Real Domestic Product

(1961=100)

Canada's seasonally-adjusted index of real domestic product dropped 0.3% in September to 204.6 from 205.2 in August and reached its lowest level since January. Reduced retail trade, manufacturing and transportation output contributed most to the over-all decrease.

Retail trade fell 3.3%, mainly reflecting a 17% drop in motor vehicle dealers' volume.

Manufacturing production was off 0.9% in September, mostly due to lower output from the strike-affected motor vehicle manufacturing and rubber industries.

In transportation (down 2.2%), much of the decrease resulted from the grain-handlers strike which affected railway transport and also reduced grain elevator output.

The seasonally-adjusted index of real domestic product declined 0.2% in the third quarter of 1974 (to 205.2 from 205.7) following an increase of 0.2% in the preceding quarter. Man-days lost to strikes and lockouts were at a high level during both periods.

In the latest quarter, decreases were widespread in the goods-producing industries. In services, wholesale trade and storage registered declines.

For further information, order the September 1974 issue of Indexes of Real Domestic Product by Industry (61-005, 404/$4), or contact R.W. Collins (613-995-0443), Industry Product Division, Statistics Canada, Ottawa K1A 0T6.
