pregnant women in order to improve birth outcomes. CPNP is targeted at pregnant women most likely to have unhealthy babies because of poor health and nutrition.

Topics: Prenatal Nutrition, Prenatal Care, Lifestyle Counselling.

Canadian Strategy on HIV/AIDS

Description: The Canadian Strategy on HIV/AIDS is a pan-Canadian strategy based on collaboration among all levels of governments, communities, non-governmental organizations, professional groups, institutions and the private sector.

Topics: Prevention; community development and support to national non-governmental organizations; care, treatment, and support; research; surveillance; legal, ethical and human rights issues; international collaboration; Aboriginal health and community development; Correctional Service Canada and consultation, evaluation, monitoring and reporting.

Program Record Number: HCan 008 290

Cancer

Description: This Division develops and conducts cancer surveillance programs which address issues across the "lifecycle" of cancer ranging from the underlying causes of cancer to access to palliative care. The outcome of these programs will provide measurement tools needed to assess needs, priorities and progress in cancer prevention and control through the creation and strengthening of Canadian information and intelligence on determinants of cancer, impact and trends, and population access to effective interventions. The Division assists decision-makers in the formulation of policies for the adoption and diffusion of effective cancer prevention and control practices in Canada. The Division encourages and participates in multi-agency and multi-disciplinary activities to support actions needed to improve national cancer surveillance systems, facilitates and coordinates development of a clearly defined national cancer prevention and control strategy including goals, objectives and strategies, and recommendations for action based on new research/surveillance findings.

Program Record Number: HCan 008 100

Cardiovascular Disease

Description: The Chronic Disease Prevention Division (the Division) of the Centre for Chronic Disease Prevention and Control (the Centre) has the lead role for cardiovascular disease. This includes the overall coordination for the prevention and control of cardiovascular diseases, as well as limited surveillance and data interpretation (in cooperation with the Surveillance and Risk Assessment Division). Health Canada has had a lengthy history of involvement in cardiovascular disease and continues to work closely and collaboratively with a number of key partners. In the past, Health Canada was integrally involved in a number of initiatives, including The Canadian Heart Health Initiative (CHHI), The Cardiovascular Action Plan, targeted hypertension strategies, and the Healthy Heart Kit. In light of several environmental changes and reduced resources, many of these initiatives are in a time of transition. Health Canada recently completed a situational analysis on the CHHI and is continuing to explore opportunities to build on the past experiences and successes of the program. With respect to the Cardiovascular Action Plan, Health Canada and the other partners involved are currently revisiting the plan to ensure its effectiveness in the current health environment. There is a shared recognition that further integration with other prevention strategies will be key to the plan's implementation and success. At present, high blood pressure continues to be a focus for Health Canada. High blood pressure is a key risk factor in the development and progression of cardiovascular disease. Health Canada has helped to establish a coalition for the prevention and control of hypertension. We are now focusing on high blood pressure as part of an integrated screening approach with the development of comprehensive screening policies. The Division is also developing a model that links behavioral science, systems theory and practice. The Centre also was a partner in the development of The Growing Burden of Heart Disease and Stroke in Canada 2003 (led by the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Canada, in collaboration with the Canadian Cardiovascular Society and Health Canada). This is the sixth in a series of biennial reports issued by the Foundation, highlighting the high cost of cardiovascular diseases to both quality of life and to Canada's health care system. The report examines the prevalence of cardiovascular risk factors—smoking, physical inactivity, being overweight, high blood pressure and diabetes—and also makes policy recommendations on how to address the growing burden presented by heart disease and stroke. As we continue to address the growing burden of cardiovascular disease, there is a recognition that the contributing risk factors are associated with a number of chronic diseases. As such, the Centre has recognized the need for a more integrated approach to the prevention of cardiovascular disease and the risk factors that contribute to it.

Topics: Develop information on Cholesterol, High Blood Pressure, Diabetes, Tobacco Use and Physical Inactivity, and obesity as modifiable risk factors for cardiovascular disease. Coalition building and management; research on prevention policy; coalition and dissemination of heart health interventions, children and youth, disadvantaged groups, social marketing, integrated approaches to CVD prevention at the community level, prevention and control of elevated blood cholesterol and high blood pressure.

Program Record Number: HCan 008 265

Centres of Excellence for Children's Well-being

Description: Information on the Centres of Excellence for Children's Well-being program, which was created with a mandate to improve Canadian's understanding of, and responsiveness to, the physical and mental health needs of children and the critical factors for healthy child development. Each of the five Centres focuses on a different issue associated with child and youth well-being: child welfare, communities, early childhood development, special needs, and youth engagement. Each Centre is responsible for: collecting and analysing data, conducting original research, providing policy advice, disseminating information, and developing networks of individuals and groups who are working on the same issue.

Topics: Children, early child development, health, youth engagement, disabilities, special needs, child welfare, child and youth centered communities, policy issues, research.

Program Record Number: HCan 008 338

Cervical Cancer

Description: The Cervical Cancer Prevention Network (CCPN) is a network of federal, provincial, territorial, and non-governmental representatives which has been established to foster the development of provincially based organized quality screening programs in Canada and the development and use of information systems to enable monitoring and evaluation of the programmes through the activities of three working groups: the Quality Management Working Group, the Recruitment Working Group, the Information Systems Working Group.

Topics: Prevention; Early Detection and Screening; Quality Management, Information Systems; Policy Issues; Awareness Raising and Recruitment.

Program Record Number: HCan 008 333

Chronic Respiratory Diseases

Description: Co-ordination of a national approach to the prevention and effective management of chronic respiratory disease in Canada.

Topics: National strategic plan in partnership with national coalitions for asthma and Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disorder (COPD), surveillance, population-based research on determinants of respiratory disease, dissemination of information on respiratory disease prevention and management.

Program Record Number: HCan 008 317

Community Action Program for Children

Description: Information on CAPC, a targeted program which funds community based coalitions and agencies to establish and deliver services to meet the developmental needs of children, ages 0 to 6, and their family's living in conditions of risk; also information and reports on the evaluation of CAPC-funded projects.

Topics: Parent training and support, child injury, child development, child health, prevention of abuse and neglect.

Program Record Number: HCan 008 337

CAPC/CLNP National Projects Fund

Description: The purpose of the Fund is to finance initiatives that will support the objectives of CAPC/CLNP programs and directly benefit CAPC and CLNP projects across Canada. The National Projects Fund will allow national, regional or local organizations to undertake specific, short term initiatives in support of activities that generate knowledge and action about children, families and the role of the community in supporting families.

Topics: The theme over the next two years is strengthening program management and the funding priorities for 2001/2003 are: human resources, training and supervision; volunteer recruitment and management; national think tank; connectivity; fetal alcohol syndrome (FAS); and support for Francophone projects outside Quebec.

Program Record Number: HCan 008 436

Diabetes

Description: The Centre for Chronic Disease Prevention and Control is responsible for delivering three of the four components of the Canadian Diabetes Strategy. The four components are: Prevention & Promotion; National Coordination; National Diabetes Surveillance System; and the Aboriginal Diabetes Initiative - the latter of which is under the purview of the First Nations and Inuit Health Branch. The major goals of the Canadian Diabetes Strategy are to address the health concerns of diabetes for the entire Canadian population, with prevention and promotion as major elements; working in partnership, to increase awareness and education of diabetes, its complications and major risk factors; share best practices; coordinate and lead diabetes efforts nationally; and assist community based prevention projects.

Program Record Number: HCan 008 331

Chronic Disease Prevention

Description: Responsibility for the integrated approach to chronic disease prevention falls within the Chronic Disease Prevention Division and the Integrated Chronic Disease Prevention and Control Policy Office. Authorizations for marihuana for medical use Description: The office of Cannabis Medical Access, Drug Strategy and Controlled Substances Programme has the mandate to process applications from individuals residing in Canada, to possess and cultivate marihuana for their medical use. The initial process that was put in place in June 1999, is called the exemption process under section 56 of the Controlled Drugs and Substances Act (CDSA). The exemption process was replaced by the application process under the Marihuana Medical Access Regulations (MMAR) on July 30, 2001, date of the coming into force of the Regulations. Files detained by the programme contain applications documents submitted by individuals and their physicians, records of decision provided to the applicant. Records of decisions may contain one or more of the following documentation: exemption letters under section 56 to possess or to possess and cultivate marihuana for medical purposes; MMAR Authorizations to possess dried marihuana; Personal Use Production Licences; Designated Person Production Licences; and correspondence informing of refusals, when applicable. These files contain personal information, including names, addresses, date of birth, phone numbers, medical conditions, medical records, photographs, exemption letters, authorization letters, copies of ID cards and ID card numbers, correspondence from applicants and physicians and contact reports summarizing telephone conversations. Files may also contain applications to obtain marihuana seeds or dried product from the Health Canada supply, follow-up correspondence and records of decisions pertaining to possible shipment of seeds or dried marihuana.

Class of Individuals: Individuals requesting to use marihuana for a medical purpose.

Purpose: Files used to process applications under section 56 of the CDSA and under the MMAR.

Consistent Uses: No information contained in the files is provided without the consent of the individuals. If a Consent to Disclose Information to Medical Practitioner and/or Representative is given, Health Canada is able to discuss the case directly with the medical practitioner (and specialist) and/or, if applicable, the representative chosen by the applicant, and to collect from them and disclose to them any personal information, including medical information, necessary to carry out the review of the application. This consent will also specifically authorize the medical practitioner and/or representative to disclose such information to Health Canada. The "representative consent" allows Health Canada to deal directly through the representative for the purposes of the application. In the case where an exemption under section 56 of the CDSA, an Authorization to Possess dried marijuana, Personal Use Production Licence or Designated Person Production Licence have been granted, and if a Consent to Disclose Information to Police Agencies is given, Health Canada is permitted to disclose personal information and the terms and conditions of the exemption under section 56 or the Authorization or Licence under the MMAR.

Extraordinary Assistance Plan

Description: Contains applications, correspondence, medical records of applicants who became infected with the AIDS virus (HIV) who received blood or blood products as well as their first order relative (spouse/partner or child) who was secondarily infected with HIV; and to living thalidomide victims who were born in Canada and whose mothers took thalidomide during the first trimester of pregnancy.

Class of Individuals: Individuals or agents of their estates who have applied for benefits.

Purpose: To determine eligibility and administer financial benefits to HIV infected persons and thalidomide victims.

Consistent Uses: Information contained in these files is used to determine eligibility for receipt of financial benefits only.

Retention and Disposal Standards: The HIV files are retained for a minimum of 20 years after last activity on file and the thalidomide files for 100 years after last activity on file.

Physical Activity Benchmarks Initiative

Description: The Physical Activity Unit provides contribution funding to the Canadian Fitness and Lifestyle Research Institute to monitor and track population physical activity levels, factors which influence physical activity at the individual, organization and systemic levels (i.e., settings and environments), capacities of governments and partners to act, and the outcomes of joint action. The Physical Activity Benchmarks Initiative informs FPT decision-making and provides the basis for progress reports to Ministers vis-a-vis their target to increase the physical activity levels of Canadians by 10 percentage points in each PT by 2010.

Class of Individuals: Individual Canadians and professionals in the physical activity community.

Purpose: The primary purpose of the program is to track physical activity levels of Canadians and factors which influence physical activity. The data is used to develop policy and program strategies aimed at increasing physical activity levels of Canadians.

Consistent Uses: none.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Retained 10 yrs, then transferred to National Archives.

Home Care Study

Description: This bank contains information about clients and formal and informal care providers of home care within Ottawa-Carleton. The data consists of a client code, postal code, age, gender, diagnosis, reason for admission to home care, referral source, mother tongue, living arrangements, relation to informal care provider. For informal care providers, data include the individual score on the Zarit Caregiver Burden Scale.

Class of Individuals: Formal and informal care providers and clients admitted to the Regional Municipality of Ottawa-Carleton Home Care Program.

Purpose: To gain a better understanding of the factors which influence access to home care services.

Consistent Uses: Pilot research project only.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Retained 25 yrs then transferred to National Archives.

Physician Asthma Management Study

Description: The former Laboratory Centre for Disease Control (LCDC) of Health Canada commissioned a national survey of physicians on their asthma management practices prior to 1997. This survey comprises part of a national strategy that LCDC has undertaken in partnership with other members of the National Asthma Control Task Force. Questionnaires were sent to 4,489 physicians in Canada's ten provinces and two territories. Physicians were asked how often they used different method of diagnosis and follow-up, and different medications for treatment of asthma in adults and children. These findings will be useful in targeting education interventions on certain topics of asthma management to specific groups of physicians.

Class of Individuals: Canadian physicians.

Purpose: To collect information on the variety and quality of asthma care and education in Canada; to provide advice to the National Asthma Control Task Force

Consistent Uses: None.

Retention and Disposal Standards. Retained a minimum of 10 yrs, then reviewed for possible transfer to National Archives.

Student Lung Health Survey

Description: In 1995-96, a school-based survey of asthma was conducted in nine volunteer health units across Canada, targeting 5 to 19 year-olds enrolled in school. The objectives were to examine asthma prevalence, incidence, severity, associated risk factors, management and treatment practices, the utilization of health services and the prevalence of allergies. Approximately 39,800 students received the Screening Questionnaire through the classroom teacher in the elementary schools or by mail-out to their home for high school students. An in-depth Asthma Telephone Interview (ATI) was conducted within the previous twelve months of this survey with those who had previously been diagnosed with asthma.

Purpose: To collect enhanced surveillance data on current asthmatic and asthma-like students. This is needed for the planning and implementation of effective asthma control programs in Canada.

Consistent Uses: Respondents may be contacted in the future to provide other health related information. This information may be shared with other programs within Health Canada. The public health units will retain the original questionnaires and data for their own health services delivery.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Retained a minimum of 10 yrs, then reviewed for possible transfer to National Archives (excluding questionnaires which may be destroyed after 2 yrs).

Spousal Determinants in Delayed Response to Chest Discomfort Survey

Description: The telephone survey contains information on how a woman would respond if her partner consulted her regarding chest discomfort. Personal information will only be collected on those individuals who agree to participate in future surveys on the same subjects. Personal identifiers collected will include name, address, age, and telephone number.

Class of Individuals: Respondents are randomly selected adult women chosen by telephone number in Ottawa-Carleton.

Purpose: Future surveys on delay determinants would be enhanced if repeated on the same individuals to examine changes over time or after community targeted interventions.

Consistent Uses: To match an individual's response from the first survey to subsequent surveys.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Retained a minimum of 10 yrs, then reviewed for possible transfer to National Archives (excluding questionnaires which may be destroyed after 2 yrs).

Traveller Illness Reports

Description: The Traveller Illness Report form will collect information on an individual who arrives ill at a port of entry (airport, seaport, border crossing, etc.) as well as when needed, other passengers in contact with the ill individual(s). Information collected include some, if not all, of the following: traveller's (or contact's) name, nationality, home address and phone number, address and phone number while in Canada (if different), transporter details (airline, ship, seat/cabin number, etc.), ill traveller's symptoms (high fever, coughing, rash, bleeding, etc.), travel history, particularly if there has been recent travel in a tropical country, if any, similar illness in travel companions preliminary diagnosis, if available, if the traveller is being referred to hospital for medical attention, details on the ambulance, hospital, immigration status of the ill individual (and if not Canadian, passport number), name and phone number of person reporting the ill traveller.

Class of Individuals: Travellers arriving at a Canadian port of entry who exhibit two or more symptoms of illness.

Purpose: The Traveller Illness Report form is used to document arriving ill individuals and their contacts in order to determine the amount of illness among travellers and to proactively identify unusual incidences of diseases overseas as well as to facilitate tracing of passengers in the event of an outbreak of diseases of significance.

Consistent Uses: Nominal information collected by the Traveller Illness Report form will not be matched with any other personal information bank. Data on countries visited and symptoms exhibited may be collected for research purposes. Disclosure of an individual's information will be limited, on a need-to-know basis, to appropriate port of entry personnel, Health Canada quarantine officials and, in the case of someone who requires further medical attention at a health care institution, medical staff as well as immigration authorities, should the traveller not be Canadian.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Nominal and tracing information will be retained for at least two incubation periods of the suspected illness, to a maximum of three months, in order to ensure that there is no secondary spread of the illness. After abstraction of data on countries visited and symptoms for research purposes, the form will be retained for 2 years, then destroyed.

Canadian Tuberculosis Reporting System

Description: Contains information collected and provided since 1996 and data provided to Statistics Canada from 1970-1995 by provincial and territorial public health authorities about persons reported with TB disease (new active or relapsed cases). Data may include reporting province/territory, gender, age and date of birth, birthplace, activity status, HIV status, drug resistance, treatment outcomes (including death and cause of death, compliance and whether or not treatment was directly observed) and drug regimens. Earlier data are retained by Statistics Canada in Personal Information Bank STC PPU 070.

Class of Individuals: Individuals with new active or reactivated tuberculosis.

Purpose: To support the prevention and control of tuberculosis. An annual report called "Tuberculosis in Canada" is published and is available in bilingual print version and on Health Canada's website.

Consistent Uses: Secondary analysis of sub-groups of the population (i.e., by ethnic origin or disease site) to further understanding of epidemiology of tuberculosis in Canada. Information may be provided to Statistics Canada.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Report forms are retained a minimum of 10 yrs, then reviewed for possible transfer to National Archives. Electronic version of data is retained.

Classes of Personal Information

Mailing Lists

This class of personal information contains the names and addresses of individuals who are on mailing lists to receive publications and other publicly available materials relating to departmental activities. The lists are used by various sectors of the Department and are updated on a continuing basis.

General Correspondence and Enquiries

Personal information is also stored within subject files where records are not normally retrieved by the name of the individual or other personal identifier. This form of personal information consists of requests for publications, reports etc. and enquiries for information of a general nature. It is normally retrievable only if specifics are provided concerning the subject matter. Retention of this form of personal information is controlled by the records schedules of the subject files in which the information is stored.

Ministerial Correspondence

This class of information contains correspondence addressed to the Minister and/or the Deputy Minister and received by the Correspondence Unit from external organizations and individuals in the form of requests for information, complaints, opinions and other submissions related to a broad range of issues pertaining to Health Canada's activities, wherein some unsolicited personal information has been provided by the correspondent. This form of information would be retrievable only if specifics of name, date of communication and subject were provided; it is not arranged or retrievable by personal identifiers. The retention period of these classes of personal information are controlled by the records schedules of the subject files in which the information is stored.

Public Opinion Research

This is a class of records generated by departmental officials who conduct public opinion research on topics related to the mandate and mission of Health Canada. Retrievable records consist of data gathering instruments, such as, but not exclusively, questionnaires that may contain personal information. Data contained in this class of records are not used for administrative purposes. Individuals seeking access to these records must provide the title of the research project or survey in which they participated, the location and date, and any other data that may help to identify and locate the personal information they are seeking.

Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada

Chapter 74

The annual update for this institution was not received for inclusion in the 2004-2005 version of this Info Source publication. The following is from the 2003-2004 version of Info Source.

General Information

Background

The Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada grew out of the interplay of disparate elements of public opinion concerned with heritage preservation and government policy before the First World War. A growing heritage movement encouraged the government to preserve and develop sites with important historical associations. At the same time, the government was looking to extend its national parks system from the west into the east and the idea of creating historic parks around significant historic structures was conceived. The War delayed the introduction of a government program to identify and preserve Canadian heritage; however, in 1919, James B. Harkin, the Commissioner of Dominion Parks, suggested that "An Advisory Board for Historic Site Preservation" be established, and the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada was born.

The Board was given a statutory base for its operations through the Historic Sites and Monuments Act of 1953.

Responsibilities

The Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada has the statutory responsibility to advise the Minister of Canadian Heritage and, through him or her, Parks Canada on the commemoration of nationally significant aspects of Canada's past, including the designation of national historic sites. When forwarding a positive recommendation to the Minister, the Board will also advise with respect to an appropriate level of Program involvement with the subject of commemoration – that is, by the erection of a bilingual bronze plaque, by entering into a cost-sharing agreement with a third party in order to preserve or interpret a site, or, more rarely, when resources are of exceptional quality or rarity and associated with themes of particular significance, by acquisition and development as a national historic site.

The Board also advises the Minister on the designation of heritage railway stations and other matters relating to the implementation of the Heritage Railway Stations Protection Act.

Normally, the Board meets in plenary two times a year to consider submissions from the general public, heritage organizations, provincial and municipal governments, and others regarding matters of possible national significance. The various committees which it has established to expedite its work, such as the Cultural Communities Committee, the Built Environment Committee and the Inscriptions Committee, meet as required.

Legislation

The following statutes provide for the operation of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada:

- Heritage Railway Stations Protection Act
- Historic Sites and Monuments Act

Organization

At full strength the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada has 19 members: two members from the provinces of Ontario and Quebec and one member from each of the other provinces and the three territories. The National Archivist and representatives of the Canadian Museum of Civilization and of the Department of Canadian Heritage also sit on the Board. The Director General of Parks Canada's National Historic Sites Directorate is the Secretary to the Board.

Provincial and territorial members of the Board are appointed by Order in Council (normally for three or five years). They must be resident in the province or territory that they represent, serve on a part-time basis, and are eligible for reappointment. The Chairperson is appointed by the Governor-in-Council from among the members of the Board.

Located in Gatineau, Quebec the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada Secretariat, provides administrative support to the Board.

Human Resources and Skills Development Canada

Chapter 75

General Information

Background

The Department of Human Resources and Skills Development was created on December 12, 2003, when the former Department of Human Resources Development was split into two new departments: the Department of Social Development and the Department of Human Resources and Skills Development.

Responsibilities

Human Resources and Skills Development Canada's main objectives are to: support human capital development by helping Canadians prepare for, find, and keep work; promote an efficient labour market and a fair, safe, cooperative and productive work environment; and encourage lifelong learning for Canadians.

HRSDC is responsible for providing all Canadians with the tools they need to thrive and prosper in the workplace and community.

Specific program responsibility includes Employment Insurance, including Labour Market Programs; Lifelong Learning; the Youth Employment Strategy; the Aboriginal Human Resources Development Agreements; Sector Councils; and, the Workplace Skills Strategy.

HRSDC supports students and communities through the Canada Student Loans Program, the Canada Education Savings Grant and Community Economic Development initiatives. HRSDC also provides federal-level management of labour and homelessness issues.

Legislation

- Government Annuities Improvement Act
- Government Employee Compensation Act
- Hazardous Materials Information Review Act
- Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited Act
- Labour Adjustment Benefits Act
- Merchant Seamen Compensation Act
- Non-smokers' Health Act
- Status of the Artist Act (Part II)
- Unemployment Assistance Act
- Wages Liability Act

Organization

Employment Programs Operations (EPO)

The Employment Programs Operations (EPO) group works in close collaboration with the Employment Programs Policy and Design (EPPD) group to provide for innovative, inclusive, efficient and effective labour market solutions by investing in Canadians and their communities. EPO does this Employment Benefits and Support Measures available under Canada's Employment Insurance Act and through programs and services offered under the Government of Canada's Youth Employment Strategy, the Aboriginal Human Resources Development Strategy and special labour market adjustment programs. Clients served by EPO include unemployed and under-employed Canadian citizens as well as segments of the population overcoming barriers to employment that could leave them vulnerable to being marginalized or left out of the labour market.

Corporate Services Unit

The Corporate Services Unit is responsible for a range of services run by the Employment Programs Operations (EPO) including finance, human resources, resources management and administrative programs. It manages the branch's correspondence and briefing services for the ADM, the DM and the Minister and coordinates the analysis of information and EPO's Intranet presence. These are either delivered directly or in partnership with the corporate functional branches.

Labour Market & Official Language Minority Communities (OLMC) Directorate

Labour Market & Official Language Minority Communities (OLMC) Directorate is responsible for developing and implementing program-specific operational directives; providing direction and support to the regions for labour market programming; providing leadership for delivery of labour market adjustment/emergency measures; and monitoring Labour Market Development Agreements (LMDAs). The Directorate is also responsible for managing OLMC contribution agreements for the department and for providing secretariat support to the English and Francophone national committees. In addition, the Directorate is responsible for coordinating departmental activities in respect to OLMC initiatives.

Aboriginal & Youth Programs Directorate

Aboriginal & Youth Programs Directorate is responsible for the development and implementation of the Youth Employment Strategy; management and operationalization of the Aboriginal Human Resources Development Agreements (AHRDAs); provides direction and support to regions on Aboriginal and Youth issues; and manages the Government of Canada Youth Cluster.

The Aboriginal and Youth Programs Directorate (AYO) forms part of the Employment Programs Operations Branch of Human Resources and Skills Development Canada (HRSDC).

AYO's mission is to support and implement: the Government of Canada's Youth Employment Strategy (YES); and the Aboriginal Human Resources Development Strategy.

Delivered in partnership with thirteen other federal government departments, YES programs target youth, particularly youth facing barriers to employment, to ensure they have the knowledge, skills and work experience they need to succeed in today's highly skilled labour market. AYO is the coordination point for the 14 Government of Canada departments delivering youth programs. As well, it provides direction to Regions to support the delivery of YES programs through partnerships with public and not for profit community organizations, and manages and administers youth projects that are national in scope.

AYO also has responsibility for implementation of the Aboriginal Human Resources Development Strategy. This includes key initiatives for Aboriginal people, including programs for Aboriginal youth, urban Aboriginal people, persons with disabilities, and First Nations and Inuit Child Care. These programs are community-driven and give Aboriginal people the authority and the resources they need to address local challenges. AYO is committed to working in partnership with Aboriginal people to boost their employability and to create meaningful job opportunities – on reserve, as well as in rural and urban areas across Canada.

Accountability & Integrity Directorate

Accountability & Integrity Directorate is responsible for managing NHQ/Regional accountability arrangements; developing and implementing performance indicators, results calculation and reporting; monitoring operational performance and strengthening data integrity and data exchange functions; coordinating resource management process, business planning and other strategic management initiatives and cross-cutting operational policy issues; developing and overseeing operational training and curriculum development; and managing the automation of business processes and tools (e.g. the Common System for Grants and Contributions (CSGC)).

Employment Programs Policy and Design (EPPD)

The Employment Programs Policy and Design (EPPD) Branch will work in close collaboration with the Employment Programs Operations (EPO), Insurance, Workplace and Strategic Policy & Planning Branches to ensure efficient and effective income supports and labour market program supports that will enable Canadians to participate fully in the labour market and have the skills to find and keep work. EPPD does this through program policy and design for active and passive employment measures (EI Part I and II) and through current and future federal-provincial/territorial frameworks and negotiations of labour market agreements. Clients served by EPPD include unemployed, under-employed Canadians and workers at risk of losing their employment as well as segments of the population overcoming barriers to employment.

Aboriginal Affairs Directorate

Aboriginal Affairs Directorate is responsible for leading the renewal of the Aboriginal Human Resources Development Strategy (AHRDS) in partnership with Aboriginal people and other stakeholders. Other responsibilities include negotiating agreements under the Aboriginal Skills and Employment Partnership Strategy (ASEP) and overseeing the Aboriginal Early Childhood Developments on behalf of HRSDC. Ongoing responsibilities include policy and program design, negotiations of new AHRD agreements, effectively positioning HRSDC Aboriginal skills development, workplace and employment issues across the Department and in the broader GoC Aboriginal agenda.

Active Employment Measures Directorate

Active Employment Measures Directorate is responsible for leading policy to improve existing employment measures for Canadians while developing and advancing new measures to promote increased employability and enhanced labour market adjustment. Ongoing responsibilities include managing multilateral Forum of Labour Market Ministers (FLMM) relationship with provinces/territories in collaboration with Strategic Policy & Planning; supporting Employment Programs Operations through development and testing of program policies in Regions; leading interdepartmental development of a Youth Service Strategy and service offerings; managing developmental program policy work and related Cabinet and Treasury Board processes on a number of files, including Official Language Minority Communities; and serving as HRSDC's international representative to the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) Local Economic and Employment Development (LEED) program.

Employment Insurance Policy Directorate

Employment Insurance Policy Directorate is responsible for policy advice on EI to the Minister and government; conducting a range of program policy activities, including the research, analysis, development and design of program policy frameworks, adjustment strategies/emergency measures, and pilot projects; for liaising with and providing program guidance and input to Insurance Operations and Strategic Policy and Planning; for managing stakeholder relations and the EI program models and providing quantitative support to other branches; and for completing Monitoring and Assessment reports and preparing Management Responses.

Labour Market and Development Agreement (LMDA) Task Team Directorate

LMDA Task Team Directorate is responsible for both leading and supporting analysis of potential labour market partnership, programming, and service delivery approaches/options to meet current and emerging labour market demands and to build stronger federal-provincial relationships. Specific tasks include analysis of LMDA successes and challenges, assessment of new directions to support a new (FLMM) labour market framework, and providing negotiation strategies and support. The Task Team works closely with the regions, HRSDC groups, and other government departments on emerging labour market issues, including ensuring that bilateral discussions with Ontario are coordinated with other bilateral arrangements that may be developed.

Insurance Branch

The Insurance Group is responsible for the implementation of legislation and the development, implementation and delivery of policies and programs for: coverage and entitlement in relation to Employment Insurance income benefits; program delivery efficiency, effectiveness and quality of service and payment of Employment Insurance benefits; and the prevention, detection and deterrence of abuse and fraud in relation to the Employment Insurance Program.

Labour Program

Labour Program's objective is to promote a fair, safe, healthy, stable, cooperative and productive work environment that contributes to the social and economic well-being of all Canadians.

Under Parts I, II, and III of the Canada Labour Code, and the Employment Equity Act, the Program oversees industrial relations, occupational safety and health, labour standards and employment equity in the federally-regulated section (about 10 per cent) of the labour force.

The Labour Branch also administers the Federal Contractors program, which ensures that approximately 900 contractors with at least 100 resident employees, who receive contracts from the federal government worth $200,000 or more, comply with employment equity obligations equivalent to those under the Employment Equity Act.

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service (FMCS) helps unions and employers resolve their industrial disputes and improve their labour-management relations and also provides for grievance arbitration, unjust dismissal adjudication and wage recovery referee assistance.

The legislative mandate surrounding Occupational Health and Safety involves operations intended to promote and enforce compliance with the provisions of Part II of the Canada Labour Code and its Regulations in order to prevent accidents and injuries.

With respect to Fire Protection Services, the Labour Program delivers fire protection services in federal properties and in First Nations major public buildings and schools to ensure the protection, conservation and minimization of risks due to fire to life, property and the federal Government's financial position.

The Federal Workers' Compensation Service (FWCS) administers the Government Employees' Compensation Act (GECA), the Merchant Seamen Compensation Act (MSCA) the Public Service Income Benefit Plan for Survivors of Employees Slain on Duty, and the compensation for death and disability in accordance with the Corrections and Conditional Release Regulations (CCRR).

With respect to Labour Standards and Workplace Equity, this activity establishes and protects employees' rights to fair and equitable conditions of employment. The operations are intended to promote and enforce compliance with the provisions of Part III of the Canada Labour Code and the Fair Wages and Hours of Labour Act and their regulations, and the Employment Equity Act and regulations.

The Workplace Information Directorate (WID) tracks, analyzes and disseminates a vast array of information on industrial relations and collective bargaining in Canada. WID houses the most comprehensive, multi-jurisdictional collective agreements library in Canada (approximately 6,000 agreements) and regularly monitors major contract talks, those covering 500 or more employees and smaller bargaining units (100 to 499 employees), based on a stratified sample approach. WID produces the following publications on various industrial relations issues: the Wage Settlements Bulletin, the Workplace Gazette, and the Collective Bargaining Bulletin. In addition to the information on labour organizations and innovative workplace practices in Canada available directly from the website, subscribers can also access and conduct research on collective agreements through a virtual library - the Negotech.

The Labour Program is also responsible for Canadian participation in the International Labour Organization and for the implementation of international labour cooperation agreements with the United States of America, Mexico, Chile Costa Rica and the Memorandum of Understanding on Labour Matters with Brazil, as well as ongoing participation in the Summit of the Americas and Free Trade Area of the Americas initiatives and the Inter-American Conference of Ministers of Labour.

National Secretariat on Homelessness

The National Secretariat on Homelessness coordinates the implementation of the Government of Canada's National Homelessness Initiative, including the Supporting Communities Partnership Initiative. The Secretariat acts as a catalyst at the federal level to provide leadership and support in the form of information, and expertise, to help communities to respond to their immediate and longer term needs.

Learning Branch

Formerly part of the Human Investment Programs Branch, Learning Branch brings together nationally delivered programs that enable our targeted clientele and communities to learn, acquire skills and participate fully in civic social and economic life. Learning Branch delivers its programs and services through the following two directorates:

Canada Student Loans Program (CSLP)

The Canada Student Loans Program, part of HRSDC's Learning Programs Directorate, assists full- and part-time students enrolled in designated post-secondary education institutions who demonstrate they are in need of financial assistance. The program objective is to promote accessibility to post-secondary education and ensure that Canadians have an opportunity to develop the knowledge and skills needed to participate in the economy and society. The program also provides five non-repayable Canada Study Grants. CanLearn Interactive at www.canlearn.ca provides a comprehensive bilingual resource for learning information, products and services.

Learning and Literacy

In support of the development and improvement of the quality of Canada's human resources, the Learning and Literacy Directorate (LLD) plays a key role in increasing awareness, promoting access and building individual and community capacity for lifelong learning. Through the development and implementation of a broad range of federal learning-related policies, LLD enhances access and opportunities for education through programs such as the Canada Education Savings

Grant Program and International Academic Mobility. The Office of Learning Technologies promotes and supports innovation in skill development and learning enabled by technology. The National Literacy Secretariat raises awareness of literacy and supports Canadians' involvement in literacy activities. The Learning Initiatives Program supports a wide variety of initiatives that promote innovation and relevance in the establishment of learning policies and programs, and contribution to the establishment of national learning goals. The International Academic Mobility Initiative supports international mobility for Canadian students via the development of multilateral partnerships with post secondary institutions.

Ministerial and Communication Services

The Ministerial and Communication Services Branch provides strategic direction and coordination for Branch activity and plays a lead role in offering strategic communications advice and ministerial services to HRSDC. The Branch plans, co-ordinates, and implements HRSDC activities in the areas of external and internal communications, public opinion research, promotion, information, media relations, publishing, and advertising, and ensures that information is available to the public about HRSDC policies, programs and services.

The Branch is also responsible for the administration of the Privacy and Access to Information Acts.

Briefing, Cabinet and Parliamentary Affairs ensure that the Ministers', the Minister of State's, Parliamentary Secretaries, and the Deputy Minister's offices are provided with high-quality briefing material in a timely manner. They also coordinate the ministerial briefings, announcements, Question Period, Cabinet, and trips, etc.

The Branch also plays a key role in supporting departmental committees in effective issues management.

Service Delivery Directorate

The Service Delivery Directorate (SDD) supports the Senior Assistant Deputy Minister (SADM) in meeting Human Resources and Skills Development Canada's (HRSDC) service delivery priorities, objectives and policy. The SDD performs a key cross-program role dealing with operational and client service issues within the Service Delivery Network (SDN). The SDD works to establish linkages between regional service delivery, corporate structures, and external partners in order to promote a citizen centered integrated service delivery approach and ensure a consistent implementation throughout the SDN. The SDD is also responsible, on behalf of the Government of Canada, for the management and co-ordination of the Service Canada in-person network. This includes support to Service Canada Access Centres within HRSDC and in three Canadian Heritage sites. The SADM has overall responsibility within the department for the implementation of the government-wide Service Improvement Initiative. The SDD conducts policy analysis and developmental studies pertaining to service delivery in collaboration with functional areas. In addition to consulting with clients, partners, and stakeholders on new service delivery policies, SDD works with the Department of Social Development (SDC) on government-wide service delivery initiatives. SDD developed and has tested an electronic feedback mechanism designed to gather client perceptions of the quality of our services to clients and suggestions for improvement. The SDD also supports the delivery of Social Development's programs and services through the field network of 320 local offices.

Strategic Policy and Planning

Strategic Policy and Planning has broad responsibility for developing and maintaining statistical information banks which may be used for research, evaluation, policy and program analysis, and development in support of various departmental programs and services. This group is also responsible for Intergovernmental Relations and International Affairs.

Workplace and Skills

The Workplace Branch was created in January 2004 to help enhance the competitiveness of Canadian workplaces by focusing on skills investments made by employers and workers. The Branch delivers programs at the national level, such as the Sector Council Program, which includes partnerships with industry and education, to ensure that Canadians have the skills and knowledge required for today's and tomorrow's workplaces. Other programs include Essential Skills, Red Seal and Foreign Credential Recognition. The Branch also works with Regional offices, local HRCCs and a variety of intermediaries in the pan-Canadian delivery of national, regional and local Labour Market Information, as well as the Foreign Worker Program.

Canada Out Of Employment Panel (COEP) Databank

Description: This bank contains information on individuals who are out of employment following a job separation and, in particular, UI/EI clients. The information is obtained through a survey called the Canada Out of Employment Panel (COEP) conducted by Statistics Canada. The survey is designed to collect a range of information for each respondent, including demographics, employment history, job search activity, training activity, the collection of UI/EI benefits and changes in household income and consumption. COEP was designed in 1996 to provide research data on out of employment Canadians prior to and following, the 1996 changes to the EI Act.

Class of Individuals: Survey participants are randomly selected from among those who had a job separation roughly one year before the first set of survey interviews. There is a second set of survey follow – up interviews nine months after the first set of interviews. This includes both those who claimed UI/EI benefits and those who did not claim UI/EI. Only those participants who gave their informed consent to the survey and to sharing their survey data with HRSDC are included in the databank.

Purpose: The Purpose of the bank is to provide and maintain timely and detailed individual and household-level data on job-leavers. The information permits the monitoring and evaluation of how individuals, communities and the economy have adjusted to unemployment and to changes in the EI system. The data are also used to meet the yearly requirements of the Monitoring and Assessment Report to Parliament.

Consistent Uses: The databank is collected and maintained to provide data for EI and labour market evaluation purposes. Retention and Disposal Standard: Survey results at HRSDC will be kept for 10 years. Information at Statistics Canada is kept in accordance with their retention and disposition policy.

Departmental Accounts Receivable System (DARS)

Description: This bank is a computerized record of accounts receivable other than employment insurance overpayments and Old Age Security. Each record contains the name, address, age, gender, SIN, and preferred language of the debtor along with information relating to the reason for and the amount and the repayment method.

Note: This service is shared with Social Development Canada.

Class of Individuals: All individuals, or organizations who have received overpayments or clients in default on their student loans and grants and contributions under a Social Development Canada and HRSDC program with the exception of employment insurance overpayments and Old Age Security program.

Purpose: To facilitate the collection of accounts receivable in compliance with TB directives, Public Accounts of Canada and with various directives from the Auditor General of Canada and the Receiver General for Canada.

Consistent Uses: To report accounts receivable in the Public Accounts of Canada. It is matched with the Report on Hirings (HRSDC PPU 210), the individual income tax return (RCT PPU 005) to trace the individual, EI Overpayment (HRSDC PPU 161) in order to trace the individual and recover the accounts receivable from insurance benefits. It may also be provided to private sector research companies for planning, statistics, research and evaluations.

Retention and Disposal Standards: Paper records are kept for 6 fiscal years, records on electronic files are retained for 3 years after full recovery.

Security Investigations

Description: The investigations unit investigates employees of Human Resources and Skills Development Canada (HRSDC) where there is a suspected incident of wrong doing. During the investigation of the suspected wrongdoing personal information such as an employee's name, position, Personal Record Identifier (PRI), home and work mailing address, work and home telephone numbers, cell phone numbers, job title, marital status, financial records including any other personal information related to the suspected wrongdoing may be collected.

Class of Individuals: Full and part-time employees of the department, as well as students, consultants and contractors who have been hired by the department.

Purpose: This information is used during the conduct an investigation to determine if there has been any wrong doing committed by an employee of HRSDC. This includes the investigation of possible cases of fraud, theft, breach of trust, etcetera. The investigation could reveal that the suspected wrong doing is either of an administrative or criminal nature. Once the incident has been determined to be well founded and should it be of an administrative nature, it is handled internally via the appropriate policy area (e.g. the Policy on the Prevention and Resolution of Harassment in the Workplace, the Policy on the Internal Disclosure of Information Concerning Wrongdoing in the Workplace and the Values and Ethics Code for the Public Service of Canada). Should the wrongdoing be considered a possible offence under the Criminal Code of Canada, the Department transfers the file to the appropriate police authority (e.g. Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP), local and/or provincial police and possibly external police agencies which fall outside of Canadian jurisdiction)

Consistent Uses: Should the suspected wrongdoing be considered an offence under the Criminal Code of Canada, the Department transfers the file to the appropriate police authority (e.g. Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP), local and/or provincial police and possibly external police agencies which fall outside of Canadian jurisdiction). In order to conduct a thorough investigation of the suspected wrongdoing, information may be disclosed to third parties such as other government institutions, former employers, financial institutions, etcetera. The information may also be aggregated and used for audit and statistical purposes. For purposes of the investigation, information may be shared with Social Development Canada (SDC).

Retention and Disposal Standards: Retention and Disposal Standards are to be established.
