Canadian social trends

Autumn 2001

Each quarter, Canadian social trends integrates data from many sources to examine emerging social trends and issues. The Autumn 2001 issue includes the following articles: "Family disruptions and childhood happiness," "Kids and teens on the Net," "Generosity: 30 years of giving," and "Mobile homes in Canada."

The first examines how family disruptions during childhood, such as divorce or a parent's death, can influence adults in later life. Other articles examine the extent to which children aged 5 to 18 have access to the Internet at home; analyse changes in household spending on gifts and charitable donations; and profile people who live in mobile homes. Canadian social trends also features the latest social indicators, as well as information about Statistics Canada's products and services.

The Autumn 2001 issue of Canadian social trends (11-008-XIE, $8/$27; 11-008-XPE, $11/$36) is now available. See How to order products.
