

MEXICO AND CANADA:

A Complementary and Balanced Trade Relationship

DID YOU KNOW?

Bilateral agriculture and agri-food trade has increased more than 1000% since the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA).

Mexicans who participated in the Canada-Mexico Seasonal Agricultural Workers' Program sent $195 M in remittances home to their families in 2017.

Canadian and Mexican scientists work together to combat climate change and to develop new practices to advance the use of science in the agriculture sector.

5 KEY PRODUCTS

2017 (millions of USD)

Canada IMPORTS from Mexico

 Tomatoes	$236
 Avocados	$211
 Raspberries	$174
 Peppers	$160
 Beer	$87
Other products	$1,132

Mexico IMPORTS from Canada

 Canola	$756
 Wheat	$234
 Pork	$233
 Beef	$96
 Malt	$63
Other products	$418

Total $2,000

Total $1,800

Balanced agriculture and agri-food trade: $3,800

Source: Import statistics from Mexico's Secretariat of Economy and from Statistics Canada

M = million

B = billion

Canadian-grown canola generates an average of $1.7 B in economic benefits in Mexico.

In 2017, Canada was the second largest importer of Mexican agriculture and agri-food products.

Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada

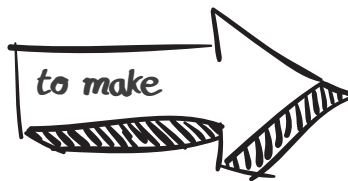

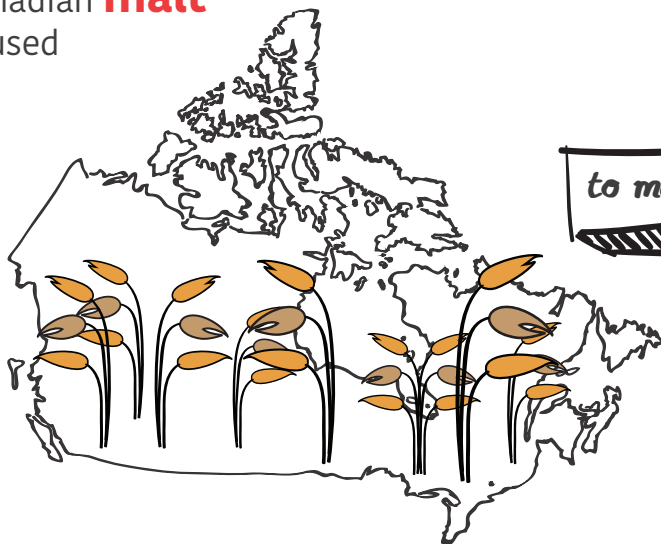

Agriculture et Agroalimentaire Canada

Canada

CANADA AND MEXICO:

LET'S KEEP NOURISHING OUR RELATIONSHIP!

Canadian malt
is used

Mexican beer
that is exported
to the world

Canadian
wheat
is used to make bread

Canadian
beef and pork
are used

The torta

