The many changes in nations and technology over past decades have greatly affected the public order of the oceans. For this reason the states of the world convened the Third United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea—to question the validity of the 300-year-old laws that presently govern the oceans. This booklet summarizes these major changes, shows the challenges involved in revising the Law of the Sea, and presents Canada's approach to the management and conservation of world marine resources.

Design for people. Prepared for the National Design Council of Canada by the Defence and Civil Institute of Environmental Medicine. Ottawa, 1975. 86p. illus. graphs, photographs. 28cm. Paper bound. Bilingual.

Good design has emerged as a vital necessity to our future. The Council, in conjunction with the Defence and Civil Institute of Environmental Medicine, have identified that there is currently inadequate consideration of human physical and psychological factors in the design of many products, systems and man-made environments. This state of affairs affects the physical, mental and social behaviour of a large number of Canadians and also negatively influences the sale of Canadian goods and services. The present publication focuses on human engineering or the use of human factors in designing products of everyday use at home, at work and at leisure. This publication intends to increase the awareness of decision makers in both the public and private sectors of the importance of human factor consideration in design.

Firstly, to inquire into and report upon any new evidence or evidence not previously considered by the Government of Canada affecting the decision to locate a new international airport at a site near Pickering rather than expand the existing Toronto International Airport. Secondly, to inquire into and to report on the role of the new international airport, its opening date, the nature of ground access to it and between the new international airport and the Malton Airport and whether downtown terminals should be established for passenger convenience.

REGIONAL ECONOMIC EXPANSION*Water law in Canada: The Atlantic provinces, by G. V. LaForest and Associates. Ottawa, 1973. 550p. 25cm. Paper cover.

This study is intended to give a comprehensive analysis of the legal framework of water resources in the Atlantic Provinces. In so far as the scope of the study is concerned it is limited to water as a resource; for example, the use of water for consumption, for irrigation, or for the generation of power fall clearly within the terms of reference. So, too, activities affecting the quantity or quality of water, e.g. pollution, come within the study. But activities having only an incidental connection with water, for example, distribution of electric power, are not covered by the study.

STATISTICS CANADA

Annual and Occasional

I: GENERAL

Canada Year Book, 1974: annual review of economic, social and political developments in Canada. Ottawa, 1974. 914p. Tables, figs., charts, maps. 25cm. Cloth bound. (Also French.)

Prepared in the Canada Year Book Section, Information Division, Statistics Canada.

This edition maintains the basic pattern of the 1973 edition. Important data on family incomes and expenditures form the basis of a new chapter on Incomes and Social Security which emphasizes income support rather than welfare. The Research chapter now incorporates extensive data collected by Statistics Canada on federal expenditures on the natural and human sciences, and covers the full range of activities in these fields conducted by federal and provincial organizations including planning agencies. The Energy chapter has been further revised to reflect the latest developments in this important area and the Housing chapter has been re-written to describe recent changes in federal housing programs. An expanded section on federal-provincial fiscal relations, in the Government Finance chapter, describes in more detail the tax sharing agreements and transfer payments between these levels of government. New tables and charts of current interest have been added.

This document deals with the inner city, defined generally as the residential and mixed areas surrounding the central core of large cities. It responds to a perceived need for a better understanding of Canadian inner cities which, as the report shows, differ in important ways from the central cores of urban areas in the United States. The inner city is differentiated from the rest of the urban area in terms of age, form, location and sociological functions. The report defines four types of inner city areas on the basis of differing conditions and trends, and elaborates on the dimensions of each type, its problems and potential for the future.

Les multiples changements survenus dans le domaine de la technologie et dans la configuration du monde au cours des dernières décennies ont profondément affecté l'ordre public sur les océans. Cette constatation a amené les états à s'interroger sur la validité des lois tricontinentales qui régissent les océans et à convoquer la Troisième Conférence des Nations Unies sur le droit de la mer. La présente brochure brosse à grands traits ces bouleversements, montre les difficultés que pose la révision du droit de la mer et expose la politique que poursuit le Canada face à la gestion et la conservation des ressources océaniques.

Un design de qualité est devenu vital pour notre avenir. Le Conseil, en collaboration avec l'Institut militaire et civil de Médecine environnementale, a reconnu qu'on ne tenait pas assez compte des facteurs humains, tant physiques que psychologiques, dans la conception des objets et systèmes, comme dans celle de l'environnement humain. Le comportement physique et psychosociologique d'un grand nombre de Canadiens s'en trouve affecté et, en outre, cela exerce une influence néfaste sur les ventes de biens et services canadiens. Le présent document est consacré à la psychanalyse industrielle, c'est-à-dire l'usage des données humaines dans la réalisation des produits que l'on utilise chaque jour chez soi, au travail et pendant ses loisirs. Le but du présent document est d'attirer l'attention des responsables, tant dans le secteur public que privé, sur l'importance du rôle que joue l'élément humain dans le design.

1: GÉNÉRALITÉS

Annuaire du Canada, 1974: exposé annuel de l'évolution économique, sociale et politique du Canada. Ottawa, 1974. 1017p. Tableaux, figs., graphiques, cartes. 25cm. Relié toile. (Aussi anglais.)

Préparé dans la Section de l'Annuaire du Canada, Division de l'information, Statistique Canada.

La présente édition suit essentiellement le même mode de présentation que celle de 1973. Des données importantes sur les revenus et les dépenses des familles sont à la base d'un nouveau chapitre sur les revenus et la sécurité sociale qui met l'accent sur le soutien du revenu plutôt que sur le bien-être. Le chapitre sur la recherche comprend maintenant une grande quantité de données recueillies par Statistique Canada sur les dépenses du gouvernement fédéral au titre des sciences naturelles et des sciences humaines et couvre toute la gamme d'activités exercées dans ces domaines par des organismes fédéraux et provinciaux, y compris les organismes de planification économique. Le chapitre sur l'énergie a été mis à jour de façon à refléter la récente tournure des événements dans ce secteur important et le chapitre sur l'habitation a été réécrit afin de faire état des derniers changements dans les programmes fédéraux concernant l'habitation. Dans le chapitre sur les finances publiques, une section sur les relations fiscales entre les gouvernements fédéral et provinciaux décrit plus en détail les ententes relatives au partage des impôts et les paiements de transfert entre ces paliers de gouvernement. De nouveaux tableaux et graphiques d'intérêt courant ont été ajoutés.
