TREND SUMMARY

Manufacturers' shipments in the first quarter of 1963 were at a monthly rate of $2.2 billion, five per cent higher than shipments in the first quarter of 1962 and sixteen per cent higher than shipments in the first quarter of 1961. Since manufacturers' shipments remained relatively stable from the spring of 1959 for two years a comparison of the first quarter shipments this year with those in 1961 serves also to indicate the general rise in the level of shipments which began in May of 1961 and is continuing this year. The rate of increase is sharply higher in the durable goods industries which are up ten per cent this year compared with 1962 and twenty-six per cent higher than in the first quarter of 1961. Non-durable goods, which move less sharply, were four per cent higher in the first quarter this year as compared with last and ten per cent higher than average shipments in the first three months of 1961.

The rise in non-durable goods shipments has been accompanied by a steady increase in manufacturers' inventories which at the end of March this year were two per cent higher than at the end of March last year and six and nine per cent respectively than at the end of March in 1961 and 1960. The initial rise in 1960 appears to have taken place in finished goods inventories as shipments slackened during 1959; finished goods inventories were held fairly level during 1961 and altho' they have risen again since June 1962 the rate of increase in raw materials and goods in process has been higher.

In the durable goods industries finished goods inventories are a somewhat heterogeneous group in total more meaningful by industries as they include everything from small electric appliances to industrial machinery. The goods in process inventory values however appear even in total to indicate the level of activity in the durable goods industries. The basic trend from the September 1958 to September 1961 was downward with an increase in the downward rate from August 1959 to December 1960. Inventories of goods in process began to move up in the third quarter of 1961, anticipating the increase in shipments which did not begin until early 1962. The increase was steadily upward until the third quarter of 1962 when inventories fell off but the upward movement began again this year and at the end of March goods in process inventories in the durable industries were four per cent higher than at the end of December, fourteen per cent higher than at the end of March 1962 and almost, one per cent below, at the level of inventories at the end of March 1958 just before the decline started.

CONCEPTS, METHODS AND LIMITATIONS

CONCEPTS

SHIPMENTS, ORDERS AND INVENTORIES (Tables 1, 2, 3 and 4):

Shipments - represent an estimated projection, on a monthly basis, of the latest available Gross Value of Factory Shipments from the annual Census of Manufactures. In the majority of cases, Census of Manufactures values include (a) sales from manufacturing plant of products made at the plant, (b) amounts received for repairs or custom work, (c) shipments of goods manufactured in the plant for further processing in another unit of the same company, and (d) shipments of finished products to manufacturers' sales branches for sale, for each establishment included. The value level used is defined as "factory selling value". Goods purchased for re-sale without further processing are not included.(1)

New Orders - This series is designed to indicate the rate at which new business is being received. It is defined as all New Orders Received during the period at estimated selling values. Thus it covers total new orders, net of cancellations, regardless of whether the orders will be filled from stock or as a result of activity during the same month (and, therefore, will also be reported as shipments in the month received) or whether they will be added to existing backlogs.

Unfilled Orders - are defined as estimated selling value, at the end of the period stated, of orders received but not yet shipped (or treated as a sale), irrespective of work done on them or of stocks from which they can be filled. (Since progress payments are treated for this survey as sales in the month received, total unfilled orders reported each month by firms operating on a progress payments basis are reduced by the total of progress accounts for these firms.) This definition of Unfilled Orders is therefore an expression in terms of future shipments values.

Total Inventory Owned - represents the estimated book value of inventory owned by manufacturers in connection with manufacturing operations, whether held at plant or not, at the end of the period stated. It is made up of:

- (a) raw materials;
- (b) goods in process;
- (c) finished goods of own manufacture at plant and warehouse;
- less (d) value of inventory held but not owned. This item cannot be assigned to specific components.

Since the series relates to manufacturing inventory only, the value of inventory of goods purchased for re-sale without further processing is not included.

Inventory Held but Not Owned - represents, as far as possible, the portion of manufacturers' total inventory holdings which are no longer owned by the reporting manufacturers because of payments made on long-term contracts as work on these progresses. This item is applicable only to the relatively few industries where long-term contracts are common although, because of the nature of the item, the value per industry is high.

Because of variations in accounting methods there are a few cases where it is not possible to obtain values for this type of inventory - some firms treat progress receipts as sales and reduce book value of inventory as payments are received; in some of these cases they no longer have records of actual holdings above the book value level. Wherever estimates are available, these have been included, but the estimated value of inventory under this heading must be considered, to some extent, incomplete.

Total Inventory Held - represents the estimated total book value of manufacturers' inventory holdings in connection with manufacturing operations, regardless of ownership; it differs from total inventory owned because of the inclusion of inventory held under progress payments arrangements. It includes items (a) to (c) as shown above under total inventory owned.

Inventory Components: Raw Materials, Goods in Process, and Finished Products, are reported and compiled as on the books of each manufacturer, i.e. there has been no attempt to make definitions of components appropriate to each industry.

- (1) There are a few exceptions to the definition of Census of Manufsctures values given above:
  - (i) In two industries, Sawmills, and Slaughtering and Meat Packing, custom work is valued at the estimated selling value of the product rather than by the amounts received for such work.
  - (ii) In four industries, Fabricated Structural Metal, Aircraft, Railroad Rolling Stock and Shipbuilding, the Census of Manufactures value is for "work done during the year", i.e. production of finished goods plus change in goodsin-process inventory during the year, rather than shipments. For these industries, the Census of Manufactures values are also adjusted by change in finished products inventory before projection for the monthly series.

There are three industries apart from those listed under (ii) above, for which adjustments to Census of Manufactures values are made before projection for the monthly series. In the Flour Mills, Breweries and Fruit and Vegetable Canners and Preservers industries, all of which are characterized by large seasonal variations, many large firms operate on fiscal year periods (which are used in Census of Manufactures compilations) differing from the calendar year. In unusual years the projection of Census of Manufactures values for these industries, as if they represent calendar year values, could cause considerable distortion in the estimates. To avoid this, the Census of Manufactures values have been adjusted to estimated calendar year values before projection. This adjustment is based on values reported to the monthly survey.

Firms operating on long-term contracts represent a special problem for the monthly series. The value levels projected are those of the Census of Manufactures as described in the first paragraph (except for the four industries described under (ii) above). However, for the monthly series, all progress receipts on long-term contracts are included as sales in the month received, instead of the total sale being included in the month the sale is finalized. It is felt that this treatment gives a better indication of monthly activity but it does allow possible distortion of value levels in that, for the Census of Manufactures value which is being projected, any final sale will be recorded in one specific year, while the monthly series may have spread this sale over more than one calendar year. Since the bulk of the value of long-term contract work falls in the four industries noted (in (ii) above), for which adjustments for work done are made in compiling the Census of Manufactures value, this inconsistency does not affect the all-industry or group totals to any great extent.

The inventory components are always a breakdown of total inventory held, not of total inventory owned. In industries where these two items differ, due to the inclusion of inventory held but not owned (see above), it is not possible to obtain value of inventory owned by components since, where separate progress accounts are maintained, firms concerned can only state that, of total holdings, a certain amount is no longer owned by them. It is fairly obvious that the bulk of such payments apply to goods in process holdings but due to time lags in shipments and to prepayments some of the total value of inventory held but not owned would be applicable to finished products or raw materials.

Any comparisons of shipments/inventory ratios should be made using total inventory owned, not total inventory held, since the latter includes values which have already been written off to ssles. If shipments/inventory ratios are desired using inventory components, rather than total inventory, a reasonable approximation to total inventory owned by components would be obtained by assuming that all inventory held but not owned had been included with goods in process.

Groupings - The Standard Industrial Classification groupings of industries used in Table 3, are defined according to the Standard Industrial Classification Manual.

METHODS

(a) Current Estimates .

For six series (plant shipments, raw materials, goods in process, plant finished products, inventory held but not owned and unfilled orders) current value estimates for each industry covered are made by applying the monthly percentage changes shown by the unweighted group of reporting firms in each industry to the latest available benchmark values for the same industries. Industries not covered are carried at the latest available benchmark levels.

(The above is subject to a few exceptions. In one industry, reporting firms are treated as a stratum sample, rather than as an unweighted group. In three industries, available physical data on stocks and shipments are valued using price indexes. In three industries, shipments estimates are based on employment data and price indexes.)

Total inventory held in each industry is the sum of the estimated values for raw materials, goods in process, and finished products. Total inventory owned in each industry is calculated by deducting the estimated value for inventory held but not owned from estimated total inventory held. Value of new orders in each industry is derived from estimated shipments and unfilled orders using the formula "Unfilled Orders at end of previous month plus Net New Orders during month less Shipments during month equals Unfilled Orders at end of Current month".

(b) Benchmark Revisions -

As new benchmarks become available, estimates for the year to which the benchmarks apply are revised as follows:

For the plant shipments series, the Census of Manufactures value for the year for each industry is spread by months according to the trend shown by reporting forms in the original estimate for that year.

For the four basic inventory series (raw materials, goods in process, plant finished products and inventory held but not owned) and the unfilled orders series, where the benchmark values apply to the Year-End rather than to the entire year as in the shipments series, the error in the original estimate for the year-end for each industry is assumed to have accumulated equally over all twelve months of the year (i.e., one-twelfth of the amount of the error is added to the original estimate for January; two-twelfths is added to the original estimate for February; three-twelfths to March and so on).

The three derived series (total inventory held, total inventory owned, and new orders) are re-calculated on the basis of the revised data for the other six series.

LIMITATIONS TO THE USES OF THE DATA IN THIS REPORT

- (1) Data for individual industries should not be interpreted as commodity data, since very few industries produce only one commodity or only one class of commodities.
- (2) Since the series are in terms of current values, changes over time may be the result of both price and volume changes. Some indication of the extent to which changes in value are due to price changes, thus isolating the physical change which has taken place, can be obtained by reference to the wholesale price index. This procedure is, however, inadequate for anything more than a general indication of trends. The main problem is that the wholesale price index is a commodity price index, while the shipments, orders, and inventory series are industry series with the possibility of changes in commodity content over time. These changes in commodity content could seriously affect the weighting pattern to be applied to price indexes considered applicable for any specific industry. In considering inventory values turnover rates and valuation methods are other important variables which should be taken into consideration but for which adequate data are seldom available.
- (3) Shipments data do not necessarily represent market sales for the manufacturing universe. (a) Apart from the few exceptions as noted under (b) below they are defined (see page 28) to include total movement of goods out of manufacturing plants (or, in some cases, divisions of plants); shipments of goods for further processing by other plants of multiple-unit companies are, therefore, included as well as shipments for sale. (b) In a few special cases, the Census of Manufactures values include goods in-process change, and for these cases progress receipts on long-term contracts are included as shipments as they occur, rather than at the time sales are finalized. (c) Many manufacturers re-sell purchased goods, in addition to sales of their own products and these re-sale items are not included.
- (4) The component breakdown for inventories is on an establishment, not a commodity, basis. Since each manufacturer reports inventories as on his own books, both for the monthly and annual surveys, and since a number of industries contain plants at various stages of processing, the finished products for one plant might represent commodities which would be considered raw materials or goods in process for another plant in the same industry. The composition of each industry must be studied before attempting to use the component breakdown as applicable to the industry as such, rather than to the firms in the industry.

- (5) For Unfilled Orders, the following reservations apply:
  - (a) The series, by definition, excludes plants producing entirely for stock. Since approximately 40% of manufacturing is done by such plants the trends shown are not necessarily applicable to manufacturing in general.
  - (b) Since the series is defined as "unshipped" orders, rather than "unproduced" orders, there is always the probability that some of the Unfilled Orders are accounted for in inventory holdings. The reduction of unfilled orders by progress receipts eliminates to a considerable extent the effect of large goods-in-process holdings in connection with long-term contracts, but the amount of the remaining inventory, either goods-in-process or finished products, which is held in connection with existing unfilled orders would be difficult to evaluate.
  - (c) The series includes total orders, not just those considered as "binding", so estimates of future shipments trends based on these may be overstated due to the possibility of cancellations.
  - (d) Unfilled Orders for all industries include to some extent a duplication due to the fact that orders for final products in one industry may result in orders to firms at secondary or primary stages of processing. Since the total gross value of shipments will contain the same duplication, this does not invalidate the series for purposes of analysis. However, the total impact of any one order on future shipments levels will not necessarily be shown in the Unfilled Orders series since at any stage an order may be filled from stock rather than added to existing backlogs.

- TABLE 1. (1) Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia combined for monthly estimates.
  - (2) Yukon and the Northwest Territories combined with British Columbia.
- TABLE 2. (1) Annual shipments values differ slightly from published Census of Manufactures totals due to inventory adjustments for certain industries where Census of Manufactures data represent production rather than shipments values.
- TABLE 3. (1) See footnote (1), table 2.
  - (2) The value of Unfilled Orders and, therefore, of New Orders for industries in major groups 1, 2, 6, 8, 9, 10, 17, 18 and 19 is small and sample coverage is not adequate to provide separate estimates for them.
  - (3) The value of inventory held but not owned in this group is very small, and sample coverage is not adequate to provide separate data. Estimates for this type of inventory are included with Total Inventory Held; for all practical purposes this can be considered the equivalent of Inventory Owned.
