INTRODUCTION

The present report is one of a series presenting the findings of the 1966 Census with respect to the family.

Tables 86 to 90 show families by type. Tables 91 and 92 show type of families according to size, number of children in families, and age groups of unmarried children 24 years and under at home. The areas for which these figures are shown are as follows:

- (i) Canada and provinces (Tables 85 and 91);
- (ii) provinces, urban size groups, rural non-farm and rural farm (Table 86);
- (iii) counties and census divisions (Table 87);
- (iv) incorporated cities, towns and villages of 5,000 population and over, and other municipal subdivisions of 10,000 population and over (Table 88);
- (v) census metropolitan areas (Tables 89 and 92); and
- (vi) other major urban areas (Table 90).

A family, as defined in the Census, may consist either (a) of a husband and wife (with or without children who have never married), or (b) of a parent, with one or more children who have never married. In either case, all persons who constitute a family must be living in the same dwelling.

The term never married is significant in the census family definition. Once a child marries, he ceases to be a member of the parents' family, even if he continues to live in the same dwelling. To illustrate: a married daughter and son-in-law form a separate family, even if sharing the same dwelling with the wife's parents. A married daughter by herself (i.e., without her husband or children), living with her parents is classified as a non-family person.

The classification persons in families includes all persons who constitute a family in the sense defined above. Unmarried children (including own children, adopted children and stepchildren) are, regardless of age, members of the family and are classified together with parents as persons in families. Guardianship children or wards are classified as persons in families only if under 21 years of age.

Type of family: Families are classified as to whether they maintain their own household, that is whether the head of the family is also the head of the household. Those not maintaining their own household are classified as to whether the family is related to the household head or represents a lodging family. The "other" families not maintaining their own household are a relatively small number of families, such as those of servants or employees.

Definitions of these and other terms used technically in the reports of this series are discussed in the Introduction to Volume II (2-1).

Percentage distribution of families by number of children 24 years and under at home, showing type of family, for Canada, 1966 and 1961

Répartition procentuelle des familles suivant le nombre d'enfants âgés de 24 ans et moins à la maison, par type de famille, Canada, 1966 et 1961
