The Wild Side

Mountain goat

Mountain goats have white coats, beards, and short black dagger-like horns. They are actually not goats but belong to a family of mountain antelopes of Asia. They can often be seen at the Mount Kerkeslin "Goat Lick" viewpoint and at Disaster Point on the icefields on Highway 16 east of Jasper.

That's a Big Horn!

Bighorn sheep have a sandy coloured coat and a white rump. The ram's massive curved horns are unmistakable. Bighorns are primarily grazers and migrate seasonally between low grassy slopes and alpine meadows.

The howl of the coyote

Coyotes look like a medium-sized grayish dog with a slender muzzle, large pointed ears, and a bushy tail but that's where the likeness ends. Coyotes are very vocal. At night, listen and you may hear their nocturnal howls.

Busy Black Bear

Black Bears can be light reddish brown or multi-coloured in streaks and patches. They have long faces and large ears where grizzlies have a hump on the shoulder, a flatter forehead and smaller ears.

Great Grizzly

A Grizzly Bear has a large muscular hump on its shoulders and can weigh up to 320 kg. Cubs are born in late January to early February and weigh about half a kg (under 1 lb.) By the time the female emerges from the den with her cubs, they weigh around 8 kg (18 lbs.)

Give these animals the space they need. Your responsible behaviour contributes to the survival of wildlife – and your own safety!
