National Occupational Classification 2011

The structure of the National Occupational Classification (NOC) 2011 is being jointly released today by Statistics Canada and Human Resources and Skills Development Canada (HRSDC). When implemented, this classification will replace Statistics Canada's National Occupational Classification for Statistics (NOC-S) 2006 and HRSDC's National Occupational Classification (NOC) 2006, eliminating the differences that have existed between these classifications.

The structure of the National Occupational Classification 2011 is now available on our website.

Further additional information, see Background.
