Note to Users

Data in this publication were retrieved from CANSIM (Registered Trade Mark of Statistics Canada for its Canadian Socio-economic Information Management System) and processed to create a photo-ready copy from which this publication was produced. CANSIM is the Statistics Canada computerized data bank; series published in the Supplement (as well as other data) are available on computer printouts, cards, tape or directly via terminal.

The seasonal adjustment method applied to economic time series at Statistics Canada is a computerized ratio-to-moving average method. The standard computer program used is the X-11-ARIMA method developed at Statistics Canada. Seasonal adjustment removes the effect of repetitive intra-year variations resulting from normal differences in weather, holidays with invariable dates, or other events which repeat with the same timing.

While seasonal adjustment allows a much better look at the underlying trend of a series, the adjusted series will contain irregular fluctuations. Small changes between months in the adjusted series may simply be erratic movements and, to obtain a clearer idea of the underlying trend, users should examine the adjusted series over a number of months. The MCD, or Months for Cyclical Dominance, in a table containing seasonally adjusted series, indicates the smallest span of months for which the average percent change without regard to sign in the trend cycle is greater than that in the irregular factor. For the smoothest series in MCD it is one, for the most erratic series it is six. Applying a moving average of the period equal to the MCD tends to smooth irregular movements which may obscure the underlying trend.

Note aux lecteurs

Les données qui apparaissent dans la Revue statistique du Canada ont été extraites du CANSIM (marque déposée de Statistique Canada pour son "Système canadien d'information socio-économique") et traitées pour donner une copie destinée à la photocomposition et à partir de laquelle cette publication est produite. CANSIM est la banque informatique de données de Statistique Canada. Les séries qui se trouvent dans le Supplément (ainsi que d'autres données) sont disponibles sur imprimés d'ordinateur, cartes, bandes ou par accès direct au terminal.

Le procédé utilisé pour la désaisonnalisation des séries chronologiques à Statistique Canada fait appel à l'application informatique d'un rapport à la moyenne mobile. Le programme informatique standard utilisé est la méthode X-11-ARMMI développée à Statistique Canada. La désaisonnalisation supprime les effets des variations répétitives qui se produisent dans l'année et sont imputables à l'évolution normale du climat, aux congés fixes, ou à d'autres événements qui se répètent à des intervalles réguliers.

Bien que la désaisonnalisation permette de mettre bien mieux en évidence la tendance fondamentale d'une série, les séries désaisonnalisées n'en contiennent pas moins des fluctuations irrégulières. De légères variations d'un mois à l'autre dans les séries désaisonnalisées peuvent être de simples mouvements irréguliers, et pour avoir une meilleure idée de la tendance fondamentale, les utilisateurs doivent examiner les séries désaisonnalisées d'un certain nombre de mois. Le MDC, ou mois à dominance cyclique, dans un tableau contenant des séries désaisonnalisées, donne le plus petit nombre de mois pour lesquels le taux de variation moyen compte non tenu du signe de la tendance générale, est supérieur à celui du facteur irrégulier. Dans le cas de la série la plus lisse possible, le MDC est égal à un; dans celui de la série la plus irrégulière, il est égal à six. L'application d'une moyenne mobile dont la période est égale au MDC tend à lisser les mouvements irréguliers pouvant dissimuler la tendance fondamentale.
