Murder Statistics - Due to widespread public interest shown in our January 15 release on murder statistics, we repeat that further details may be obtained from Mrs. T. Bleszynski, Judicial Division, Statistics Canada, Ottawa KIA 0Z5 (613-994-9333). We have taken all possible steps to speed the process of publishing Murder Statistics, 1971 (85-209, 75¢) and Murders Reported, 1961-1971 (85-503, 75¢), in hopes of releasing these publications earlier than had been previously anticipated.

Labour Income, November 1972 – Advance Information.

Total labour income, not adjusted for seasonal variations, was estimated at $4,934.4 million in November, 10.9% more than the revised figure ($4,454.9 million) for a year earlier.

Seasonally-adjusted, the November estimate of $4,913.8 million was up $43.0 million or 0.9 from October. All industry divisions contributed to this increase.

Further details will be published in Labour Income, October-November (72-005, 20¢/$2), and additional information is available on request from Mrs. G. Gauthier (613-995-8067), Labour Division, Statistics Canada, Ottawa K1A 0V2.

Real Domestic Product, November 1972 - Advance Information.

Canada's seasonally adjusted Real Domestic Product rose by 0.5% in November. The October level has been revised to 181.0 from 180.5. The major contributors to the November growth were transportation and the components of the index of industrial production — mining, manufacturing and utilities. The mining increase is traceable to mineral fuels and metal mining. Durables led the manufacturing advance.

In transportation, most components increased. However, rail transport contributed most of the advance as carriage of coal, iron ore, grain other than wheat, logs, machinery, sugar and several other commodities all increased.

Wholesale trade registered the major decline.

For further information, order the November 1972 issue of Real Domestic Product (61-005, 20¢/$2).

Preliminary Statement of Canadian Trade, December 1972 – Published only in Statistics Canada Daily and Weekly.

Imports rose by $3.1 billion or nearly 20% to a new high of $18.7 billion in 1972. Exports, as previously reported, increased by $2.1 billion or 12% to a record level of $19.9 billion. As a result, the trade surplus declined substantially for the second successive year to $1.2 billion from $2.1 billion. This trade balance was significantly higher than the balance of $0.8 billion in 1969.

Trade balances with major trading areas, apart from Latin America, deteriorated either through lower surpluses (as with the United Kingdom and the United States) or by a shift to a deficit position (as with the Commonwealth and Preferential Countries, Japan, and the European Economic Community).

Trade with Australia, India, South Africa, Hong Kong and the Trucial States (with higher petroleum imports) contributed to the worsening of more than $200 million in the trade balance with Commonwealth and Preferential Countries.

All trading areas shared in the 1972 growth in imports, with the United States accounting for almost $2,000 million, Japan and "other countries" for over $300 million each, and the Common Market for some $200 million.

All categories of import demand were strong, as business and consumer spending increased purchases of automotive products (up $860 million), food ($220 million), communication equipment ($190 million) and clothing ($90 million). Business spending was reflected in higher purchases of industrial machinery ($265 million), crude petroleum ($140 million) and office machines ($80 million). Imports of aircraft and parts, metal ores, and petroleum and coal were little changed.

Seasonally adjusted imports in December, at $1,706 million, carried the fourth-quarter level to $5,044 million, exceeding the third-quarter level by some $380 million, with most of the increase occurring in purchases from the United States.

Unadjusted December imports, at $1,533 million, were $205 million or some 16% higher than for December 1971. This growth was attributable largely to imports from the United States, which rose more than $200 million with automotive products accounting for two-thirds or some $135 million. Imports of industrial machinery and food increased more moderately, while metal ores, office machines, and iron and steel declined.

Prices and Price Indexes, Industry Selling Price Index: Manufacturing, December 1972 – Advance Information.

The industry selling price index for total manufacturing (1961=100) moved 0.9% higher in December to 130.8 from the November index of 129.6. It was 6.2% higher than the December 1971 index of 123.2. Of the 101 industry indexes included in the total, 54 were higher, 8 declined and 39 were unchanged.

In terms of the relative contribution to the overall change in the total manufacturing index the more notable changes were increases recorded in the foods and beverages group, particularly in the feed manufacturers, vegetables oil mills and slaughtering and meat packing industries. Increases also occurred in the primary metals group reflecting higher prices registered in the smelting and refining, and iron and steel mills industries. Price increases recorded for automobiles were mainly responsible for advances in the transportation equipment industries group. Decreases during the month were insignificant with the exception of the leather products group, where lower prices reported in the leather tanneries industry marked the first decline in that major group since mid 1971.

General Wholesale Index

The general wholesale price index (1935-39=100) rose 1.7% in December to 327.9 from the November index of 322.4. It was 11.0% higher than the December 1971 index of 295.5. All eight major group indexes were higher.

The vegetable products group index rose 5.1% in December to 280.7 from 267.0 on higher prices for trains, sugar and its products, bakery products, fresh traits, rubber and its products and vegetable oils. An advance of 1.7% to 392.2 from 385.8 in the animal products group index reflected price increases for lyastock, fishery products, fresh meats and eggs.

Higher prices for copper and its products and silver were chiefly responsible for a rise of 1.3% to 272.3 from 268.9 in the non-ferrous metals products group index. An advance of 0.7% to 464.1 from 460.7 in the wood products group index reflected price increases for fir, cedar and hemlock. The iron products group index moved 0.6% higher to 333.6 from 331.6 on higher prices for rolling mill products, and wire. An increase of 0.5% to 247.9 from 246.7 occurred in the chemical products group index on higher prices for fertilizer materials and paint materials. Fractionally higher price movements were recorded in the textile products group to 283.0 from 281.9 and in the non-metallic minerals group to 235.1 from 235.0
