

Transcript of the video “Preventive Conservation Guidelines for Collections”

Video duration: 00:01:34

Carole Dignard, Senior Conservator: Introducing CCI’s new online publication series, Preventive Conservation Guidelines for Collections.

The series contains 18 richly illustrated resources focusing on the structure, material properties and vulnerabilities of objects, and on the care of specific types of collections: from paintings, paper, and photographic materials to archaeological objects, ceramics, glass, metals, vehicles, and outdoor objects; from natural history specimens, and objects made of feathers, quills, horn, baleen, skin or leather, to textiles, basketry, plastics and rubbers, as well as audio, video and electronic recording media.

Structured along CCI’s 10 Agents of Deterioration, these resources highlight the sensitivity of particular objects to specific agents, and the different means of control for each type of collection. This series is the result of a large collaborative effort within CCI and with outside experts.

Check it out! We hope you’ll enjoy it!

[Canadian Conservation Institute signature and Canada wordmark]