2. BACKGROUND

Few issues have provoked as much discussion and debate in North America in recent years as the subject of child care. Over the past decade the extraordinary increase in the labour market participation of Canadian women with children has precipitated an unprecedented interest in planning for an improved child care system.

At the federal level, the Special Parliamentary Committee on Child Care, the Cooke Task Force and the Interdepartmental/Interprovincial Working Group on Child Care sponsored by the Status of Women Ministers have all brought forth proposals for development and reform which, if adopted, would have a profound impact on the availability, affordability, and quality of child care in Canada.

At the provincial level, Quebec, Ontario, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Nova Scotia, and Prince Edward Island have all undertaken major reviews to explore alternate funding arrangements and service approaches to meet the growing demand for child care.

The recently announced National Strategy on Child Care represents a joint federal-provincial attempt to provide parents with increased flexibility in choosing care which is most appropriate for their children - whether that be informal care offered by friends or family members for children cared for at home, or care offered by a child care facility.

From a statistical standpoint however the evaluation of existing programs and the development of new ones has been plagued by a paucity of relevant and timely information. Although Statistics Canada conducted small scale studies of families, children, and their care arrangements in 1967 and 1981, the Special Parliamentary Committee on Child Care observed that "The shortage of reliable data on the supply and demand for child care services, as well as information about children's needs and parents' preferences, has already been identified. We need this data to determine whether current child care arrangements are meeting the needs of all families and children or whether other forms of care would be more advantageous. Without this knowledge, we have only an incomplete basis for debating the future of child care in Canada". It was this dearth of sound policy-relevant information that lead Health and Welfare Canada to support the formation, in 1983, of the National Daycare Research Network (NDRN) to review the state of research on child care in Canada and to develop a research agenda for the 1980's. The NDRN is an interdisciplinary group of researchers from four Canadian universities headed by Dr. Donna S. Lero of the University of Guelph. Dr. Alan Pence of the University of Victoria is Co-director, while Dr. Hillel Goelman of the University of British Columbia and Dr. Lois Brockman of the University of Manitoba are co-investigators.

In April 1984 the NDRN met to plan a comprehensive study of Canadian families child care needs, use patterns, and preferences. Following consultations with Health and Welfare Canada, Statistics Canada was subcontracted to translate the Network's data requirements into operationally feasible sampling and data collection options and to provide associated cost estimates. The report produced by Statistics Canada, entitled A National Survey of Child Care Arrangements, Preferences, and Needs - Survey Options was used as input by the NDRN to prepare the document Where are the Children? - An Ecological Survey of Families and their Child Care Arrangements which was submitted to Health and Welfare for consideration in January 1985.

In June 1985 the NDRN submitted a separate proposal to the Strategic Grants Division of the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC) for consideration. This proposal, entitled Canadian Families and their Child Care Arrangements : An Ecological Analysis focussed on the theoretical significance of the study for social scientists. An award of $ 175,000 was granted to the NDRN in December 1985 for data analysis-related costs.

In October 1985 Health and Welfare Canada, Employment and Immigration Canada, and Statistics Canada collectively provided the funds necessary for Statistics Canada and the Network to develop and test the research instruments and methodology. The results of the survey pretest, which was conducted in April and May 1986, are presented in Statistics Canada's report The National Child Care Survey : Report on the Pretest.

In May 1988 Health and Welfare Canada announced that the NDRN would receive $ 1,200,000 from the Child Care Special Initiatives Fund to support their participation in the national study. Statistics Canada would receive an additional $ 2,000,000 to offset the costs of collecting and processing the survey data. The survey was conducted in September and October 1988.

3. AUTHORITY

The National Child Care Survey (NCCS) was conducted under the authority of the Statistics Act, Chapter 15, Statutes of Canada 1970-71-72.

Collection for the survey conformed with the requirements of Treasury Board Circular 1986-19 Government Information and Public Opinion Research and was registered under collection registration number STC/HLD-040-03247. The survey is being conducted under the voluntary provisions of the Statistics Act.

Statistics Canada also entered into agreements, as provided for in Section 11 of the Statistics Act, to share identifiable information with a number of institutions including the Universities of Guelph, Victoria, British Columbia, and Manitoba, Health and Welfare Canada, Employment and Immigration Canada, the Ontario Ministry of Community and Social Services, Alberta Social Services, and the Quebec l'office des services de garde a l'enfance. Survey respondents were informed of Statistics Canada's intention to share identifiable returns with these groups, and of respondents' rights to deny such sharing. Institutions receiving identifiable returns under such agreements are legally bound to respect individual confidentiality and to use the information for statistical purposes only.

4. OBJECTIVES

The National Child Care Survey (NCCS) had two overriding objectives :

- 1) to provide valid, comprehensive data on Canadian families' child care needs, use patterns, and parental preferences and concerns about child care options ; and
- 2) to examine the relationships between family, work, and child care variables in the broader context of economic, geographic, and socio-political factors that impinge on those relationships from both a policy and a theoretical perspective.

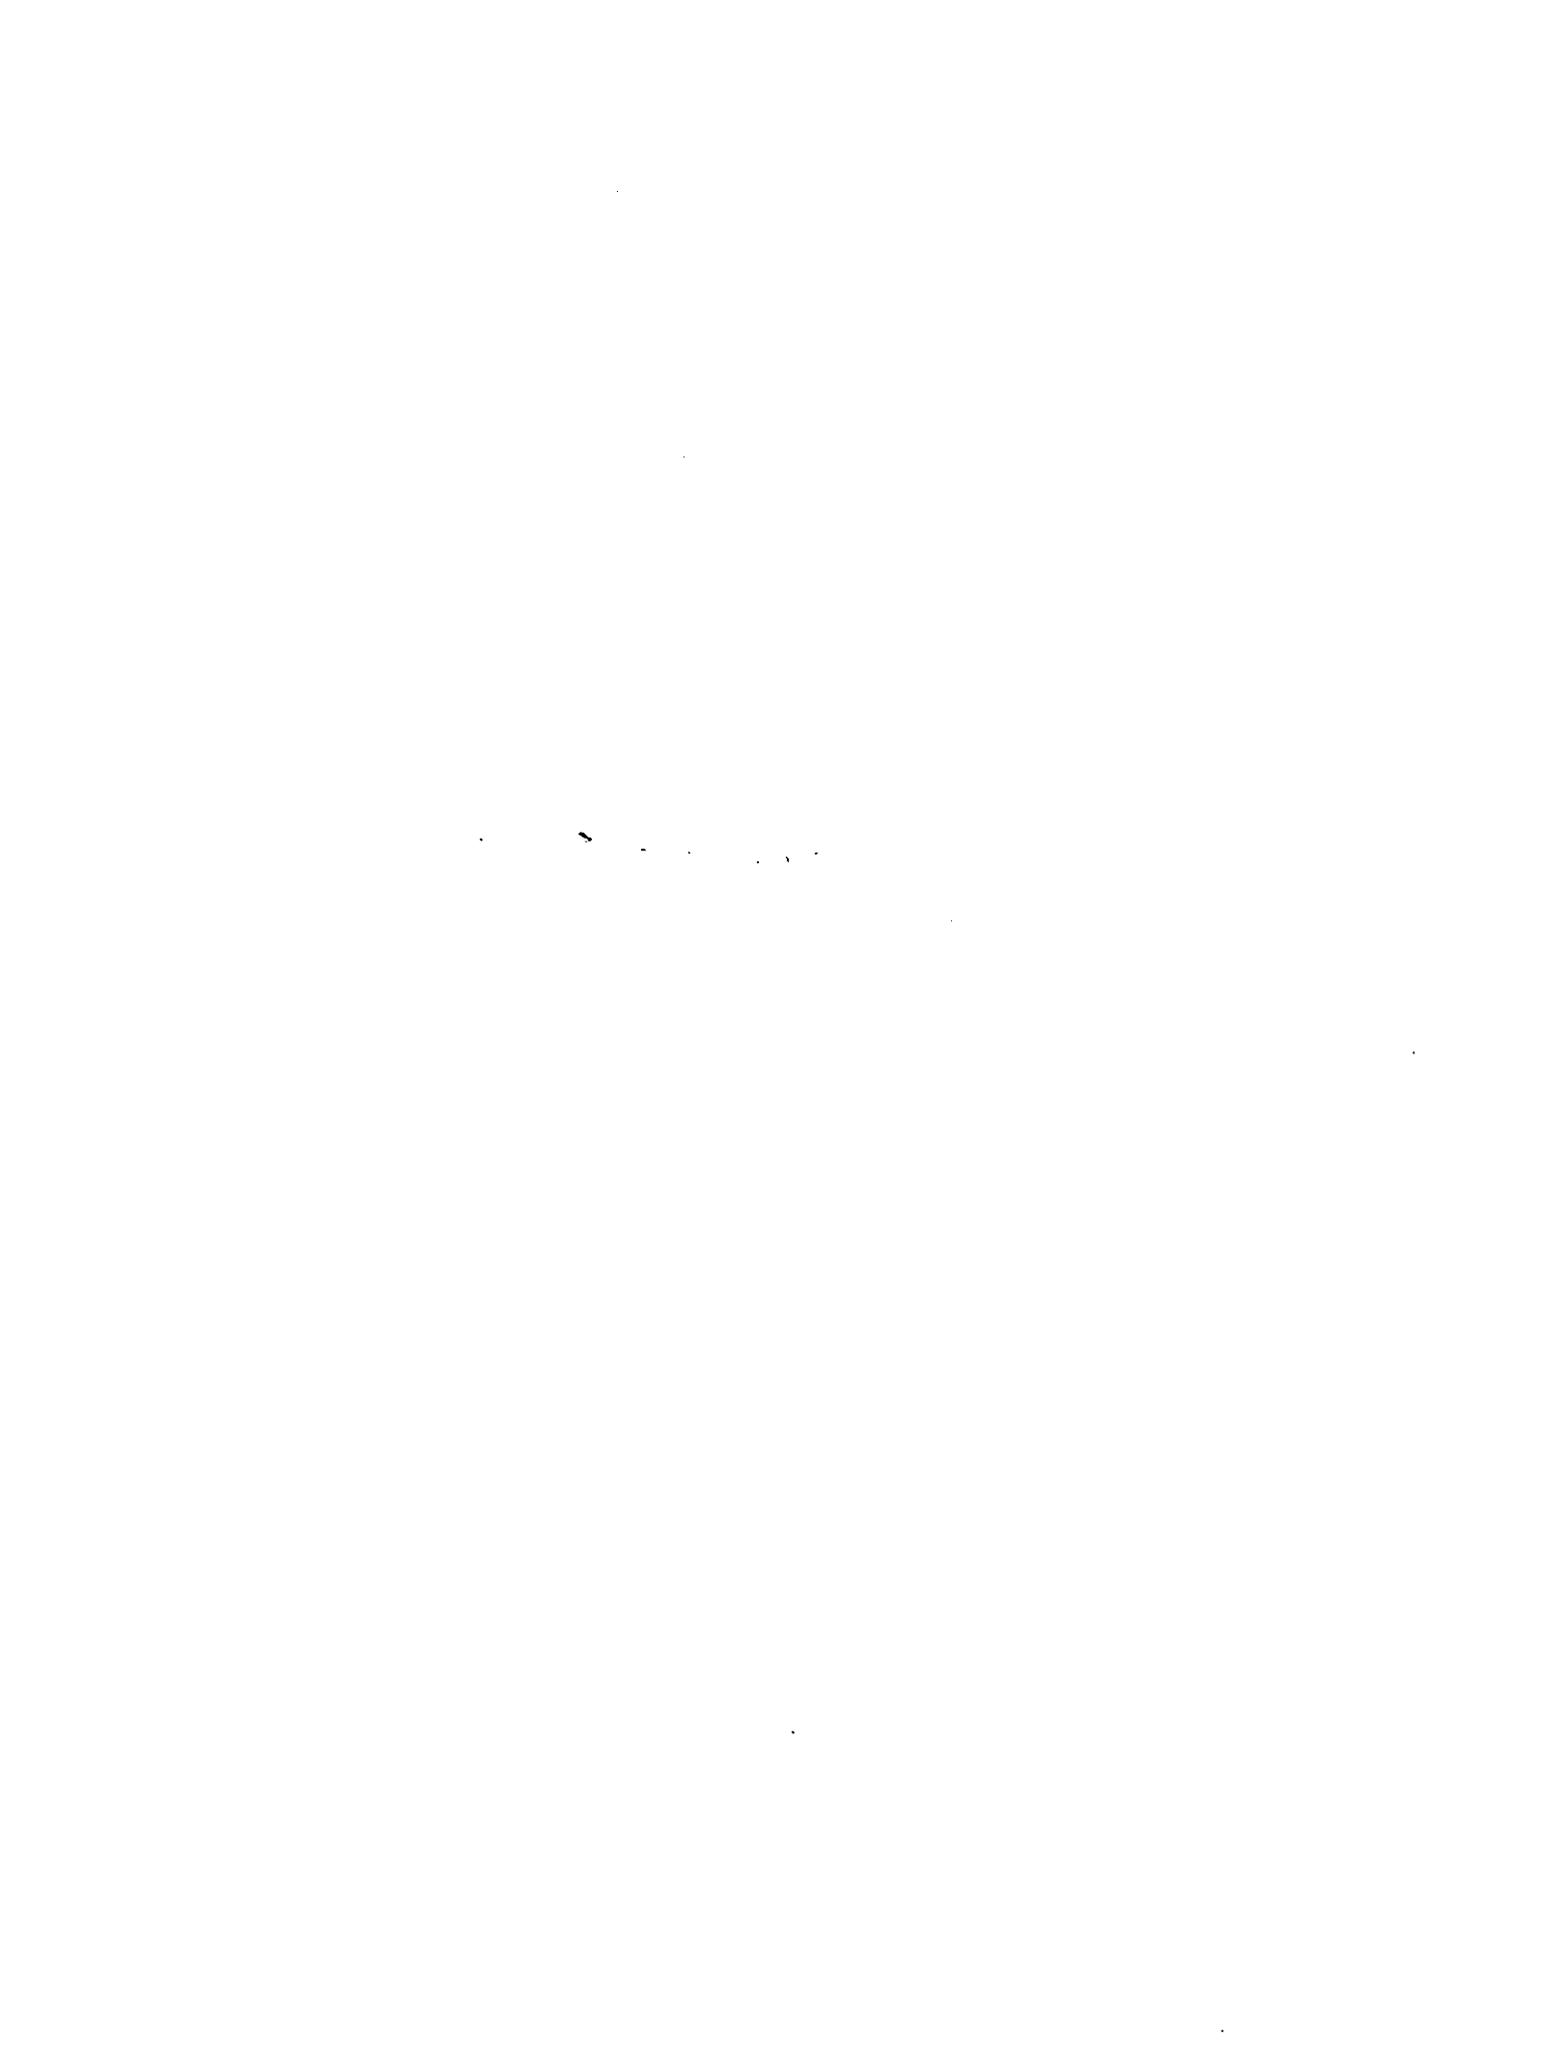

These global objectives may be restated as more specific objectives, as follows :

- 1) to accurately describe the nature of Canadians' child care needs;
- 2) to accurately depict current child care use patterns ;
- 3) to determine parents' preferences among child care options;
- 4) to investigate factors affecting child care needs, use patterns, and preferences from an ecological perspective ;
- 5) to examine the effects of different child care use patterns on children, mothers, and fathers individually, and in relation to each other ;
- 6) to examine the effects of provincial differences on parents' perceptions of services available to them and their child care use patterns.

5. USE

The data from the NCCS will be used in a number of ways, including:

- 1) to provide the federal government, provincial governments, and child care advocates with a comprehensive descriptive database upon which to determine what changes in policy, tax treatment, and services will best meet the needs of families and children in ways that are not financially prohibitive nor damaging to parental roles and choice ; and
- 2) to provide academics with the opportunity to apply Urie Bronfenbrenner's Theory of the Ecology of Human Development to understand the linkages between child, family, work, community, provincial, and overall cultural variables as they affect parents' needs, child care use patterns, preferences, and concerns and, consequently children's social experiences.

6. SURVEY DESIGN

The NCCS was administered as a supplement to the monthly Labour Force Survey (LFS) in September 1988. As a result the sample design is closely tied to that of the LFS, an overview of which is presented in sections 6.1 to 6.3 below. Section 6.4 describes how the NCCS departed from the basic LFS design.

6.1 Population Coverage

The LFS is a monthly household survey whose sample of individuals is representative of the civilian, non-institutionalized population in Canada's ten provinces. Specifically excluded from the survey's coverage are residents of the Yukon and Northwest Territories, persons living on Indian Reserves and inmates of institutions. These groups together represent an exclusion of approximately 2 % of all Canadian families.

6.2 Sample Design

The LFS sample is based upon a stratified, multi-stage design employing probability sampling at all stages of the design. The design principles are the same for each province.

6.2.1 Primary Stratification

Provinces are first stratified into economic regions - geographic areas of more or less homogeneous economic structure formed on the basis of federal-provincial agreements and which are relatively stable over time. These economic regions are treated as primary strata and further stratification is carried out within them.

6.2.2 Types of Areas

Economic regions are further disaggregated into 3 categories : self-representing areas (SRU's), non-self-representing areas (NSRU's) and special areas. Generally SRU's are urban areas whose population as of the 1981 Census exceeds 15,000 persons or whose unique labour force characteristics demand their establishment as SRU's. For the most part, SRU boundaries are coincident with delineations established for the Census.

All SRU's in each economic region are included in the survey and, as the name implies, each is represented by its own sample.

NSRU's are the areas lying outside the SRU's and they consist largely of small urban centres and rural areas. Each economic region contains one NSRU which is represented by its own sample.

A small proportion (approximately 1 %) of the LFS population is found in institutions (for example, live-in staff of hospitals or schools or permanent residents of hotels or motels), on military bases (civilian personnel only) or in remote areas of provinces which are not readily accessible to LFS interviewers. For administrative purposes, this portion of the population is sampled separately through the special area frame. This portion of the sample is selected on a province-wide basis, without reference to the stratification used for SRU and NSRU areas.

6.2.3 Secondary Stratification

SRU areas are next individually delineated into design strata, which reflect areas of similar socio-economic status as identified in the 1981 Census. The extent of the stratification (i.e. number of strata) depends upon the size of the SRU.

In economic regions in which the NSRU population constitutes a significant proportion of the economic region's population, the NSRU is next delineated into separate urban and rural strata. Within each of these strata, further stratification is used to reflect differences on a number of labour force characteristics.

In special areas, strata are formed on a province-wide basis. The strata reflect the main types of special groups in the population which require special administrative sampling procedures. These are : military establishments, institutions and remote areas.

6.2.4 Cluster Delineation and Selection

Within each secondary strata found in SRU areas, a number of geographically contiguous groups of dwellings, or clusters, are formed based upon a combination of 1981 Census counts or field enumeration. These clusters generally are coincident with city blocks or block faces. The selection of a sample of clusters (generally 6 or 12 clusters) from each of these secondary strata represents the first stage of sampling in SRU areas.

Within each of the secondary strata in NSRU areas, a number of large geographic areas are delineated in such a way that each one reflects the composition of the stratum within which it is located with respect to a number of socio-economic characteristics. Two to four of these areas, known as primary sampling units (or PSU's) are selected into the sample from each secondary stratum. Within each selected PSU, a number of smaller geographically contiguous groups of dwellings, or clusters, are then formed using well-defined physical features which are recognizable both on maps and in the field.

In special areas, census enumeration areas (geographic areas covered by individual enumerators for the Census) represent the first stage of selection. Within those selected, where necessary, geographically contiguous groups of dwellings or clusters are formed and the selection of a sample of these represents the second stage of sampling.

6.2.5 Dwelling Selection

In all three types of areas (SRU, NSRU and special areas) selected clusters are first visited by enumerators in the field and a listing of all private dwellings in each cluster is prepared. From the listing a sample of 6 dwellings (on average) is then selected. This represents the final stage of sampling.

In the 17 largest SRU's, a sample of apartments in large apartment buildings is selected from a separate register based upon information supplied by CMHC. The purpose of this is to ensure better representation of apartment dwellers in the sample as well as to minimize the effect of growth in clusters, due to construction of new apartment buildings.

6.2.6 Person Selection

Demographic information is obtained for all persons for whom a selected dwelling is the usual place of residence. LFS information is obtained for all civilian household members 15 years of age or older.

6.3 Sample Rotation

The LFS employs a panel design whereby the entire monthly sample of dwellings can be considered to consist of 6 panels, or rotation groups, of approximately equal size. Each of these panels can be considered by itself to be representative of the entire population. All dwellings in a rotation group remain in the LFS sample for six consecutive months after which time they are replaced (rotated out of the sample) by a new panel of dwellings selected from the same or similar clusters.

This rotation was adopted to ensure that the sample of dwellings constantly reflects changes in the current housing stock and to minimize non-response which would occur if households were kept in the sample for a longer period of time. Rotation also has the advantage of providing a common sample base for the estimation of month-to-month changes in key labour force characteristics.

6.4 Sample Design Modifications for the NCCS

The sample size of the LFS is determined by the statistical requirements for various estimates of labour force characteristics at the national, provincial and sub-provincial level. The monthly LFS sample consists of approximately 54,000 dwellings of which roughly 48,000 are occupied by eligible persons. These households yield approximately 98,000 civilians aged 15 and over.

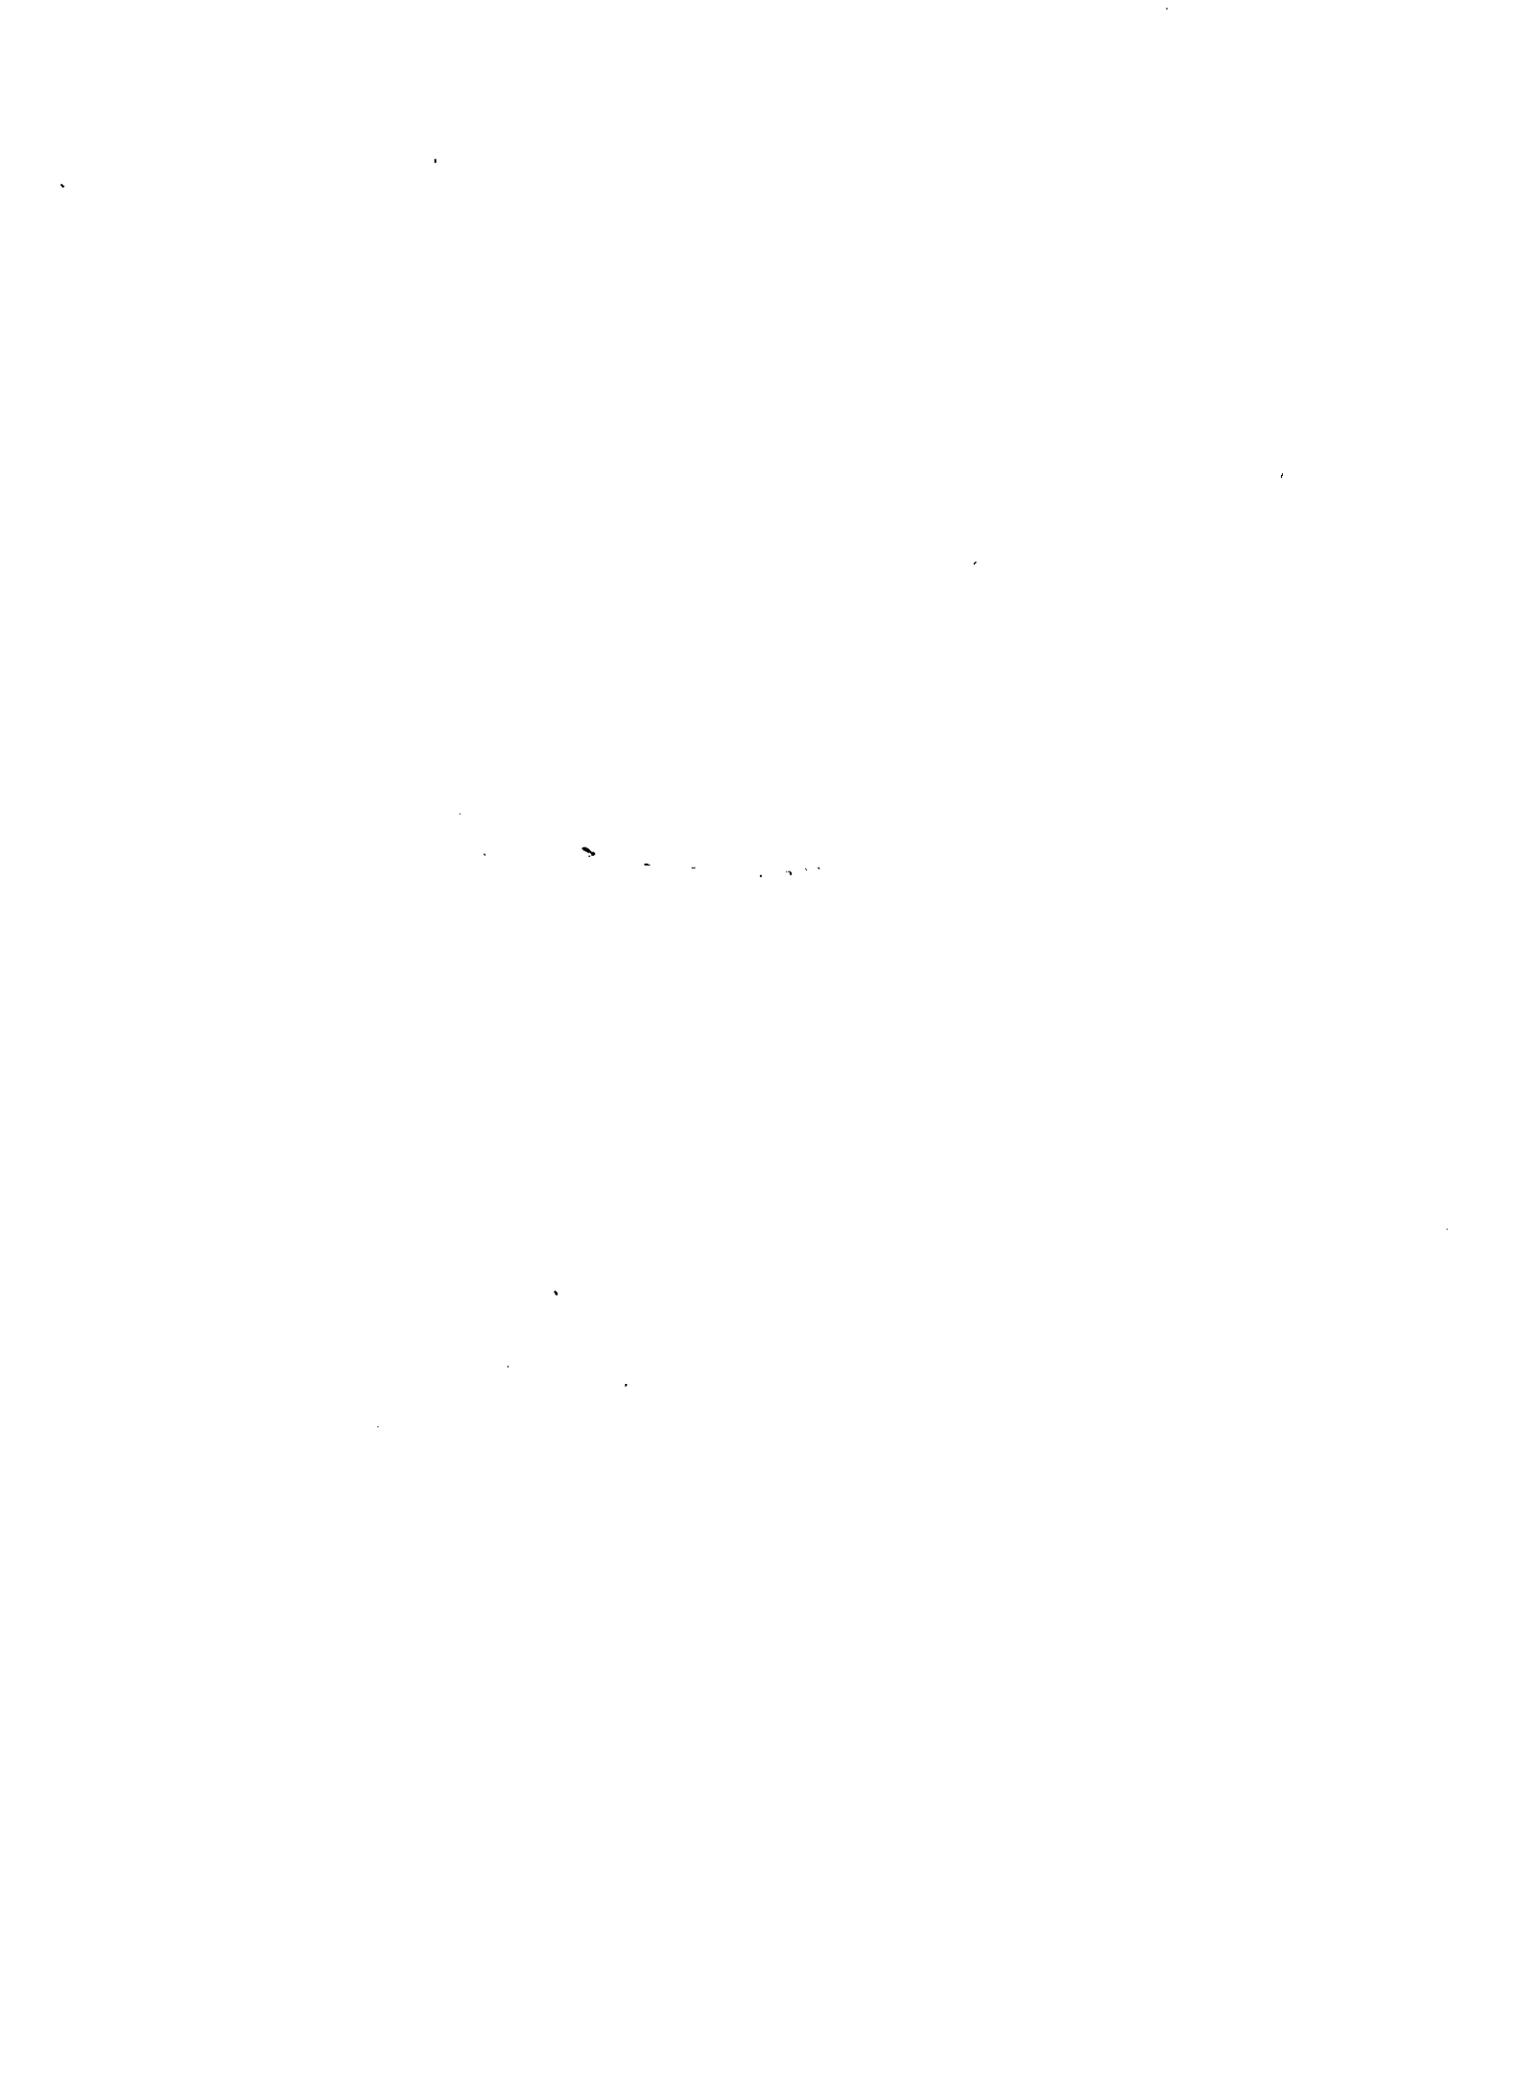

The basic NCCS sample consisted of the five rotation groups in the September 1988 LFS which had been interviewed for at least one month. However, this sample was not large enough to meet the data requirements specified by the NDRN. As a result, the NCCS re-contacted an additional eight rotation groups which had recently rotated out of the LFS sample. An attempt was made to conduct an NCCS interview with each Economic Family with at least one child under age 13 within these rotation groups (see 7.3 for a definition of Economic Family). Approximately 31 % of Economic Families have children in this age group. In order to reduce response burden for Economic Families with more than one child, a random selection was made of one "target" child for several items on the questionnaire (see 7.7 for a definition of target child). The distribution of approximate sample sizes by province are shown on the next page.

Province	Number of Economic Families with Children	Number of Children Less Than 13	Number of Target Children
			0 - 5	6 - 12
Newfoundland	2,600	4,400	1,300	1,400
Prince Edward Island	1,100	1,900	500	500
Nova Scotia	2,400	4,000	1,200	1,200
New Brunswick	2,600	4,300	1,300	1,300
Quebec	4,800	8,200	2,500	2,400
Ontario	5,800	9,800	3,000	2,800
Manitoba	2,300	4,100	1,200	1,100
Saskatchewan	3,300	6,300	1,900	1,500
Alberta	4,700	8,600	2,600	2,000
British Columbia	3,100	5,400	1,600	1,400
Canada	32,700	57,000	17,100	15,600

7. CONCEPTS AND DEFINITIONS

The following section outlines the key concepts and definitions incorporated into the design of the NCCS.

7.1 Dwellings

A dwelling is any set of living quarters which :

- a) is structurally separate from the living quarters of other dwellings ;
and
- b) has a private entrance outside the building or a private entrance from a common hall or stairway inside the building. The entrance must be one that can be used without passing through the living quarters of another dwelling.

Some examples of dwellings are listed below :

- a) Private house
- b) Apartment :
  - in private house
  - in apartment building or apartment hotel
  - in a structure otherwise occupied by a business or institution
- c) Other :
  - a trailer or mobile home
  - a houseboat
  - collective dwellings such as religious institutions, homes for the aged, hotels, motels, large boarding houses, etc.
  - a rented room with a private entrance or access through a common hallway.

7.2 Households

A household is any person or group of persons living in a dwelling. It may consist of one person living alone, a group of people who are not related but who share the same dwelling, or it may be a family.

A household member is a person who, during the survey reference week :

- a) regards the dwelling as his/her usual place of residence; or
- b) is staying in the dwelling and has no usual place of residence elsewhere.

The term "usual place of residence" refers to the dwelling in which a person usually lives. Included as members of a household are all persons who consider the dwelling to be their USUAL place of residence. If a person states that he/she has no usual place of residence, that person is included in the dwelling in which he/she is found.

7.3 Economic Families

All household members related by blood, marriage (including common-law) or adoption are members of the same economic family. The family includes spouses, children (natural, adopted, foster or step), sons/daughters-in-law, grandchildren, parents, parents-in-law, sisters, brothers, aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces and nephews.

Persons who form their own family groups are roomers, boarders, friends and other people who usually reside in the dwelling, but who are not related by blood, marriage (including common-law) or adoption to any other members of the household who have been identified to form a particular family group. These persons form separate family groups. A foster child of 18 years of age or older forms a separate family group.

In approximately 95 % of the households there will be only one economic family.

7.4 Designated Adults (DA)

This is the person who is the most responsible for making the child care arrangements for the children in the economic family. In most cases this will be the female parent of the children. If there are two parents and they make the child care arrangements jointly and equally, the female parent would be selected as the DA. In single-parent families, the DA will be the parent or guardian.

7.5 Spouse

This is the family member who is married to or living common-law with the designated adult. In some families, there will be no spouse. In cases where the male parent considers himself to be most responsible for child care matters (i.e. he is the designated adult) the spouse will be his wife or common-law partner. Ex-spouses or ex-partners not living in the household are not considered to be spouses for this survey.

7.6 Children

For the purposes of this survey children are defined as household members who haven't reached their thirteenth birthday as of the survey reference week (see 7.12 for a definition of reference week). A child care interview is conducted with the designated adult of each economic family having at least one child under the age of 13.

7.7 Target Child

In order to limit the response burden that would be imposed if all questions were addressed to all children, questions on the main method evaluation, methods of care used and problems experienced throughout the reference year are restricted to one child in the economic family. This child, referred to as the target child, is selected at random, with children under the age of 6 being given four times the probability of selection in cases where there are both children 0-5 and 6-12 within the economic family.

7.8 Relative

A relative is any person related to the child by blood, marriage or adoption. If a parent of the child does not live in the same household (i.e. is an ex-spouse of the DA) he/she is still considered to be a relative (of the child).

7.9 Work

"Work" refers to any duties performed for pay or profit including unpaid work in a family farm or business. Pay includes cash payments and "payment in kind" whether or not payment was received in the week or year the duties were performed. Work includes any periods of paid leave such as sabbatical, paid sick leave, etc.

7.10 Study

For the purposes of this survey, "study" means, attendance at a school, college or university. "School" and "college" refer to all types of public and private educational establishments such as high schools, community colleges, secretarial schools and vocational schools. Persons are counted as "attending" only if they are taking a course or program of instruction that could be counted towards a degree, certificate or diploma. Personal interest courses such as night courses in pottery or woodworking at a local high school are not credit courses. Attendance includes undertaking research towards a degree, diploma or certificate as well taking correspondence courses that are affiliated with a school and that can be counted as credit courses.

Unlike the concepts of full-time and part-time work, being enrolled as a full-time or part-time student is not necessarily related to the number of hours of schooling undertaken each week. All schools classify their students as being full or part-time students depending on how many courses they are enrolled in. Therefore, whether a person is classified as a full-time or part-time student depends on how he/she was classified by the school, college or university which he/she was attending.

7.11 Child Care

Throughout the NCCS questionnaire child care is defined as the custodial or supervisory care of children under the age of 13 by persons other than the designated adult. Care is classified by method of care (e.g. daycare center, before or after school program, informal babysitter, etc.) by location (e.g. school, own home, other private home, elsewhere) and by relationship of the child to the caregiver (e.g. aunt, grandparent, etc. or non-relative). The survey also identifies time children spend in their own care, as well as time spent in the care of the designated adult (DA) while working, or with the DA's spouse while the DA is working.

The survey draws a distinction between a caregiver / care arrangement, which is a particular individual or group setting and a method or type of care, which is defined above. (For example a care method would be "care in a daycare centre" while the caregiver / arrangement would be the particular centre in which the child is enrolled.)

Where more than one method of care is used for a particular child, the main care arrangement is defined as that arrangement in which the child spent the most hours in the reference period.

7.12 Reference Week

For many sections of the NCCS, information is collected with respect to a particular week, called the reference week. The survey actually defines seven separate reference weeks. For respondents drawn from the "active" LFS sample, the reference week is always the week of Sunday September 11 to Saturday September 17, 1988. For respondents in the "rotates-out" sample the reference week will be the week prior to the week in which Forms 03 and 05 are completed i.e. the week of September 18-24, September 25-October 1, October 2-8, October 9-15, October 16-22 or October 23-29, 1988.

7.13 Reference Year

The reference year for the NCCS is defined as the 12 month period October 1, 1987 to September 30, 1988.

8. CONTENT

The National Child Care Survey used three separate questionnaires to collect the requisite information from respondents. The following section outlines the content of each questionnaire. Copies of the actual questionnaires and associated code sheets are included as Appendix A.

The Household Record Docket (Form 03)

The Household Record Docket (Form 03) was used to capture the characteristics of all household members whose usual place of residence was a selected dwelling. Basic demographic variables collected include sex, marital status, educational attainment and relationship to head of the economic family. The Form 03 was also used to collect the actual month and year of birth for all children listed as being under the age of 13. This allowed interviewers to exclude households where the children had "aged" out of the target population since the demographic information was first collected and will allow for the creation of analytical categories based on months of age (e.g. 0-18 months). The Form 03 was also used to identify a Designated Adult in each economic family to serve as the primary information source.

The Labour Force Questionnaire (Form 05)

The Labour Force Questionnaire (Form 05) was used to collect information on the current or most recent labour market activity of all household members 15 years of age or older in those households with children under the age of 13. The Form 05 includes questions on hours of work, job tenure, type of work, reason for hours lost or absence, job search undertaken, availability for work and school attendance.

The National Child Care Survey (Form 06)

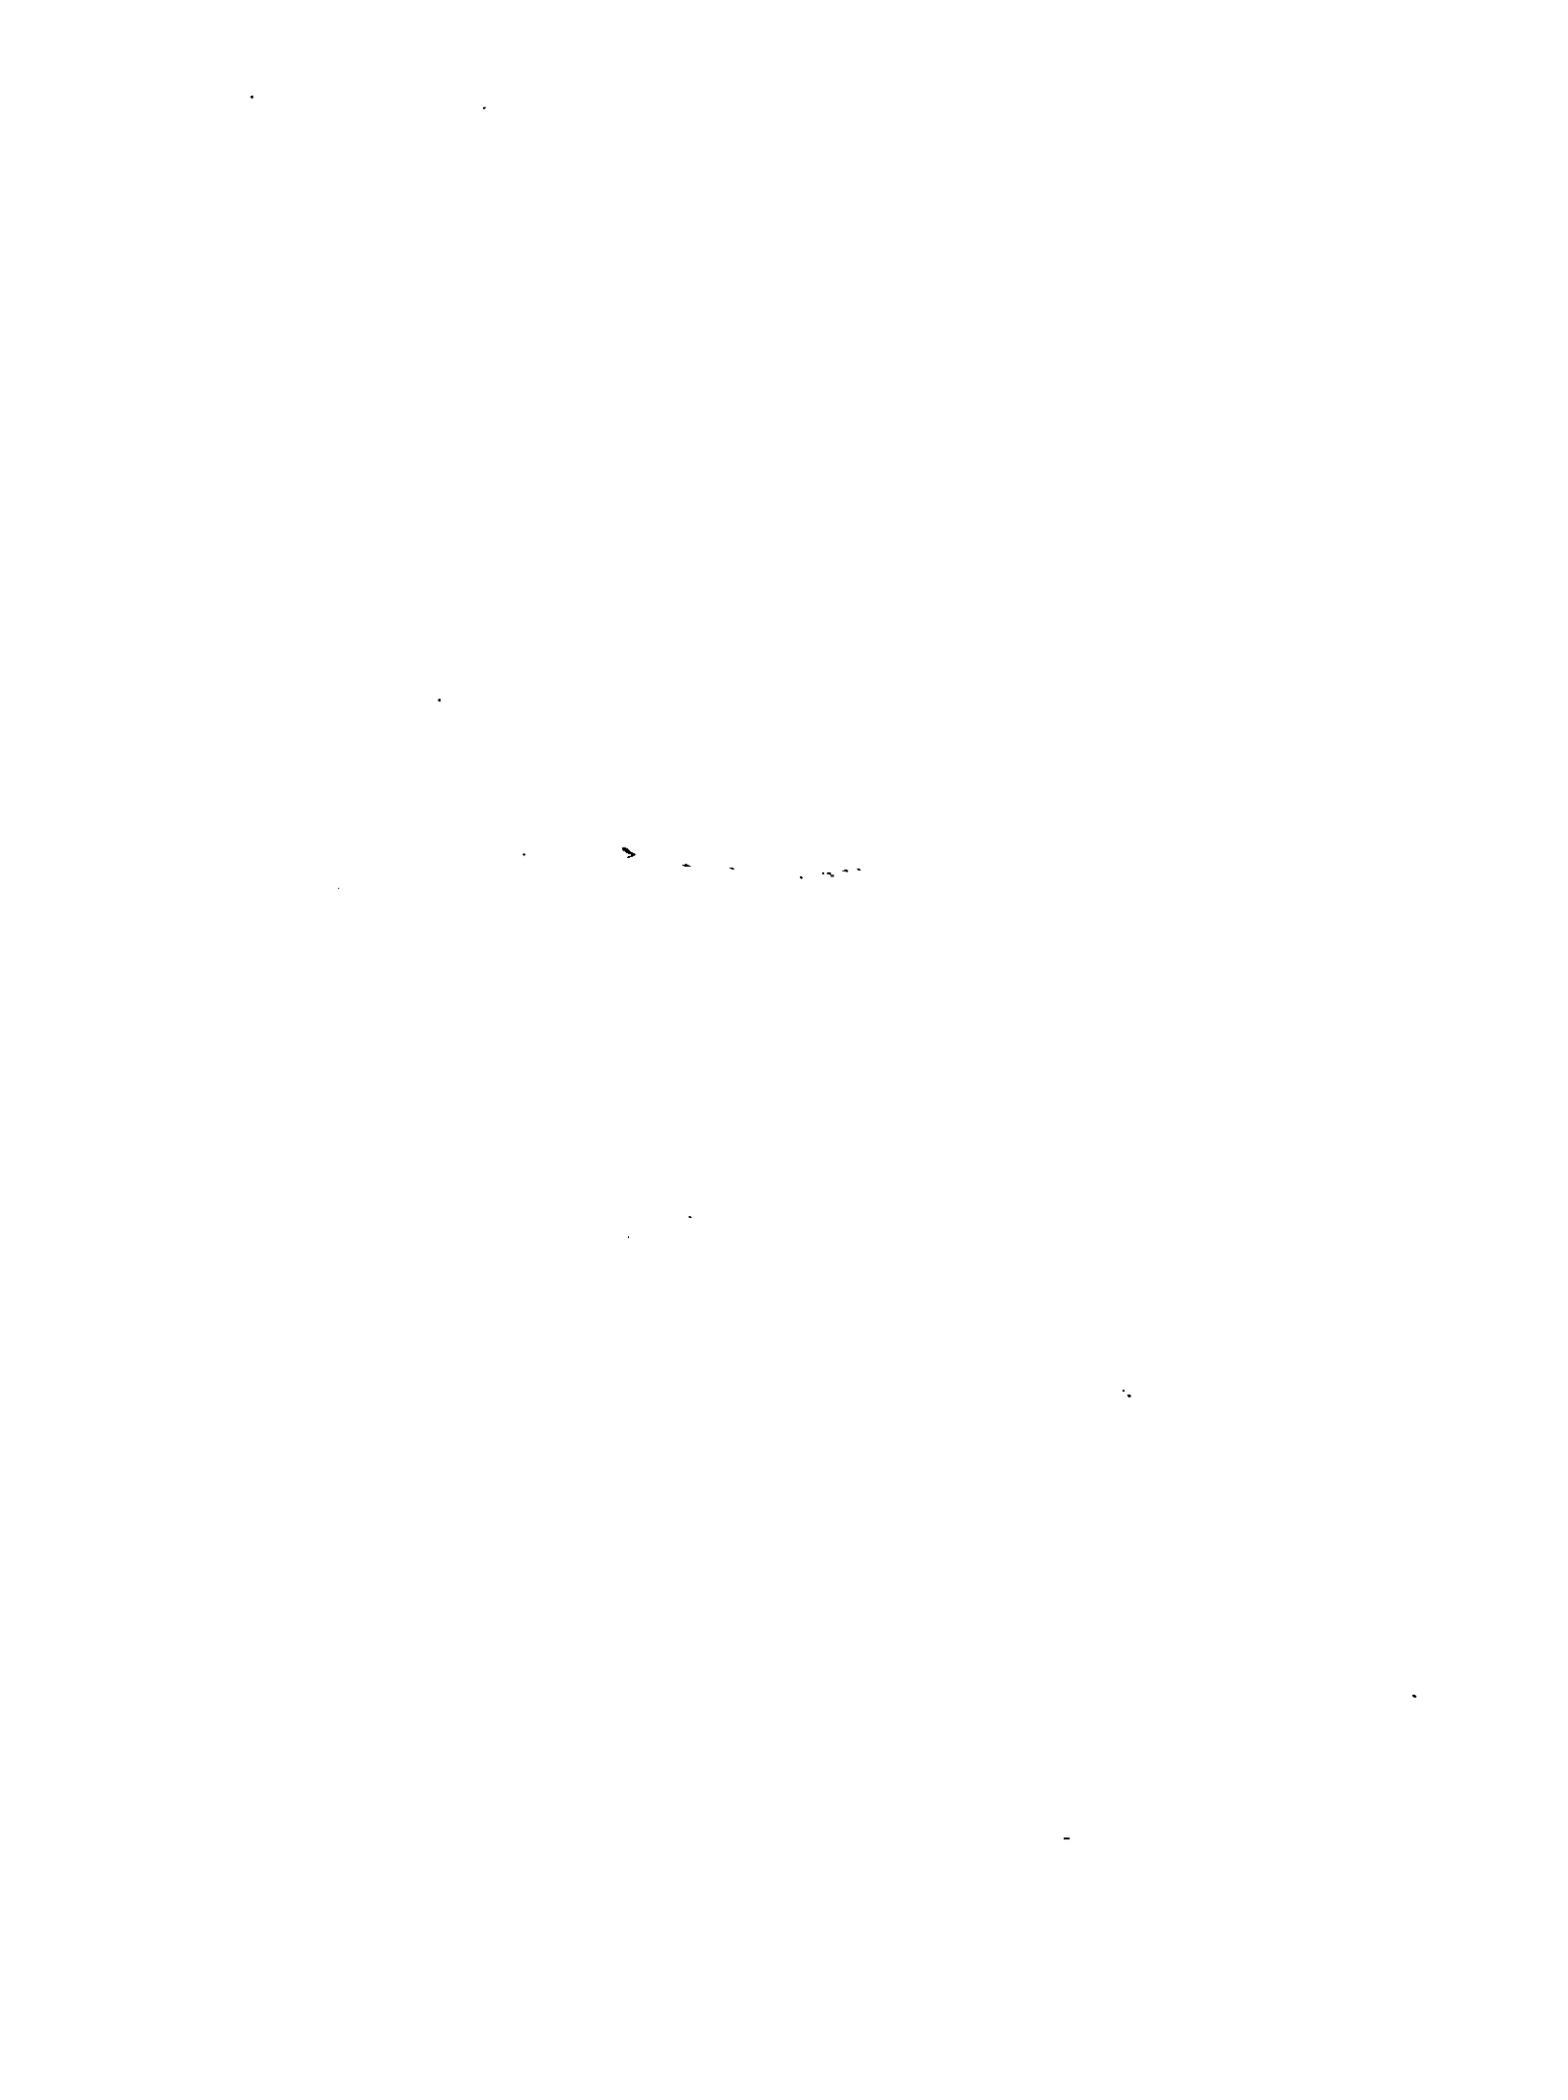

A National Child Care Survey (Form 06) was administered in each Economic Family containing children under the age of 13. The following overview outlines how the Form 06 is organized.

Section A DESIGNATED ADULT'S WORK / STUDY

Provides detail about the designated adult's work and study schedule not available from the LFS Form 05. Questions include items for D.A.'s on maternity/paternity leave (sources of income, plans to return to work, and preferred care option), schedule of hours worked in the reference week, variability and predictability of hours worked, distance to work, employer flexibility and support, and study activity.

Section B SPOUSE'S WORK / STUDY

With the exception of items relating to maternity/paternity leave, this section provides the same detail for the D.A.'s spouse.

Section C        DISABILITY

Identifies the presence of any long-term condition or health problem suffered by any of the children under 13 in the family.

Section D        UNUSUAL CIRCUMSTANCES

Identifies events which made the care arrangements in the reference week atypical. This data will allow users to assess the impact of restricting the primary reference period to a reference week.

Section E        SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

Detail about school attendance for all children under the age of 13. While the NCCS is mainly concerned with child care provided by persons other than the D.A., school attendance is seen as a substitute for other types of care, reducing the number of hours of other types of care which would be otherwise required.

- Section F        KINDERGARTEN / NURSERY SCHOOL
- Section G        CARE IN A BEFORE OR AFTER SCHOOL PROGRAM
- Section H        CARE IN A DAYCARE CENTRE
- Section I        CARE BY A RELATIVE / NON RELATIVE

Detail for up to seven different types of care used for the four youngest children under the age of 13, where the types of care are defined in terms of location (a kindergarten/nursery school, a before or after school program, a day care centre, in the D.A.'s own home, in some other private home) and where appropriate, the relationship of the caregiver (a parent, grandparent, aunt/uncle, some other relative, a non-relative) to the children. Items include days on which care was provided during the reference week, total hours of care, cost of the arrangement, the presence of subsidies, provision of receipts, main activity of D.A. while care was being provided and an item to identify care situations with which the D.A. is unhappy with the quality of the care provided.

- Section J        CARE BY DESIGNATED ADULT WHILE WORKING
- Section K        CARE BY SPOUSE WHILE WORKING
- Section L        CARE IN OWN HOME BY SPOUSE
- Section M        CARE IN OWN HOME BY OLDER BROTHER OR SISTER
- Section N        CHILD IN OWN CARE

Detail on five additional types of care used in the reference week, for all children but restricted to care provided while the D.A. was working at a job or business, studying full-time, or studying part-time to improve job opportunities.

Section O        PREFERRED CHILD CARE ARRANGEMENTS

For D.A.'s who worked in the reference week, provides detail on preferred type of child care arrangement and factors preventing use, if applicable.

Section P CHILD CARE TENSION ISSUES

Provides detail on the level of tension induced by juggling work, family and child care responsibilities for D.A.'s who worked or studied in the reference week. Also provides information on factors which help to reduce tension, and preferred work option for D.A. and spouse.

Section Q MAIN METHOD EVALUATION

Questions about the main method of care used in the reference week for one randomly selected target child in the family, including items on options considered, reasons for not considering or deciding to use a particular method, information sources used during search, difficulties encountered in search, factors considered, and satisfaction.

Section R TENSION ISSUES FOR NON-WORKING DESIGNATED ADULTS

Abbreviated version of Section P, but for D.A.'s who did not work in the reference week.

Section S 12 MONTH WORK STUDY PROGRAM

Section T 12 MONTH CARE ARRANGEMENTS

Section U EVALUATION OF PAST CHILD CARE ARRANGEMENTS

Section S collects information on child care related absences for D.A.'s who worked, or who studied full time, at some time during the reference year.

Section T asks this group about types and durations of care used for one month or longer, reasons for changing type of care used, main activity of D.A. and spouse during each care arrangement, all for the same randomly selected target child.

Section U asks D.A.'s to enumerate problems experienced with care in the reference year for the target child and to provide information on the impact which child care concerns have had on the labour market participation of the D.A. and her/his spouse during that period.

Section V NEIGHBOURHOOD SUPPORT

Collects detail about the extent of neighbourhood support available to the D.A. in his/her role as a parent.

Section W DEMOGRAPHICS

Collects demographic information not available from the Household Record Docket (Form 03).

9. DATA COLLECTION METHODOLOGY

Because the NCCS was carried out as a supplement to the LFS, the data collection methodology is closely tied to that of the LFS. Interviewing, supervision and control procedures for the LFS are presented in sections 9.1 and 9.2 below. Section 9.3 describes data collection modifications that were introduced specifically for the NCCS.

9.1 Interviewing

Data collection for the LFS is carried out during the week following the LFS reference week, usually the third week of the month. Statistics Canada interviewers, who are part-time employees hired and trained to carry out the LFS, contact each of the sampled dwellings to obtain the required labour force information. Each interviewer contacts approximately 70 dwellings per month.

Dwellings new to the sample are contacted through a personal visit. The interviewer first obtains socio-demographic information for each household member and then obtains labour force information for all eligible members. Provided there is a telephone in the dwelling and permission has been granted, subsequent interviews are conducted by telephone. As a result, approximately 85 % of all dwellings are interviewed by telephone. In these subsequent-month interviews the interviewer confirms the socio-demographic information collected in the first month and collects the labour force information for the current month.

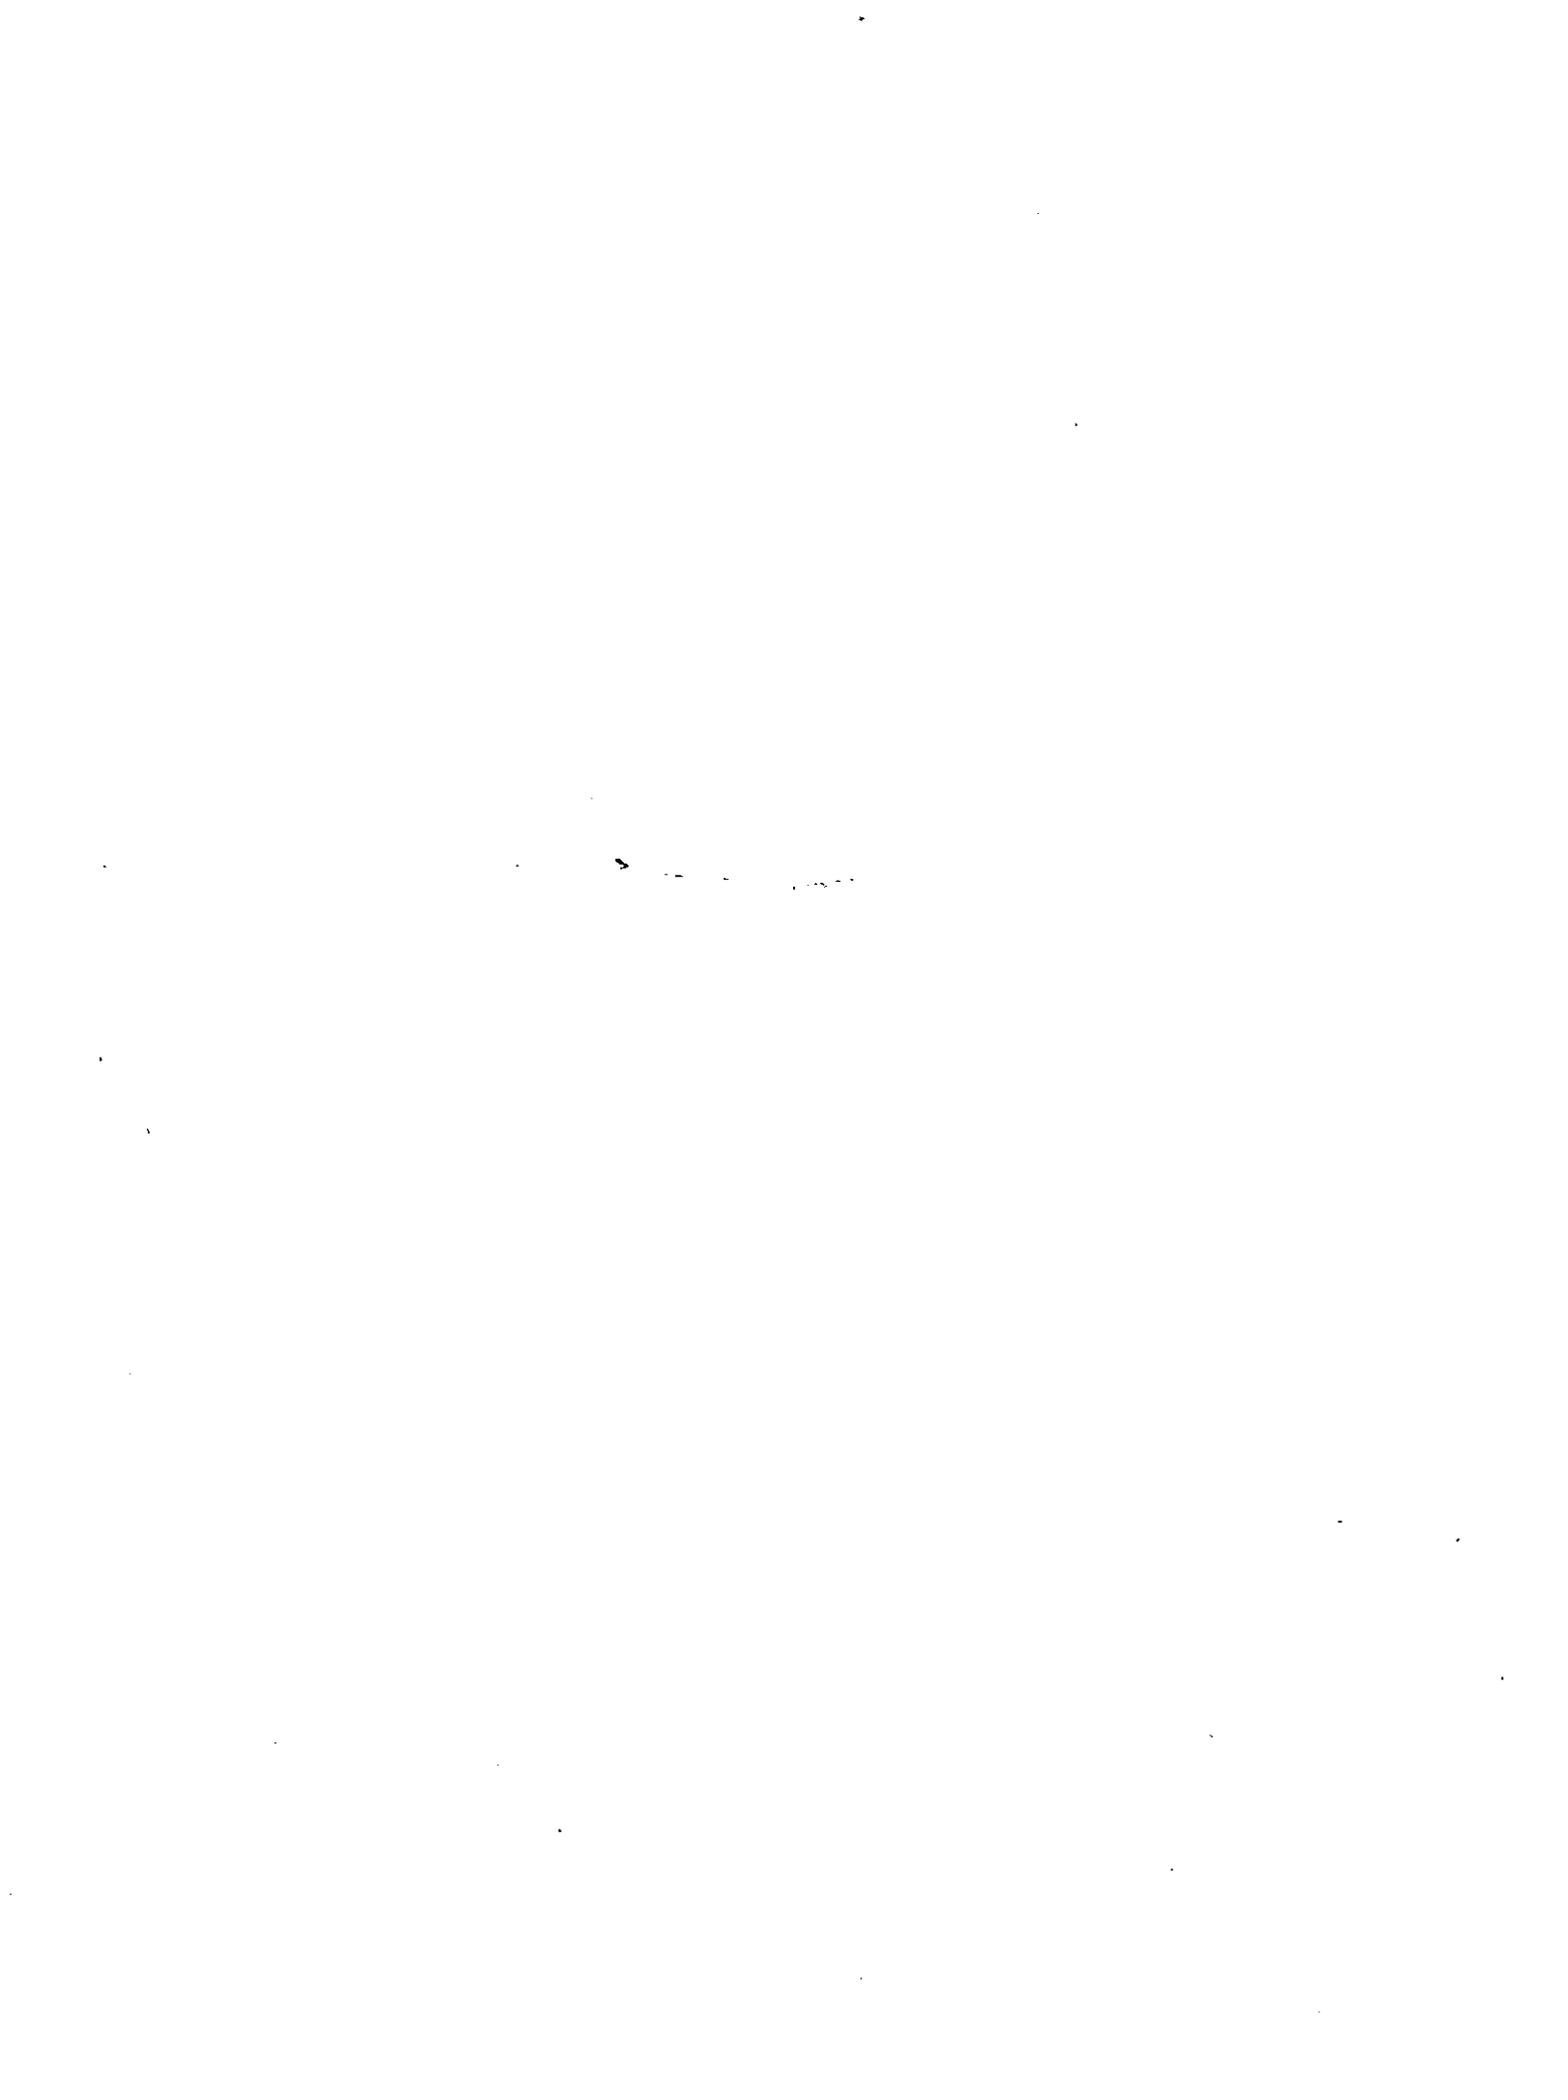

In all households, information about all household members is obtained from a knowledgeable household member - usually the person at home when the interviewer calls. Such "proxy" reporting, which accounts for approximately 55 % of the information collected, is used to avoid the high cost and extended time required to obtain information directly from each respondent.

At the conclusion of the LFS monthly interviews, interviewers introduce the supplementary survey, if any, to be administered to some or all household members that month.

If during the course of the six months that a dwelling is in the sample, an entire household moves out and is replaced by a new household, information is obtained about the new household for the remainder of the six-month period.

9.2 Supervision and Control

All LFS interviewers are under the supervision of a staff of senior interviewers who are responsible for ensuring that interviewers are familiar with the concepts and procedures of the LFS and its many supplementary surveys and also for periodically monitoring their interviewers and reviewing their completed documents. The senior interviewers are in turn under the supervision of the LFS program supervisors, located in each of the 8 Statistics Canada regional offices.

9.3 Data Collection Modifications for the NCCS

Given the nature and extent of information being sought by the NCCS, several modifications to the standard LFS collection strategy were effected :

- i) LFS data release schedules require that all interviewing for the LFS be completed in one week. Normally, information for LFS supplementary surveys is collected immediately following the LFS interview. In the case of the NCCS the data collection period was extended four weeks beyond the normal LFS cut-off in September 1988 to allow interviewers sufficient time to complete their assignments.
- ii) The LFS practice of collecting information for the household through proxy interview with one knowledgeable and responsible member was modified to require that the child care data be collected directly from the designated adult, that is the adult member of the economic family who is most responsible for making child care arrangements.
- iii) Normally LFS interviews in the second through sixth months are conducted by telephone. For the NCCS, designated adults contacted by telephone were offered the option of completing the NCCS Form 06 in person. In many cases where the D.A. and her/his spouse worked during the reference week these interviews took up to an hour to complete.
- iv) NCCS interviews were not conducted in dwellings in the "active" LFS sample that had experienced a complete turnover in household membership since the previous month. This was done to avoid the response burden that would have been imposed on such households by first requiring completion of the household membership and demographic information, followed by the current labour force activity questions, followed finally by a lengthy NCCS interview.
- v) NCCS interviews were not conducted in dwellings in the "rotates-out" part of the sample in households which had refused to participate in the LFS in the month on which they were rotated out of the LFS sample. It was felt that the costs associated with contacting these households were not warranted given the low probability of obtaining a completed NCCS interview.

10. ANALYSIS AND DISSEMINATION

Statistics Canada expects to release preliminary data files to the NDRN for evaluation and certification by September 1989. The NDRN is then expected to take up to 12 months to evaluate the survey estimates and to certify their accuracy. After certification Statistics Canada plans to disseminate the survey results in three ways... publications, microdata files and custom tabulations.

Publications

Current plans call for Statistics Canada to release a general overview publication, highlighting key statistics provided by the study, in the spring of 1990. It is likely that Statistics Canada will also produce a series of more focussed analytical pieces, but firm plans have not yet been made.

Microdata Files

Statistics Canada plans to release two public-use microdata files in the spring of 1990. The first of these files will allow users to generate estimates based on children. The second file will allow the generation of estimates related to economic families. The expected cost for these files and associated documentation is $ 1000.

Custom Tabulation

For users who do not have access to the necessary computer facilities to use the public use microdata files, Statistics Canada will produce custom tabulations on a cost recovery basis. Most such tables can be generated for under $ 250 each.

For its part the NDRN plans to produce a number of publications including a series of provincial reports documenting use patterns and parental preferences. A similar study at the national level would also be prepared. In addition each of the other institutions receiving identifiable microdata are expected to release data from the study.

1988 National Child Care Survey

Interviewing Steps - "Rotates-Out Sample"

I - DURING THE LFS INTERVIEW

1. Introduce the Survey: "Hello, I'm ..... from Statistics Canada. We are conducting a survey on child care."
2. Confirm Listing Address: "A few months ago your household was interviewed for the Canadian Labour Force Survey. I would like to make sure the information I have for you is correct. Have I reached ..... (read listing address)?" If the listing address does not correspond, end the interview, and make a personal visit to the correct address.
3. Update F03's: Follow standard LFS procedure to update F03's. Be sure to update Item 33 - AGE for all household members. If this is the first time the LFS is being conducted for the household explain to the respondent that before proceeding with the Child Care Survey that you would first like to get some general information about people who live in the household.
4. Enter Birthdates of Children on the F03: If there are no children under the age of 13 in the household thank the respondent and end the interview. In households where there are children under 13 ask for the month and year of birth for each child in the household under the age of 13.
- Enter month of birth for each child in Item 50-D & E
- Enter year of birth for each child in Item 50-F & G

NOTE: If the birth dates of all the children in the household are 0975 or before, end the interview.
5. Identify the Designated Adult (DA): Identify a DA for each economic family with children by asking, "Who in your family is the most responsible for making child care arrangements?"
Enter a "1" in Item 50 - H for the DA.
6. Identify the DA's Spouse: Use Item 37 (R to H) to identify the DA's spouse/partner (if any).
Enter a "2" in Item 50 - H for the spouse.
7. Update F05's: Follow standard LFS procedures to update F05's. F05's will not be completed if there are no children under 13 in the household.
8. Set up appointment for the F06 Interview: "I'd like to call back to conduct the Child Care interview. When would be a good time to call back and interview (name of DA)?"

II - BEFORE THE F06 INTERVIEW

1. Affix F06 Label: Affix F06 label or enter label information on an F06 Child Care questionnaire. Correct label information if required.
2. Complete F06 Front Cover items: Enter the name and pageline of the DA in Item 10. Enter the pageline of the DA's spouse in Item 11. Transfer appointment information to Item 12. Identify the reference week in Item 13. Transfer F05 items for the DA and spouse to Items 15 and 16.
3. Enter Information for each child on inside cover of F06 Enter the given name, pageline and age of each child whose birthdate is after 0975 in the spaces provided on the inside cover of the F06. Start with the youngest child.
4. Complete the F06 Check Items: Complete the F06 Check Items identified on the front cover of the F06.
5. Select a Target Child: Affix the selection grid label on the inside cover of the F06 and select the target child. Identify the target child by marking the circle in the appropriate column.

III - AT THE F06 INTERVIEW

Follow the same procedures as for the "active sample" given on the reverse of this card (IV Steps 1 - 4)

1988 National Child Care Survey

Interviewing Steps - "Active Sample"

I - DURING THE LFS INTERVIEW

1. Update F03's: Follow standard LFS procedure to update F03's.
  2. Introduce Child Care Survey and enter birth dates of Children In households where there are children younger than 13, introduce the Child Care survey by saying "This month we have a supplement about child care. I need to know the month and year of birth of each child in your household under the age of 13."
    - Enter month of birth for each child in Item 50-D&E
    - Enter year of birth for each child in Item 50-F&G
- NOTE: If the birth dates of all the children in the household are 0975 or before, end the Child Care interview process.
3. Identify the Designated Adult (DA): Identify a DA for each economic Family with children by asking, "Who in your family is the most responsible for making child care arrangements?"
Enter a "1" in Item 50 - H for the DA.
  4. Identify the DA's Spouse: Use Item 37 (R to H) to identify the DA's spouse/partner (if any). Enter a "2" in Item 50 - H for the spouse.
  5. Update F05's: Follow standard LFS procedures to update F05's.
  6. Set up appointment for the F06 Interview: "I'd like to call back to conduct the Child Care interview. When would be a good time to call back and interview (name of DA)?"

1. Complete the F06 Check Items: Complete the F06 Check Items identified on the front cover of the F06.
2. Select a Target Child: Affix the selection grid label on the inside cover of the F06 and select the target child. Identify the target child by marking the circle in the appropriate column.

IV - AT THE F06 INTERVIEW

1. Introduce the Survey: Inform the DA that the NCCS is a comprehensive look at child care in Canada. For working DAs (i.e., DAs for whom F05 Item 10 is Yes), if asked, inform the respondent that the questionnaire could take up to an hour to complete and offer him/her the option of a personal interview. Also tell the respondent that he/she should feel free, at any time during the interview, to request a call back to complete the interview.
2. Statistics Act: Inform the respondent that the survey is being conducted under the voluntary provisions of the Statistics Act and that the information he/she provides will be kept strictly confidential as required by the Act.
3. Conduct F06 Interview:
4. Read Agreement To Share: Read the agreement to share listed on the inside back cover. This agreement must also be read for partial interviews.

P. CHILD CARE TENSION ISSUES

P1. INTERVIEWER: Ask if not known:

Does anyone other than you or your spouse look after any of your children (your child) while you are working?

Yes 1  → Go to P2

No 2  → Go to Section Q

P2. Juggling work, family and child care responsibilities can sometimes be a difficult task. Some factors can create tension for parents, while others can reduce tension. Given your current work and child care arrangements, I would like to know how much tension or discomfort you generally feel about each of the following issues. Please tell me on a scale of 1 to 10 how much tension each factor causes you, as you juggle work, family and child care with 1 meaning no tension and a 10 a great deal of tension.
