Minister's message

As Acting President of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada, I am pleased to table the Canadian Intergovernmental Conference Secretariat's (CICS) Departmental Plan for fiscal year 2018-19.

Our government made a commitment to Canadians to pursue our goals with a renewed sense of collaboration. Improved partnerships with provincial and territorial governments are essential to deliver the real, positive change that we promised Canadians.

In this regard, the multilateral intergovernmental conference continues to be a key component of Canadian federalism. It is an instrument for consultation and coordination among federal, provincial and territorial governments.

Through its unique program and mandate, CICS provides professional administrative services for the planning and conduct of federal-provincial-territorial and provincial-territorial conferences of First Ministers, Ministers and Deputy Ministers.

During fiscal year 2018-19, the agency will continue to adapt its service delivery model so that it remains client-focused and responsive to the current environment.

The Honourable Scott Brison Acting President of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada Acting Minister of Democratic Institutions

Plans at a glance

The Canadian Intergovernmental Conference Secretariat (CICS) is fully committed to delivering quality, cost-effective conference services to federal, provincial and territorial governments.

Our impartiality, commitment to official languages, expertise in service delivery and our 45 year history make us the conference service provider of choice for senior level intergovernmental conferences. We are committed to maintaining this unique status.

Over the next year, the Secretariat's priorities will focus on: enhancing and expanding strategic partnerships; ensuring our services continue to respond to client needs; maintaining the effective use of resources; and cultivating a continuous learning environment for our employees. Highlighted below are a few of our key initiatives planned for 2018-19:

Continue to help improve the effectiveness and efficiency of intergovernmental meetings through the implementation of new technologies

As with the federal government, provincial and territorial governments are modernizing, seeking efficiencies wherever possible, reducing travel and exploring the use of new technologies. CICS is proud to continue to offer a wide array of conference solutions that respond to these needs. In 2018-19, CICS will proactively connect with intergovernmental stakeholders and encourage the use of new technologies in conference service delivery. This initiative supports our priority on enhancing and expanding strategic partnerships.

Analyze program evaluation results to determine service improvements

In 2018-19, client surveys of both planners and conference delegates will continue to be carried out with a target satisfaction rate set at 90%. Analysis of these program evaluation results will be used as a primary source of information to determine service improvements and measure success in achieving our overall objective of service excellence and responsiveness. This initiative supports our priority on ensuring a relevant and responsive service delivery model.

Seek internal feedback and develop action plans based on results

CICS aims to be an agile department, where internal processes are continuously reviewed, improved and streamlined to be end-to-end, integrated and efficient. As such, the Secretariat will continue to use internal committees and employee input for program decision-making. This initiative supports our priority on maintaining the effective use of resources.

Create awareness and encouragement of learning opportunities

The Agency's greatest asset remains its employees. Emphasis will continue to be placed on promoting and encouraging learning opportunities in order to foster a culture of continual improvement and innovation. By doing so, CICS strives to create a work environment conducive to career development and job satisfaction. This initiative supports our priority on cultivating a continuous learning environment.

Planned results: what we want to achieve this year and beyond

Core Responsibility

Intergovernmental Conference Services

Description

The Canadian Intergovernmental Conference Secretariat provides continuity of planning and archival services and impartial administrative support for federal-provincial-territorial and provincial-territorial conferences of First Ministers, Ministers and Deputy Ministers, throughout Canada.

Planning highlights

The Conference Services program delivers the Agency's core responsibility and, consequently, conducts the professional, innovative and successful delivery of services to senior-level intergovernmental meetings. With the federal government's commitment to renewed collaboration and improved partnerships with provincial and territorial governments to bring about positive change for Canadians, the number of intergovernmental meetings is expected to be consistent with the level we saw in 2017-18. This reality continues to offer an excellent opportunity for CICS to strengthen its relationships with federal, provincial and territorial conference delegates as well as other stakeholders including meeting organizers and permanent secretariats that support intergovernmental relations in key sectors of activity.

The challenge, on the other hand, will be to ensure the Agency's capacity to respond to the increasing demand for its services as well as to ensure its services remain relevant, forward looking, of the highest quality and responsive to clients' evolving needs.

As such, activities and actions will be undertaken or broadened in support of the following five key initiatives designed to fulfill/advance the Agency's core responsibility:

- 1. Initiatives are planned to proactively connect with intergovernmental stakeholders and other clients. Activities in this area will aim to:
 - o achieve recognition among governments of CICS as the key conference service provider for senior level intergovernmental meetings;
 - o develop and explore opportunities with new partners;

- market CICS and its services effectively, so that new and existing clients alike are aware of the Agency's service offerings as these are adapted and evolve over time.
- 2. CICS will continue to encourage the use of new formats and technologies in conference service delivery, including those that will:
 - o support/facilitate the remote/virtual participation of delegates (and others as appropriate) in senior level intergovernmental meetings, to help achieve the government's desire for greater inclusion and the careful and prudent handling of public funds; and
 - o advance the government's objective to engage in constructive dialogue with Canadians, be more responsive to their expectations, and attain greater openness and transparency, directly and through the media.
- 3. Considerable effort will also be expended to review and refine training and development strategies for conference service delivery to ensure that our people, internal processes and technologies are aligned to respond to the current environment, future demands and the changing needs of clients. This will include support of the government's and client sectors' goal of a renewed relationship with Indigenous Peoples.
- 4. In 2018-19, client surveys of both conference planners and delegates will continue to be carried out with a target satisfaction rate of 90%. Analysis of these program evaluation results will be used as a primary source of information to determine service improvements and measure success in achieving our overall objective of service excellence and responsiveness.
- 5. CICS will also continue to use internal committees and employee input for program decision-making, taking full advantage of our staff's experience, skills, knowledge and innovative ideas.

All of these initiatives are aligned with the four organizational priorities of the Secretariat:

- 1. Enhance and expand strategic partnerships;
- 2. Ensure relevant, responsive service delivery;
- 3. Effective use of resources; and
- 4. Cultivate a continuous learning environment.

Internal Services

Description

Internal Services are those groups of related activities and resources that the federal government considers to be services in support of programs and/or required to meet corporate obligations of an organization. Internal Services refers to the activities and resources of the 10 distinct service categories that support Program delivery in the organization, regardless of the Internal Services delivery model in a department. The 10 service categories are: Management and Oversight Services; Communications Services; Legal Services; Human Resources Management Services; Financial Management Services; Information Management Services; Information Technology Services; Real Property Services; Materiel Services; and Acquisition Services.

Planning highlights

The Internal Services program is expected to support the Agency in meeting its mandate through sound management and careful stewardship of assets, financial and human resources and information technology services. CICS aims to be an agile department, where internal processes are continuously reviewed, improved and streamlined to be end-to-end, integrated and efficient.

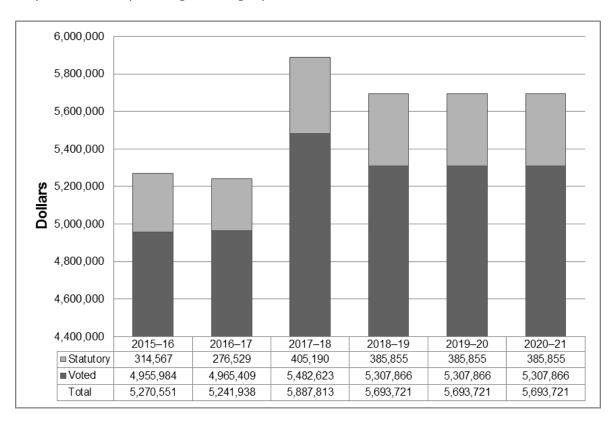

In 2018-19, Internal Services will continue to apply the utmost care and prudence in the handling of public resources and monitor and report on its newly developed internal control framework and continue to review internal policy instruments.

Finally, greater emphasis will be placed on promoting and encouraging learning opportunities in order to foster a healthy workplace as well as a culture of continual improvement and innovation. CICS promotes a capable, talented and high-performing workforce that embraces new ways of working and the use of new technologies to serve clients' evolving needs.

In order to evaluate its performance and support openness and transparency in government, the Secretariat will continue to seek internal feedback and develop action plans based on results as well as analyze and report on audit results and reviews in relation to the identified targets.

It is important to note that CICS does not convene intergovernmental meetings. It is called upon to respond to decisions taken by governments to meet on key national or specific issues. Decisions concerning the location of such meetings, their number in a given fiscal year, their timing and duration, are all factors beyond the control of the Secretariat. The level of CICS expenditures for each fiscal year is, however, directly affected by these factors. The Secretariat is funded at a level sufficient to finance 100 in person conferences (or 70 events) annually. An event can consist of one or two conferences and it is used to plan the budget for each of the conferences in terms of transportation and communication, rentals, translation and interpretation services.

The higher spending in 2015-16, compared to 2016-17 was mainly due to the March 2016 First Ministers' Meeting held in Vancouver.

The expenditures for 2017-18 are anticipated to be some $646 thousand higher than in 2016-17 due to the CICS office relocation resulting from the Workplace 2.0 initiative, the acquisition of an interpretation studio and the retroactive pay to employees resulting from collective agreement renewals. As of December 31, 2017, CICS provided its service to 115 conferences (including a First Ministers' Meeting). The forecast from January 01 to March 31, 2018 shows 26 additional conferences which includes 13 teleconferences.

With the present government's commitment to a renewed sense of collaboration and improved partnerships with provincial and territorial governments, the Secretariat anticipates maintaining the same level of intergovernmental meetings in 2018-19 as it forecast for 2017-18.

Planned human resources

CICS' human resources were stable for the last two years. In 2017-18, CICS experienced a period of high staff turnover due to retirements and unplanned departures in the last quarter of the fiscal year. CICS has a Human Resources and Succession Plan in place and plans to be fully staffed in the first quarter of fiscal year 2018-19.
