Foreign direct investment in Canada amounted to $36,237 million at the end of 1974, an increase of $3,432 million (10%) in the year.

Direct investment owned by United States residents grew by 11% during 1974 to a total of $28,996 million - this comprised 80.0% of total foreign direct investment in Canada. The growth of $2,883 million was spread over all the industrial categories with the largest increases occurring in the iron and products. financial, and petroleum and natural das industries. Investment owned in the United Kingdom increased by 12% to $3,525 million, to continue to comprise approximately 10% of the total. Most of the growth was concentrated in the manufacturing sector, and in mining and smelting. Direct investment owned in EEC countries other than the U.K. rose marginally to $2,017 million, with he Netherlands providing the bulk of the ncrease.

by $1,587 million (12%) to $14,796 million to represent 40.8% of total foreign direct investment. Investment in petroleum and natural gas rose 6% to $8,934 million. Increases of over $400 million were recorded for investment by foreign direct investors in the mining and smelting and financial sectors. Within manufacturing, foreign direct investment in iron and products ranked first ($4,709 million), followed by wood and paper products ($2,775 million) and chemicals and allied products ($2,300 million).

Real Domestic Product

(1971=100)

The seasonally-adjusted index of real domestic product advanced 0.5% to 124.1 in August from 123.5 in July. Output of goods-producing industries increased 0.3% while that of service-producing industries was up 0.5%.

In goods-producing industries, mining, manufacturing and utilities were the only components to record increases in August. In mining (up 2.7%), the most significant gain was shown by metal mines, mostly reflecting higher output of iron ore mines. Mineral fuels output declined due to lower production of crude petroleum and natural gas; however, strong increases were recorded in coal mining operations. In manufacturing (up 1.1%), both nondurables and durables manufacturing registered production gains during the month with notable increases in pulp and paper manufacturing, primary metal industries and transportation equipment industries. In utilities (up 0.6%), both electric power and gas distribution recorded advances. The most significant decline in the goods-producing sector occurred in construction, due to decreased activity in both the residential and non-residential building fields.

In service-producing industries, notable gains were registered during August in transportation, storage and communication, trade, community, business and personal services and public administration and defence. In transportation, storage and communication (up 1.3%), the increase mostly reflected advances in railway transport and telephone systems. Trade output increased 0.5% — retail trade was up 1.1% with the major gains shown by food stores, department stores and motor vehicle dealers; wholesale trade was down 0.3%.

Report on Job Vacancies

Preliminary estimates for the third quarter of 1976 show an increase in the average number of vacant jobs from the previous quarter. Vacancies for full-time, part-time and casual jobs rose 17% to 63,800 from 54,600. However, on a year-to-year basis, vacancies were down by 10%.

Vacancies for full-time jobs numbered 56,000 at September 30, up 13% from June 30. The number of longer-term vacancies — jobs unfilled for more than four weeks — rose 34% to 20,700.

For every 1,000 existing jobs in the latest quarter, seven were vacant, up from six in the previous period. A year earlier, the comparable rate was slightly higher — eight per 1,000. The highest vacancy rates were observed in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba while the lowest rate was recorded in Nova Scotia.

For further information, order Quarterly Report on Job Vacancies, Third Quarter 1976 (71-002, $1.05/$4.20), or contact J.A. Boucek (613-992-2006), Labour Division, Statistics Canada, Ottawa K1A 0V1.

Statement of Canadian Trade

Both exports and imports, seasonally adjusted on a balance-of-payments basis declined significantly in September — exports fell 5.5% to $3,242 million while imports dropped 3.5% to $2,971 million. Canada's merchandise trade surplus declined to $271 million from $349 million in August. Due to the strong trade position in these two months, the surplus for the third quarter of 1976 stood at $620 million compared with a surplus of $188 million in the second quarter and with a deficit of $171 million in the first quarter.

Seasonally-adjusted exports, on a customs basis, declined 4.8% in September to $3,186 million. The value of shipments to the United States stood at $2,129 million, down 9.5% from the peak level of August, with reduced passenger car exports accounting for most of the decline. This change, as well as lower shipments of vehicle parts, was in part due to the industrial dispute affecting the Ford Motor Company

The decline over the past two months of exports to overseas countries was reversed in September, with shipments rising 6% from August to $1,057 million. Shipments of wheat were sharply higher, and smaller increases were recorded in exports of fertilizer materials, passenger cars and parts.

Seasonally-adjusted imports (on a customs basis) fell 2.5% in September to $3,054 million. Most of the decrease was attributable to imports from the United States, which stood at $2,133 million. Contributing to this change was a sharp reduction in the arrival of passenger cars and a return to a more normal level in automotive parts imports.

Imports from overseas countries declined 2% in September to $921 million. The value of crude oil landed dropped to $172 million from $249 million in August.

For further information on area and commodity trade, order the September 1976 issue of Summary of External Trade (65-001, 40¢/$4).

Security Transactions with Non-Residents

International transactions in long-term portfolio securities led to a net inflow of $2,039 million in the second quarter of 1976, down from the two previous quarters, but the third highest quarterly inflow on record.

Sales of new Canadian issues to non-residents produced a net capital inflow of $1,878 million during the second quarter compared with an inflow of $2,990 million in the first quarter of 1976. Inflows from the United States amounted to $913 million, with $965 million coming from overseas investors. Corporate borrowers were the most active on the international market followed by provincial utilities, accounting for 54% and 24%, respectively, of the quarterly inflow.

For further information, order the June 1976 issue of Security Transactions with Non-Residents (67-002, 40¢/$4).

Labour Income

Total labour income for July was estimated at $8,668.1 million, up 11.3% from July 1975.

Adjusted for seasonal variation, the July estimate of $8,632.3 million showed a decrease of 1.4% from June. This decline is explained by: large retroactive payments included in the June estimate; a traditional employment pattern observed in education; the effect of the ending of the Olympic Games; and strikes in construction and manufacturing.

Further details will be published in the July-September 1976 issue of Estimates of Labour Income (72-005, $1.05/$4.20).

New Surveys

A quarterly report, New Surveys (11-006, no charge), is now being published by the Special Surveys Co-ordination Division of Statistics Canada. The publication provides brief abstracts of all surveys reported to the agency under a Treasury Board directive that requires all federal departments and agencies to consult Statistics Canada before launching any survey seeking information from more than 10 respondents, or making major revisions to existing surveys.

The report is available from Publications Distribution, Statistics Canada, Ottawa K1A 0T6.
