NOTES

- (1) Les chiffres étant connus pour moins de trois entreprises seulement, ils ne peuvent être publiés que sous la rubrique "autres fruits".
- (2) Chiffres omis pour garantir le secret des renseignements individuels; ces données sont toutefois comprises dans les totaux.

ADMINISTRATIVE REPORT

The following information was obtained from the records of the Department of Health and Human Services, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Health, regarding the activities of the National Health and Medical Research Council (NH&MRC) during the period from 1970 to 1972.

The NH&MRC is a statutory body established under the Health Research Act, 1947. Its primary function is to advise the Government on matters relating to health research and to coordinate and promote health research in Australia.

The NH&MRC is composed of members appointed by the Governor-General in Council. The members are drawn from various fields of science, medicine, and health administration. The Council meets regularly to discuss and report on the progress of health research in Australia.

The NH&MRC has a number of committees and sub-committees which are responsible for the administration of the Council's activities. These include the Council of Health Research, the Council of Health Services, and the Council of Health Education.

The NH&MRC has a number of research programs and projects which are funded by the Government. These include research in the areas of cancer, heart disease, and mental health.

The NH&MRC also has a number of advisory committees which provide advice on specific areas of health research. These include the Advisory Committee on Cancer Research, the Advisory Committee on Heart Disease Research, and the Advisory Committee on Mental Health Research.

The NH&MRC has a number of publications which provide information on health research in Australia. These include the Australian Journal of Health Research, the Australian Journal of Health Services, and the Australian Journal of Health Education.

The NH&MRC has a number of offices and staff members who are responsible for the administration of the Council's activities. These include the Director of Health Research, the Deputy Director of Health Research, and the various administrative staff members.

The NH&MRC has a number of contacts with other organizations and individuals in the field of health research. These include the Australian Medical Association, the Australian Nurses' Federation, and the Australian Physiotherapy Association.

The NH&MRC has a number of contacts with other countries in the field of health research. These include the World Health Organization, the International Council for Medical Research, and the International Council for Health Services.

The NH&MRC has a number of contacts with the public in the field of health research. These include the Australian Health Research Council, the Australian Health Services Council, and the Australian Health Education Council.
