INTRODUCTION

The 1985 Canadian Medical Device Directory (MDD) has been designed to provide purchasers of health care equipment and supplies with a comprehensive reference guide to sources of made-in-Canada products. The information listed was obtained through a survey of manufacturers of medical devices in Canada. The MDD is distributed to purchasers in Canadian health care institutions and will also be used by Canadian government officials both in Canada and abroad to develop domestic and export markets for Canadian manufacturers.

The MDD has been simplified and expanded over its predecessor "Made-in-Canada Health Care Products". It now includes almost 400 manufacturers and over 1,200 generic descriptions.

CONTENTS

I MADE-IN-CANADA PRODUCT SECTION

This section provides a directory listing of medical devices produced in Canada and their producers. The products are, for the most part, described by the FDA standard medical product name. Products are listed in alphabetical order, grouped under headings or keywords that relate to the product. To find a specific product, the reader should look in this section for possible keywords which might appear in the name or might be related to the name. If a product cannot be found under the most likely heading, other headings should be consulted. As each product is listed up to three times under different headings, the user should easily find the product sought.

II IN-CANADA MANUFACTURERS SECTION

This section provides a detailed directory of in-Canada manufacturers consisting of their addresses, contact persons and a listing of the medical devices which they produce.

1986 UPDATE PLANNED

To provide an opportunity to manufacturers of medical devices in Canada to update their listings or add their products to the directory, and an opportunity to comment on current and proposed changes, a new survey is planned for March 1986. A 1986 MDD is being scheduled to further update sourcing information and introduce other improvements.

THE LETTER (E) beside a product indicates that the product is available for export.
