ESTIMATED VALUES OF SHIPMENTS, INVENTORY OWNED AND UNFILLED ORDERS IN ALL MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES

INTRODUCTION

The monthly data of manufacturers' shipments, inventories and orders published in this monthly bulletin represent estimates based on the monthly survey of manufacturers and projected on the latest available census of manufactures values. Annual revisions are necessary to reflect new census values as they become available and at the same time to move the benchmark forward for the current years. The changes in 1962 values reflect the revision in the census for that year; the 1963 and 1964 values now published are the census values and 1964 is the current benchmark. Thus the revisions in the 1965 and 1966 series are the projection of the 1964 values rather than the projection of the former 1962 census values.

The changes from the previously published estimates are the result of many factors. The first is revisions in the census list resulting from changes in the identity of establishments. From one census to another establishments will be redefined on the basis of the value added by different activities and therefore may be shifted from manufacturing to wholesaling or to construction or from these to manufacturing; the industry definition which is based on the type of commodities produced may require a re-definition of an establishment from one industry to another. When such changes in identity or definition occur the monthly survey must revise its current and therefore published values back to the new benchmark. Occasionally the concept and definition of a whole industry is changed as in the smelting and refining industry described below.

Secondly the census list is revised for births and deaths of manufacturing establishments. If births and deaths occur within companies reporting to the monthly survey the changes can be incorporated in the survey during the current period.

Thirdly the present method of compilation only picks up reported values which are received within the two months following each month's activity. Returns received after the revised (current) monthly estimates are not used in the estimates until the next annual revision. This accounts for a substantial amount of the change in any one series.

Fourthly changes in reporting practices which are identified as such only in the annual monthly - census comparison of establishment values will result in revisions. For example, if an establishment has been reporting gross shipments (i.e. value of sales including taxes and freight charges) and changes its books to report shipments net of taxes and freight without noting the difference, the monthly series will initially reflect the change as a decline in shipments.

Finally since the unit for estimation is the industry for each province there are many units where the number of establishments is so small that a change in the group results in a significant change in the new base. In these and in units where although the base is not small the number of firms reporting monthly is small, values in the reporting firms may not reflect the real trend in the unit. Where the coverage is inadequate the monthly trend is often wide of the mark and the census revision large at the industry and provincial level.

The largest change included in this annual revision is shipments and inventories in the smelting and refining industry which is part of the primary metal industry group. The method of valuing shipments in the smelting and refining industry was completely revised in the census of manufactures in 1964; this revision has now been carried back to 1961. Revision of the monthly values, however, is published in this report back only to 1962. The mining activity which is part of the total activity of many smelting and refining companies had been combined in the companies' annual reports to the census of manufactures. Under the new concept the mining portion of the integrated companies has been separated from the smelting and refining industry in order to produce more meaningful and consistent statistics within each activity: metal mining and smelting and refining. The smelting and refining activity for companies where mining and refining is integrated is now being handled as an activity only; the value of the metal is included in the mining industry. The smelting becomes, as it were, a custom operation. Only in those smelters which actually purchase raw materials does the value of the refined metal form part of the shipments out of the smelter. The value added by the smelter remains unchanged; the value of shipments has been reduced.

Another change in the revised estimates of shipments and inventories shows up as a decrease in values of the sash, door and other millwork plants and an increase in values of the sawmills. There is, however, little change in the total value of the wood industry group as a whole. The change in the above industries is the result of the re-classification of establishments primarily engaged in planing lumber from the former sash, door and planing mills industry to the sawmills industry effected in 1964.

As in the smelting and refining industries, this transfer of establishments from one industry to another has been revised back to 1961 by the census of manufactures.

The estimate of monthly shipments for the unpublished printing and publishing industry group is now based on reports from a monthly sample of establishments. These reports were first set up in 1964 and the coverage is not yet sufficient to enable the value to be published separately. However, the estimate from this part of the survey has been included from 1965 on in the total manufacturing estimate replacing the former estimate which was based entirely on census material. The revision has contributed considerably to the change in the total estimates for 1965 and 1966.

Other substantial changes in the revised monthly data are the result of one or more of the factors outlined above. Changes in shipments are relatively large in knitting mills, furniture and fixtures, metal fabricating, machinery and miscellaneous industry groups in 1964, 1965 and 1966. The changes in the estimates for the knitting mills, the furniture and fixtures industries and the miscellaneous industries are for the most part the result of inadequate coverage in the monthly samples in some of the provinces. In the metal fabricating and machinery industry groups, inconsistency in the firms' reporting methods between the base year and the estimated years in certain industries in some provinces is the main reason for the differences.

In manufacturers' unfilled orders, substantial changes which show up in some of the published industry groups are chiefly the result of low sample coverage; there was also an error in the base (1962) value used in one of the industries which was not identified until this revision. The revision in the unfilled orders estimate for the leather industry group is due mainly to a revision in the shoe industry; in the wood industry group the change occurred largely in the sawmills and planing mills, and in the non-metallic minerals industry group in the cement and concrete industries. The increase in the revised estimate of the machinery industry group is the result of a large upward revision in the 1964 base value in the agricultural implement and in the miscellaneous machinery and equipment industries. Relatively large changes also show up in some of the published individual industries such as the flour mills, the cotton yarn and cloth mills and the fabricated structural metal industry groups; these changes are caused mainly by an error in 1962 base values. The decrease in the revised estimate of the household radio and television receivers industries and the increase in the communication equipment industries in 1964, 1965 and 1966 reflects mainly the re-classification of establishments from the first industry to the second.

Changes in the level of inventories are large in the wood, the metal fabricating, the machinery and the miscellaneous industry groups. The changes are attributable largely to insufficient sample coverage in some individual industries. The change in the petroleum and coal products industries is chiefly due to the inconsistency in the reports of some firms.

The changes in the revised estimates of monthly shipments, inventories and orders for 1965 and 1966 though substantial in some industries, will, if the pattern of previous revisions is followed, bring the estimates closer to the final census universe. The month to month trends in the series remain relatively unchanged.

INDUSTRIAL GROUPINGS

The industries shown in the Standard Industrial Classification Groups are listed below.

A single asterisk (*) preceding the individual industry title indicates that the industry is shown separately in Table 4 - Statistics for Selected Individual Industries.

A double asterisk () preceding the individual industry title indicates that the industry is shown in Table 4 combined with one or more other industries. The industries grouped are listed in footnotes to the table.

The three digit number preceding the individual industry title indicates the S.I.C. group code.

The four digit number preceding the individual industry title indicates the S.I.C. sub group code.

The bracketed letters following the individual industry titles indicate the statistical series - shipments, inventories and orders in which the industry is included monthly: (s) means the industry is included in the shipments series; (i) in the inventory series; and (o) in the orders series. Industries for which monthly coverage is not indicated are included in the all-industry and group totals estimates.

CONCEPTS AND SOURCES

The monthly bulletin of manufacturers' shipments, inventories and orders publishes values of monthly shipments and inventories and unfilled orders on the books at the end of the month estimated on the basis of the latest census of manufactures by monthly returns from representative establishments in each industry. The December 1966 bulletin is the first issue in which the census base of 1964 is used. Values for 1962, 1963 and 1964 are derived directly from each annual census; values for 1965 and 1966 are projected from the 1964 census. The aggregate monthly shipments for each year which is based directly on a census should equal published census values. The year end inventory values published here are for December and thus will differ from the year end census values to the extent which establishments have reported to the census on a fiscal year ending at a date other than December 31. Unfilled orders on books are published for industries where orders are part of the accounting record.

The monthly survey covers approximately 6,500 establishments. The survey accepts combinations of establishments within companies on a monthly basis to accommodate monthly accounting records and also accepts estimates of inventories and orders values if actual records are not available. Many establishments in several industries take inventory only annually and keep no record of orders as orders. The number of firms reporting actual inventory values is approximately two-thirds of the total reporting shipments; approximately one third report unfilled orders.

The monthly sample of establishments in the survey is revised annually in accordance with the census base and the list is kept constant between revisions. The identity of an establishment is also retained between revisions. This is done because, simply stated, the estimates are calculated by multiplying the sum of monthly reported values for each industry in each province by the ratio of the establishments in the sample to the census total for the same unit. Separate ratios are calculated for shipments, inventories and unfilled orders. If a report is not received in time for the monthly compilation an estimated value is written in. Since each month is published first as a preliminary value monthly returns are accepted up to the time the machine compilation is begun and late returns for the month will be used one month later in the revised estimate. Returns received after beginning the compilation for the next month (i.e. January returns received after the February compilation is begun) are not used in the estimates until the following annual revision.

Thus changes in the monthly series will arise from changes in the identity of establishments between censuses, and from the substitution of reported for estimated values.

The inventory values published are shown both for total inventory owned and total inventory held by an establishment. The difference between these values is the amount of inventory financed by progress payments as the work proceeds on goods being produced. Since some goods manufactured are held as in-progress inventory for a considerable time the book value of manufacturers' inventory may build up and, to the extent that this has been covered by the payment received, is higher than the manufacturers' investment in inventory. Both the amount of the manufacturers' investment in inventories and the amount of inventory held by manufacturers is of economic interest. It is also interesting to distinguish between inventory held by the degree of fabrication which has taken place. Consequently firms are asked to report their stocks by level of fabrication: raw materials and components; work in progress and finished products.

Unfilled orders cover orders received but not yet shipped, or treated as a sale, irrespective of work done on them or stocks from which they can be filled. Establishments in many industries do not maintain order books but fill orders as they are received from stocks. Most establishments which do maintain order books strike a value of unfilled orders on their books at the end of each accounting period. New orders received, although an estimate of considerable interest to economists as an indication of the rate at which new business is being received, is not often available from accounting records. Consequently the estimate for new orders published here is derived by industry, by province from the relationship between unfilled orders and shipments.

The definitions, classifications and groupings are taken from the census of manufactures.

FOOTNOTES TO TABLES

TABLE 1. - (1) Prince Edward Island, Yukon and Northwest Territories are not published separately. They are included in the total for Canada.

TABLE 3. - (1) The value of Unfilled Orders and, therefore, of New Orders for industries in major groups - 1, 2, 6, 8, 9, 10, 17, 18 and 19 is small and sample coverage is not adequate to provide separate estimates for them.

(2) The value of inventory held but not owned in this group is very small, and sample coverage is not adequate to provide separate data. Estimates for this type of inventory are included with Total Inventory Held; for all practical purposes this can be considered the equivalent of Inventory Owned.

TABLE 5. - (1) Ratios for this group were calculated using values of Total Inventory Held instead of values of Total Inventory Owned. See footnote (2), table 3.
