Consumer Price index (CPI)

(1971=100)

The Consumer Price Index for Canada advanced 0.4% to 146.2 in March from 145.6 in February marking the fourth consecutive month in which moderately-low increases have been registered.

Higher charges for housing and transportation were to a large extent responsible for the rise in the latest month. The food index declined for the fourth consecutive month, decreasing 0.7%, while the index for all-items excluding food rose 0.8%.

The March decline in the food index was again spurred by lower meat prices, with beef dropping 6.1% and pork products 1.9%. Fresh vegetable prices were also down as were those for soft drinks for home consumption. Partially offsetting these declines were higher prices for poultry, fresh fruit and restaurant meals.

Higher charges for both owned and rented accommodation and increased electricity rates in some Ontario centres were notable contributing factors to the 0.8% rise in the all-items excluding food index, as were higher prices for appliances and appliance repairs. Increased automobile insurance rates in some Western provinces and higher local transit fares in many Ontario cities also had a very large impact.

Between March 1975 and March 1976, the All-Items Consumer Price Index advanced 9.0%.

During this period, the following component index increases were recorded:

 Transportation, 13.3%; housing, 11.2%; health and personal care, 9.8%, recreation, education and reading, 7.0%, food, 6.7%; tobacco and alcohol, 5.6%; and clothing, 4.9%.

On a seasonally-adjusted basis, the all-items index rose 0.5% between February and March. The current annual rate of change in the CP based on the seasonally-adjusted movement since three months earlier was 5.7%, up from the 4.5% rate recorded the previous month.

For further information, order the March 1976 issue of Consumer Price Movements (62-001, 30¢/$3).

Urban Transit

Urban transit systems carried 93.1 million fare passengers in February and had operating revenues amounting to $28.9 million. Revenue vehicle-miles run totalled 26.2 million.

Local Government Finance, 1973

Local governments in Canada had total general revenues of $10.50 billion in 1973, up by $922 million (9.6%) from 1972.

Actual general revenue raised by these governments from their own sources — real property and other taxes, sales of service, licences, permits and other charges — rose 9.5% from the previous year to $5.13 billion in 1973. Transfers from other levels of government amounted to $4.88 billion, or 46.6% of total general revenue. The significant portions of these transfers were the specific purpose transfers from provincial and territorial governments amounting to $4.30 billion (up 5.4% from 1972).

General expenditure of Canadian local governments at $11.25 billion in 1973 showed an increase of 9.6% over 1972. Education expenditure at $4.73 billion was up 2.6% from the previous year and represented 42.0% of total 1973 expenditure Smaller proportions went for transportation and communications (12.0%), fiscal services (9.2%): environment (8.0%), protection of persons and property (8.0%), and other functions.

Further details of these and other financial management statistics of local governments will be published in Local Government Finance Actual, 1973 (68-204, $1.05). Pending release of the publication, further information may be obtained from G.A. Marr (613-995-0713). Local Government Section, Public Finance Division, Statistics Canada, Ottawa K1A 076.
