COMMENTARY AND EXPLANATORY NOTES

The purpose of this report is to present certain data on the more important revenue producing taxes and rates of government in Canada. The latest tax revisions announced by federal and provincial government authorities prior to the date of publication have been included. With regard to the municipal section, the data were prepared from questionnaire forms completed by officials of the municipalities included in the survey, and apply to the calendar year 1962 unless otherwise noted in the tabular presentation.

The section dealing with federal taxes has been revised to include the latest tax changes which will not become law until passed by Parliament.

I. Government of Canada

The budget was presented to the fifth session of the 24th Parliament on April 10, 1962.

Personal income tax rates were not changed but the exemption for children qualified for family allowance was raised from $250 to $300 each, and for other dependants from $500 to $550.

Benefits were announced for corporations engaged in manufacturing or processing (except those whose principal business is ship-building, mining, logging or the operation of oil or gas wells) in the form of a reduction in tax on profits derived from increased sales calculated in accordance with prescribed methods. These benefits will consist of cancellation of 50 per cent of the tax on the first $50,000 of taxable income arising from increased sales and cancellation of 25 per cent of the tax on any additional income arising from increased sales.

Corporations which undertake increased industrial research in Canada will be permitted to deduct 150 per cent of their increased expenditures on scientific research for industrial purposes when computing taxable income.

Some minor tariff changes were announced, consisting of reductions or extensions of free entry provisions due to expire shortly.

The greater part of the budgetary revenue of the Government of Canada is derived from taxes imposed under the following legislation:

(a) The Income Tax Act. Under this Act, an income tax is levied on the taxable income of individuals and corporations resident in Canada and on the taxable Canadian income of non-residents employed or carrying on business in Canada at any time in the year. A 15% withholding tax is also levied on dividends, interest and similar payments from Canada to non-residents. The Income Tax Act also imposes a tax on the taxable value of gifts made in the year. Canada has entered into income tax conventions with certain countries in order to avoid having the same income taxed by both Canada and the other country concerned. In addition to income tax, an old age security tax is levied on individuals and corporations.

Under the terms of the new Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangement (see the Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangement section of this commentary), the federal government in 1962 will only collect 84% of the personal income tax otherwise payable at the full federal rates from individuals who reside in the provinces and will abate its normal corporate income tax rates by 9% on taxable profits earned in any province except Quebec and by 10% on taxable profits earned in Quebec. The provinces will fill the void left by the federal withdrawal by the imposition of their own income taxes. For additional information on income taxes imposed by the Provinces, see the provincial section of this commentary.

(b) Excise Tax Act. Under this Act, a general sales tax of 8% is levied by the Government of Canada on the sale price of goods manufactured in Canada and on the duty paid value of imported goods. This tax, together with an additional rate of 3% imposed under the Old Age Security Act, is payable at the manufacturer's level at the time of delivery to the purchaser or by the importer at the time of importation. Through a system of licensing, manufacturers are permitted to purchase or import materials for the manufacture of their taxable goods free from sales tax.

In addition to the general sales tax there is an excise tax at the manufacturer's level on a number of articles manufactured in, or imported into Canada.

(c) Excise Act. Under this Act duties are levied on the domestic production of tobacco and alcoholic products other than wines.

(d) Customs Tariff. Under this legislation most imported goods are subject to customs duties.

(e) Estate Tax Act. This Act came into force on January 1, 1959, and applies to the estates of deceased persons dying on or after that date. Its predecessor—The Dominion Succession Duty Act—applies to the estates of deceased persons dying before that date. For further information about the estate tax see the 1959 Canada Year Book; for further information about succession duties see pages 1064-1068 of the 1956 Canada Year Book. Canada has entered into estate tax conventions with several countries in order to avoid the double taxation of estates.

Bona fide debts, reasonable funeral expenses, etc., are deducted from the total value of the estate to determine aggregate net value. If the aggregate net value does not exceed $50,000 the estate is exempt; if it does, the estate is taxable to the extent of the difference between the aggregate net value and the allowable deduction of $40,000 plus deductions in respect of dependants and for gifts to charities, etc. This difference is the aggregate taxable value to which the tax rates are applied. A tax credit is allowed in respect of similar taxes levied on the same property by a provincial or foreign government, and also in respect of gift tax paid to the Federal Government on property included in aggregate net value.

II. Provincial Governments

Several provinces introduced new tax legislation or made some changes relative to existing taxes for 1962.

In Quebec, exemptions from total income to arrive at taxable personal income were increased from $250 to $300 in respect of children qualified for family allowance, and from $500 to $550 for other dependants. The tax on diesel motor fuel was increased from 13¢ to 18½¢ per gallon.

In Ontario some minor tax changes and exemptions were announced. Effective April 1, the exemption from amusement tax is increased from 25 cents to 56 cents and the tax on admissions from 57 cents to 92 cents now ranges from 4 cents to 8 cents. Exemption from sales tax was announced for some additional minor items.

In Manitoba the monthly premium rates for hospital insurance were reduced to $2.00 for a single person and $4.00 for a family from $3.00 and $6.00 respectively, but 6% surcharge on personal income tax payable under the Income Tax Act (Canada) and an extra 1% tax on taxable income of corporations, under the same Act were authorized to provide for the cost of hospital services not covered by the monthly premiums.

In Saskatchewan the sales tax was increased from 3% to 5% effective January 1, 1962 and a 6% surcharge was imposed on personal income tax payable under the Income Tax Act (Canada), together with a 1% increase in the rate of tax on taxable income of corporations under the same Act.

In British Columbia school text books were exempted from the 5% sales tax, the amusement tax was cut from 10% to 5% with admissions of 75 cents or less exempt.

All provinces except Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan have enacted new legislation to authorize a levy equivalent to those portions of personal and corporation income taxes relinquished by the federal government under the Federal-Provincial fiscal arrangement described below. Quebec will continue to levy and collect its own personal and corporation income taxes, but the taxpayers will benefit from the abatements described below under Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangement. Ontario has enacted new legislation only in respect of the personal income tax, as it will continue to levy and collect its own corporation income tax. Legislation enacted in Manitoba and Saskatchewan provides for a levy of additional amounts of personal and corporation income taxes as noted above.

Except for the taxes on individual and corporation income, the tax rates for Alberta are those provided for the 1961 edition.

The Yukon Territory has abolished the poll tax and increased the tax on motor vehicle fuel from 6¢ to 7¢ per gallon.

In the Northwest Territories the tax on motor fuel is increased from 1½¢ to 3¢ per gallon, on fuel oil and diesel oil from 1½¢ to 2¢ per gallon. Private passenger vehicle licence rates were adjusted as shown.

Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangement. This arrangement which became operative on April 1, 1962 will run until March 31, 1967. Basically it entails a partial federal withdrawal from the field of direct taxation and the re-entry of all provinces in the same field.

Under the terms of the new arrangement, the federal government in 1962 will only collect 84% of the personal income tax otherwise payable at the full federal rates. The remaining 16% will be collected by or on behalf of the provinces under the provisions of provincial tax legislation.

Similarly in 1962, the Federal Government will forego a portion of its normal income tax on corporate profits earned in the provinces. The federal withdrawal from this field will be equal to 9% of taxable profits earned in any province except Quebec and 10% of taxable profits earned in Quebec. The extra 1% will be allowed in respect of profits taxed by the Province of Quebec to compensate for the additional tax levied by the Province on corporation income to provide grants to universities in replacement of federal grants which, in other provinces, are paid to the universities through the Canadian Universities Foundation.

Lastly the federal government will abate its collections of estate tax otherwise payable by 50% in respect of property situated in a province which levies its own death tax. Only Ontario and Quebec have signified their intention to levy death taxes in the form of succession duties for the period 1962-67.

The Provinces are not limited to the revenue from direct taxation which is relinquished by the Federal Government. Under the Constitution, they have unrestricted powers to levy direct taxes and four of them have availed themselves of this power to levy a tax on the income of their taxpayers which is higher than the abatement of federal income tax otherwise payable allowed to these taxpayers by the Federal Government.

In those provinces which impose income taxes on profits derived from logging operations, a reduction of the federal income tax otherwise payable equal to the lesser of  $\frac{2}{3}$  of the provincial tax or 10% of the income from logging operations is allowed. In those provinces which impose income taxes on profits derived from mining operations, such taxes are allowed as deductions in computing income for federal income tax purposes.

Among the other taxes imposed by certain provincial governments is a general sales tax on the retail price of goods purchased within their jurisdiction. Specific taxes on tobacco and alcoholic beverages are imposed in Prince Edward Island and Quebec, on tobacco in New Brunswick, and on cigarettes in Nova Scotia. Amusement taxes are levied by all provincial governments with the exception of Saskatchewan, where an amusement tax is imposed at the municipal level.

Data shown in respect of motor vehicles are for private passenger vehicles only. Rates shown for motor vehicle operators' licences exclude the amounts to be set aside for the Unsatisfied Judgment Funds in those provinces which have established such funds. Reference should be made to the report "The Motor Vehicle Part I", Catalogue No. 53-217, for further details on motor vehicle rates and regulations.

III. Municipal Governments

The principal source of revenue of municipal governments in Canada is from taxes levied on the value of real property. The percentage of real value taxes (assessed value) is that specified by law, wherever it is so regulated, and not the total value of real property. Methods of determining values for assessment purposes vary widely. One method will produce a low level of assessed valuations on which a high tax rate is levied; another method will result in low tax rates levied on high assessed valuations. Because of this variation in taxable assessments and tax rates as between municipalities, the tax rates themselves cannot be regarded as an accurate indication of differences in tax burden. It is only by taking the relative assessments into consideration that valid comparisons can be made.

For 1962 the municipal coverage is approximately the same as for 1961. A few of the questionnaire forms either were not returned or were returned too late for inclusion in the report, possibly because the municipalities in question were later than usual in striking their tax rates for the 1962 taxation year.

Where tax rates are shown in mills it means in mills per dollar of assessed valuations taxed. For example, the tax levied on public school supporters in the City of Ottawa is 48.60 mills on each dollar of taxable assessment, or $48.60 per thousand dollars.

Municipalities in metropolitan areas, that is, areas so designated in the Census of Canada, are listed under the name of the area, or if the area is represented only by its major city, such city is indicated as the centre of a metropolitan area by a double asterisk. Because metropolitan areas consist of large cities with separately governed satellite communities, different tax rates may apply in different parts of the areas. However, the rates shown in this report include provision for the financial requirements of metropolitan corporations where such exist, such as the Municipality of Metropolitan Toronto and the Metropolitan Corporation of Greater Winnipeg.
