FOR THE CALENDAR YEAR

PRINTED BY ORDER OF PARLIAMENT

OTTAWA
J. DE LABROQUERIE TACHÉ
PRINTER TO THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY
1919

To His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire, K.G., P.C., G.C.M.G., G.C.V.O., etc., etc., Governor General and Commander in Chief of the Dominion of Canada.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,—

The undersigned has the honour to lay before Your Excellency, in compliance with 6-7 Edward VII, chapter 29, section 18, the Summary Report of the work of the Geological Survey, Department of Mines, for the calendar year ending December 31, 1917.

MARTIN BURRELL,
Minister of Mines.

To The Hon. MARTIN BURRELL,
Minister of Mines,
Ottawa.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit herewith the Directing Geologist's Summary Report of the work of the Geological Survey, Department of Mines, for the calendar year ending December 31, 1917.

I am, sir, your obedient servant,

R. G. McCONNELL,
Deputy Minister.

SUMMARY REPORT, 1917, PART A.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTING GEOLOGIST.

By William McInnes.

INTRODUCTION.

The operations of the Geological Survey during the season of 1917, though curtailed in some directions owing to enlistments for overseas service and reasons of economy in expenditure, covered portions of all the provinces of Canada. Special attention was given to the investigation of minerals that were required for war purposes and of minerals the supply of which was cut off or restricted by the war. The work of the geologists and topographers of the staff, and of the scientific and accessory divisions covering the fields of palæontology, mineralogy, biology, and anthropology is summarized in the following pages.

For the sake of greater economy in printing, the geologists' summary reports, which have in past years appeared in this report, have been published in separate sections arranged geographically, as described on the back cover.

GEOLOGICAL FIELD WORK.

W. E. Cockfield spent the field season of 1917 exploring portions of Sixtymile and Ladue River valleys, Yukon Territory. A short report by Mr. Cockfield covering this work has been published in Part B of the Summary Report for 1917. Placer gold was found in the gravels of Sixtymile district, three years before the Klondike discovery, and the district is by no means yet exhausted. The sulphide of mercury, cinnabar, is associated with gold in the gravels.

J. J. O'Neill was engaged during the summer in carrying out a detailed geological investigation of the mineral deposits of the district of Hazelton and northern British Columbia. The district included the mineral claims situated on Ninemile, Fourmile, Glen, and Rocher Déboulé mountains, and covering an area in all of 225 square miles, situated on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway. The part of the deposit lying to the north of Bulkley river contains chiefly silver-lead-zinc deposits, and copper and gold deposits mainly characterize the southern part. Ores of molybdenum and tungsten also occur.

Mr. O'Neill points out the advisability, in the case of properties situated as are the properties in this district, of a general co-operation among the various mine owners in the development of their properties with a view to the utilization of lower grade ores than would otherwise be possible and to secure the working of the deposits most economically.

Mr. O'Neill's report is published in Part B of the Summary Report for 1917.

Charles Camsell during the field season of 1917 examined the geology and mineral deposits along the line of the Pacific Great Eastern railway, between Squamish and Lillooet, B.C. Along this route, through the Coast range, occur large bands of stratified rocks which are mineralized along their contacts with the great bodies of granitic rocks forming the Coast range. Various ore deposits occur. No important developments have as yet taken place, but the whole district is fairly new and prospecting was only actively begun about three years ago. A report on this work, by Mr. Camsell, is contained in Part B of the Summary Report for 1917. In the same volume Mr. Camsell also gives a description of the copper-bearing deposits of Indian river which flows into Burrard inlet, about 25 miles from Vancouver. The information obtained during his brief visit leads Mr. Camsell to believe that conditions are favourable for the occurrence of important bodies of copper ore. Mr. Camsell also made a hurried traverse of the Pacific Great Eastern railway beyond Lillooet, and in Part C of the Summary Report for 1917 gives an account of certain deposits of magnesite, diatomaceous earth and clay, occurring along the railway.

8 GEORGE V, A. 1918

M. F. Bancroft spent the field season in the northern part of the Slocan district, in the Ainsworth and Trout Lake mining divisions, B.C. He also examined deposits of manganese in the vicinity of Kaslo and a gold mine near Silverton. Mr. Bancroft has published an account of his work in Part B of the Summary Report for 1917. Both primary and secondary deposits of the manganese occur on the northeast side of Kaslo Creek valley and the deposits are fully described by Mr. Bancroft, who also gives a general account of the gold, silver, lead, zinc, copper, and antimony ores of the southern Lardeau where, though mineral production as yet has been almost negligible when compared with other portions of Slocan district, there are many properties worthy of systematic prospecting and testing.

D. B. Dowling during the field season was engaged in special investigations in connexion with the development of the fuel and water resources of Alberta and Saskatchewan and in acting in a consultative capacity to companies engaged in developing the resources of these provinces. Mr. Dowling, with the assistance of S. E. Slipper and J. A. Allan, also engaged in delineating the outlines of a field in northern Saskatchewan and Alberta, possibly capable of producing oil and probably gas. Further reference to this work is given in connexion with the mention of the work performed respectively by Messrs. Allan and Slipper. Mr. Dowling states that the areas within which possibly an oil, and probably a gas field may exist, may be outlined as consisting of a belt extending from Saskatchewan, passing through the Viking field northwest to Athabaska river near Athabaska, and thence by a curved line to Peace river below Peace River Landing. A broadening of the belt northward from this line, in the Athabaska valley, seems to be indicated by the presence of oil in the McMurray formation. Mr. Dowling has published in Part C of the Summary Report for 1917, an account of the wells in southern Alberta being bored under contract by the Geological Survey for the purpose of demonstrating the extent of the area capable of yielding artesian water. In the same publication Mr. Dowling gives some information regarding the occurrence of potash in saline waters in Saskatchewan.

S. E. Slipper during the past season continued his work of systematically collecting and correlating the data obtained from drillings made in the search for oil and gas in Alberta. Mr. Slipper has published in Part C of the Summary Report for 1917, an account of the oil production of the Sheep River area. The light oils produced in this field are largely used for tractor fuels in the district. Five wells are producing oil and three stills have been installed to extract the gasoline and lighter distillates. During the field season Mr. Slipper engaged in the study of a portion of northern Alberta and Saskatchewan extending south from North Saskatchewan river to the Saskatoon-Calgary branch of the Canadian Northern railway and from a few miles east of the Saskatchewan-Alberta border, westward for a number of miles. The work was performed solely in an endeavour to determine the gas and oil possibilities of the area. A number of wells producing gas have already been sunk within the area and others are now being drilled. An account of some of the results obtained by Mr. Slipper is contained in Part C of the Summary Report for 1917.

J. A. Allan during the field season examined the geological sections exposed along the North Saskatchewan in the north, and Red Deer and South Saskatchewan rivers in the south. This work was undertaken as part of a general plan of work for the purpose of determining the possibilities, as a gas and oil-producing area, of the region in Saskatchewan and Alberta lying between the North and South Saskatchewan rivers and already alluded to in the notices of the work performed by Mr. Dowling and Mr. Slipper. A report by Mr. Allan on his work has been published in Part C of the Summary Report for 1917.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26

A. E. Cameron during the field season of 1917, continued the exploratory and geological work begun in 1916 in the region adjacent to Great Slave lake. Mr. Cameron in Part C of the Summary Report for 1917 has given a statement of the results obtained by him and also has briefly indicated certain features affecting the probabilities of oil occurring in commercial amounts in the strata of the region.

Bruce Rose continued the mapping of a large area containing practically all the coal fields of eastern British Columbia and western Alberta in the mountains south of latitude 50 degrees. During 1917 he was engaged chiefly in examining the eastern edge of the Fernie basin. Mr. Rose has presented some of his results in Part C of the Summary Report for 1917 and shows that the area occupied by coal-bearing strata is considerably larger than was formerly known.

A. MacLean during the field season of 1917 commenced the mapping and examination of the coal-bearing area of the extreme southwestern part of Saskatchewan. A report by Mr. MacLean on part of this area is contained in Part C of the Summary Report for 1917. The territory examined is specially important since probably it will be the location selected for any briquetting and other experiments conducted on a commercial scale in connexion with lignite coals.

J. Stansfield during the field season of 1917 engaged in the examination of the surface deposits of the district west and south of Regina, the work being conducted with special reference to the question of underground water supplies. A report by Mr. Stansfield is contained in Part C of the Summary Report for 1917.

L. Reinecke during the year made an investigation of deposits of sand and gravel in the neighbourhood of Regina, Saskatchewan, for the purpose of ascertaining their suitability for concrete construction purposes and for road building. The report upon this work is being published as a separate memoir. Mr. Reinecke also supervised the work on road materials in eastern Ontario and Quebec and the laboratory tests necessary in connexion with the investigation.

E. L. Bruce was again engaged in field work in the rapidly developing mineral-bearing district of northern Manitoba, north of The Pas. The growing importance of the region necessitated Mr. Bruce devoting his attention solely to the Schist Lake district, in the western part of the region in the vicinity of the western boundary of the province. A preliminary report on the results of his work during 1917 has been published in Part D of the Summary Report for 1917. In this report, Mr. Bruce states that during 1917 one mine shipped 3,500 tons of ore containing 17 per cent of copper and points out that considering the adverse conditions of transportation, etc., the fact that so much has been accomplished in so short a time is an indication of what the country may produce under more favourable conditions. Mr. Bruce also paid a brief visit to certain claims staked for molybdenite in the vicinity of Falcon lake in southeastern Manitoba. In a report already published in Part D of the Summary Report for 1917, Mr. Bruce states that there is a possibility that these occurrences of molybdenite might, at the present time, be worked at a profit.

F. J. Alcock carried on field work in northern Manitoba in the Wekusko or Herb Lake district in which since the discovery in 1914 of gold-bearing quartz veins many prospects have been located, a considerable amount of development work done, and where on one property a mill is now being erected. In a report already published in Part D of the Summary Report for 1917, Mr. Alcock records the progress made in developing the gold-bearing properties of this district and calls attention to the occurrence of molybdenite and other minerals of economic importance.

J. R. Marshall spent the field season in southeastern Manitoba, examining certain districts in which gold-bearing deposits occur. In a report (published in Part D of the Summary Report for 1917), Mr. Marshall describes the general mode of occurrence and economic conditions governing the development of the gold-bearing quartz veins in the Long Lake, Gold Lake, and Star Lake districts.

W. A. Johnston during the past season made a soil survey of part of the area lying between lake Winnipegosis and Duck mountain in northwestern Manitoba. This district includes a large area of land available for homestead entry and on account of its accessibility is important from the standpoint of land settlement. Practically the whole of the area is within 20 miles of the Canadian Northern railway and only a small part is occupied. Mr. Johnston also made a reconnaissance soil survey of the belt of land lying immediately along the Hudson Bay railway for 250 miles from The Pas to Limestone river. A full account of this reconnaissance is contained in Part D of the Summary Report for 1917 and in the same publication, Mr. Johnston gives the results of the tests made in connexion with samples of clay and sand obtained by him from the Swan River valley. The clay is of a semi-refractory nature and is probably the most useful clay discovered in Manitoba. The sand might be of value for glass mixing.

T. L. Tanton during the 1917 field season examined an area approximately 30 miles wide and extending for 130 miles along the Canadian Northern railway between Nipigon and Longuelac, Ontario. A report on this region by Mr. Tanton is contained in Part E of the Summary Report for 1917. Although there are no mines in this district and none of the observed mineral occurrences appear to warrant mining operations, yet there is a strong probability that valuable mineral deposits exist and that careful prospecting is warranted.

W. H. Collins spent the field season examining a number of small areas within 60 miles of Sudbury, Ontario, mainly for the purpose of estimating the character and probable importance of mineral deposits that have been found in these localities. Mr. Collins, in Part E of the Summary Report for 1917, has given an account of a number of these deposits. Several of the copper mines in the district bordering the north shore of lake Huron are again producing or are preparing to do so, and fresh attention is being given to a number of other properties. Gold-bearing quartz veins occur in the general region and in one part pegmatite dykes occur which in some cases might be profitably mined for feldspar and in others for mica.

H. C. Cooke explored an area in the district of Nipissing west of Montreal river for the purpose, mainly, of providing a guide to prospectors to belts of rock in which valuable minerals might be expected to occur. Mr. Cooke finds in the area explored the northern rim of the large area of Cobalt series rocks, which lies to the south; and to the north older rocks, including a basal igneous complex and an overlying sedimentary series. Intrusive granite and dykes of diabase cut the older rocks and sill-like bodies of peridotite occur which are in places altered to serpentine in which asbestos is found.

M. E. Wilson spent most of the field season of 1917 in the investigation of the geological and mineral deposits of a part of the Ottawa valley northwest of Ottawa. Onslow and Bristol townships in Quebec, and portions of Torbolton, Fitzroy, and MacNab townships in Ontario were examined and deposits of molybdenite and galena were investigated in some detail. The Port Elmsley graphite deposits in Lanark county were visited and their geological relationships studied. Considerable development has been done on the property of the Globe Graphite Mining and Refining Company, and Mr. Wilson describes at some length in Part E of the Summary Report, 1917, the character and extent of the deposits and their relationship to the Pre-Cambrian rocks which underlie the region.

M. Y. Williams spent the field season on geological work in connexion with problems bearing upon oil development in Halton, Wellington, and Kent counties, Ontario. As a result of the work Mr. Williams has attempted to indicate the structure and extent of various oil "pools," a description of which he has presented in Part E of the Summary Report for 1917. In the same volume, Mr. Williams also sets forth the results of certain lists of the oil-contents and fuel values of the shales outcropping at Kettle point, Lambton county.

Under the direction of Mr. Reinecke, Henri Gauthier carried out a survey of the materials suitable for road construction in the Montreal district. The area covered included the island of Montreal, isle Jesus, isle Bizard, and isle Perrot. The heavy traffic over the streets of a large city like Montreal, and on the roads approaching it, make it a matter of great importance that the most suitable and durable materials should be used in the construction of the roads.

Mr. Gauthier's investigation was made with the object of mapping all occurrences of bedrock, sandstone, and sand and gravel that are available in the district. It includes also laboratory tests upon the material. The results are given in a separate report which includes tables of deposits upon bedrock material, loose boulders, and sand and gravel aggregates.

R. H. Picher investigated and mapped materials suitable for road-making in a portion of Vaudreuil county, Quebec, and in the vicinity of St. Lawrence river, between the Quebec boundary and Cardinal, Ont. The materials dealt with are bedrock, mainly limestones, deposits of sand and gravel, and boulders which occur in aggregations and scattered sparsely over the general surface. Tests upon many of the dolomites and limestones of the deposit were made in the laboratory and analyses of the textures of the gravels and sands.

Mr. Picher's summary report is published separately.

R. Harvie spent the field season in the Thetford-Black Lake asbestos and chromite district. He devoted a part of his time to continuing the systematic examination of the general geology of this important area, and found confirmation of the direct relation existing between structural features and the occurrences of the asbestos and chromite deposits. The larger part of his time was devoted to a detailed examination of chromite deposits in order to be able to properly advise property owners in matters relating to prospecting and development work and thus to aid in increasing the production of this now much needed mineral.

G. A. Young spent the field season examining a district in the vicinity of a deposit of tungsten ore situated in central New Brunswick. A report of Mr. Young on the area examined is contained in Part F of the Summary Report for 1917. It is hoped that other deposits of tungsten ore may be found in this region.

E. R. Faribault continued the geological work already under way in Shelburne county. Special examinations were made of a number of properties which promised to yield minerals in demand for war purposes, including manganese and molybdenum deposits at New Ross, and tungsten deposits at Moose River. The summer's work was carried on principally, however, in the region about Lockeport where map sheet No. 110 of the Nova Scotia series of geological maps was completed.

A. O. Hayes worked mainly in Cape Breton county, in the southern part of the Sydney coal field, where concurrently Mr. Nichols carried on topographical work. Mr. Hayes reports in part on the geological structure of the area and describes the coal seams observed. He reports, also, upon a large deposit of pebbles that promises to be of importance for tube mill purposes. The results of tests of the pebbles are given. Manganese deposits at Loch Lomond, New Ross, and Pembroke are reported upon, together with molybdenite deposits at Gabarus bay and in Glengarry valley; iron ore at Grand Mira; zinc, copper, and lead at Stirling; argentiferous galena at Dunbrack; and feldspar and mica at Neils Harbour.

VERTEBRATE PALEONTOLOGY.

L. M. Lambe devoted much of his time during the past year to the study and description of some of the many undescribed or little known forms of vertebrates included in our collections from the Belly River and Edmonton Cretaceous of Alberta. Specimens and collections of fossils received from officers of the Survey and from other sources have been determined and when necessary reported on. In the laboratory of the division, progress was made in the preparation of specimens for study and eventual exhibition, and G. F. Sternberg devoted his whole time to this work. C. M. Sternberg, besides engaging in work in the laboratory, also, during the field season, made a large and important collection of fossil remains from the Belly River beds of the Red Deer River valley, Alberta.

INVERTEBRATE PALAEONTOLOGY.

E. M. Kindle during the season of 1917 engaged in field work in the Great Slave Lake district, Northwest Territories. The primary object of this work was to secure more precise information regarding the order of succession of the formations and the co-ordinate problems of structure which are intimately related to the future economic development of the region. L. D. Burling during the field season studied various key sections in the Cordilleran region, east and west of the Columbia-Kootenay valley, in an endeavour to correlate the little known and largely unfossiliferous rocks of the Purcell and Selkirk ranges with the fossiliferous sections of the Rocky mountains. In the office, Messrs. Kindle and Burling studied and reported upon collections of fossils received from members of the Survey, this work forming a large part of the routine work of the division. All the time which could be spared from such routine work was devoted to research and to special pieces of work.

PALEOBOTANY.

W. J. Wilson continued the study and cataloguing of the paleobotanical collections belonging to the Survey.

MINERALOGICAL DIVISION.

R. A. A. Johnston and his assistant Eugene Poitevin have carried on during the year the usual amount of mineralogical work. A very large number of specimens have been received during the year upon which reports have been made and advice given as to their composition and probable commercial value. In addition, many new Canadian mineral occurrences have been recorded. A beginning has been made in the establishment of an exhibit of economic minerals at 227 Sparks street. This will provide a place open to the public where a good display of the economic minerals of Canada may be made, and will largely fill the need that has been felt since the closing of the Mineralogical Hall at the Victoria Memorial Museum. A start has been made, also, in the same premises, in the fitting up of a laboratory which has been long needed for research work in mineralogy.

A great many valuable accessions have been made to the mineralogical collection during the year, mostly by donation, but a considerable number by purchase and exchange.

Under the supervision of A. T. McKinnon, the distribution of educational collections of minerals was continued to educational institutions throughout Canada that were in a position to use them to advantage.

TOPOGRAPHICAL DIVISION.

W. H. Boyd, chief of the division, supplies the following summary of the work of the staff:

Topographers from this division who are serving with the Canadian Expeditionary Force are: W. E. Lawson, S. C. McLean, A. G. Haultain, J. R. Cox, and E. E. Free-land.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26

The following table shows the mapping work carried on during the field season by this division:

BORINGS DIVISION.

E. D. Ingall, chief of the borings division, reports that during the year the work of the division has continued along the lines heretofore followed. The work of collecting statistics of borings and cores, and records of wells has been carried on with the co-operation of the field geologists of the Geological Survey and covers all of Canada.

The results for the year are summarized below:

Province	No. of bags sent out	No. of samples received	No. of wells from which samples were received	No. of records or part records received	No. of wells reported	No. of circulars sent out
Nova Scotia	102	0	0	12	13	3

BIOLOGICAL DIVISION.

Botany.

John Macoun continued during the year his botanical work on Vancouver island, giving his attention principally to fungi to which little attention had been given on the west coast before Mr. Macoun began to study them. With the assistance of Dr. John Dearnese, of London, he has reported upon upwards of 1,000 packets of specimens, nine of the species being new to science.

Mr. Macoun also made large collections of the flora of the island and a representative collection of 1,000 sheets was presented to the Provincial Museum at Victoria. A large collection of mosses and lichens was made and after determination these were sent to specialists in different parts of the United States for verification. All of the collections made by Mr. Macoun will be added to the herbarium of the Geological Survey.

James M. Macoun spent much time in the determination of specimens sent in by correspondents and collectors from all parts of Canada. Nearly 5,000 specimens were received in all. During the summer Mr. Macoun, assisted by William Spreadborough, made extensive collections in the region traversed by the Grand Trunk Pacific railway in British Columbia. In the neighbourhood of Hazelton the flora of the lower levels was found to be made up of a mixture of coast sub-Arctic forest and dry interior species, of which a large and valuable collection was made. In Jasper park about 500 species were collected within one day's walk of Jasper. Mr. Macoun's work in Jasper park was greatly facilitated by the kind co-operation of the park officials who gave him every assistance in his work.

Zoology.

R. M. Anderson, zoologist, gave his attention during the year to the study of the zoological material collected while on the Canadian Arctic Expedition and to the arrangement and classification of the extensive collection already in the possession of the Geological Survey.

P. A. Taverner spent the summer of 1917 in studying particularly the bird life of the western provinces of Canada, with the object of ascertaining their relative economic value. For this purpose he spent some time in the early part of the season in the neighbourhood of Shoal lake, Manitoba, and later in the season visited the region in the neighbourhood of Red Deer river in Alberta, and parts of British Columbia. With the aid of his assistant, C. H. Young, very large collections were made for the purposes of further study, and in order that the birds of the west might be more fully represented in our collections. Mr. Taverner also devoted much time to the study and classification of the extensive collections of bird skins already in the possession of the department.

Clyde L. Patch, and the preparatory staff of the division were engaged in preparing a number of bird groups for exhibition when space is available. Some of the groups have been placed on exhibition temporarily in one of the corridors of the Museum building. Large additions were made to the herpetological collection—twenty-two species being represented in the accessions. Much time has been also necessarily spent in preparing new skins so that they may be properly preserved, and in going over and protecting from destruction the large collection of stored specimens.

ANTHROPOLOGICAL DIVISION.

Ethnology and Linguistics.

Owing to economies enforced by the war no field work was undertaken by the division during 1917. The hall of Canadian anthropology in the Victoria Memorial Museum had again to be closed to the general public since the building was still occupied by the Dominion Legislature. A special exhibit of Indian handicrafts was, however, provided for the Central Canada Exhibition.

E. Sapir, C. M. Barbeau, and F. W. Waugh carried on research work and have published or have made arrangements for the publication of much of the results of their work in various journals and other publications of other institutions and societies. J. A. Teit could devote only part of his time during 1917 to the service of the Survey, but has contributed much anthropological and ethnological information relating chiefly to Indian tribes of southern British Columbia. D. Jenness prior to leaving for military service overseas was able to complete in finished form a substantial portion of the manuscript data collected among the Alaskan and Copper Eskimo.

Archæology.

The hall of archæology exhibits, as during the year 1916, remained closed to the general public and archæological field work has practically ceased. H. I. Smith with W. J. Wintenberg carried on various lines of research work. In addition, Mr. Smith has written the text of an album of archæological specimens found in Canada suitable as motives for distinctive Canadian decorative and symbolic designs and trademarks. A circular letter was sent to over 800 Canadian firms, drawing their attention to the material thus assembled and to the purposes to which it might be put, and in a number of cases further correspondence regarding the matter has ensued.

Physical Anthropology.

F. H. S. Knowles continued various lines of research work in connexion with physical anthropology.

PHOTOGRAPHIC DIVISION.

G. G. Clarke and his staff performed a very large amount of photographic work of a highly technical character during the year. This work embraced more than 17,000 negatives, prints, lantern slides, etc., required in the work of the various divisions of the Geological Survey. This division is a most essential one, particularly as an accessory to the work of the topographical and draughting divisions.

LIBRARY.

The small branch library established at the temporary offices of the Geological Survey, at 221 Wellington street, was continued in order that the members of the staff might have access to many books of reference that are in almost constant use and to the current mining and geological periodicals. This must be looked upon as only a temporary expedient since the need of a more free access to the full library is continually felt. The main library was continued at the Victoria Memorial Museum and was enriched during the year by the following accessions: books purchased, 249; books presented, 403; pamphlets received, 132; maps received, 82.

DISTRIBUTION DIVISION.

During the year 1917, 56,439 publications of the Geological Survey, exclusive of French editions, were distributed. Of these, 32,873 were distributed in compliance with written or personal requests and 23,566 were sent to addresses on the mailing lists.

MUSEUM.

Owing to the continued occupation of the Victoria Memorial Museum by Parliament the greater part of the exhibits of the National Museum are still in storage. Premises were, however, secured at 227 Sparks street, in which an exhibit of economic minerals was opened. This enabled the greater part of the mineralogical exhibits at the Museum to be opened to the public and allowed of the display of important collections illustrative of the economic minerals of Canada, and, especially, of those minerals which were in particular request for war purposes.

The series of various lectures already inaugurated in connexion with the Museum was continued, although it was necessary to carry on the work entirely in auditoriums outside the Museum building. Thirty-two lectures were delivered by different members of the staff, mainly for educational institutions in Ottawa and its neighbourhood; but including also institutions in Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, and other cities.

GEOGRAPHICAL AND DRAUGHTING DIVISION.

C.-Omer Sénécal states that fifty-two new maps were printed and published during the past year, twelve other maps remaining in the hands of the King's Printer, for engraving or lithographing, and for printing. A set of six copper plates for a topographical map of Sandon area, British Columbia, were engraved by the office engraver, and there are at present in the office twelve new maps in various stages of compilation or preparation for reproduction. Two large-scale manuscript maps, were compiled to accompany a special report on road materials available for certain highways in Ontario. These maps were not intended for immediate publication. A large number of sketches, diagrams, sections, text-figures, and sundry drawings were also executed. Following is a list of maps which were in the hands of the King's Printer at the end of the year for engraving and printing, and a list of those which were published during the period covered by this report.

Maps in Hands of the King's Printer, December 31, 1917.

SUMMARY REPORT

OF THE

MINES BRANCH OF THE DEPARTMENT OF MINES FOR THE CALENDAR YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1917.

INTRODUCTORY.

The increased development in the mining industry of the Dominion during the year 1917—attributed, for the most part, to the European war—added materially to the special work and activities of the various divisions of the Mines Branch. The unusual trade demand for minerals, both metallic and non-metallic, caused considerable stir among mining companies, prospectors, and others, more or less interested in the general mining industry of the country. This resulted in numerous inquiries at the Mines Branch as to possibilities in fields already investigated; and in many applications for expert technical advice with regard to the character and commercial value of minerals discovered; or with reference to the problems and difficult conditions encountered in manufacturing processes, or in connexion with promising mineral and fuel lands opened out.

The general operations of the Mines Branch consisted in the field investigation of certain metallic and non-metallic mineral occurrences, including iron ore deposits, and particular limestone, sand, and clay areas; while the essentially practical work of the branch consisted in the testing of ores, metals, fuels, oils, and gases, and the examination and determination of mineral specimens, all conducted in the various physical and chemical laboratories and testing plants at Ottawa. In addition to this technical work, statistics relative to mineral production in Canada were collected, and duly published.

The concentration of molybdenite ores—undertaken in 1917, for the Imperial Munitions Board—was continued; as also was the analysis of ferro-silicon shipments made on behalf of the War Purchasing Commission.

In view of the active movement in the western provinces for better highways, Mr. G. C. Parker, of the Department of Public Highways, Toronto, was commissioned by the Mines Branch to make an investigation of the bituminous sands of Alberta, in order to ascertain their adaptability for surfacing country roads. A report embodying the result of this investigation will, it is expected, be ready for publication early next season.

During the year the usual statistical reports, together with several technical reports of special importance, were issued; reference to which, and to the specific work undertaken by the different officers of the staff, will be found in subsequent sections of this annual summary report.

ORE DRESSING AND METALLURGICAL DIVISION.

The work of this Division during the year was, for the most part, confined to investigation of minerals needed for war purposes. The concentration of molybdenite ores on a commercial scale, begun the previous season, was continued; so great being the demand by munition authorities for molybdenum that the Ore Dressing Laboratory was operated to its full capacity, and a great part of the time three shifts were being worked.

Furthermore, the laboratory undertook for the Imperial Munitions Board the sampling and assaying of ferro-molybdenum. In addition, other classes of ores were received and tested, the results of which are given in the reports submitted herein by officers of the Division.

FUELS AND FUEL TESTING.

The work carried out during the season of 1917 by the Division of Fuels and Fuel Testing consisted, in part, of the continuation of large scale tests in connexion with coals from the Province of Alberta. Examination was made of several peat bogs; and the chemical laboratories were fully occupied with analyses of oils, gases, coals, peat, and mine air.

The investigation begun the previous year relative to the carbonization and briquetting of our Western lignites was continued; and arrangements were made for the examination of distillate oils, with a view to determining their use in internal combustion engines.

CHEMICAL LABORATORIES.

The several chemical laboratories of the Mines Branch have, during the year, been engaged to their full capacity. The work undertaken has, as usual, been of a diverse character. In addition to the analyses of current samples of metalliferous ores and non-metalliferous minerals received from several officials of the Department, and from outside sources, particular attention has been given to the examination of war materials. In this connexion, mention might be made of the analysis of ferro-silicon for the War Purchasing Commission; the testing of oils for the Militia Department; fuels for the Public Works Department, and the Fuel Controller; together with chemical work necessary in connexion with investigation undertaken by our Ore Dressing and Metallurgical Division for the Imperial Munitions Board and the Canadian Munitions Resources Commission.

Reference to the specific work accomplished in the various laboratories of the Mines Branch is to be found in succeeding parts of this report.

IRON ORE DEPOSITS.

During the field season of 1917, Mr. A. H. A. Robinson—in charge of a party, made an examination of a number of reported iron ore occurrences in the Rainy River district, Ontario.

Further reference to the work accomplished is to be found on page 11.

INVESTIGATION OF LIMESTONES.

During the field season, the investigation in connexion with limestones—in 1916—was resumed by Mr. Howells Fréchette. Activities were confined to the Province of Ontario, where important limestone areas were examined and samples taken. These were subsequently analysed in the laboratories of the Mines Branch.

On page 23 will be found a preliminary report of the work accomplished by the officer in charge.

INVESTIGATION OF THE GRAPHITE INDUSTRY.

Owing to curtailment of the foreign supply of graphite, there is a great demand for the Canadian product, the bulk of which finds a market in the United States.

Notwithstanding this condition, Canadian production has not been able to meet the demand. In view of this fact, Mr. H. S. Spence was commissioned to make an investigation as to the causes of laxity in the trade, and to suggest ways and means which would lead to an increased activity in the graphite industry.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

INVESTIGATION OF THE SANDS AND SANDSTONES OF CANADA.

The field work in connexion with this investigation during the season of 1917, consisted, in part, of the examination of certain deposits in eastern Canada, the product of which was reported to be suited for use as pulpstones. Samples were obtained and tests made thereon, the results of which were so encouraging that it may be said that a Canadian stone may be had that compares favourably with that imported; a bulletin dealing especially with this investigation was published and may be had on application. Examination was also made of sand and sandstone deposits in Ontario, and certain special areas in Quebec, and the samples taken are now being tested in the Mines Branch Laboratories. This work is to be continued during the coming field season, when it is expected that enough data will be available to enable complete reports on silica and on the foundry moulding sands of Canada to be issued.

METALLIFEROUS MINES DIVISION.

The developments arising out of the great war have made it necessary for the department to widen the scope of its work of securing information with respect to Canada's mineral resources and their utilization. The great importance of chemical manufacturing has been made patent to every one during the last two years, and many inquiries received in the department made it desirable to secure specific information as to the development of chemical manufacturing in Canada. Dr. A. W. G. Wilson was instructed to make a preliminary investigation of this field in the summer of 1916; and the work was begun late in the fall of that year, and continued during the first seven months of 1917. In the course of the investigation, all the principal cities and the more important towns in all the provinces of Canada were visited, with a view to ascertaining the number and variety of the chemical manufacturing industries established throughout the country. Inquiries were instituted to ascertain the source of the raw materials required, and the markets in which the finished products were distributed under normal conditions. The information obtained has already been of value in enabling the department to furnish information in response to a number of inquiries for specific materials or products.

A report on the chemical industries of Canada and their relation to the mineral industry, is in course of preparation. In this report, particular attention will be given to the subject of markets for Canadian mineral and chemical products, and to the possibility of substituting home products, of mineral origin, for foreign materials now imported.

Dr. Wilson was in attendance at the chemical exhibition in New York during the week of September 24, for the purpose of studying the exhibits, and for acquiring information that might be of advantage to the department, or helpful in the preparation of the above-mentioned report.

In October, Dr. Wilson was sent to St. Louis to attend a conference of the War Minerals Committee of the United States. The situation with respect to the sulphur supply, and the possibility of producing additional quantities of pyrites for the United States market, were the topics of discussion of most importance to Canada.

DIVISION OF MINERAL RESOURCES AND STATISTICS.

In the work of this division, a feature of special interest during the past two years has been the inauguration of a more frequent collection of production statistics than the annual record. Monthly records of production of coal, coke, pig-iron, steel ingots, asbestos, and pyrites ore have been collected during 1917; and these records have proved to be of the utmost value at the present time, furnishing, as they do, a continuous and up-to-date record of the progress of these industries, and of the quantities of materials available.

8 GEORGE V, A. 1918

During the year under review, there were completed for publication, six separate reports on mineral production; and seven separate lists of mine and quarry operators; besides a number of special bulletins and press notices, dealing with the interim statistics of production, referred to above.

Arrangements have been made with the Census Office of the Department of Trade and Commerce whereby that office shall accept as census records the statistics of mineral production collected by the Department of Mines; and for this purpose, the Chief of the Division of Mineral Resources and Statistics has been appointed, by Order in Council, as a special agent of the census. Unnecessary departmental duplication of inquiry will thus be avoided.

The preliminary report on mineral production shows the rapid growth and development of the mineral industry in Canada, and the extent to which Canada has been able to contribute of her mineral resources both to the prosecution of the war and to the country's industrial progress.

CERAMIC DIVISION.

The work of this division consists in the investigation and examination of the clay and the shale resources of the Dominion. During the year, numerous samples, collected in the field, or submitted by outside parties, were tested and reported upon. Several field trips were undertaken to examine the clay deposits of eastern Ontario; and special attention was given to the location of high-grade clays, owing to the great demand for these requisites in the paper industry, at the present time, and for metallurgical purposes. In another part of this report, Mr. J. Keele, Chief Engineer of the Division, presents the result of the season's work.

ROAD MATERIALS DIVISION.

In the Summary Report for 1916, reasons were given for the establishment of a road materials division. The work of examining suitable road materials along important existing and proposed new highways, was undertaken by several field parties: samples being procured, and forwarded to the Mines Branch laboratory, to be tested. In addition to this work, samples from several Provincial Highway organizations were received and reported upon. A full account of the investigations, and the results of tests made, are given in another section of this report.

TECHNICAL LIBRARY.

The Technical Library of the Mines Branch has grown to such an extent during 1917, that the shelving capacity has been enlarged by 25 per cent.

Additions were made to the Library by gifts from Geological Surveys and cognate departments—683 Government documents; from Scientific and Technical Societies—260 Bulletins, Proceedings, and Transactions; and by private gifts, 34 volumes.

Additions by purchase, 113 volumes; and 91 volumes have been bound.

The services of the Library have been placed at the disposal of the various Munitions Boards; and for the especial benefit of these Boards, a number of new exchanges, which are entirely dedicated to war work, have been inaugurated with Technical Societies.

INVESTIGATION OF IRON ORES.

A. H. A. ROBINSON.

The field season of 1917 was devoted to the investigation of a number of reported occurrences of iron ore in that part of the Rainy River district lying just east of Rainy lake, Ontario. Magnetometric and topographical surveys were made covering a length of about $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles along a zone of titaniferous iron-bearing rocks that occur to the north of Seine bay, Rainy lake, and to the northwest of Bad Vermilion lake. This ore-bearing belt has a total length of about 14 miles. The portion of it chosen for mapping this season, is that which crosses mining locations AL25, AL26, AL27, AL28, and AL29, near the middle of the range and lying between the east end of Seine bay and the southwest corner of Bad Vermilion lake. This section is, for the most part, heavily drift covered, and shows few outcrops. A magnetometric survey of it, therefore, adds more to our information concerning the range, as a whole, than would one where natural outcrops and exposures give, at least, a general idea of the extent and distribution of the ore-bodies. With the time and means at our disposal, a magnetic survey of the whole 14 miles would have been impossible this season.

In addition to the magnetic survey of the titaniferous magnetite deposits between Seine bay and Bad Vermilion lake—which occupied most of the summer—visits were made to a number of places along the line of the Canadian Northern railway between La Seine station and Fort Frances, at which, at various times, iron ore has been reported to occur; but no deposits that showed promise of being of economic value as sources of iron ore were seen at any of them. There is, however, a belt of rusty iron-stained rock, presumably belonging to the Keewatin iron formation, that can be traced more or less continuously along close to the railway from near Nickel Lake siding to Rocky Inlet, and beyond. Associated with this belt of rusty gossan-bearing rocks are deposits of iron pyrites and pyrrhotite, some of which might, if explored, prove valuable for their sulphur contents. A little prospecting has been done on a showing of iron pyrites on the south shore of Nickel lake, and, also, on deposits of pyrite and pyrrhotite that occur on the west side of Rocky Inlet, a little to the north of the railway. Not enough work has been done on any of them, however, to show whether or not they are extensive enough to be workable.

Grateful acknowledgment is due to Dr. W. L. Goodwin, of Queen's University, Kingston, for much valuable information and assistance rendered in connexion with the work on the Seine Bay titaniferous iron range. Mr. Gordon G. Vincent, and Mr. Gilbert C. Monture, acted as assistants throughout the season, and performed their duties in a highly satisfactory manner.

THE TITANIFEROUS MAGNETITE DEPOSITS OF SEINE BAY AND BAD VERMILION LAKE.

Location and Topography.

What may for convenience be called the Seine Bay iron range, is a belt of basic igneous rocks associated with which are numerous deposits of titaniferous magnetite. It has a total length of about 14 miles. Starting on the south shore of the peninsula between the two arms of Rainy lake, known respectively, as Swell and Seine bays, at a point half a mile east of Wind bay, it extends northeasterly in a gently curving line along the north side of Seine bay, and the northwesterly shore of Bad Vermilion lake to a point about two-thirds the way up the latter. It crosses, in its course from west to east, the following mining locations: 213X, 170P, 171P, 181P, 182P, 183P, 215X, 216X, 217X, 218X, AL33, AL32, AL31, AL30, AL29, AL28, AL27, AL26, AL25, AL24, AL23, AL16, AL17, AL18, AL19, AL20, AL21, AL22, and HP96. (See sketch map.)

Emerging from the water of the bay on 213X, the outcrops of the iron range, on passing inland, rise to an elevation of between 100 and 200 feet above Seine bay, i.e., to between 1,200 and 1,300 feet above sea-level, and continuing for the most part at about this general elevation, follow along on the southerly slope of the rocky hills that bound the valley of Seine bay and Bad Vermilion lake on the north and northwest. With the exception of 2 miles between the east end of Seine bay and the southwest corner of Bad Vermilion lake, the range runs at no place very far from the shores of either one or the other of these two bodies of water. North of Seine bay its distance from the shore is probably never greater than half a mile; along Bad Vermilion lake it follows the shore more closely, coming down, at some points, almost to the water's edge.

Means of Access.

The easterly half of the range may be most conveniently reached from Mine Centre, a station on the Canadian Northern railway between Port Arthur and Winnipeg. A good wagon road about a mile in length leads from Mine Centre to Bad Vermilion lake where canoe or launch can be taken to within a short distance of the outcrops along the shore, or to the southwest corner of the lake whence a trail leading to Seine bay follows just south of the range nearly all the way.

The western part of the iron range is most readily accessible by way of Seine bay, from the north shore of which old lumbering roads can be followed inland to the outcrops at several points. Seine bay itself can be reached either from Mine Centre by the canoe route through Bad Vermilion lake, or by a longer but less laborious route from Fort Frances across the southern end of Rainy lake by gasoline launch. The distance from Fort Frances to the extreme western outcrops of the iron range on 213X is about 20 miles. Other short and easy routes to this end of the range would be by canoe or launch from Bear's Pass or Rocky Inlet stations on the Canadian Northern railway.

Geological Features.

The magnetite deposits are found in a belt of greenstones, gabbro, and various green schists, that lies sandwiched in between a belt of granite on the north and one of anorthosite on the south. The rocks most intimately associated with the ore-bodies are a very dark, rather coarsely granular, hornblende gabbro—partly massive and partly schistose—and green schist possibly derived from the gabbro by shearing and metamorphism.

The greenstones, schists, gabbro, and anorthosite—the last two probably differentiation products of a common magma—have all been classified as Keewatin. The gabbro and anorthosite, though they have been included with the Keewatin, are of later age than the other rocks mentioned above as belonging to that geological period, and were injected into the series in the form of sills or laccolithic lenses before its chief deformation and metamorphism took place. They thus partake of the structural features of the Keewatin. So far as is known they are confined to the Keewatin areas. The granite is intrusive into all the above-mentioned Keewatin rocks, and has been classified with the Laurentian.¹

The belt of granite already noted as lying to the north of the iron-bearing belt, extends much farther towards the northeast than it is shown on Lawson's map, and is to be found within a short distance of the iron range throughout the whole 14 miles the latter has been traced (see accompanying sketch map). A few small granite dikes, probably apophyses of the main body to the north occur in places penetrating the iron-bearing rocks—usually along planes parallel to their schistosity.

The ore-bodies, like most titaniferous magnetites, are believed to be of igneous origin, and to have been derived from the same magma as the anorthosite and gabbro by a process of segregation. They occur as flattened lenses standing on edge with their longer axes in a vertical plane parallel to the planes of schistosity in the surrounding rocks. Their present shape is probably due to squeezing, during shearing and metamorphism subsequent to their deposition.

Development.

Though these magnetite deposits have been known for some considerable time, and mining locations were first taken upon them a number of years ago, they have, on account of their high titanium content, not attracted as much attention as would otherwise probably have been the case, and comparatively little exploratory work has been done on them. Some trenching and diamond drilling was done north of Seine bay, on locations 181P, 182P, and 183P, by a Mr. Hunter, of Duluth, in 1911, and in 1917 six diamond drill holes were put down under the supervision of Dr. W. L. Goodwin, of Queen's University, on mining locations AL19, AL17, AL24, AL26, AL28, and AL29, respectively, at the Bad Vermilion end of the range. There is also an old prospecting shaft, or pit, now full of water where the range outcrops on the shore of Seine bay, on location 213X. The trenches, dug in 1911, have now, for the most part, fallen in, and at the present time, outside the natural exposures that are fairly numerous on some parts of it, little of interest is to be seen on the range.

The records of the drill holes put down in 1917 by Dr. Goodwin have been kindly supplied by him for publication, and will be found tabulated below. The Analysis number refers to the Table of Analyses given farther on.

Character of the Ore.

The ore may show any gradation between a gabbro carrying disseminated magnetite, and an almost pure magnetite carrying little or no gangue of ferro-magnesian minerals and feldspar. The different grades may occur either in separate bodies, or all may be found in a single deposit. The purer segregations are often bordered by leaner material and may pass more or less imperceptibly into a highly magnetitic gabbro; usually, however, the transition from ore to rock is rapid, and there is little or no difficulty in fixing the line of demarcation even when the ore is low grade and the rock carries disseminated magnetite. Individual segregations are of all sizes and are found as blebs, patches, bands, and elongated lenses through the iron-bearing rock.

The purer ore is generally massive, even when the enclosing rock is schistose; schistosity in the ore is more pronounced in the lower grades carrying a considerable amount of intermixed rock. The texture is medium to coarse-grained and fractured surfaces show crystalline cleavage faces. The bluish tinge, said to be characteristic of many titaniferous magnetites, was not noticed. Associated with the magnetite and magnetitic gabbro quartz, calcite, siderite, pyrite, pyrrhotite, and chalcopyrite occur in small quantities, usually as the filling in minute cracks and fissures. A little epidote is also found in places.

Analyses of a large number of samples show the best grade of ore to range from 40 to 50 per cent in iron, with an average of about 46 per cent; titanium dioxide from 10.0 to 27.5 per cent, with an average of about 20 per cent—equivalent to about 12 per cent titanium. Silica will average under 5 per cent, alumina about 2.8 per cent, lime about 1 per cent, and magnesia 2.0 per cent. Phosphorus is low, generally under 0.02 per cent. Sulphur also is low, but shows a slightly higher average in the drill core than in the outcrop samples.

The "low grade ore" carries from 30 to 40 per cent of iron with an average of about 13 per cent each of silica and oxide of titanium. The phosphorus, in contrast with that in the purer magnetite, is high—up to 2.4 per cent, and appears to vary, roughly, inversely with the iron.

Vanadium up to 1 per cent has been determined in specially selected samples.

The following table gives the composition of a number of samples taken from surface exposures and diamond drill cores.

No. 1 is the analysis of a ton lot from AL17.

No. 2 is an average sample taken across a 20-foot outcrop on AL17.

No. 3 is the analysis of a bulk sample from AL17 and AL18.

Nos. 4 and 5 are from a 32-foot outcrop on the line between AL26 and AL27.

No. 6 is an average sample from a 10-foot outcrop on the "south ore-body" on AL25.

No. 7 is an average sample from a low-grade outcrop on the east side of AL27 ("north ore-body").

No. 8 is an average sample across 20 feet of "high-grade" magnetite on AL26 ("north ore-body").

No. 9 is an average sample across 25 feet of "low-grade" magnetite on AL26 ("north ore-body") lying alongside the band from which No. 8 was taken.

No. 10 is an average sample across 12 feet of low-grade on AL27.

No. 11 is an average sample across a 12-foot outcrop on the "south ore-body" on AL26.

No. 12 is an average sample across a 20-foot outcrop on 182P. (west end of range).

No. 13 is from an outcrop 100 to 150 feet long, with an average width of about three feet, on H.P. 96 at the extreme east end of the range.

No. 14 is from diamond drill hole No. 2, across 8 ft. of ore, about 150 ft. vertically below the surface.

No. 15 is from diamond drill hole No. 2, about 300 ft. vertically below the surface.

No. 16 is from diamond drill hole No. 5, across 14 ft. of ore, about 215 ft. vertically below the surface.

No. 17 is from diamond drill hole No. 5, across 12 ft. of ore, about 376 ft. vertically below the surface.

No. 18 is from diamond drill hole No. 5 across 16 ft. of ore, about 460 ft. vertically below the surface.

No. 19 is from diamond drill hole No. 6 across 3 ft. of ore, about 365 ft. vertically below the surface.

No. 20 is from diamond drill hole No. 6, across 7.5 ft. of ore, about 375 ft. vertically below the surface.

No. 21 is from diamond drill hole No. 7, across 4 ft. of ore, about 230 ft. vertically below the surface.

Extent and Nature of the Deposits.

The iron-bearing belt has been traced by means of outcrops, and dip needle readings over the drift-covered areas, for a distance of about 14 miles. The great linear extent is not due to the presence of a single large ore-body, but to a series of narrow lens-shaped deposits standing vertically, end to end, and separated from one another by country rock; the intervening rock is either practically barren, or may carry more or less disseminated magnetite. On parts of the range the lenses occur so close together as to form for a considerable distance an almost continuous ore-body; over the greater portion of it, however, the segregations rich enough to be called ore appear to be small and separated from each other by wide intervals. One of the sections of the range where the richer segregations lie close together crosses 181P, 182P, and 183P, north of Seine bay; another occurs north of the southwest arm of Bad Vermilion lake, running, roughly, from AL19 to AL27—a distance of about 2½ miles. It is on these two sections that most of the little exploratory work has been done. Between them, and beyond them at either end, the deposits, so far as known, appear to be scattered and less promising.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

AL19 to AL29.—On the section of the range from AL19 to AL29 six holes, the details of which have been given above, were drilled across the deposits in 1917. All the holes passed through bands of good ore, varying in width from 4 to 16 feet, together with much material of lower grade. The deepest hole, No. 5, located on the line between AL26 and AL27, after passing through several narrower bands, cut 16 feet of good ore (analysis No. 18) 460 feet vertically below a 32-foot outcrop on the surface, and thus proved the deposits to extend to a depth of at least 321 feet below the level of Seine bay. The two holes on AL28 and AL29 were put down to test the range where it is hidden under a sand plain, and where the magnetic survey indicates only small, scattered ore-bodies. Each hole was pointed to pass under one of the areas of high magnetic attraction found at the surface, and the results obtained confirm the deductions made from the magnetic readings.

The information afforded by outcrops and by the drill hole records, throw more light on the width of the deposits and their occurrence at depth than it does on their length and continuity. The most definite information available on these last two points is that derived from a study of the magnetometric map. A detailed description of the part of the range actually surveyed, i.e., from AL25 to AL29, both inclusive, based on information deduced from the magnetic maps and supplemented by that afforded by natural exposures is as follows:—

Judging from the magnetic readings and by the outcrops, a well marked, almost continuous line of magnetic deposits, with a general trend of S. 60° W. lies along the north side of the iron-bearing belt from the east boundary of AL25 to the middle of AL27. The outcrops of this string of lenses, which has been termed locally the "north ore-body," are found along a narrow bench on the hillside at an elevation of about 130 feet above Bad Vermilion lake. Lower down on the hillside, south of this chief zone of deposits, smaller concentrations of magnetite, many of them mere blebs or pockets, occur scattered over a width of 300 or 400 feet. Some of the larger of these show a tendency to a roughly linear arrangement parallel to the "north ore-body" and have been named, locally, the "south ore-body." None of these small irregularly scattered deposits were noticed occurring to the north of the "north ore-body" which, on this part of the range at least, seems to form a clean cut boundary to the iron-bearing belt on its north side.

Crossing from east to west, mining locations AL25, AL26, and the east half of AL27, we find on the "north ore-body" at the east boundary of AL25 a lens of magnetite about 100 feet in length, indicated by the magnetometric map. An outcropping on this deposit shows 7 feet of good ore, alongside an undetermined width of low grade.

This 100-foot lens is followed to the west by two longer lenses, having indicated lengths of 400 feet and 200 feet, respectively. On neither of these were solid outcrops found where the width of ore could be measured and samples taken. Both are covered throughout by broken ore and rock or by earth.

The next lens, or a series of linked lenses, to the west, has a total length of about 900 feet; the boundary between AL25 and AL26 crosses it about 300 feet from its west end. An outcrop, just east of the line between AL25 and AL26, shows about 25 feet of mixed magnetite. A number of smaller exposures show some good ore, but with one or both walls hidden by drift so that the widths at these places could not be measured. The deposit, like those previously mentioned, is, for the most part, hidden under a talus of broken rock and ore.

A second group of closely linked lenses, also about 900 feet in length, comes in to the west after an interval of about 400 feet. The first 750 feet of this is on AL26, the remaining 150 feet is on AL27. Outcrops on this deposit show the greatest width of ore found on the range east of Seine bay. One, 450 feet east of the line between AL26 and AL27, shows 45 feet; 20 feet of it is comparatively pure magnetite (analysis No. 8) alongside 25 feet of leaner material (analysis No. 9); another, showing 32 feet of solid magnetite, occurs in a shallow trench where the deposit crosses the boundary between AL26 and AL27. Diamond drill hole No. 5 passes 460 feet vertically below this last, where it cut 16 feet of magnetite.

On the east half of AL27 the magnetic survey indicates the presence of two further lenses of considerable length, lying in line, to the west, with those already described. The more easterly of the two is 600 feet long; the other 300 feet. On the first, outcrops of low grade ore 12 to 15 feet wide are to be seen (analyses Nos. 7 and 10); the second is completely hidden under a sand plain.

From the middle of AL27 to the west boundary of AL29 the iron range is almost entirely hidden under sand plains, and the magnetometric map indicates only small and scattered deposits of magnetite. Diamond drill holes Nos. 6 and 7 were put down to test more promising localities in this area, with rather discouraging results. Analyses Nos. 19, 20, and 21 are from these holes.

All the deposits so far described form part of the "north ore-body." Roughly parallel and from 150 to 250 feet south of the latter, across AL26 and the western part of AL25, numerous outcrops of deposits on the "south ore-body" occur. These show magnetite in bands from 2 to 20 feet wide, but, judging from the magnetic map, the length of the individual deposits in no case exceeds 150 feet, and they are separated from each other by considerable stretches of barren rock.

The magnetometric survey was not extended eastward beyond the east boundary of AL25, but numerous outcrops would appear to indicate that magnetite deposits of considerable length follow each other closely as far as AL19. From AL19 to the eastern extremity of the range the indications are not promising.

CONCLUSION.

Even were the iron content of these magnetites considerably higher than it is their titanium content would effectually debar them from use as iron ores in the blast furnace. Their titanium content, on the other hand, is too low for them to be regarded favourably as a source of titanium. Should, however, a method for the utilization of material of this nature be devised in the future there are, no doubt, large quantities available in the Seine Bay deposits. Much more work would have to be done on them, though, before even approximate tonnage estimates could be made, or the proportions of the different grades determined.

NON-METALLIFEROUS MINES DIVISION.

I

LIMESTONES OF ONTARIO.

HOWELLS FRÉCHETTE, Chief of the Division.

During the field season 1917, an investigation of the limestones of the Province of Ontario was undertaken. Limestone areas along the principal lines of transportation, and near the main consuming centres, as well as many outlying deposits, were examined and sampled. Practically all the operating quarries and many that were temporarily idle were visited. Certain sections in central and northern Ontario which were not visited this year will be included in the field work for 1918.

The production of limestone and lime is far below the pre-war output. Many quarries are shut down, and others are operated by reduced forces. This is due, principally, to curtailed building operations. A further cause for reduced output was the withdrawal, during part of the summer, of gondola and hopper cars from the stone service, excepting where the limestone was for use in munitions works.

Samples were not taken at all quarries; but from such as would indicate the nature of the rock available in the various sections of the Province. Numerous analyses from certain localities are on record in Government reports. These will be made use of when compiling the data for the final report, and will thus fill in the required information for certain districts which may appear to have been neglected in this preliminary report.

All analyses of samples collected were made by Mr. E. A. Thompson of the Mines Branch.

RENFREW COUNTY.

Very little limestone and no marble quarrying was in progress at the time of my visit. Lime was being produced at Renfrew by J. A. Jamieson, and at Eganville by the Standard Chemical, Iron, and Lumber Co., Ltd., as well as at two or three small pot kilns which were operated intermittently during the summer. Over the greater part of Renfrew county the exposed rocks are those of the Hastings series, the Palæozoic being represented by comparatively small areas.

Sample 1 is an average of the 12-foot face in the quarry of Wm. Markus, Ltd., at Pembroke (lot 12, concession J, Pembroke township). The stone is fine-grained, bluish-grey, with thin shale partings between some beds. Most of the beds are thin, though some are as much as 20 inches in thickness. This stone is probably of Chazy age.

Sample 2 is an average of the crystalline limestone exposed in a small quarry belonging to Albert G. Biederman, on lot 20, concession XIX, Wilberforce township. The stone is used exclusively for the burning of lime, which finds a small local market. The surrounding country is hilly, and the roads are poor.

Sample 3 is an average from the quarry of the Standard Chemical, Iron, and Lumber Co., Ltd., situated on the south side of the Bonechere river, immediately east of Eganville. The stone is fine-grained, brownish-grey, and heavily bedded, with very little shale between the beds. It is used for the production of lime. Two draw kilns are situated on the property, one of which was in operation when visited in July.

Sample 4 was taken from a small quarry on the farm of Peter McDougald to the northeast of Douglas station on the C.P.R. There is an extensive exposure of brownish-grey, close-grained Chazy limestone.

Sample 5 is an average from a small quarry belonging to John M. Jamieson, on lot 10, concession X, Ross township. The stone, which is used for lime burning, is a rather fine-grained grey crystalline limestone, containing a small amount of mica and graphite disseminated through it. A pot kiln is situated alongside the quarry.

Sample 6 is an average of the white, crystalline dolomite, exposed above water in the quarry of the Renfrew White Granite Co., Ltd., on lot 19, concession VI, Ross township. The stone is coarsely crystalline, and is almost a pure white, with a few shafts of white actinolite shot through it. A large marble sawing and polishing mill has been installed on the property, and a spur line constructed from Haley Station to the quarry. Only a small quarry was developed, and is now idle. Similar stone was observed on neighbouring lots.

Sample 7 is representative of the rather fine-grained, close-textured, grey, crystalline limestone in the quarry of J. A. Jamieson on lot 13, concession III, Horton township. The stone from this quarry which is quite extensive, is used for building purposes. The Corporation of Renfrew operates a quarry on the corresponding lot in concession II, from which stone for road work is obtained.

Sample 8 is an average from the quarry of J. A. Jamieson, on lot 5, concession II, Horton township. The stone, which is coarse-grained crystalline limestone, is used for lime burning. Two draw kilns are operated by Mr. Jamieson within the town of Renfrew; but only one was in use at the time of my visit in July.

Sample 9 is of a coarse-grained, crystalline dolomite, exposed by the roadside on lot 28, concession VI, Bagot township.

Sample 10 was taken from the shore of White lake on lot 1, concession I, Bagot township. It was rather badly weathered, but would indicate, nevertheless, that the rock is a very pure dolomite and well worth considering for exploitation. It is a marble of very fine texture, and capable of taking a high polish. This surface sample was cream coloured, with darker stains along cracks and cavities. These latter should be much less in evidence, if not entirely absent, in the unweathered rock.

Sample 11 is an average of the 15-foot face of the quarry of the Canada Lime Co., Ltd., on lot 18, concession XIII, McNab township. The stone, which is burned for lime in a draw kiln, is a rather fine-grained, dark grey limestone, of Black River age. The quarry has a face of about 150 feet long and 15 feet high. There are numerous extensive outcrops of similar stone on nearby lots.

To the southeast of Braeside there are several old quarries in limestone of Chazy age. The stone is thin bedded, and carries considerable shale.

LANARK COUNTY.

Exposures of the stratified Palæozoic rocks in Lanark, are limited to the eastern portion of the county. The western part is occupied by crystalline rocks of the Hastings series.

Sample 12 was taken from an exposure of heavily bedded Black River limestone on lot 23, concession XII, Pakenham township. The sample is representative of the two upper beds, which are each about 30 inches thick. This stone, which is fine-grained, and dark grey, is exposed over a considerable area, where quarrying could be easily done. It is within a short distance of the C.P.R. main line.

Sample 13 is an average taken from the 30-foot face of a quarry situated, to the east of the river, on the outskirts of the village of Pakenham. The stone, which is of Black River age, is fine-grained, dark grey. With the exception of the middle 15 feet the limestone is in rather heavy beds. The output from this quarry, which is now idle, has been used for building and road purposes.

Sample 14 was taken from the lower beds of an old quarry north of Almonte, on the outskirts of the town, along the face of a ridge that parallels the railway, on lot 17, concession IX, Ramsay township. This stone is a fine-grained, blue limestone, which weathers on the surface to light buff. The upper portion of the quarry face is made up of thin layers, interbedded with considerable shale, hence was not sampled. A short distance to the northeast, stone for road metal was being quarried.

Sample 15 is representative of the blue-grey crystalline limestone being quarried on lot 20, concession V, Ramsay township, for road metal. The stone which is of medium grain is very nicely banded, and should, on polishing, produce a very attractive marble.

Sample 16 is an average of the crystalline limestone from the quarry being operated by W. M. Cameron on lots 8 and 9, concession IV, Ramsay. This stone is hauled to Carleton Place, a distance of about 4 miles, where it is calcined in a draw kiln. The lime finds not only a local market, but is shipped, by rail, to Ottawa and other points.

Sample 17 is representative of the dolomite quarried on lot 12, concession X, Beckwith, by Daniel McNeely, of Carleton Place. The stone is very dark brown, finely granular, and decidedly porous. Parks assigns this stone to the Beekmantown formation.

CARLETON COUNTY.

With the exception of a few exposures of the crystalline rocks of the Hastings series in the extreme northwest corner of the county, the rocks are all of Palæozoic age. High calcium, grey, crystalline limestones are exposed at numerous points near Galetta and, at greater intervals, westward as far as Arnprior in Renfrew county.

Sample 18 is an average of the lower beds exposed in McTernan's quarry on lot 21, concession IV, Torbolton township. Very little stone is now being taken from this quarry, though in the past large quantities of heavy building stone have been taken out. The upper 10 feet of the face shows heavily bedded, fine-grained, dark grey limestone. The lower 10 feet, which is light grey, coarser in texture and apparently purer, is now used for lime burning. Two pot kilns are situated a short distance from the quarry. There are extensive exposures of similar stone on adjacent lots.

Sample 19 is representative of the very fine-grained, argillaceous limestone, from a small quarry on the east half of lot 3, concession XII, Goulburn township. The stone varies from light to dark blue, has a conchoidal fracture, and occurs in beds from 3 to 10 inches thick, between which are thin partings of shale. It is employed for local use only, and the quarry is operated only at odd times.

Sample 20 is an average of the 33 feet of strata exposed in the quarry of the Rideau Canal Supply Company, situated just west of Ottawa on the Merivale road. The stone, which is of Black River age, is fine-grained, dark blue-grey to brownish. This quarry produces a considerable tonnage of crushed stone for the Ottawa market.

Sample 21 is an average of the 30-foot face of Trenton limestone exposed in Thibault's quarry on the east side of the Rideau river at Hogs Back. The stone, which is light grey, and of medium grain, is heavily bedded. The entire product of the quarry is crushed for use in concrete.

Sample 22 is an average of the face of a small, old quarry on lot 3, concession III, Gloucester township (Rideau front).

Sample 23 was taken in the quarry of Charles Gamble on lot 24, concession I, Gloucester (Rideau front). The stone, which is heavily bedded, fine-grained, and tough, is of Beekmantown age. There are extensive exposures from which stone suitable for building, or road metal, could be obtained. The quarry has been idle for two years.

Samples 24 and 25 were taken from the quarry of H. Robillard and Son, on the south half of lot 22, concession I, Gloucester township (Ottawa front). This quarry, which is very large, has a face 16 feet high. Sample 24 represents the upper 10 feet, and 25 the lower 6 feet of the quarry. The upper stone is fine-grained, blue limestone, while the lower is brownish, and of a coarser texture. Two large kilns are situated beside the quarry. The entire plant was idle when visited in June.

In the vicinity of the above quarry are others of considerable size, none of which were in operation.

RUSSELL COUNTY.

There are numerous exposures of stratified limestones in Russell county especially in the northern part, along low ridges which parallel the Ottawa river, and along a few of the stream beds in the southern part of the county.

Sample 26 is an average of the upper 75 feet of an old quarry, known as Stewart's quarry, situated a short distance south of Rockland. An immense quantity of very heavy dimension stone has been quarried here, much of which lies in great piles along old railway sidings at the quarry. The beds, 90 feet of which are exposed, are, for the greater part, very thick. The stone is fine-grained, dark grey to blue, with black seams parallel to the bedding. Two draw kilns were operated at one time on waste rock. The entire plant has been closed for a number of years.

At mill No. 1, Rockland, the W. C. Edwards Company operates a small quarry from which broken stone is obtained for local use.

Sample 27 is an average of the upper 6 feet of F. Beauchamp's small quarry, Clarence Creek. The stone in the upper 6 feet is rather thin bedded, dark grey, and of varying fineness in texture. The lower 4½ feet, is lighter in colour, coarser, and in beds up to 2 feet thick. The stone is used locally for building and for lime burning in a small pot kiln. Operations are on a very small scale.

Sample 28 was taken in the building stone quarry of Eugene Bruyere, lot 7, concession VII, Russell township. The stone is very dark grey, fine textured, and apparently sound in most of the beds. Sample 29 is from a small quarry near Mr. Bruyere's house, on the same lot. At one time this stone, which is coarse-grained, and light in colour, was used for making lime in a small kiln which is now in ruins. Neither of these quarries has been operated recently. The main line of the Ottawa and New York railway runs between the two quarries.

On nearby lots exposures of similar limestones were seen.

At various points on the Castor river, limestone outcrops along the steep shores and in the bed of the stream. Several small quarries have been opened to obtain stone for local foundation building, for road metal, and to supply small pot kilns; but no sites suitable for extensive quarrying were observed.

PRESCOTT COUNTY.

There are numerous exposures of limestone of Trenton, Black River, and Chazy age in the northern part of this county. Along a number of low ridges, generally lying approximately east and west, limestone outcrops may be seen at short intervals, for distances, in some cases, of several miles.

Sample 30 is an average of 29 feet of strata exposed in an old quarry, owned by R. C. Ross, on lot 28, concession I, Hawkesbury East. The stone, which is of Chazy age, is light grey, and of moderate coarseness, heavily bedded, and free from shale partings. A large quantity of heavy dimension stone has been taken out for canal work. An analysis of one bed, quoted by Parks¹ shows it to be considerably purer than this average sample.

Sample 31 is representative of the dark blue-grey, close-grained, Black River limestone in the quarry of S. D. Stevens on lot 10, concession III, Hawkesbury West. The stone lies in heavy beds, some of which show black streaks parallel with the bedding. The product of the quarry is broken stone and stone for lime burning in a small draw kiln.

Sample 32 is an average from a small quarry on lot 6, concession IV, Alfred township, owned by James Lett. The limestone which is of Chazy age is thinly bedded, close-grained, and dark blue. The quarry is opened in a long low ridge extending for several miles east and west.

Sample 33 was taken from the face of Winning's quarry on lot 9, concession VI, Plantagenet North, immediately to the north of the Canadian Pacific railway, near Plantagenet station. The stone, which is variable in grain and colour, is of the Black River formation. Between the beds, which are heavy, there is a small amount of shale. The quarry has been idle for several years.

ST. LAWRENCE RIVER COUNTIES.

Although, in the past, there has been some extensive quarrying of limestone in several of the counties fronting on the St. Lawrence, there has been practically none in recent years, except in the immediate neighbourhood of Kingston. Even at Kingston, the production has been greatly reduced, and a number of quarries closed. At Delta, in Leeds county, a limited amount of crystalline limestone is produced for lime burning.

GLENGARRY COUNTY.

The rocks in Glengarry county are masked by a covering of clay, sand, loam, and peat, except in a few scattered localities.

Sample 34 is an average of the 20-foot face, in an old quarry of considerable size, on lot 6, concession X, I.L., Charlottenburg township, 2 miles due south of Apple Hill. The beds are very heavy and have yielded a large quantity of heavy dimension stone. The stone is fine-grained, very dark, blue-grey, and is somewhat "shaky." According to Ells' geological map of this area, it is of Trenton age. Near the quarry are the ruins of two pot kilns, and large heaps of culled stone and spalls.

Sample 35 is representative of the stone in a couple of small, old quarries on lots 6 and 7, concession II, Lochiel township. The rock which is apparently of the Black River formation, is very dark blue to brownish-grey, close-grained, occurring in rather heavy beds, some of which show thin black seams along the planes of bedding.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

STORMONT COUNTY.

The rocks of Stormont, as in Glengarry county, are largely hidden, and very little quarrying has been done except in a small area one mile north of Mille Roches. Here, several large quarries in Black River limestone were worked ten or more years ago, when a great quantity of heavy dimension stone was quarried for use in construction work on the St. Lawrence canals. These quarries are situated in low ground, and as the pits are full of water, very little of the rock could be seen in place. Immense piles of culls and quarry waste nearby, however, indicate the nature of the stone.

Sample 36 is an average of the waste piles at the quarry on lot 23, concession III, R. 4, Cornwall township. The stone is very dark, blue-grey, in beds up to 4 feet or more in thickness. Shale is evidently present between some beds, as considerable was observed mixed with the other waste. There is probably in the neighbourhood of 10,000 tons of waste rock at this quarry, which might be employed for road metal, concrete work, riprap, or lime burning. The stone in the adjacent quarries is apparently the same.

Sample 37 was taken on lot 8, concession XII, Finch township, where quarrying operations had been commenced. The stone, which is of Black River age, is fine-grained, dark blue, occurring in heavy beds practically free from shale. The site is excellently adapted for a quarry, as it is high, gently sloping ground, has little overburden, and is adjacent to the railway. There are large exposures of this limestone throughout the neighbourhood.

DUNDAS COUNTY.

There are many rock exposures in the county of Dundas. Numerous small quarries have been worked at various times, usually for the production of building stone for purely local trade. The limestones range from the impure, dolomitic, Beekmantown in the western half of county, to the Black River high calcium limestone along the northeastern margin. No sample was taken of the Beekmantown stone.

Sample 38 is an average from a small, old quarry on lot 31 or 32, concession VII, Williamsburg township. The stone is of Chazy age, fine-grained, blue, and is in beds up to 10 inches thick. The overburden is very light.

Sample 39 is representative of the 5 feet of stone exposed in an old quarry on lot 19, concession VII, Williamsburg. The stone is dark blue, rather "shaky," and is of Black River age. The beds, which are about 1 foot thick, hold some shale on their partings.

Sample 40 is an average from the Corporation quarry, situated about one-half mile south of Winchester station of the Canadian Pacific railway. The stone is fine-grained, dark blue, in heavy beds; but is badly jointed and twisted. It is of Chazy age.

GRENVILLE COUNTY.

The only limestones observed in this county are the dolomitic limestones of Beekmantown age. In the northern part of the county there are extensive areas of very light overburden where many exposures of flat lying stones are to be seen. Along the St. Lawrence front outcrops are less frequent. At Prescott, between the road and the river, lie some old quarries from which a large amount of building stone has been taken. Other old quarries were visited at various points in Augusta and Edwardsburg. They were in all cases very small.

Sample 41 was taken in a rock cut on the Canadian Pacific railway, in which 10 feet of strata is exposed, opposite lot 2, concession I, Wolford township. The stone is fine-grained, and mostly thinly bedded, though one bed is 10 inches thick.

Sample 42 is representative of an old quarry on lot 17, concession II, Augusta township. The stone, though thinly bedded, is free from shale partings.

LEEDS COUNTY.

The rocks of the northern half of this county are of Palæozoic age, while those to the south are of the older crystalline series.

Sample 43 is representative of an exposure of fine-grained limestone near the road on lot 11, concession VIII, North Crosby, about 2 miles west of Westport.

Sample 44 was taken from the stock pile at the kiln of the Delta Lime Company, Limited, at Delta. The stone, which is a bluish crystalline limestone, is said to have come from a quarry on the opposite side of Lower Beverly lake.

Sample 45 is an average of the 10-foot face of an abandoned quarry on the south side of the Prescott road, about one mile east of the Brockville town limits. The stone is very tough, hard, and fine-grained, and is grey when fresh, weathering brown. Some beds are 18 inches in thickness.

Sample 46 is representative of the stone exposed in a number of small openings on the farm of Geo. Sherwood, half a mile east of Brockville, on the north side of the Prescott road. The stone is similar to that of sample 45, but is of a slightly higher horizon.

These last two samples are representative of the stone from a number of small, old quarries in this district.

FRONTENAC COUNTY.

The Pre-Cambrian, crystalline rocks occupy the greater part of this county; the Palaeozoic rocks appearing only in the extreme southern part. Within the area of crystalline rock there are numerous exposures of crystalline limestone. In the neighbourhood of Kingston and on the islands in the St. Lawrence, near Kingston, there are extensive exposures of stratified limestones, in which many quarries have been worked for building stone and road metal. At present very few of these quarries are being operated.

Samples 47, 48 and 49 represent three grades of stone exposed in a large road cutting which was commenced near the Barriefield camp, east of Kingston. The stone from this cutting was used for various public works. No. 47 is a very fine-grained, brittle, brownish-grey limestone, at the base of the cutting. A 10½-foot section is made up of beds from 2 to 12 inches thick. Lying upon this, is 14 feet of heavily bedded, light buff, gritty, impure, dolomitic limestone, represented by No. 48. On this lies 12 feet of shaly limestone, and 6 feet of very fine-grained, brownish limestone; which in turn is followed by an undetermined thickness of shaly limestone. The upper 16 feet of stone exposed in the cut is a fine-grained, dark, heavily bedded limestone, of which No. 49 is a sample.

Sample 50 is an average of the 12-foot face in a small quarry on lot 4, concession II, Kingston township, from which road metal has recently been quarried. At one time this stone, which is dark brown, and very fine-grained, was used for building purposes. It is similar to much of the stone seen about Kingston.

Sample 51 was taken in an old quarry owned by Mrs. Luke Costello, on Wolfe island, about a quarter of a mile east of the wharf. This stone, though fine-grained, is by no means as fine as that exposed in the quarries in Kingston. It is very dark, brownish-grey, and carries interbedded shale in rather small quantities.

Sample 52 is representative of the white crystalline limestone in a small, old quarry owned by Arthur Kenyon, just east of Godfrey. The quarry, which is opened in a hillside, furnished stone to a small pot kiln. Several fairly large masses of quartz and a small amount of disseminated mica were observed in the quarry.

Sample 53 is an average of an abandoned quarry on lot 9, concession XII, Portland township. The stone, which is a crystalline dolomite, was burned for lime in a draw kiln, which is now dismantled.

CENTRAL ONTARIO.

While a certain amount of work was done in this area, it was insufficient to gain a proper conception of the limestone resources. Further work is to be done in 1918, therefore this district will be dealt with very briefly in the present report. The principal limestone quarrying is at Point Anne, in Hastings county, Massasagua point, Prince Edward county, and north of Kirkfield, in Victoria county; from which localities large quantities of broken and crushed stone were being shipped to Toronto. A limited amount of limestone for building was being quarried at Longford, and some stone for lime burning and road work, at Napanee.

Sample 54 is representative of the stone in an extensive exposure on lot 35, concession VII, Ernesttown township, Lennox and Addington. This stone, which is brownish-grey, and very fine-grained, occurs in beds up to 2 feet thick. There is a small, old quarry on the property.

Sample 55 is an average of the stone quarried, by P. J. Bergin, on Roblin's hill east of Napanee, for lime burning. There are a number of quarries in this immediate neighbourhood, several of which are worked by Mr. Bergin for the production of building stone and road metal.

Sample 56 is representative of the lower 8 feet of the 23-foot face in an old, small quarry $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles northeast of Napanee, near the highway bridge over the Napanee river. The stone is a medium-grained, grey limestone, carrying very little shale.

Sample 57 is an average of the 10-foot face of a small quarry on lot 13, concession I, Camden township, from which stone has been quarried recently for road building. The rock is light blue, very fine-grained, and apparently free from shale.

Sample 58 was taken in the old quarry of the Ontario Limestone and Clay Co., near Shannonville. The stone, which is light grey, and of fairly coarse grain, was used for lime burning in two modern draw kilns which are now partly dismantled.

Sample 59 is of white crystalline limestone, exposed immediately east of the Methodist church, in the village of Actinolite.

Sample 60 was taken from an exposure of white, crystalline limestone on lot 12, concession XIV, Hungerford township, the property of the Hastings Quarries Company. The stone varies in texture from very fine-grained to medium.

Sample 61 is an average from an old quarry on lot 12, concession XI, Hungerford township. The rock, which has been employed for structural purposes, is a very heavily bedded, dark, brownish-grey, close-grained limestone, of Trenton age.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

Sample 62 was taken in a small quarry on lot 52, concession II, W. G. P., Sophiasburg, Prince Edward county, owned by John Doxisee. The stone is thin-bedded, medium fine-grained, blue-grey limestone, interbedded with a small quantity of shale.

Sample 63 was taken in the small quarry of James Bedborough on lot 23 or 24, concession III M. T., Hallowell township, Prince Edward county. The stone is rather coarse-grained, and occurs in thin beds with considerable interbedded shale.

Sample 64 is representative of 8 feet of coarse-grained light grey limestone exposed in a rock cut on the C.P.R., one mile east of Havelock, Peterboro county.

Sample 65 was taken from the surface of an exposure on the roadside near Preneveau, a couple of hundred yards east of the Ontario Rock Company's siding. The stone, which is dark brown, and fine-grained, occurs in heavy beds.

Sample 66 is an average of the 16-foot face of the Crushed Stone, Limited, quarry on lot 49, concession IX, Eldon township, Victoria county. The stone is a hard, tough, dark, blue-grey to brown-grey, fairly coarse-grained Trenton limestone. A small amount of shale was observed between some beds. The quarry, which is about 200 feet wide and 700 feet long, is situated on the North Portage road beside the Trent canal, and is served by a railroad siding from the Coboconk branch of the Grand Trunk. The entire output of the quarry is crushed in an up-to-date crushing plant which produces five sizes of crushed stone, stone flour, and pulverized agricultural limestone.

Sample 67 is an average of the 25-foot face of the old Canada Iron Corporation quarry, half a mile north of Longford in Rama township, Ontario county. The stone is light grey, hard, brittle, and of extreme fineness. This quarry, which is about 100 feet by 900 feet, furnished flux for the blast furnaces of the company. Near by are the extensive building stone quarries of the Longford Quarry Co., Ltd. At the time of my visit very little work was being done at these quarries.

SOUTHWESTERN ONTARIO.

In this section are included Simcoe, Peel, and the other counties to the south and west. Heavy overburden of clay, sand, and soil, covers the rocks over the greater part of this area. Along the Niagara escarpment, which extends from the Niagara river, past Hamilton, and thence northward to Collingwood, where it follows the Georgian Bay shore to the head of the Bruce peninsula, and for a limited distance on the west side of the escarpment, there are numerous exposures of limestone. Elsewhere, the heavy overburden hides the rock, except in the valleys of some of the larger streams, and in places along the shores of the great lakes.

PEEL COUNTY.

Along the Credit river and the side valleys leading to it, there are many exposures of dolomite. Several large and small quarries have been worked in the past. At present, only one quarry is in operation, that of the Contractors' Supply Co., Ltd. Their quarry is situated on the Canadian Pacific railway, about one mile north of Melville Junction. A modern lime plant is operated in conjunction with the quarry, producing both quick lime and hydrated lime. The two kilns are of the Eldridge type. Hydration is effected in a Clyde hydrator.

Sample 68 is an average of the 25-foot face in the abovementioned quarry. The stone is very hard, light bluish to yellowish-grey. It is rather porous in some beds, and in others, compact.

Sample 69 was taken from some large, loose fragments at the base of the escarpment at Credit Forks, along the face of the old quarry of the Credit Valley Stone Company. An average sample could not be obtained, nor could the section exposed be properly examined, owing to the dangerous condition of the steep face of the old quarry.

About 2 miles west of Milton, to the south of the Canadian Pacific tracks, cliffs of the Niagara escarpment rise to a considerable height above the level of the railroad, offering a splendid opportunity for quarrying the limestone exposed on the face. Two large quarries have been developed near this point: owned, respectively, by Christie-Henderson Co., Ltd., and D. Robertson and Co. The stone obtained from these quarries is burned for lime.

Samples 70 and 71 were taken in the quarry of Christie-Henderson Co., Ltd., on lot 3, concession VI, Nassagaweya township. The rock is very hard and tough, mostly light buff, but with irregularly distributed zones of dark blue stone. Sample 70 is an average of the buff, and sample 71 represents the blue stone. Three large draw kilns are operated at this quarry.

Sample 72 is an average of the stone used for lime burning from the quarry of D. Robertson and Co. on lot 3, concession VII, Nassagaweya township. The stone, which is light buff, is apparently not quite as hard as that of the Christie-Henderson quarry. Three large draw kilns are operated in conjunction with this quarry. At the base of the escarpment, a few beds of sandstone are exposed. These are quarried to a limited extent.

Sample 73 is an average of the stone in the Dolly Varden quarry of the Toronto Lime Co., Ltd., on lot 24, concession IV, Esquesing. The stone which is similar in appearance to that of the Christie-Henderson quarry in Nassagaweya township, is used for lime burning. At this quarry there is a battery of four large draw kilns, only one of which was in operation in October.

Sample 74 is representative of the lower thin beds in the old Limehouse quarry of the Toronto Lime Company, Ltd. This stone, which is dark blue, very hard, fine-grained, and dense, was at one time burned for the production of water lime. Overlying it, is light buff, heavily bedded stone, similar to that being quarried at Dolly Varden, $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles to the west. In the immediate neighbourhood of this quarry are three draw kilns and the remains of eleven large pot kilns, all of which are idle.

WELLINGTON COUNTY.

The extensive outcroppings of high grade, Guelph dolomite make this county one of the most important centres of the lime and hydrated lime industry. Along the Grand river between Fergus and Elora, are a number of old quarries and small pot kilns. A large quarry, owned by James Gow, is situated on the south side of the river, at Fergus. Two large draw kilns were operated in connexion with this quarry. Neither the kilns nor the quarry were in operation when visited. The quarry and plant of the Elora White Lime Company are situated on the north side of the river about one mile east of Elora. In September, this company was remodeling its plant, increasing its battery of kilns to five and installing a new Shaffer hydrator. At the junction of the Grand and Irvine rivers at Elora, the Wellington Lime Association at one time operated a large quarry and a lime kiln. The stone is similar to that of the Elora White Lime Company, an analysis of which is given below.

Sample 75 is representative of the stone in James Gow's quarry. It is light buff, very fine-grained, and contains, in some beds, casts of shells.

Sample 76 is an average of the stone in the quarry of the Elora White Lime Company. The stone is a hard, cream-coloured dolomite, in beds about 1 foot thick. Some beds carry many fossil casts.

Along the river Speed, and the Eramosa—which flows into it, are many exposures of the Guelph dolomite. At Guelph there are a number of quarries, only one of which was being actively operated, that of the Standard White Lime Company, situated to the south of the city. The stone, which is a fine, granular, cream-coloured dolomite, is used for the production of quick lime and hydrated lime in the plant of the company. This consists of three large draw kilns and a Clyde hydrator. To the north-east of Guelph, on the Ontario Prison Farm, a quarry has been opened on the north side of the Eramosa river. A face has been developed 300 feet long, and about 30 feet high. The upper 20 feet is a buff, medium-grained dolomite. The lower 10 feet is a thin bedded, hard, cherty dolomite. At the quarry there are a crusher plant, one large draw kiln, and a Clyde hydrator plant. The quarry and plant were idle in 1917.

At Rockwood, the Eramosa river has cut a deep ravine, along which there are large exposures of dolomite. The quarry of E. Harvey, Limited, is situated on lot 4, concession IV, Eramosa township. Most of the beds are hard, buff and somewhat porous, though some are of a decided bluish cast. There are three draw kilns in connexion with the quarry, only one of which was in operation in September.

About 3 miles north of Hespeler, Christie-Henderson and Company operate a quarry, two lime kilns and a Clyde hydrator plant on the west of the river Speed. The stone is a light buff, heavily bedded dolomite, of medium grain. A 20-foot face has been developed for a length of about 500 feet.

Sample 77 is an average from the quarry of the Standard White Lime Co., Ltd., at Guelph.

Sample 78 is an average of the upper 20 feet of the Prison Farm quarry, Guelph.

Sample 79 is an average from the quarry of E. Harvey, Ltd., at Rockwood.

Sample 80 is an average from the quarry of Christie-Henderson and Co., 3 miles north of Hespler.

In the township of Puslinch, there are two operating quarries on the main line of the Canadian Pacific railway. John Maloney operates a large quarry about half a mile west of Puslinch station. There are extensive exposures of Guelph dolomites in this neighbourhood. The stone is fairly hard, light buff, and of fine texture. Crushed stone and ground agricultural stone are produced at this quarry.

On lot 29, Front Gore, Puslinch township, Christie-Henderson and Co., Ltd., have an extensive quarry and lime kiln. The rock is similar to that of Maloney's quarry. Besides the stone for lime burning, crushed stone is produced.

On lot 15, concession V, Erin township, there are a small quarry and pot kiln operated, from time to time, by W. J. Smith. The upper beds, which are used for burning, consist of hard, light grey stone, while the lower beds, from which building stone is obtained, are buff in colour, granular, and less hard. Both are dolomite.

On lot 15, concession VI, Erin township, Ashenhurst Bros. operate a small quarry, producing rough and dressed building stone. The stone is similar to the lower beds of Smith's quarry. Sample 81 is an average of the 12 feet of dolomite exposed in this quarry.

WENTWORTH COUNTY.

Wentworth has long been an important stone producing district. The numerous exposures of dolomite along the top and face of the Niagara escarpment have offered splendid quarry sites. At Hamilton, a number of large quarries have been worked at the crest of the escarpment; but now, most of these have been abandoned, and only a small amount of stone for road building is being produced. At Ancaster there is a group of quarries along the face of the escarpment. Some of these are idle at present, others being operated on a greatly reduced scale. At Dundas, there is a very large quarry on the crest of the escarpment to the north of the town. This quarry, operated by the Canada Crushed Stone Corporation, Ltd., is being worked on a large scale.

On the flat highlands to the south and west of the Niagara escarpment, dolomites outcrop at a number of places throughout the county. The Wentworth Quarry Co., Ltd., operates a quarry on lot 4, concession V, Saltfleet township, near Vinemount, from which large quantities of crushed stone are produced. The Gallagher Lime and Stone Co., Ltd., and the Hamilton Lime and Cement Works, operate quarries about 2 miles south of Hamilton. Both companies produce building stone and stone for lime burning. The former company operates two draw kilns, and the latter, three draw kilns. Natural gas is used as fuel.

On lot 8, concession III, Beverly township, there are two small quarries and lime kilns, one owned by C. W. Parkes and the other by Parkes Brothers. Both were idle. On lot 6, concession VI, Flamboro W., the county operates a small quarry from which it obtains road metal, as required. The county operates another quarry at Clappison Corners.

Sample 82 is an average of the upper 8 feet of the 24-foot face in the Gallagher Lime and Stone Company's quarry on lot 15, concession VI, Barton township. The stone is a brown, rather fine-grained, granular dolomite, free from visible impurities.

Sample 83 is an average of the lower 16 feet of the same quarry. The stone is of the same character as sample 82.

Sample 84 is representative of a 4-foot bed of stone, in the above quarry. This stone, while similar to the rest in the quarry, is somewhat closer in texture, and is used for coursing stone.

Sample 85 is an average of the lower 30 feet of rock exposed in the quarry of the Canada Crushed Stone Corporation, Ltd., on lots 12 to 15, concession I, Flamboro West. This quarry is one of the largest in the country, and is very well equipped with power drills, steam shovels, locomotives and haulage systems. The crusher plant has a large capacity, delivering stone in a number of grades. The upper 40 feet of the stone in the quarry is used for flux. An analysis of this, quoted by Parks,¹ shows it to be an exceptionally pure dolomite. The lower 30 feet produces stone used largely for concrete and road work.

Sample 86 is an average of the 10-foot face in the County quarry, lot 6, concession VI, Flamboro West. The stone is a fine textured, granular, rather porous dolomite.

Sample 87 is an average of the hard, light-bluish dolomite from Parkes Bros.' quarry on lot 8, concession III, Beverly township.

Sample 88 is an average of the upper 18 feet of stone exposed in Guest's quarry on lot 48, concession II, Ancaster. The quarry is worked in two steps. The upper 18 feet, used principally for lime burning, is a pure, medium fine-grained, brown dolomite, and the lower 15 feet, which is less pure, is used for the production of crushed stone for roads and concrete.

LINCOLN COUNTY.

Along the Niagara escarpment and the side ravines leading from it, there are numerous good quarry sites. Many small quarries and three large ones have been opened.

On lots 14 and 15, concession VI, Clinton township, are the extensive quarries of the late Hon. Wm. Gibson, of Beamsville. Great quantities of heavy dimension stone have been obtained from these quarries, which have been idle for several years. The stone is a medium-grained, porous, light buff dolomite, containing a little over 3 per cent total impurities.

On lot 1, concession VII, Clinton township, Jacob Fritz operates a very small quarry in similar stone to that of the Gibson quarry. A number of small quarries are operated, from time to time, at various points in Louth township. A. F. Rubel has a small quarry on lot 20, concession VI, Louth, and also burns lime in two pot kilns. The stone is a dolomite, similar to that of the Gibson quarry, but occurs in thin beds.

¹Page 252, Mines Branch Report No. 100.

8 GEORGE V, A. 1918

There is a series of small quarries on lots 15, 16, and 17, concession X, Grantham township. There are two types of stone exposed. The upper stone is a brownish-grey, medium fine-grained, dolomite, of irregular bedding and jointing, and containing some flint. The lower stone is a fine-grained, blue-grey magnesian limestone, in heavy beds.

In Niagara township there are two large quarries owned by the Queenston Quarry Co., Ltd., and the Standard Crushed Stone Co., Ltd.

The quarry of the Queenston Quarry Company is situated on lots 47, 48, and 49, Niagara township. The stone in the upper 18 feet of the quarry is a medium-grained, grey dolomite, and in the lower 15 feet is fine-grained, blue magnesian limestone. The product of the quarry consists of various grades of building stone and crushed stone. As the beds are thick and free from undesirable jointing, large blocks of stone are easily procurable.

The quarry of the Standard Crushed Stone Company is on adjoining lots and is opened in the same beds of stone. This quarry, which has a large output, produces crushed stone and rubble.

Sample 90 is an average of the lower 15 feet of blue magnesian limestone from the same quarry as sample 89.

Sample 91 is representative of the lower blue magnesian limestone beds in H. C. Ball's quarry, lot 15, concession X, Grantham township.

Sample 92 is an average of the face of Peter Belton's quarry, lot 17, concession X, Grantham township. It also represents the stone in the upper part of Ball's quarry.

WELLAND COUNTY.

Along the escarpment to the east of the canal, near Thorold, there are several large quarries in the Niagara formation, which have been worked for many years. At present, the only operating quarry is that of Walker Brothers, on lots 31 and 32, Stamford township. In this quarry the upper 20 feet of stone is a porous, fine-grained, brown dolomite, and the lower 10 feet is a close-grained, coarse, light blue dolomitic limestone.

Along the Lake Erie shore, the clay overburden, which covers the greater part of the county, is comparatively light, and a number of quarries have been opened in the underlying Onondaga limestone.

On lot 6, concession I, Wainfleet township, there are a number of quarry openings, one of which, lying to the north of the railroad, has been worked up to two years ago. As the pits were almost full of water, no satisfactory samples could be obtained. From pieces of stone found near the quarry, and from those beds above water level, it would appear that the stone was a dark grey, medium fine textured, high calcium limestone. Some beds contained considerable chert. Lime was produced in a gas-fired draw kiln. There is also a crusher plant in connexion with the quarry.

On the adjoining lot to the east, Pilkington Brothers, Limited, at one time operated a quarry from which they obtained limestone for glass making.

Immediately west of Port Colborne, the Canada Cement Company, Limited, operates large quarries which supply limestone for use in the manufacture of portland cement. Analyses of the stone from these quarries, furnished me by the Canada Cement Company, show it to be 7 per cent silica, 48 per cent lime, and 2½ per cent magnesia.

A large quarry has been worked on lots 3, 4, 5, and 6, concession I, Humberstone, by the Empire Limestone Company. There is an extensive crushing plant at the quarry. At the time it was visited, the quarry was idle and contained much water. No sample of the stone was taken.

Two quarries of the Standard Crushed Stone Company, Limited, are situated on lot 13, Lake Erie front, Bertie township. One of these covers about an acre and one-half, and has been excavated to a depth of 22 feet. The upper beds of this quarry are made up almost entirely of flint, and the lower beds are blue limestone carrying much flint. A new quarry was being opened in beds apparently of a lower horizon. The stone is light bluish-grey, of coarse texture, and in beds up to 2 feet thick. The old quarry is well equipped, and produces several sizes of crushed stone.

The Coast and Lake Construction Corporation owns a large quarry, which is now idle, on lot 14, Lake Erie Front, Bertie township. This quarry is well equipped for producing dimension stone as well as crushed stone. The rock is similar to that in the quarries of the Standard Crushed Stone Co.

On lot 4, concession VIII, Bertie township, there is an old quarry and lime kiln owned by E. and B. Baxter. The stone exposed is similar to what is seen in the foregoing quarries.

The Bertie township quarry is situated on lot 7, concession VIII. About 20 feet of strata is exposed here. There is much flint in the upper beds of high calcium limestone. The lower beds are of dolomite. The equipment consists of steam drills and a small crusher plant.

HALDIMAND COUNTY.

Over the greater part of this county the rocks are masked by overburden. There are, however, a number of localities where there are outcrops and where quarrying has been done.

8 GEORGE V, A. 1918

At Byng, near Dunnville, John Webber operates a quarry from which he produces building and crushed stone. About 22 feet of strata is exposed. The upper 10 feet is a thinly bedded, light grey, tough dolomite, and the lower 12 feet is a bluish, fine-grained dolomite, in beds from 6 inches to 18 inches thick.

About half a mile east of Webber's quarry there is another, which, I understand, belongs to the county. The stone is similar to the foregoing. There is a small crushing plant alongside the quarry. It is worked as occasion requires.

The Oneida Lime Co., Ltd., owns quarry land 1 mile north of Nelles Corners. Quarries have been opened in Oriskany sandstone and in the underlying dolomite. At present, operations are confined to the sandstone quarries. Large quantities of very fine sandstone are quarried and crushed for the production of sand for glass manufacturing and for other purposes requiring a highly siliceous sand. The dolomite is fine-grained, buff, and occurs in thin beds. A considerable quantity has been quarried for flux and lime burning.

On lot 49, concession I, South Cayuga township, about one mile south of the above, the county operates a quarry in the high calcium limestone of the Onondaga formation. The quarry was full of water at the time of my visit; but, from broken stone at the crusher plant it would appear that the stone is similar to that in the Port Colborne quarries, and carries considerable flint.

On lot 2, concession II, Rainham township, Fred Helka operated a lime kiln and quarry up to 1916. There is a considerable area on this farm where the overburden is very light, and a number of shallow openings have been made, from which building stone and stone to supply the kiln were obtained. There is about 8 feet of strata exposed. The upper 4 feet is thin bedded, fine-grained, rather dark brownish-grey limestone, containing a small amount of flint. The lower 4 feet is more heavily bedded, and free from flint, but has a small quantity of shale between the beds.

In the immediate neighbourhood of Hagersville there are one small and three large quarries, only one of which was in operation in September.

The Hagersville Contracting Co., Ltd. (idle), the Hagersville Crushed Stone Co. (idle), and the Michigan Central Railway Co., all have large, well equipped quarries and crusher plants. The Hagersville Stone Co., Ltd., owns a quarry site, and has opened a small quarry, but has deferred further development. The stone in all these quarries is alike, being a close-grained, hard limestone, some beds of which are very cherty.

There is an abandoned quarry on lot 6, concession XIV, Walpole township, belonging to A. S. Wieger. The stone is different from any observed in the other quarries of the district, being a very light yellow dolomite, fine in texture, and lying in thin beds. There is evidence of slight faulting and bending.

Two miles to the west of this is another small quarry on lot 1, concession XIV, owned by W. A. Teitz. At one time lime was burned here, but in recent years only building stone for local use has been quarried. The stone, which is made up largely of coral fragments, is a light bluish-grey, high calcium limestone. The heaviest bed exposed is about 10 inches thick.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

Samples 97 and 98 are from Webber's quarry in Byng. Sample 97 is an average of the upper 10 feet, and 98 an average of the lower 12 feet.

Sample 99 is representative of the dolomite in the quarry of the Oneida Lime Company, on lot 49, concession II N. Cayuga township.

Sample 100 is an average of the strata exposed in Helka's quarry, lot 2, concession II, Rainham township.

Sample 101 is representative of the stone in the old quarry owned by A. S. Wieger, lot 6, concession XIV, Walpole township.

Sample 102 is an average of the strata exposed in Teitz's quarry, lot 1, concession XIV, Walpole township.

NORFOLK COUNTY.

Along the shores of Long Point bay of Lake Erie, limestone outcrops at frequent intervals, but good quarry sites are rare. A small quarry has been worked on lot 24, concession I, Woodhouse township, by Geo. Howey. Fourteen feet of strata is exposed in the quarry, which has been opened along a small brook issuing from a cave in the limestone. The upper 8 feet is fine-grained, bluish to brownish-grey. The lower 6 feet, while similar to the above, contains much flint. Sample 103 is an average of the upper 8 feet.

103.....	4.30	0.22	0.18	89.23	4.54	49.99	2.17

Small quarries have been worked at several points along the road between concessions VIII and IX of Townsend township. The stone is similar to what is seen at Tietz's quarry, lot 1, concession XIV, Walpole township, Haldimand county.

WATERLOO COUNTY.

The only rock outcrops observed in Waterloo county were at Galt and Hespeler. At Galt there are old abandoned quarries along the Grand river above the town, as well as one owned by Jas. Webster, which is operated from time to time. A quarry and two lime kilns, belonging to Christie-Henderson and Co., Ltd., are situated on the southern outskirts of Galt, to the east of the river. The stone at all these quarries is very light buff to bluish-grey dolomite, mostly heavily bedded. It is similar to the stone at the Elora quarries and belongs to the same formation. Sample 104, taken in the Christie-Henderson quarry, shows it to be a very pure dolomite.

An old, abandoned quarry belonging to Christie-Henderson and Co., Ltd., is situated to the west of Hespeler, on the flats of the river valley. The stone, which is a light yellow, Guelph dolomite, similar to that at the same company's quarry to the north of Hespeler, in Wellington county, has been quarried, to a depth of 6 feet, over about two acres.

OXFORD COUNTY.

Along the Thames river, between Woodstock and Ingersoll, there are several quarries in a very pure, high calcium limestone. The Beachville White Lime Co., Ltd., operates a large and well equipped quarry about 2 miles southwest of Beachville. About two acres have been quarried to a depth of 27 feet, and another lift of 10 feet is now being taken. The stone is a light bluish to brown, fine-grained, compact to rather porous, granular limestone. The beds are up to 2 feet in thickness; but are not used for building stone. The stone is used for lime burning, flux for iron and steel making, cynamid and sugar manufacturing. The company operates two large wood-fired draw kilns.

The Standard White Lime Co., Ltd., operates quarries about 1 mile east of the above quarry. The quarries have been worked to a maximum depth of 30 feet, and cover about seven acres. The stone is, apparently, identical with that of the former company. Sample 105 is an average of the 30-foot face of the western pit.

The quarries are fully equipped to handle a large output. Five coal fired draw kilns are operated by this company.

On lot 8, concession XVII, East Zorra, there are an old quarry and two draw kilns, belonging to the Callan Estate. The stone is a light yellow dolomite, of fine to medium grain. No satisfactory sample could be taken, as there was much water in the quarry, and the sides were filled in. It has been idle for two years.

PERTH COUNTY.

Quarrying in this county is limited to the immediate neighbourhood of St. Marys. The Standard White Lime Co., Ltd., operates a quarry and two draw kilns near the Grand Trunk Railway on the north side of St. Marys. A 20-foot face has been developed in a fine-grained limestone. The rock is a light buff, banded with brown, probably due to bituminous matter. Most of the beds are thin, though some are heavy. There is about 10 feet of overburden at the west end of the quarry.

The Thames Quarry Co., Ltd., operated until recently a large quarry on Water street, beside the Thames river. The crusher plant was destroyed by fire. As a result the quarry was shut down and soon filled with water, so that I was unable to examine the stone.

To the south of St. Marys, just outside the town, is situated the plant and quarry of the St. Marys Cement Co. Thirty-five feet of strata is exposed. The stone is a hard, fine-grained, very compact, brownish limestone, in heavy beds with some shale partings.

The quarry of the Horseshoe Quarry Co., is situated on the adjoining lot to the east. The same beds are being worked. This quarry covers about three acres. It is well equipped with quarry machinery and crusher plant. There is also one draw kiln, but it is not being operated at present.

ESSEX COUNTY.

The only quarry visited in this county was that of the Solvay Process Co., a mile northeast of Amherstburg. About 50 feet of strata is exposed in this quarry. In the upper or old portion of the quarry, the rock has been worked to a depth of about 30 feet. The stone is a very light buff, fine-grained dolomite, in heavy beds. It was worked extensively for building stone. The new quarry has been sunk to a depth of about 20 feet in the floor of the old workings. The lower beds are extremely fine-grained, very light bluish-grey, high calcium limestone. Sample 108 is an average of the stone in the lower workings.

HURON COUNTY.

There are few exposures of limestone in Huron county, and those, so far as were observed, offered very poor sites for extensive quarrying.

The exposures are along the shore of Lake Huron and on the steep banks of some of the rivers. In practically all cases, quarrying operations would very soon be hampered by a heavy overburden. No quarries were being operated, but several old workings were visited. At the base of the steep banks of the Maitland river, near Goderich, there are exposures of a few feet of strata made up of rather impure dolomites and magnesium limestones.

Along the Harriston river, in Howick township, there are exposures of thinly bedded, hard, fine-grained, banded dolomite, in which several small quarries have been worked to supply foundation stone and lime for local use.

Sample 109 is an average of the 12-foot face of an abandoned quarry on lot 13, concession VIII, Howick township.

BRUCE COUNTY.

There are numerous exposures of high grade limestone and dolomite in Bruce, especially in the northern and eastern parts of the county. In Kinloss township, where rock exposures are rare, many farmers have small pot kilns, in which they produce lime from boulders gathered from the fields and stream beds. These boulders are usually of high calcium limestone.

At Inverhuron, 9 miles north of Kincardine, John S. Smith operates a pot kiln, producing a good grade of lime from loose stone gathered on the shore of lake Huron. Near his kiln is an old quarry in heavily bedded, light buff dolomite.

To the southeast of Kincardine, on lots 6 and 7, concession III S., Kincardine township, A. W. Holland burns lime from stone obtained from a small quarry in the valley of the Penetangore river. The rock is a brown, medium-grained, highly magnesian limestone, and occurs mostly in thin beds; though some are up to 2 feet in thickness, and have furnished stone for bridge work and building purposes.

At the end of September, the Toronto Plaster Co., Ltd., put into operation their new lime plant at Teeswater. The plant consists of a battery of three draw kilns, and Clyde hydrating equipment. A quarry had recently been opened near the lime kilns, in a light buff, rather soft, porous dolomite. It had only been sunk to a depth of 6 feet in the rock at that time.

The Contractor's Supply Co., Ltd., owns a quarry, near that of the Toronto Plaster Company, from which stone was obtained to supply their lime and hydrator plant at Melville Junction. The stone in both quarries appears to be the same.

The Teeswater Lime Works is situated on the opposite side of the town beside the river. The quarry has a face about 135 feet long and 30 feet high. The stone is similar to that described above with the exception of two thin beds of banded stone which are not used for lime, as they burn to a dark colour. The company operates one small draw kiln. About 5 miles east of Teeswater, there are an old quarry and lime kiln on lot 8, concession A, Carrick township. The stone is a light blue, brecciated limestone.

Similar stone is exposed at a number of places along the road separating the townships of Culross and Carrick, and numerous small quarries have been worked in the past.

Outcrops of limestone were examined at several points along the Saugeen river. Wherever exposed the stone proved to be a very fine-grained, light buff dolomite. This stone has repeatedly been referred to as of lithographic grade. It can hardly be classed as such, since it is not of sufficient fineness nor uniform enough in texture to satisfy the requirements of modern lithography.

A small quarry and lime kiln, owned by Wm. Reed, is situated on lot 2, concession VII, Brant township, in the valley of a small stream that flows into the Saugeen river at the Ox Bow. The stone is very fine-grained, light buff dolomite, occurring in beds of varying thickness up to almost 4 feet. Both the stone and the lime find a limited local market.

John S. Cook produces building stone, flags and monument bases from quarries on lot 7, concession XXIV, Amabel township. The stone, which is a rather dark brown, granular dolomite, occurs in beds from a few inches to 2 feet thick. The jointing is regular, and widely spaced, permitting blocks of large area to be lifted. The quarries cover several acres, and have been worked to a depth of 6 feet. Since the beginning of the war the quarries have not been worked steadily.

Two pot kilns owned by Sam Vogan are situated on Gould street, Wiarton. They are used from time to time to produce lime from fieldstone gathered on nearby farms. The stone is a very light yellow, hard, compact dolomite. Exposures of similar stone are seen on the roadside on Gould street and in the face of the escarpment which skirts the west shore of Colpoy bay.

Sample 110 is representative of the dolomite in an old quarry at Inverhuron, owned by John S. Smith.

Sample 111 is an average in Holland's quarry on lots 6 and 7, concession III S. Kincardine township.

Sample 112 is an average of the stone exposed in the quarry of the Toronto Plaster Company, Limited, at Teeswater. As the stone in this newly opened quarry shows evidence of surface decomposition, it is probable that the more solid rock, when reached, will show a somewhat different composition.

Sample 113 is an average of the brecciated limestone on lot 8, concession A. Carrick township.

Sample 114 is representative of the stone used for lime burning by Wm. Reed, lot 2, concession VII, Brant township.

Sample 115 was taken from an exposure on Gould street, Wiarton.

GREY COUNTY.

The town of Owen Sound is encircled on three sides by cliffs of dolomite which extend along the shores of the deep inlet of Owen Sound. Excellent quarry sites exist both along the face of the escarpment and on the level highland above. At present quarrying is limited to four properties.

Chalmers and Campbell are operating the quarry owned by the Chalmers Estate. This quarry is situated at the crest of the escarpment to the southwest of the town. The stone is a hard, close-grained dolomite, varying in colour from light bluish to yellowish-grey. The workings are about 150 feet square, and have a face 15 feet high. The stone is used entirely for lime burning in two large draw kilns.

One-third of a mile north of Chalmers', is the quarry and lime plant of the Oliver Brown Estate. There is one draw kiln, but this was idle in 1917. The quarry and a small crusher plant were being operated by the Corporation of Owen Sound for the production of crushed stone for road work. The stone is similar to that exposed in the Chalmers quarry.

Geo. A. Perkins produces cut stone from a quarry on the top of the cuesta immediately above the Brown quarry. His quarry is only operated as stone is required, from time to time. The beds are heavy, and produce blocks of good size, and pleasing colour.

On the highland to the east of Owen Sound there is a group of quarries from which rough building stone and crushed rock are produced. In October, only one quarry was found in operation, that of the Oliver Rogers Stone Co., Ltd. This quarry is about 700 feet by 200 feet, with a 12-foot face. The stone is a dark grey, fine-grained, hard, and very tough dolomite. The quarry is equipped with steam drills, steam shovel, derricks, hoists, and a crusher plant.

Other quarries in the immediate neighbourhood are owned by the H. B. Harrison Estate, Chas. Hazelton and Davis-Smith-Malone.

To the south of Owen Sound and along the Toronto and Sydenham road, as far as Markdale, there are numerous exposures of dolomite similar to that on the west hill at Owen Sound. At a number of points quarrying has been done and lime burned, but only on a very limited scale.

On lot 25, concession IX, Artemesia township, J. H. Duckett operates two small pot kilns, producing a good grade of white lime for local trade from fieldstone. On the same lot there is an exposure of dolomite similar to the dolomite at Eugenia falls, described below. Throughout the southern part of the county there are many of these small kilns operating on fieldstone.

At Eugenia the Beaver river falls over a high escarpment into a deep gorge. The upper beds exposed in this escarpment consist of a very hard, light buff dolomite, very much like that in the quarries to the west of Owen Sound.

DUFFERIN COUNTY.

About $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles east of Shelburne there is a quarry, owned by W. C. Hall, on lot 32, concession I, Amaranth township. The stone, which is used for building purposes only, is a light buff, fine, granular textured dolomite, occurring in beds up to 3 feet thick. It is of good cutting quality, though some beds are flawed by cavities.

To the south of Shelburne, no outcrops of limestone were observed until Orangeville was reached. To the east of that town, on lot 1, concession I E., Mono township, there are a small quarry and two pot kilns which are used at odd times. The stone exposed in this small quarry is a light yellowish, hard, compact dolomite, similar to that in the quarry of the Contractor's Supply Co., near Melville Junction.

SIMCOE COUNTY.

On lot 47, concession XI, Nottawasaga township, there is an old quarry known as the Cramp Steel Co. quarry. About 5 feet of very fine-grained, dark grey limestone is exposed in the old workings. This stone has been mentioned in several reports as being a lithographic stone. It is hardly fine enough, and is certainly not regular enough in texture for lithographic purposes.

W. D. Chestnut operates a large pot kiln on lot 25, concession XI, Nottawasaga township. Stone is obtained from a number of openings along the face of a steep escarpment. It is a very pure, light buff dolomite, similar to that on the west hill at Owen Sound.

A large quarry, once operated by the Canada Iron Corporation, but which is now idle, is situated on lots 19 and 20, concession V, Tay township, near the shore of Gloucester bay. It has been worked to a depth of about 15 feet over an area of five acres. The upper beds are light brownish-grey, fine-grained magnesian limestone, and the lower are dark brown and of very fine texture.

The Peters Coal Co. operates a quarry and crusher plant on lot 20, concession XIII, Medonte township. The upper 25 feet of stone in the quarry is very fine-grained, cream to dark brown, and is hard and brittle. The lower 6 feet of strata is medium fine-grained, granular magnesian limestone. Both are in heavy beds.

Sedden and Murphy, at one time operated a quarry on lot 21, concession XIV, Medonte township, in stone similar to that in the base of the Peters' quarry. Judging from blocks lying in the quarry, this stone does not possess good weathering qualities.

On lot 15, concession II, North Orillia township, there is a small quarry owned by Geo. A. Abbott. The upper beds are dark buff dolomite, and the lower beds light grey, impure magnesian limestone. On the west end of the same lot, there is an exposure of a very fine-grained, high calcium limestone.

The Ontario Stone Corporation, Ltd., operates a large quarry on lot 10, concession IV, North Orillia. The stone is a hard, brittle, fine-grained limestone. Much of it is of extreme fineness, but contains too many flaws for lithographic use. The quarry is well equipped and a large crusher plant and storage system have recently been installed.

On lot 12, concession VII, North Orillia, Martin Glabb operated a small pot kiln up to 1916. Stone was obtained from a ridge of limestone which crosses this lot. It is similar to that in the quarry of the Ontario Stone Corporation.

Throughout the county there are a number of small pot kilns, which are used at rare intervals, operating principally on fieldstone.

MANUFACTURE OF WHITING FROM MARL.

Some 25 or 30 years ago the late W. G. Allan of Marlbank, Hastings county, manufactured whiting by pumping marl from a lake, through screens, into settling tanks. After air drying in sheds, it was sometimes further dried by artificial means. The whiting is said to have been of good quality.

A sample of marl was collected from Dry Lake, near Marlbank, along a ditch dredged by the Canada Cement Company. A rough laboratory separation of 300 grams, without previous grinding, was made with a small hydraulic classifier, which gave the following products:—

Fine Whiting.....	105.3 grms.	35.1%	Very light cream.
Coarse Whiting.....	131.7 grms.	43.9%	Very light cream.
Fine Middles.....	5.2 grms.	1.8%	Dark cream.
Coarse Middles.....	18.1 grms.	6.0%	Dark cream.
Tailings.....	27.3 grms.	9.1%	Grey.
Loss.....	12.4 grms.	4.1%

The first two products are of a fineness suitable for commercial use, while the middles would have to be subjected to grinding to prepare them for the market. Owing to impurities, such as sand and vegetable matter, the tailings could not be made use of for whiting, but should readily find a market in place of ground limestone for soil correction.

There are a great many lakes throughout Ontario, in which there are large deposits of marl of suitable fineness for the production of whiting. While the majority of these marls dry to a light cream colour, there are doubtless some from which an almost pure white product could be obtained. Since the beginning of the war, the market price of whiting, as quoted to paint manufacturers, has increased to about three times the pre-war price. As the apparatus necessary for the washing of whiting from marl need not be complicated, the capital required would not be great, and it is altogether likely a profitable industry could promptly be developed.

II

THE CANADIAN GRAPHITE INDUSTRY.

HUGH S. SPENCE.

With the object of collecting data for a new edition of the Mines Branch report on graphite, published in 1907, and which has been out of print for several years, the writer visited the graphite mines and mills in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec. The graphite occurrences in these Provinces constitute the source of supply of all the graphite that has been produced in Canada in recent years. All the properties lie within a radius of 150 miles of Ottawa.

An attempt to exploit graphitic shales near St. John, N.B., was made many years ago, and a production was reported from that locality by the Canada Paint Co., as late as 1896. These shales carry a very finely-divided, amorphous graphite: a grade which is only suitable for pencil making, paints, or foundry work. Similar graphitic shales are known, also, from various other places in New Brunswick, as well as from Nova Scotia.

In British Columbia, disseminated graphite is reported to occur at Alkow harbour, Dean channel, and near Harrison lake. A vein of amorphous graphite near Marysville, Cranbrook district, was examined by the writer in 1916, and was reported on in the Mines Branch Summary Report for that year. None of these graphite occurrences have been exploited to any extent, though a small trial shipment is reported to have been made from the Harrison lake property; and a shallow prospect pit has been put down on the Marysville vein. The latter is only 18 inches wide, and consists of a mixture of silicates and amorphous graphite, the carbon content being about 25 per cent.

The shortage of graphite experienced in the United States during the last three years has been caused by the greatly increased consumption in the crucible manufacturing industry; shipments of Ceylon graphite—which is the grade preferred for this work—being insufficient to supply the trade. The demand for flake graphite has resulted in a great increase in mining activity in the United States, and a brisk demand has been experienced for Canadian flake. In spite of this, however, the adverse conditions which have long hampered the graphite industry in this country still persist, and during 1917 only three companies operated at all steadily, there being nine mines, each equipped with a mill, that have been either completely idle or in only intermittent operation. Various causes have conduced to this state of affairs, among them being: (1) failure to devise a proper concentration process for the particular ore to be treated; (2) erection of mill without sufficient care being taken to establish the existence of an adequate ore-body, which sometimes resulted in ore having to be hauled to the mill from outlying pits; and (3) remote situation of the property, necessitating an expensive road-haul for fuel and supplies. In several instances, large expense was incurred in the erection of a mill out of all proportion to the size of the ore-body—as subsequently developed. The power-consumption alone, in such a mill, using as fuel, wood or coal, which has to be brought a considerable distance, is a factor that has conduced to the lack of success attending operations at certain of the properties. In this connexion, it may be noted that of the two active mills running on disseminated flake graphite ore, one is using oil as fuel, and the other is operated by water-power.

The flake graphite occurs in disseminated form either in crystalline limestone (Haliburton and Hastings counties, Ontario) or in more or less calcareous bands intercalated in gneiss (Buckingham district, Quebec), the latter ore as a rule carrying more graphite (10-15 per cent) than the limestone, which averages 7-10 per cent. Both varieties of ore carry flake mica, pyrite, pyrrhotite, and lime silicates, as the principal accessory minerals; and both have been treated by essentially similar concentration methods. These are, briefly, drying in wood-fired kilns; reducing in gyratory crushers followed by two or more sets of heavy rolls; and subsequent alternate screening and crushing in rolls of the flour-mill type. Each set of rolls eliminates gangue by reducing the brittle calcite and silicates to powder, while the soft graphite tends to flatten out and is caught by the screens. The produce from the final set of rolls is sometimes polished between buhr-stones, or goes to an electrostatic machine, which removes any remaining impurities, particularly mica; the latter is one of the most difficult minerals to get rid of, owing to its softness, and consequent resistance to crushing. In the early days of the graphite industry, a wet process of concentration, employing buddles, was practised. This method is still in use at one mill, as the initial step in concentration, followed by drying; the dried product then proceeding to rolls, screens, and buhr-stones.

One of the most recently constructed mills practises wet concentration by means of tables and hydraulic classifiers, followed by drying in a vacuum filter and kiln, and polishing between rolls. Good results are obtained in some mills, also, by the use of dry tables.

Concentration by means of water flotation, such as is in general practice in the mills of Alabama, U.S.A., is not employed at any mill in Canada.

While certain of the mills achieve a fair recovery of the graphite contained in the ore treated, the majority lose an undue percentage in the tailings. The concentration methods in general use are far from being efficient. In addition to poor recovery, the carbon content of the best, or No. 1 product, is seldom brought over 90 per cent, and is generally lower; a great deal of the flake in the rock is broken up in the milling, and goes into the smaller mesh No. 2 product, and to the No. 3 or dust; while the large amount of dust produced in the mill in grinding the kiln-dried ore is very objectionable. Screen tests on samples of No. 1 flake from seven mills, showed the mean percentages of different size flake composing this grade to be as follows:—

+ 20 mesh.. . . .	1.76 per cent.	+100 mesh.. . . .	1.10 per cent.
+ 40 "	18.56 "	—100 "	2.96 "
+ 60 "	67.00 "
+ 80 "	8.06 "
			<hr/> 99.34 "

Most mills produce three grades of graphite, known as No. 1 flake; No. 2 flake; and dust. The No. 1 flake goes principally to the crucible trade; No. 2 is employed in lubricating products; and No. 3, or dust, is used in foundry work.

The graphite particles employed in crucible manufacture are required to be of a certain size, in order to bind efficiently with the clay. In this connexion it may be noted, that one of the reasons for the preference for Ceylon graphite for use in the manufacture of crucibles is, that this variety does not occur in thin flakes like the American graphite, but is more massively crystalline, and breaks up on crushing into more angular fragments, hence requires less clay as a binder.

III

INVESTIGATION OF CERTAIN SAND AND SANDSTONE DEPOSITS.

L. HEBER COLE.

On the 10th of May, 1917, I proceeded to the Maritime Provinces to make a special investigation of the sandstones of eastern Canada, with a view to determining their suitability for use as pulpstones. The field work in connexion with this investigation was completed by the middle of June, and laboratory tests were made on the samples obtained, and the final report handed in for publication on the 20th of August. The results obtained from this investigation have been published as a separate Bulletin, No. 19, entitled "Test of some Canadian sandstones, to determine their suitability as pulpstones." The remainder of the field season was devoted to an examination of the sand and sandstone deposits of the Province of Ontario, between Ottawa and Toronto, special attention being given to the sands suitable for foundry purposes, and deposits high in silica. Three weeks were also spent examining the Potsdam sandstone area in the Province of Quebec, southwest and west of the Island of Montreal. An examination was also made of the occurrence of Oriskany sandstone in the vicinity of Cayuga, Ont. Numerous samples from the more promising localities were obtained; and these are being analysed and tested in the Mines Branch laboratories.

Until the analyses of the samples taken are completed, and the laboratory tests made, no definite statements can be given with regard to the purity of the silica samples obtained. The following brief descriptions of rocks will, however, give an idea of the sources from which silica may be obtained.

Potsdam Sandstone in southwestern Quebec.—The Potsdam sandstone which is so largely developed near the New York border, between Huntingdon and Hemmingford, as well as along the St. Lawrence and Ottawa rivers, is in many places fairly free from iron oxide. The grains of the rock are small, and, in most cases, the material crushes readily. The best exposures with reference to transportation are to be found in the vicinity of Beauharnois, Melocheville, Cascades Point, and in the area lying between the St. Lawrence river and Lake of Two Mountains. North of the Ottawa river, a number of outcrops are conveniently situated with reference to the several different railways, notably those at St. Canute and St. Scholastique. Material from these deposits has been employed in Montreal and elsewhere for the manufacture of bottle-glass; for steel foundry work; and for furnace linings. A number of samples were obtained from this area.

Brockville Area.—In the vicinity of Brockville a number of deposits of Potsdam sandstone, as well as quartzites, occur, which on examination in the field seemed promising as possible sources of silica. Samples of these were procured, and are being tested. The sandstone from this locality is compact and fine-grained.

Westport Area.—In the vicinity of Westport and Newboro in the townships of Crosby, North and South, there is an extensive exposure of fine-grained sandstone. In many places this sandstone is badly stained with iron oxide, but a number of outcrops were noted and sampled, in which certain beds were comparatively free from impurities. The material crushes readily to the natural grain of the sand, which is between the 16 and the 100 mesh.

Perth-Smiths Falls Area.—In the vicinity of Perth, and between Perth and Smiths Falls, another sandstone area was visited. The iron-stained beds noted in the Westport area are also to be found in this area and the white beds are not so numerous or so thick.

Nepean Area.—About 9 or 10 miles to the west of Ottawa, a number of quarries have been operated for a considerable time producing building stone and paving-bricks. The waste material from these quarries will average about 95 per cent silica; and in certain beds a white rock can be obtained which crushes readily into sizes suitable for the manufacture of glass.

Kingston Area.—In the vicinity lying between Kingston and Gananoque on the St. Lawrence river and running northwest to Sydenham, there are numerous outcrops of Potsdam sandstone, which were examined; and in a number of cases were found to be fairly white, and uniformly free from iron stains. In several of the outcrops sampled, the white beds were of considerable thickness, and could be readily quarried without having an excessive amount of waste material.

The Oriskany Sandstone Area.—In the vicinity of Cayuga there is a narrow belt of Oriskany sandstone running northwest, which at one place (Nelles Corners), is already being quarried and manufactured into a glass, and steel foundry sand. The material carries a small quantity of brown colouring material (presumably organic matter) which burns out in the furnace. A number of samples were taken from different localities in this belt.

A short time was spent in Toronto, also in the Niagara peninsula, visiting the consumers of silica with a view to determining their requirements of this material.

The moulding sand area at Brockville—a description of which was given in the Mines Branch Summary Report for the year 1916—was again examined, with a view to ascertaining whether this deposit continued westward.

Occurrences of moulding sand were noted in the vicinity of Trenton, Port Hope, and St. Catharines, detailed work on which will be done during the field season of 1918.

A short trip was made in the fall to the property of the Canadian China Clay Co. at St. Remi d'Amherst. At this property the wall rock of the main kaolin deposit consists of a highly shattered quartzite, carrying from 10 to 12 per cent kaolin in the fractures. This material is being treated in the company's mill, and a silica sand being produced which runs over 99 per cent silica.

It is proposed to obtain sufficient data during the field season of 1918 to complete reports on silica in Canada, and foundry moulding sands in Canada.

FUELS AND FUEL TESTING DIVISION.

I

WORK AT THE FUEL TESTING STATION.

B. F. HAANEL, Chief of Division.

During the year 1917, the Division of Fuels and Fuel Testing was engaged in completing the large scale tests on samples of coal received from the Province of Alberta; the examination and analysis of samples of mine air received from the principal producing coal mines of the Dominion; the chemical analysis and physical examination of oils for the different departments of the Canadian Government; and the general analysis and determinations of the heating value of the samples of coal received from outside sources, and of those required in connexion with work of this division. In connexion with the large scale tests of commercial coal samples, a very large number of analyses of samples of gas are required. This work occupies the entire time of three chemists, during the period the tests are in progress.

The machine shop, which is under the control of this division, completed and had under way a very large amount of work. In addition to the construction and erection of apparatus for the Ore Dressing and Metallurgical Division—which comprised by far the larger part of the output of the shop—the construction of new apparatus, repairs to existing machines and apparatus, and the erection of apparatus in the various laboratories of the Mines Branch, devolved upon the staff of the machine shop.

The dependence of this country upon foreign sources for its supply of oils for manufacturing and various other purposes led to the creation of a laboratory for the special investigation of their value for use in internal combustion motors; and also of the oils obtained by the distillation of coals, lignites, and oil shales, in the retorts specially designed and constructed for this purpose in connexion with the investigation now being conducted with regard to the carbonization and briquetting of Western lignites. The laboratory set aside for this special purpose will be equipped with a semi-Diesel oil engine, and the various apparatus for carrying out complete tests.

During the latter part of the year, Mr. John Blizard, assisted by Mr. E. S. Malloch, prepared a report entitled "The Results of Forty-one Steaming Tests carried out at the Fuel Testing Station, Ottawa." This report embodies the results of the investigations so far conducted with the large scale commercial samples of coal received from the Province of Alberta.

The chemical laboratory staff has, in addition to the regular routine work, been engaged in the investigation covering the carbonization and briquetting of lignites. The progress of this work is set forth in the accompanying report of Mr. Stansfield, Chief Engineering Chemist. This report will also show that the laboratory work has been steadily and rapidly increasing, and that new laboratory space will have to be provided in the very near future, in order that the work may be prosecuted efficiently, and without loss of time.

The summary reports of Mr. E. Stansfield, Mr. A. Anrep, and Mr. A. W. Mantle show in detail the work carried on under their immediate direction.

II

CHEMICAL LABORATORIES OF THE FUEL TESTING STATION.

EDGAR STANSFIELD, Chief Engineering Chemist.

The laboratories of the Fuel Testing Station were again utilized not only for the chemical work of the Division of Fuels and Fuel Testing, but also for the chemical work of the Division of Ore Dressing and Metallurgy under the immediate supervision of Mr. H. C. Mabey of that Division. In March Mr. Mabey and his assistants moved into new quarters especially constructed for them, thus considerably relieving the congestion in the laboratories. Moreover, a large office room adjacent to the laboratories, previously occupied by the staff of the Ore Dressing Division, has been converted into a laboratory and equipped for the testing of oils, thus further relieving the congestion. Part of a fuel storage shed is also in progress of conversion into a laboratory and a gas and oil engine room, where, amongst other items, a rotary retort and large gas holders required for the research on lignite are being housed.

The extra laboratory accommodation thus obtained has given a much needed relief; nevertheless, it is extremely desirable that an entirely new laboratory building should be constructed as soon as possible, to replace the scattered and temporary quarters at present available. Meanwhile, many important lines of work have had to be postponed for lack of suitable facilities.

The equipment has been increased by the purchase of the following special apparatus: 2 Becker balances; MacMichael viscosimeter; electric water still; vacuum pump; drying oven; water bath; 2 gas hot plates; 6 electric hot plates; Burrell gas analysis apparatus; 2 gas pressure governors; gas meter; 2 gas holders of 50 cub. ft. capacity; and rheostat. In addition, the following equipment has been designed, and made on the premises: four-chamber mercury trough; oil flash point cups; grease consistency apparatus; electrically heated oil-shale retort; retorts for carbonizing bituminous coal; also a number of retorts, condensers, gas, and electrically heated lead baths, etc., required in connexion with an investigation on lignite. Fifteen volumes have been added to the library, also a large number of reports, bulletins, and journals.

The total number of samples submitted for analysis during the year, exclusive of routine gas samples and the many samples incidental to the lignite investigation of which no count is kept, is 9 per cent greater than in 1916. The increase was mainly due to an increase in the work done for other government departments: notably in the testing of fuel oils and of lubricating oils and greases. Good progress has also been made with special work, other than the testing of samples.

The samples received include: 368 mine air; 145 oils and greases; 71 coal; 65 peat; 17 oil shale; and 10 miscellaneous samples. Three hundred and sixty-eight of the above samples were received in connexion with the testing of mine air; 99 from the Department of Militia and Defence; 66 from field parties of the Mines Branch; 28 from the Department of Public Works; 19 in connexion with the laboratory work of the Fuel Testing Division; 12 from the Board of Railway Commissioners; 11 from the Department of Naval Service; 10 "official" coal mine samples furnished by the Chief Inspector of Mines for the Province of Alberta; 8 from the Geological Survey; 8 from the Commission of Conservation; 5 from the Department of the Interior; 5 from the Department of Marine and Fisheries; 3 from the War Purchasing Commission; 1 from the Department of Customs; and 33 from other parties.

Of the mine air samples, 251 came from British Columbia; 101 from Alberta; and 16 from Nova Scotia; 77 mines belonging to 46 operators being represented.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

Special work carried out during the year was mainly concerned with the lignite investigation referred to below. In addition, a number of tests were made on the carbonization of Sydney coal; a retort for the distillation of oil shales was designed, constructed, and tested; and some comparative tests were made on oil viscosimeters. Progress was made also with a compilation of Canadian fuel analyses, which should be ready for publication early in 1918.

In 1915, some preliminary tests were made on the carbonization and briquetting of Canadian lignites; but, owing to the pressure of routine work, this had to be dropped. This investigation was recommenced on a more systematic basis early in 1917; and Mr. Gilmore has been continuously engaged on it since his appointment. Other members of the staff have also assisted from time to time as their regular duties permitted. A comprehensive scheme has been outlined for the investigation, and considerable progress has been made with some sections of the work.

In the carbonization tests which are the starting point in the investigation, the results determined when a sample of lignite is heated include the yield and calorific value of the carbonized residue, the yield, composition, and calorific value of the gas generated; the yield, calorific value, and economic value of the tar oils produced; and the ammonium sulphate yield available. The conditions under which the lignite is carbonized are varied in order to show the influence on the results of: the final temperature to which the charge is heated, the rate of heating, the pressure in the retort, and the atmosphere in the report.

In the first series of experiments small samples were tested in order that very exact control of temperature, etc., might be assured. The conditions were varied as above; but only the yield and calorific value of the carbonized residue were determined. Many tests were made, and tables and curves deduced from the results; and these—together with a discussion on the necessity for treatment of low grade lignite and on the commercial significance of the results obtained—were published in a paper by Messrs. E. Stansfield and R. E. Gilmore, read before the Royal Society of Canada, May 1917 (Trans. Roy. Soc. Canada, series III 1917, vol. XI p. 85), and reprinted in the Canadian Chemical Journal, January and May, 1918.

In the second series of tests, samples of about 5 lb. weight were tested, in order that a sufficient production of gas, tar, etc., might be obtained for all the determinations referred to above. These tests were delayed by the necessity for developing suitable apparatus for heating the lignite with good temperature control, and for completely removing the tar from the gases in such a way that it could easily be collected, weighed, and examined. A satisfactory apparatus was ultimately constructed, and the work was proceeding smoothly at the end of the year. A second interim report will be published early in 1918.

The tests so far made have been on lignite from the Shand mine, Saskatchewan; comparative tests on other lignites will be made later.

In September, the writer attended the third National Exposition of Chemical Industries in New York.

INVESTIGATION OF PEAT BOGS.

A. ANREP.

In accordance with instructions, a survey of peat bogs was carried on during the season of 1917; in order to determine the extent, depth, and different qualities of the peat contained in the various bogs.

This investigation started in the middle of June, when the writer left Ottawa with Mr. A. R. Whittier and Mr. P. Bissonnette as temporary assistants, to perform the field work, which was carried on during part of June, July, August, September, and part of October.

The following statement summarizes briefly the results of the season's investigation:—

(1) Girard peat bog, situated about $1\frac{3}{4}$ miles northwest of Girard station, and approximately 8 miles south of St. Johns, in the counties of St. Johns and Napierville, Province of Quebec.

The total area covered by this bog is, approximately, 3,104 acres, with an average depth varying from 3 to 12 feet.

The larger portion of the southern part of the bog is very well suited for the manufacture of peat fuel. It is fairly well humified, with cohesive properties, and has a considerable depth.

While the investigations were being conducted at Girard, I made a preliminary investigation of Pont Rouge peat bog, to ascertain the quality and average depth of the bog, in order to give an opinion regarding the suitability of the bog for the erection of a peat fuel plant. Later on in the season, a proper survey was made of the bog by Messrs. R. S. & W. S. Lea, Consulting Engineers, of Montreal. At that time I also had an interview with Mr. Chas. Staff, Secretary of the Larrowe Milling Company, Detroit, Mich., U.S.A., for the purpose of giving them advice in regard to the erection of a peat litter plant near St. Stephen, New Brunswick.

At the end of July the entire party moved to New Brunswick, where the following bogs were investigated:—

(2) St. Stephen peat bog is situated about 4 miles north of St. Stephen, in the parish of St. Stephen, county of Charlotte, New Brunswick.

The total area covered by the bog is 153 acres: which contains two kinds of peat, namely, peat litter and peat fuel.

The peat litter bog consists, approximately, of 71 acres, with an average depth varying from 12 to 30 feet.

The remaining 82 acres represent peat fuel, with an average depth varying from 3 to 12 feet.

The larger part of the bog, with the exception of the northern and southern bays, and a strip of 200 to 400 feet wide around the margin of the bog, is fairly free from humus, and will produce a high grade peat litter.

(3) Hayman peat bog is situated about 6 miles north of St. Stephen town, in the parish of St. Stephen, county of Charlotte, New Brunswick.

The total area of this bog is, approximately, 58 acres, with an average depth varying from 3 to 17 feet.

The area of this bog is too small for a large peat fuel manufacturing plant; but the considerable depth of the bog increases the quantity of the fuel contents, and, by laying out the working field systematically and with great care, this bog can be utilized for the manufacture of machine peat on a small scale.

- SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

(4) Seely Cove peat bog, situated 4 miles southwest of the road from Pennfield station, in the parish of Pennfield, county of Charlotte.

The total area covered by this bog is, approximately, 123 acres: which contains two kinds of peat, namely, peat litter and peat fuel.

The peat litter area occupies the centre of the whole bog, and consists approximately of 49 acres, with an average depth varying from 12 to 20 feet.

This portion of the bog is very little humified. It has a considerable depth, which will produce a good peat litter suitable for bedding, packing, etc. The remaining 74 acres of the bog consist of peat fuel, with an average depth varying from 3 to 7 feet. As the area is very small, but the peat therein very well humified, it would produce fairly good hand-made peat fuel for domestic purposes.

(5) Pennfield peat bog, situated about 4 miles south of St. George, about $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles north of Pennfield station, and about $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Pennfield post office, Charlotte county.

The total area covered by this bog is, approximately 680 acres, with an average depth varying from 3 to 8 feet. This peat is practically formed of sphagnum mosses, is practically free from humus, and would produce high grade peat litter; but the bog is not suitable for the manufacture of peat litter on a large scale, as the area is not sufficient. Farmers, however, could cut it by hand and utilize it for stabling purposes, etc.

(6) Hunter peat bog, situated about 3 miles northeast of Pennfield station, Charlotte county.

The total area is, approximately, 95 acres, with an average depth varying from 3 to 10 feet.

The peat in this bog is fairly well humified, uniform in quality, possesses fairly high cohesive properties, and is of a sufficient depth to justify the erection of a small modern peat fuel plant.

(7) Pocologan peat bog, situated about 5 miles northeast of St. George, and about 4 miles south of Pennfield station, and at certain points the Canadian Pacific railway traverses the eastern part of the bog.

The total area covered by this bog is, approximately 352 acres: which contains two kinds of peat, namely, peat litter and peat fuel.

The peat litter area covers several centrally located sections of the bog, and consists approximately of 107 acres, with an average depth varying from 12 to 16 feet.

The peat litter formation is situated on the top of the fuel of this bog, and forms 5 separate hillocks: one of which is located in the northern portion of the bog; the largest is in the west part of the bog; two are situated in the centre of the bog; and one in the southern portion.

This peat is principally formed by sphagnum mosses, is practically free from humus, and would produce a good peat litter.

The remainder of the area, 245 acres, is of the nature of a peat fuel, with an average depth varying from 5 to 7 feet. The peat in this part of the bog is fairly well humified.

As this well humified area is very much cut up by the occurrences of peat litter, it is not suitable for the erection of a modern and commercial peat fuel plant.

(8) The Musquash peat bog, consisting of one large and three small bogs, are situated about 2 miles east of Prince of Wales station, and about 12 miles west of St. John city, New Brunswick.

The larger part of bog No. 1 is situated in the parish of Lancaster; the remainder in the parish of Musquash, county of St. John.

The larger part of bog No. 2 is located in the parish of Musquash; the remainder in the parish of Lancaster, county of St. John.

Bogs Nos. 3 and 4 are in the parish of Lancaster, county of St. John.

The total area covered by bog No. 1 is, approximately, 300 acres. The total area covered by bog No. 2 is, approximately, 8 acres. The total area covered by bog No. 3 is, approximately, 29 acres. The total area covered by bog No. 4 is, approximately, 25 acres.

As the three small bogs are scattered, and each bog is of a very small area, they are not suitable for the manufacture of peat litter on a commercial scale.

Bog No. 1 has an average depth varying from 3 to 14 feet. The peat is practically free from humus, and would produce suitable peat litter.

From October 20 to November 2, preliminary investigations were made of the peat bog near Cochrane, Ontario. The Cochrane bog is situated about 1 mile south of Cochrane station, in Lamarche township, probably continuing into St. John and Hanna townships, county of Timiskaming, Ontario, and runs in a north and south direction.

The total area of the bog of which a preliminary investigation was made is, approximately, 1,400 acres, with an average depth varying from 4 to 21 feet.

At the same time drill holes were made in the bogs south of Cochrane, at the following mileage: 239, 240, 243.

The formation of these bogs is very similar to that of the bog near Cochrane, but the disadvantages of these peat areas lie in the fact that the surface is very heavily wooded, the clearing of which would involve a great expenditure at present.

The total area investigated in the Provinces of Quebec, New Brunswick, and Ontario during the season of 1917 comprises, approximately, 7,115 acres.

I

REPORT OF PROGRESS.

G. C. MACKENZIE, Chief of the Division.

The writer, while supervising the work of this Division, devoted the greater part of his time to the work of the Canadian Munition Resources Commission, of which he is the Secretary.

The Assistant Engineer, Mr. W. B. Timm, supervised the plant operations and test work at the Ore Testing Laboratories, and was assisted by Mr. C. S. Parsons, who also conducted a series of tests on the adaptability of Canadian Wood Oils for Ore Flotation. The results on this work is contained in pamphlet form edited by the Canadian Mining Institute under the title of "Canadian Wood Oils for Ore Flotation," by R. E. Gilmore and C. S. Parsons.

During the year the concentration of molybdenite ores on a commercial scale was continued. Ores were received from the various localities in the Dominion where molybdenite prospects were being opened up, 1,657 tons of ore were treated having a content of 40.5 tons of molybdenite.

During the year the process of milling and concentrating molybdenite ore was modified, and instead of dry milling and concentration by film flotation, wet milling and concentration by Oil Flotation in Callow Pneumatic Cells was adopted. This latter method is the one in most general use in the concentration of molybdenite ores at the present time.

During the first portion of the year the Mines Branch, through an arrangement with the Imperial Munitions Board, acted as millers and assayers for the Board, and continued to do the sampling and assaying on ferro-molybdenum throughout the year.

A shipment of quartz and barytes was milled for the Imperial Munitions Board, besides the many samples of ores and minerals which were prepared for analysis in the chemical laboratories of this division.

Although the plant was operated on a commercial scale for the treatment of molybdenite ores, a large amount of test work was performed.

A list of the ores received for experimental testing and the results of the test work follows:—

Test No. 56.

Description of sample.—A sample of gold ore weighing 185.5 pounds was received March 23, 1917, at the testing plant of the Ore Dressing and Metallurgical Division, from E. G. Rognon, Dryden, Ont. The ore was the free milling type, containing numerous nuggets and flakes of free gold in a clean quartz gangue.

Analysis of samples.—The whole shipment was reduced by alternate crushing and sampling until a 6-pound sample was obtained through two 35-mesh screens. This 6-pound sample was divided into two equal parts by passing through a Jones riffle-sampler. Each of these two portions was sampled down separately in order to obtain duplicate samples of the whole shipment for assaying. The assays of these two samples checked closely.

Sample No. 1—29.90 oz. of gold per ton.

8 GEORGE V. A. 1918

Method of treatment.—An amalgamation test was made on each of the above two samples. A charge of 1,000 grams of ore was weighed out from each of the above two samples, and placed in a separate pebble mill, with 10 per cent by weight of mercury. Enough water was added to make a pasty pulp that would just hold up the globules of mercury. These charges were then ground with flint pebbles for two hours. The charge was then washed out, and panned in an amalgamated pan, in order to separate the mercury, and the following results were obtained:—

Weight of ore charged to mill.	1,000 grams.
Assay in ounces troy per ton 2,000 pounds.	29.90
Weight of tailings obtained.	999.0 grams.
Assay of tailing.	0.86 oz.
Per cent of gold extracted.	97.15%

Weight of ore charged to mill.	1,000 grams.
Assay in ounces troy per ton 2,000 pounds.	29.86
Weight of tailing obtained after amalgamation.	999.0 grams.
Assay in ounces per ton.	0.84 oz.

Test No. 56-B.

Method of treatment.—The remainder of the shipment was crushed to 20 mesh, and charged into ball mills, and amalgamated as in the above two samples. After amalgamation in the mill, the mercury was panned out, retorted, and the sponge melted to bullion. An assay was made of the tailing and of the recovered bullion for fineness.

Results—Heads—

Weight of ore charged to ball mills.	190 pounds.
Assay in ounces troy per 2,000 pounds ton.	29.87
Content of fine gold.	2.8376

Bullion—

Weight of bullion obtained.	3.18 oz.
Assay of bullion for fineness.877 fine.
Content of fine gold in bullion.	2.78886 oz.
Recovery of gold in bullion.	98.28%

Tailing—

Weight of tailing.	190 pounds.
Assay of tailing.	2.04 oz.
Content of fine gold.	0.1938 oz.

Summary of results.—A summary of the above tests shows that in the two small tests 97.15 per cent and 97.2 per cent of the gold was recovered by amalgamation; and in the test using the larger amount of ore 98.28 per cent of the gold was extracted. The bullion obtained was only 877 parts fine.

Conclusion.—It is evident that the above tests show that gold from this sample can be readily extracted by amalgamation, and that a high recovery can be made.

Test No. 57.

Description of sample.—A shipment of 702 pounds of sandstone was received at the Ore Testing plant of the Ore Dressing and Metallurgical Division from Mr. Geo. H. Megloughlin, of the Nepean Sandstone Quarries, Ltd., Ottawa, Ont., June 11, 1917.

Products desired.—A crushing test on the sandstone was desired in order to obtain data for the erection of a crushing plant for this stone.

Method of procedure.—The procedure was as follows: Sandstone, wt. 702 lb. Jaw crusher set at 1½" opening. Roughing rolls set at ½" opening. Time, 8 min. 16-mesh screen. 16 mesh, wt. 267 lb.; 16 mesh, wt. 435 lb. Rolls set at $1/16$ " opening. Time, 3 minutes. 16-mesh screen. 16 mesh, wt. 53 lb.; 16 mesh, wt. 214 lb.

Conclusion and recommendations.—First—Sandstone crushes very easily. Our 12-inch by 8-inch Blake type jaw crusher has a capacity of about 5 tons per hour on this material, crushing to $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

Second—With our rolls set at $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch opening, the time required to pass the 702 pounds through was 8 minutes. Our feeders to the rolls were not changed, but were left at the feed used for much harder and tougher rock. On the sandstone they would have the same capacity as our crusher, namely, 5 tons per hour.

Third—With the crusher set at $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches and the rolls at $\frac{1}{2}$ an inch, 62 per cent of the sandstone passes a 16-mesh screen, and 38 per cent stays on the screen to be reground.

Fourth—With the rolls set at $1/16$ -inch opening, 30 per cent of the original feed passes the 16-mesh screen, and 8 per cent remained on the screen to be returned to the second set of rolls.

Fifth—Our rolls are somewhat worn by continual use on hard ores, hence the greatest efficiency could not be obtained. With a perfectly flat surface on the rolls, less than 5 per cent of the original feed would be returned to the circuit.

Sixth—It may also be found that a greater output could be obtained by first crushing to 2-inch; rolling to $\frac{5}{8}$ -inch or $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch, and with finishing rolls set almost touching. This would throw more work on the finishing rolls which could easily stand it.

Test No. 58.

Description of sample.—A sample garnet ore weighing 250 pounds, was received June 4, 1917 at the testing plant of the Ore Dressing and Metallurgical Division, from Jas. H. Mason, Toronto, Ont.

The garnet was associated with about 10 per cent of foreign material, consisting chiefly of quartz calcite and hornblende.

Object of test.—A high grade garnet product was desired on which the owner wished to conduct tests as to its abrasive properties.

Method of treatment.—The ore was crushed to 20 mesh, and sized. It was found by examination under the microscope, that the garnet is not entirely freed until it is reduced to 50 mesh. Concentration tests were conducted on the Laboratory Wilfley table, the Overstrom table, and the Ullrich magnetic separator.

Summary and conclusion.—Although a concentration was obtained on the tables, and a fair garnet product was produced, the recovery of the garnet was much lower than by magnetic separation, on account of having to sacrifice considerable garnet in the tailings, due to the slight difference in specific gravity between the garnet and gangue material. On the other hand, magnetic separation was very satisfactory. A higher grade concentrate was produced with a low garnet content in the tailing.

The products were shipped back to Mr. Mason for his tests, as stated above.

Test No. 59.

Description of ore.—A shipment of 25 bags of molybdenite ore was received at the testing plant of the Ore Dressing and Metallurgical Division, from the International Molybdenite Co., Renfrew, Ont.

The ore was obtained from Alice Arm, British Columbia, and consists of fine grains and flakes of molybdenite, in a quartz gangue.

Method of treatment.—A number of small samples were taken from the shipment, and ground to different sizes, by placing in a small ball mill. These samples were treated by the oil flotation process in a set of small laboratory callow cells.

Description of treatment.—A sample weighing 1,000 grams was charged to a small ball mill, and water was added to make a pulp of 1:1. The oil, and other reagents required, were also added to the ball mill. When the ore had been ground to the required size, the mill was opened, and the charge poured onto the flotation cells.

Conclusion.—It is evident from the results tabulated in the above table, that the ore can be easily concentrated by oil flotation, and a clean concentrate obtained with a high extraction.

It has generally been considered that this ore required very fine grinding, in order to free the molybdenite, but tests 3 and 4 show, that it is not necessary to grind the ore any finer than through a 65-mesh Tyler standard screen; at least 50 per cent, however, of this product, ground through the 65-mesh screen, would pass 200 mesh.

The first two tests were run in a neutral pulp with city tap water, and the last two tests in a pulp to which a little lime had been added. In the first two tests, eucalyptus oil was used as the frother, and in the last two, crude turpentine from the Pensacola Tar & Turpentine Co., Ltd., Gull Point, Fla., U.S.A.—their No. 75. The increase in the grade of the concentrate was produced by the addition of lime and not by the change of frothing oils. The minimum amount of lime required was not determined. It must be borne in mind that while the addition of lime when floating the callow cells produces a beneficent effect it may have an entirely different effect in the agitation type of machine. The addition of lime has another advantage, namely, that it causes a better emulsion of the coal oil, preventing any free oil from floating in the surface of the pulp in the cell and killing the froth.

Test No. 60.

Description of sample.—A sample of molybdenite ore weighing 3,474 pounds was received June 23, 1917, at the Testing Plant of the Ore Dressing and Metallurgical Division, from James Stewart, New Glasgow, Nova Scotia.

The molybdenite was associated with siliceous gangue material.

Analysis of sample.—The whole shipment was crushed down, and a sample was taken and assayed for molybdenite and copper. The result was as follows:—

Molybdenum Sulphide (MoS_2)	— 2.49 per cent.
Copper	— 0.02 “

Method of treatment.—Two small samples weighing 1,000 grams each, were taken and ground in a small ball mill, to pass respectively 100-mesh and 40-mesh screens. They were then treated by the oil flotation process in a set of small callow cells.

Description of treatment.—A sample weighing 1,000 grams was placed in a small ball mill, and water was added to form a pulp of 1:1. The oil and other reagents required were added to the ball mill, and the whole charge ground together until the ore was reduced to the required size. The mill was then opened, and the charge washed in to the flotation cells.

Summary and conclusions.—The results of two tests are tabulated in the accompanying table. In test No. 1 the extraction of the molybdenite was 90.1 per cent, and in test No. 2 the extraction was 88.2 per cent; the concentrates from the two tests assay, respectively, 49.3 per cent molybdenum sulphide, and 59.7 per cent molybdenum sulphide. Experience has shown that a much higher grade concentrate is produced from the commercial size machines than can be obtained from the small laboratory testing cells. The oil used was a mixture of 20 per cent crude turpentine and 80 per cent coal oil, and the amount used was in the ratio of 2 pounds of this mixture per ton of ore. The crude turpentine was obtained from Pensacola Tar and Turpentine Co., Gull Point, Fla. This product is quite different from the ordinary commercial turpentine. The addition of a small quantity of lime—about 0.25 per cent or 5 pounds per ton of ore—seemed to be beneficial, in that it caused a better emulsification of the coal oil, preventing any floating on the surface of the pulp in the cell, and killing the froth. It may be found, however, that with continuous operation in actual practice, that the lime may be dispensed with.

SINTERING TESTS ON DAWSON SETTLEMENT BOG MANGANESE ORE.

A shipment of 500 pounds of bog manganese ore was received July 17, 1917, at the testing plant of the Ore Dressing and Metallurgical Division, from F. M. Thompson, Hillsborough, N.B.

The ore was sampled and analysed and found to contain as follows:—

Dried at 110°C. for 1½ hours.. . . .	33.80% metallic manganese.
Ignited at red heat for 1½ hours.. . . .	38.46% " "
Loss of weight on ignition.. . . .	56.04% " "
Crude wet ore (by calculation).. . . .	16.91% " "

A number of tests were made in an endeavour to sinter the crude wet ore by the addition of varying quantities of fuel in the form of either coke, soft coal, or charcoal. A mixture of soft coal and coke was the best. The amount of fuel was increased from 10 per cent by weight of the ore charge, up to as high as 40 per cent, without forming any more than a few isolated pieces of sinter. Different methods of mixing the charge were tried, and apparently the most successful method was by rolling the charge in a small ball mill without the addition of balls. The other methods of mixing tried were: (1) rolling on a canvas sheet, and (2) by placing in the ball mill with steel balls.

A second series of tests were made by first drying the ore and then adding the percentage of water required for each test. A new difficulty was encountered with this method. It was found that even under a vacuum of 12 inches of water no air could be drawn through the charge. The amount of water was gradually increased to as high as 20 per cent, but the charge still remained impervious. The thickness of the bed was also reduced from 4 inches to 2 inches, without improvement. An endeavour was then made to increase the porosity of the charge, by mixing in coke (20 mesh size), and as much as 20 per cent coke was added without having any noticeable effect.

A third series of experiments were made by adding a portion of dry ore to the crude wet ore in the charge. By this method some fairly promising yields of sinter were obtained. A charge made up as follows yielded 14 pounds of sinter:—

Crude ore.	30 pounds.
Dry ore.	5 "	= 14.3%
Coarse coke (10 mesh).	3 "	= 8.6%	} 17.2%
Pulverized coal.	3 "	= 8.6%

This charge was mixed by rolling in a ball mill without the addition of balls. Analysis of this sinter was as follows:—

Manganese.	36.41%
Silica.	13.68%

When the proportion of dry ore was increased to 33 per cent of the total weight of the ore in the charge, the mixture became impervious to the air under a vacuum of 12 inches of water.

Conclusions.—1. That the ore in the crude wet state, containing 50 per cent moisture, cannot be sintered even with the addition of 40 per cent fuel.

2. That when the ore is dried, and the moisture, required for sintering purposes, added up to at least 20 per cent, the charge becomes impervious to the air draft.

3. By mixing a proportion of dry ore with the wet ore, and with the addition of coarse coke, a fair yield of sinter can be obtained, but only with a relatively large consumption of fuel which is objectionable from the point of cost, and lowers the maganese content of the sinter due to addition of silica, etc., contained in the ash from the fuel.

Test No. 63.

Description of sample.—A small sample of ore was received from the New Hazelton Gold-Cobalt Mines, Ltd., New Hazelton, B.C.

The predominating mineral in the ore was molybdenite, but gold and cobalt were also present in appreciable quantities.

Analysis of sample.—This analysis was obtained by calculation from the analysis of the concentration products:—

Molybdenum sulphide (MoS_2).	6.76%
Gold in ounces troy per 2,000 pounds ton.	0.760
Silver.	trace.
Cobalt.	0.64%

Method of treatment.—A sample weighing 1,000 grams was ground wet in a small ball mill to pass a 40-mesh screen. It was then treated by oil flotation in a set of small laboratory size callow cells.

Description of treatment.—A sample weighing 1,000 grams was placed in the small ball mill, as mentioned above, and enough water was added to make a good grinding pulp. The oil and other reagents required were added to the charge in the ball mill, and the whole ground together until the ore was reduced to the required size. The mill was then opened, and the charge washed into the flotation cells.

Summary and conclusions.—The results from the test are tabulated in the accompanying table.

The oil used was a mixture of 20 per cent crude turpentine and 80 per cent kerosene oil, and the amount used was in the ratio of 2 pounds per ton of dry ore. The crude turpentine was obtained from the Pensacola Tar & Turpentine Co., Gull Point, Fla., and is known as their number 75. We have found the above mixture to be the most satisfactory oil for floating molybdenite ore.

8 GEORGE V, A. 1918

The fact that the greater part of the gold is collected in the molybdenite concentrates rather complicates the problem of its recovery. There was not sufficient concentrate left after the necessary assays were made on which to make any tests, but two methods of treatment suggest themselves, namely, either by direct cyaniding or by careful roasting of the molybdenite to the oxide, and subsequent leaching with an ammoniacal solution to dissolve out the molybdenum oxide, and thereby leave the gold in the residue. However considerable experimental work on a larger quantity of ore would be required to arrive at any conclusions regarding the above suggestions.

It is also possible that by using some other collecting oil, such as pine tar or coal tar, that all the gold values could be obtained in the concentrate, which would leave only the one product to be treated for the recovery of the gold-content.

In order to make the above experiments, a thousand-pound sample will be required.

Ratio of concentration, 1:2.

A large-scale test conducted some time ago on a similar ore gave much the same results.

Ratio of concentration, 1:2.

The grade of the concentrates around 55 per cent Fe.

The recovery of Fe values between 70 per cent and 75 per cent.

The tailing analysis around 20 per cent Fe.

Test No. 65.

SINTERING TESTS, BOG MANGANESE ORE FROM CANAAN, N.B.

A shipment of 20 bags of bog manganese was received from F. G. Jonah, Canaan, New Brunswick.

The ore was sampled and gave the following analyses:—

Manganese dried at 110°C.	47.82%
" ignited ore.	53.45%
Iron, iron in ore dried at 110°C.	5.40%
" ignited ore.	6.02%
Silica in ignited ore.	4.59%
Phosphorus in ignited ore.	0.358%

A number of sintering tests were made on the crude which contained over 40 per cent moisture. The chief difficulty encountered was due to the charge grinding under the air draft. An endeavour was therefore made to increase the porosity of the charge by mixing in coarse coke (10-mesh size). This was fairly successful, and a good sinter was obtained; but the yield was small. A charge made up as follows yielded 6 pounds of sinter:—

Crude ore.	25 lb. = 69.4%
Dry ore.	5 " = 13.9%
Coarse coke.	3 " = 8.3%
Pulverized coal.	3 " = 8.3%

An analysis of the sinter was as follows:—

Manganese.	44.19%
Iron.	13.53%
Silica.	12.29%
Phosphorus.	0.532%

Test No. 66.

LEAD-SILVER ORE.

A sample of 30 pounds of ore was received from Mr. Smith-Curtis, Kamloops, B.C.

The sample was supposed to be representative of the ore from the Homestake Mine, situated 3 miles west of Squaw Bay, Adams Lake, B.C., and gave the following analysis:—

Lead.	0.65%
Copper.	0.21%
Iron.	0.71%
Gold.	0.02 oz.
Silver.	13.47 oz.

Flotation tests were conducted to obtain a marketable concentrate, or a concentrate that could be chloridized and leached at the mine.

The tests were conducted on the small laboratory callow testing machine. A portion of the ore was taken and crushed to 100 mesh for these tests:—

Run No. 1.—1,000 grams of the ore were put in a pebble mill, to which were added 1.5 c.c. of oil mixture, 40 per cent No. 26 F.P.L., and 60 per cent base, and 3.5 c.c. of NaOH solution as a deflocculant, and the whole mixed with about 2,000 grams of water for seven minutes before given to the testing machine. A concentrate, middling, and tailing product were made.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

Figuring on 70 per cent of the values in middlings being recovered on being returned to the circuit in actual practice, we have a recovery of practically all the lead, copper, and gold values, and a recovery of 83.28 per cent of the silver values.

Run No. 2.—The same oil mixture and reagents used, only the NaOH solution was added after mixing in pebble mill.

Figuring on 70 per cent of the values in middlings being recovered on being returned to the circuit in actual practice, we have a recovery of practically all the lead, copper, and gold values, and a recovery of 78.33 per cent of the silver values.

Run No. 3.—1,000 grams of the ore put in a pebble mill, to which were added 1.5 c.c. of oil mixture, 40 per cent No. 22 G.N.S., and 60 per cent No. 26 F.P.L., and 4 c.c. of NaOH solution as a defloculant, and the whole mixed with 2,000 grams of water for seven minutes.

Analysis—Gold.....	0.10 oz.	0.06 oz.	Trace
Silver.....	80.57 oz.	11.10 oz.	3.13 oz.

This test was run much longer than the former ones, to see if it were not possible to clean up the tailings, hence the low grade concentrate. Only the gold and silver were determined in the products. Figuring on a 70 per cent recovery of the values in the middlings, almost all the gold values would be recovered, and 81.90 per cent of the silver values.

Figuring on 70 per cent of the values in the middlings being recovered, we have a recovery of practically all the lead, copper, and gold values, and a recovery of 70.87 per cent of the silver values.

Run No. 5.—The oil mixture used on this test was one pound per ton of 50 per cent coal tar, 40 per cent coal tar creosote, and 10 per cent No. 5 pine oil.

	Concentrates.	Middlings.	Tailings.
Weight.....	6 grams	21 grams	468 grams
Analysis—Gold.....	0.06 oz.	0.023 oz.	Trace
Silver.....	316.20 oz.	91.73 oz.	5.09 oz.

This test was run on 495 grams of the ore. Combining middling and concentrate, we have a product giving an assay of 145.32 ounces silver, with a recovery of 62 per cent of the silver values in the ore, and practically all the gold values.

Summary.—This is an ore which requires extensive test work to determine the better method of treatment. Our flotation tests, so far, do not show sufficient recovery of the silver values on this low grade of ore to be treated. It is quite probable that we have not ground the ore fine enough, and again we may not have found the better mixture of oils to use.

We are installing a laboratory type, "Holt-Deru" chloridizing-leaching test roaster, in which tests could be conducted to chloridize the raw ore or the concentrates from flotation.

NEW ROSS MANGANESE ORE.

Received one carload in three lots on October 12, 1917.

Submitted by the Rossville Manganese Co., Halifax, N.S., through the Munition Resources Commission, Ottawa, Ont.

Lot D.—74 barrels, one barrel of which was used for trial test.

Lot A.—31 barrels.

Lot O.—22 barrels.

Each lot was run separately, a moisture sample was taken, and the sample for analysis was cut out by a Vezin sampler during the run, and reduced down by further crushing and sampling in rolls and small Jones sampler.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

The weights and analysis of the above lots were as follows:—

Lot D.	73 barrels.
Wet weight.	31,675.5 pounds.
Moisture.	20.07 per cent.
Dry weight.	25,318 pounds.

Fe.	921.65 "

The product desired was a commercial manganese concentrate, high in manganese, low in iron and silica, suitable for reduction into ferro-manganese in the blast or electric furnace.

The method of crushing and concentration adopted was as follows:—

The crude ore was crushed in a jaw crusher, and fed automatically by a push feeder from a storage bin to an elevator which delivered it through a Vezin sampler and a chute to a Hardinge ball mill. The discharge of the ball mill flowed through a launder to a pump which delivered the pulp on to a callow screen frame fitted with a 24-mesh ton cap screen; the oversize from the screen returning to the mill, and the undersize to a Launder classifier. From the Launder classifier the sands were run onto an Overstrom table, and the slimes to a callow tank, where they were thickened for concentration on a Deister slime table.

The middlings from these tables were returned to the ball mill circuit as they were made.

The concentrates obtained were dried and sampled, giving the following weights and analysis:—

Recovery of Mn values in concentrates—30.17%.

It will be noted from the above results, that a very low recovery, namely 30 per cent of the manganese values was obtained, and that the iron content increases with the manganese. Finer grinding would not alter this condition to any appreciable extent; and while it would possibly increase the grade of the concentrate, the slime loss would be greater, which would lower the recovery.

Test No. 68.

A 50-pound sample of molybdenite ore was received on November 26, 1917, from Robert Gamble, Kakabeka Falls, Ont.

This sample gave the following analysis:—

Molybdenite (MoS_2).....	2.46 per cent.
Copper (Cu).....	None.
Bismuth (Bi).....	None.
Arsenic (As).....	None.

The ore was of the amorphous variety, filling the fractures in the quartz. A small amount of pyrite is present.

Tests were conducted on the small callow testing machine on 1,000 gram lots.

RUN No. 1.

Ore crushed to 50 mesh.

Oil used— $1\frac{1}{2}$ pounds coal oil per ton.

$\frac{1}{2}$ pound No. 75 Crude turpentine per ton.

Concentrates—

Weight.....	33 grams.
Analysis.....	60.97 per cent MoS_2
Content.....	20.12 grams MoS_2
Recovery.....	67.60 per cent.

Middlings—

Weight.....	38 grams.
Analysis.....	9.17 per cent MoS_2
Content.....	3.48 grams MoS_2
Percentage of MoS_2 in crude.....	11.6 per cent.

Tailings—

Weight.....	929 grams.
Analysis.....	0.675 per cent MoS_2
Content.....	6.27 grams MoS_2
Loss.....	20.8 per cent.

Figuring on recovery of 70 per cent of values in middlings the recovery of MoS_2 values in the crude would be 75.7 per cent.

RUN No. 2.

Ore crushed to 50 mesh.

Oil used—3 pounds coal oil per ton.

1 pound No. 75 Crude turpentine per ton.

Concentrates—

Weight.....	41 grams.
Analysis.....	52.44 per cent MoS_2
Content.....	21.50 grams MoS_2
Recovery.....	73.1 per cent.

8 GEORGE V, A. 1918

Middlings—

Weight.....	40 grams.
Analysis.....	10.19 per cent MoS ₂
Content.....	4.07 grams MoS ₂
Percentage MoS ₂ in crude.....	13.8 per cent.

Tailings—

Weight.....	919 grams.
Analysis.....	0.42 per cent MoS ₂
Content.....	3.86 grams MoS ₂
Loss.....	13.1 per cent.

Figuring on recovery 70 per cent of values in the middlings, the recovery of MoS₂ values in the crude would be 82.8 per cent.

RUN No. 3.

Ore crushed to 80 mesh.

Oil used—3 pounds coal oil per ton.

1 pound No. 5 Pine oil per ton.

Concentrates—

Weight.....	40 grams.
Analysis.....	58.87 per cent MoS ₂
Content.....	23.55 grams MoS ₂
Recovery.....	76.59 per cent.

Middlings—

Weight.....	97 grams.
Analysis.....	4.93 per cent MoS ₂
Content.....	4.78 grams MoS ₂
Percentage MoS ₂ of crude.....	15.54 per cent.

Tailings—

Weight.....	863 grams.
Analysis.....	0.28 per cent MoS ₂
Content.....	2.42 grams MoS ₂
Loss.....	7.87 per cent.

Figuring on a recovery of 70 per cent of values in middlings, the recovery of MoS₂ values in the crude would be 87.46 per cent.

Conclusions.—The ore will have to be ground to at least 80 mesh and possibly a little finer would give better results.

The tailings on the last two runs are fairly low considering the high grade of the milling ore. On an ore around 1 per cent MoS₂ the tailings would be proportionately lower.

It has been found also that better results are obtained in practice on the large machines.

The concentrates are below marketable quality but in practice these are screened to take out the fine iron and slime which is returned to the circuit and the grade of the concentrate in this way increased to marketable quality.

Although this ore is not as easily and as readily concentrated as some of the fine flake varieties there is no doubt that an 85 per cent to 90 per cent recovery can be made by the flotation process and a marketable concentrate produced quite readily.

Test No. 69.

A carload of slag from the Tivani Electric Steel Co., was received on October 26, 27, and 29, 1917.

It consisted of several barrels of wet slag, and the remainder of dry slag, which were mixed in order to prevent the crusher, elevators, and feeders from blocking on the wet slag alone.

The test was made to recover the ferro-molybdenum from the slag, which was supposed to be there in the form of small pellets. It was found, however, that although some pellets, the size of beans and smaller, were dispersed through the slag, that the greater amount of the ferro-values were there very finely disseminated through it.

PRELIMINARY TEST.

A small test was made on a sample taken from the dry slag, and the crushing watched carefully, to determine the fineness to which it would have to be crushed to obtain a concentration on tables. It was crushed in a small jaw crusher and small rolls, and screened on 20-mesh screen. No free ferro was noticed remaining on the screen. It was then crushed to 30 mesh in rolls, with the same results. It was then crushed to 40 mesh. A few small pieces of ferro and flake molybdenite were caught on the screen. Crushing to 50 mesh, a little more ferro and flake remained on the screen. Weight of flake and ferro remaining on 50-mesh screen — 0.3 grams. Weight of ground slag through 50-mesh screen, 4090 grams.

The material through 50 mesh was run over a small Wilfley table, and the following products obtained:—

Concentrates—
Weight..	76 grams.
Analysis..	54.18 per cent Mo.
Middlings—
Weight..	200 grams.
Analysis..	2.46 per cent Mo.
Tailings—
Weight..	3,814 grams.
Analysis..	1.09 per cent Mo.

Analysis of slag taken for this test, calculated from products, obtained —2.14 per cent Mo.

This sample was not representative of the total shipment, but was merely run to obtain some idea as to the degree of fineness necessary, and the grade of ferro that could be expected from the large run.

FINAL TEST.

The method of procedure on the large scale test was as follows:—

It was first crushed in the jaw crusher, and fed through a Vezin automatic sampler to the Hardinge mill. From the mill the ground pulp was pumped to a callow screen, fitted with an 80-mesh screen, the oversize returned to the mill, and the undersize to a Launder classifier, the sands going direct to the sand table and the slimes to a callow cone, and there thickened for the slime table. The middlings from the tables were returned to the mill, and the tailings sampled every 15 minutes by cutting the full stream into a tailing tank for that purpose.

In the final clean up of the Hardinge mill, the coarse material was screened out, and the iron extracted by a magnet from the ferro, while the fines were run over the table. The middlings were held for analysis.

The results obtained from the run were as follows:—

Wet weight of slag received..	34,570.5 pounds.
Moisture..	15.09 per cent.
Dry weight of slag..	29,354 pounds.
Analysis..	5.46 per cent Mo.

On examination of the head sample, it was found that the molybdenum values were contained in the slag in all forms, from the sulphide to the ferro-molybdenum; 0.15 per cent Mo was found to be soluble probably there as MoO₃ or MoS₂; 0.42 per cent Mo was found to be insoluble other than ferro-molybdenum and molybdenite probably there as Mo₂O₃. This would have a tendency to float off as flocculent slime. Besides this, there is no doubt but that considerable fine flake was lost, which would not show in the tailing sample. Also, we have found that some fine ferro still remained in the circuit, behind the lining in the Hardinge mill and in the pump lining. We found that a small amount of ferro kept reporting on the table during our next run on a carload of chromite.

Conclusions.—A higher recovery and better concentration could have been made by first crushing to 10 mesh and screening on 30 mesh, jiggling the oversize, —10+30; regrinding the tailings with the —30 size and concentrating on tables.

Whatever method of concentration is used—unless it is some elaborate system to recover the soluble and the values floating off in slimes, so as to obtain a separation of the molybdenum values in its various forms in the slag—a high loss is bound to occur.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

It has been determined that by crushing as fine as 80 mesh, the ferro is not all freed, hence the high tailing analysis in the above test.

A good recovery of the flake molybdenite in the slag could not be expected by flotation, as the physical character of the flake has been changed.

To obtain a high recovery of the molybdenum values in the slag, would necessarily mean research work, in separating the various forms in which the molybdenum values are contained in the slag.

Test No. 70.

CHROME ORE.

A small shipment of three bags of chrome ore was received from the Dominion Mines and Quarries, Ltd., Black Lake, Quebec.

Weight received.. . . .	236.5 pounds.
Analysis.. . . .	13.16 per cent Cr_2O_3
Content.. . . .	31.12 pounds Cr_2O_3

This ore represented the low grade that is being discarded from their shipping ore from one of their pits.

A concentration test was made to determine the grade of concentrates that could be expected and the possible recovery of the chromite values.

The ore was crushed to 30 mesh and run over the Overstrom table.

SUMMARY.

In actual practice, the middlings would be returned to the circuit. From the above class of ore a concentrate would be expected giving an analysis of 42.50 per cent Cr_2O_3 , with a recovery of the Cr_2O_3 values of 70 per cent.

CHROME ORE.

A small shipment of two bags of chrome ore and one bag of concentrates was received from the Mutual Chemical Co., Black Lake, Que.

Weight of ore received.. . . .	158.5 pounds.
Analysis.. . . .	20.55 per cent Cr_2O_3
Content.. . . .	32.57 pounds Cr_2O_3

A concentration test was made on this ore to determine the grade of concentrates that could be obtained and the recovery of chromite values that could be expected.

The ore was crushed to pass a 30-mesh screen .0198 aperture and run over an Overstrom sand table.

Summary.—In actual practice the middlings would be returned to the circuit. It would therefore be possible to obtain from this grade of ore, concentrates of grade 47 to 48 per cent, with a recovery of from 75 per cent to 80 per cent of the chromite values, or a concentrate of grade 42 per cent with a recovery of from 80 to 85 per cent of the Cr_2O_3 values.

No work has been done on the bag of concentrates, but a test was made on similar concentrates to raise the grade by magnetic concentration, with the result that the high grade magnesium chrome went with the gangue into the tailing, and the lower grade iron chrome went into the concentrates, giving two products which gave an analysis of practically the same in Cr_2O_3 values.

Further work by other methods will be attempted later, in raising the grade of the concentrates, and also in recovering the Cr_2O_3 values in the slime loss.

Test No. 72.

SMALL SCALE CONCENTRATION TESTS ON CHROME ORE FROM QUEBEC ASBESTOS AND CHROME COMPANY, ST. CYR, QUE.

A shipment of three lots, of two bags each, of chrome ore, was received from Douglas B. Sterrett, manager, Quebec Asbestos and Chrome Company, St. Cyr, Quebec.

These three different lots were shipped as representing the three chief varieties of concentrating ore found on the property, and were designated "A" "B" and "C". On examination they were found to be slightly different, varying in crystallization and the amount of asbestos fibre in the gangue. All three samples represented a cleaner variety of ore than the typical chrome ores of the vicinity.

Analysis of Lot A.. . . .	19.71 per cent Cr_2O_3
" " B.. . . .	18.00 per cent Cr_2O_3
" " C.. . . .	26.28 per cent Cr_2O_3

The tests were conducted to obtain, if possible, a 50 per cent Cr_2O_3 product, and if this were not possible, what commercial product could be obtained with the highest possible recovery of the chromite values.

A small sample of each of the lots was taken, and crushed to 20 mesh. These were sized on 30, 40 and 50 mesh, and examined under the microscope to ascertain at what point the mineral was free. It was found that on 30 mesh a large proportion of the mineral particles were not free; this proportion diminishing the finer the size. This proved also that the ore would have to be crushed to at least 20 mesh for concentration, and that better results could be looked for by even finer crushing.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

It was decided to proceed by crushing portions of the lots to pass through 20, 30, and 40 mesh, and by concentrating the unsized material on a table concentrator, the following results were obtained:—

SUMMARY AND CONCLUSIONS.

It is evident from the above tests, that the ore should be crushed to pass at least a 30-mesh screen, having a .0198-inch aperture, and that there is no marked improvement obtained by crushing to 40 or 50 mesh. It would also seem that no advantage would be gained by milling any of the three lots separately.

The middling obtained in the above tests represents what can be called a true middling product, that is to say, it consists of particles of un-freed mineral and gangue. Attempts were made to retreat this product on the table without regrinding, but little or no separation was obtained.

If a high grade chromite concentrate containing 48 per cent—50 per cent Cr_2O_3 is desired, a large proportion of the table product will have to be cut as a middling, and returned to the crushing department for regrinding. The amount of middling returned for regrinding would represent between 20 per cent and 25 per cent of the weight of the original feed to the table, and will contain between 30 per cent and 40 per cent of the total chromite in the feed. In practice, by returning such a large proportion of high grade material, the feed to the table will be considerably enriched, which would doubtless lead to heavier slime losses.

On the other hand, if a concentrate containing 40 per cent to 45 per cent Cr_2O_3 is sufficient, a very high extraction can be expected, ranging around 90 per cent.

Regarding the method of treatment for this ore we would recommend fine grinding to 30-mesh .0198-inch aperture, in Ball mills or stamps, preferably Ball mills, followed by the concentration of the unsized material on tables.

It is interesting to note that traces of platinum were found in the ore. A portion of the concentrates on the upper end of the table was cut out and assayed for platinum, but only traces were reported.

LARGE SCALE CONCENTRATION TESTS ON CHROME ORE FROM QUEBEC ASBESTOS AND CHROME COMPANY, ST. CYR, QUE.

A carload of chrome ore was received on November 8, 1917, from the Quebec Asbestos and Chrome Co., St. Cyr, Que., of which, Douglas B. Sterrett is general manager.

This carload represented the run-of-mine from the various pits on the property, and was a discarded car, supposed to be below the 30 per cent Cr_2O_3 called for, hence it was shipped on to Ottawa for concentration tests.

concentrate. The method of procedure is best illustrated by the following flow sheet.

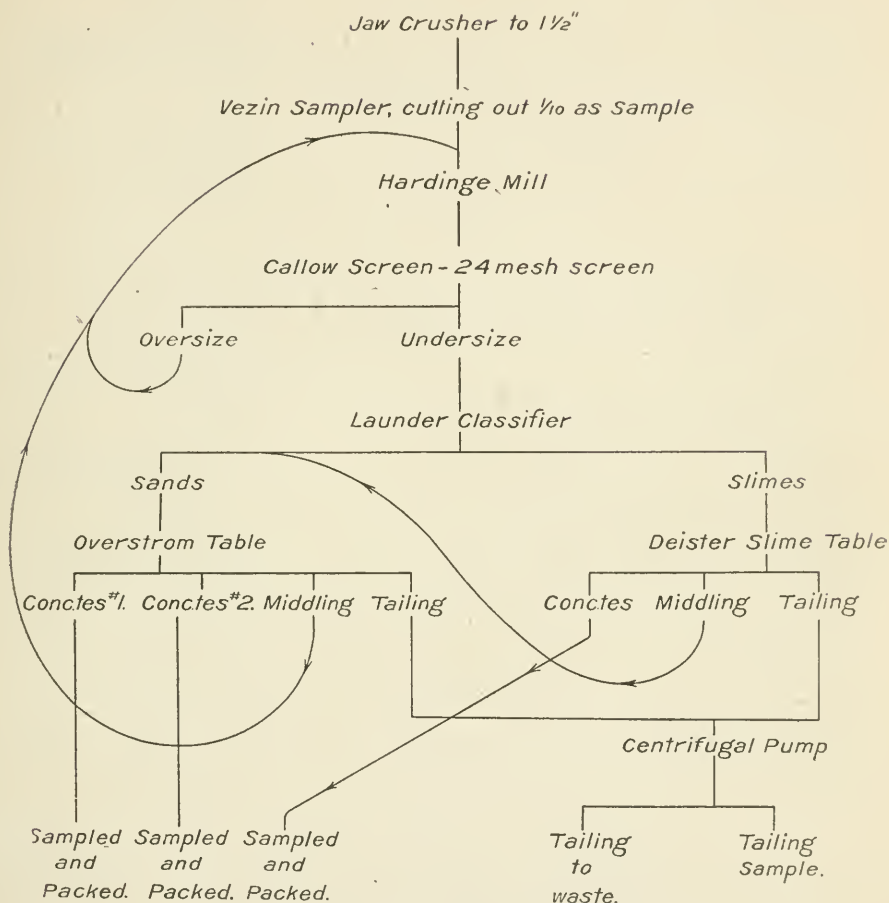

Fig. 3.—Flow sheet, concentration test, Chromite Ore.

In running lot No. 1, only one grade of concentrate was taken off on sand table; in lot No. 2, two grades were taken from the table. Besides this, a small streak was cut out reporting highest up on the table. This streak contained metallic iron from the crushing operations, and will be analysed for platinum, cobalt, nickel, copper, etc.

The tailing sample was cut out every 15 minutes by cutting the full stream from the pump discharge into a tank by means of a three-way valve. In this manner an accurate tailing sample was obtained.

Conclusions.—In running lot No. 1, only one grade of concentrate was made on the Overstrom table, a large amount of middlings were returned to the circuit; in lot No. 2, two grades of concentrate were made, and only a small amount of middlings were returned to the circuit. The latter gave much better results. Lot No. 2 was run much faster than Lot No. 1, with better results.

These conditions were due to the fact that our milling capacity was much in excess of our concentrating capacity. The chromite was ground too fine in the mill, in other words we obtained a maximum amount of slimes. Had we table capacity equal to our milling capacity much better results would have been obtained.

The main difficulty in concentrating the ore is that the fine chromite slime becomes entangled with the asbestos fibre in the ore, and is lost in the tailings. Very little loss is accounted for in the fine particles floating off. In examining the tailings under the microscope, the above point is very clearly seen. Therefore, in concentrating this ore it is essential that a minimum amount of slime be made, and if possible that the asbestos be removed from the pulp. This can be accomplished, to a certain extent, by putting in a drag classifier after the mill and ahead of the screen, or some other arrangement for freeing the fine chrome particles from the asbestos fibre. This will also assist the wet screening on the callow screen following the classifier, and give an ideal product for the tables. It is a question whether the fine slime from the classifier will pay to treat or not.

Test No. 74.

A carload of grey sandstone was received on December 10, 1917, from the Nepean Sandstone Quarries, Ltd., Ottawa, Ont.

This carload was crushed for the above company for shipment to the glass companies.

It was crushed in the jaw crusher and ball mill fitted with 18-mesh screens.

The stone was moist and blocked the screens badly, hence a low duty was obtained, and consequently much finer crushing was done.

The crushed sandstone was disposed of in the following manner:—

Loaded in C.P. car 204056 for shipment to Dominion Glass Co., Montreal—
Net wet weight.	61,662.5 pounds.
Shipped to the Humphreys Glass Co., Moncton, N.B., 25 bags—
Net wet weight.	2,012.0 "
Held for Nepean Sandstone Quarries, Ltd., Ottawa, Ont., 2 bags—
Net wet weight.	320.0 "
Discarded in cleaning up circuit and final clean up of mill.	2,500.0 "
Fines mixed with snow discarded—
Net wet weight, approx.	1,500.0 "
Totals.	69,994.5 "

A sample was taken during the crushing operations from the ball mill discharge. This sample was cut down for moisture, screen test and analysis.

The moisture sample showed the crushed stone to contain 1.62 per cent water.

Attached is copy of screen test data, showing condition of the crushed sandstone.

The analysis of the sample from the carload is as follows:—

REPORT OF THE CHEMICAL LABORATORY.

H. C. MABEE, Chemist.

In previous years, the Chemical Laboratory of the Ore Dressing and Metallurgical Division was essentially a plant laboratory, that is to say, it was concerned almost entirely with the analysis of samples produced from concentration tests on ores and other products in the Ore Dressing plant. During the past year, however, this laboratory was almost entirely concerned directly with war work for the Imperial Munitions Board; and indirectly for the Canadian Munition Resources Commission, upon field samples of minerals which are urgently needed for war purposes.

In addition to this, some 275 core samples were received from diamond drilling operations which was conducted on a molybdenite deposit near Quyon, Que.

During the fiscal year 1917, a total of 1,743 samples were received and reported, which involved some 4,819 chemical determinations.

The following list of minerals, ores, metals, etc., will indicate the nature and extent of the work accomplished:—

Material.	Number of Samples.	Material.	Number of Samples.
Molybdenite, ores, etc.....	1,163	Silver ores.....	4
Ferro-molybdenum.....	132	Copper ores.....	1
Manganese ores.....	159	Graphite ores.....	14
Manganese sinter.....	4	Coke.....	1
Tungsten ores.....	48	Ferro furnace dust.....	8
Antimony ores.....	12	Ferro furnace slags.....	20
Iron ores.....	17	Tin ores.....	3
Chromite ores.....	73	Iron pyrites ores.....	3
Zinc-lead ores.....	48	Magnesite.....	2
Zinc ores.....	3	Titaniferous ores.....	4
Lead-copper ores.....	7	Nickel ores.....	3
Gold and silver ores.....	13	Lime (flux).....	1

In addition to the foregoing, many samples of various sorts were submitted for qualitative tests, for the purpose of identification.

In March, the chemical laboratory was transferred from the limited quarters which had been provided in the Fuel Testing Station to that portion of an extension to the Ore Dressing and Metallurgical plant which had been set aside and arranged for its accommodation. The total floor area allotted for this purpose consists of 650 square feet, of which 460 square feet are occupied by the main laboratory, and the remainder is taken up by balance room and office.

With these improved working conditions the present requirements appeared to be quite fully met; but the steady increase in the demands upon this laboratory have been such, that all available space, both as regards accommodation for chemists and also that required for additional apparatus, is now at its full capacity.

Mention might be made also of the very urgent need of better assay laboratory accommodation. This work has been conducted in a small room located in the basement of the Fuel Testing Station, but owing to additional work which has been undertaken by the staff of the Fuels and Fuel Testing Division, it became necessary to occupy the greater part of this room for that purpose. This arrangement necessarily means much inconvenience, and often much delay in getting out assay results as promptly as required.

The equipment of the laboratory has been increased by the following pieces of apparatus:—

A Hoskins electric combustion furnace, type FB No. 301, for carbon determinations in steels and ferro-alloys, a 10-ampere rheostat and a 1KW 60-cycle transformer for the above furnace. A complete electrolytic apparatus for electro chemical analysis, including 10 Edison storage cells, type B 6, two double range ammeters, and one voltmeter of the portable type, also two supports for electrodes. The arrangement of this special piece of electrical apparatus was designed, and for the most part, constructed on the premises, and is such that two different determinations, with different voltage, if necessary, can be made at the same time; the connexions being so arranged that the current from one, two, or any number of cells up to ten, may be drawn off from either of the two outlets on the table. In addition to the above, an electric muffle furnace has been installed, a Barnstead automatic water still, type L, a Crowell pressure and vacuum pump to provide suction for filtering purposes, and a 24-inch electrically driven fan connected with the draught-cupboard for ventilating purposes.

With these improved conditions and increased facilities at our disposal, this laboratory was placed in a much better position to undertake and accomplish more valuable work in 1917 than in any previous year.

CERAMIC DIVISION.

I

INVESTIGATION OF CLAY AND SHALE RESOURCES.

J. KEELE, Chief of Division.

INTRODUCTORY.

During the greater part of the year 1917 my attention was given to the examination and testing of various raw materials in the laboratory; in writing individual reports on results of tests, and in technical correspondence relating to the Ceramic industry in general, in answer to numerous inquiries for information.

A short time was taken during the summer months to examine clay deposits in eastern Ontario, and to collect samples for testing. The examination of this region, so far, has not resulted in the discovery of any high grade clays. In northern Ontario, however, samples of very fine clays have been received from prospectors; but the deposits located are rather too far from railway lines to be available at present.

There has been a considerable falling off in the demand for information regarding clays and shales suitable for the manufacture of structural wares, owing to the greatly reduced amount of building operations undertaken during recent years. On the other hand, there is a much greater demand for information regarding high grade clays, such as those suitable for metallurgical purposes and for the paper trade. A considerable amount of laboratory work was also done on magnesite and silica rock for refractory purposes.

Mr. N. B. Davis, assistant ceramic engineer, resigned his position in May, and has not been replaced since, owing to the difficulty in obtaining men trained in this branch of technology.

The report of Mr. Davis on the Clay Deposits of Southern Saskatchewan has been published. This report covers, in detail, one of the most important clay areas in the Dominion.

The following notes are a summary of the results of laboratory and field work done during the past year. A full report on the clays of eastern and northern Ontario will be prepared when the field information is complete.

NOVA SCOTIA

The clay and shale deposits of Nova Scotia have been examined in the field and laboratory, and are the subject of a former report which has been widely distributed. Since then, further examination, and mining operations in the coal districts, have revealed the presence of shales or clays hitherto unnoticed.

Westville.—The manufacture of brick used in metallurgical processes has been carried on for several years at Westville. The material for this purpose is a hard, dark grey shale, found under the No. 3 coal seam at the Drummond colliery.

Recently, a sample of shale, which occurs below the main seam at this colliery, was sent to the Mines Branch laboratory for examination.

This material, Lab. No. 585, is a hard, light grey shale, which, when ground to pass a 16-mesh screen, and mixed with water, develops a high plasticity, with fine-working qualities. It dries readily after moulding, with a drying shrinkage of 5 per cent.

Its behaviour on burning is as follows:—

Cone.	Absorption.	Fire Shrinkage.	Colour.
010	14.0	0	Buff.
03.	5.0	1	"
3 ..	2.5	2	"
15	Fused.

This shale burns to a good dense body, even at the lower temperatures, and would be suitable for the various grades of high class structural materials. When finely ground, it develops a high plasticity, and can be moulded or modelled into any desired form; so that it could probably be used in the manufacture of architectural terra-cotta.

It is not refractory enough to be classed as a fireclay, but when coarsely ground it could be made into brick for the same uses to which the shale under No. 3 seam is adapted, viz., linings for ladles in the open-hearth steel process. Compared with the latter clay, it is more plastic and has a slightly greater shrinkage. Owing to its good plasticity it is better adapted for making special intricate shapes for furnace fittings, for use where it would not be subjected to a very high temperature; but will withstand as high a temperature as the shale now in use. These two shales are the most refractory materials so far found in the coal measures in Nova Scotia, with the exception of one bed over a coal seam at Inverness. The clay at Inverness is of the fine-grained type known as stoneware clay, and is refractory enough to be classed as a third grade fireclay.

Morien, C.B.—A sample of brown shale from the Millstone grit formation on the western shore of South Head near Morien was collected by A. O. Hayes of the Geological Survey. The sample (Lab. No. 622) taken from the weathered outcrop had good plasticity and working qualities, and a drying shrinkage of about 6 per cent. Its behaviour on burning was as follows:—

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

Cone.	Absorption.	Fire Shrinkage.	Colour
06.....	10.8	2	Pink-buff.
03.....	3.5	4	Dark buff.
3.....	2.9	4	"
9.....	Softens and deforms.

This clay burns to a hard dense body of good buff colour, and is suitable for the manufacture of face brick made by both the stiff-mud and dry-press process, or for making hollow building blocks. The fresh hard shale below the weathered portion would probably be suitable for vitrified paving blocks.

Neils Harbour, C.B.—Residual clay exposed on road to Ingonish, about 2 miles south of Neils Harbour. This material which was sampled by A. O. Hayes, is apparently derived from granitic rocks by weathering. It contains a large amount of quartz and mica grains, and is only feebly plastic when wet, so that it is difficult to mould into shape. The softening point was determined to be about cone 20 (2786 deg. F.), so that it is not quite refractory enough to be classed as a fireclay. If the material were washed so as to eliminate the rock particles, a fairly high grade clay might be obtained, but as the amount available does not appear to be large, this operation would not be economical.

CLAY MINING.

Musquodoboit.—The pottery clays that occur on Murphy brook at Middle Musquodoboit have been mined during the past 2 years and shipped to Jas. W. Foley & Company of St. John, N.B., for making stoneware pottery.

The clay in this locality consists of white, grey, and red clays, with some interbedded white and red sands. The white clay is a third class fireclay and the red clay is semi-refractory, both are of the stoneware type. When these deposits were examined by the writer in 1909, there were no railroad facilities, and consequently they were not worked.

The Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company have begun mining the fireclay deposits at Shubenacadie on the Intercolonial railway line. This clay is shipped to Sydney Mines and used for the manufacture of coke oven brick.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

GRAND LAKE COAL DISTRICT.

The large area of Carboniferous rocks in New Brunswick contains numerous beds of shales which are very suitable for making a large range of structural clay products. The shales in the Grand Lake coal basin have been very thoroughly examined and tested by the writer, but since then coal mining has been extended to new portions of the field revealing still other beds of shale in the operations. The Rothwell Coal Company have recently opened up a coal mine about 1 mile southwest of New Zion in Sunbury county, and a sample of the clay underlying the coal seam was sent to the laboratory for examination. This material differed somewhat from any of the other underclays in the Grand Lake district. It is grey fissile shale with films of carbonaceous matter, requires very little water in working and develops only a low plasticity. This shale (Lab. No. 621) can be dried fast after moulding without cracking and has a low drying shrinkage. The results given in burning are as follows:—

Cone.	Absorption.	Fire Shrinkage.	Colour.
03.....	11	0	Buff.
03.....	8	2	"
3.....	5	2	"
9.....	0	2	Brown.
15.....	Softened.

This shale burns to a hard body with good colours at ordinary temperatures. Its fast drying qualities, low shrinkage and good colour recommend it for the face brick trade. The plasticity is rather low for the manufacture of hollow ware, but this might be improved by grinding in wet pans. It has semi-refractory qualities so that brick made from it might be used in positions where a high grade firebrick was not demanded.

This clay is not so refractory as the underclay at the old Rothwell mine near Minto.

No effort has been made so far to utilize the great resources in shales in the Grand Lake coal area for the manufacture of clay products.

CARAQUET—GLOUCESTER COUNTY.

West of the federal government wharf at Caraquet, a purple shale occurs in a bed about 15 feet thick. It outcrops for about 1,000 feet along the coast, is underlain by grey sandstone, and is overlain by a thin mantle of gravels. A similar bed of shale occurs farther west, outcropping on the shore opposite the church. At Clifton also it is exposed for about 1 mile along the coast, with a gentle dip eastward.

Samples from the exposures at Caraquet were collected by A. O. Hayes, and forwarded to the laboratory for testing.

Lab. No. 580.—Reddish-brown, crumbling, hard, massive clay shale, immediately west of the government wharf at Caraquet. This shale bed is about 15 feet thick, and is visible for about 1,000 feet. It is overlain by a thin deposit of gravels. This shale when ground and mixed with water to the proper consistency has good plasticity, and excellent working qualities. It can be dried safely in artificial driers, up to a temperature of 150 degrees Fahrenheit, but may crack if forced in a higher atmosphere. The shrinkage on drying is about 6 per cent. When burned to cone 010, it has a good, hard, red body, with an absorption of only 9 per cent. If burned to the softening point of cone 03, the body is vitrified, but the fire shrinkage is high, being about 5 per cent. This shale fuses at cone 3.

Lab. No. 581.—Reddish-brown, crumbling, hard, clay shale near church at Caraque. The outcrop of the deposit extends for about 300 feet along the shore of the bay, and lies westward of No. 580. This material is similar to sample No. 580, giving almost identical results in the tests in the raw and burned conditions.

These shales are suitable for the manufacture of wire-cut building brick, fire-proofing or hollow ware and dry-pressed brick. They would probably work well for roofing tile, and stiff-mud floor tile. They could be made into rough face brick, and flashed to various shades of colour. They are of considerable economic importance, on account of their easily accessible location, and the superior quality of structural wares which they would produce. A cheap fuel supply could be brought in by water, and the finished goods shipped by the same means to western points. It is doubtful if paving brick could be made from these shales as their range of vitrification is too short.

In comparing these shales with those exposed on the shore between Stonehaven and Clifton the tests of which are given in the report of the Clay and Shale Deposits of New Brunswick, it will be seen that at the latter locality the shales are more refractory, and may be used for the manufacture of vitrified ware.

The deposits of Gloucester county are situated very conveniently both for railroad and water transportation, and occur in enormous quantities.

DEMOISELLE CREEK, ALBERT COUNTY.

A sample of clay from the walls of the Stedman and Murphy manganese mine near Demoiselle creek was collected by L. H. Cole of the Mines Branch, and tested in the laboratory. It is a light grey, plastic clay, containing numerous gritty particles, mostly quartz, burning to a hard, purple-red-coloured body at 1,850 deg. F. The material fuses at cone 5 (2246 deg. F.), so that it is not a fireclay. It might be used for the manufacture of face brick for building purposes, as the peculiar colour, due no doubt to the presence of manganese, together with the dense body, makes it very suitable for this purpose. The amount of clay available, however, seems to be so small that the above proposition is not worth considering from a commercial point of view.

CLAYS IN NORTHERN ONTARIO.

The stoneless clays found at or near the surface in northern Ontario, are nearly all composed of sediments deposited in glacial lakes which were formerly of large dimensions. Lake Abitibi may be taken as an example of the shrunken remnant of a once extensive lake of this character. The distribution of the clays are governed therefore, by the extent of territory covered by these lakes and the height to which the water encroached on the land surface, and to the subsequent drainage which extinguished or partly extinguished these lakes and made their sediments available as land surface. Considering the land area of northern Ontario as a whole, the areas underlain by stoneless clay sediments are very small and widely scattered.

The stoneless glacial clays in northern Ontario differ from the marine clays in the Ottawa and St. Lawrence valley in being almost always stratified in thin layers and frequently interlaminated with layers or films of silt instead of being massive and uniform in texture like the latter. They are similar in regard to their uses, being low grade, easily fusible clays, suitable only for the manufacture of common brick and field drain tile, and not for vitrified wares.

CLAYS ALONG THE TEMISKAMING AND NORTHERN ONTARIO RAILWAY LINE.

The rugged region between North Bay and North Cobalt, traversed by the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railway, appears to be absolutely devoid of clay of any description, even boulder clay. The unconsolidated surface materials are sand, gravel, and boulder drift. At North Cobalt stratified glacial clays begin and continue in an almost unbroken stretch to Mindoka station, a distance of 50 miles. Between Mindoka and Bourkes stations the railway traverses the upland containing the watershed between the Hudson bay and Ottawa waters, in which clays are absent or confined to the bottom of the narrow valleys between steep rock ridges. Between Bourkes and Porquis, a distance of 40 miles, there are extensive patches of lands underlain by lake clays. Between Porquis and Cochrane there are no clays, the superficial deposits being either sand or gravel. Samples collected at the following points will serve to illustrate the character of these materials in general.

Haileybury.—A visit was made to the brick plant at this point in the summer of 1915 when the plant was in full operation. The clay bank, which is about 30 feet high, consists of alternating clay and silt layers, the clay layers are brown in colour and one-half inch to one inch thick, and the silt layers vary from half an inch, to mere films, the silt bands are ash-coloured, and are wider toward the top of the bank. Numerous concretions of hard limy clay occur in the upper 6 feet, but below this the clay is free from them. The lime content of this deposit is rather large, the silt layers being very limy. The bank is weathered to a brownish colour to a depth of 10 to 12 feet below the surface, but beneath the weathered zone the colour is dark grey. The sample taken for testing included an average of 20 feet from the surface, the results of the test being given in the table.

In working the clay for brickmaking about 25 per cent of rock tailings from the mines at Cobalt is added instead of sand. This mixture is passed through two pug mills, with a pair of rolls set between, and sent to a soft-mud machine for moulding. A stiff-mud machine was formerly used, but was found to be unsuitable, as too much loss occurred from cracked brick made by the process. It is found that the best results are obtained by moulding the clay as wet as possible in the soft-mud machine; but even then a considerable number of checked brick occur in every burning. The loss from checking could probably be still further reduced by the addition of a small amount of common salt to the wet clay. The bricks after moulding are sent to a dryer heated with steam pipes, and some of the checking appears to occur here, especially in the lower part of the dryer cars nearest the steam pipes.

The burning is done in up-draft scove kilns, two of which are supplied with permanent side walls, the fuel used being wood. There is some loss in the fire arches from cracked and slagged brick, and others show fire checks above the arches. The best brick are hard, and ring when struck together, the colour is a good red, which is mostly imparted by the coating of moulding sand, as the body is somewhat pale or salmon colour. The Court House, Armouries, and Central Methodist Church, in Haileybury, are built of these brick, the latter being a specially good example of brick-work.

The use of Cobalt tailings for mixing with the clay should be noted. This is a crushed diabase and slate conglomerate and is the refuse from the mills of the mines around Cobalt. This material stands a little more heat than the clay without fusing, but it undergoes incipient vitrification along with the clay at the temperature of burning the brick, consequently it is sintered in the body and becomes part of it. An ordinary sand which is mostly composed of quartz grains is inert at this temperature and consequently if much is used becomes a source of weakness, and makes the burned brick punky. It would be useless to add it even in small quantities to a silty clay such as the above. Rock tailings of different grades of fineness can be obtained from the waste piles at the mines. The finest of all remains suspended in water for some time without settling. Experiments made with this material proved that it could be used as a dark brown glaze such as that produced by the Albany slip clay which is used so much for glazing stoneware goods. It matures between cone 7 and 9, and is a richer colour than the Albany slip.

Heaslip.—According to borings made for water at the railway station at Heaslip, the depth of clay in the clay plain at this point was 110 feet. In some places low ridges of rock or boulder clay protrude through this plain, so that the depth to which stoneless clay extends in the district is very variable. There appears, however, to be an abundance of stratified stoneless clay available at many points. The sample for testing was taken on the bank of a creek alongside the wagon road opposite 133 mile post on the railway, about $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile south of Heaslip station. The clay here is brownish on top, grading to yellow to blue-grey below. It is well stratified, and contains films of silt between the clay layers. An average sample of 15 feet in thickness from the surface downward, a separate sample including only the bottom blue clay, and a small sample of the top brown clay, were taken at this point.

The clay at Heaslip does not contain such a large proportion of silt as that at Haileybury, it is consequently rather more plastic, and has the same drying shrinkage. Its drying qualities are not good, so that it must be dried slowly to avoid cracking. The working qualities of the average sample (No. 345) are fair, so that it can probably be used for making field drain tile except in the larger sizes. It burns to light red porous, but strong body at the lower temperatures, but turns lighter if burned higher. This clay would be suitable for making common brick, preferably by the soft-mud process. A moulding sand which burns to a good red colour should be selected, as the body colour is not good. About 25 per cent of sand should be added to this clay to improve the drying qualities and lower the shrinkages.

The bottom clay No. 346a is more silty than the average sample, consequently its working qualities are not so good, and it carries a higher percentage of lime. The higher content of lime causes it to burn to a buff colour and a more porous body. This material would make good buff building brick if used alone. It would not need the addition of sand as the shrinkages are low.

The top clay to a depth of about 2 feet below the surface is the most plastic and best portion of the deposit. It has good working qualities, burns to a strong red colour, and good dense hard body.

A layer of ash-coloured silt overlies the surface clay in the vicinity of Heaslip. It varies in thickness from a thin veneer to nearly 3 feet thick, and grades into a fine-grained sand or sandy loam in places. This material has a low plasticity, and can be moulded by hand. It burns to a pale red, very porous body, at low temperature, and in this form can be used for scouring purposes like bath brick. It gives better results as a polisher than most of the commercial bath brick on the market.

Matheson.—The village of Matheson and the immediate vicinity is underlain by stratified stoneless clay. Records of borings of two wells near the railway station showed 60 feet of clay, another showed 46 feet, and a fourth only 16 feet. Bed-rock crops out under the clay in the bank of Black river in the village. The clay rises in terraces to a height of 60 feet above the railway track a short distance south of the village. This clay is generally brownish in colour in the upper portion, but is bluish-grey below the weathered zone, and appears to be absolutely free from pebbles, concretions, or coarse grit. There is a layer of light grey silt scarcely a foot thick on the surface.

The sample of clay for testing was taken about a quarter of a mile east of the station, near the railway line, in a depression, where about 8 or 9 feet in depth were exposed. This clay, Lab. No. 344, when mixed with water to the proper consistency, has good working qualities, being very smooth and plastic. Its drying qualities are not good, so that it must be dried slowly after moulding to avoid cracking, and there is also too much shrinkage in drying.

The clay burns to a salmon-coloured porous body at the lower temperatures, but owing to its high lime content turns to buff when fully fired.

The addition of 25 per cent of sand improves the drying qualities and reduces the drying shrinkage by 2 per cent. With this amount of sand a very fair buff building brick can be produced, and it could also be used for making field drain tile. There is a certain amount of sand available in the high ridge near the village, but as the ridge carries a good deal of coarse and fine gravel mixed with the sand, it can only be obtained by screening.

The rock tailings from the mines at Poreupine added to this clay would make a better material for the purpose than sand, but the distance to the mines is too great to make this economically possible.

Porquis Junction.—About half a mile south of the station at Porquis Junction the railway cutting exposes a section consisting of 5 feet of brownish weathered and crumbling clay, underlain by 6 feet of banded brown and grey clay, with silt films, below which is 2 feet of dark grey stratified clay, the whole being from stones or concretions. This clay is similar to the deposit at Matheson in its qualities, having the defective drying qualities and high shrinkages which are characteristic of most of this area. A fairly good common brick, however, could be made from it by the soft-mud process, using about one part sand to three parts clay. The colours obtained are salmon to buff, depending on the heat of burning. Sand for mixing is not available in the vicinity of the deposit, but can be obtained about a mile or so to the north.

Timmins.—A sample of clay from this vicinity was shipped to the laboratory for examination, accompanied by a sample of sand. The clay was similar to that described from Porquis Junction, except that the sample appeared to be taken only from the upper weathered portion, and consequently, was rather more plastic and sticky when wet than if some of the bottom silty clay had been included.

Mixtures were made of three parts clay to one of sand, and two parts clay to one of sand. Both mixtures worked fairly well in the machine, the hollow tile coming perfect through a die without lubrication. The brick tore a little at the corners when passing out of the die.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

In the drying tests the bricks made of three to one mixture cracked in the dryers at 120 degrees Fahr. Bricks kept at room temperature indoors for 2 days, and then exposed to wind and sun, were found to be checked shortly after exposing.

The samples of 4-inch drain tile and brick made by hand from the same mixture did not crack under the above conditions of drying.

Bricks made by hand from a mixture of two parts clay to one part sand, set to dry outdoors exposed to sun and wind, immediately after moulding cracked inside of one hour. When protected from the sun, but exposed to the wind, cracking ensued within two hours after exposure.

Samples of soft-mud hand made brick, of the three to one mixture, kept continually indoors at room temperature, dried in 7 days, and stiff-mud brick made on the machine required 9 days to dry.

The drying qualities of this clay are decidedly poor, and much care and patience would have to be exercised at this stage of the manufacture in order to avoid excessive losses. A clay of this type is known as a tender clay by brickmakers, and the deposits at South Porcupine, Porquis and Matheson have the same defect.

The sand which was sent with this clay was rather fine-grained, 85 per cent of it passing through the 100-mesh screen. It is suitable for a moulding sand for use in making soft-mud brick, but a coarser grade of sand would be more suitable for mixing. The coarse rock tailings from the gold mines in this district would give better results than sand, especially in the quality of the burned ware.

NATIONAL TRANSCONTINENTAL RAILWAY.

Cochrane to Hearst.—The region traversed by this railway is a slightly undulating boulder clay plain, still covered with much forest and swamp growth. Occasional shallow cuttings along the line show the generally stony character of the clay which unfits it for the most part for purposes of brick and tile making. The principal areas of stoneless clay appear to occur in the depressions through which the larger streams of the region flow. At many other points the surface clay contains so few pebbles or stones that they may be used for brickmaking, although the deposits are not deep as a rule and pebbles are invariably encountered at depth. Such clays may not be more than 1 to 3 feet deep. In this respect the deposits are of a similar character to those found in southwestern Ontario, particularly in Essex county, where the clay worked for brick and tile is a surface layer of only 18 inches, lying upon stony clay. Most of the clays found in these stoneless patches contain a high percentage of lime and are buff burning, showing that the leaching processes of weathering which in time remove the excess of lime did not penetrate very deeply in this region. Some of these clays found in Brower and Lamarche townships will make as good buff stock brick and drain tile as any produced in the older parts of the Province.

ALGOMA, THUNDER BAY, AND RAINY RIVER DISTRICTS.

Several large deposits of glacial clay suitable for brick and tile manufacture are found at Sault Ste. Marie, Fort William, and other localities in these districts. A full report of these materials is in preparation.

FIRECLAYS ON MISSINAIBI AND MATTAGAMI RIVERS.

Missinaibi river.—The occurrence of deposits of fire and pottery clays on the Missinaibi river in northern Ontario, have long been known, and were described by J. M. Bell in the annual report of the Ontario Bureau of Mines for 1904. These deposits outcrop on the bank about 8 miles above the mouth of the Wabiskagami river, and are also exposed on the banks of the latter river. According to borings made by the holder of the property in 1913 the greatest thickness of clay was said to be 74 feet, measured from the river level to the top of highest portion of the bank where clay was found. The deposit consists of beds of white, pink, buff, and grey plastic clays, with sandy clay, or white sand layers.

A sample of this clay was secured from Mr. W. Tees Curran of Montreal—one of the owners of the deposit. This sample, Lab. No. 620, was of the light grey or white beds, with a few pieces showing pink colour. In a washing test 70 per cent passes through a 200-mesh screen, the material coarser than this being little worn and angular quartz grains. The dry clay requires 27 per cent of water to bring it to the best working consistency for moulding. The plasticity and working qualities are good, and the shrinkage on drying is about 5 per cent.

This clay burns white up to cone 3, but when burned to cone 9 (1310 deg. C.) the colour darkens, but the body is still porous. The softening point is about 28 (1690 deg. C.) which classes it as a fireclay. The chemical analyses of this clay shows it to contain iron and titanium in appreciable amounts, which are responsible for the darker colour of the clay at high temperatures, which unfits it for use in white pottery ware, but there are probably some beds of white clay in the deposit free from this defect. The buff and pink clays contain still more iron and are not refractory enough to be classed as fireclay.

A mixture of the clays could probably be used for making pottery of the stone-ware type.

Mattagami.—Fireclay was first discovered on the Mattagami river during the summer of 1917 by C. M. McCarthy of Elk Lake, who reports the occurrence in the river banks, a short distance below the foot of the long portage; and sent a sample to the Mines Branch laboratory for examination. This clay, Lab. No. 618, is nearly white in colour when dry. When washed and passed through a 200-mesh screen, only 10 per cent remains behind, composed of small quartz grains. It requires 23 per cent of water to bring it to the best wet condition for moulding; and is then very plastic and smooth, with excellent working qualities. It dries readily with a drying shrinkage of 6 per cent. The clay burns white up to cone 3, but some dark specks show in the body when burned to cone 9. At the latter temperature it is still porous, the absorption being 9 per cent. This clay is still intact when raised to the softening temperature of cone 31 (1,750 deg. C.) in a carbon resistance electric kiln, and softens at cone 33, so that it is a number one fireclay.

When submitted to a washing and settling process, about 75 per cent of fine pottery clay can be obtained from the crude material. The washed clay was dried and made up into a standard porcelain body of the following proportions:—

Washed Mattagami clay..	50 per cent.
Ground feldspar..	20 "
Ground quartz..	30 "

This mixture was made into a slip, and cast in the form of small cups. These were biscuited in a commercial china kiln at cone 10, then glazed and re-fired at cone 4. The pieces turned out had a beautiful ivory tone, but as the china trade demands whiteness, the clay would require the addition of a little cobalt stain in order to meet the requirements of that industry.

This clay would probably be suitable for the manufacture of crucibles used in the metal melting processes.

The following analyses shows the chemical composition of these clays:—

High grade clays of this description have not been found so far in any other place in Ontario, although they have been diligently sought for. It is unfortunate that the above deposits are located in such a remote region, without transportation facilities, and 50 miles from the nearest point on the National Transcontinental railway. It is possible that in further prospecting other valuable deposits of this kind may be found nearer the railway line.

MANITOBA.

GREATER WINNIPEG WATER DISTRICT RAILWAY LINE.

Surface clays suitable for the manufacture of common brick and drain tile in the Province of Manitoba have been examined and reported on in previous work by the writer. Within the last few years the construction of the Greater Winnipeg Water District railway from Winnipeg eastward to Shoal lake has revealed the presence of the brick clay along almost its entire length. The greatest thickness of the clay occurs toward the eastern extremity of the line, where it reaches a depth of 16 to 20 feet below the surface. These clays are yellowish in colour, carry a rather high lime content, but make a good hard buff brick when well burned and are best adapted for the soft-mud process of manufacture.

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY LINE.

A belt of stoneless clays extends for about 100 miles along the Hudson Bay Railway line, from mile 116 to mile 214, which will be found suitable for the manufacture of common building brick if required.

A sample collected at Piquitona by W. A. Johnston of the Geological Survey, was examined in the laboratory. It is a drab calcareous clay, fairly smooth when wet, having good plasticity and working qualities. Its drying shrinkage is rather high, and it is better to dry it slowly to avoid cracking.

The clay burns to a hard, but porous, salmon-coloured brick, but if fired at too high a temperature it shrinks greatly and the colour becomes bad. The clay should be worked by the soft-mud process of brickmaking, the addition of a little sand would improve the drying qualities and reduce the shrinkage. The commercial limit of burning is about 1800 Fahr., if a pyrometer is used, or cone 96 if pyrometric cones are used. There are occasional grains of limestone in the clay, but if they do not run larger in the deposit than those in the sample they will not do much damage to the burned brick.

SHALE AND SAND DEPOSITS AT SWAN RIVER.

In the report by Mr. J. B. Tyrrell on the geology of northwestern Manitoba, published in 1892, a series of sand and clay deposits of unusual character occurring on Swan river was described. At that time and for many years later this portion of Manitoba was almost entirely unsettled, and the deposits were not considered of economic importance.

It seemed probable from the description of these deposits that some of the clays might prove to be refractory and that the sands might be adapted for the manufacture of glass, and hence be of considerable value at the present time. Mr. W. A. Johnston examined the locality during the past season at the request of the writer, and secured samples of the clay and sand for testing.

The former is a grey clay shale, very gritty, as it contains a quantity of fine sand and numerous scales of mica. It requires only 17 per cent of water to bring it to the best working consistency, it is then fairly plastic and will work well in almost any kind of clay-working machinery. Its drying qualities are good and owing to its sandy texture the shrinkage on drying is small, being less than 5 per cent.

The following results were obtained on burning:—

Cone.	Fire Shrinkage.	Absorption.	Colour.
010.	0.0	12	Pink.
06	1.0	9	Buff.
3	1.7	7	"
9	3.0	2	Dark buff.
20	Softens and deforms.

The body is steel hard at cone 06, and the colour a fine bright buff, the colour darkens as the temperature is increased and at cone 9 numerous fused iron specks appear at the surface, and the body is practically vitrified.

This material is suitable for the manufacture of various shades of buff face brick, made either by the dry-press or stiff-mud process, and could also be used for hollow building blocks or fireproofing, or even for architectural terra-cotta.

It could probably be used for sewer pipe and electric conduits, and brick for boiler settings and stove linings. It is not quite refractory enough to be classed as a fireclay, but its semi-refractory qualities make it desirable for vitrified ware. It is the most useful clay so far discovered in the Province of Manitoba.

The clay is overlain by a bed of fine-grained quartz sand containing numerous grains and pellets of dark coloured pasty clay.

When the sand is dry practically all of it passes through a 40-mesh screen, but the clay particles do not, so that a fairly clean separation of the clay and sand can be made.

Retained on 60-mesh screen.....	13.70 per cent.
" " 80 " "	40.20 "
" " 100 " "	25.54 "
Through 100 " "	19.96 "

A partial chemical analysis shows the presence of 96.42 per cent of silica, and 0.17 per cent of iron; the balance being probably alumina.

The low iron content of the sand suggests its use for the manufacture of glass, if its texture is not too fine for this purpose.

The deposits of refractory clay and glass sand are exposed in the banks of Swan river in sections nine and ten in township thirty-seven, range twenty-six, 9 to 10 miles down stream from the town of Swan River. The clay where best exposed in a steep bank on the north side of the river near the line between sections nine and ten. outcrops near the water's edge and has a maximum thickness of 12 feet, but has, at this locality, an overburden of about 35 feet of sand and clay. The clay also outcrops above this point along the lowest terrace of the river where it has only a slight overburden. The glass sands overlie the clay. They are 10 to 15 feet in thickness and outcrop at several points along the river at this locality.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Diatomaceous earth.—Numerous samples of material which was said to be kaolin have been received from various persons in British Columbia during recent years. The majority of these samples proved to be diatomaceous earth, but a few of them were volcanic ash. One sample appeared to be a mixture of diatoms and ash. The localities given for the occurrence of these deposits are Deadman lake, about 35 miles north of Savona station on the Canadian Pacific railway, also from a point 18 miles north of Ashcroft, and others are indefinitely stated to have come from the Kamloops district.

A chemical analysis of two of these samples is given on page 53 in the Summary Report of the Geological Survey for 1916.

The diatomaceous earth is a soft white chalky material, much lighter in weight than clay, and has little or no plasticity when wet. Its light weight and lack of plasticity readily distinguishes it from kaolin in the field.

Volcanic ash is often very white, and is denser than diatomaceous earth. It is sometimes mistaken for kaolin, but it is entirely without plasticity, and is altogether different in composition.

Mr. C. Camsell of the Geological Survey collected some samples of diatomaceous earth from Quesnel in 1917. He states that there is a vast quantity in the beds at that locality.

A good insulating brick can be made from it by adding about 25 per cent of good plastic clay and some sawdust. The mixture is moulded and burned as in ordinary brickmaking. There is a good plastic clay at Quesnel which would be suitable for such a mixture.

All the deposits of diatomaceous earth so far noted in British Columbia appear to be situated too far from railway lines to be readily available. Up to the present no occurrence of kaolin has been recorded in British Columbia, but it probably will be found there.

II

POTTERY CLAYS.

A great variety of clay wares are included in the general term pottery, but popularly it is understood as some sort of vessel or object either for purposes of utility or ornament. In this restricted sense pottery includes table ware, cooking ware, jugs and crocks, art pottery, and flower pots.

TABLEWARE.

This includes porcelain or china, semi-porcelain, hotel china, ironstone china, white earthenware, etc. The clays which enter into the composition of these wares are kaolin or china-clay and ball clay, the other ingredients being flint and feldspar.

Kaolin.—There is only one workable deposit of white kaolin so far known in Canada. It occurs at St. Remi d'Amherst in Argenteuil county, Que., and is owned and operated by the Canadian China Clay Company of Montreal. This clay is suitable for the manufacture of any of the above grades of table ware. The manufacturers of electrical and sanitary porcelain in Canada import their kaolin from Cornwall, England.

Ball clay.—This is a highly plastic white burning clay, added to the other ingredients of table ware bodies to make them workable, but is not indispensable for the manufacture of porcelain.

Deposits of ball clay are at present unknown in Canada, but some of the highly plastic white clays in Saskatchewan approach it closely in character.

There are no potteries in Canada for the manufacture of table ware, the supply mostly all coming from the pottery centres in England, and Japan, but a small portion comes from the United States. Formerly most of the table ware used in America was imported from Germany and Austria.

STONEWARE GOODS.

Pottery made from stoneware clays includes teapots, kitchen bowls, jugs, crocks, and various other articles for domestic or dairy uses. Stoneware clays are fine-grained, plastic, refractory or semi-refractory materials, burning to dense or vitrified cream, buff, or grey coloured bodies at a temperature of about 2,200 deg. Fahr. The stoneware clays are generally used by sculptors for modelling purposes, and in schools where modelling in clay forms part of the instruction. Owing to their smoothness, plasticity, and tensile strength, in the raw state, these clays are admirably suited to making wares by hand on the potters wheel. Some of the finest work in glazed ornamental pottery is done in stoneware clays.

Clays of this type occur at three points in Nova Scotia, at Shubenacadie, Middle Musquodoboit, and Inverness. In northern Ontario white pottery clays are known to occur on the Missinaibi and Mattagami rivers, and are described elsewhere in this report. Stoneware clays occur in the greatest abundance in the southern part of the Province of Saskatchewan, situated conveniently to railways. These clays are described in a special report on that area, issued by the Mines Branch.

The stoneware clays are not known to occur in southern Alberta, but there are a number of beds of this type of clay on the Athabaska river below Fort McMurray in the northern portion of the Province.¹

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

No stoneware clays have yet been found in the Provinces of New Brunswick, Quebec, Manitoba, or British Columbia, but they probably occur at the latter.

Pottery made from stoneware clays are manufactured at St. John, New Brunswick, by Messrs. Foley Bros., the clays used being brought to this point from New Jersey and Middle Musquodoboit, Nova Scotia; and at Iberville, Quebec, by E. L. Farrar, from New Jersey clay. The pottery of R. Campbell Sons in Hamilton, Ontario, is the most extensive of the kind in Canada. Teapots and glazed kitchen ware is the principal output, the clays being imported from Pennsylvania and New Jersey. The Medalta Pottery in Medicine Hat, Alberta, manufactures domestic glazed ware of stoneware clay brought from East End, Saskatchewan.

ART POTTERY.

An extensive range of articles for use and ornament is included under this title, from porcelain ware to ware made from brick clay. These wares are generally coated with a glaze or enamel, but not necessarily so unless the ware is required to hold water. If the body is vitrified, however, it is impervious to water without the coating of glaze.

Any clay or mixture of clays which possesses the requisite qualities for modelling, casting, pressing, or throwing on the potters wheel, may be used in this class of pottery. A great part of it appears to be made from the same ingredients as those used in the manufacture of table ware, viz., a mixture of china-clay, ball clay, ground quartz, and feldspar. Stoneware clays are also used extensively, or a mixture of ground quartz and stoneware clay.

For the cheaper grades of pottery the body may be of any colour and porous when burned, such wares are generally coated with opaque glazes, so that the colour of the body is concealed, and are known as majolica or faience.

It is better to wash many of the stoneware clays mentioned above, especially those in Saskatchewan in order to separate certain coarse-grained impurities which they contain.

The brick and tile clay at some localities, either red or buff burning, may be used for pottery, and others may be washed and rendered suitable. One of the best of the common clays which we have found, occurs in Prince Edward Island, and is worked for brick and tile at Richmond.

This clay may be used as it comes from the bank in places, but at others it contains much fine grit. When put through a washing process to remove the coarse grit, this clay is exceedingly smooth and plastic, and equal to the finest modelling clay. It burns to a fine clean, red colour, and dense body, at temperatures from cone 010 to 05. Its drying and firing qualities are good, and really fine work with coloured glazes or enamels may be done on it. A red clay of somewhat similar quality may be obtained in the Annapolis valley, Nova Scotia, at Avonport, Middleton, Bridgetown, and Annapolis.

Good common clays for pottery occur at Hamilton, Ontario, both red and buff burning. The latter is a glacial clay, occurring at Bartonville, or on the Canadian Pacific railway line between Hamilton and Waterdown. It is stony, and requires washing, when it will yield a very smooth, strong, and plastic, buff clay. The weathered top of the Medina shale which occurs at intervals between Waterdown station on the Grand Trunk railway and Grimsby, is a smooth, plastic, red burning clay, suitable for work on the potters wheel. This material is used by the manufacturers of sewer pipe in Ontario at Hamilton, Mimico and Swansea, the clay being brought to these works by rail.

Art pottery is not made in Canada at present, so that it is impossible for visitors to purchase any native ware in this country. The goods of this class sold in shops is imported from England and the United States, but Japan is rapidly becoming the chief manufacturer and exporter of these goods.

FLOWER POTS.

The unconsolidated stoneless surface clays, such as are used at many points for the manufacture of brick and tile, are suitable for the manufacture of flower pots. The clay for this purpose must be plastic, and easily worked, but the shrinkage must not be too great, nor should it burn to a body which is too dense at low temperatures. It is desirable to have a good red colour, and a porous, but strong body in the finished ware.

The stoneless clays used for brickmaking in the Maritime Provinces would be well suited to the manufacture of flower pots; the clay from Prince Edward Island, described above, being specially recommended. The marine clays in the St. Lawrence and Ottawa valleys, generally, have too high a shrinkage, and are hard to dry, although the addition of some fine red burning sand might make them workable. Several examples of red burning surface clays in southwestern Ontario are suitable for flower pots. The largest factory for their manufacture in Canada, the Foster Pottery Company, is located at Hamilton.

Flower pots were formerly made by hand on the potters wheel, and a small quantity are still made by this method in Canada. The best hand-made pots are somewhat irregular in shape and size, so that they do not nest perfectly, and many are broken in transit, unless the greatest care is taken in packing them. Pots are now mostly made by machinery, and are much more accurate in shape and size. A flower pot press, with two men or boys, will turn out 5,000 pots per day.

III

MAGNESITE.

Magnesite is now largely employed for high-grade refractories owing to the development of the basic process in steel production. In this process, the refining of the metal is effected in presence of a highly basic slag, or one rich in lime; the result being to eliminate not only carbon, silica, and manganese, from the cast-iron, but also phosphorus, which cannot be removed in the presence of an acid slag, or one having an excess of silica.

Bricks made of silica or fireclay are unsuitable for furnace linings where basic slags are used, as these materials soften too easily in contact with lime. Magnesite bricks, on the contrary, being themselves basic in composition, offer complete resistance. In all basic furnaces, the sole and lower part of the vertical walls is built of magnesite, the arch being always constructed of silica brick.

The direct contact of magnesium and silica brick will provoke mutual fusion, so that ferro-chromium brick, which act neither on silica nor magnesia, are used to separate them.

A good deal of the Quebec magnesite from Grenville township is used for furnace bottoms, without being made up into brick shape, the method of using it, being as follows:—

The magnesite is first calcined in the manner in which limestone is burned to produce lime. This calcined material is broken into small pieces of one-half inch or less in size, and is mixed with crushed basic open-hearth slag in varying proportions. The furnace to be lined is then brought up to a temperature of 2,700 to 2,800 degrees Fahr., and the mixture of magnesite and slag is thrown in on the bottom of the furnace, in small doses, care being taken to distribute the material evenly, the bottom being built up in successive layers, as the mixture becomes sintered, until the required thickness is completed.

When magnesite is burned to a high temperature so that it shows no shrinkage in further heating and does not crumble on exposure to air it is said to be dead burned.

Dead burned magnesite is produced by the Scottish-Canadian Magnesite Company, in the plant of the Canada Cement Company, at Hull, Que. In this process, the magnesite, as it comes from mines in Grenville township, is mixed with 6 per cent of iron ore from the Forsyth iron mine at Ironsides. The mixture is passed through a jaw crusher and ball mill, until reduced to pass a 100-mesh screen.

The ground mixture of raw magnesite and iron ore is fed to one of the rotary kilns ordinarily used for burning cement, and fired at a temperature of probably 2,800 degrees Fahr., the fuel used being powdered coal, blown into the kiln under air pressure. It requires about one hour for the material to travel through the kiln, which is 60 feet long. The burned product is a dense, hard, granular material, of dark brown colour, and about the size of fine gravel. This product is known as grain magnesite, and is supplied to steel manufacturers for lining the bottom and sides of forging, heating, and welding furnaces.

The iron ore is added for the purpose of sintering the magnesite into a dense hard material, as it would be extremely difficult to dead burn the magnesite unless the iron was present to act as a flux or binder. The finely divided state in which the raw magnesite enters the kiln also facilitates the burning, as it certainly would not become dead burned at 2,800 degrees if put through in lump form.

The following chemical analyses show the changes that occur in the raw magnesite when converted to the dead burned condition:—

Analyst, R. T. Elworthy, Mines Branch.
B. Dead burned magnesite from Hull, Que. (6 per cent of iron ore added to raw material before burning). Analyst, S. G. McAnally.

A sample of the dead burned magnesite of composition B was submitted to heat treatment in a carbon resistance electric furnace heated up to the softening point of cone 34 (1,810 deg. C.) The material was not affected at this temperature, and it withstood the effect of the heat as well as a brick made from Austrian magnesite, upon which it was supported.

The practice of dead burning magnesite began in the Hull cement plant in October, 1917, using one rotary kiln, and producing about 35 tons of grain magnesite per day. The demand for this product has increased to such an extent that three kilns were in operation by May, 1918, producing about 100 tons per day.

MAGNESITE BRICK.

Several patents have been taken out with the object of making magnesite brick from raw magnesite in one operation of burning, by adding chrome iron ore as the sintering material in amounts up to 30 per cent. Some test pieces of the above mixture were prepared by the writer, and burned at cone 25. The results of this test showed, that the shrinkage in the burned bricklets was so great, that the operation could not be regarded as being within the range of practical brickmaking. Moreover, the bricklets air slaked and crumbled within two months after being burned. The crumbled material made up into bricklets and burned the second time, also disintegrated some time after reburning.

Several other sintering materials, such as serpentine, iron ore, and kaolin, in amounts of 5 to 10 per cent, were tried, but without success. A mixture containing 90 per cent of raw magnesite ground to pass a 10-mesh screen, 5 per cent of iron ore, and 5 per cent of kaolin, gave the best results, as it did not air slake and crumble after burning, but the shrinkage was abnormal.

It appears certain that two burning operations are imperative in the manufacture of magnesite brick. The first burning may only be carried to the calcining temperature so as to drive off most of the carbon dioxide. This operation also takes a large part of the shrinkage out of the material.

If dead burned magnesite is used for brickmaking it is usual to add 15 per cent of light calcined magnesite with 85 per cent dead burned. This mixture is thoroughly milled in wet pans, moulded by hand into brick shapes, and when partly dry, are re-pressed by machinery.

In order to develop a bond and produce a strong hard brick, the burning must be carried to a very high temperature, usually from 1,500 to 1,700 degrees centigrade; or from cone 20 to cone 30, according to the composition of the material.

If raw magnesite is used for brickmaking, the operation consists in mixing about 10 per cent of iron ore with crushed raw magnesite, and milling the mixture in wet pans. The mixture is made into brick shapes by hand, and burned in kilns at the calcining temperature, or about 1,000 deg. C. The calcined bricks are broken down and milled a second time in wet pans, and pressed into brick shapes by machinery. These are set in kilns when dry, and burned to the necessary high temperature.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

Previous to the year 1915, the United States relied almost entirely upon the supply of Styrian magnesite, which was imported largely in the calcined state. Since then, the hitherto unworked magnesite deposits in California and Washington have been drawn upon for use in the steel industry. Brickmakers in Britain imported both Styrian and Greek magnesite before the war, but since then magnesite brick are made of magnesite from the Indian and Greek deposits.

The following chemical analysis gives the composition of the various bricks:—

Greek magnesite has usually more silica and lime, but much less ferric oxide than Styrian magnesite. Canadian magnesite¹ is irregular in composition, but usually carries more lime and less iron than the European materials. The Washington magnesite is similar in composition to the Canadian occurrences.

Some experiments in brickmaking were made in the laboratories of the Mines Branch on the grain magnesite produced at Hull. This material is very hard, so that when it is crushed and screened to the size of grain ordinarily used for brickmaking, it is found to be very gritty, and when wetted has no coherence, so that it would be impossible to press such a material alone, either by hand or by machinery. It is necessary, therefore, to add a bonding material which will enable the brick to be handled without damage as it comes from the presses.

Lightly calcined magnesite which has a pasty consistency when wet is usually employed in amounts varying from 6 to 15 per cent. When this mixture is thoroughly milled in wet pans it has sufficient coherence for moulding, and can be made into brick shapes.

If the dead burned magnesite is ground very fine, so that there is considerable dust in the ground product, it is possible to mould it in a damp state without a bond in presses similar to those used for making dry-pressed building bricks.

The best results were obtained by grinding the material so that it all passed a 16-mesh screen with 45 per cent passing through a 100-mesh. When ground to this texture the magnesite simply requires to be slightly moistened to prepare it for pressing. After being pressed and dried the bricklets harden so that they can be readily handled for setting in the kiln. The shrinkage after burning to cone 25 (1,630 degrees C.) was 2 per cent.

If the magnesite is ground very fine, so that it all passes through a 100-mesh screen, fire checks are liable to develop in the burned brick, and the shrinkage will be higher.

SPALLING OF MAGNESITE BRICK.

One of the chief defects of magnesite brick is failure from spalling and disintegrating in use under repeated heating and cooling. The disintegration is very much hastened in the presence of the action of steam, even on thoroughly burned brick made with magnesite very low in lime or other impurities. In making some experiments on magnesite brick for the Royal Mint the writer found that all the trial pieces made up with the ground Canadian dead burned magnesite bonded with light calcined mag-nesite, were subject to spalling when set in the furnaces at the Mint. Brick made from Styrian magnesite behaved no better in this respect. When the Canadian dead burned magnesite was bonded with 5 or 6 per cent of china-clay, however, neither spalling or disintegration occurred during prolonged trial in place in the furnace.

E GEORGE V, A. 1918

The brick made with 12 per cent china-clay as bonding material, and burned to cone 25, were very dense and strong, with a flinty fracture, but they have a tendency to deform if burned to a higher temperature than this. When the magnesite is ground to pass a 12-mesh screen, bonded with 6 per cent of china-clay, and burned at cone 25, a much stronger brick is obtained than when calcined magnesite is used. Furthermore, it has the advantage of not being so liable to spalling and disintegration. The objection, however, to the use of clay as the bonding material is, that it increases the silica content of the brick, so that it may not be able to withstand the corrosive action of basic slags, or the great heat in the roofs of electric furnaces.

The following chemical analysis shows the approximate composition of the grain magnesite from Hull when bonded with 6 per cent of kaolin.

SILICA.

Silica, in the form of flint nodules found in the chalk formations in England and France, is used extensively in the various pottery industries. The flint nodules are calcined, and then ground either in wet pan mills or in cylinders, until it is fine enough to pass through a 150 mesh screen. Flint nodules are imported into the United States and ground for the potteries at Trenton, New Jersey, and at East Liverpool, Ohio.

Flint nodules do not occur either in the United States or Canada, but the pure varieties of sandstone are used, when finely ground for the use of potters. The ground product made from either the flint nodules or from sandstone are known to potters as flint, and from 20 to 50 per cent of flint is used in all white pottery bodies.

There are no grinderies for the production of flint in Canada at present, although there is a good demand for finely ground quartz, not only by the potteries, but by various other industries as well—the paint manufacturers, for example.

During the summer of 1917, Mr. L. H. Cole of the Mines Branch, examined various localities where sandstones occur, and collected samples. About 36 samples of the material were submitted to the writer for testing.

The sandstones were crushed in a jaw crusher, and then ground in a porcelain jar mill, until they were fine enough to pass a 150 mesh screen. The ground product was mixed with standard china-clay, ball clay, and feldspar, and made up into test pieces, the amount of ground quartz used in each case being 40 per cent of the body. The trial pieces were burned to cone 5 in an oil fired muffle kiln, and afterwards compared with a standard for colour. Chemical analyses of the sandstones were also made.

The majority of the test pieces were either pink or grey in colour, due to an excess of iron either in a finely divided state or in minute grains which showed as black specks on the surface of the burned trial pieces.

The following six samples compared favourably with the standard:—

Sample No.
10.	4 miles from Hemingford, Huntingdon county, Quebec.
19.	Lot 8, con. VII, centre of lot, North Crosby, Leeds county, Ontario.
25.	South half of lot 26, con. X, Elmsley North, Lanark county, Ontario.
35.	North half of lot 16, con. VII, Pittsburg, Frontenac county.
51.	St. Canute, Quebec, Stinson-Reeb property.
53.	Nepean sandstone quarries, Nepean, Carleton county, Ontario.

The following five samples were not quite as good as the standard but are white enough to be classed as fairly good:—

Sample No.
5.	Between Hemingford and Vicars, Huntingdon county, Quebec.
38.	Run-of-quarry, Oneida Lime Co., Nelles Corners, Haldimand county, Ontario.
41.	Tailings from washing plant, Oneida Lime Co.
42.	North side of quarry, Oneida Lime Co.
48.	Lot 20, con. II, Lansdowne, Leeds county, Ontario.

The greater part of the samples were taken from outcrops of the Potsdam sandstone, which are the basal beds of the Palæozoic rocks in eastern Ontario and the adjoining portions of Quebec. Only the lighter coloured beds in the formation were sampled, as the yellow, reddish, and dark grey beds do not burn to a white colour, on account of their high iron content. These sandstones are somewhat friable, and break down easily in crushers, so that they are easily prepared for fine grinding. They are crushed and washed at Melocheville in Beauharnois county, Quebec, and shipped to Montreal for the manufacture of glass.

The Oneida Line Company work the Oriskany sandstone, which outcrops at Nelles Corners, for the manufacture of glass. This formation is restricted to a small area in southwestern Ontario, and does not occur so widespread as the Potsdam sandstone in eastern Ontario.

Extensive deposits of sandstones low in impurities occur in Kamouraska county along the Intercolonial railway line near St. Pascal, and on Pilgrim Island in the St. Lawrence river.

There is a large quantity of quartzite rock in the kaolin deposits at St. Remi d'Amherst in Argenteuil county, Quebec, which is probably suitable for ceramic purposes.

SILICA BRICK.

Various samples of quartzite and sandstone were tested in the laboratory during the past season, in order to determine their suitability for the manufacture of silica brick. The results confirmed those previously made, that quartzites suitable for this purpose are not of frequent occurrence. All igneous quartz and many quartzites that have been tested showed a tendency to undue swelling under heat treatment, causing the body of the test pieces to become punky and friable, and having no structural value. A good quartzite under the same condition shows only a slight swelling, while the resulting body is compact and strong. The materials were all crushed to pass a 10 mesh screen, and 2 per cent of quicklime was added for bonding purposes. The temperature of burning was about 1,500° C.

In the results of experiments made for the improvement of the manufacture of silica brick in France, it is stated that if the granulometric composition of the crushed material is right, that any form of quartz may be used. It is claimed that if 30 per cent of the material be in the form of impalpable powder, that igneous or vein quartz, as well as any variety of quartzite, will be suitable.

Experiments made in the Mines Branch laboratory did not confirm this statement, as far as igneous quartz was concerned; but the addition of the impalpable powder to good quartzite was found to be an improvement to the strength of the burned bricks.

The best results seem to be obtained by grinding the quartzite in ball mills until fine enough to pass a 200 mesh screen, and adding 25 or 30 per cent of this powder to the coarsely crushed material. The coarse materials may have grains as large as those passing a 6 mesh screen.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.—The manufacture of silica brick is carried on by the Lake Superior Corporation. The output of the plant is small as it is only designed to supply refractories to the various subsidiary companies included under the above corporation. The quartzite used in the manufacture is obtained at Bellevue on the line of the Algoma Central railway, 20 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie. This material is probably Huronian quartzite from the Lorrain formation, and similar to that which occurs at Killarney.¹

Sydney, N.S.—The Dominion Iron and Steel Company have been carrying on investigations on several quartzite deposits in Cape Breton with a view to utilizing them in the manufacture of silica brick if a suitable deposit can be found.

ROAD MATERIALS DIVISION.

K. A. CLARK, Chief of Division.

Work by the Department of Mines on Road Materials was commenced, and has been continued up to the present time, by the Geological Survey Branch of the Department—under the supervision of Mr. L. Reinecke. Since 1913 surveys have been conducted during each field season. The testing of samples, however, was done outside the department until 1916, when the Mines Branch established a Road Materials laboratory. Since that time all samples of road materials collected by field parties of the department have been tested in this laboratory. By this arrangement the Road Materials Laboratory has assisted the Road Materials Division of the Geological Survey. The geological survey is now, however, retiring from the field, and all phases of the work will be transferred to the Mines Branch. In future field examination of road materials, as well as their laboratory testing and investigation, will be entirely in charge of the Road Materials Division now being organized in the Mines Branch.¹

All samples received by the Road Materials Laboratory up-to-date have been tested, and the results are now available. The samples may be grouped as follows: (1) Samples of rock representing possible sources of supply of road material occurring along the Rideau canal, collected by L. Reinecke in 1916; (2) samples of gravel representing deposits of gravel occurring along the route of the proposed Toronto-Montreal highway from Port Hope to Napánee, Ont., collected by F. H. McCullough and by K. A. Clark, in 1916; (3) samples of rock representing deposits of road material occurring along the route of the proposed Hull-Montreal highway from Grenville to St. Eustache, Que., collected by H. Gauthier in 1916; (4) samples of rock and gravel representing available road material occurring in the counties of Soulanges and Vaudreuil, Que., and along the route of the Toronto-Montreal highway along the shore of the St. Lawrence river from the Quebec boundary to Prescott, Ont., collected by R. H. Picher in 1916 and 1917; (5) samples of rock representing the entire supply of stone for the city of Montreal, occurring in the city and on the Montreal and neighbouring islands, collected by H. Gauthier in 1917; and (6) samples of gravel representing the deposits of gravel occurring in the neighbourhood of Regina, Sask., collected by L. Reinecke in 1917.

During the summer of 1917 the writer supervised the collecting of a large number of samples to be used in obtaining data on the general problems of the sampling and testing of fieldstone and bed-rock. The testing of this material is complete, and the results have given considerable information on the problems in view.

TESTS OF SAMPLES OF BED-ROCK.

Samples were tested in accordance with the standard methods adopted by the U.S. Office of Public Roads.² Great care was exercised in collecting samples, in order to have them truly representative of the deposits. In the case of quarries around Montreal, and especially in the city, duplicate samples were taken at each place. The results given for quarries in the city of Montreal are in each case the average of tests on several samples separately collected. A table containing all the results of tests on bed-rock performed by the Road Materials Laboratory up-to-date appears at the end of this summary.

² Methods for the Determination of the Physical Properties of Road-Building Rock, F. H. Jackson, U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, Bul. No. 347 (1916).

The tests for specific gravity and water absorption need no explanation. Absorption results are reported as pounds of water absorbed per cubic foot of rock.

The abrasion test, duplicates in a practical laboratory way, the abrasive action of traffic on the stone in a road bed. The test is made on fifty pieces of stone of cubical shape, and of about the same size, which in the aggregate weigh 5,000 grammes (11 pounds). This charge is revolved for 10,000 revolutions in an iron cylinder (20 by 34 cms.) set at an angle of 30° across the axis. The percentage by weight of the charge worn to powder by this operation is reported as the per cent of wear. The French coefficient of wear is calculated from the per cent of wear by dividing the later value into 40. Values for the French coefficient of wear vary over a wider range than values for the per cent of wear for the same change in the quality of rock, and also show increasing values for increasing resistance to wear.

The hardness test measures the resistance possessed by a rock to wear produced by dry grinding with an abrasive. Two cores 1-inch diameter, and cut from a solid block of the rock by a diamond drill, are used in the test. These cores are fastened in holders, and are made to rest on end under the pressure of a fixed total initial weight, on a revolving disc carrying a standard artificial quartz sand. The loss in weight of each core during 1,000 revolutions of the disc is noted. One-third of the average loss of the two cores subtracted from 20 is reported as the hardness of the rock.

The toughness test measures the resistance of a rock to fracture by impact. It is intended to duplicate the stresses undergone by rock fragments in a roadbed through the impact of horses' hoofs and of swiftly moving vehicles passing over slight obstructions in the roadway. The test is made on cylinders 1-inch diameter and 1-inch high, carefully prepared from diamond drill cores. The cylinders are subjected to blows from a 5-kilogram hammer, transmitted to the cylinder by a plunger with a spherical end resting on the cylinder. The height through which the hammer is dropped, is successively increased by 1 centimetre, until the point of failure of the cylinder is reached. The height of the blow in centimetres causing failure, is taken as the toughness of the cylinder. The average results, on at least three cylinders, is reported as the toughness of the rock.

A table compiled by the United States Office of Public Roads, from the results of their experience in correlating the results of laboratory tests with the behaviour of rock when used in road construction, is probably the best attempt that has been made to interpret the results of laboratory tests. This table, in slightly modified form, is given below. Reference to it will give a general idea of the type of road construction for which a rock, on which results of tests are available, is suited.

1 Light traffic is assumed as less than 100 vehicles per day, moderate traffic between 100 and 250 vehicles, and heavy traffic over 250 vehicles per day.

2 Limiting values for the per cent of wear are not given in the table as published by the United States Office of Public Roads. The limits given in the above table are based on the limiting values for the French coefficient of wear, and are included for the convenience of those who prefer to think in terms of per cent of wear rather than in terms of French coefficient.

3 Crushing strength of 20,000 pounds, or greater per square inch, is frequently required.

4 Limits for French coefficient of wear (or per cent of wear), are not at present considered necessary for this type of construction.

5 Numerous tests have shown that limits for hardness are unnecessary if the material possesses the required French coefficient of wear (or per cent of wear) and toughness.

COMPARISON OF THE ROAD MATERIALS LABORATORIES WITH OTHER LABORATORIES.

The Department of Mines has formerly had samples tested in the laboratories of the Ontario Department of Public Highways, and also by Prof. A. H. Blanchard, Columbia University, New York, U.S.A. The results of these tests are published in Geological Survey Memoirs, Nos. 85 and 99. The limiting values given in the table just quoted are secured from the results of tests made in the laboratory of the U. S. Office of Public Roads, Washington. In order to compare the results of tests from these different laboratories and to use the table of the U. S. Office of Public Roads in interpreting them, it is important to know how closely tests made by all the laboratories concerned on the same material will agree. To secure this information, duplicate samples were collected and submitted for comparative tests between the laboratories of the U. S. Office of Public Roads, Columbia University; the Ontario Department of Highways; and the Mines Branch laboratory. The results are as follows:—

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

INVESTIGATIONAL WORK ON THE SAMPLING AND TESTING OF BED-ROCK.

The field work conducted around the city of Montreal during the season of 1917, and subsequent laboratory work, has been so planned and carried out that considerable information has been gathered relating to the general problem of the sampling and testing of bed-rock. The plan of this phase of the work can be summarized as follows:

I. To determine the probable variation in results of abrasion tests due to causes other than variation in the quality of the rock masses themselves, experiments were conducted to determine:—

(a) The probable variation in the results of tests due to laboratory manipulation.

(b) The probable variation in the results of tests on samples collected from the same material, and at the same place.

(c) The probable variation in the results of tests on samples collected from the rock in place in a quarry, and from the material obtained as a crushed product from the same quarry.

II. To secure information regarding the size of the mass of stone that can be fairly represented by one sample, experiments were conducted to determine:—

(a) The variation in quality of rock masses which appear in the outcrop or excavation to be of the same character.

(b) The magnitude of variations which are liable to appear between the results of tests on samples collected close together within the same sedimentary formation, but representing rock of apparently somewhat different character, due to a change in horizon.

(c) The variation in the results of tests on samples collected in the same sedimentary formation, but at points separated widely, both vertically and horizontally.

The following conclusions have been arrived at:—

1. The result of an abrasion test, expressed as per cent of wear, is liable to an error of 0.2 due to variation caused by laboratory procedure.

2. No additional error is introduced into the results of abrasion tests by the process of sampling as practised by the Road Materials Division.¹

3. Results of abrasion tests on rock in place in a deposit represent within a probable difference of 0.4 the per cent of wear that will be obtained from crushed stone produced from the deposit.

4. In the case of deposits consisting of stone of a very uniform character and appearance, the results of abrasion tests on samples taken at one point in the deposit can be regarded as representing—within the probable error due to laboratory manipulation—the per cent of wear of the stone over quite a considerable area: at least a quarter of a square mile.

5. It is possible to assign an average value and fairly narrow limits of variation about this value for the per cent of wear and the toughness of material occurring in a limestone formation, even though stone of quite widely different character is included in the formation.² This has been proven by samples collected from all parts of formations up to 500 feet thick, and covering areas up to 50 square miles.

Formation.	Average % Wear and Average Deviation.	Average Toughness and Average Deviation.
Beekmantown.	3.1 ± 0.5	16 ± 7
Black River.	3.1 ± 0.4	8 ± 1.5
Chazy—
(Montreal Island).	3.9 ± 0.1	7 ± 1
(Isle Jesus).	4.6 ± 0.5	6 ± 1.5
Trenton.	4.1 ± 0.6	7 ± 1.5

6. These limits should define the reliability with which results of abrasion and toughness tests made on samples collected from a quarry in such limestone formations will continue to represent the material produced from the quarry as quarrying operations are extended from year to year.

SAMPLING AND TESTING OF FIELDSTONE.

Attention has been given during the past year to methods of sampling and testing fieldstone, and a satisfactory system has been devised.

Examination of areas in which fieldstone occur, shows that fieldstone deposits consist of mixtures of boulders of several characteristic rock types, depending on the locality. These types are easily recognized by their distinctive lithological character; and estimates of composition in terms of these types can quickly be made on large quantities of material as it occurs throughout an area. In collecting samples, and making tests to secure data for the interpretation of the information on composition obtained in the field, it has been found best to treat each type of material separately. Samples of each type entering into the composition of the deposits of fieldstone throughout an area, are sampled separately, and at several points in the area, if the area is large. From the results of the abrasion tests on these separate types, it is found that the per cent of wear of any combination of these types can be calculated. Conclusions can thus be drawn regarding the worth, as road material, of the combinations of types that have been found to make up the deposits in any particular locality examined.

Experiments have shown that the per cent of wear of a mixture of several rock types is a simple function of the per cent of wear of each rock type, and of the proportion expressed in per cent in which the types are present in the mixture. If the per cents of wear of the various types are expressed by W_1, W_2, \dots, W_n and the percentage of proportions in which they occur in the mixtures by C_1, C_2, \dots, C_n , the per cent of wear of the mixture W_m is given by the formula:—

$$W_m = \frac{\sum CW}{100}$$

One series of results are sufficient for illustration. (See page 129.)

SPECIAL SERIES OF TESTS OF BED-ROCK COLLECTED FROM THE QUARRIES IN THE CITY OF MONTREAL.

Special attention was paid to the sampling and testing of rock from the quarries in the city of Montreal (including Outremont and Côte des Neige). In practically every case abrasion samples were collected in duplicate. This was done by securing in the quarry twice the number of pieces of rock necessary for one test and dividing this sample in two in the laboratory by quartering. In some cases, two single samples were collected in the quarry over the same part of the face and kept separate. When different types of rock occurred in a quarry, duplicate samples to represent such types were taken. When quarrying operations were being carried on in such a way as to keep separate the material from groups of beds of limestone or where decided variation in lithological character occurred in groups of beds in such a way that these beds could be quarried separately, samples were collected to represent such groups of beds. Samples were always secured from stock piles. Toughness blocks were secured to represent each type of rock occurring in a quarry and also to represent each important lithological phase of such types. The accompanying table gives the results of all tests made on these samples.

*Values given in the table at the end of this report for the quarries in the City of Montreal are the average values of tests on samples collected from the rock in place in the quarries.
†Two values for toughness refer to tests made on cylinders cut parallel to and across the bedding planes.

TESTING OF GRAVELS.

Tests have also been made on twenty-one samples of gravel collected to represent the deposits of this material occurring along the Toronto-Montreal Highway from Port Hope, Ont., to Napanee, Ont. These tests consist of complete granulometric analyses; determination of the voids; and abrasion tests on the pebbles contained in the material. On account of the bulky nature of such results, they will not be given here. Seventeen gravel samples from the neighbourhood of Regina, Sask., were also tested by Mr. L. Reinecke. This work included, besides the abovementioned tests, determinations of the compressive and tensile strength of cement mortars prepared from the sand constituent of the gravels.

TESTING OF BALL MILL PEBBLES.

Five samples of pebbles from Gabarus Bay, Cape Breton, N.S., of possible value as ball mill pebbles, were submitted to the Road Materials Laboratory for test by Dr. A. O. Hayes, Geological Survey of Canada. These pebbles were tested in the Deval Abrasion Machine, and compared for wearing quality with commercial flint pebbles. Very favourable results were obtained. Details of the experiments will appear in the Summary Report of the Geological Survey.

DIVISION OF CHEMISTRY.

F. G. WAIT, Chief of Division.

The chemical laboratory has been kept constantly engaged during the year, and the usual wide variety of samples has been attended to. The whole time of one assistant, and part of that of another has been devoted to the examination and analysis of war materials. This, it has been felt, is our paramount duty at the present moment, and, as a result, some departmental work has been held back for a longer period than was customary.

The detail work done during the year may be conveniently tabulated as follows:—

1. ASSAYS FOR GOLD, SILVER, AND PLATINUM: Three hundred and four samples, distributed as follows, from:—

Alberta.....	3 samples.
British Columbia.....	20 "
New Brunswick.....	2 "
Nova Scotia.....	14 "
Ontario.....	70 "
Quebec.....	9 "
	and 186 "

of which no information as to locality was available.

2. ALLOYS: Eight samples. These comprised brass, 3; bronze, 3; typemetal, 1; and nickel, crude, 1.

3. ANTIMONY ORES: Twenty-two samples. All from undesignated localities in British Columbia.

4. BUILDING STONES: Fifty-two samples from the undermentioned localities in British Columbia; all collected by Dr. W. A. Parks:—

(a) Ten Cretaceous sandstones, examined to ascertain the nature and quantity of the cementing material in each, from: Denman island, Gabriola island, Hornby island, 2 samples; Mayne island, buff; Newcastle island, Salt Spring island, Saturna island, 2 samples, buff, and blue; Jack Point, Nanaimo.

(c) Two volcanic rocks—sulphur content only determined—from: Dease lake, near Kamloops, B.C.; Haddington island.

(d) Eight marbles—complete analysis—from: Grant Brook, 2 samples, red and white; Kaslo, 1 sample, white; Marble Head, 2 samples, grey and white; Nootka sound, 2 samples, grey and white; Texada island, 1 sample, white.

5. COPPER ORES: Forty-five samples, distributed as follows:—

i. Nova Scotia: Thirteen samples from:—

a. Sterling zinc-copper deposit, Cape Breton co.

b. Dunbrack argentiferous galena prospect in Musquodoboit area, Halifax co.

ii. Ontario: Ten samples, from:—

a. Algoma, mining location W.R. 92, timber berth No. 138, near Whiskey lake, township 138.

b. Hastings, 5 samples from lot 14, con. IX of Hungerford tp.

c. Kenora, 3 samples from unsurveyed territory, near English station, C.P.R.

d. Sudbury, lot 1, con. VII, of Lorne township.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

- iii. British Columbia: One sample from Rithet's farm, near Victoria.
- iv. Northwest Territories: Four samples from Bathurst inlet.
- v. Undesignated localities: Seventeen samples.
- 6. FERROSILICON: Several samples have been submitted to complete analysis.
- 7. GLASS SAND: One sample of crushed white sandstone from lot 6, con. I, Nepean township, Ottawa front, Carleton co., Ontario.
- 8. GRAPHITE: Four samples from the Globe Graphite Co's. property, situated on lot 20, con. VI, of North Elmsley, Lanark co., Ontario.
- 9. IRON ORES: Twelve samples, as follows, from:—
 - i. Ontario: Four samples of hematite, with some magnetite, from the Fort William district—precise locality not stated.
 - ii. Quebec: Two samples of limonite, bog iron ore—one from Bolton township, Brome county, and one from Weir, Argenteuil county.
 - iii. British Columbia: One sample of limonite, from a point half a mile north of Alta Lake station, on the P.G.E. Ry.
- 10. IDENTIFICATIONS:

Under this heading may be grouped 178 samples of various kinds, which were submitted for determination of species, or other fitting description. None are of special interest except to the person to whom they belonged, hence are not scheduled for special mention. In all cases the results have been communicated to the sender.
- 11. LEAD ORES: Nineteen samples, as follows:—
 - i. Nova Scotia: Thirteen samples.
 - a. Cape Breton county, Sterling zinc-copper deposits, 10.
 - b. Halifax county, Dunbrack argentiferous galena prospect, Musquodoboit area, 3 samples.
 - ii. Ontario: One sample.

Hastings county, lot 26, con. (?) of Madoc township and
 - iii. Unstated localities: Five samples.
- 12. LIMESTONES, DOLOMITES, and MAGNESITES. 105 samples.
 - i. Quebec: Eighty samples:
 - a. Argenteuil county, 74 specimens of dolomites and calcareous magnesites from exposures on lot 15, on ranges IX, X, and XI, of Grenville township.
 - b. Eskimo island—Gulf of St. Lawrence—3 samples.
 - c. Charles island—Hudson straits—3 samples.
 - ii. Ontario: One sample:

Carleton county, lot 22, con. XII of Fitzroy township, from the C.N. Ry. cutting.
 - iii. Alberta: Two samples—both from the immediate vicinity of Fort McMurray—one from what is locally known as Paul Miller's ledge on the river, and one from an exposure between the H. B. Co's store and Horse creek.
 - iv. British Columbia: Eight samples:

Localities shown under heading "Building Stones."
 - v. Unspecified localities: Fourteen samples.
- 13. MANGANESE ORES: Five samples:
 - i. Nova Scotia:

Lunenburg county, a supposedly manganimiferous biotite from the granite at New Ross.
 - ii. British Columbia: Three specimens from the vicinity of Poplar.
 - iii. One specimen, the locality of occurrence of which was not stated.
- 14. MOLYBDENUM ORES and CONCENTRATES. 36 samples—
 - i. Thirty samples of concentrates were analysed for the Ore Concentration plant.

- ii. Two samples of ore from a deposit at Mount St. Patrick, Renfrew county, Ontario.
- iii. Four from undesignated localities have been submitted to partial analysis during the year.

15. NICKEL ORES AND METAL.

Eight samples—

These were from the following localities:—

- i. Ontario: Carleton county, lot (?), con. (?), Fitzroy township. Kenora district, vicinity of English station, C.P.R. (2 samples). Kenora district, Stanton property, near Vermilion bay. Thunder Bay district, vicinity of Jellicoe station.
- ii. British Columbia: Rithet's farm, near Victoria.
- iii. One specimen of shot nickel (metallic).
- iv. One specimen, locality not stated.

16. ROCKS AND MINERALS: Thirty-two samples, as follows:—

- i. Prince Edward Island: Supposed glass sand from near Charlottetown.
- ii. Quebec: Colerainite, crystalline, from the old Standard mine, Black Lake, Megantic co. Colerainite, amorphous, from the old Standard mine, Black Lake, Megantic co. Massive serpentine, from the Carr mine, Coleraine, Megantic co. Stichtite, white, from the Lambly mine, Coleraine, Megantic co. Clastic rocks—undesignated—four samples from the Grenville series, from the headwaters of the Opawika river, in northern Quebec.
- iii. Ontario: Sandstone, from ridge of Grenville quartzite, situated on lots 15 and 16, con. I of Elizabethtown, Leeds co., Ontario. Moulding sand from Leeds co. (vicinity of Brockville). Celestite, partial analysis, from lot 7, con. X, of Bagot, Renfrew co.
- iv. Manitoba: Eight samples of clays and soil, as follows:— Subsoil of the Red River valley, vicinity of Winnipeg, 2 samples. Niobrara shale, middle beds, N. $\frac{1}{2}$ sec. 35, 2, 6, W. of 1st meridian, Deadhorse valley, west of Morden, No. 2 of section. Niobrara shale, base of upper beds, NE. $\frac{1}{4}$ sec. 34, 2, 6, W. of 1st., No. 3 of section. 'Chalk,' buff weathering beds of upper Niobrara, Deadhorse valley, N. $\frac{1}{2}$ sec. 23, 2, 6, W. of 1st, No. 6 of section. White bands in the black and white beds at the base of the Pierre, Pembina valley, sec. 22, 1, 8, No. 7 of section. Black band in the black and white beds at the base of the Pierre, Pembina valley, sec. 22, 1, 8, W. of 1st. Millwood shale, N. $\frac{1}{2}$ sec. 29, 1, 5. Face of escarpment in southern part of field.
- v. Saskatchewan: Six clays from:— Eastend, secs. 5 and 6, township 7, range 21, west of 3rd. meridian (4 samples). Eastend, sec. 25, township 6, range 21, west of 3rd. meridian. Willows, sec. 12, township 8, range 29, west of 3rd. meridian (2 samples).

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 26a

Five siliceous rocks from vicinity of Amisk lake, and 1 glass sand—a 'war material'—from an undefined locality.

17. SANDSTONES FOR STRUCTURAL PURPOSES: (See under Building Stones).

18. STEEL: Thirty-one samples.

19. SULPHUR-BEARING ORES: Four samples—all from Ontario:—

One from the Stanton property, Vermilion bay, Kenora district.

Two from unspecified localities in Fitzroy township, Carleton co., and One from Nickel lake, Rainy River district.

20. WATERS AND BRINES: Sixteen samples, from:—

i. Nova Scotia: Three samples:—

Stake Road: from a drill hole 70 feet in depth.

Inverness mine, Inverness, 2 samples of acid mine waters.

ii. Saskatchewan, 12 samples: one from each of the following localities, all collected by Mr. J. Stansfield:—

SW. 17, 16, 20, W. of 2nd.

NW. 26, 16, 21, W. of 2nd.

SE. 32, 15, 21, W. of 2nd.

SE. 12, 24, 30, W. of 2nd.

NE. 33, 16, 9, W. of 2nd., flowing well, 8 m. SE. of Regina.

SW. 30, 13, 18, W. of 2nd., owner, Zimmer.

NE. 31, 14, 17, W. of 2nd., owner, Reich.

NE. 11, 7, 13, W. of 2nd., owner, Glen Topham.

NW. 14, 4, 11, W. of 2nd., owner, F. F. Beyer.

Rouleau, town supply, from two wells pumped simultaneously.

Holbrite, town supply.

Sedley, town supply, from a 54-foot well at south end of rink.

iii. Alberta, one (brine) from No. 1 well of the Peace River Oil Co., on Peace river.

REPORT OF THE DIVISION OF MINERAL RESOURCES AND STATISTICS.

JOHN MCLEISH, Chief of Division.

During 1917, this Division has, as usual, been occupied with the duties involved in the collection of statistics and records respecting the mining and metallurgical industries of Canada, and the preparation of Annual Reports on mineral production, etc.

During the past two years, the amount of work has been considerably increased, through the collection of monthly statistics of production of pig-iron, steel and coal; this monthly collection having been extended during 1917, to cover asbestos and pyrites.

COLLECTION OF STATISTICS, AND PREPARATION OF REPORTS, ETC.

Statistics of production are collected by correspondence from some 3,500 smelter, mine and quarry operators, throughout the Dominion. These inquiries are supplemented by the collection of records of ore and mineral shipments from railway companies; ore receipts by smelting companies both in Canada and in the United States; and other data having a direct bearing on mineral production, or on mineral consumption.

The period covered by the statistical record is the calendar year; and for many years it has been found possible to complete a preliminary report on the mineral production of Canada which has been sent to press during the last week in February, and distributed during the first week in March.

The collection of monthly production records for coal, iron, steel and certain other metals, has permitted much earlier estimates to be completed, so that on the first of January, 1917, there had already been given to the public a close estimate of the production of iron, steel, coal, nickel and other metals, during 1916; while before the end of December, 1917, similar estimates for 1917 had already been completed and made public.

In the completion of the final reports on mineral production during the calendar year 1916, Mr. A. Buisson has compiled the statistics with respect to metals and metallic ores, and has prepared the text of the chapters on gold, copper, lead, nickel, silver, zinc and other miscellaneous metals. He has also compiled the "List of Metal Mines and Smelters."

Mr. Casey has, as usual, compiled all the statistics of the production of non-metalliferous products and structural materials, as well as the record of imports of mineral products, and has prepared for publication the various "List of Mine and Quarry Operators"—with the exception of the "Metal Mines List".

The following reports and lists were completed during the year, and sent to press on the dates indicated:—

Reports—

- Preliminary Report on the Mineral Production of Canada, during the calendar year 1916—February 28, 1917.
- The Production of Iron and Steel in Canada, during the calendar year 1916—June 16, 1917.
- The Production of Coal and Coke in Canada, during the calendar year 1916—July 20, 1917.
- The Production of Cement, Lime, Clay Products, and other Structural Materials, during the calendar year 1916—August 18, 1917.
- The Production of Copper, Gold, Lead, Nickel, Silver, Zinc, and other Metals in Canada, during the calendar year 1916—August 28, 1917.
- Annual Report on the Mineral Production in Canada, during the calendar year 1916—October 27, 1917.

Lists of Mine Operators—

- List of Coal Mine Operators in Canada, August 22, 1917.
- List of Mines in Canada (other than Metal Mines, Coal Mines, Stone Quarries, Clay Plants, etc.), September 5, 1917.
- List of Cement Mills and of Sand-Lime Brick Plants, September 14, 1917.
- List of Manufacturers of Clay Products, September 14, 1917.
- List of Manufacturers of Lime in Canada, September 14, 1917.
- List of Stone Quarry Operators, September 20, 1917.
- List of Operators of Sand and Gravel Pits, September 27, 1917.

Special Bulletins, or Press Notices—

- Iron and Steel in Canada (Revised Statistics), 1916.
- Iron and Steel in Canada, 1917, January to March.
- Iron and Steel in Canada, 1917, January to June.
- Iron and Steel in Canada, 1917, January to September.
- Coal and Coke in Canada, 1916 (Revised Statistics).
- Coal and Coke in Canada, 1917, January to March.
- Coal and Coke in Canada, 1917, January to June.
- Monthly Production of Coal by Provinces, 1917, January to October.
- Asbestos in Canada, 1916, and first six months of 1917.

In addition to the preparation of reports, lists of operators, and special bulletins, much time is devoted to the preparation of Memoranda respecting mineral production and consumption, mineral resources, etc., for the information of correspondents, and for other Government departments.

During 1917, special inquiries were undertaken with regard to the production of pyrites ore and of sulphuric acid, for the information of the Munition Resources Commission. We were able, in September, to furnish a complete record of pyrites shipments for the first eight months of the year, together with a close estimate of the total shipments for the calendar year, showing the sulphur contents, and the quantities exported to United States. In respect to sulphuric acid, no record of Canadian production had hitherto been available. A complete record was obtained, covering production during each of the five years to the end of 1916, and during the first six months of 1917.

COLLECTION OF MONTHLY STATISTICS.

The collection of monthly statistics of production of iron and steel, and coal, which was begun in 1916, and to which reference was made in my summary report of last year, was continued in greater detail during 1917. At first, the collection was undertaken quarterly, but in the case of coal—at the request of the Fuel Controller—this was extended to an actual monthly collection. The tabulated results of these monthly records have been furnished to the public in the special bulletin and press notices already listed.

CO-OPERATION WITH CENSUS AND STATISTICS OFFICE IN COLLECTION OF MINERAL PRODUCTION STATISTICS FOR 1917.

The Census and Statistics Office of the Department of Trade and Commerce having undertaken to collect a comprehensive annual census of production and industry, approached this department with a view to securing our co-operation in the collection of the mineral production records which would otherwise have been duplicated by that office.

As a result of the method of co-operation agreed upon, the Census Office will accept the records of mineral production as collected by the Department of Mines; the census respecting capital, labour, cost of materials used, power used, etc., being collected directly by the Census Office. To attain this end, the following notice has been sent out with each of our schedules for the collection of 1917 statistics of production:—

NOTICE.

An Industrial Census, including mining and allied interests, is being taken by the Census and Statistics Office as for 1917. By arrangement with the Department of Mines, the record of MINING PRODUCTION collected by the latter as for 1917 will be accepted as a part of this

8 GEORGE V, A. 1918

Census, the forms employed in this connection having been approved by Order in Council, and the chief of the Division of Mineral Resources and Statistics having been appointed for this purpose an agent of the Census, under Clauses 9 and 6 of the Census and Statistics Act respectively. The object of this arrangement is to avoid duplication of inquiries and consequent trouble to operators.

MINERAL RESOURCES RECORDS.

In my first Summary Report on taking charge of this Division in 1908, I described the "Card Index to Mineral Occurrences"; the "Mineral Occurrence Record Fyle"; and the "Clipping System for mining information", that had already been established as part of the organization of the Mineral Statistics and Mines Division of the Geological Survey.

This indexing and fyling has been continued in the Division of Mineral Resources and Statistics only in so far as our very limited staff would permit. In order that the Division may carry out more completely the function "to collect and preserve all available records of mines and mining works in Canada", it will be necessary to provide a special staff for the purpose, and bring the Division into the closest possible co-operation with the economic field work of the whole Department and to provide that all field officers shall turn in to this Mineral Resources Record Office, copies of all data collected respecting mineral resources.

The incomplete fyles already available in this Division, have been of the utmost value to the members of the Mines Branch staff in planning their field work.

DRAUGHTING DIVISION.

H. E. BAINE, Chief Draughtsman.

Twenty-eight maps were compiled during the year, and delivered to the Government Printing Bureau ; also 184 mechanical drawings, sketch maps, and charts were executed, to accompany the various reports of the Branch.

The following is a list of maps prepared and published during the calendar year 1917:—

REPORT COVERING THE OPERATIONS OF THE DOMINION OF CANADA
ASSAY OFFICE, VANCOUVER, B.C., DURING THE YEAR ENDING
DECEMBER 31, 1917.

I

REPORT OF THE MANAGER, G. MIDDLETON.

Following is a report covering the operations of the Dominion of Canada Assay Office, Vancouver, B.C., for the calendar year ending December 31, 1917, accompanied by statements showing Assayers' and Melters' supplies on hand.

The business of the office had outgrown the capacity of our bullion balances, and a new balance with a capacity of 5,000 ounces in each pan, sensibility 0.005 ounces; 5-foot bronze beam of special design, with steel bearings, was installed last April, together with a new set of brass truncated troy weights, 500 ounces down to .001 ounce and 10 additional 500-ounce brass truncated troy weights, which are a pronounced acquisition to our equipment.

The electric protection of our vault was thoroughly overhauled last October, and the lining and wiring of the inside of vault renewed.

When the market where the local manufacturing jewellers and manufacturers of dental supplies formerly purchased gold was closed to them last fall, this office was requested to sell gold for manufacturing purposes. On November 21 authority was received to comply with the request, provided a declaration is furnished in each instance that the gold is to be used only for manufacturing purposes in Canada. Sales are now being made regularly, and the arrangement is much appreciated by the manufacturers. Disbursements and receipts for the purchase and sale of the gold are embodied in the statement under the heading "Disbursements and Receipts, etc.," in this report.

There were 1,583 deposits of gold bullion received, melted, assayed and purchased, and before disposing of same the bars weighing under 500 ounces each were assembled and melted into large bars, which were also assayed. A total of 1,800 meltings and 1,800 assays was required in connexion with the purchase and disposal of the bullion. All assays were run in quadruplicate. Two hundred and fifty ounces of quartation silver were manufactured, and punched into discs ranging in weight from 25 to 750 mg.; 15,000 cupels of different sizes were also manufactured; and 445 pounds of slag treated, and the values contained in same recovered.

The aggregate weight of the gold bullion deposits before melting was 191,626.04 troy ounces, and after melting 187,884.48 troy ounces; showing a loss in melting of 1.9525 per cent. The loss in weight by assaying was 30.44 troy ounces, making the weight of bullion after melting and assaying 187,854.04 troy ounces; the average fineness of same being .835½ gold and .127 silver.

The net value of the gold and silver contained in deposits was $3,257,220.71, and was received from the following sources:—

REPORT OF THE DEPUTY SUPERINTENDENT GENERAL

OTTAWA, October 21, 1917.

HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN, K.C., B.A.,
Superintendent General of Indian Affairs,
Ottawa.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the report of the Department of Indian Affairs for the year ended March 31, 1917.

It will be observed that many alterations have been made this year in the report. The contents have been greatly reduced in order to meet the wishes of the Committee on Parliamentary Printing with a view to the curtailment of expenditure. Every effort has nevertheless been made to retain, in a shortened and condensed form, all the most essential features, and it is therefore hoped that the value of the publication will not be seriously impaired by the reduction in size. The reports of Indian Agents and Superintendents and the report of the Superintendent of Indian Education, which formerly comprised Part II of the report, have been omitted, and replaced by summaries of the information contained therein. The amount of space devoted to statistics has been materially reduced, but in so far as possible this reduction has been effected by condensation rather than by total omissions. Many of the tabular statements are retained in their entirety. A considerable amount of space has been saved by the omission of the return of officers and employees, the inclusion of which is not now considered necessary in this report.

I am glad to say that notwithstanding the conditions brought about by the war, the general progress and well-being of the Indians has, on the whole, been very satisfactory during the past year.

POPULATION.

The Indian population does not vary much from year to year. A comparative examination of the census records shows that there is a slow but steady increase. This demonstrates the incorrectness of the popular notion that the Indians are gradually disappearing.

The opening up of the Far North and other remote districts is rendering it possible to secure more accurate statistics of the Indian population in the outlying parts of the Dominion.

The following table shows the Indian population by provinces:—

BUILDINGS.

As stated in former reports, it is the policy of the department to replace the old boarding and industrial school buildings by modern structures with the latest sanitary improvements, and to erect new agency and farm buildings where these are necessary for the efficient carrying on of the work. During the past few years, however, the limited appropriation at the disposal of the department, has prevented the erection of new buildings being undertaken to any extent.

A combined day-school and teacher's residence has been erected at Sheshegwaning, and a teacher's residence at Shubenecadie and at Sydney Bay. Additions and repairs have been made to the Lorette school, the French Bay school, and the Caughnawaga teacher's residence. Repairs have also been made to the Malagawatch school and a laundry building erected and equipped at Qu'Appelle Industrial school.

An office has been built for the Kenora agency, and a warehouse at Garden River. Alterations and additions have been made to the agency residence at St. Regis, and also to the council-house and lock-up at Caughnawaga.

Heating and ventilation systems have also been installed in several of the department's buildings during the past year.

ROADS, BRIDGES, AND DRAINAGE.

The building of new permanent roads and bridges and maintenance of main thoroughfares crossing reserves has entailed a considerable expenditure. A new steel concrete bridge has been erected over the Sucker creek, York road, Tyendinaga, and a steel bridge rebuilt on this reserve.

Repairs have been made to bridges and culverts on the main highway through Caughnawaga, and substantial repairs made to the St. Isidore, Laprairie, and Caughnawaga roads.

Preliminary survey work has also been done on the Caughnawaga village streets for permanent culverts and drainage scheme, as well as for the roadway and bridges from Ste. Lucie to Notre Dame de la Mercie through Doncaster reserve and for the continuation of roads from Roberval to Pointe Bleue, Que.

A number of drains have been surveyed and constructed on the Six Nations reserve, also on the Muncery, Sarnia, Rice Lake, Kettle, and Stony Point reserves. The results apparently have been very satisfactory and the encouragement to the Indians through increased production resulting from drains previously constructed has been gratifying.

AGRICULTURE.

The farming Indians are responding well to the urgent call for increased production, and the department is making every effort to impress upon them the present vital importance of agricultural effort.

The department's policy in connection with agricultural instruction in Ontario, which I have outlined at some length in previous reports, is now meeting with notable success. Various operations of interest are being conducted on the reserves and at the Indian schools throughout the province under the auspices of the department's field agents. A standing-crop competition in corn was organized at the Walpole Island reserve, and in oats at the Saugeen, Moravian, Muncery, and Tyendinaga reserves. Vegetable-garden contests were organized at the Rama, Rice Lake, Mud Lake, Alnwick, Moravian, Georgina Island, and Sarnia reserves. The measure of success attendant upon these contests has exceeded the expectations of the department. The oat crops already inspected are exceptionally good and the gardens are large and contain a great variety of produce.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 27

A series of meetings on greater production was held on nearly all the reserves in the province. A "Production Club" has been organized on the Six Nations reserve, the function of which is to ascertain the needs of the farmers in the matter of seed and help, the amount of land unplanted and the remaining amount available to plant. The work of this club has been most beneficial in stimulating greater production on the reserve, and the Six Nation Indians have this year the largest crop on record.

Surveys for open ditches and tile drains were made at the Six Nations, Moravian, Sarnia, Kettle Point and Muncey reserves. The work proposed in this regard on the Six Nations reserve will, when completed, give outlet drains for about ten thousand acres, comprising about fifteen miles of ditches.

The department's field agent, Mr. R. H. Abraham, a graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College, has reported that the results of the work conducted under his supervision this year have so far been most encouraging, and that the Indians of Ontario are making a great effort to contribute their share towards increased production.

An important and interesting feature of the department's policy of agricultural instruction in Ontario is the work conducted at the Indian schools. Lessons in agriculture, prepared by the department's agricultural representatives, are included in the curriculum of every school. School gardens have been established at the majority of schools in the province. Fairs have been organized at a number of the schools. The department furnishes the children with pure seed for their grain and vegetable exhibits. Both the teachers and the pupils, with few exceptions, show great enthusiasm in the cultivation of these gardens; the parents also take an interest in this work, which exerts a helpful influence in introducing more modern methods of farming on the reserve. This movement should contribute largely to the future efficiency and success of the Indian farmers.

The Indians of the Prairie Provinces have of recent years made remarkable progress in agriculture and stock-raising. When the government took charge of these Indians, after the disappearance of the buffalo, they were in a destitute and helpless condition, and had to be rationed. Since that time it has been the policy of the department to afford them instruction in modern methods of farming and the care of cattle with a view to placing them on a self-supporting basis. The proceeds of the surrender and sale of Indian lands have been largely applied to the purchase of modern implements and other improvements. The agricultural and stock-raising industries among these Indians have met with such a measure of success that rationing is now practically a thing of the past, except in the case of those who are aged or invalids, and, therefore, unable to support themselves. Instruction in farming and the care of stock is now given in the majority of the Indian schools in the prairie provinces, and the young Indians are thus fitted to become practical farmers in later life. An Indian pupil upon leaving school is assisted by a grant of cattle and horses, implements, tools, and building material, and this method of encouragement is producing very satisfactory and beneficial results.

8 GEORGE V, A. 1918

The following table shows a decreased production as compared with last year, owing to unfavourable weather, but as prices were higher, the Indians realized a larger amount from the sale of their crop.

REAL AND PERSONAL PROPERTY.

The following table shows the value of real and personal property by provinces. It will be observed that there is a substantial increase in each province since last year.

SOURCES AND VALUE OF INCOME.

The following table shows the sources and value of the income of the Indians in the years 1916 and 1917, respectively:—

	1916.	1917.
Value of farm products including hay	$2,246,507 00	$2,351,807 00
Value of beef sold, also of that used for food..	307,779 00	346,792 00

Total income of Indians.. . . .	$6,691,993 41	$7,300,486 00

The above table shows a marked increase since last year in every item except "Received from land rentals and from timber," and "Annuities"; this is particularly satisfactory, inasmuch as the last-mentioned items are the only sources of income for which the Indians are not responsible. This clearly indicates that they are becoming more self-reliant and are rapidly and successfully adapting themselves to the new conditions of life with which they are confronted by the spread of civilization.

The higher prices paid for raw furs this year have greatly relieved the situation of the hunting Indians.

It will be observed that the total income of the Indians for 1917 shows an increase of approximately $600,000 as compared with 1916. The total income for 1916 shows an increase of over three-quarters of a million dollars over 1915, therefore making the notable increase of one and one-half millions during the two years.

The following table shows the per capita income of the Indians, by provinces, in the years 1916 and 1917, respectively. With the exception of New Brunswick and Ontario there is a substantial increase in each province. The average per capita increase for the whole Dominion is $5.75 since 1916. In 1916, there was an increase of $6.26 as compared with 1915. The average per capita income of the Indians has, therefore, been increased by $12.01 during the past two years. Detailed statistics with regard to sources and value of income will be found on page 56, part II, of this report:—

EDUCATION.

The chief aim of the department in connection with Indian education is to fit the young Indians to become self-reliant and self-supporting members of the community.

The Indian day schools may be said to correspond to the provincial public schools, and provide the necessary preparatory training to qualify pupils for the collegiate institutes and high schools.

The residential schools, which are all situated in Ontario and the western provinces and districts, and are conducted under the auspices of the various religious denominations, offer a training of a broader character than is afforded by the day schools. At these institutions the girls are given instruction in domestic science, and the boys are taught modern methods of farming and stock-raising.

In the western provinces the department has introduced a system of assistance to ex-pupils of boarding and industrial schools. Upon leaving school an Indian pupil is given a grant of cattle or horses, implements, tools, and building material. In some cases further assistance is given in the form of a loan of money, and the ex-pupils are as a rule very prompt in the fulfilment of the obligations thus incurred. This method of encouragement has been a great stimulant to progress, and although disappointing individual cases are inevitable, the record of the ex-pupils, on their return from the schools to the reserves, has, on the whole, been most satisfactory.

There were 341 schools of all classes in operation during the year, viz: 265 day, 59 boarding, and 17 industrial schools.

The number of schools in operation remains the same in the boarding and industrial school classes as compared with the previous year, while there is a decrease of four in the day schools.

Several day schools were closed during the year, owing to lack of attendance or inability to secure teachers; on the other hand, several new schools were opened and work resumed in some which had been temporarily closed.

The total enrolment for the year was 12,178 pupils, 6,167 boys and 6,011 girls. As compared with the past fiscal year this shows a decrease of 621 pupils, 361 boys and 260 girls.

The day schools had an enrolment of 7,658 pupils, the boarding schools 2,902 and the industrial schools 1,618. During the previous year, the enrolment was 8,138 in the day, 2,854 in the boarding and 1,807 in the industrial schools.

The average attendance during the year was 8,255, being an increase, in comparison with the previous year, of 109. The percentage of attendance of the number on the roll was 68.03 and during the previous year it was 63.05. While the total enrolment shows a decrease in pupilage over that of the previous year, there is an increase of 4.98 per cent in the average attendance.

In addition to the above about 125 Indian children, many of them orphan or neglected, are being cared for and educated in various public and private residential institutions throughout the Dominion. A number are attending colleges and universities and their records have been very good.

The schools in operation during the year were conducted under the following auspices: Undenominational, 54 day and 2 industrial; Roman Catholic, 87 day, 32 boarding and 8 industrial; Church of England, 77 day, 17 boarding and 3 industrial; Methodist, 39 day, 3 boarding and 4 industrial; Presbyterian, 6 day and 7 boarding; Salvation Army, 2 day schools.

The Indian schools in Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island are inspected semi-annually by the provincial, separate, and public school inspectors, under arrangements with the department of education in each province. In New Brunswick and British Columbia the Indian schools are inspected by officials appointed by the department. In Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, and the Northwest Territories the schools are inspected by the inspectors of the Indian agencies, regular visits are made, and reports submitted to the department. In addition to this inspection, almost all the schools are under the direct supervision of the different Indian agents, who are required to make monthly inspections and reports.

Qualified teachers with professional training are engaged whenever it is possible to obtain them, and in the older settled portions of the different provinces the greater number of the teachers are so qualified. In the schools situated on the more remote reserves it is difficult to secure teachers with certificates. Many of the teachers who have not professional qualifications have, however, long experience and are meeting with a great measure of success in Indian school work.

During the last fiscal year, 21 girl and 14 boy ex-pupils were assisted to the extent of $2,948.48. Ex-pupils have refunded on loans during that period $1,723.64.

In addition to the above-mentioned refund, the ex-pupils of the File Hills Colony have refunded $2,656.54 on a loan of $2,863.74, which was advanced to purchase seed for the spring of 1916, their crops having been hailed out during the previous summer.

The expenditure on Indian education during the past fiscal year, from parliamentary appropriations, amounted to $733,768.09. This is a decrease as compared with the previous year of $177,609.80, and is accounted for in the expenditure for new school buildings and in repairs and alterations to old buildings; expenditures for these purposes were, owing to the greater needs of providing money for war appropriations, curtailed to the lowest possible point.

There was an increase in the amounts appropriated for the per capita grants to boarding schools and in the salaries of the teachers of day schools.

The following statement shows the expenditure for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1917, for Indian education from parliamentary appropriations:—

8 GEORGE V, A. 1918

Besides the above, the various bands of Indians, whose funds are sufficient to meet the outlay, contributed the sum of $25,832.32 towards the payment of the salaries of teachers and the maintenance of school buildings on their reserves. For the fiscal year ending March 31, 1917, the amounts so contributed have been as follows:—

The amounts expended from capital represent the outlay on new buildings, while the expenditure from interest represents the current expenses.

The total expenditure for Indian education during the present year was nearly $200,000 less than for the year 1915-16.

The religious denominations engaged in Indian educational work spend yearly considerable sums from their funds, but the exact amount of these is not known.

A comprehensive statistical statement will be found on page 61, part II, of this report, showing the enrolment and attendance at all classes of schools. The statistics giving the number of children of school age, enrolment, and average attendance, together with the pupilage of residential schools, printed at the head of each agency, show the relative number of children receiving education to the number of children to be provided for.

THE WAR.

It is impossible at present to prepare an accurate statement of the number of Indian enlistments, but from an approximate estimate the minimum may safely be placed at 2,000. This is an excellent record in view of the fact that the total number of Indian men of military age does not exceed 15,000, of whom many are located in remote districts, and are not sufficiently in touch with civilization to be eligible for military service. In the older and more settled parts of the Dominion, and especially in the province of Ontario, the number of enlistments among many of the Indian bands will compare favourably with the showing of an average white community, and some bands have sent practically all their eligible members. The Six Nations of Brantford, whose total male population between the ages of twenty-one and sixty-five is 1,163, have sent more than 300 men; the majority of the officers and non-commissioned officers of "D" Company, 114th Battalion, are Indians of this band. All the eligible members of the Chippewas of Nawash band, at Cape Croker, Ont., have enlisted, there being 67 of this band on active service out of a total adult male population of 108. The Chippewas of Rama, out of a total male population of 57, contributed 37 men; the Chippewas of Saugeen have sent 39 out of a total adult male population of 110; the Chippewas of Georgina and Snake Island have sent 10 out of a total adult male population of 23; the Chippewas, Munsees, and Oneidas of the Thames have sent 64 out of a total male adult population of 368; the Indians of the Sturgeon Falls Agency have sent 35 out of a total adult male population of 103; the Mississaguas have sent 31 out of a total adult male population of 64; the Indians of Prince Edward Island have sent 25 out of a total adult male population of 61; the Coté band, in Saskatchewan, has sent 21 out of a total adult male population of 43.

Special mention must be made of the Mississaguas of Scugog; the total adult male population of this little band is only 8, and out of this number no less than 7 have enlisted; the remaining man is unable to enlist owing to the fact that he has reached the age of sixty-five years.

The department frequently receives testimonials of loyalty from Indian bands, and letters from individual Indians, which are fired with a zealous and sincere patriotism and often display a highly intelligent interest in the progress of the war and a remarkably clear grasp of the principles which are at stake. Many interesting letters have been received from Indians at the front describing, in some instances in a particularly graphic manner, their experiences and impressions.

The Indian members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force continue to maintain the loyal and honourable traditions which they have established during the past three years. Many Indians have been killed in action, a number are prisoners in Germany, and several have been decorated for conspicuous gallantry.

As I have stated in a previous report, the Indians excel as snipers, and many of them have distinguished themselves in this branch of the service. It has been reported that an Indian sniper named Ballantyne, of the 8th Battalion, before being wounded, killed more than 50 Germans, the majority of whom were themselves snipers, and it is understood that a number of other Indian snipers have made equally remarkable records.

I regret to state that Pte. Augustin Belanger, a Fort William Indian, whom I mentioned in my report of last year as having been awarded the Military Medal, has since been killed in action. Pte. Joe DeLaronde, a Nipigon Indian, has been awarded the Military Medal.

Capt. A. G. E. Smith, a Six Nation Indian of Brantford, has been awarded the Military Cross; he has been three times wounded.

It is an inspiring fact that these descendants of the aboriginal inhabitants of a continent so recently appropriated by our own ancestors should voluntarily sacrifice their lives, on European battlefields, side by side with men of our own race, for the preservation of the ideals of our civilization, and their staunch devotion forms an eloquent tribute to the beneficent character of British rule over a native people.

The Indian women continue to do their share by knitting socks and mufflers and supplying various comforts for the soldiers. Branches of the Red Cross have been established on a number of the reserves, and the activities of these organizations have been conducted with efficiency and success.

ENFRANCHISEMENT.

The question of Indian enfranchisement is one which assumes greater importance each succeeding year owing to the fact that many of the Indian bands are approaching a point of development and progress which renders it undesirable that they should remain in their present status as wards of the government. It may, therefore, be necessary in the near future to consider the introduction of some easier and shorter method of enfranchisement than that at present provided by the Indian Act. Under the regulations now in force an Indian cannot complete his enfranchisement in less than six years from the date of his application owing to the various formalities which must be complied with. This mode of procedure has, heretofore, sufficed owing to the very limited number of applications, but henceforward it would prove very cumbersome and involve undue loss of time and labour, as the number of Indians qualified for enfranchisement is rapidly increasing. At present the initiative in the matter rests with the Indians, and enfranchisement can only be granted upon their application. It might be preferable that in cases where it was deemed advisable upon official investigation, the government should, of its own motion, be empowered to apply enfranchisement, either to special bands or individuals. This is the more necessary inasmuch as many Indians who are fully qualified for enfranchisement are inclined to cling to the benefits and protection attendant upon their wardship. It is neither just nor reasonable that the state should continue to bear expense and responsibility on behalf of those who are quite capable of conducting their own affairs, and in such cases the government should be empowered to free itself from a guardianship which is no longer necessary or desirable.

Public interest has recently been attracted to this matter, owing to the large number of Indians who have enlisted in the Canadian Expeditionary Force, and it has been contended, and justly so, that men who render service of such a nature to their country should be entitled to the fullest rights of citizenship. There is a popular misconception, however, to the effect that the enfranchisement of Indians merely involves the extension of the suffrage to them. This feature of the question, although important, is a very simple one when compared with the more complex and involved problem of the division of Indian landholdings and financial assets. At present these are the common property of the band and are administered for them in trust by the department. When an Indian band is enfranchised a complete division is necessary in order that each member may be apportioned his proper share. The equitable division of the land is a difficult matter of adjustment, owing to the many complications which arise, and it is apparent to any one familiar with the circumstances that the enfranchisement of Indians in large numbers could not be undertaken without the most careful preparation and deliberation.

I would, therefore, strongly recommend that the Government should at an early date consider the advisability of enacting the necessary legislation for the application of enfranchisement at the sole discretion of the Government to individual Indians or to bands.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 27

SURVEYS.

NOVA SCOTIA.

On account of disputes between the Indians and their white neighbours, owing to all former survey marks being obliterated, a survey was made of certain limits of the Indian reserves at Afton.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

Some timber having been cut in trespass in the Red Bank Indian reserve it became necessary to re-trace certain lines between the surrendered and the unsurrendered portions of the reserve.

ONTARIO.

An examination and valuation were made of the Indian lands and holdings damaged at the west end of Rainy lake on account of the high level of the water maintained by the dam of the Ontario and Minnesota Power Company.

An examination was made in connection with lowering the bed of a culvert in the embankment of the Grand Trunk railway in the Rama Indian reserve and a satisfactory understanding was arrived at with the railway company.

The front and back roads on the Sarnia Indian reserve were inspected and instructions issued for the purpose of draining and macadamizing the roads.

The Indian holdings were surveyed and a number of new lots were laid out for Indian occupation in the Garden River Indian reserve.

The unsold islands in lake Scugog were surveyed and valued.

Surveys and valuations were made of the unsold islands in Chemung, Buckhorn, Pigeon, Sturgeon, Cameron, Balsam, Mud, Turtle, and Four Mile lakes and connecting waters.

A number of lots in the reserve at Fort Frances were surveyed, and plans made for registration with a view to their sale.

A number of drains were surveyed and constructed in the Six Nations, Moravian, Rama, Rice Lake and Caradoc reserves.

Inspections were made of a steel bridge and of certain cement and other culverts in the Six Nations, Sarnia, Tyendinaga, Caradoc and other reserves in order to make necessary repairs, also improvements to certain of the roads in these reserves.

A survey was made of a proposed Indian reserve at lake Helen, in the township of Nipigon.

MANITOBA.

In order to facilitate the registration of the plans of the St. Peters Indian reserve a special survey was made of the East limit of the reserve, of the colonization road and a part of the base line and a re-survey of the southern part of the eastern portion of the reserve.

At the request of the Indians of the Waterhen Indian reserve No. 45, surveys were made of a part of their reserve, which they wished to give in exchange for certain other portions of land which contained hay meadows and which are also surveyed.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

As the adjacent owners desired to build fences between their lands and the Talcomy Indian reserve No. 3 of the Bella Bella band, and as the lines were obliterated a re-survey was made, the adjacent owners paying half the cost.

8 GEORGE V, A. 1918

A survey was made of two Indian orchards in lot 1139, R. 6, Coast district, immediately north of Taleomy Indian reserve, with a view to securing them for the Indians.

A survey and estimate of cost was made for the proposed irrigation of a portion of the Kamloops Indian Industrial School lands.

LANDS.

A tabular statement showing the sales of surrendered surveyed lands during the past year will be found on page 90, part II, of this report; in all 35,121.12 acres were sold, realizing $76,387.26.

During the year 202 Crown grants were issued and recorded under the provisions of the Indian Act and forwarded either direct to the patentees or to the different registrars of titles for the districts in which the lands patented were situate, in accordance with the Land Titles Act.

Returns of Crown grants to the number of 36, were prepared and forwarded to the registrars of the counties and districts in which the lands patented were situate, and four returns were made to the provincial secretary of Ontario covering lands patented within that province.

The lands in the Rainy River district situate within the Wild Land, Hungry Hall, Long Sault and Little Forks reserves, which were surrendered by the Indians for sale, were offered for sale by public auction at Rainy River and Fort Frances on the 16th and 19th of May, 1916. As only 15 parcels of land were sold, the lots remaining undisposed of were subsequently placed in the hands of the local Indian agent for sale at upset prices to first applicants.

LOCATION TICKETS.

Location tickets, granting title under the provisions of the Indian Act to individual Indian owners for lands on their reserves, were issued during the past year to the number of 213, and on the 31st of March last there were current 2,111 location tickets.

LEASES.

Under the provisions of section 11 of the regulations for the disposal of Indian lands, leases were issued, in triplicate, to white men, at the request of Indian locatees, to the number of 70, and on the 31st of March last there were 1,251 leases current.

TIMBER.

The total quantity of timber cut on Indian reserves during the season 1915-16 was somewhat in excess of the quantity cut during the previous year, owing to the fact that the Indians cut considerably more timber under permit, as good prices were to be realized on all classes of wood goods.

The exact quantities cut under license and permit were:—

Lumber, softwoods.. . . .	feet b.m.	10,083,518
" hardwoods.. . . .	"	968,838
Boom timber.. . . .	cu. feet.	33,183'36
Railroad ties.. . . .		59,955
Pulpwood.. . . .	cords.	9,960
Cordwood (firewood).. . . .	"	3,046
" (chemical wood).. . . .	"	1,453
Posts (cedar).. . . .		18,177
Shingle bolts (cedar).. . . .	cords.	320

In addition to the above quantities the Indians cut a large quantity of timber for building purposes and fuel for their own use, also material for the native manufacture of axe-handles, baskets, etc. Statistics are not available to show the quantity thus cut, but it is not improbable that it would exceed the quantity cut under license and permit.

The total cash receipts from the sale of timber were:—

Bonus from sale of timber on Reserves Nos. 31A, 35A, and 35D,
Lake of the Woods.....	$20,000 00
Bonus from sale of timber on Shawanaga reserve.....	31,500 00
Dues on timber cut under license.....	23,379 53
Dues on timber cut under permit.....	10,607 98
Trespass dues.....	1,986 02
Penalty dues.....	450 00
Ground rents.....	1,743 50
License fees.....	78 00
Total.....	$89,845 03

There were 21 licenses current April 30, 1917, being two less than the previous year. Two had been cancelled for contravention of the regulations, two had terminated and reverted to the department with the consent of the licensee and two new licenses were issued.

Representations were made to the Governor in Council in respect to a modification of the timber regulations in such a manner as to ensure the safe disposal of brush, tree-tops and other debris resulting from lumbering operations, and an Order in Council was passed whereby the proper disposal of brush, etc., is made compulsory on the part of the licensee, thereby appreciably lessening the danger of fire loss to the rest of the timber.

Owing to an outbreak of insect infestation in the timber on several reserves in the province of British Columbia, initial steps have been taken in co-operation with the Entomological Branch of the Department of Agriculture to check the spreading of this infestation and to destroy the insect pests.

Encouragement has been afforded to Indians on several reserves in the vicinity of the Georgian bay to cut chemical wood for the distillation of acetone to be used in the manufacture of high explosives, and in this manner they are contributing towards the successful prosecution of the war.

SUMMARY OF INDIAN AFFAIRS IN THE VARIOUS PROVINCES, BASED ON THE REPORTS OF THE DEPARTMENT'S AGENTS AND INSPECTORS FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDED MARCH 31, 1917.

The local administration of the Indian lands, on the reserves scattered throughout the Dominion, is conducted through the department's agencies, of which there are in all 114. The number of bands included in the agency varies from one to more than thirty. The staff of an agency usually includes various officers in addition to the agent, such as medical officer, clerk, farm instructor, field matron, constable, stockman, etc., according to the special requirements of the agency in question. At many of the smaller agencies in the older provinces, where the Indians are more advanced the work is comparatively light, requiring only the services of an agent. The work of the agencies is supervised by the department's inspectors, each inspector having charge of a certain number of agencies.

ONTARIO.

Agencies.—The following agencies are included in the province of Ontario: Alnwick, Bay of Quinte, Cape Croker, Chapleau, Chippewas, Munsees and Oneidas of the Thames, Christian Island, Fort Frances, Georgina and Snake Islands, Golden Lake, Gore Bay, Kenora, Lake Superior (Eastern and Western Divisions), Manitowaning, Mississaguas of the Credit, Moravians of the Thames, Parry Sound, Rama, Rice and Mud Lakes, Sarnia, Saugeen, Sengog, Six Nations, Sturgeon Falls, Thessalon and Walpole Island.

Tribal Origin.—The great majority of the Indians of Ontario are Ojibwas, and are of Algonkin stock. The Oneidas of the Thames, the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte, the Mohawks of the Parry Sound district, and the Six Nations of Brantford are of Iroquoian stock. There is a band of Pottawattamies at Walpole Island, and Delawares at the Caradoc agency: these are of Algonkin stock.

Industries and Occupations.—Mixed farming, including grain-growing, stock-raising, vegetable gardening and dairying, is the chief occupation of the Indians in the eastern, central and southern parts of the province. Some of them lease their land to white farmers instead of cultivating it themselves. An account of some of the agricultural operations of the Indians of Ontario during the past year will be found under the heading "Agriculture," on page 10, part I, and statistics with regard thereto on page 34, part II.

The Indians of the northern and western parts of the province still maintain themselves chiefly by hunting and fishing.

Acting as guides and canoe men for tourists, surveyors, prospectors, and fire-rangers is a profitable source of income to the Indians during the summer months. In the vicinity of the Great Lakes and other districts where the lumber industry is carried on, many of the Indians are employed in the shanties during the winter months, at river driving in spring, and in the mills in summer.

Some of the Indians are employed as sailors and deckhands for navigation companies on the Great Lakes; others work on the railroads in summer.

Many of the Indians in the settled parts of the province are employed as day labourers in the various local industries, such as munition plants, canning factories, cement works, implement factories, oil refineries, iron works, box factories, brick and tile making, flax pulling, etc.

Many of the Indian women derive a considerable income by making baskets and fancy-work; some of them are employed as domestics. Some of the women and children engage in berry picking, and wild rice picking at Rice lake, and Savanne, in the extreme west of the province.

The Indians continue to make mitts, moccasins, snowshoes and canoes.

Health and Sanitation.—The health of the Indians of Ontario has, on the whole, been good during the past year, and does not greatly differ from that of the white communities. The department's agents throughout the province report that tuberculosis is becoming less prevalent among them, owing to the constant improvement in sanitary conditions.

Dwellings.—The great majority of the Ontario Indians have frame houses, which are in many cases well built and comfortable, and compare very favourably with those found in white communities. Some of the Indians have houses of stone or brick. At the Christian island, Georgina and Snake Islands, Fort Frances, Gore Bay, Kenora, Savanne, Fort William and Sturgeon Falls agencies the majority of the houses are still of log construction. In the districts included in the Chapleau and Fort William agencies many of the Indians continue to live in tepees.

NEW ONTARIO.

The Indians of Northwestern Ontario and in the James Bay district are practically entirely dependent upon hunting and fishing. Their only other source of income is acting as guides and canoe men in the summer months.

In the northern parts of this country the soil is unsuitable to agriculture, but the Indians are being encouraged to grow potatoes, and have this year raised several hundred bags, which has been of considerable help to them. The decrease in the caribou herds has occasioned much hardship among them, and in consequence a great amount of relief from the department has been required.

These Indians live in tents during the entire year.

Tuberculosis is the great menace to their health, which is otherwise good.

QUEBEC.

Agencies.—The following agencies are included in the province of Quebec: Becancour, Bersimis, Caughnawaga, lake St. John, Lorette, Maria, Mingan, Oka, River Desert, Ristigouche, Seven Islands, St. Francis, St. Regis, Timiskaming and Viger.

Tribal Origin.—The principal tribes found in Quebec are: Iroquois at Caughnawaga, lake of Two Mountains, and St. Regis; the Hurons of Lorette are also of Iroquoian stock; the Montagnais, who are also of Algonkin stock, at Bersimis, Mingan, lake St. John and Seven Islands; the Abenakis, also of Algonquin stock, at Becancour and St. Francis; the Micmacs, also of Algonkin stock, at Maria and Ristigouche; and the Malecites, also of Algonkin stock, at Viger.

Occupations.—In the eastern part of the province, in and about the Gaspé peninsula, the Indians are chiefly employed in the lumber shanties. A number of the Indians of the Maniwaki and North Timiskaming agencies also work in the lumber shanties. A number of the Indians of Bersimis earn their living by cutting pulp-wood on the reserve.

The making of ash and sweet grass baskets is one of the principal industries among the Indians of this province. Some of them spend the summer among the country resorts of the United States, where they sell baskets to the tourists. They also make lacrosse sticks, axe handles, racquets, and moccasins. The majority of the Indians of Caughnawaga and the Lake of Two Mountains work in the munition factories. Those who live in the agricultural districts are engaged in farming. Some of the Indians earn their living by acting as guides to tourists and canoeists. A large number of the Indians of Quebec are dependent upon hunting, and the increase in the value of furs this season has been of great advantage to them.

Health and Sanitation.—The health of the Quebec Indians has been on the whole good during the past year. There was, however, an epidemic of cholera at Seven Islands.

Most of the department's agents report an improvement in sanitary conditions among the Indians.

Dwellings.—Nearly all the Indian dwellings in the settled parts of the province are of frame construction, and are generally well built and comfortable.

In the northern districts where the Indians have not as yet come into close contact with civilization, they continue to live in tents.

The North Shore.

The Indians of the North Shore and Gulf of St. Lawrence are making greater progress in the cod-fishing industry than had been expected. Although these Indians are not as yet efficient fishermen, they are constantly improving, and display great interest in this work. It is hoped that within a few years these Indians, by means of their hunting in winter and cod-fishing in summer, will become entirely self-supporting.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

Agencies.—There are three agencies in the province of New Brunswick, the North-eastern located at Buctouche, the Northern, located at Perth, and the Southwestern located at Fredericton.

8 GEORGE V, A. 1918

Tribal Origin.—The majority of the Indians of New Brunswick belong to the Micmac race, which is of Algonkin stock. In addition to these there are some bands of Malecites, also of Algonkin stock.

Occupations.—In the Northeastern division the Indians are engaged in fishing, hunting, trapping and farming. A number work in the lumber woods during winter and at the lumber mills in summer. In the Northern division the Indians work in the woods in winter, river drive in the spring, and are for the most part employed as farm labourers in the summer and fall. In the Southwestern division the Indians support themselves chiefly by the sale of Indian wares. In all parts of the province the Indians are expert at making baskets, snowshoes, mooccasins, and other Indian wares.

Health and Sanitation.—In the Northeastern and Northern divisions the health of the Indians has been good during the past year. In the Southwestern division an unusual number of deaths were caused by whooping-cough and pneumonia.

The majority of these Indians keep their houses in a fairly sanitary condition.

Dwellings.—The great majority of the Indians of New Brunswick live in small frame houses, which in most cases are well built and well cared for.

NOVA SCOTIA.

Agencies.—The following agencies are included in the province of Nova Scotia: Kings, Antigonish and Guysboro, Victoria, Halifax, Shelburne, Lunenburg, Queens, Digby, Annapolis, Cumberland, Richmond, Pictou, Inverness, Colchester, two in Hants county, Yarmouth, and two in Cape Breton, (Eskasoni and Sydney).

Tribal Origin.—The Indians of Nova Scotia are Micmacs, and are of Algonkin stock.

Occupations.—The occupations of the Nova Scotia Indians are many and diversified. The majority of them cultivate the soil and raise stock to a certain extent, but very few depend entirely on farming for a living. Some of them still depend upon hunting, fishing, trapping and acting as guides for sportsmen and berry picking. Others are employed in the various industries of the province, such as the coal mines, steelworks, munition works, railways, quarries, etc. Many of these Indians are engaged in lumbering, cutting cord-wood, and stream driving. Coopering is an important industry among them and they derive considerable income by making axe-handles, pick-handles, hockey sticks, butter tubs, mast hoops, canoes, etc. They make baskets and decorated Indian wares of various kinds, which find a ready market among the tourists in the summer season. A number of them secure employment as day labourers.

Health and Sanitation.—The health of these Indians has been good during the past year. Tuberculosis is the most prevalent disease among them, but it is gradually being checked by the improvement in sanitary conditions, which has been brought about by the efforts of the department's agents, teachers, and medical officers.

Dwellings.—The majority of the Indians in this province live in small frame houses, which are generally well built and comfortable.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

There is only one agency in the province of Prince Edward Island, as the total Indian population is only 292.

The Indians in this province all belong to the Micmac race, which is of Algonkin stock.

They are principally engaged in fishing and basket-making. Some of them have taken up farming.

The health of these Indians has been good during the past year.

MANITOBA.

Agencies.—The following agencies are included in the province of Manitoba: Fisher River, Clandeboye, Norway House, Griswold, Portage-la-Prairie and Manitowapah, Pas and Birtle.

Tribal Origin.—The majority of the Indians of Manitoba belong to the Ojibwa race, which is of Algonkin stock. Bands of Swampy Crees are found at the Norway House and Fisher River agencies and in the York Factory district; these are also of Algonkin stock. The Indians located at the Griswold Agency are Sioux; there are also Sioux at the Birtle and Portage-la-Prairie agencies. There is a band of Chipewyans at Fort Churchill; this tribe is of Athapascan stock.

Occupations.—Grain-growing is the principal occupation of the Indians at the Birtle, Griswold and Portage-la-Prairie agencies. Those at the Clandeboye, Fisher River, Norway House, Pas and Manitowapah agencies and throughout the northern districts still obtain their livelihood chiefly from hunting and fishing.

The women of some of the Manitoba bands derive a considerable income from the sale of willow baskets, rag and straw mats, moccasins, bead-work, senega root and wild fruits. In the more settled districts many of the young men are employed as farm labourers and receive high wages. Some of the young women are skilled needle workers and earn a good living by making various kinds of women's wear for the white settlers. A number of others are employed as domestics; these in most cases, fulfil their duties in a satisfactory manner and receive the usual wages for their services.

Nearly all the bands in the province own live stock.

Health and Sanitation.—The health of the Manitoba Indians has, on the whole, been unusually good. There was, however, a serious outbreak of typhoid fever on the Red Earth reserve, in the Pas agency, which resulted in a rather heavy mortality. Every effort was made to prevent the spread of the epidemic, and the departmental medical officers displayed great efficiency in dealing with the situation.

The department's agents in all parts of the province report that the Indians are beginning to pay greater attention to sanitation and personal cleanliness, and that the beneficial results of this improvement are everywhere evident.

Dwellings.—The Indian houses in Manitoba are for the most part of log construction. As a rule they are well built and well cared for. In the more remote northern districts, however, they are of a more primitive type, having only one room, and roofed merely with poles and mud.

Some of the more progressive Indians in the settled parts of the province are beginning to build frame houses.

SASKATCHEWAN.

Agencies.—The following agencies are included in the province of Saskatchewan: Assiniboine, Battleford, Carlton, Crooked Lake, Duck Lake, Moose Mountain, Onion Lake, Pelly, Qu'Appelle, and Touchwood Hills.

Tribal Origin.—The most numerous tribes among the Saskatchewan Indians are the Ojibwas, Swampy Crees and Plains Crees, which all belong to the great Algonkin stock. In addition to these, Sioux Indians are found at the Assiniboine, Moose Mountain, Qu'Appelle and Carlton agencies, and on the Moose Woods reserve. In the Onion Lake agency there is a band of Chipewyans, who are of Athapascan stock. There are also a few Chipewyan Indians in the Isle à la Crosse district.

Industries and Occupations.—Farming and stock-raising are the chief occupations of the Indians of Saskatchewan. In the more unsettled districts however, many of them still obtain a livelihood from hunting and fishing. Others derive an income from the sale of wood, pickets, senega root, etc.

8 GEORGE V, A. 1918

Nearly all the farming Indians are well provided with modern machinery and implements, and in most cases these are well cared for.

The great majority of the bands in the province own herds of horses and cattle. As a general rule the Indians take good care of their stock, and some of it is of exceptionally fine quality.

Health and Sanitation.—The health of the Indians in this province has, on the whole, been good during the past year. The department, through its agents and medical officers, is making a great effort to check the prevalence of disease by teaching the Indians the essential principles of hygiene and sanitation.

Dwellings.—Most of the dwellings in this province are of log construction. As a general rule they are two storied, shingle-roofed, and very well built. On some reserves, however, the old one and two-roomed mud-roofed shacks of a very primitive type still predominate. Some of the more advanced Indians are beginning to build frame houses.

ALBERTA.

Agencies.—The following agencies are included in the province of Alberta: Blackfoot, Blood, Edmonton, Hobbema, Peigan, Saddle Lake, Sarcee, Stony, and Lesser Slave Lake.

Tribal origin.—The Alberta Indians are of Algonkin stock, with the exception of the Sarcees near Calgary and the Beavers and Slaves in the Lesser Slave Lake agency, who are Athapascan, and the Paul's band in the Edmonton agency, who are Iroquoian, and the Stonies, who are of Siouan stock. The Algonkin Indians of Alberta are subdivided into the Blackfoot nation, comprising the Indians of the Blackfoot, Blood and Peigan agencies, Plain Crees found in the Lesser Slave Lake, Saddle Lake, and Hobbema agencies, and a band of Ojibbewas at Moberley Lake, in the Lesser Slave Lake agency.

Industries and Occupations.—Farming and stock-raising are the principal occupations of the Alberta Indians; they also do a certain amount of hunting, fishing and trapping. In the more remote districts included in the Lesser Slave Lake agency the Indians still gain their livelihood almost entirely by hunting, fishing and trapping.

The Blood, Peigan, and Blackfoot bands have of recent years met with great success in their farming operations.

The Blood Indians during the season of 1916, by their own efforts and without any financial aid from the government of Canada, produced 65,150 bushels of wheat on 2,606 acres, and 26,980 bushels of oats on 768 acres. They grew approximately 7,150 bushels of table vegetables, harvested approximately 6,700 tons of hay and green fodder, and prepared 2,320 acres of summer fallow and new breaking for the 1917 seeding. The sale of the grain not used on the reserve realized approximately $125,000.

The Blackfoot Indians started farming in 1912. They have now 4,875 acres of well farmed land. They have purchased 250 farm work-horses of good grade, some of which cost over $500 a team, from their farm earnings, and they take good care of them. During the season of 1916, 74 of these Indians produced over 68,000 bushels of wheat and 33,000 bushels of oats. They sold wheat to the value of $92,000, retaining more than sufficient seed for the spring of 1917. All these operations cost the Government nothing, as the money required is provided by the band from their funds and earnings.

The Peigan Indians produced 33,880 bushels of wheat, which realized $44,044, and 18,615 bushels of oats, which realized $6,515.25. They sold 1,215 tons of hay for $5,350 and had 300 tons left for their own use.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 27

The Alberta Indians are well supplied with up-to-date farm machinery and implements, with the exception of those of the Stony and Lesser Slave Lake agencies, where little farming is done.

The following comparison will give some idea of the agricultural progress made by the Alberta Indians in crop production during the past six years.

	Wheat.		Oats.
	Acres Sown.	Bushels Harvested.	Acres Sown.	Bushels Harvested.
1910.....	1,902	14,784	3,100	52,271
1916.....	7,352	180,457	6,877	194,399

Stock raising is naturally a very important industry among the Alberta Indians. Nearly all the bands in the province own herds of horses and cattle, which form a very valuable asset. The largest herds are held by the Blood Indians, who own upwards of 4,000 head of the finest beef cattle in the west. As a rule the Indians take good care of their stock. Statistics with regard to the stock held by the Indians of Alberta will be found on page 43, part II, of this report.

Health.—The health of the Alberta Indians has on the whole been good during the past year. Tuberculosis and pneumonia are the diseases most prevalent among them, and are responsible for a heavy mortality in some bands.

Every effort is being made to teach them the importance of adopting hygienic and sanitary methods of living. They are very conservative, however, and it is difficult to induce them to alter their habits.

Buildings.—Except in the more remote northern districts, the great majority of the Alberta Indians now have well-built, well-lighted and well-ventilated dwelling-houses of modern frame construction. Many of them have good barns, implement sheds and stables. Some of these Indians still live in tents in summer.

NORTHWEST TERRITORIES.

Agencies.—The department has only two agencies in the Northwest Territories, one being located at Simpson, and the other at Fort Smith.

Tribal Origin.—The principal tribes found in the far north are the Slaves, Hares, Loucheux, Secanics, Dogribs, Yellow-knives, Chipewyans and Caribou Eaters. All these tribes are of Athapascan stock. There are a few Crees in the neighbourhood of Chipewyan. These are of Algonkin stock. The most northerly tribes are the Tukudah, who extend to the Mackenzie Delta, and the Copper Mines, who are located along the Copper Mine river. The territory occupied by these two last mentioned tribes is contiguous to that inhabited by the Eskimos.

Occupations.—The Indians of the far north are entirely dependent upon hunting and fishing. They do no farming or gardening, with the exception of a few who have homes in the vicinity of the Forts, where they raise some potatoes. Their nomadic mode of life renders it very difficult to induce them to take up the cultivation of the soil. A few of them make a living in the summer working as pilots and deckhands on the various steamers running on the Peace, Slave and Mackenzie rivers.

Health and Sanitation.—The northern Indians have a tendency towards scrofula and tuberculosis. This condition is attributed in some measure to their custom of consanguineous marriage, and the unsanitary state of their dwellings. Those who live in tents all the year round are as a rule in better health than those who spend the winter in houses. The department's officers make every effort to instruct these Indians in the principles of hygiene and sanitation, but good advice has little effect upon them, as they are not sufficiently advanced to properly understand unsanitary conditions and ill-health as cause and effect, and they have not as yet developed a proper regard for personal cleanliness.

Dwellings.—The northern tribes are nomads and live in tepees made of bark or skins all the year round. Those, however, who live in the vicinity of the posts have houses of the primitive type; these are generally overcrowded, dirty and ill-ventilated, and their unsanitary condition is a grave menace to the health of their occupants.

YUKON TERRITORY.

There is a departmental superintendent for the Yukon, whose headquarters is at Dawson.

The Forty Mile, Blackstone, and Moosehide bands, known as the Hunkutchin or Big River Indians, belong to the Tukudah tribe. There is a band of Slavies at Lancing Creek who migrated from Fort Good Hope, on the Mackenzie river; another band of Slavies, called Nanahies, is located at the headwaters of the Pelly river. All the above-mentioned Indians are of Athapaskan stock. At Mayo, Selkirk, Little Salmon, and Carmacks there are bands belonging to the tribe known as the Stick Indians. Bands belonging to the Tlingit tribe are found at Whitehorse, Teslin Lake, Champagne Landing, and Carcross.

Occupations.—Hunting, fishing, and trapping are the chief occupations of all the bands in the Yukon. In the summer some of the younger men work as deckhands on the steamboats. A few work on the land for the local market gardeners; others cut cordwood and raft logs, and occasionally act as packers.

It is very difficult to arouse any interest in gardening or farming of any kind among these Indians. This is largely due to the fact that adequate attention to gardening or farming would materially interfere with their fishing, and it is during this season that they lay up a store of dried fish for themselves and their dogs for winter use.

Health and Sanitation.—The health of the Indians, all through the territory, has not been good during the past year, and there have been many more cases of sickness than usual. Last August an epidemic of measles broke out in the Whitehorse band, but fortunately the majority of the band were away hunting and were kept away until the epidemic was over. The reserve was put in quarantine and every precaution was taken to prevent the spread of the disease: there were about twenty cases and three deaths as a result of this epidemic. There are quite a number of tubercular cases among these Indians. The departmental medical officers are doing all that can be done, in the existing circumstances, to cope with this disease. Their work is greatly handicapped by the negligence of the Indians with regard to sanitary precautions and personal cleanliness. A great improvement is observed in the case of those Indians who have been trained at the boarding school, and it is hoped that in time their influence will bring about a radical change.

Dwellings.—The great majority of these Indians live in log cabins; there are still a few who prefer tents. Some of the older cabins are very small, having but one room, and inadequately lighted and ventilated, but these are gradually being replaced by larger and better ventilated structures with separate sleeping and living rooms.

They are gradually adopting a better standard of living. At one time they were content to live in a small cabin without furniture of any kind, sleeping and eating on the floor, which was unswept and unscrubbed. They now have chairs, tables and beds, and there is an evidence of slow but steady progress.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 27

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Agencies.—The following agencies are included in the province of British Columbia: Babine and Upper Skeena, Bella Coola, Cowichan, Kamloops, Kootenay, Kwawkwalth, Lytton, Nass, New Westminster, Okanagan, Queen Charlotte, Stikine, Stuart Lake, West Coast, and Williams Lake.

Tribal Origin.—The Indians of the Bella Coola, Cowichan, Kamloops, Lytton, New Westminster, and Okanagan agencies belong to the Salish tribe. The Kootenay tribe is located in the agency of the same name. The Kwakiutl-Nootka tribe is located in the Kwawkwalth and West Coast agencies; the Haidas, in the Queen Charlotte Islands; the Tlingits, in the Stikine; and the Tsimshians, in the Naas agency. The Indians of the Babine, Stuart Lake and Williams Lake agencies belong to the Athapascan race.

In addition to these there are about 3,000 nomadic Indians in the province who cannot be correctly classified according to linguistic stock or tribal origin.

Industries and Occupations.—The principal occupation of the Indians living on the coast is fishing, at which they have had a very successful year. Many of these Indian fishermen have gasoline launches, which they often construct themselves with great skill and efficiency. The Haida Indians of the Queen Charlotte islands are particularly proficient and are considered to be among the best fishermen on the Pacific coast. Many Indians, including a large number of women, are employed in the canneries. The occupations of the coast Indians also include logging, teaming, boat-building, and hunting.

Hop-picking is an important source of revenue to the Indians of the Kamloops, Lytton, Cowichan, West Coast, and New Westminster agencies.

The Indians of the Lytton, Kamloops, Kootenay, Okanagan, and New Westminster agencies engage in farming, including the raising of grains, fruit and vegetables of all kinds. Marked progress has of late years characterized their agricultural efforts. They are well supplied with farm machinery and equipment, of which they take good care. Chief John Chillihitza, of the Upper Nicola band, is reputed to have the most complete farming equipment of any individual farmer in the interior of the province.

The Indians of the Kamloops, Kootenay, New Westminster and Okanagan agencies raise horses and cattle. They take good care of their stock, and are meeting with marked success in this industry. The Indians of the Kamloops agency own about 5,000 horses and about 2,000 head of cattle. The above-mentioned Chief John Chillihitza won the first prize and diploma at the Kamloops fall fair for the best bred stallion on exhibition.

The Indians of the more remote northern districts still derive a livelihood from hunting and trapping.

Health and Sanitation.—The health of the British Columbia Indians has on the whole been good during the past year. Measles was, however, prevalent throughout almost the entire province. It took the form of a severe epidemic among the Indians engaged in the hop fields at Agassiz and also among the Indians of the Kamloops band. These epidemics of measles were frequently followed by pneumonia, and there were a number of deaths, especially among the children, in spite of the energetic and efficient efforts of the department's medical officers.

The agents in all parts of the province report a constant improvement from year to year in sanitary conditions on the reserves, and the department is making every effort to educate the Indians in this respect.

Dwellings.—The great majority of the British Columbia Indians, except in the more outlying districts, now have modern, well-built, comfortable houses either of log or frame construction. This is an evidence of rapid progress, as a few years ago nearly all of them lived either in wretched little shacks, or herded together in the large barnlike, unventilated and unsanitary structures, which are still in use in some of the more unsettled parts of the coast. The Haida Indians of the Queen Charlotte islands, who are remarkably progressive, build up-to-date frame houses that will compare favourably with those found in the average white community.

FINANCIAL.

At the close of the twelve months ended March 31, 1917, the capital of the Indian Trust Fund, which at the end of the preceding year amounted to $7,741,491.92, had increased to $7,870,230.36.

The amount expended from the Consolidated Revenue Fund was as follows: Voted by Parliament for the purposes of the department, $1,749,031.51, and annuities by statute, $202,463.

On March 31, last, the balance to the credit of the Indian Savings Account for the funding of the annuities and earnings of pupils at industrial schools, together with collections from Indians for purchases of stock and for ranching and farming expenses, was $61,836.88. Deposits and interest during the twelve months aggregated $55,498.06, and withdrawals, $49,404.32.

In closing this report I have to express my appreciation of the efficient and satisfactory manner in which the officers of the department, both in the inside and outside service, have performed their duties during the past year.

I have the honour to be, sir,

Your obedient servant,

DUNCAN C. SCOTT,

Deputy Superintendent General of Indian Affairs.

REPORT

ROYAL NORTHWEST MOUNTED POLICE

REGINA, Sask., November 1, 1917.

To the Honourable
The President of the Privy Council,
Ottawa.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit for your information the annual report of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police for the year ended September 30, 1917.

STRENGTH AND DISTRIBUTION OF THE FORCE.

September 30, 1917, the strength of the force was 53 officers, 603 non-commissioned officers and constables, and 675 horses.

Compared with last year, there is a decrease of 4 officers, 137 non-commissioned officers and constables, and 129 horses.

The following shows the distribution in the different provinces and territories:—

PLACE.	Commissioner.	Assistant Commissioner.	Superintendents.	Inspectors.	Surgeons or Assistant Surgeons.	Veterinary Surgeon.	Staff Sergeants.	Sergeants.	Corporals.	Constables.	Supernumerary Constables.	Total.	HORSES.				Dogs.

Since my last annual report very important changes have taken place in the duties performed by the force.

Orders in Council were passed on November 29, 1916, providing for the cancellation of the agreements respecting the services of the force during the period of the war between the Government of Canada and the Governments of the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba. These agreements had been entered into shortly after the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were constituted, in 1905, and with Manitoba for that portion known as New Manitoba, added to the province from Northwest Territories on January 1, 1914.

In accordance with these Orders in Council the provinces of Saskatchewan and Manitoba relieved us of police duties on January 1 last, and the province of Alberta, on March 1.

These changes were brought about by war conditions. Early in 1916 the Right Honourable the Prime Minister's attention was drawn to the necessity of adequate protection of Western Canada from raids which might seriously disturb the good order and peace of the west. It was felt that even a raid on a small scale, whether successful or not, would be detrimental to our best interests, in that it would shake the slumbering sense of security of our people, cause unrest among our enemy nationalities, and create a clamorous demand for severe measures to be taken against all enemy aliens. That these apprehensions were justified is apparent from the following telegram from the German Foreign Office to the German Ambassador at Washington, which was published in press despatches, and from which I quote:—

"January 3, 1916. (Secret).—General staff desires energetic action in regard to proposed destruction of Canadian Pacific Railway at several points, with a view to complete and protracted interruption of traffic. Captain Boehm, who is known on your side and is shortly returning, has been given instructions. Inform the military attache and provide the necessary funds.

ZIMMERMAN."

This telegram was only made public in October of this year. How far an attempt was made to act on these instructions is not known, but certainly no results were obtained.

In July, 1916, in reply to a request from the Prime Minister, I reported that there was no danger of trouble internally, that there was no unrest among the enemy aliens, and that there had been no agitation nor any attempt to organize for the purpose of disturbing public security. I pointed out that the danger of trouble was dormant, but that given the right incentive our enemy aliens might throw all precautions aside and venture the most daring attempts. Such incentive was only likely to come from conspiracies against us hatched by German intrigue in the United States. There was no doubt but that they had full information of all protective measures taken in Canada.

At that time the energies of the force were absorbed in its civil duties; it was widely distributed and at no point, except at headquarters, was there any reserve strength. To render it of more service in meeting war conditions, its numbers would have to be largely increased, its ordinary police duties taken over by the different provinces and its distribution revised. At that time the entry of the United States into the war against Germany was not anticipated, nor was it generally thought that it was probable. The whole situation was thus changed, and the chances of any disturbance in the west minimized. In the meantime, the change in the status of the force had been carried out, and its redistribution made on the following lines:—

1. An effective patrol of the international boundary from the Lake-of-the-Woods to the Rocky Mountains;

2. A close supervision of enemy nationalities;

3. A concentration of effective strength at divisional headquarters.

Along the boundary there are 55 detachments, with a strength of 100. On detachment in large alien settlements and mining districts, 75. In the Yukon and Northwest Territories, 71, a total of 246, leaving the remaining strength of 410 divided among nine divisional posts.

During the year 26,356 patrols were made, covering 837,625 miles.

In addition, a large number of aliens is registered and report regularly, and supervision of their movements is maintained.

Many investigations are being made every day of their alleged activities, and although the results are usually negative, they are beneficial, in that they show that they are subject to a close watch.

A great deal of assistance has been given to the Immigration Branch of the Department of the Interior. This work has been heavier and more important this last year than is usual, because of the Order in Council preventing the egress from this country of men subject to draft under the Military Service Act. To strengthen our hands, all members of the force were appointed immigration inspectors.

When it is remembered that the international boundary on which the force is stationed is over 900 miles long and that there is no natural obstacle to prevent crossing at any point, the difficulties in enforcing the Order in Council are obvious.

Owing to the anarchical and dangerous activities of the Industrial Workers of the World in the United States, and especially in the western states contiguous to us, there was reasonable apprehension that this organization might give trouble in western Canada, especially during harvest. In co-operation with the immigration authorities a careful supervision was kept of the people entering at western points, especially of the farm labourers. It was desired that as many of the latter as possible should be induced to come to our aid in caring for the crop, so that great care had to be exercised. A few I.W.W.'s managed to evade the restrictions, but they soon made their presence known, and they were relentlessly dealt with. Isolated attempts were also made to interfere with the operations of the coal mines, but without success. The serious difficulties which have existed between the operators and the miners were not caused by them.

The Department of Customs is assisted in enforcing the customs laws along the boundary. At several isolated points, where regular ports are not maintained, members of the force act as sub-collectors.

In the Arctic, a sum of $2,757 was collected from American whaling and trading schooners.

8 GEORGE V, A. 1918

The Department of Indian Affairs is given such assistance as they request. Escorts have attended at treaty payments. The bands at York Factory and Fort Churchill were paid by Inspector W. J. Beyts, who is stationed at Port Nelson. We enforce the regulations of the Rocky Mountains parks. In the Yukon Territory and the Northwest Territories the force performs the duties hitherto assigned to it.

ALBERTA AND SASKATCHEWAN.

The conditions in these provinces were satisfactory, as far as law and order were concerned, when the force discontinued police duties. Compared with previous years there was a material decrease in crimes, especially in crimes of violence and in horse-stealing and cattle-stealing. Many reasons may be given for this satisfactory condition, but in my opinion the prohibitory liquor law in force in both provinces is the principal one.

Special attention has been given to the safeguarding of explosives. This is especially necessary in the coal-mining area, where large quantities are kept on hand. The coal companies have readily complied with the regulations as laid down by Order in Council.

NEW MANITOBA.

All detachments, except at Port Nelson and Fort Churchill, have been withdrawn in this area. They had been maintained for the care of the Indians and the maintenance of law and order along the Hudson Bay railway and the harbour works at Nelson. Trouble was experienced in controlling the liquor traffic, which is most demoralizing among the class of men employed on construction. The enactment of the prohibitory liquor law in Manitoba soon had a marked effect, and when the force was withdrawn absolute order prevailed.

YUKON TERRITORY.

The criminal statistics of this territory show a decrease of 88 cases, as compared with last year, and 93 per cent of the cases entered for trial resulted in convictions. Only one murder is recorded. A conviction was secured. Of the 101 convictions, 29 were for drunkenness or offences in connection with intoxicating liquor.

NORTHWEST TERRITORIES.

Outposts are maintained at Baker Lake, at the head of Chesterfield inlet, at Herschell island, in Beaufort sea, and at Fort McPherson, Fort Norman, Fort Resolution, Fort Simpson and Fort Fitzgerald on the Mackenzie River.

Only 7 convictions are recorded, only two of which were for serious offences.

In my last annual report, reference was made to the arrest of the Eskimos Sinnisiak and Uluksuk charged with the murder of the Reverend Fathers Rouvier and LeRoux, near Bloody Falls, on the Coppermine River, N.W.T. The Department of Justice ordered that the trial should take place at Edmonton. Inspector C. D. La Nauze reports as follows on the conclusion of the case:—

“I have the honour to report that acting under instructions received from you by the Dawson patrol in February 1916, I left Herschell Island on May 9, accompanied by Reg. No. 4,600 Corporal W. V. Bruce, Special-constable Ilavinek and the Eskimo prisoners Uluksuk and Sinnisiak.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 28

"We arrived at Peace-River Crossing on August 7, where I reported to the officer commanding "N" Division. On August 8, I received instructions from you to proceed to Edmonton with party, and leaving Peace River the same evening by the E. D. & B. C. Railway, arrived at Edmonton on August 10, where I reported to the officer commanding "G" Division.

"The trial opened in the court-house in Edmonton on August 14, before Chief Justice Harvey and an Edmonton jury. C. C. McCaul, K.C., appeared for the Department of Justice and conducted the prosecution. Mr. Wallbridge was engaged by the Department of Indian Affairs to conduct the prisoner's defence.

"The prisoner Sinnisiak was first charged with the murder of the Reverend Father Rouvier and the case lasted till August 17, when the prisoner was found "Not Guilty" by the jury.

"On August 20, the venue of the second trial was changed to Calgary in an appeal in chambers before the Chief Justice and the party left for Calgary on the 21st instant. On August 22, the case re-opened in the court-house in Calgary when the prisoners Uluksuk and Sinnisiak were charged jointly with the murder of the Reverend Fathers Rouvier and LeRoux before Chief Justice Harvey and a Calgary jury.

"On August 24, the both prisoners were found guilty of murder by the jury, the jury adding "the strongest possible recommendation for mercy that a jury can make."

"The death sentence was deferred and the party left for Edmonton on the 15th instant. The death sentence was passed on the prisoners by the Chief Justice on August 28, at Edmonton, the death sentence to take place on October 15, 1917.

"On September 4 the following telegram was received by the officer commanding "G" Division:—

'His Excellency the Governor General has been pleased to order that sentence of death passed upon Eskimo prisoners Sinnisiak and Uluksuk by Chief Justice Harvey, such sentence to be executed on the fifteenth day of October nineteen seventeen, to be commuted to life imprisonment, His Excellency is further pleased to order that prisoners be immediately conveyed into the custody of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, at Fort Resolution, on Great Slave lake and that the prisoners be there confined for life.'

"Acting under instructions received from you, Inspector J. W. Phillips, accompanied by constables Lamont and Wight, the Eskimo interpreters, witnesses and prisoners, left Edmonton on the same date for the Far North. I returned to Regina on September 16."

I have brought to the attention of the Right Honourable the Prime Minister, the services of Inspector C. D. LaNauze, Corporal Bruce and Constable Wight, who were 2 years and 4 months in the performance of this duty, and I have had much pleasure in recommending that they should be suitably rewarded. Much credit was also due to the Eskimo, Ilavinek, whose assistance was invaluable. The Government of Canada have presented him with a gold watch and chain in recognition of his services.

The most striking feature in the Arctic is the extension of trade eastwards into Coronation gulf as far as the mouth of the Coppermine river. Along the coast from Nome to Herschell island the lure of new trading fields has attracted traders and trappers with the hopes of profitable trading among the Eskimo, hitherto untouched.

An English mission has been established at Bernard harbour, and I understand the Roman Catholics intend to place a mission at the mouth of the Coppermine.

It will be necessary to establish an outpost at some point on Coronation gulf next year for the protection of the natives.

8 GEORGE V, A. 1918

In September last Inspector French relieved Inspector Beyts in command at Baker lake.

On March 22 last, Inspector French and Sergeant-Major Caulkin, with four natives, left Baker lake on patrol to Bathurst inlet to investigate the deaths of Messrs. Radford and Street. Nothing has been heard from them since that date. It is possible they may not return to Baker lake, but proceed to Coronation gulf, where there are trading posts, and we may hear of them via Herschel island next March.

In a report made just prior to leaving, Inspector French says:—

“I hope to make a successful trip. My only difficulty is the inevitable dog-feed question which seems to rise at every point a man moves in this country devoid of timber or vegetation. If I can only procure the game along the line of march, I feel sure I shall be able to bring the patrol to a successful termination. We shall not be able to carry enough rations for the return trip, and will have to take our chances along with the natives in this respect and depend on the country.”

The Baker lake outpost is well supplied with everything required. A powerful sea-going motor boat was sent up last year, and had proved thoroughly satisfactory.

On the general condition of the Eskimo on the west coast of Hudson's bay, I quote from Inspector French's report under date of January 18, 1917:—

“Generally speaking, few natives seem to be on the move this winter. They appear to have settled in winter quarters where the deer are expected to show up. At Baker lake only, the police natives are located, being visited occasionally by the huskies from the outlying camps in the district. All the natives report no deer in the country, and are moving on to the big lakes hoping to catch a few fish to exist on, as I presume they must be very hungry.

“One peculiar case which arose. I heard of a Kinipitu woman, who could not walk, being abandoned by her husband and left on the Baker lake. I immediately despatched Sergeant-Major Caulkin and native ‘Joe,’ with a dog-team, to investigate the matter. From the results it appears that both man and wife are unable to walk, only on their knees, having lost the use of one leg from some peculiarity. The husband stated he was moving camp and had only two dogs. He left his wife on the lake, but intended to return and get her. He did not intend to leave her to freeze. His load was very heavy. The woman remained out on the lake overnight and managed to build herself a small igloo with a piece of bone she found. She had tried to crawl and reach the spot where her husband had built his igloo. Sergeant-Major Caulkin brought this woman into camp and she was taken in by the police natives. It was found that she had frozen one of her knees very badly when crawling on them. I have been treating this case since, and it is now slowly improving and in the course of time will be all right again. The natives have made the woman a set of crutches, which will be better than having to crawl about.”

GUARD ROOMS.

In Saskatchewan all prisoners in our guard rooms were transferred to provincial jails on January 1, and in Alberta on March 31, 1917, except the female prisoners, who were transferred on August 31, 1917.

The decrease in strength has resulted from war conditions; 234 took their discharges on the expiration of their terms of engagements or by purchase and the majority of them enlisted for overseas service. No attempt was made to secure recruits by advertising or other methods as it was not thought advisable to compete with recruiting for the Canadian Army.

Owing to the shortage of labour, and consequent high wages and the requirements of the Canadian Army, it will be difficult to secure recruits to maintain the force at authorized strength. The increase in cost of living has proportionately lowered the pay, which was fair under normal conditions, but is not now sufficient to offer much inducement.

CONDUCT AND DISCIPLINE.

The conduct of all ranks has been satisfactory and a high state of discipline has been maintained.

TRAINING.

Training has been carried on in all duties essential to an armed body. Special classes have been assembled at Regina from all Divisions except "B." Seventy officers and non-commissioned officers qualified.

Early in August all available men at headquarters of these divisions, to the number of 177, were placed in camp for practical training of men and horses. These camps were inspected by Assistant-Commissioner Wilson, who reported men and horses in fit condition, and much improved by the instructions given.

Machine-gun and musketry practice was carried out. Revolver practice had to be suspended owing to defects discovered in the ammunition.

HEALTH.

The principal medical officer reports: "The general health of the members of the force for the year has been very satisfactory. A number of men were inoculated as a preventative against typhoid fever. The reports from all divisions show the sanitary conditions to have been good."

HORSES.

The veterinary surgeon reports: "During the year I visited all divisional headquarters, with the exception of "B" Division, and at all points I found the health and condition of the horses satisfactory. This is the first year, I believe, in the history of the force, in which no diseases of a contagious or infectious nature have been reported."

BUILDINGS.

No new buildings have been erected. All our posts have been kept in repair.

CLOTHING.

The supply of clothing has been satisfactory and the quality good, with the exception of the material of the field-service garments, which quickly fades and becomes shabby. I am informed that it has not been possible to secure fast-brown dyes.

RATIONS AND FORAGE.

These have been purchased under contracts awarded on public tender. They have been satisfactory in quality and ample in quantity.

GENERAL.

Since the outbreak of the war it has been the ardent desire of the force to supply a unit for overseas service. In reply to my representations I received the following letter from the Right Honourable the Prime Minister:—

"In reply to your memorandum on the employment of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police in the war, I desire to say that after due consideration I submitted an offer to the Imperial authorities for a cavalry regiment on the western front or a cavalry brigade in any other theatre of the war. I have received a reply that no additional cavalry is required on the western front or elsewhere at present. I regret, therefore, that there is no opportunity at present to employ the mounted police on active service at the front. It is, however, my intention, should additional cavalry be required in the war, to send a regiment or regiments of the mounted police. You should, therefore, see that the force is placed in the highest state of training. You are at liberty to make this letter known to the force generally."

I venture to note as an evidence of the force's attitude to the war that it has contributed the sum of $40,446.61, up to September 30, to the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

I have received the support and hearty co-operation of all ranks.

I have the honour to be, sir,
Your obedient servant,

A. BOWEN PERRY,
Commissioner.

REPORT

OF THE

UNDER-SECRETARY OF STATE.

To the Honourable

ESIOFF LEON PATENAUDE,

Secretary of State of Canada.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit to you a statement of the work of the Correspondence Branch of the Department of the Secretary of State for the year ended March 31, 1917.

INCORPORATION OF COMPANIES.

The number of companies incorporated under the Companies' Act during the fiscal year 1916-17 was 606 with a total capitalization of $207,967,810 and the number of existing companies to which Supplementary Letters Patent were issued was 77 of which 36 increased their capital stock $26,540,000, 3 decreased their capital stock $5,050,000, the remaining 38 were granted Supplementary Letters Patent for various objects such as changing names, extending powers, etc., making a total of 683 charters and supplementaries issued during the year, an increase of 78 as compared with previous year; whilst the total capitalization of new companies and the increased capital of existing companies amounted to $229,457,810.

Particulars as to the capital stock, etc., of the companies incorporated or granted Supplementary Letters Patent during the twelve months, together with the date, etc., of the Canada Gazette in which the objects and powers are set forth, will be found in my report of the work of the Registrar's Branch of the Department.

NATURALIZATION OF ALIENS.

In my report as Deputy Registrar General above referred to, full particulars are given of all naturalizations effected throughout the Dominion for the twelve months since the date of the last return, viz., to December 31, 1916. Complete returns showing the names, places of residence, and former nationalities of all Canadian naturalized subjects of His Majesty are tabulated and recorded in the Registrar's Branch of the department, and are always available for reference.

The payments to the court officers, charged with the making of naturalization returns, details of which will be found in the report of the Auditor General, amounted to $5,883.82. All the correspondence in connection with the returns and all the accounts for the same were dealt with in this branch.

8 GEORGE V, A. 1918

The Report of the Naturalization Branch which was organized to supervise applications under the Naturalization Act, 1914, will be found immediately following the Report of the Registrar's Branch.

CANADA TEMPERANCE ACT.

No elections were held under the Canada Temperance Act during this fiscal year. Petitions have been received for a vote in the counties of Missisquoi and Compton, Quebec, and are now under consideration. The protests entered in the case of the Stanstead and Annapolis counties elections held respectively on the 6th August, 1914, and 8th July, 1915, were both dismissed and the Act now stands repealed in Annapolis county and will come into force in Stanstead on the 1st May next.

At this date the Act is in force in the following counties and cities:—

Ontario.—Counties of Peel, Huron, Perth and District of Manitoulin.

Quebec.—City of Thetford Mines and Counties of Brome and Stanstead.

Nova Scotia.—Counties of Digby, Guysborough and Yarmouth.

New Brunswick.—Counties of Albert, Carleton, Charlotte, Kings, Northumberland, Queens, Sunbury, Westmorland and York and City of Fredericton.

Manitoba.—Lisgar and Marquette.

The Act is not in force elsewhere in the provinces or territories.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES.

Subjoined is a statement of the revenue of the Department for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1917:—

Charters and supplementary charters.. . . .	$151,388 40
Commissions.. . . .	455 00
Certificates of Deposit.. . . .	244 00
" Legalization.. . . .	48 00
" Incorporation, Boards of Trade.. . . .	20 00
" Registration, Trade Union.. . . .	4 00
Certificates, copies and certified copies.. . . .	680 50
Certified copies of Certificates of Naturalization, Chap. 77, R.S.C. (1906).. . . .	218 50
Certificates of Naturalization, The Naturalization Act, 1914.. . . .	138 00
Certified copies and Declarations, The Naturalization Act, 1914.. . . .	7 00
Exemplifications.. . . .	24 00
Refund, cost of extra notices in Canada Gazette	44 40
Sundry.. . . .	1 50
Total.. . . .	<hr/> $153,273 30

Of the foregoing amount, the sum of $30,162.35 was transferred to the King's Printer for advertising notices of Letters Patent under the Companies Act in the Canada Gazette, $3,259 was refunded upon applications withdrawn or not granted and $26.50 was transferred to other departments, leaving a net amount of $119,825.45.

The net revenue exceeded the expenditure of the department for salaries and contingencies by $32,024.10, and after providing for the customary expenditure, under the Naturalization Acts, the cost of supplying the library of the High Commissioner's

Office in London with Canadian books and periodicals; the annual subscription of the Government to the International Catalogue of Scientific Literature; expenses under the Canada Temperance Act, etc., left a credit balance of $21,335.69.

GENERAL.

The duties cast upon the department arising from the war have added heavily to the volume of work. The publication of the Compilation of Proclamations, Orders in Council and other documents relating to the war has been a matter of great labour. The appendices consist of the various statutes, treaties and despatches referred to in the documents themselves, and also various British blue books relating to the war in which Canadians are interested.

The consolidated orders respecting trading with the enemy also confer wide authority and extensive duties upon the Department of the Secretary of State of Canada. During the progress of the war nothing more than a reference to these duties need be made.

The report of the committee on alleged German outrages appointed by His Britannic Majesty's Government and presided over by the Right Hon. Viscount Bryce, O.M., has been translated into the French language and both the English and French editions are in great demand. Requests for this report from the United States, where it is much appreciated, are constantly increasing.

My report of the work done in the registrar's branch of the department follows this. In addition to the list of charters of incorporation and supplementary charters, and the returns of naturalization already mentioned, it contains a list of commissions issued to public officers.

The Civil Service List of Canada for the year 1917, showing the names, dates of appointments, and promotion, ages and salaries of all persons permanently employed in the several departments of the service and the two Houses of Parliament on April 1, 1917, is now in course of preparation.

I have the honour to be, sir,

Your obedient servant,

THOMAS MULVEY,

Under-Secretary of State.

OTTAWA, April 1, 1917.

REPORT OF THE REGISTRAR'S BRANCH.

DEPARTMENT OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,

OTTAWA, April, 1917.

36 increased their capital stock $26,540,000, 3 decreased their capital stock $5,050,000, the remaining 38 were granted Supplementary Letters Patent for various objects such as changing names, extending powers, etc., making a total of 683 charters and supplementaries issued during the year, an increase of 78 as compared with previous year; whilst the total capitalization of new companies and the increased capital of existing companies amounted to $229,457,810.

The usual synopsis (with index thereto) giving full particulars of all companies incorporated, as well as of all existing companies to which were issued supplementary letters patent during the fiscal year, is appended hereto.

NATURALIZATION.

During the year 1916, there were returned under "The Naturalization Act," chap. 77, R.S.C. (1906), the names of 8,916 persons who were granted certificates of naturalization, and of readmission to British nationality. The greater portion of these have been indexed after having been carefully examined, and compared with copies of the certificates accompanying the returns. The returns, with the certificates, have been numbered and filed in the branch.

A schedule showing the former nationalities of the persons naturalized under "The Naturalization Act," chap. 77, R.S.C., as registered in this branch during the twelve months ended December 31, 1916, will be found on the following pages:—
