OPERATING REVENUES, EXPENSES & STATISTICS
OF
RAILWAYS WITH AN ANNUAL OPERATING REVENUE OF $500,000
For the Month of April 1921.

-----

The steam railways show a decrease in operating revenue from March of over $2,000,000 and from April 1920 of over $1,000,000. The operating expenses also decreased giving a slight increase in the net operating revenue and an improvement in the operating ratio namely: 96.17 per cent against 96.9 per cent for April 1920 and 96.64 per cent for March 1921. The revenue freight carried one mile decreased over 600,000,000 ton miles from April 1920 and freight train miles decreased 935,389 miles or 20 per cent.

Passengers carried one mile decreased over 49,000,000 passenger miles and the average passenger journey continued to show decreased from last year although increasing over January, February and March.

A copy of the Wabash report is given on page 8. This is the first report to be received from the Wabash and is published, that accurate comparisons may be made with the totals for April and previous months. The report now includes all railways in Canada having an annual operating revenue of $500,000 and over, except the St. Lawrence and Adirondack which road is unable to furnish 1920 data and is therefore omitted from the report for 1921 and 1920.

The Canadian Northern is the only railway of the five larger systems to show an increase in revenues. It shows an increase of $105,518 over April 1920 but a decrease of $818,763 from March 1921. The operating expenses also increased and gave a deficit of $1,333,714 against a deficit of $ 911,321 for April 1920 and $934,122 for March 1921. All five railways show decreases in the passenger traffic, in passengers carried and passengers carried one mile, and all but the Canadian Government Railways show a shorter average passenger journey. The increased passenger rates produced a higher average receipt per passenger per mile, or the passenger earnings would have shown still greater decreases. The Canadian Pacific despite a decrease in revenues of over 15 per cent showed an increase in the net operating revenue of $411,161 and had a lower operating ratio than for January, February or March 1921 and 1920.
