ECONOMIC CONDITIONS IN NOVEMBER

As the year 1947 ended Canada was experiencing a record peacetime level of employment and production. Construction and other capital expenditure especially had expanded during the year and under the impact of this additional spending prices had moved upward rapidly. The rise in prices was made possible by a successive series of decontrol measures under which price controls and subsidies had been almost entirely abandoned by the year's end. However, the rapid depletion of Canada's American dollar resources caused by a record level of imports from the United States market had necessitated the introduction of a number of new controls, measures designed to restrict the volume of goods coming from across the border. Coupled with these were other measures aimed at securing an increase in exports to dollar markets. As 1948 begins a wide range of tariff reductions will begin to exert their effect on the domestic market though in many instances the full effect of these changes will not be apparent for some time. Because of these developments a somewhat greater measure of uncertainty must be attached to the prospects for the coming year.

Agriculture

Despite reduced yields for a number of major crops the gross value of Canada's principal field crops showed a slight increase in 1947. At $1,287 million, this value has only been exceeded once (in 1944) since 1920. Higher prices especially for oats, barley, rye and flax contributed toward keeping the value of production at such a high level. Regionally, these gains were not evenly distributed. In the Maritimes, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick registered gains of 20 and 23 per cent primarily as a result of higher prices for their potato crop, but in contrast the gross value of production for Nova Scotia showed a small decrease. Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia all showed gains but in the Prairies the value of crops was slightly lower than in 1946.

The largest decline in value was registered by the wheat crop; valued at $399 million it was down nearly $74 million. This decline reflects directly the relatively poor crop in the Prairie Provinces in 1947. Sharp declines in production more than offsetting increased prices occurred in oats, mixed grains, grain, hay and dry peas and brought the value of these crops below 1946 levels. Only for rye, flaxseed, buckwheat, and hay and clover was production higher than a year ago. However, substantially higher prices for a number of other commodities, notably barley, dry beans and potatoes served to increase the value of their crops despite lower production. Estimated values were based on average farm prices from August to November and some further upward revision may be expected if present price levels continue or rise further.

The marked increase in the output of Canada's oilseed crops during the current year is exceedingly welcome in view of the urgent world-wide shortages of oils and fats. Production of flaxseed increased from 6.4 million bushels in 1946 to 11.5 million bushels in 1947. Sunflower seed and rapeseed production are also up sharply, the former from 13 to 20 million pounds and the latter from 13 to 26 million pounds. Though these gains were offset by a smaller soybean crop the overall supply is much better than a year ago. The extent of the shortage is reflected in the higher prices prevailing for vegetable oils. The wholesale index for this group has advanced over 60 per cent during the past year and is now three times its average level in 1937.

The current pack of most canned fruits was heavier than a year ago whereas the pack of vegetables was somewhat lower. In fruits the largest gains were shown in the pack of strawberries with an increase from 13,000 to 186,000 dozen cans and in blueberries with an increase from 24,000 to 198,000 dozen cans. Among the vegetables the largest decline in pack were for peas down 30 per cent, for corn down 25 per cent and for tomatoes down 17 per cent. The overall stocks of both fruits and vegetables held by canners, wholesalers and chain store warehouses at October 1st were very close to their levels a year earlier and stocks of fruit juices and soups were substantially higher.

Employment

Statistics on employment show evidence of the heavy capital expenditure program under way in Canada during 1947. The largest gains in employment have centred in the machinery and construction industries and in their related material producing industries. Leading the way was the building construction industry with an increase at October 1, 1947, over the same date in 1946 of 33 per cent. Though smaller in extent industries producing building materials all showed sharp gains in employment. Thus employment in logging was up 19 per cent, in non-metallic minerals 17 per cent, in rough and dressed lumber 15 per cent and in clay, glass, stone and allied products 15 per cent. Another industry engaged in a heavy construction program, telephones, continued its rapid expansion in employment with a gain of 13 per cent. On the machinery side, the agricultural implements industry increased its employment by 16 per cent and other machinery firms by about 9 per cent. All of the above comparisons give the percentage increase between October 1, 1946 and the same date in 1947. Activity in the automobile industry also expanded rapidly during 1947 and by October 1st employment had increased 18 per cent since the beginning of the year. Brokerage and stock market firms were the most depressed group with a decline in employment of almost 20 per cent. This decline, occurring in a period of rapid capital expansion, reflects the inactive state of the market. Total sales of industrial stocks on the Montreal market were down almost 50 per cent in comparison with 1946.

Price Developments

A steady upward trend in prices has been in progress during the past year. The cost-of-living index increased 13 per cent between January and November and its present level, 143.6, is the highest point reached since December, 1920. The sharpest advances have been in the prices of food and clothing, both indexes have showed increases of about 19 per cent since the beginning of the year.

An even sharper advance has occurred in wholesale prices and the general index has risen almost 34 per cent since the beginning of the year. Prices of building materials, under the pressure of a record level of construction expenditures, registered one of the largest gains, almost 30 per cent. In large part this has been due to an extremely sharp rise in lumber prices; prices rose over 43 per cent during 1947, and increased over 13 per cent in October alone. Present lumber prices are now over two and one-half times their average level in 1937. Prices of a number of other building materials—such as cement, lime, sand and gravel, and building stone—have been much more stable and have increased by only about 7 to 14 per cent. The index of building material prices is now about 20 per cent above the peak reached in 1920.

Two other groups, textiles and non-ferrous metals have also shown rapid price rises during the past year. The rise in prices of lead, zinc and copper has been especially pronounced. Lead has increased in price 170 per cent, copper 85 per cent and zinc 80 per cent since last December. Current prices of these metals are very close to the levels prevailing in 1920. In the textile groups the sharpest increase has occurred in cotton textiles, almost entirely as a result of the removal of the subsidy, and for flax, hemp, and jute products. The price of the latter rose almost 70 per cent during the year. Prices of hides and skins and of manufactured leather jumped 80 and 77 per cent respectively during 1947 and current prices are now more in line with world levels. In some instances the price rises during 1947 reflected a return of prices to more normal relationships following the removal of subsidies and price ceilings. In other cases the price rise resulted from the acute world shortage, and prices for such commodities are now well above normal levels in relation to other prices. Thus in October 1947, while the general index of wholesale prices on a base of 1926 = 100 was at 139, the index of vegetable oils was at 250, the index of tea, coffee, cocoa and spices was at 205, the index of hides and skins was at 198, and the index of lumber was at 253.

The rapid price advances of recent months have somewhat narrowed the difference between price levels in Canada and in United States; the advance in our cost-of-living index between January and October has amounted to about 12 per cent in comparison with slightly less than 7 per cent in United States. A comparison between the present level of these indexes and prices at the end of the war (August 1945) shows that our index has advanced about 18.5 per cent whereas the American index has risen 27.1 per cent. Most of this difference is due to a greater rise in food prices south of the border. For almost all other groups in the index the advance in prices here has been nearly as large or larger. Thus during this period the index of clothing prices has increased 26.6 per cent in United States and 26.2 per cent in Canada; for home furnishing the respective increases were 25.5 for Canada and 27.9 for United States; and for rent the index in Canada showed an increase of 7.0, in United States an increase of 4.9 per cent.

Data for hourly-rated wage earners in manufacturing indicate that although average hourly earnings for this group have not increased as much as the cost-of-living index during 1947 they have risen more than the cost-of-living index since the end of the war (August 1945). During 1947 (January to October) the increase in average hourly earnings for all manufacturing amounted to 9.3 per cent whereas the cost-of-living index advanced 12 per cent over this same period. However, a comparison of October 1947 with September 1945 shows a gain for hourly earnings of 20.5 per cent, and a rise in the cost-of-living index of 18.5 per cent. Because of the reduction in tax rates the increase in retained earnings is somewhat larger than indicated by data on earnings before tax.

These gains have not been uniformly distributed among all industries and all regions but the advance has been fairly general. A comparison of hourly earnings in the week ending October 1, 1947, with those prevailing in September, 1945, reveals some definite trends. Earnings of workers in non-durable manufacturing industries have moved closer to those in the durable goods industries; the former have shown a gain of 25 per cent in earnings since September 1945, whereas earnings of the latter group have increased only 18 per cent. The relative economic position of the industry and the bargaining strength of the workers seem to have been more important in this picture than the durability of the product. In general, expanding industries have granted greater increases than industries where employment was curtailed at the war's end. For example, in such expanding industries as pulp and paper average earnings increased 37.5 per cent, in rough and dressed lumber 32.4 per cent, in flour milling 31.3 and in agricultural implements 33.4. On the other hand average hourly earnings in shipbuilding, aircraft and railway rolling stock plants increased by 10 per cent or less. A gain of over 30 per cent also occurred in the primary textile group. On a regional basis British Columbia shows much the highest average hourly earnings with just over $1.00 an hour at October 1, 1947. Ontario is next with 87 cents per hour. The best paid group in British Columbia were logging workers with average hourly earnings of $1.37 per hour, followed by the workers in building construction at $1.18. In contrast, average hourly earnings for workers in building construction all across Canada was only 95 cents.

SITUATION ÉCONOMIQUE EN NOVEMBRE

Au moment où l'année 1947 prend fin, le Canada enregistre un niveau sans précédent d'emploi et de production en temps de paix. Les dépenses pour la construction et autres immobilisations prennent particulièrement de l'ampleur durant l'année et il s'en suit que les prix grimpent rapidement. Cette hausse des prix découle de l'adoption de mesures successives de déréglementation, en vertu desquelles les plafonnements et les subventions sont presque complètement abandonnés à la fin de l'année. Cependant, le rapide appauvrissement des ressources canadiennes en dollar américain, causé par un niveau sans précédent d'importations en provenance du marché des Etats-Unis, nécessite l'imposition d'un certain nombre de nouvelles régies destinées à restreindre le volume de marchandises provenant d'outre-frontière. En outre, d'autres mesures sont prises en vue d'augmenter les exportations aux marchés de la zone du dollar. Dès le début de 1948, des réductions de tarifs de tous sortes commenceront à produire leur effet sur le marché domestique, bien qu'en plusieurs cas ces changements ne devront se manifester que plus tard. En raison de ces faits nouveaux, il faut attribuer une plus forte mesure d'incertitude aux perspectives de la nouvelle année.

Agriculture

En dépit du rendement réduit d'un certain nombre des principales cultures, la valeur brute des grandes cultures canadiennes les plus importantes augmente légèrement en 1947. Cette valeur, qui s'établit à 1,287 millions de dollars, n'a été dépassée qu'une seule fois (en 1944) depuis 1920. Les prix plus élevés, particulièrement de l'avoine, de l'orge, du seigle et de la graine de lin, contribuent à maintenir la valeur de la production à un niveau si élevé. Par région, ces gains ne sont pas également répartis. Pour ce qui est des Maritimes, l'Île du Prince-Edouard et le Nouveau-Brunswick enregistrent des gains de 20 et 23 p. 100 essentiellement en raison des prix élevés obtenus pour leurs pommes de terre, mais par contre, la valeur brute de la production en Nouvelle-Ecosse accuse un léger déclin. L'Ontario, le Québec et la Colombie-Britannique enregistrent tous des gains, mais dans les Prairies, la valeur des cultures est légèrement moindre qu'en 1946.

La diminution la plus prononcée en valeur est celle de la récolte de blé; elle atteint 339 millions de dollars, soit près de 74 millions de moins. Ce déclin reflète directement la récolte relativement faible dans les provinces des Prairies en 1947. La production d'avoine, de grains mélangés, de foin à grain et de pois secs enregistre de brusques déclins qui font plus que contre-balancer le renchérissement, établissant la valeur de ces cultures au-dessous des niveaux de 1946. Seuls le seigle, la graine de lin, le sarrasin, le foin et trèfle ont une production plus forte qu'il y a un an. Cependant, les prix sensiblement plus élevés d'un certain nombre de denrées, notamment l'orge, les fèves sèches et les pommes de terre, servent à accroître la valeur de leurs cultures en dépit de la baisse de la production. Les valeurs estimatives sont fondées sur les prix de ferme moyens du mois d'août au mois de novembre; une révision à la hausse sera effectuée si les niveaux de prix courants persistent ou montent davantage.

L'augmentation marquée de la production de cultures oléagineuses au Canada durant l'année courante tombe à merveille, vu la pénurie critique mondiale d'huiles et de matières grasses. La production de graine de lin passe de 6,400,000 boisseaux en 1946 à 11,500,000 en 1947. La production de graine de tournesol et celle de graine de colza augmentent aussi vivement; la première de 13 à 20 millions de livres et la deuxième, de 13 à 26 millions de livres. Bien que ces gains soient contre-balancés par une récolte moins abondante de soya, l'approvisionnement global demeure supérieur à celui d'il y a un an. L'étendue de la pénurie se reflète dans la hausse courante des prix des huiles végétales. L'indice de gros dans ce groupe avance de plus de 60 p. 100 durant cette dernière année et s'établit maintenant à trois fois son niveau moyen de 1937.

La mise en boîtes courante de la plupart des fruits en boîtes est plus considérable qu'il y a un an, tandis que celle de légumes diminue quelque peu. Quant aux fruits, les gains les plus marqués se produisent dans la mise en boîtes de fraises (de 13,000 à 186,000 douzaines de boîtes) et de bleuets (24,000 à 198,000 douzaines de boîtes). Parmi les légumes, les déclins les plus considérables quant à la mise en boîtes sont ceux des pois (30 p. 100), du maïs (25 p. 100) et des tomates (17 p. 100). Les stocks globaux de fruits et de légumes, détenus par les conservateurs, les grossistes et les entrepôts de magasins en chaîne, le 1er octobre, approchent de près leurs niveaux d'il y a un an; les stocks de jus de fruits et de soupes sont sensiblement plus abondants.

Emploi

La statistique de l'emploi reflète le programme considérable de dépenses d'établissement mis en œuvre au Canada en 1947. Les gains les plus prononcés de l'emploi se concentrent dans les industries de la machinerie et de la construction et dans les industries connexes productrices de matériaux. L'industrie de la construction de bâtiments vient en tête avec une augmentation de 33 p. 100 au 1er octobre 1947 par rapport à la même date de 1946. Bien que sur une plus petite échelle, les industries productrices de matériaux de construction accusent toutes des gains marqués quant à l'embauchage. Ainsi, l'emploi dans l'abattage du bois gagne 19 p. 100; les métalloïdes, 17 p. 100; le bois en grume et le bois dégrossi, 15 p. 100; l'argile, le verre, la pierre et produits connexes, 15 p. 100. Une autre industrie qui entreprend un programme considérable de construction, le téléphone, continue l'expansion accélérée de son embauchage avec un gain de 13 p. 100. Du côté de la machinerie, l'industrie d'outillage agricole augmente son emploi de 16 p. 100 et les établissements de machinerie d'autre genre, d'environ 9 p. 100. Toutes les comparaisons susmentionnées donnent le pourcentage d'augmentation entre le 1er octobre 1946 et la même date en 1947. L'activité de l'industrie de l'automobile grandit rapidement en 1947 et, au 1er octobre, l'emploi est de 18 p. 100 supérieur à celui du début de l'année. Les courtiers enregistrent la plus forte diminution; leur personnel diminue de près de 20 p. 100. Ce déclin, survenu durant une période d'expansion rapide en immobilisations, reflète l'inactivité du marché des valeurs. Le total des ventes d'actions industrielles à la Bourse de Montréal baisse de près de 50 p. 100 comparativement à 1946.

Tendance des prix

Une hausse des prix constante se fait sentir durant cette dernière année. L'indice du coût de la vie gagne 13 p. 100 entre janvier et novembre et s'établit présentement à 143·6, son point le plus élevé depuis décembre 1920. Les hausses les plus prononcées ont trait aux produits alimentaires et aux vêtements, dont les indices augmentent d'environ 19 p. 100 depuis le début de l'année.

Les prix de gros accusent une hausse encore plus brusque et l'indice général gagne près de 34 p. 100 depuis le début de l'année. Le cours des matériaux de construction, sous la poussée d'un niveau sans précédent de dépenses de construction, enregistre une des hausses les plus fortes, soit environ 30 p. 100. En grande partie, cette hausse est due à un renchérissement excessivement prononcé du bois d'œuvre; les prix augmentent de plus de 43 p. 100 en 1947, avec un gain de 13 p. 100 en octobre seulement. Le cours actuel du bois d'œuvre est de plus de deux fois et demi plus élevé que son niveau moyen de 1937. Les prix d'un certain nombre d'autres matériaux de construction, tels que le ciment, la chaux, le sable et le gravier et la pierre de construction, sont beaucoup plus stables et n'augmentent que d'environ 7 à 14 p. 100. L'indice des prix des matériaux de construction s'établit maintenant à près de 20 p. 100 au-dessus du sommet de 1920.

Deux autres groupes, les textiles et les métaux non ferreux, accusent de même des hausses de prix rapides au cours de cette dernière année. Le renchérissement du plomb, du zinc et du cuivre est particulièrement marqué. Le plomb augmente de 170 p. 100; le cuivre, de 85 p. 100 et le zinc, de 80 p. 100 de puis décembre dernier. Le cours actuel de ces métaux est très près du niveau de 1920. Quant au groupe des textiles, l'augmentation la plus brusque se produit dans les textiles de coton, presque entièrement en raison de l'abolition de la subvention ainsi que dans les produits du lin, du chanvre et du jute. Le prix de ce dernier produit gagne presque 70 p. 100 durant l'année. Le prix des peaux et celui des cuirs ouvrés avancent de 80 et 77 p. 100 respectivement en 1947 et le cours actuel est maintenant plus conforme aux niveaux mondiaux. Dans certains cas, les hausses de prix en 1947 reflètent le retour des prix à des rapports plus normaux, à la suite de l'abolition des subventions et des plafonnements. En d'autres cas, la hausse de prix découle de la pénurie mondiale critique et les prix de ces denrées s'établissent fort au-dessus des niveaux normaux par rapport aux autres prix. Ainsi, en octobre 1947, tandis que l'indice général des prix de gros, fondé sur 1926 = 100, s'établit à 139, l'indice des huiles végétales est de 250; celui du thé, café, cacao et épices, 205; des peaux, 198 et du bois d'œuvre, 253.

Les hausses de prix accélérées ces mois récents réduisent quelque peu l'écart entre les niveaux de prix au Canada et aux Etats-Unis; l'avance de notre indice du coût de la vie entre janvier et octobre touche environ 12 p. 100 en comparaison d'un gain d'un peu moins de 7 p. 100 aux Etats-Unis. Une comparaison entre le niveau actuel de ces indices et les prix à la fin de la guerre (août 1945) révèle que notre indice gagne approximativement 18·5 p. 100, tandis que l'indice américain augmente de 27·1 p. 100. La plus grande partie de cette différence découle d'une plus forte hausse des prix de produits alimentaires outre-frontière. Quant à la plupart des autres groupes de l'indice, la hausse de prix au Canada est presque aussi considérable ou même plus forte. Ainsi, au cours de cette période, l'indice du cours des vêtements augmente de 26·6 p. 100 aux Etats-Unis et de 26·2 p. 100 au pays; quant aux fournitures ménagères, les augmentations respectives sont de 25·5 p. 100 au Canada et de 27·9 p. 100 aux Etats-Unis. Dans le cas du loyer, l'indice au Canada enregistre une augmentation de 7·0 contre 4·9 p. 100 aux Etats-Unis.

Prix et gain

Les données relatives aux employés à gages payés à l'heure dans l'industrie manufacturière révèlent que le gain horaire moyen de ce groupe, a augmenté plus que l'indice du coût de la vie depuis la fin de la guerre (août 1945), bien que tel ne soit pas le cas en 1947. En 1947 (janvier-octobre), l'augmentation du gain horaire moyen dans toute l'industrie manufacturière atteint 9·3 p. 100, tandis que l'indice du coût de la vie avance de 12 p. 100. Cependant, une comparaison entre octobre 1947 et septembre 1945 montre que le gain horaire augmente de 20·5 p. 100 contre une hausse de 18·5 p. 100 de l'indice du coût de la vie. En raison des dégréments, l'augmentation du gain net est un peu plus considérable que ne le font voir les données relatives au gain avant déductions d'impôt.

Ces augmentations ne sont pas uniformément réparties parmi toutes les industries et toutes les régions, mais l'avance est assez générale. Une comparaison entre le gain horaire durant la semaine terminée le 1er octobre 1947 et celui de septembre 1945 révèle certaines tendances définies. Le gain des travailleurs dans les manufactures de marchandises non durables se rapproche de celui des industries de marchandises durables; le premier gagne 25 p. 100 depuis septembre 1945 et le deuxième, 18 p. 100 seulement. La situation économique relative de l'industrie de même que la puissance de négociation des travailleurs semblent jouer un rôle plus important dans cet état de choses que la durabilité du produit.
