Correctional Institution Statistics, 1969-70 (85-207, $1.00)
Canadian correctional institutions held 22,329 persons on March 31, 1970. This was $5.0 \%$ fewer than on March 31, 1969. Training schools experienced a sharp $18.0 \%$ decrease to 3,111 from 3,793, reflecting provincial preferences for other treatment of juveniles. There were also $6.0 \%$ fewer adult inmates of provincial correctional institutions this year ( 11,881 versus 12,538 last year), as several provinces turned to other treatment for persons convicted of some offences involving alcohol. The population of Federal penitentiaries, on the other hand, increased by $3.0 \%$ to 7,337 from 7,117.

Estimates of Employees by Province and Industry, August 1970-Advance information

The advance unadjusted estimate of employees in non-agricultural industries increased in August 1970. All industry divisions increased except mines, quarries and oil wells; community, business and personal services; and public administration and defence each of which recorded declines. Employment was higher in New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba. All other provinces showed decreases.

The seasonally-adjusted, advance estimate of non-agricultural employment also rose in August. Among the industry divisions for which data are available, the largest change was an increase in construction. Higher employment was recorded in all provinces except Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island, and Nova Scotia where decreases occurred.

For the last week of July, the preliminary unadjusted estimate of $6,677,600$ employees in non-agricultural industries was $1.9 \%$ lower than the Jute total of $6,807,100$. Decreases were recorded in manufacturing; trade; and community, business and personal services. The decline in manufacturing resulted from layoffs associated with the model changeover in motor vehicles. In community, business and personal services, the decrease occurred in education where teachers not being paid during the summer months are not counted as employed. All other industry divisions recorded gains. Employment was lower in all provinces except Nova Scotia, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta where small increases occurred.

Employment was $0.6 \%$ (38,500 employees) higher than in July 1969. Among the industry divisions, the largest relative changes were increases of $15.7 \%$ in mines, quarries and oil wells ( 18,400 employees); $8.6 \%$ in public administration and defence ( 37,700 employees); $4.3 \%$ in trade ( 44,900 employees) ; and a decrease of $5.5 \%$ in construction ( 23,200 employees). All provinces recorded higher employment except Quebec, Saskatchewan and British Columbia which showed declines.

The July seasonally-adjusted estimate of non-agricultural employment dropped $1.7 \%$ ( 110,200 empl oyees) from June 1970. Decreases occurred in community, business and personal services ( $4.1 \%$ or 78,800 employees); in manufacturing ( $0.8 \%$ or 13,900 employees); in trade ( $0.6 \%$ or 6,800 employees); and in public administration and defence ( $1.4 \%$ or 6,500 employees). The decline in community, business and personal services was larger than the usual seasonal movement because teachers not being paid during the summer months were included in previous estimates. Employment decreases in all provinces except Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan, and Alberta which recorded slight gains.

Further information will be contained in the DBS publication Estimates of Employees by Province and Industry (72-008, $10 \mathrm{c} / $ 1.00$ ).

Inventories, Shipments and Orders in Manufacturing Industries, August 1970 - Advance information

The benchmarks from which the estimates of shipments, inventories and orders are projected have been changed in accordance with the findings of the 1968 Census of Manufacturers. All data in the following tables have been calculated on the new basis, and are therefore directly comparable. However, none of the following figures are necessarily comparable to data published previously by DBS. While dollar values of the new estimates have increased through the change, relative month-tomonth trends remain substantially the same.

Further information, including recalculated data from January 196?, will be contained in the July-August issue of the DBS publication Inventories, Shipments and Orders in Manufacturing Industries (31-003, $30 ¢ / $ 3.00$ ) scheduled for publication on November 19.
