Air fare statistics

Third quarter 1999 (preliminary)

The average domestic air fare (all types) paid by passengers in the third quarter of 1999 was a record $214, up 9.0% from the third quarter of 1998 and 2.6% above the previous record of $208 in the second quarter of 1999. This was the tenth consecutive quarterly increase in average fares in the domestic sector, erasing the effect of seven consecutive quarterly decreases in 1995 and 1996.

The average international air fare was $387 in the third quarter of 1999, up 2.7% from the third quarter of 1998, but down 7.6% from the record average international fare of $419 reached in the third quarter of 1994. Fares in the international sector have remained relatively stable for five consecutive quarters.

In the third quarter of 1999, 90.4% of passengers on domestic scheduled services flew on discount fares, up 1.7 percentage points from 88.7% in the third quarter of 1998.

On international scheduled services, 92.2% of passengers travelled on discount fares, up 1.2 percentage points from the third quarter of 1998.

Preliminary estimates are now available for the third quarter of 1999. Information on the types of fares used by passengers is based on data from four Canadian Level I air carriers (AirBC, Air Canada, Canadian Airlines International Ltd. and Canadian Regional Airlines) and from three Level II carriers (Air Nova, Air Ontario and Inter-Canadien). Average domestic air fares for 10 major Canadian cities are available on CANSIM.

Available on CANSIM: table 4010003.

The September 2001 issue of Aviation service bulletin (51-004-XIB, $8/$82) will be available soon. See How to order products. A print-on-demand service is also available.
