Warden Earl Retires at Joyceville

New Wardens Appointed: DesRosiers to Joyceville, Smith to Dorchester

The appointment of two new wardens in the Federal Penitentiary Service — at the Joyceville Institution in Ontario and at Dorchester Penitentiary in New Brunswick — was announced September 21st by Hon. Donald M. Fleming, Q.C., Minister of Justice and Attorney General of Canada.

The new appointments result from the approaching retirement of Warden Oren A. Earl at Joyceville, Mr. Fleming said. He added that Mr. Earl, who has been Joyceville's warden since that medium security institution was opened in 1958, is retiring at the end of October after 42 years of service in the penitentiaries field.

Appointed to succeed Mr. Earl at Joyceville is Charles E. DesRosiers, who is at present Warden of Dorchester Penitentiary in New Brunswick. Mr. DesRosiers' successor at Dorchester will be Hazen F. Smith, who has served as Deputy Warden at Dorchester since 1960. Mr. DesRosiers has been in the service for 26 years, Mr. Smith for 22 years.

Mr. Fleming pointed out that the appointment of the two new wardens was effected under the Penitentiary Service's career planning program, under which promotional opportunities are open to personnel throughout the service, on a nation-wide basis of competition.

Mr. DesRosiers, who will officially take up his new duties at Joyceville next month, was born at St. Victor, Saskatchewan, in 1912. He attended public schools in the Prince Albert area and the University of Alberta in Edmonton, graduating in 1936 with a B.A. degree.

His first association with the Penitentiary Service came in 1935, when he was temporarily employed as a guard at Saskatchewan Penitentiary, Prince Albert, during his university summer vacation. Following graduation, he received a permanent appointment as a guard at that institution, in November 1936.

Early in the Second World War, he enlisted in the Canadian Army, in the Saskatoon Light Infantry. Having been appointed as a provisional lieutenant in the militia in 1937, he became a full lieutenant in the machine-gun unit in May 1940, and was a Major at the time of his discharge from the active force in October 1945.

Before returning to duty with the Penitentiary Service, Mr. DesRosiers was loaned to the Department of Veterans' Affairs, where he served for approximately 18 months as an educational and occupational officer at Edmonton.

On April 1, 1947, he was appointed to the position of classification officer at Saskatchewan Penitentiary, the first such position to be established in the penitentiary service in Canada. In 1951, he was transferred to Manitoba Penitentiary at Stony Mountain as chief keeper, and became Warden of that institution in January 1957. He was appointed Warden of Dorchester Penitentiary in New Brunswick in December 1960.

Hazen Smith, who will assume his new duties as Warden at Dorchester on October 28, is a native of New Brunswick and has spent his 22 years of service at the Dorchester institution.

Joining Dorchester's staff as a guard in August 1940, Mr. Smith has since worked his way up through the staff organization, gaining an intimate knowledge of all aspects of the penitentiary's operations.

Following his service as a guard, he served for a time as chief keeper, and in 1954 became classification assistant. In 1957 he was appointed classification officer, becoming Dorchester's Deputy Warden in 1960.

Mr. Smith was born at Lower Newcastle, New Brunswick, in 1917 and received his education in public school and at St. Thomas University in Chatham and at Mount Allison University.

Active in various community activities, he is on the executive of the Westmoreland branch of the Children's Aid Society and the local unit of the Canadian Cancer Society.

Oren Earl, who is retiring as Warden at Joyceville, was born at Lansdowne, Ontario, in 1897, and educated at Brockville and Toronto schools.

He began his long service at Kingston Penitentiary where his first appointment was as a guard, in November 1920. He became a keeper at Kingston in March 1934, a trade instructor in 1938, and chief trade instructor in 1942.

In November 1958, he was transferred to Joyceville to open and become Warden of the Penitentiary Service's first medium security institution, which had just been built there.

As the first institution of its kind, Joyceville marked a significant stage in the Service's new Penitentiary Program. Prior to that time, all federal penitentiaries were maximum security, but today there are three distinct types of institutions — maximum, medium and minimum. Joyceville and other medium and minimum security institutions established since 1958 at various locations in Canada now enable the Service to carry out more effective rehabilitation programs through separating various types of inmates.

During the First World War, Mr. Earl began an association with the Canadian armed services which, including the active army and the militia, has continued for 32 years.

Serving overseas in the First World War with the Second Battalion C.E.F., he was wounded and returned to Canada early in 1919. He joined the militia in 1921 and was commissioned in 1923, serving with the Frontenac Regiment from 1921 until it was disbanded in 1937, by which time he was second in command.

During the Second World War he served with the Prince of Wales' Own Regiment, a Kingston based unit, as company commander, and later was commanding officer of 105 Manning Depot at Kingston, with the rank of Colonel.

Active in community affairs in the Kingston area, Mr. Earl is a member of the Masonic Lodge, the Society for Retarded Children, and the Kingston Historical Society, and a former member of Kingston city council. He is also a charter member of the Civil Service Association and a charter member and was one of the first directors of the Canadian Civil Service Credit Union.

With retirement, Mr. and Mrs. Earl plan to spend next winter in Florida and next summer in Europe, then take up residence in Kingston.

Retired Keeper Dies In B. C.

George Grozier, who served as Keeper at the British Columbia Penitentiary from 1949 until his retirement from the Penitentiary Service in August, 1958, died at Sapperton, British Columbia, August 24. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. D.J. Gillies, Protestant Chaplain of the British Columbia Penitentiary, and was attended by 20 uniformed officers and many off-duty and retired officers. A guard of honour was formed by uniformed officers at the burial service in Fraser View Cemetery.

Born in Scotland in 1893, Mr. Grozier served for three-and-a-half years in France and Belgium in World War I with the Second Battalion, Gordon Highlanders; and during World War II served as an instructor, with the rank of Sergeant-Major, with the Department of National Defence in Victoria, B.C.

He joined the staff of British Columbia Penitentiary in June 1927 shortly after coming to Canada; was promoted to Guard Warder in 1938, and to Guard Grade 2 in 1947, becoming Keeper in March 1949. He was a graduate of Penitentiary Officers' Training Course No. 5, held at Kingston in 1949.

FROM CONVICT TO CONVERT

Former Inmate Returns to Collin's Bay to Preach Service

In 1955, Donald Whiteside of Toronto was released from Collin's Bay Penitentiary after serving four years of a six-year term for armed assault with intent to rob. On Sunday, August 12, 1962, he returned to Collin's Bay — but this time it was to deliver a sermon.

Now a Baptist missionary, the man who was once a prison inmate who thought religion was "just a racket" used his own story to illustrate his sermon.

Reading from Romans I, which defines the Gospel as the saving power of God for those who have faith, he told how his acceptance of religious Faith had turned him from a life of crime to the life of a Christian missionary.

Born in Cookstown, Ontario, Mr. Whiteside had served in the United States Army for approximately three years during the Second World War, but after his discharge he had turned to a life of crime. His misdeeds led him into the courts on several occasions, beginning with fraud and theft charges in 1949 and 1951 for which he was sent to Guelph Reformatory.

In December 1951 he was sentenced to six years in Kingston Penitentiary on a charge of armed assault with intent to rob. Admitted to Kingston in January, 1952, he was transferred a short time later to Collin's Bay, where he served four years of his sentence before being released on a ticket-of-leave in December, 1955.

Although he had been trained and become qualified as a machinist while an inmate at Collin's Bay, Mr. Whiteside said in his sermon that he had still intended to return to crime on his release. He had in fact considered narcotics in Hamilton, but his chosen contact would have nothing to do with him because he was still on ticket-of-leave and had to report regularly to the authorities.

At about that time, he said, he started attending church, not initially from any belief but as a favour to a sister. However, he became converted in March of 1956, and later attended the Central Baptist Seminary in Toronto for three years.

For a time he served as assistant pastor at Baptist churches in Ontario, and subsequently taught in a French Baptist church school in northern Ontario. Five years after his release from Collin's Bay Penitentiary, he applied to the Warden with a request to return to testify to other inmates of his conversion.

The Warden's acceptance of his request led to the recent sermon.

Mr. Whiteside has recently volunteered to enter the missionary field with his church in Columbia. Because of his criminal record, he would not normally have been able to travel to foreign countries, but the intervention of friends led to the granting of a Queen's Pardon in June of this year, clearing the way for him to go abroad as a missionary.

At present residing in Toronto, Donald Whiteside, ex-inmate turned missionary, expects to leave for his chosen South American missionary field within a few months.

DeMolay Members Visit Saskatchewan Penitentiary

Approximately 300 Saskatchewan and Alberta members of the Order of DeMolay, who had gathered in Prince Albert on the week-end of October 6-8, to attend a Prairie Conclave, visited Saskatchewan Penitentiary to hear an address by Warden F.C.B. Cummins and to tour the institution.

Members of DeMolay, which is an Order devoted to international fellowship designed to create leaders and develop character among the youth of our country, heard Warden Cummins discuss the effects of juvenile delinquency upon our Society and the great challenge faced by the youth of the world in meeting this problem.

The Warden emphasized the importance of the role played by youth organizations and Orders such as DeMolay in meeting this problem. He urged every member of the Order to live up to their teachings by practising the virtues of comradeship, reverence, love of parents, patriotism, courtesy, cleanliness and fidelity.

The audience displayed a great interest and the Warden was called upon to answer many questions following the completion of his address. The DeMolay group was subsequently escorted through the institution by Classification Officer Rooney.

New R.C. Chapel at Collin's Bay

Honourable Donald M. Fleming, Minister of Justice and Attorney General of Canada, recently announced the construction of a new Roman Catholic Chapel at Collin's Bay Federal Penitentiary near Kingston, Ontario.

The new Chapel is to replace an older building at Collin's Bay Penitentiary, and will be the second Chapel at the Institution. A new Protestant Chapel was constructed in 1961.

Design of the new Chapel was made by the Federal Department of Public Works. It is 77 feet long and 46½ feet wide and will accommodate approximately 180 persons. The building will be of concrete block construction manufactured at the Institution. The block walls will be stucco-faced and will have brick trim. The light steel truss roof will have an asbestos tile covering. Interior walls of the Chapel will be plaster finished with traditional oak used for the chancel and chancel fittings, as well as the doors. The Chapel's interior fittings will feature furnishings from the old Chapel, including the drapes, pews, the Stations of the Cross, and the hand-worked stone altar.

In addition to the nave, the Chapel will have an interview room, priest's office and vestry.

Mr. Fleming, commenting on the new project, said that adequate provision of suitable places of worship at Federal Penitentiaries was of great concern in his Department. He said that religious instruction was considered to be an important and vital aid to the successful rehabilitation of inmates. Mr. Fleming paid tribute to the many Ministers and Priests in Canada who gave freely of their time and energies to visit the Penitentiaries to conduct services and administer to the spiritual needs of the inmates.

3/4 Million Dollars In Inmate Pay Plan

The operation of the Canadian Penitentiary Service's provisions for inmate pay, under which inmates of federal institutions can earn pay on a scale from 25 to 55 cents per day in four grades, will this year cost the Federal Treasury about three quarters of a million dollars.

Part of the pay which can be earned by an inmate is set aside in compulsory savings, and this portion is held for him until he is due to be discharged from the institution. Of the total, approximately one-third, or roughly a quarter of a million dollars, will be reserved in Compulsory Savings and paid to inmates on release.

Under the inmate pay plan, as an example, an inmate serving a two-year sentence, and obtaining the maximum remission, would on discharge receive between $32 and $39 in cash from his compulsory savings, depending upon his work record and his conduct. Inmates are permitted to use the spending portion of inmate pay in institutional canteens, for the purchase of smoking requirements, confectionery, toilet articles, etc.

Inmates Get Academic, Vocational Certificates

A total of 51 inmates of Collin's Bay Penitentiary were presented with certificates for satisfactory completion of vocational training courses, and four others received certificates for completion of Grade 8 study courses, at a graduation ceremony held September 11 in the institution's new Exercise Hall, School and Library Building.

The total number of graduates of the courses was 77, but 22 of the inmates had been released or transferred to minimum security camps prior to the graduation ceremony, so received their certificates by mail.

Program chairman was Deputy Warden U. Belanger, and speakers included Warden F. Smith; Mr. G. Taylor, Assistant Director of Vocational and Trades Training, Ottawa; Mr. D. C. McNeill, Director of Apprenticeship in the Ontario Department of Labour; and Mr. R. S. Collins of Kingston, acting personnel manager of the Aluminum Company of Canada.

Of the total of 77 trainees, seven were awarded academic certificates on completion of the Grade 8 course of study, with the top student in this group also receiving a dictionary as a special award. The remaining 70 were vocational course graduates, in the following categories: bricklaying, 11; carpentry, 10; electrical, 10; machine shop, 10; plumbing and heating, 9; motor vehicle repair, 8; sheet metal, 6 and welding, 6.

Kingston Institutions Co-ordinate Exhibit

The four Federal institutions in the Kingston area — Kingston Penitentiary, Collin's Bay Penitentiary, the Prison for Women, and Joyceville Institution—co-ordinated their activities in the presentation of an industrial, vocational and hobbycraft exhibit at the 1962 Central Canada Exhibition, held in Ottawa August 17-25.

Officers who operated the booth reported that many exhibition visitors were very interested in the industrial and vocational displays, and spent some time at the booth. One visitor wanted to know if he could purchase some of the vocational exhibits, being especially interested in a welding display panel from Collin's Bay Penitentiary.

A miniature office desk and chair, contributed to the display by Joyceville Institution, drew special attention, with many visitors expressing interest in purchasing it.

A shoe display from Kingston Penitentiary, showing the different stages in the manufacturing of a pair of shoes, was also well received, with shoemakers and shoe salesmen especially showing keen interest.

The sale of inmates' hobbycraft, which formed a secondary part of the penitentiaries display, also caught the interest of the general public. Visitors were interested not only in the quality, workmanship and sale of the finished articles, but also in the fact that through hobbycraft the inmates could occupy any spare time to good advantage. Many remarked, as they made purchases, that they felt this type of spare-time activity could help in the eventual rehabilitation of offenders. The total amount of cash realized from the sale of inmate hobbycraft at the exhibit was slightly over $1,700.00.

Institution officers selected to operate the booth at the exhibition were H. E. Bonsteel, canteen book-keeper from Kingston Penitentiary, C. L. McQuaide, vocational plumbing instructor from Collin's Bay, and L. Latimer, clerk to the Assistant Deputy Warden (Custody) from Joyceville.

The regional co-ordinator for the display by the four Kingston area institutions was J. J. McQuaide, Assistant Warden (Organization and Administration) from Joyceville, assisted by institutional co-ordinators F. R. Graves, Assistant Warden (Service and Supply) from Kingston Penitentiary; G. R. Rogers, Assistant Warden (Service and Supply) from Collin's Bay Penitentiary; Mrs. M. M. Anderson, Recreational and Hobbycraft Matron from the Prison for Women; and C. B. Sanderson, Chief Trade Instructor (Industries) from Joyceville Institution.

20,000 View Display by Western Region

An estimated 20,000 fairgoers visited the Canadian Penitentiary Service Western Region's exhibit during the 14 days it was on view at the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver this year. The Western Region includes the British Columbia Penitentiary, William Head Institution, Agassiz Correctional Work Camp, and Mountain Prison.

The exhibit displayed industrial manufactured products and training projects of the institution on display boards. Included were manufactured aluminum products such as water pitchers, lamp shades, bullet lamps, drinking glasses, cups, bowls, large pans and radio earphones.

Items of machine shop manufacture includes vices, gears and punches, while an electronics display featured a radio diagram with functioning radio component parts. A display on shoe shop manufactures included partially-manufactured footwear as well as a complete line of work boots, shoes, inmate discharge shoes, officers shoes and track shoes. Sign-painting and vocational drafting displays were also among the exhibits.

Two areas of the institution's booth were devoted to inmate hobbycraft, with articles on display in these areas including copperwork, petit point, paintings, knitting, leatherwork, jewellery, wood carving, and a hand-made guitar.

Other sections displayed upholstery shop work and discharge suits, the latter produced in institution tailor shops; in another a slide projector showed colour slides illustrating and explaining the institutional training programs; while another feature was a relief map of the William Head Institution grounds, with push-button lights to enable visitors to identify buildings.

The editors of the inmate publication, "Transition", co-operated with the Western Region administration in preparing a brochure entitled, "The Years Between," presenting a detailed account of training programs, and 4,000 copies were distributed to visitors. In addition, 1,000 copies of the regular July-August issue of "Transition" were distributed from the display booth.

On the evening of the closing day, "Miss P.N.E." visited the display, and posed for photographs in an inmate-manufactured easy chair in the upholstery section of the Western Region's exhibit.

Joyceville Experiment Needs Time to Work

Any impression that escapes from Joyceville medium security institution near Kingston are indications of failure loses sight of the fact that this is an experiment which needs time to work, says a recent article in the Kingston Whig-Standard.

The article notes that, when it is considered that 800 persons entered Joyceville during the course of last year, the percentage of escapes — a total of 16 in 1961 — is not particularly serious.

Notable is the fact that most escapees are in the twenties age group, and many of those who have run away have done so because of sudden emotional disturbances caused by such things as adverse news from home, rather than deliberately planning to escape. No long-term offenders have tried to escape and, almost without exception, the man who has run away has not been a person involved in learning a trade or a hobby.

This appears to indicate success in the rehabilitative program in which the medium security institution places emphasis on good work programs, and encourages inmates to attend school, to learn trades and pursue hobbies. Inmates working in shops are trained in a progressive knowledge of various trades, to equip them with a practical and honest means of livelihood after their release from prison.

The success of the program, the article indicates, will take time to materialize, and will lie in the extent to which inmates can be fitted to take up their future role as more responsible citizens than they have been in the past.

Recognition of these future benefits, although it may come gradually, is expected to improve morale and to curtail escapes in the future.

B.C. Penitentiary's Staff in Fish Derby

Accountant Bill Edwards of British Columbia Penitentiary was the winner in a fish derby held by that institution's staff on September 23rd. His catch of a one-pound, two-ounce Cohoe Jack (a small salmon) gained him first prize of a trophy cup and a fly rod. In addition, his catch enabled him to win a "hidden-time" prize of an automobile safety seat belt.

Second prize in the event, in which 24 staff members participated, went to retired Custodial Officer James Adams, who also split third prize with ex-Custodial Officer Gordon Mowatt. A second "hidden-time" prize, a hook extractor, went to Guard Grade 2 M. Musa.

The other prize-winning fish, in addition to Mr. Edward's top-winning Cohoe Jack, were one-pound Cohoe Jacks caught by Adams and Mowatt, and a half-pound Cut-Throat trout caught by Musa.

First Warden's Congress Softball Tournament Held

Collin's Bay Penitentiary marked the inauguration of a new softball event on September 9th, in a Warden's Congress tournament in which an institution team and three outside teams competed for a Challenge Cup, presented for the first time this year. Approximately 400 inmates watched the day's games.

The event featured three softball games during the day, with the participating teams including the Collin's Bay Sinners, the Prince George Indians from Kingston, Smart's Braves, also from Kingston, and the Brockville Diggers from Brockville. Winners of two of the three games, the Prince George Indians took home the Congress Trophy.

In the morning game, Prince George defeated the Collin's Bay Sinners by a 2-1 score in a closely fought game. In the afternoon game, Brockville Diggers defeated Smart's Braves by a 4-0 score, leaving Prince George and Brockville to compete in the evening game. The final game saw Prince George down the Brockville team 2-1, to win the challenge cup on its first presentation.

Following the win, Warden F. Smith presented the Congress Trophy and crests marking the Congress tournament to D. G. Timmins, manager of the Prince George Indians.

Officers responsible for organizing the tournament were H. Macey, Acting Inmate Welfare Officer, and J. Edmonds, Recreational Supervisor.

Following the tournament, Prince George Manager D. G. Timmins said he hoped it would be an annual event, adding that his team looked forward to defending the trophy next year. He also complimented the Sinners ball club on its friendliness and good sportsmanship.

B.C. Guard Now Minister

Tuesday, September 4, 1962, marked an important day in the life of Guard Grade 2, Ernest Warner Scott of British Columbia, for on that day he was ordained as a Minister of the Baptist Church.

However, Rev. Scott's ordination does not mean an end to his career with the Penitentiary Service, as he has already expressed his intention to continue serving in this field, wherever he may be required.

On the other hand, it marks the end of a long period during which he was carrying out a "double-shift" — continuing to work as a guard at the penitentiary while at the same time pursuing his religious studies. In addition, for the past six years he has also carried the responsibilities of musical director at the Institution, and has supervised the last six musical concerts presented by the inmates.

Mr. Scott, who joined the British Columbia Penitentiary staff in September 1952 as a Guard Grade 1, was promoted to Guard Grade 2 in 1959. Just over three years ago, when a change in schedule for his music studies left him with free time in the mornings, he enrolled at the Theological College in Vancouver, beginning the studies which culminated in his ordination as a Minister this September.

For the past three years, his schedule has been a rigorous one: after completion of his night shift at the Penitentiary, and a few hours sleep, he was up at 5 a.m. to drive 20 miles to the College and begin classes at 7.30 a.m. His last class in the morning ended at 12.20 p.m.; then there was the drive home again to get ready for his shift at the Penitentiary.

This September, Guard Scott became Reverend Scott when, after six hours of questioning by members of the Ordinating Council, he was unanimously ordained a Baptist Minister, earning the congratulations of his fellow officers throughout the Penitentiary Service.

Beaver Creek Camp Inmates Team with Local Firefighters

Inmates of the Beaver Creek Correctional Camp recently joined forces with the Gravenhurst Fire Department in quelling an imaginary blaze as part of a combined practice exercise.

Commenting on the exercise, Camp Superintendent D. J. Halfhide said it was most successful, and demonstrated that the combined fire-fighting services could cope with a major fire if one should occur.

"The exercise showed that in less than seven minutes we can have maximum attack methods in operation," he said. "Our men can have equipment concentrated on a blaze in about two minutes, and the Gravenhurst fire department can be on the scene to join them about five minutes later."

The designated Beaver Creek crew consisted of four inmates plus a stand-by group, and in two minutes and 40 seconds this crew had water playing on a building which had been designated as being "on fire" when the siren was sounded. This included mustering the crew, laying two lines of hose, and starting the fire pump.

Seven minutes after the alarm was sounded, the Gravenhurst Fire Department arrived. They hooked up the fire truck, started the booster pump, and were pumping water at 200 pounds pressure in a further four minutes.

Superintendent Halfhide said the men from Beaver Creek, with local assistance, are becoming proficient in fighting fires of two varieties. Fire Chief Roy Mathias of Gravenhurst is helping to instruct them in methods of fighting building fires, while George Elliott, chief ranger at High Falls Lands and Forests office, has worked with them in forest fire-fighting techniques. The crew has helped to put out bush fires throughout the Muskoka region.

Camp inmates hold weekly practices under the direction of the camp's works officer, Ken Knister, using water lines from a storage reservoir on the camp grounds.

Dairying Impressive at Collin's Bay Farm

Development of a dairy herd which has reached the stage where it can supply almost all the milk requirements of three Federal institutions in the Kingston area, and has also picked up a fair share of prize-winning ribbons, is one of the accomplishments of the Collin's Bay Penitentiary farm.

The Farm Manager's report for the month of August, 1962, reveals that the institution's herd now includes 167 purebred Holstein cattle, consisting of 77 milk cows, 82 feeders, five full calves, and three herd sires. All animals retained are registered with the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada.

Milk production during the month totalled 7,347 gallons, which was reported to be almost enough to meet complete milk requirements for not only the Collin's Bay Penitentiary but also for Kingston Penitentiary and Joyceville Institution.

Milk produced by the Collin's Bay dairy herd is standardized, clarified, pasteurized and homogenized in the institution's own plant before being distributed to the institutions in the Kingston area.

During August, distribution of the 7,347 gallons produced was as follows: Collin's Bay Penitentiary, 1,860 gallons; Kingston Penitentiary, 3,081 gallons; Joyceville Institution, 1,701 gallons; feed milk supply, 418 gallons; and outside sales, 286 gallons.

In addition to achieving a substantial level of milk production, Farm Manager B. G. Clark takes pride in the fact that animals in the institution's herd have gained a number of championship ribbons and first prizes, and have achieved very satisfactory individual production records.

New Exercise Hall at Collin's Bay

A new exercise hall, school and library building, recently completed at Collin's Bay, is designed to facilitate the institution's educational, cultural and recreational programs. Combination of the three functions in the one building, modelled after a similar building at Dorchester Penitentiary in New Brunswick, provides a design which allows for maximum use of available space in the building.

The new hall, which is 142 feet long and 122 feet wide, is of cement block construction with a laminated roof, with exterior finish of stucco, brick and asbestos cement tile. Interior finish is acoustic plaster, with asphalt tile floors in the recreation area, classrooms and offices, and terrazzo floors in hallways, change room and washrooms.

The exercise hall portion of the building has an assembly area 88 feet long and 56 feet wide, designed so that it can be used for athletic activities or for the showing of films or the presentation of stage programs. It is provided with a bleacher section, dressing rooms, projection room and an instructor's office.

The school portion of the building includes two classrooms, each accommodating 25 desks, and an educational supervisor's office. School classes are held every day for inmates taking elementary courses, while inmates enrolled in correspondence courses receive assistance on specified days. Eventually, evening classes are expected to be arranged, to facilitate an improved inmate educational program.

The new library area, which is adjacent to the school area, includes a main library room, with shelf accommodation for approximately 17,000 non-fiction, fiction, technical, educational and reference books, and with provision for magazine files as well; a librarian's office; a bookbinder's room equipped to keep all institution books and magazines in good repair; and an issue room for the maintenance of library and school records.

William Head Featured in "Weekend"

A photostory on the William Head institution in British Columbia was featured in a recent issue of "Weekend" magazine. Pointing out that more work in better surroundings was the idea at the minimum-security institution, the story noted that inmates at William Head work almost twice as hard as those in maximum-security establishments, putting in a regular 7½ hour work day, and that all recreational facilities have been provided either by nature or by the inmates themselves. Written by Weekend Staff Writer, Stephen Franklin, the story was illustrated with photographs by Jack Long.

Outside Funeral Service Held For Inmate

Funeral services for James Grant, an inmate of the British Columbia Penitentiary who collapsed and died at the institution, August 30, were held at Howell and Sons funeral home in New Westminster, with interment in Ocean View Cemetery.

The funeral marked the first time in the history of the Penitentiary that an outside funeral service and burial in an outside cemetery had been arranged for a deceased inmate. The service was conducted by Rev. D. J. Gillies, Protestant Chaplain, with three officers and three inmates, the latter in civilian dress, acting as pallbearers. The cost of the funeral was covered by donations from inmates, and the Inmate Welfare Committee provided a floral tribute.

Road Accident Takes Lives of Guard, Wife and Children

Correctional Officer Patrick Francis Madden of the Agassiz Correctional Work Camp and three members of his family — his wife, Gloria Jean, eight-year-old son Michael two-year-old daughter Linda—died in an automobile accident on the Lougheed Highway near Mission, British Columbia, on August 18. Another daughter, Sheryl, aged 6, who was also a passenger in her father's car, was injured but is recovering in Mission Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Madden, 38, had joined the custodial staff at British Columbia Penitentiary in June 1961, as a Guard Grade 1, and had been promoted and transferred to the Agassiz Correctional Camp as a Correctional Officer (P.A. 6) on August 1, 1962. When the accident occurred the family was on a trip from Haney, where they had resided, to look for a new home in the Agassiz area.

News of the tragedy shocked the town of Haney and Mr. Madden's fellow officers at British Columbia Penitentiary. A Solemn Requiem Mass was sung in St. Patrick's Church at Haney on August 22 for the Madden family, with the Penitentiary Chaplain, Father J. Barry, leading the choir. Thirty-nine uniformed members of the Canadian Penitentiary Service, headed by Acting Warden John Grant of British Columbia Penitentiary, were in attendance. Eight officers, led by Supervisor of Services W. LaPorte, formed a guard of honour at the church, and accompanied the funeral procession from Haney to Ocean View Burial Park in Vancouver, under escort of R. C. M. P. officers.

Challenge To Dorchester Darters

Members of the Kingston Penitentiary staff have issued a challenge to dartsmen at Dorchester Penitentiary, as a result of an item in "Federal Corrections" which had intimated that the Dorchester officers were laying claim to having the best dart team to be found anywhere.

The Kingston Penitentiary Dart Team has expressed the hope that Dorchester's dart players who might be sent on course to the Correctional Staff College at Kingston at any time will be prepared to prove their proficiency in competition with Kingston.
