The Nation - Families: Part 1 (100% data)

1986 Census

The second in a series of 19 publications illustrating the scope and depth of information collected from the 1986 Census of Population, this report focuses on census families in private households and presents data on the growth (from 1971 to 1986) in the number and size of families and on demographic characteristics (for 1981 and 1986) of lone-parent families, married couples and common-law couples. The publication also includes information on persons living in private households by family status: husbands and wives, lone parents, children and non-family persons.

Three other publications in this series also provide data collected from all households. These publications include information on age, sex and marital status (93-101, now available); mother tongue (93-102) and household and dwelling characteristics (93-104). The remainder of the publications in this series will contain data collected from a 20% sample of households (data such as income, occupation, schooling, etc.) and will be available in 1988 and the first quarter of 1989.

For a copy of The Nation: Population and Dwelling Characteristics - Families: Part 1 (93-106, $28), or for more information on 1986 Census products, please contact your nearest Regional Reference Centre (see page 4).
