FOREWORD

The textbooks listed in this Authorized Texts and Instructional Materials are those which are prescribed for use in Grades I to VI in all schools in the Northwest Territories. Included also are a number of instructional materials which are considered an integral part of the program. For lists of recommended books for school libraries and teachers' professional reference needs, teachers should consult Library Books and Recommended Reference Books for Teachers. The scale of annual allotments for textbooks and library books is outlined in the requisition forms.

Before any text not included in this list is used in the classroom, permissive authorization must be obtained. Principals requesting permissive authorization should make a formal request through their Regional Superintendent of Schools who will forward these requests to the Chief of the Education Division for consideration and authorization.

Beyond Grade VI the prescribed textbooks are those which have been authorized by the respective provincial Departments of Education whose programs of study have been adopted for use in the Northwest Territories. Principals and Superintendents should ensure, therefore, that they have copies of the appropriate provincial textbook authorizations.

D.W. Simpson,
Chief, Education Division

SOCIAL STUDIES

In the Social Studies as in other subject areas, a wide variety of instructional materials including audio-visual aids is provided in Northern schools. Instructional materials correlated with Northern Social Studies programs are listed in the Curriculum Guide on the page following the outline for each grade. The list for each grade usually includes a number of titles of Government publications. These are supplied to the schools by the Education Division or they may be obtained from the Queen's Printer. In teaching Social Studies, the use of multiple texts is common practice in the schools. Appropriate titles for supplementary reading are listed in the revised publication, Library Books. Titles of audio-visual materials are listed in the Curriculum Guide or in the recent booklet Audio-Visual Services.
