ABSTRACT

Healthier Indoor Environments: Canadian Sources of Residential Products and Services, prepared by Cullbridge Marketing and Communications for CMHC.

This directory includes Canadian companies providing products and services that promote healthier indoor environments for residential markets. The companies are categorized into five groupings: 1) inspection, monitoring and control equipment and systems; 2) ventilation, air filtration, air conditioning and related equipment and systems; 3) healthier lighting systems; 4) low-pollution building products, materials and technologies; and 5) related services.

DISCLAIMER

This directory was prepared for Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC) under Part IX of the National Housing Act by Cullbridge Marketing and Communications, and does not necessarily reflect the views of CMHC or its divisions that assisted in the study and its publication. The directory is based on information provided near the end of 1994 by the companies included. In general, information about the products and services mentioned has not been verified for accuracy.

FOREWORD

As the health effects of indoor pollution become increasingly documented, understood, and publicized, more and more people are looking for products and services to help create and maintain healthier indoor environments. However, despite this growing need there has to date been no attempt to compile a directory of related companies.

CMHC<sup>1</sup>, Industry Canada, and MOEE<sup>2</sup>'s Green Industry Office commissioned Cullbridge Marketing and Communications to help fill this gap. This directory is intended as a first cut at identifying Ontario companies in the indoor environment industries. It has been prepared under a limited budget and time frame, and we are aware that we have not been able to include all the companies that could have been listed. Readers are encouraged to use the form in the Appendix to submit additional companies, and to make corrections to existing listings, for future editions of this directory.

This directory is one of three produced by this study. These are:

- a directory, available on request from CMHC's Canadian Housing Information Centre (CHIC), of Canadian companies providing products and services that promote healthier indoor environments for residential markets,
- a directory, available on request from Industry Canada, of Canadian exporters of products and services that promote healthier indoor environments, and
- a directory, available on request from the Ontario MOEE's Green Industry Office, of Ontario providers of products and services that promote healthier indoor environments.

It is hoped that these directories will increase awareness of the potential within this growing sector, facilitate access to the companies involved, and lead to increased penetration of the associated products and services in foreign and domestic markets.
