

COVID-19 and other emergencies: tips to stay informed

Respond to emergencies as they happen.
Here are ways to stay informed.

Canada's national public alerts

- These can reach you through radio, cable or satellite television, and compatible wireless devices.
- You may be able to access alerts with accessibility tools.

Provincial and territorial alert systems

- Stay tuned to local news channels.
- Have a portable, battery-operated or crank radio in your emergency kit in case of power outages.

Ensure smoke detectors and other alarms are accessible to you

Locate emergency buttons in buildings and your unit

For more information, check our Accessible communication during COVID-19 and other emergencies: A guideline for persons with disabilities.