Introduction

The Access to Information Act (the Act), promulgated on July 1, 1983, aims to broaden access to the records of the federal government. It enshrines the principle of the right of the public to be given information and endeavours to complement arrangements for access to records.

In deference to this legal principle, federal institutions are required to establish standardized practices and procedures for processing access to information requests. These practices and procedures must include an undertaking to make all reasonable efforts to assist applicants, regardless of who they may be. Institutions must also apply the Act in an effective, coordinated and proactive manner so as to provide full, accurate and timely responses to access to information requests, subject only to regulatory constraints.

This document was prepared in response to section 72 of the Act, which requires federal institutions to submit an annual report to Parliament on administration of the Act. This report provides details on activities related to administration of the Act at the Economic Development Agency of Canada for the Regions of Quebec (the Agency).

The Access to Information Act allows Canadians, permanent residents and anyone in Canada to exercise a general right of access to information held by federal institutions, subject to specific and limited exceptions.

Mandate of the Economic Development Agency of Canada for the Regions of Quebec

Under its incorporating act, which came into effect on October 5, 2005, the mission of the Agency is to promote the long-term economic development of the regions of Quebec, giving special attention to those where slow economic growth is prevalent or opportunities for productive employment are inadequate. As part of its mission, the Agency is committed to promoting cooperation and a complementary relationship with Quebec and its communities.

Growth and jobs and the success of Quebec's regions and enterprises are central to the Agency's mission and consistent with the Government of Canada's top economic priorities

Present across Quebec through its business offices, the Agency is the key federal actor in the economic development of the regions of Quebec. It supports businesses and economic stakeholders in their development efforts and provides funding for their projects.

In addition to its regular programs, the Agency contributes to the design and implementation of national programs and targeted temporary initiatives to meet the challenges of specific situations in Quebec.

The Agency's approach is inspired by the best practices identified with respect to regional economic development. It is:

- Consistent with government priorities and national strategies related to its mission and anticipated results;
- Geared to the economic issues and challenges of enterprises and the different regions of Quebec, building on their assets and potential; and
- Collaborative with economic agents, such as local partners, other federal departments and agencies and the Quebec government.

Since April 1, 2012, the Agency has had one regular grants and contributions (G&C) program, the Quebec Economic Development Program (QEDP). In addition to this program, the Agency contributed to the design and implementation in Quebec of Canada-wide programs and targeted ad-hoc initiatives such as:

Agency's G&C Programs and Initiatives, 2014-2015

Access to Information and Privacy Office

The Access to Information and Privacy Office (AIPO) reports directly to the Deputy Minister/President's Chief of Staff.

AIPO has an access to information and privacy senior officer, as well as a coordinator. The senior officer, with the help of the coordinator, oversees compliance with legislation, regulations, procedures and broad government trends.

Through its delegated authority, AIPO represents the Agency on matters relating to the Act in dealings with the public, Treasury Board Secretariat, the Commissioners of Information and Privacy and other federal departments and institutions.

AIPO's chief duties are:

- Processing requests for access to information and coordinating all attendant administrative and legal operations.
- Assisting applicants.
- Developing opinions, general guidelines and procedures relating to application of the Act.
- Reporting on the Agency's application of the Act.
- Meeting the training and information needs of Agency employees.

Delegation of authority

The Agency's enabling legislation identifies its head as being the Deputy Minister/President. In addition to managing the institution and overseeing management of Agency personnel, the Deputy Minister/President is responsible for application of the Access to Information Act.

To this end, the authority for application of the Act was delegated to the Senior Advisor, Access to Information and Parliamentary Affairs, while most administrative authority was delegated to the Coordinator, Access to Information and Parliamentary Affairs.

Interpreting the statistical report on access to information requests

Highlights

The AIPO closed 15 of 20 requests received in 2014-2015 and carried over 5 requests to the next fiscal year. This is a slight decrease in the number of requests from last year, where 22 requests were received. The number of requests treated informally remained the same as last year at 9. The Agency processed 18 consultations received from other institutions, compared to 29 in 2013-2014.

The Agency had no late responses to any requests that were processed. Furthermore, 40% of all requests were answered prior to day 15. In 2014-2015, 1889 pages were processed and 552 disclosed.

The AIPO noticed a new trend emerging in 2014-2015. For the first time in 4 years, the vast majority of requests came from members of the public. In the past years, members of the media were the leading category of requesters. For the reporting period of 2014-2015, 60% of requests came from members of the public, while 20% came from the media.

Requests received and processed

The number of access requests received and processed in 2014-2015 was down from previous years. This is the second consecutive year that requests have gone down. Indeed, the AIPO received a total of 20 requests during the year, compared to 22 in 2013-2014 and 48 in 2012-2013. No request from last year was carried over into 2014-2015. However, 5 requests were carried over to the next reporting period. The work carried out on the proactive disclosure section to make it easier to retrieve data on grants and contributions was a factor in the number of requests processed. Now available on the Web, the more complete data enables users to generate their own files they would previously had to request.

Source of requests

A new trend emerged this year with members of the public accounting for majority of requesters with 60%. Members of the media and business followed with 20% and 15% respectively. The following table shows the sources of the requests.

Subjects of requests

The subjects of the requests received are just as varied as their sources. However, certain broad themes do recur each year, as they have done for a number of years.

During 2014-2015, more than half of the requests received (55%) were for documents related to grants or contributions. Last year, that number went as high as 96%. The nature of these documents meant that consultations with third parties were needed, which entailed more processing time. The other request processed (45%) was for documents pertaining to the Agency's internal activities.

Disposition and processing times

The Act stipulates that access requests must normally be answered within 30 calendar days. Of the 15 requests where an answer was provided in 2014-2015, 10 (67%) were answered in less than 30 days. Of those, 6 requests (60%) were answered in less than 15 days.

It is also important to note that the Act provides for extended deadlines for certain requests where consultations are needed with third parties or other organizations. Given the nature of the documents sought from the Agency in 2014-2015, several requests required such consultations. AIPO therefore had to extend the deadlines to be able to discharge its obligations under the Act.

Thus, of the number of requests closed during the year, 6 of them (40%) had their deadlines extended and the responses were provided prior to day 60, which is within the times specified in the Act. In addition, there was no late response to any request.

Disposition of Requests	Completion Time
	1 to 15 Days	16 to 30 Days	31 to 60 Days	61 to 120 Days	121 to 180 Days	181 to 365 Days	More Than 365 Days	Total

Disclosed in part	1	1	3	0	0	0	0	5

Total	6	4	5	0	0	0	0	15

In 2014-2015, the number of requests treated informally remained the same as the previous year, with 9 requests. This is the preferred way for requests that relate to public documents or to information that has already been processed under the Act, which is in accordance with Treasury Board Secretariat directives.

Exceptions and exclusions invoked

Considering the 12 requests for where information was provided, AIPO fully disclosed the information being sought, without invoking protection, for seven requests (58%) as compared to 39% last year. The AIPO invoked exemptions and exclusions in the 5 remaining requests (42%).

The following table shows the exemptions and exclusions invoked in 2014-2015. More than one section may be invoked for a given request.

Communication of disclosed documents

In 2013-2014, a total of 12 requests (80%) resulted in partial or full disclosure of documents. Of this number, 11 responses (92%) were disclosed in paper format and on (8%) in electronic format. It should be noted that communication in electronic format (sent on CD) is preferred, mainly in the case of voluminous records.

This year again, as this has been the case for many years, no records were consulted in the Agency's reading room.

Pages processed and disclosed

With the introduction in 2011-2012 by the Treasury Board Secretariat of a new detailed statistical report, it is now possible to report the number of pages reviewed and compare it with the number of pages disclosed.

These page numbers may vary considerably from year to year, depending on the subjects of interest and the quantity of relevant records held by the Agency.

The number of pages reviewed in 2014-2015 (1,889 pages) was less than that for the previous year (4,779 pages). There was a decrease in the number of pages disclosed. Indeed, 552 pages disclosed in this fiscal year, as compared to 2,414 pages in 2013-2014.

Consultations and extensions

Because of the nature of the Agency's operations, mainly aimed at allocating financial assistance to SMEs and organizations, it is not unusual for requests processed to require consultations with third parties and hence extensions of the times stipulated in the Act. In addition, consultations with another federal institution are sometimes needed when processing request, thus requiring time extensions.

In order to meet the demands of the Act, extensions were granted for 6 out of 15 requests processed (40%), which is almost equal as the percentage for last year. In each case, applicants were advised of the extension in accordance with the Act. Each consultation conducted with third parties and with another federal institution led to an extension of less than 30 days

Privy Council Office consultations and extensions

There was not any consultation conducted with the Privy Council Office for fiscal year 2014-2015. Indeed, there was no information requested which required a confirmation of the applicability of section 69.

Consultation requests from other federal institutions

For this current year, the AIPO processed a total of 18 requests from other federal institutions. These requests account for a total of 170 pages for processing. The number of consultations received in 2014-2015 comes close to the number in previous years, with the exception of 2013-2014 which saw an increase of 50%.

Of these 18 consultations, a recommendation for full disclosure was made for 16 requests (89%) and for partial disclosure for 2 (11%). Almost all of these requests were processed within 30 days.

Fees and exemptions

AIPO complies with the guidelines of the Treasury Board Secretariat with regard to the imposition and waiving of access fees. For example, it waives reproduction fees of less than $25. Above that amount, it decides whether or not full fees should be charged on the basis of perceived public interest.

In 2014-2015, a net amount of $75 was collected for submission of requests. No other amount was collected for any type of fee. Submission fees were waived for 9 requests. In each case, the AIPO waived the fees and processed the requests informally.

Costs

The cost of administering the Act fell in 2014-2015. The costs reached $97,857. This included $83,878 in salaries and $13,979 for travel, training, software licensing, supplies and translation.

Training

In fiscal 2011-2012, we were able to develop and deliver a series of mandatory training sessions entitled Access to Information and Privacy Protection. This major initiative was conducted by the AIPO team and instructed 316 Agency employees on issues of access to information and protection of personal data. In 2013-2014, AIPO continued with training, focusing on new Agency employees or those who did not have the opportunity to attend the training. To this end, seven training sessions were provided to a total of 43 employees.

In 2014-2015, no training session was delivered to Agency employees, as it is offered every other year. However, the AIPO remains available to deliver specific training to employees, whose duties call for a certain grasp of access to information matters. It should be noted that in 2014-2015, the Agency's access to information senior advisor lent his services and traveled to Nunavut to deliver five training sessions to employees of the Canadian Northern Economic Development Agency, as well as Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development Canada. It is a great example of collaboration between departments and also within the federal access to information community.

In addition, two awareness sessions were provided to new employees in the Minister's office.

The Agency posted on its intranet site an information capsule for all employees on the completion time for an ATI request. The purpose was to make employees aware of the importance of respecting the 30-day delay, as well as the reasons to allow for an extension.

Administrative policies and practices

Procedure

For the past four years, AIPO has had an Access to Information and Personal Information Procedure, submitted to and approved by the Agency's top management. No amendments were made in 2013-2014.

The procedure meets the demands of the Directive on the Administration of the Access to Information Act, as updated in January 2012. The purpose of this directive is to facilitate compliance with legislative and regulatory strictures, spell out the roles and responsibilities of all those involved in processing access requests and provide an efficient model of practices and processes for handling access requests.

In addition to presenting the roles and responsibilities of the various individuals involved, this procedure presents the process for handling requests, intended to illustrate the various processing and approval stages in effect at the Agency, based on the steps indicated in the following diagram.

RECEIPT

As part of a well defined process, AIPO is responsible for receiving and processing requests submitted under the Act and provides leadership in this regard. AIPO then forwards the requests to the office of primary interest, which is then responsible for forwarding the requested documents and providing AIPO with expert advice.

PROCESSING

Once the document extraction process has been completed, AIPO analyses the documents on the basis of the Act, consults the office of primary interest, the departments concerned and third parties, if necessary. It then informs the branches and sectors concerned of the recommended dispositions, which are then submitted to the Manager, Corporate Secretariat, for approval.

COMMUNICATION

A 48-hour notice included in AIPO's decision is sent simultaneously to the managers involved. The documents are then prepared for reporting and sent to the applicants.

Proactive disclosure

Since 2005, the public has been able to access the Agency's Web site to obtain quarterly information on travel and hospitality costs, contracts, reclassification of positions and grants and contributions to SMEs and NPOs.

In recent years, AIPO had noticed an increase in requests to obtain lists of projects funded by the Agency. Much of this information could, however, be found on the proactive disclosure Web pages. In order to facilitate access to the information requested and encourage transparency, AIPO, with the co-operation of other sectors, undertook work to make it easier to extract more complete data on projects funded by the Agency. As a result, the proactive disclosure pages now enable users to generate a file that makes it easier to sort the information, thus reducing the number of informal access to information requests. These changes also had an impact on the number of requests processed by the Agency. This year again, the Agency was able to refer requesters to its proactive disclosure website for the information that was being sought. In each case, the requester was more than satisfied with the information that was found.

Information available on the Agency's Web site

<http://www.dec-ced.gc.ca/eng/access-information/index.html>

One section of the Agency's site has information about its role in applying the Act. There, one can find especially details of access requests processed by AIPO and for which records have been released. In accordance with the Directive on the Administration of the Access to Information Act, the Agency has been publishing a monthly summary of access to information requests processed since May 2011. Summaries contain the identification, abstract and disposition of requests, as well as the number of pages released.

These Web pages also contain practical supplementary information to help citizens who want to file an access request. This section is intended as a gateway to AIPO's services.

Complaints and investigations

AIPO did not receive any new complaints over the course of the year. One complaint, received in July 2012, is still under investigation. The main point at issue was interpretation of section 20(1) regarding documents showing contribution amounts claimed by Agency clients and paid out. As this report was going to press, AIPO was waiting for the Commissioner's findings.

Monitoring the time

The AIPO ensures the time to process access to information requests is monitored through a weekly report of on-going requests. The report provides details of the day an answer is due for each request. This report is distributed to the Agency's senior management, including the deputy head.

Info Source

The Treasury Board Secretariat requires an updated account of all the Agency's information holdings so that they can be included in Info Source.

This publication has been located on the Secretariat's Web site for several years. For two years, AIPO has published its Info Source chapter on its Web site. This exercise allows the information holdings to be revised and updated at any time before they are published on line: <http://www.dec-ced.gc.ca/eng/publications/agency/info-source.html>

Reading Room

In order to encourage the general public to avail themselves of the existing mechanisms for obtaining information and to comply with the requirements of the Act, the Agency may designate a room in its Montreal offices to be used as a reading room for members of the public wishing to consult records under an access to information request. Similar arrangements may be made in the Agency's regional offices to better serve regional clients.

Actions planned for 2015-2016

AIPO will continue to respond to all requests for access to information in accordance with both the spirit and the letter of the Act.

Furthermore, it will continue to improve its workforce in order to continue improving its business practices and conform to directives, regulations and broad trends in access to information.

Business practices will be improved in 2014-2015 in particular through training activities:

- One-time training for AIPO staff on applying certain exceptions
- Continuation of the awareness sessions for all employees
- Distribution of information capsules to all employees
