Chief Administrator’s Message

It is an honour for me, as the first Chief Administrator of the Administrative Tribunals Support Service of Canada (ATSSC), to present this new organization's first Report on Plans and Priorities.

The creation of the ATSSC is consistent with the government’s ongoing commitment to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of its administration and operations. By consolidating the provision of support services for 11 administrative tribunals, the government is strengthening overall capacity and modernizing operations to better meet the administrative needs of federal tribunals and to improve access to justice for Canadians.

The ATSSC is mandated to provide the full range of support services and facilities required by the tribunals to meet their statutory obligations, including specialized and expert support services, registry services and corporate services.

I am proud of the progress made since the government introduced legislation to create the ATSSC. These measures have already brought about operational efficiencies. However, there is still much to do to further consolidate tribunal support services. In 2015-16, the ATSSC will further develop its inaugural operational and management framework.

The ATSSC will work closely with tribunal chairpersons and members to support them in exercising their statutory responsibilities while ensuring their independence is protected, and it will support the government by providing excellent service to Canadians.

The ATSSC will focus on improving management practices and controls by identifying and establishing governance structures, increasing the use of common processes and systems, standardizing internal services processes, where feasible, adopting new technologies, making better use of facilities, reducing the need for outsourcing services and identifying other cost-saving efficiencies that will achieve results and value for resources.

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the staff of the ATSSC and the tribunal chairpersons and members for their ongoing support as together we undertake this new strategic direction to improve the management and administration of tribunal support services.

Chief Administrator

Marie-France Pelletier

Section I: Organizational Expenditure Overview

Ministerial Portfolio: Department of Justice

Enabling Instrument(s): Administrative Tribunals Support Service of Canada Act

Organizational Context

Raison d'être

The ATSSC is responsible for the provision of the support services and the facilities that are needed by each of the administrative tribunals it serves to exercise its powers and perform its duties and functions in accordance with their legislation and rules.

Responsibilities

The ATSSC was established with the coming into force on November 1, 2014, of the Administrative Tribunals Support Service of Canada Act. The ATSSC is responsible for providing support services and facilities to 11 federal administrative tribunals<sup>1</sup> by way of a single, integrated organization.

The ATSSC provides the full range of support services and facilities required by the tribunals to meet their statutory obligations. These services include specialized and expert support services (e.g., research and analysis, legal and other case-specific work), registry services and corporate services (e.g., human resources, financial services, information technology, accommodations and communications).

Tribunal independence

The support provided by the ATSSC enables the tribunals to exercise their powers and perform all the duties and functions as set out in their enabling legislation and rules.

Decision-making independence in relation to the tribunals' adjudicative and substantive functions (including investigation and mediation) is fully preserved, and the tribunals maintain control over their rules and procedures. The tribunals remain in their current ministerial portfolios and chairpersons assign work to members. Tribunal chairpersons have supervision over, and direction of, the work of their respective tribunal.
