Canada's New Firearms Control Law

WEAPONS
PROHIBITED
AND RESTRICTED
BY ORDER IN COUNCIL

Canadä

Some weapons are now prohibited or restricted by Order in Council.

The law authorizes the Governor General in Council to declare some non-sporting firearms to be prohibited or restricted weapons. Certain types of parts, components, accessories and ammunition can also be prohibited. This authority is intended to be used to control types of weapons or components which represent a threat to public safety,

The Orders in Council, which will take effect October 1, 1992 (except as otherwise noted), deal with three classes of weapons. Common hunting and sporting firearms and ammunition are not affected by these Orders in Council.

1. Prohibited weapons (with "grandfather" clause)

Effective July 27, 1992 Registration deadline October 1, 1992 (Prohibited Weapons Order No. 12)

Three assault pistols and certain carbines become prohibited. Existing owners are allowed to retain them as long as these weapons were in their possession on July 27, 1992. These will be registered as ''restricted weapons''. Once existing owners die or dispose of the weapons, they revert to prohibited weapons status and must be deactivated or disposed of: They cannot be transferred. People in lawful possession on July 27 can apply to register their firearms provided an application is filed by October 1, 1992.

This Order applies to the semi-automatic versions of the following firearms:

• Sterling MK-6 carbine • Steyr AUG rifle • MAC

and Ingram type pistols • Partisan Avenger Auto Pistol • UZI series.

2. Prohibited weapons (without "grandfather" clause)

Effective October 1, 1992 (Prohibited Weapons Order No. 11)

A list of "assault pistols", "combat shotguns", .50 calibre sniper rifles, and other military-type firearms are classified as prohibited weapons. There can be no retention of these weapons after October 1, 1992; they must be disposed of, surrendered or deactivated by that date.

This Order applies to the following firearms:

3. "SSS-1 Stinger"

(Prohibited Weapons Order No. 8)

4. Ammunition

(Prohibited Weapons Order No. 10)

Certain cartridges are declared to be prohibited weapons. Common hunting or sporting cartridges, such as the .223 or 7.62 x 39 mm rifle cartridges are not affected. The ammunition prohibited includes armour-piercing handgun cartridges and other military types, such as explosive or incendiary ammunition and shotgun cartridges containing "flechettes" instead of ordinary pellets.

5. Accessories and components (Prohibited Weapons Order No. 9)

One accessory and one component are prohibited. The component is a "bull-pup" stock, used in modern assault rifles and shotguns to reduce length. A firearm with a "bull-pup" stock may be kept, but the stock must be disposed of and replaced. The accessory is a type of trigger enhancement device designed to fire semi-automatic firearms at machine gun speeds. This is done by rapidly moving the trigger back and forth, as the gun reloads and fires.

6. Restricted weapons

Effective October 1, 1992 (Restricted Weapons Order)

Some semi-automatic assault rifles and similar firearms are declared to be restricted weapons. This requires registration and precludes use for hunting, but allows owners to retain and transfer affected weapons. It allows continued use of these firearms in sporting applications (i.e. target-shooting) and for gun collections. This Order applies to the following rifles and carbines:
