Mr. Fulton Looks Back

Complete Change In Correctional System Since '57

Within the past three or four years, reforms have been instituted so far reaching that they have put a completely new face on Canada's correctional system; we have examined legislation such as the Penitentiary Act, and overhauled it for the first time since 1883; we have brought up to date, sections of the Criminal Code which had been untouched since the Code was introduced; and last but not least, have established the National Parole Service.

Summarily, the above is what the Hon. E. Davie Fulton, Q.C., Minister of Justice, has to say about the effects of the first three or four years of his new program of penal reform. Of them, he has this to say:

"I am convinced that the effect of these reforms will be to increase the protection of society and to deal with lawbreakers in a manner which places the emphasis on correction and rehabilitation, rather than on punishment alone. And I am convinced that this is the most positive and at once the most humane, practical and effective way of dealing with those who transgress the law.

"The major task, which is still underway, has been the re-organization and modernization of the federal penitentiary system, and the implementation of a new correctional program.

FTC Officer Turns Life-Saver

Gaston Migneault, recreational officer at Federal Training Centre heroically saved the life of one drowning girl and attempted to rescue another who unfortunately died on arrival at hospital. The incident took place while Mr. Migneault was holidaying at Lake Siscoe, near Malartic, Que. The two 15-year olds, Rolande Thompson and Gisele Moore were bathing about 600 feet off shore when Gisele's father noticed they had disappeared. He called for help and Mr. Migneault immediately dove in and recovered both girls single-handedly. Gisele was immediately taken to hospital by Provincial Police and quickly recovered. Unfortunately Rolande did not regain consciousness despite the efforts made by Dr. Reid. She died of heart failure minutes after her arrival at hospital.

All members of the Penitentiary Service join in congratulating Mr. Migneault for his heroism which reflects on the readiness of penitentiary officers everywhere to lend a helping hand in times of crisis.

Honest Inmate

Every so often a small incident occurs in the Penitentiary Service to bolster one's faith in humanity and the strength of the new penal reform program. This was one of those times. A young 15-year-old inmate at Federal Training Centre, working as a cleaner in the administration building found a $10 bill lying in one of the corridors. He immediately handed it over to one of the custodial officers and was congratulated by FTC Director J. St. Pierre. As the money wasn't claimed, it was deposited in the Inmates' Welfare Fund.

This wasn't the first time such an occurrence has taken place. This summer a similar thing happened at the Penitentiary Staff College at Calderwood.

Student Lawyers See P.A.

Another intelligent application to the idea of demonstrating the new penal program to the judiciary was carried out at Prince Albert Penitentiary Nov. 1, when 31 law students from the University of Saskatchewan were conducted on a tour.

Warden F. C. B. Cummins outlined the new correctional plan for them on their arrival and after lunch they were escorted in groups of eight through the industrial and vocational shops and shown the educational, recreational and religious facilities of the institution.

Several students expressed their astonishment at the relaxed atmosphere and the good relationship evident between officers and inmates. One of them compared the surroundings to those of an army camp rather than a prison. He said he had never realized the opportunities offered to an inmate under the new program.

Before leaving the group expressed their appreciation for the enlightening tour.

Warden Cummins said that in his opinion, tours of this nature, especially for future lawyers and magistrates of the country is valuable to them in that it provides an insight into the workings of our new penal program and familiarizes them with what inmates sentenced to penitentiary can expect while imprisoned.

"CONTACT" is New House-Organ for Leclerc

After lengthy discussions and an exhaustive campaign that mulled over 40 inmate suggestion, Leclerc Institution finally came up with a name for its new inmate publication. — "Contact".

The judges selected the name for its versatility (it's spelled the same in either French or English) as the journal will be bilingual. Moreover the journal will form a contact or communication among the inmates themselves as well as between those on the inside and the general public interested in their cause. "It seems very appropriate indeed," says J. G. L. Gooselin, Assistant Warden (O. & A.).

Commissioner Visits SVPP

Commissioner A. J. MacLeod visited St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary August 14, during which time he held an interesting conference with department heads, and expressed appreciation for the work done at the Valleyfield Minimum Security Institution. The conference wound up a thorough visit of the penitentiary.

SVPP Inmates Top Blood Donors

A total of 1,013 pints of blood were donated when the Canadian Red Cross "Bloodmobile" made its 37th semi-annual drive among the inmates of St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary. In the last visit, 84 per cent of the eligible inmates turned out to donate their blood, bringing the grand total up to 22,955 pints. Over the past years, the Montreal Blood Bank has relied upon local inmates to build up the reserve during vacation time when supplies are critically low. St. Vincent de Paul inmates have never failed to meet this request, and are, in fact, champion blood donors among Canada's penal institutions. Red Cross nurses and other personnel from the Montreal centre assisted in the four-day operation by an inmate crew. The next scheduled visit is set for January, 1962.

Paroled After 17 Years

The road to rehabilitation is rough, but the following item, entered by J. J. McQuaide, Assistant Warden (O. & A.) of Joyceville Institution, proves it can be accomplished.

After serving slightly over 17 years in both Kingston Penitentiary and Joyceville, encountering set-backs, overcoming them with the aid of counsel and direction plus his own effort to rehabilitate himself, an inmate was finally granted parole. Religion, music and Alcoholics Anonymous groups joined in helping him overcome what could have been insurmountable obstacles. Towards the end of the "drive" he was accepted by Warden O. A. Earl, into Joyceville Institution. Under the direction of the Joyceville staff, he matured to a point where the National Parole Board saw fit to grant him parole.

"Some effort? You bet, but the same type of effort is going on in the Penitentiaries every day," he concludes.

First Aid Season

With the first sting of winter, inmates are turning indoors for pastimes. Softball and outside activities are being traded in for Alcoholics Anonymous meetings, writing stories for the new magazine "Contact" and Public Speaking Courses, along with indoor sports and games at Leclerc Institution.

However, with the threat of 50- and maybe 100-megaton bombs hanging over the world, the time has come to co-operate with Civil Defense. First Aid courses are now in progress and it is hoped that by the end of the season many inmates will be in possession of their First Aid Certificates. Another group of inmates has been taking music lessons for the past few months.

Pioneer of Penal Reform

One of the men who was instrumental in influencing the development of Canada's new program of penal reform has passed away. Major, the Rev. George Reginald Forneret, Protestant Chaplain at St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary from 1945 to 1954 died August 27th at Coronado, Cal. Rev. Forneret, who had a colorful career as a soldier, lawyer and penitentiary chaplain, was a staunch advocate of penal reform. Many of his suggestions were adopted by the Archambault Commission.

Flying Farmers Visit P.A.

Sixty members of the "Flying Farmers" Association unexpectedly grounded by foul weather after attending a regional convention at Prince Albert, toured the Penitentiary October 20 and wound up buying $53.20 worth of hobbycrafts. The group was conducted through the vocation, carpentry, shoe, paint and tailor shops, the institution's laundry and the recreation area. Before leaving they were given an insight into the operation of the institution by Warden F. C. B. Cummins.

Seven Attend JIT Course

C. A. M. Edwards of the National Parole Board, both assistant wardens and the classification officer at Collin's Bay Penitentiary combined to deliver lectures to seven instructors attending the J.I.T. course September 11-15, reports A. J. Doerksen, Assistant Warden (O. & A.).

The seven instructors — C. L. McQuaide, A. J. Bignon, R. B. Abrams, H. Parks, W. R. Huff, A. Anderson and D. Crowe — also entered into discussions on various subjects removed from the course, including the new Penitentiary Act.

Deputy Warden F. Smith spoke to the group at the closing session and presented certificates.

Newspaper Executive Visit Joyceville

Warden O. A. Earl, of Joyceville, accompanied an executive group from the Kingston Whig Standard on a tour of the Joyceville Institution. The tour was a success as comments from the five visitors indicated they found it both interesting and informative. They included: A. L. Davies, owner and publisher; R. D. Owen, executive editor; D. M. Soutter, city editor; Warren Stanton, district editor and C. Bowring, Editorial writer.

Joyceville, B.C., First to Exceed Bond Quota

Joyceville Institution and British Columbia Penitentiary share the spotlight in being the first two institutions in the Federal Penitentiary Service to exceed their targets for 1961 Canada Savings Bonds.

By October 20, Joyceville, whose quota was set at $14,500 sold $21,850 worth, an excess of $7,350.

Congratulations are extended to all concerned, with special thanks to Senior Clerk Stenographer Earl Button, of the general office, who organized the Bond Drive at Joyceville. Earl and his colleagues, Henry C. Stafford, Clerk to the Deputy Warden worked hard, giving up leisure time when necessary. With the co-operation of the staff, the Bond Drive went well over the top.

French Equivalent of Dale Carnegie

L'Institut de Personalite de Montreal conducting its second annual public speaking course at Federal Training Centre, graduated 28 inmates this year. The courses, which last 15 weeks are given by accredited professors of the Institute, who donate half a day each week to help re-educate inmates. The course helps build self-confidence in public speaking, and develops poise, a sense of responsibility and personal dignity. For some it develops a knack for introspect and a positive attitude towards their problems.

28 Trade Instructors Take Pedagogy

A total of 28 Trade Instructors at the Federal Training Centre have registered at the Montreal Normal School in a three-year course leading to a certificate of Pedagogical Aptitudes in teaching awarded by the Provincial Department of Public Education (Technical Section). The course is specially adapted to trade instructors and is given either on Wednesday evenings or Saturday mornings. Instructors at F.T.C. have gladly elected to sacrifice some leisure hours to acquire greater knowledge, improve their teaching methods and develop their influence and efficiency as educators.

Parole Board Member at Joyceville

J. Alex Edminson, member of the National Parole Board paid his second visit to Joyceville Institution October 19. He found a dramatic sweeping change from his first visit. The first visit he made was to a temporary building housing a handful of inmates. He not only discussed past events, but matters of current mutual interest with the staff.

Beauty Contestant

Gravenhurst not only received a good correctional officer but a Beauty Queen when Ed B. Smith was transferred from Kingston to the Beaver Creek Correctional Camp. His daughter, Sandra Ann, was crowned Miss Gravenhurst Saturday, September 30. Unfortunately Sandra lost out on being crowned the "Muskoka Cavalcade Queen". She attended the Rideau School and KCVI while at Kingston, was chosen leading lady for the Collegiate stage production of "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay", and has acted as a model in fashion shows before coming to Gravenhurst.

Fred Dery Dies

J. A. U. M. "Fred" Dery, Supervising Clerk to Dr. Gendreau, Director of Medical Services at headquarters, died suddenly at his home Saturday, Sept. 30. He joined the Penitentiary Service at headquarters in Purchasing November 17, 1938. Fred will be missed not only for the high degree of competence he brought to a difficult area of work, but also for his cheery, optimistic nature. He leaves a widow and two children.

Addresses Young Apprentices

Federal Training Centre's Assistant Warden (O. & A.) addressed 150 young apprentices at the Montreal Apprenticeship Centre July 6. His topic: "What do apprentices need to become worthwhile citizens?"

During the question period that followed, apprentices were given the opportunity to ask information on matters of personal interest. Authorities at the Centre report that this contact of a penitentiary officer with future tradesmen was fruitful according to reactions in discussions overheard from apprentices after the lecture.

The Key to Success

Do you have these ten characteristics? The world's most successful men have them in some measure. And this holds true whether or not they have a college education. Here they are: (1) Drive, (2) Broad interests, (3) Ability to organize, (4) Ability to rise to challenges, (5) Self-reliance and basic security, (6) Ability to be realistic, (7) Intelligent use of time, (8) Stamina, (9) Originality — ideas and (10) knowledge. Please note, Drive comes first.

Elderly Inmates Use Looms

French Canadian "artisanat" or weaving, an age-old custom in Quebec, is now finding a useful niche in the rehabilitation of elderly inmates at the Leclerc Institution. Two small looms, received from Kingston complemented a larger one already in the possession of the Institution, and now the senior citizens at Leclerc will have a chance to enter the weaving business. The plan, to take effect once the first order for thread has been received, will start them off producing scatter rugs. They will then graduate to the manufacture of drapes, if all goes well. The idea was taken from the Prison for Women at Kingston, where the industry was formerly in operation.

First Field Day for Leclerc

After many hours of ground preparation, decoration, elimination of contestants, Leclerc Institution celebrated its first Annual Field Day. Now it's over. But for Warden Patrick Desgroseilliers, his wife, a few outside guests, staff members and their wives, not to mention the inmates who took part actively and as spectators, organizers, heroes and also-rans, the day, despite the clammy cold weather, was one to be remembered.

The 23 events, including the broad jump, the mile, the relay race, etc., caused a swelter of excitement, while such clowning as the pie-eaters, riding "broncos", the blindfolded balloon-bursting championship, the cock-fight, where the loser took an icy ducking, provided comic relief.

Comments J. G. L. Gooselin: "As far as we know no olympic records were broken, but a pattern has been set. We all had a lot of fun and expect that next year will be even better."

Psychology Lectures Well Received

Miss Odette Charron, first woman psychologist in Canada's Penitentiary Service, found she had an extremely receptive audience at Leclerc Institution where she conducted lectures on psychology throughout the summer and fall. No one minded the summer's heat and there was no trouble getting most of the officers to attend. They found both the lectures and the subsequent question-and-answer periods highly enlightening. "No doubt," comments J. G. L. Gooselin, Assistant Warden (O. & A.) of Leclerc, "the lectures will help officers here to better understand the inmates and their problems; what makes them tick and how to better assist them in their rehabilitative program."

Prince Albert Alcoholic Group Finds Success Through 11 Years

Only 11 years ago the Alcoholics Anonymous movement in Canadian Penitentiaries and the inmates who attended their meetings were greeted with jeering catcalls of "rubby" and "wino": in a broader sense, penal reform and an enlightened public were still goals to be achieved.

Today through the devoted work of such men as Chief Vocational Officers E. L. Johnson, Rev. Henry Ellis, Rev. Father L. J. Daoust, who died just recently, and last but not least the combined efforts of Messrs. Kelly and Norfield, after whom Nor-Kel was named, the taunts gradually turned to respect and a deep admiration for those fighting their way back from the depths of alcoholism, at Prince Albert Penitentiary.

Guided by the theory that alcoholism and all its attendant problems has from the beginning of time plagued man in his desire to work and live within the framework of normal society, the Prince Albert A.A. Groups, with the kind co-operation of the warden, set up their first meeting in the penitentiary in May, 1950.

Only seven attended and the outside A.A. representatives outnumbered the inmates four to three.

In the beginning meetings were held once a month on Wednesday afternoons. Anonymity was impossible due to security restrictions in those days. The inmates attending were paraded to the meetings in full view of the prison population. Everyone knew where they were going and the taunts of "alky" dinned on their ears. They faced a far steeper uphill climb than those of today.

Nevertheless, despite the humble beginnings, the insults and the difficulties, the group flourished.

By 1953, after three years of operation under the capable charge of Mr. Thompson, who acted as liaison officer between the outside A.A. and the institutional group, and its custodians, Rev. Ellis and the late Father Daoust, the group was taken over by Messrs. Kelly and Norfield.

From April 1953 onward it became known as the "Nor-Kel" group. Its growth and development can be largely attributed to the time, patience and energy of these two men. The association continued until Mr. Kelly's retirement in 1960.

The first open meeting was held on Sunday, Nov. 21, 1954, with eight outside visitors attending, about 25 inmates and the group members numbering between 15 and 20.

The open meetings proved so successful that they became a semi-annual feature. The quota of outside members at the Round-Up in 1955 increased to 12. That was the year the first ex-inmate attended.

The group expanded rapidly from 1956 and the quota of guests steadily increased up to the present when 65 guests sit in for morning sessions and the quota is lifted for the afternoon conference.

Both morning and afternoon sessions were introduced in 1957. By October 1960, inmate members for the first time in history were allowed to have their wives and families present for the Round-Up. Nor-Kel scored another first that year — a lady speaker.

Over 60 outside visitors attended the most recent morning session last June, while about 125 sat in for the afternoon session.

During 1960 the responsibility for the A.A. group was transferred to the Classification Office. In January 1961, a beginners group was formed. Since that time it has proved quite popular with an attendance of up to 20. The total number presently on the roll calls totals 62.

For its humble beginnings in 1950, the intervening 11 years have been successful and rewarding

PRINCE ALBERT'S R.C. CHAPLAIN DIES

The Rev. Father L. J. Daoust, Roman Catholic chaplain at the Saskatchewan Penitentiary for 30 years, died in local hospital. He was 64.

A faithful and dedicated priest, who was respected and well-liked by both inmates and officers of the institution, Father Daoust first came to the penitentiary on Jan. 1, 1927.

Three years later he was appointed parish priest at St. Isadore de Bellevue and continued in that capacity for four years, before returning to Prince Albert in 1934.

Warden F. C. B. Cummins said the chaplain would be "missed tremendously" by all who knew him.

"He was dearly loved and respected by all the inmates as well as the penitentiary officers and staff," said the warden. "He was a devoted servant of the penitentiary congregation."

One cannot lose sight of the fact that in the beginning the road was not easy, discipline was strict, the identity of those interested was known to all, which subjected them to taunts and ridicule. As penal thinking has progressed the way of the "Alky" has become easier; the taunts and prejudices of fellow inmates have been replaced by a feeling of respect and deep down admiration.

Nor-Kel has a remarkable record. Out of the total number of A.A. members released on parole, only a very small percentage have ever returned to the institution.

Co-operation has been the hall mark of Nor-Kel success; the co-operation of the administration as well as that of the individual members of the staff. No resume of the history of Nor-Kel would be complete without paying a special tribute to J. W. Murdoch, an officer of the Institution, who works quietly and consistently for the benefit of the group. Captain Charlie Borman of the Salvation Army, while he was stationed at Prince Albert, and his successor, Brigadier Wilder, always had the interests of the group at heart and never failed to look in on the meetings from time to time.

The greatest impact has been derived from the Round-Ups, which enabled the families of inmates to attend and thus obtain a first hand view of the life of the inmate, and his association with A.A. The impact is not confined to participating A.A.'s alone, but can be seen and felt throughout the general inmate population as reflected by the continued increase in voluntary attendance at the Round-Ups and the attention given to the visitors and speakers.

Outside A.A. visitors are permitted and encouraged to attend all regular meetings. A visit is a highlight of our Institutional meeting, and the effect of such visits is most beneficial.

The A.A. group is recognized as the soundest group within the penitentiary contributing not only to the general welfare of its own members, but the entire inmate population. While its true value cannot be measured in terms of dollars and cents, it can be measured by the success of its individual members.

Magistrate Says Should Call P. A. Rehab Institute

Although he hadn't visited Saskatchewan Penitentiary at Prince Albert for "some years", a Saskatoon Magistrate reiterated in a press conference what he had often said in court — that the name Penitentiary be changed to "Saskatchewan Rehabilitation Institute".

Following are excerpts from the Saskatoon Phoenix-Herald, covering the interview:

"A suggestion that the name of the Saskatchewan Penitentiary at Prince Albert be changed to 'Saskatchewan Rehabilitation Institution' has been made by City Magistrate H. G. H. Gilding.

Magistrate Gilding has cited reasons in court at various times while sentencing persons to the penitentiary and has reiterated them in an interview.

He said the penitentiary was exactly like a boy's school. There were courses and lectures there for the inmates as in any educational institution, the only difference being that liberty is curtailed in a penitentiary.

'People talk about helping the inmates,' he said. 'Let's help them by changing the name so the public on the outside will have a different impression.

'The word "penitentiary" handed down through the years is archaic and carries the idea of punishment,' he said. People were actually sent there for rehabilitation.

'It has been some years since I've seen it,' he admitted, 'but I don't think it has gotten any worse since then.'

On the contrary, conditions should have improved. When he was there he was impressed by some of the work the inmates turned out, the equal to what any manufacturer might produce. The men were trained in a large number of skills, including shoemaking, painting, tinsmithing and electronics.

Magistrate Gilding was particularly impressed with the food served there. Meals may include a fair-size steak, two vegetables and all the bread one wanted. 'They even took bread to their cells for a snack at night with coffee or hot chocolate,' he said.

There were radios in each cell-block and during a recreation period he watched a baseball game, played by the inmates.

He said, 'The chaps were keenly interested. They have to pass exams and are graded on them. There are some classes that go as far as a second year in university level.'

He said the authorities should be congratulated for what they have done at Prince Albert and citizens should visit the penitentiary when they have an opportunity and see how activities are conducted."

10 Complete Five-Week Course At Agassiz Correctional Camp

Nine new correctional officers, seven of them from the Agassiz-Harrison Hot Springs area, plus a Senior Clerk from Ontario, completed a five week Orientation Training Course at the new Agassiz Correctional Camp.

The course, designed to give the new officers an insight into human relations, the art of "Man Management", institutional rules and regulations, the concepts of penology, and the overall policy and organization of the Penitentiary Service, was the first of its type in the area. It was started August 8, with the actual swearing-in ceremonies for eight of the 10 officers participating. Two Correctional Officers had been at Agassiz for almost a month preparatory to the course.

The 10 officers completing the examination were: Vic Young, Senior Clerk, formerly from Ontario, now at Rosedale; Correctional Officers Mike Michaloski, John Bell, Ken Floyd, Francis Tuytens and Mike Fedorkew, all of Agassiz; Ray Harris and Jack Striling, both formerly from Harrison Hot Springs; Erwin Berkey, formerly from Surrey, now at Agassiz and George Wilson, Surrey, B.C.

The officers, classified at Agassiz as Penitentiary Assistants (6) faced a gruelling four-week session in the trailer classroom, followed by a week of practical training at British Columbia Penitentiary, the parent institution, before they started work. In the latter stages of the training period they toured the Provincial Institutions in the area — Haney Correctional Institute, its work camp at Gold Creek, the Pre-Release Camp for the institutions and the Chilliwack Lake Camps — whose role and projects are similar to those of Federal Correctional Camps.

Another thing stressed during the orientation course was fire prevention and control, due mainly to the location of the camp. The District Forest Ranger of the B.C. Forestry Service gave a lengthy lecture and demonstration. Safety, too, was covered by an Inspector from the Workmen's Compensation Board of British Columbia, who gave an extremely informative talk.

The general training and orientation program was carried out with the help of Departmental Heads and Senior Officials from B.C. Penitentiary, the local B.C.M. Police Officer and Police Court Magistrate from Agassiz area, and representatives from the National Parole Service and local chapter of the John Howard Society.

First Time in History

PENITENTIARY PRODUCTS ON VIEW AT OTTAWA EX

For the first time in Canada's history, visitors to the Central Canada Exhibition this year, were able to see something of the work of the Federal Penitentiary Service. The exhibit consisted of Vocational Training products, Industrial Products, photographs, and a stall for the sale of Hobbycraft work.

Collin's Bay had the difficult task of building the booth and assembling the material on very short notice. Hobbycraft was forwarded from Saskatchewan and the Montreal area to supplement the products of the Kingston area.

Officers from Kingston, Montreal and F.T.C. were on hand to answer the many questions from the public. So great was the interest shown that these officers had to be supplemented by officers from Headquarters. The ladies of the Ottawa branch of the Elizabeth Fry Society gave generously of their time in assisting with the sale of hobbycraft.

Both press and radio accorded the hobbycraft and the Vocational and Industrial exhibits high praise. The reaction of the public generally was most favourable and the sale of hobbycraft far exceeded expectations.

All concerned can be justly proud of the success of this effort to inform the public on the nature of the work of the Service. It is anticipated that this type of Public Relations will be further exploited in the future.

The attendance of the guest speakers had a two-fold purpose; not only did they inform, but their presence helped greatly in the liaison between the local segment of the Penitentiary Service and the public. This was one of the many ways in which public relations was stressed and demonstrated throughout the course.

The tours of the provincial institutions in the area also drew the bonds of co-operation and mutual interest tighter between federal and provincial penal services.

The classroom phase of the course concluded September 1 with a comprehensive five-hour written examination and, writes G. S. Merrit, Assistant Warden (O. & A.) of British Columbia Penitentiary, "as these new officers now take up their duties they appreciate the help they have received but realize that in the corrections field, their training has just begun, that only through experience and self-improvement, will they become successful Correctional Officers."

COMPLETE CHANGE IN CORRECTIONAL SYSTEM SINCE '57

"Some 18 months ago, approximately 6,200 inmates were confined to Federal penitentiaries. Except for a scant 400, these inmates were literally warehoused in maximum security institutions across the country. The 400 were housed in newly opened medium security institutions at Joyceville, Kingston, Ontario, and in the new minimum security institutions at William Head in British Columbia and Valleyfield, Quebec.

"And of these three institutions, only Joyceville had been planned before 1957. The other two were planned and brought into operation after 1957 while the Government was still engaged in planning its overall correctional program.

Complete Change

"Today, the picture has been completely changed. Not only have new institutions of various types been opened, but two of the existing eight maximum security institutions have been transformed to medium security, and the program of treatment and training within the confines of all institutions has been radically reformed. Continued emphasis has been placed on treatment and training to provide the maximum possible assistance to every inmate interested in re-entering society as a law abiding citizen after his release.

"In one year the number of inmates kept under medium security has increased from 200 to almost 1600, and the 200 kept in minimum security has increased by well over 300 per cent. The Federal Penitentiary System consists of six maximum security, four medium security, three minimum security institutions and four minimum security correctional camps, with five minimum security farm camps to be added soon.

"The inmates working in correctional work camps will carry out improvement programs of a type that the Government Departments concerned are not prepared to undertake with privately employed labour for at least ten years. This work includes bush clearing, land drainage, the construction of nature trails and park sites.

"The establishment of these new institutions means that one the main phases of the penal reform program, that of segregating various types of inmates in appropriate institutions, is now becoming an accomplished fact.

Career Planning

"The first comprehensive revision of the Penitentiary Act itself since 1883 was introduced since this government came to office. In particular, the new Act now provides for a full career planning program which will be available to all staff in the correctional system, an expanded program of industrial training with the co-operation of labour and industry, and much greater use of vocation and "on the job" training.

Parole

"Our parole system has been completely overhauled since the present administration took office. The National Parole Board, which was established by legislation in 1959, has successfully embarked upon a program designed to make increased use of parole as a release method while at the same time taking every precaution for the protection of the public.

"During the first thirty-four months of operation, the Board granted 6,244 paroles. The failure rate, related to the number of paroles granted, was 8.2 per cent which is considered one of the lowest in the world.

"The Board's efforts, together with increased understanding on the part of the public, are making it possible to salvage more offenders than in the past, while at the same time providing a saving in the cost of custodial care to the taxpayer.

Drug Addiction

"The serious problem of drug addiction has received a good deal of attention from both the Department of Justice and the Department of National Health and Welfare.

"There are few more difficult problems to deal with, but we are convinced that the new Narcotics Control Act, which became law this past session, represents a new and constructive approach to drug addiction in Canada.

"The objects of the new Act are to reduce as far as possible the supply of drugs brought in and distributed for illegal purposes; to reduce the demand for illegal drugs by providing effective treatment for existing addicts; to prevent further cases of addiction and provide effective penalties and custody for traffickers.

"The jurisdiction of the Federal Government is however limited to the field of Criminal Law. This Government, therefore, can only deal with the criminal addict. The non-criminal addict is under the jurisdiction of the provinces. If not properly treated, he will become a criminal under pressure to support the cost of his addiction.

"The first major step in the organization of an active treatment program is the construction of a drug treatment centre in the Matsqui area near Vancouver.

"The purpose of this centre is to provide the addict with institutional treatment to remedy his fundamental delinquency and to provide suitable

Thanksgiving Day Revue Was A Smashing Success

A varied, delightful program garnished with the talents of an inmate musician who arranged the music (from Dixieland to Rock 'n Roll) rehearsed and directed the glee club, the orchestra and individual soloists, and himself played lead trumpet, waxed itself into one of the most outstanding extravaganzas ever to hit Joyceville Institution on Thanksgiving Day.

The major challenge was in following on the footsteps of a series of extremely successful productions. However, the inmates who staged this show, under the direction of Supervisor Harold E. Mills and his assistant Roy G. Partridge, managed to pull off a production that eclipsed previous efforts.

The inmate committee, with official approval following a series of conferences with Warden Oran A. Earl, Deputy Warden John H. Meers and Recreational Supervisor Harold E. Mills, got underway immediately.

Morale was very high among the inmate body during the casting and rehearsals, reports Assistant Warden (O. & A.) J. J. McQuade. The hustle and bustle seemed to act as a stimulant. Anticipation was evident, even among inmates not directly involved in the show.

As the final day approached, tension and anticipation marked the rehearsals.

It is a tribute to the patience, good common sense and ability of the recreational supervisor, the producer, and the participants that the numerous temperaments, opinions and use of untrained talent were rationalized and moulded into a splendid and successful musical revue.

Playing to a packed house, which included many distinguished visitors from all over Ontario, the show recalled the nostalgic music of Dixieland in the 20's, the early negro spirituals and Latin American tempos.

3 Records Broken at FTC

Local records for the 60 yd, 220 yd dashes and the running jump were all broken at Federal Training Centre's annual field day September 3. A total of 572 participants were registered in the 13 main competitive events.

New records now stand as follows: 7½ seconds for the 60-yd dash; 29 seconds for the 220 yd race, and 18' 7" for the running broad jump.

We can still do better, claims R. Jourdain, Assistant Director (O. & A.).

First Time in Canada

KP Quintet Plays For Church Dance

The Kingston Quintet scored another musical first in the history of Canada's Penitentiary Service by performing at the Mr. and Mrs. Club of the Queen St. United Church. This is how the Kingston Whig Standard described the event:

A musical first for Canada goes to the credit of five inmates from Kingston Penitentiary.

A group of five versatile musicians was allowed outside the walls recently to perform for the Mr. and Mrs. Club of Queen Street United Church. This is the first time in Canada that an orchestra made up of prisoners has performed "outside".

A member of the church social group said about 50 persons attended and were impressed by the quality of the performance.

Although the orchestral group was small, several could play more than one instrument thus providing a variety of entertainment. One man played two types of saxophone, guitar, banjo and fiddle.

D. J. Reason, the prison official who has organized the prison orchestra, said the inmates thought if they could perform before an outside group they would have a better indication about the quality of their music.

"Anything constructive they can do is all part of a rehabilitation program," said Mr. Reason. He has set up a musical dormitory in the prison for use at night and during the weekend.

Groups are taught by an experienced inmate musician to read notes and to learn the different instruments.

"We try to teach them to run it, direct it and put it out," the orchestra director said.

The music dormitory was opened two years ago. Since then outside groups up to 1,000 have crowded the prison auditorium to hear the orchestra perform.

"They definitely received us well," Mr. Reason said of the church group. "The men were delighted."

Thirty Turn Out For Classification Conference At Kingston

Thirty Classification Assistants and Psychologists from institutions across Canada were invited to the Classification Training Conference, entitled "Interviewing Techniques", reports W. F. Johnstone, Director of Staff Training.

The conference, which took place from Nov. 27 to Dec. 8 at the Correctional Staff College, Kingston, under the direction of Dr. Jean Garneau, combined classroom instruction and some practical field work in Kingston area institutions. It was primarily intended to assist Psychologists, Classification Assistants and Welfare Officers who have either recently joined the Penitentiary Service or have just been appointed to Classification Departments.

Classroom instruction was concentrated on inmate documentation required by the Penitentiary Service. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the National Parole Service and other agencies.

Those invited by institution, included:

Dorchester: E. L. DeVeaux and J. C. H. Martin, Classification Assistants;

Dorchester Farm Camp: J. A. C. Bourque, Classification Assistant & Welfare Officer;

Springhill Minimum Security Institution: T. E. Moreau, Classification Assistant & Welfare Officer;

St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary: M. J. Coron and J. R. A. S. Matte, Psychologists; J. J. R. Beaulieu, R. Belec, J. P. Dailaire, C. R. Lapointe, all Classification Assistants;

Federal Training Centre: P. Ligonde, Psychologist; J. E. R. R. Labelle, J. E. Martineau, Classification Assistants;

Gatineau Correctional Camp: J. G. Leblanc, Classification Assistant & Welfare Officer;

Leclerc Institution: Miss M. O. A. I. Charron, Psychologist;

Kingston Penitentiary: J. B. L. Alarie, R. B. Gage, D. P. March and J. G. E. Woods, all Classification Assistants;

Collin's Bay Penitentiary: W. J. Haggerty Classification Assistant;

Collin's Bay Farm Camp: M. O. Smith, Classification Assistant & Welfare Officer;

Beaver Creek Correctional Camp: B. G. Fox, Classification Assistant & Welfare Officer;

Landry Crossing Correctional Camp: P. G. Shutler Classification Assistant & Welfare Officer;

Joyceville Institution: A. T. Field and M. I. Held, Classification Assistants;

Manitoba Penitentiary: R. Jamieson, Classification Assistant;

Saskatchewan Penitentiary: H. R. Jacobs, Classification Assistant;

British Columbia Penitentiary: W. M. Anderson and L. S. Helmer, Classification Assistants;

Agassiz Correctional Camp: C. H. Symmonds, Classification Assistant & Welfare Officer.

Staff Appointments

Beaver Creek Filled Up; Landry Crossing Almost; Reid Heads Farm Camp

The Beaver Creek minimum security correctional camp near Gravenhurst now has its full complement of officers; selection of staff for Landry Crossing, outside Petawawa is all but completed, and four more appointments have been made for the Collin's Bay Farm Camp, reports A. J. Doerksen, Assistant Warden (O. & A.), of Collin's Bay, the parent institution.

The last five officers to be appointed to the Beaver Creek camp, who recently completed a two-week orientation period at the parent institution are: G. Armstrong, L. F. Askin, K. E. Smith, J. J. Poland and C. A. Bruce.

As of Oct. 24, a total of 15 officers made up the payroll at the Landry Crossing camp, while two newcomers to the Penitentiary Service — Correctional Officers J. P. Grogan and J. C. Germaine — were receiving in-service training at Collin's Bay. Personnel Officer J. Donaldson, stated at that time two more candidates had been approved to fill the three remaining positions.

Four appointments have been made for the Collin's Bay Farm Camp. They include: M. J. Reid, Superintendent; J. R. Dewar, Administration and Supply Officer; W. E. King, Clerk to the Superintendent; M. O. Smith, Classification Assistant and Welfare Officer.

Open Hobbycraft Shop Soon;

Collin's Bay Inmates Aid Fire Fund

Inmates at Collin's Bay collected $94.98 in hard-earned cash to sent to victims of the forest fires raging in Newfoundland. The generous act was the result of a special radio program jointly sponsored by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce and local Radio Station CKWS.

Permission was granted by the Senior Duty Officer of the week to proceed with a trial canvass on Saturday, August 26, subject to approval from the office of the Commissioner of Penitentiaries. Results were encouraging, and when approval was received from headquarters, inmates quickly turned pledges into cash.

Following is a letter of appreciation from A. R. Bell, Honorary Treasurer of the Fund in Newfoundland.

Gentlemen:

We have received through the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce and Radio Station CKWS, your cheque for $94.98 in aid of the Newfoundland Forest Fire Fund.

We understand this was the result of an inmate-inspired collection from all of you and we are grateful for the personal sacrifice you have made.

You may be assured that this is a most worthwhile addition to our fund and will be of considerable assistance in helping those who have suffered.

Derby Held In B.C. -- Forgot To Invite Fish

The weatherman co-operated for B.C. Penitentiary's Annual Fishing Derby but the fish were conspicuous by their absence. The staff and their families enjoyed Sunday, September 10, on a Fraser River sandbar, fishing for the elusive salmon and trout.

The only "fish" of the day was caught before the derby officially opened. It was fully 10 inches long, hooked by Mr. W. Laporte, Supervisor of Services, and landed by his wife, Marie.

Mr. Norfield, Assistant Deputy Warden (Custody) a recent addition to the staff from Saskatchewan Penitentiary was given a few pointers on bar fishing from local "Issac Waltons" but to no avail.

The derby was considered a complete success even in view of the lack of fish. It was declared "no contest" at 3 p.m. with a date set for later in September.

Rehabilitation Value Great!

Hobbycraft is becoming a very profitable therapy at Joyceville Institution.

On the opening of the institution proper in 1959, there were six inmates interested in hobbycraft. At the present time there are over 200 engaged in hobbycraft of whom 50 per cent are actively producing and making fair profits.

Since hobbycraft production is governed by its marketing, it is very necessary for prison-made articles to be the ultimate in quality craftsmanship and to show at a glance that a great deal of time and talent have been put forth by the craftsman. This is highly necessary if sales are to be realized.

Many of the inmates have relatives at home to whom they send their hobbycraft to be sold; others who are not so fortunate must depend upon sales to other inmates, officers, or visitors to the institution.

Displays and sales of hobbycraft articles were held this year at the Canadian Congress of Corrections in the University of Toronto, the Canadian Industrial Exhibition in Ottawa, and the Kingston Fall Fair. All of these exhibits proved very successful and met with much enthusiasm by the general public.

To date, hobbycraft in Federal Institutions has been confined completely to the individual cells. However, it is felt that its therapeutic value and the financial boost realized by the hobbycrafters on release could be greatly increased if there were facilities for machining and instructions given to the beginners, which would develop more interest, better products, and a certain amount of practical experience which could be of great value in the rehabilitation program for the ex-inmate.

This program will be introduced in Joyceville Institution in the very near future with the opening of a hobbycraft shop, where inmates may work during the evenings and weekends to produce articles never before possible in the confinement of a cell. If successful, this program may open a whole new concept of prison reform.

So far the records show that since the opening of Joyceville Institution it has not yet been known for an active hobbycrafter to be a constant troublemaker or to be an escapee, which could indicate its value in our reform program.

Assistant Wardens Conference

Combined With Classification Supervisors And Psychologists

The combined conference of Assistant Wardens (O. & A.) and Psychologists, Supervisors of Classification and Classification Officers, held at the Penitentiary Staff College (Calderwood) Kingston in November, proved extremely fruitful.

From November 7 to 17th, Assistant Wardens discussed at least four major topics under the direction of Deputy Commissioner R. E. March. November 20 and 21 were reserved for joint sessions between Assistant Wardens (O. & A.) and Classification Supervisors, Officers and Psychologists to discuss Penitentiary forms to supersede Forms PB-108 and 112B. The joint sessions were under the chairmanship of Dr. Jean Garneau, representing the Penitentiary Service and Mr. Colin Farmer, representative of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics (Corrections Section).

Separate sessions were entered on November 22, 23 and 24 for Assistant Warden (O. & A.) and Classification Personnel, who met with Dr. Garneau and Mr. Farmer to discuss procedures involved in completing the new forms.

Every major maximum security institution was represented in one way or another. Here is a list of those invited to attend (not including Assistant Wardens): Dorchester: J. R. Albert, Psychologist; J. S. O. LeBlanc, and D. E. Mabey, Classification Officers. St. Vincent de Paul: J. C. Bouchard and C. Trudel, Classification officers, J. A. M. F. Gauthier, Supervisor of Classification. Kingston Penitentiary: F. W. Baril and D. Chinnery, Classification officers; J. F. R. Lajambe and F. E. Ouellette, psychologists, and S. M. Farrel, Supervisor of Classification. Prison for Women: Mark Eveson, Psychologist; Mrs. M. E. Batstone, social worker. Manitoba (Stony Mountain) Penitentiary: U. Belanger, Classification Officer; R. W. Kristjanson, Asst. Psychologist; Saskatchewan (Prince Albert) Penitentiary: W. J. Ross, Psychologist; C. A. Williamson, Classification officer; D. J. Rooney, Classification Asst. British Columbia (New Westminster) Penitentiary: A. M. Trono, Supervisor of Classification; T. S. Taylor, Classification officer.

Assistant Wardens (O. & A.) from each institution attended, along with Department of Justice personnel, as well as head office directors of the Penitentiary Service, reports W. F. Johnstone, Director of Staff Training.

Another First

Course Successfully Conducted By Inmate Now On Parole

Certificates were handed out at Kingston Penitentiary September 8, to nine successful inmates who completed a construction training course unique in the Penitentiary Service. The mark that differentiates this course from others in the service is that it was initiated and carried out by an inmate, now on parole.

The course was designed to meet the needs of a foreman in the construction industry and covered such subjects as surveying, estimating, foremanship, safety precautions, legal contracts, drafting, mathematics and physics, etc., reports R. W. Cunningham, Supervisor of Vocational and Trade Training, Ottawa.

The inmate responsible for the success of the course received some technical assistance from Professor Dauphin, of the Faculty of Engineering at Queen's University, from the Army Engineering Establishments at Barriefield and the C.V.O. of Collin's Bay Penitentiary, all of whom expressed approval and admiration for the course content and method of presentation.

Although we won't name him because he's on parole, those who worked with the inmate and benefited from his teaching extend their thanks.

Good Idea!

Head Office Groups Visit Institutions

Groups of from 10 to 20 employees from head quarters are now being conducted on tours of our penitentiaries, with the permission of Commissioner A. J. MacLeod. It gives both employees at head quarters and in the field a chance to discuss problems, meet one another personally, and understand better the Services makeup.

During September, several groups from head office visited Joyceville, Kingston Penitentiary, the Prison for Women, Collin's Bay Penitentiary and the Penitentiary Staff College at Calderwood.

"We at Joyceville," reports J. J. McQuinn, Assistant Warden (O. & A.), "were pleased to receive the groups, not only to show them through the institution, but to discuss with them personally various phases of the administration here and at head office."

Pen-O-Rama Celebrates 10th Year

Pen-O-Rama, the inmate's magazine at St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, celebrated its 10th anniversary August 10, with a luncheon given by the inmate editor.

Warden, Major J. R. G. Surprenant, as guest of honor, outlined to the 50 guests in attendance the function and importance of the Classification Department, in the rehabilitation of the inmate.

"Outside" guest at the luncheon was Stanley Handman, Director of Public Relations for The Montreal Star and former reporter for Weekend Magazine who commented favorably on the articles offered and the professional make-up of the magazine.

Roly Piuze, Assistant Warden (O. & A.) in a short discussion reflected upon his 10 year role as Advisor to the Editor adding that he hoped to see a closer rapport between society and inmate and that the penal press should receive more support in its efforts to inform the public about institutions and inmates.

J. A. M. Grignon, Librarian and Liaison Officer, spoke of the challenges and responsibilities that go with writing and the need for prison writers to think and act constructively.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of a cheque for $20 from the inmate editor to T. W. Deachman of the Foster Parents' Plan, for Yau Wing Shing, the inmate's 10 year-old foster child in Hong Kong. In welcoming the guests, the editor stated that it is Pen-O-Rama's policy to speak for the inmates; its aim to interest the public, hoping that what the inmates might do or write will help in reducing the feeling of animosity and contempt shared by most citizens for all inmates.

supervision and guidance to assist him as much as possible to abstain from using drugs during substantial periods of his life in the community.

"As part of the program of co-operation with the provinces reflected in the new Act, the new centre will also be available to receive and treat such non-criminal addicts as may be committed under appropriate provincial legislation.

Six Retire From Stony Mountain Combined Service of 161½ Years

Six retiring officers at Stony Mountain Penitentiary were honored at a dance September 15 in the officer's recreation club held in Stony Mountain school auditorium.

Warden F. S. Harris, in his remarks pointed out the Penitentiary Service was losing the combined experience of 161½ years, and in terms of knowledge and ability, this was hard to replace.

Retiring officers included: W. H. N. Adair, Hospital Officer, with 28 years service; S. Best, Guard, with 32 years; R. F. Greene, Assistant Engineer, with 28 years; G. F. Mackie, Assistant Hospital Officer, with 28 years; A. E. Steel, Assistant Deputy Warden, with 29 years, and R. White, Assistant Steward with 17 years service.

All officers served in either World War I or II and some in both. Five of the six were born in the British Isles, while Asst. Engineer Greene is a Nova Scotian.

Educational Supervisor Don Weir presented each of the retiring officers with gifts on behalf of the Stony Mountain Local Council of the Civil Service Association of Canada.

Mrs. Harris presented each of the retiring officers' wives with a corsage.

introduced, a substantial reform has been made in the law of murder. The new "Capital Murder Bill" passed at this session establishes two classes of murder — capital and non-capital.

"Under this new legislation, the death penalty will attach only to murder of a planned and deliberate character or a killing in the course of a crime of a nature importing the elements of deliberation or stealth. The killing of a police or penitentiary officer while he is engaged in the discharge of his duty, is also capital murder. All other murder is made non-capital and is subject to a penalty of life imprisonment.

"Improvements have also been made in the provisions regarding the trial and appeal of an accused person. These important reforms have at long last brought this branch of criminal law into conformity with the needs and views of present day society.
