ANNUAL REPORT

(April 1, 2013 to March 31, 2014)

1.0 Introduction

Canadian Heritage is pleased to present to Parliament its annual report on the administration of the Access to Information Act for fiscal year April 1, 2013 to March 31, 2014. Section 72 of the Act requires that the head of every federal government institution submit an annual report to Parliament on the administration of the Act during the fiscal year.

The purpose of the Access to Information Act is to provide a right of access to information in records under the control of a government institution. It maintains that government information should be available to the public; that necessary exceptions to the right of access should be limited and specific; and that decisions on the disclosure of government information should be reviewed independently of government.

Canadian Heritage is fully committed to both the spirit and the intent of the Access to Information Act to ensure openness and transparency within the Department. The information contained in this report provides an overview of the activities of the Department in implementing the Act.

2.0 Mandate of Canadian Heritage

The Department of Canadian Heritage and Canada's major national cultural institutions play a vital role in the cultural, civic and economic life of Canadians. We work together to support culture, the arts, heritage, official languages, citizenship and participation, in addition to Aboriginal, youth, and sport initiatives.

The Department of Canadian Heritage is responsible for programs and policies that help all Canadians participate in their shared cultural and civic life. The Department's legislative mandate is set out in the Department of Canadian Heritage Act and other statutes for which the Minister of Canadian Heritage and Official Languages is responsible and presents a wide-ranging list of responsibilities for the Minister under the heading of "Canadian identity and values, cultural development, and heritage."

The Department oversees numerous statutes, namely the Broadcasting Act, the Copyright Act and the Investment Canada Act (the latter two acts shared with Industry Canada), the Official Languages Act (Part VII), the Museums Act, the Cultural Property Export and Import Act, the Status of the Artist Act, and the Physical Activity and Sport Act (shared with Health Canada).

The Department of Canadian Heritage is specifically responsible for formulating and implementing cultural policies related to copyright, foreign investment and broadcasting, as well as policies related to arts, culture, heritage, official languages, sport, state ceremonial and protocol, and Canadian symbols. The Department's programs, delivered through Headquarters, and multiple points of service including five regional offices across the country, fund community and third-party organizations to promote the benefits of culture, identity, and sport for Canadians.

The Minister of Canadian Heritage and Official Languages, assisted by the Minister of State for Sport, is accountable to Parliament for the Department and the nineteen organizations that make up the Canadian Heritage Portfolio.

3.0 The Access to Information and Privacy Secretariat

The Access to Information and Privacy (ATIP) Secretariat is responsible for administering the Access to Information Act within Canadian Heritage. Its mandate is to act on behalf of the Minister of Canadian Heritage in ensuring compliance with legislation, regulations and government policy and to create departmental directives, including standards, in all matters relating to the Act. The powers, duties and functions of the administration of the Access to Information Act have been fully delegated by the Minister to the Director of the Access to Information and Privacy Secretariat.

During the reporting period, the Secretariat consisted of the following positions: Director, Deputy Director, six analysts, one project manager and two administrative support staff. In the departmental organizational structure, the ATIP Secretariat reports to the Corporate Secretariat for Canadian Heritage.

The activities of the ATIP Secretariat include:

- receiving and processing requests in accordance with the Act;
- promoting awareness of the Act within the Department;
- preparing the annual report to Parliament, the annual statistical report and maintaining the Department's Info Source chapter;
- monitoring departmental compliance with the Act; and
- providing professional advice and guidance to senior management and all departmental staff on the Act.

The ATIP Secretariat is continuously looking for new ways to streamline the processing of requests. During this reporting period, a substantial change in the Treasury Board Secretariat Access to Information Manual regarding the processing of Cabinet confidences resulted in significant amendments to institution-specific procedures. Rather than consulting the Privy Council Office, the ATIP Secretariat is required to consult the internal legal services unit in instances where information that may qualify as a Cabinet confidence has been identified in response to a request. This new process has considerably reduced the time required to process such records.

4.0 Administration of Requests under the *Access to Information Act

4.1 Access Requests

The ATIP Secretariat received a total of 241 requests during the reporting period of April 1, 2013 to March 31, 2014. Fifty six requests were carried over from the previous reporting period for a total of 297 active requests. See Appendix B for the Statistical Report on the Access to Information Act.

The requests for information received by Canadian Heritage cover a wide range of topics, however, as in previous years, certain subjects tend to predominate. For this reporting period, the most frequently requested information related to correspondence with CBC/Radio-Canada and with the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission. Other information sought pertained to museum funding and planning for upcoming anniversaries. Of the requests received this reporting period, 22% pertained to various international sporting events. This is a significant increase from 9% of requests made in the previous two fiscal years.

Requests were also made for information related to the grants and contributions process, briefing notes to the Minister and Question Period card information. A number of routine requests were also received including requests for call ups for temporary help services, travel and hospitality expenses, and contract proposals, evaluations and deliverables.

Starting July 2011, the Treasury Board Secretariat required institutions to post lists of completed access to information requests on their website. The goal is to enable the public to make informal requests for records that were previously released. This was the second reporting period in which we received informal requests as a result of public posting. The ATIP Secretariat received 63 informal requests for information, relating to 202 previously released requests which represented 35,783 pages of records. This represents a 24% increase in page volume from last reporting period.

4.2 Applicant Sources

Of the requests that were received this reporting period, the media made 53% of the requests. The remaining requests were from the public, businesses, academia, and other organizations. In comparison with the last reporting period, statistics show that requests from academia decreased by 85%, while requests from organizations increased by 48%.

4.3 Extensions

Requests can be extended beyond the 30-day statutory time frame in three circumstances. This reporting period, extensions were taken in 167 cases. In 14 cases, the department required a 30-day time extension to allow for document searching or consultation with other federal institutions. In 153 cases, an extension of over 30 days was required, including 15 for searching, 90 for consultation and 48 for consultation with third parties. Of the requests closed this reporting period, 45% required extensions. This was a minor increase from last reporting period.

4.4 Completed Requests

Two hundred and fifty-six requests were completed by the end of March 2014. Nearly three quarters of requests completed resulted in either a partial disclosure or a full disclosure of information. Requests processed where no records existed decreased by 28% from last reporting period. Information was excluded entirely in one request. Thirty requests were either transferred to other federal institutions or were abandoned by the applicants.

Of the 205 requests received and closed this reporting period, all but one were completed within the statutory timeframe. While trying to ensure that new requests were completed on time, the ATIP Secretariat continued with its plan to eliminate its backlog of access requests. To this end, the Secretariat hired a consultant to assist the full time staff and work on the backlog of outstanding requests. This year, the Secretariat's perseverance paid off and the backlog files were successfully eliminated.

The 256 completed requests were processed in the following timeframes:

- 45% of requests completed within 30 days
- 9% of requests completed within 31 to 60 days
- 23% of requests completed within 61 to 120 days
- 23% of requests completed within 121 or more days

4.5 Exemptions / Exclusions

The Access to Information Act does not apply to certain materials. The legislation allows for these materials to be excluded from the processing of a request. This reporting period, exclusions were applied in 53 requests. Subsection 69(1) (confidences of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada) was applied in 52 requests and paragraph 68(a) (published material) was applied in one request. Additionally, section 68.1 (CBC information relating to journalistic, creative, or programming activities) was applied twice.

The Access to Information Act also sets out specific exceptions to the right of access. These exceptions are known as exemptions. Each exemption is intended to protect information relating to a particular public or private interest and form the only basis for refusing access to government information under the Access to Information Act. Of the 256 requests completed, exemptions to withhold information were invoked in 129 requests. The exemptions most commonly applied by the Department were: section 19(1) (records containing personal information), applied in 101 requests; section 21(1) (information relating to the internal decision-making processes of government) invoked in 73 requests; and section 20(1) (records containing third-party business information) which was invoked in 56 requests.

4.6 Complaints and Investigations

In the fiscal year, nineteen complaints regarding the processing of access to information requests were filed with the Office of the Information Commissioner of Canada against Canadian Heritage, twelve of which were on four requests on the same subject. The reasons for the 19 complaints are: length of extensions (1), delay (4), application of exclusions – s.68 (4), application of exclusions – s.69 (4), application of exemptions (5), and miscellaneous (1).

The Office of the Information Commissioner also completed their investigation into thirteen complaints on Canadian Heritage. Their findings concluded that 7 complaints were not well founded and 6 complaints were discontinued. At the end of the fiscal year, 21 complaints were ongoing.

4.7 Federal Court Cases

Canadian Heritage was not involved in Federal Court cases during this reporting period.

4.8 Consultations

To assist other institutions in processing their requests, the ATIP Secretariat reviews and provides recommendations on the disclosure of records that concern Canadian Heritage. During the reporting period, the ATIP Secretariat received a total of 103 consultation requests from other federal institutions and other governments. This was a 34% decrease from the previous fiscal year.

4.9 Fees and Costs

Under the legislation, fees for application and reproduction of a record can be charged. During the reporting period, total fees collected were $1,130. Of this amount, $1,080 was for application fees, and $50 for search. The policy at Canadian Heritage is to waive reproduction and search fees that are under $25. It is also our policy to waive the fees for overdue requests.

As was the case in the two previous fiscal years, no reproduction fees were collected since more applicants were requesting to receive copies of the requested records on compact disks rather than receive them as photocopies. Reproduction fees can be charged for photocopies but no fees are charged for compact disks as they are not stipulated in the legislation.

The ATIP Secretariat incurred $762,422 in salary costs and $160,962 in administrative costs to administer the Access to Information Act. During the fiscal year, the Secretariat hired a consultant to process the backlog of late files.

5.0 Education and Training Activities

To increase the knowledge and understanding of the Access to Information Act across the department, training and awareness sessions were delivered to departmental employees. These sessions provided basic information on the purpose and provisions of the Access to Information Act, as well as the roles and responsibilities of departmental employees and the ATIP Secretariat.

The ATIP Secretariat has concentrated on marketing awareness services through existing departmental initiatives. Information sessions continued to be provided to new departmental staff and managers through the Canadian Heritage orientation program. This program provides an introduction to the key aspects of the Department including who and what we are and how we get things done. For sessions requested by branches, information was tailored to meet the specific needs of the branch concerned.

This reporting period, the ATIP Secretariat delivered 22 awareness sessions on the Access to Information Act to 282 departmental employees in the National Capital Region and regional offices. Of particular note, sessions were given to approximately 100 new employees as a result of the transfer of certain National Capital Commission programs to Canadian Heritage in October 2013.

The internal website for the ATIP Secretariat is a tool that is accessible to all departmental employees which describes the ATIP Secretariat's roles and responsibilities and provides information on the Access to Information Act and related departmental policies and procedures.

6.0 Reporting

The ATIP Secretariat met its reporting obligations for the reporting period, by providing timely input to the Departmental Performance Report (DPR), annual reports, and Info Source. The statistical report on the Access to Information Act was provided to the Treasury Board Secretariat. Additionally, the Department's annual reports on the administration of the Access to Information Act have been made available on the Internet site.

Internally, the ATIP Secretariat monitored the time to process requests on a daily basis with the ATIP case management system, as well as bi-weekly through meetings between ATIP officers and ATIP Secretariat management. Situation and update reports that provide details on the status of requests were provided to liaison officers and senior management of program areas as well as the Deputy Minister's office on a weekly basis.
