2.0 Statistical highlights about the arts in Saskatchewan⁴

- In Saskatchewan, 62 % of the province's 3,000 artists reside in Regina (960) or Saskatoon (875).
- Among the ten large cities on the Prairies, Regina has the highest artistic concentration, with 1.0 % of the local labour force in the arts. The artistic concentration in Regina is tied for tenth among large Canadian cities.
- Saskatoon has 0.8% of its local labour force in the arts occupations and ranks fifth of the ten large cities in the Prairies.
- Relative to overall labour force growth from 1991 to 2001, growth in the arts labour force was highest in Regina, over 43 times the growth in the overall local labour force.
- Saskatchewanians spent $740 million on cultural goods and services in 2005. This amounts to 3.5% of total consumer spending in the province. The $740 million in consumer spending on culture is over three times larger than the $210 million spent on culture in Saskatchewan by all levels of government in 2003-04. On a per capita basis, Saskatchewanians' cultural spending is the fourth highest among Canadian provinces at $837 per resident.
- In 2005, the three most popular cultural and heritage activities in Saskatchewan were: reading newspapers (88% of the population 15 or older); listening to music on CD's, cassette tapes, DVD audio discs, records, etc. (80%); and reading a magazine (79%).
- In 2005, 35% of Saskatchewanians 15 or older (270,000 residents) attended a concert or performance by professional artists of music, dance, theatre or opera (excluding cultural festivals). This is lower than the Canadian rate of 41%.

Examples of Canada Council funding in Saskatchewan⁵

The Canada Council supports the endeavours of professional artists and arts organizations through its programs. The following selection illustrates the scope of the activities supported by the Canada Council in Saskatchewan.

The Northern Saskatchewan International Children's Festival received a Multidisciplinary Festivals Project Grant of $15,000 from the Inter-Arts office to present programming at the June 2008 festival. The four-day festival aims to provide a multi-media performing arts event that challenges the minds and enriches the lives of children. Though it takes place in Saskatoon, the NSICF draws its audience from across Saskatchewan, with rural schools from the North and South representing over 40% of attendance figures. 2008 marked the 20th anniversary of the NSICF and activities included a comedy night, a family sing-along circle, a variety show and a pancake breakfast.

Saskatoon Community Youth Arts Programming (SCYAP) was awarded $8,200 through the Visual Arts section's Artists and the Community Collaboration Program to support the Urban Canvas Project from January to October, 2008. SCYAP was established to address the social, educational and economic needs of youth through participation in visual arts creation. The Urban Canvas Project forms the core of SCYAP's yearly activities. Through the project, 12 at-risk youth participants are selected based on their readiness to make positive changes in their lives and their interest in visual arts, to work with professional artists on collaborative public art projects. In previous years, after participating in the program, 90% of participants have found employment, returned to secondary school, or pursued post-secondary studies.

Through the Grants for the Translation of Canadian Theatre Works program, La Troupe du Jour of Saskatoon received $2,155 for the translation from French to English of Les Vieux pèteux (Old Farts), by Franco-Saskatchewan playwright Madeleine Blais-Dahlem. Les Vieux pèteux is a comedy following the conversation of three "old farts" as they sit in a food court sipping coffee, scratching lottery tickets, and waiting to die. La Troupe du Jour presented the play in its original version with English subtitles from March 5 to 9, 2009 at the Refinery Arts and Spirit Centre in Saskatoon. Having subtitles allowed the francophone theatre company to attract new anglophone clientele and offer more performances.

Poet and freelance science writer Mari-Lou Rowley of Moose Jaw, received $1,500 through the Travel Grants to Professional Writers program to participate in the Poetic Ecologies Conference at the Université Libre de Bruxelles in Belgium from May 14 to 17, 2008. Poetic Ecologies is a major fourday event bringing together 100 international poets and scholars who are interested in the emerging fields of ecopoetics, nature poetry, and ecocriticism in English language verse. Rowley presented an evening reading with five other poets and participated in a panel on the intersections between science and literature.

Through the Visual Arts section's Visiting Foreign Artists Program, Saskatoon arts magazine BlackFlash was awarded a grant of $3,000 to host UK artist Steven Pippin for a residency from October 11 to 25, 2007. BlackFlash, which reflects critically on lens-based and advanced media arts practices, invited Pippin because of his innovative investigations of the photographic process. Pippin has gained international repute for his "guerilla-like" socio-photographic projects, including his celebrated Laundromat-Locomotion piece, where he converted 12 public washing machines into pinhole cameras. While in Saskatoon, Pippin presented a series of workshops, a brief exhibition and public artist lecture, and produced a series of lens-based experiments using cameras constructed of cardboard.

Amy Horvey of Cabri was the recipient of $1,000 from the Travel Grants to Professional Musicians program to participate in the 2007 Chosen Vale International Trumpet Seminar in Einfield, New Hampshire, from June 18 to 30. Horvey participated in master classes with Edward Carroll, Markus Stockhausen, Gabriel Cassone, Mark Gould, Thomas Stevens and Steven Burns and performed three concerts at the Mary Keene Chapel. According to Horvey, the mentoring she received at the seminar was fruitful beyond her expectations, and she expects it will play a major role in her future professional development.

$7,500 was awarded to the Station Arts Centre Cooperative of Rosthern through the Theatre Production Project Grants: Established Artists' Development/Production program for the production of The Drawer Boy in July 2007. Michael Healey's The Drawer Boy, which received the 1999 Governor General's Award for Drama, is the story of a young Toronto actor who moves to the farm of two aging bachelors, to do hands-on research for an upcoming theatre project. Initially an amusing portrayal of the rural-urban clash, the play leads to a deeper investigation of hidden secrets. The Station Arts Centre's production, starring veteran Saskatchewan actors, Kent Allan, Kelly Handerek and Skye Brandon, was well-attended and well-received. According to the center, it was of the quality essential to promoting the arts in rural Saskatchewan.

$25,000 was awarded to Moose Jaw's Living Skies Festival of Words through the Literary Readings and Festivals program to assist the organization in hosting Canadian writers for the 12th annual Saskatchewan Festival of Words, from July 17 to 20, 2008. The festival celebrates the imaginative uses of language by Canadian wordsmiths and aims to appeal to a wide variety of ages, interests, and tastes with written and non-written works in fiction, poetry, editing, nonfiction, publishing, song and drama. Invited writers took part in presentations, songs, readings, comedy sketches, talks, interviews and panels. Participants this year included Elizabeth Hay, recipient of the 2007 Giller Prize, and Don Domanski, winner of the 2007 Governor General's Award for Literature in poetry.

Contemporary dancer and choreographer Robin Poitras of Regina received a $30,000 Production Project Grant in Dance to research, create and perform a new body of work, BUILT: a sheltering mirage, from May 2007 to May 2008. Poitras' performance work often uses found or formed objects, texts, visuals or other media in examining "the relationships and resonance among the worlds of art, science and nature and in exploring how these worlds feed back and forth in mythical, mysterious, elusive and sometimes obvious ways." For BUILT: a sheltering mirage, Poitras' performance pieces will work with the architecture of Clifford Wiens to consider the relationship between the spaces constructed by architecture and invented by dance, and their respective permanence and impermanence. Saskatoon's John Arcand Fiddle Fest Inc. was awarded a $20,000 Aboriginal Peoples Music Program grant to support programming for this year's festival, held from August 9 to 12, 2007. The four-day festival, founded by Métis fiddler John Arcand, is dedicated to the preservation of Métis culture through music, dance and community with a primary focus on cultivating the talent of young performers. This year marked the 10th anniversary of the festival and programming included fiddle, guitar, piano and jigging workshops, fiddle and jigging contests, "Old Time" dances and three fiddle concert showcases. The pinnacle of anniversary celebrations was a concert presented by John Arcand and six young fiddlers who had been showcased at the festival in previous years.

Phyllis Nakonechny of Swift Current was awarded $4,000 as the 2007 second-place winner of the CBC Literary Awards for Vidh, in the Creative Non-Fiction category. Nakonechny taught high school English and creative writing for 30 years before the death of her husband, after which she began seriously pursuing her own work. The jury commented: "Vidh is an eloquent and moving meditation on grief at the death of a husband from cancer. Intimate and sometimes lyrical, yet firmly rooted in mundane details and images – lawn tools, deodorant, a robin – it rises above familiar treatments of the subject."

First-time grant applicant and recipient, Les Cireux d'Semelles of Gravelsbourg received $3,500 to participate in the Gigue en Fête international folklore festival in Sainte-Marie de Beauce, Québec, in June 2008. The francophone music group, composed of Justin Bell, Mario Poulin, David Poulin and Jessé Michaud, prides itself on the energy of its traditional music, with sounds from the guitar, fiddle, mandolin, button accordion, Irish bouzouki, didgeridoo and feet. Les Cireux d'Semelles was the only western Canadian group invited to perform at the festival. With its distinct Saskatchewan musical style, the group saw the festival as an opportunity to reach Eastern Canadian francophones with something unique, to engage in cultural exchange, and to promote its new album le bel accent.

In 2007-08, a Grant to Film and Video Artists in the amount of $14,000 was awarded to Jason Britski of Regina to produce a short experimental film entitled Black Ice. Black Ice will offer a portrait of the Saskatchewan winter landscape and will examine the relationship between Britski's own identity and this environment. It will also attempt to uncover connections between a larger "Canadian" identity and the basic elements of different images of the landscape. This will be the second part of a series of films Britski has produced exploring varied landscapes. Britski feels this piece will enable him to develop as a filmmaker, mixing both formal considerations and deeply personal reflection.

In 2007-08, through the Co-operative Projects in Writing and Publishing program, the Saskatchewan Publishers Group (SPG) received $3,600 to support its Saskatchewan Books in Schools program. The program aims to raise awareness of Saskatchewan-published books in the province's schools and libraries. Through presentations, meetings, book preview programs, displays and book fairs with teachers and librarians, the SPG hopes that the project will raise awareness of the wealth, vibrancy and variety of books published within the province.
